PLANS FOR NEW ORANGE HALL HERE ASSUMING SHAPE

Warren, Grave Robber, Given A Suspended Sentence -- Still Searching For Minaker's Body

ALL CANDIDATES FACE THE MUSIC

Aspirants For Civic Honors Guests Of Wharf Street Debating Club

ANNUAL CUSTOM

Keen Questioning And Some Heckling For Next Year's Council

Civic problems were discussed, steps taken by the Council were criticized and suggestions made at the annual "Bun Feed" under the auspices of the Wharf Street Debating Club at their club rooms on South Front Street last evening. Over one hundred guests, members of the present civic council and many of the new candidates were on hand to say a word or two or assist in the entertainment. It was a gala evening and the Wharf Street boys unanimously declared in providing an enjoyable time as well as thrashing out several matters pertinent to civic welfare. The Wharf Street Debating Club is an institution in the life of Belleville and is as essential as any other club or society. It is here that the boys from Wharf Street may gather nightly to discuss among themselves all matters which involve the spending of money or the making of certain improvements. Wharf Street Debating Club was formed a good many years ago and it has now reached a stage where it is recognized as a place in which a "welcome" sign is displayed for everyone.

Each year it is the practice of the Club to invite the Candidates for civic honors down to the Club for a talkfest and feed, for which they receive a good reception while others may be severely criticised. It all depends on the way in which each of the civic departments have been run whether a

THREE DRUNKS EARN 4 MONTHS

Joseph Corr Asked For Six Months But Magistrate Demurs

Magistrate Mikel is noted for his leniency and fair-mindedness but this morning his patience snapped when Joseph Corr, of Coleman Street, appeared before him for the third time on a charge of drunkenness. Corr was sentenced to spend the forthcoming four months in jail. "You make more trouble and expenditure than do 12,000 people in the city of Belleville", said the Magistrate getting straight to the his subject. "If I had the power I would lock you up in an insane asylum for the rest of your life"!

"I'd give you the luck if I only had the power", continued His Worship. "You are a menace to the community, and should not be at large. I treated you leniently when you came before me a time ago, and you promised faithfully to try and be better. I think that you ought to be locked up in an asylum where you would not be able to do any body but yourself any harm."

Charge of Assault

A second charge, one of assault, was also laid against Joseph. Mrs. Margaret Jones, his mother-in-law claimed that he hit her on the chest, knocking her down. "He threatened to murder me on my doorstep", stated Mrs. Jones in court. "He said that he was going to kill the both of us, myself and my daughter"!

Corr was acquitted of this second charge, Mrs. Jones remarked the witness stand again and asked the Magistrate what recourse she could have against Joseph-in-law, wanting to get him an even stiffer sentence. Crown Prosecutor Donnelly had to patiently remind Mrs. Jones that the Court has other business in order to get rid of her.

Not satisfied with his sentence, Joseph Corr asked that it be made out in order that he could be sent to the Reformatory at Guelph, but his request was not granted.

MANY ATTENDED CHRISTMAS BAZAAR

Tabernacle Sunday School Attractive Spot This Afternoon

Tabernacle Church Sunday School rooms presented a colorful scene this afternoon when the Ladies' Aid Society of that Church held their annual Christmas bazaar. The rooms were prettily decorated with mauve and yellow crepe paper and chrysanthemums in the same shade.

The Gift Shop, under the management of the Comrade Club of which Mrs. C. Lent is President, presented a touch of Spring being tastefully decorated with Watarla blossoms and mauve ribbons. A feature of this was the "Parcel Post" consisting of wrapped parcels all valued at 25c. The Fancy Work Booth, offering for sale every conceivable form of dainty hand work was presided over by Mrs. T. Clare and Mrs. G. H. French. The home-cooking table under the management of Mrs. A. Fisher and Mrs. A. Palmer was at all times popular. Mrs. H. Toms and Mrs. Geo. Lewis presided over a booth devoted to the needs of the children. An apron booth in charge of Mrs. Esmond and Mrs. Kerr and a candy booth in charge of Mrs. Casselden and Mrs. R. Pierce were further attractions.

Tea was served from three o'clock to seven. The guests were conducted to the Tea Room by Mrs. G. F. Lent (President of the Ladies' Aid) and Mrs. (Rev.) McCutcheon. The tea room was prettily decorated in yellow with a large bowl of mauve and yellow chrysanthemums and yellow candles. Silver candlesticks added a further touch of color. During the afternoon Mrs. Walmsley and Mrs. Morley Duff poured tea.

CIGARETTES PAY PROFITS OF OVER FIFTY PER CENT

London, Eng., Dec. 1.—"A Cigarette-Maker's Ballance" in real life is revealed in the annual report of Carreras, Limited, noted importers of Egyptian and Turkish tobacco. Seven years ago the firm's profits were £1,000,000. Then the shareholders receive a dividend of 50 per cent., despite the fact that the capital has been increased by a half and £1,300,000 has been placed in the reserve fund.

Carrera, the head of the concern began life as a cigarette-maker.

SEARCH GOES ON FOR LOST MAN

Provincial Police Have Exerted Every Effort To Find Minaker

WATCH FOR BODY

Might Be Still Wandering In The Woods Is One Theory

All efforts to locate the body of Walter Minaker who was supposedly drowned in Papineau Lake in North Hastings some week ago have thus far been fruitless and although the waters are being closely watched for any sign of the missing man it is doubtful if the body will be recovered before the spring breaks.

Provincial Constable Wilbur Johnston of the Provincial Police who has been stationed at Bancroft arrived in the City yesterday and says that Minaker's hunting companion John Water house is still stationed at the Lake and is exerting every possible move in order to clear up the mystery.

It will be remembered that Minaker's boat was found floating right-side up in the middle of the Lake on October 16th. Constable Johnston believes that the man was attempting to step out on the shore but his balance and fell into the water which is about sixty feet deep at many points. Minaker was unfamiliar with the depth of the water. The theory has been advanced that Minaekr was not drowned but may have lost his bearings in the woods, become confused and unable to find his way out.

RELEASE BOY IN CARE OF PARENTS

Thirteen-Year-Old Lad Convicted Of Selling Liquor

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Thirteen year old Edwin Hurley, Port Burwell, Ontario, who was sentenced to thirteen months for selling liquor, will be released from Victoria Industrial School at Mimico and allowed to return to his parents. He will be under the supervision of F. W. Kelso, of the Ontario Children's Aid Society.

Representations had been made from the Boy's Work organization urging that the parents should be allowed to care for the boy, instead of him being sent to Reformatory. "We propose to suspend in the Industrial School Board through Mr. Kelso that the boy be released in care of his parents and under their guidance and control, either as probationers or as a term for either of the two provincial progressive states". Counsel for the Guardian says, "Nevertheless the contract will remain between the professions and those of its members to which referee and abuse are not referred or received".

ATTEMPT TO GET GRAY OUT OF JAIL

New York, Dec. 1.—Papers in a "habeas corpus" action designed to upset the conviction of Henry Judd Gray, his wife Mrs. Ruth Snyder is waiting execution on January 12, for the murder of the woman's husband will be filed late tonight in the Federal Court in New York, Samuel Miller, Gray's counsel announced. The action by Judd is based upon the claim that Gray is illegally detained as Sing Sing prisoner. He ordered to divulge further details pending the formal action.

SOVIET A PARIAH AMONG NATIONS

The Manchester Guardian, Organ Of The Pacifists, Attacks Russia

TRAP FOR FOOLISH

Total World Disarmament Not Practicable At Present Time

London, Dec. 1.—(C.P. Cable)—The "Manchester Guardian" which is noted for its pacific tendencies, made editorial comment today on Russia's urging "total world disarmament". "The Russians are so laturally unfitted at that they are unwilling to make the League of Nations an effective instrument of peace", the Guardian says. "They know as well as the rest of the world that, apart from such states as are willingly disarmed already, there is not one ready even to consider such a proposal. Its formal registration at Geneva will make little practical difference except as far as it may enable the Russian Government to prosecute their anti-League propaganda with greater vigor, than ever. The conviction continues by asserting that the Soviet Government is a partner in many nations and that it may be taken for granted that its proposal for the ending of non-aggression pacts among nations, will be considered by it as a trivial side issue contempt either as mere foolishness or as a trap for other Powers less wise than themselves. Consider sing the Guardian says, "Nevertheless the contrast will remain between the professions and those of its members to which referee and abuse are not referred or received".

COMMAY CUT NUMBER OF STATIONS IN HALF

TIPPED POLICE OF PLANNED HOLD-UP

Toronto, Dec. 1.—Acting on information that 6 hold up was to be made at the Government Liquor Store here yesterday, plainclothesmen and uniformed constables guarded each store in the city. Money cars also had double guards. The attempted robbery, if it was projected, was called off.

LIGHT SENTENCE FOR THIRD MAN

Ewart Warren Given a Suspended Sentence With Warning

HELPED JUSTICE

Provincial Police and Crown Ask For Lenient Treatment

Ewart Warren the third member of the grave-digging trio was given a suspended sentence of one year and allowed his freedom on $500 of his own recognizance when he appeared for sentence before Magistrate Casement in the local police court here this after noon. Warren was ordered to pay the costs of the case which amounted to $17.45. He promised to forward the amount within one week, having received a job through the Salvation Army officers to whom he confessed his part in the crime. Warren left for Toronto this afternoon. Revoy and Sullivan who were each sentenced to serve a term in the Ontario Reformatory will be taken to that institution within a few days.

Given Light Sentence

"The Crown Attorney and the Inspector of Provincial Police have asked me to deal leniently with you" said Magistrate Casement in delivering his judgment "and since your confederates were easily given an exceedingly light penalty I feel I should not impose a heavy sentence." "The case is a peculiar one. it is depravity of the lowest degree to rob the dead. This sort of thing occurs seldom in the courts of the country and I was of the opinion that the sentence given the other two was a particularly light one under the circumstances."

"I am instructed that your career has not been a bad one. You have helped to put the bridge of life when you need to watch your step. You made some attempt to check yourself and gave assistance to the officers whereby the other two were apprehended. The Crown and Police seem to be satisfied that a suspended sentence would be sufficient in your case. You may be called upon any time within the next year to receive sentence."

CAR IS WRECKED, ESCAPES INJURY

Ottawa Man Dazed Slightly In Railway Crossing Crash

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 1.—J. Rogers Binks of this city is ready to admit that November 30 is his lucky day. Driving his car to Rockcliffe Park on a rain storm yesterday Binks was traversing a railway crossing when a locomotive struck his car, rounded a bend and struck his car almost broadside. The car was wrecked to a halt and the engine crew searched the auto wreckage which had been carried some hundred feet from the crossing but could find no occupant. Later Binks was discovered back at the scene of the crash, slightly dazed and with a bruise or two on his legs but otherwise unharmed. He returned home to rain after a medical examination failed to reveal internal injuries.

GRAPE LABELS PROTESTED

Madrid, Dec. 1.—The Chamber of Commerce of Almeria today protested against the use by importers of Almeria producers of exporting grapes from the United States in containers with labels which show the Spanish national colors and a caption reading "Spanish."

SEALED BACILLI FOR 26 YEARS ARE STILL DEADLY

London, Eng. Dec. 1.—Bacilli of a dreaded disease have been found alive after they were sealed in a test tub for 26 years by Sir William Bonson of the tropical hygiene department of "Sons Institute here." Sir William announced on November, 1901, H recently unsealed the tube and inoculated a guinea pig with the contents. After showing symptoms of the disease the pig died.

Sir William said to-day that he was not ready to draw deductions from the experiment, which was not completed, but it seemed to open a wide range of pobubilities. One medical expert said that it might result in revison of present germ theory.

MERRY EVENING FOR THE SCOTCH

St. Andrew's Natal Day Duly Honored By Good Caledonians

Braving the stormy weather a splendid crowd joined the Sons of Scotland in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Front Street evening and were rewarded with a splendid programme and dance. Many of Belleville's leading artists contributed and during the evening the assemblage was addressed by Magistrate Mikel and Mr. Morley P. Duff. The programme was as follows:—Reading—Mr. J. Savage; Sailors' Hornpipe—Ruby Kiser; Marjory Yerrow and Jean Givens; Song — Mrs. Hinchcliffe; Highland Fling — Nettie Browning and Eva Adams; Sketch—Browning Brothers; Song—Miss Pratt Reading—Mr. Gray; Classic Dance—Miss Harris; Irish Jig—Percy Johnstone's Class; Address—Dr. MacTavish Song—Mr. Frew Burke; Reading—Mr. Wilson; Song—Mr. Blair; Piano Selection—Mr. Leo. Riggs; Song—Mr. J. D. Bunker. Most of the young dancers are pupils of Prof. Johnstone's Dancing Class and showed excellent training. Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Torrence and Miss Kitty Johnstone acted as accompanists during the evening.

Mrs. Bennie was in charge of a very dainty lunch which was served after the programme and after lunch dancing was indulged in for the remainder of the evening with the Highland Schottische, Petronella and other Scottish dances in evidence. Good fellowship reigned supreme during the evening and at the conclusion all returned to their home with that feeling of contents which comes from having spent a pleasant hour.

LADY BEAVERBROOK DIED THIS MORNING

London, Dec. 1.—Lady Beaverbrook, wife of Baron Beaverbrook, London newspaper publisher, died early today after an illness which ended in heart failure. ORANGE LODGES TO BUILD HERE

Want To Have Temple Of Their Own In This City

PLANS DISCUSSED

Purchase Front Street Property Or Build On Suitable Site

Within the next two or three years of the Orange Order and sister lodges of this city will have a hall of their own" was the information received by the Intelligencer today from a prominent member of that order.

At the present time the society have between them a few thousand dollars on hand towards their building fund. It has not been definitely decided whether the new building will be on Front Street property or whether a new site will be taken up in the first floor or whether it will be located on Coleman, Pin nacle or Church street but in close proximity to the centre of the city.

Several members of the Orange Lodge are in favor of the immediate purchase of a residence close to the main street which can be converted at a reasonable figure and converting it into a temple, while others advocate the purchasing of a lot and in time erecting a building that will not only be a credit to the order but take care of the needs of the organization for many years to come.

Would Produce Revenue

"Of course if we purchase Front St. property the first floor of same would be rented to revenue producers from the very beginning and we could use the second floor for our lodge rooms" stated an enthusiastic member to the reporter.

Another man stated that he was in favor of purchasing a lot in the near future and erecting theron a one storey building "but in the erection of this one storey I am in favor of taking care of the remote future by laying a good foundation so that one, two, or even three stories could be added at any time if it were needed and although we would utilize the ground floor for lodge purpose at the beginning we could rent it and the second floor if we decided to add further extensions."

Nor that this building scheme has been prevented to the members it is expected that something will materialize in the near future and Belleville will be able to take rank with other cities in having an its own an impressive as well as an appropriate Orange Temple.

BOOST IN RATES STOPS SHIPPING

Navigation Ends Dec. 15th —Insurance Costs More From Today

Sault Ste Marie, Dec. 1.—With the increase in marine insurance rates effective last midnight and the arrival of a storm which practically tied up shipping yesterday, traffic on the Great Lakes has received a severe setback. Vessel passages through the Soo canals are expected on December 15 they will cease with the suspension of all navigation aids on the Great Lakes system.

Marine rates will be further boosted on December 5th, owing to the remaining hazards and no insurance at all will be allowed in vessels leaving for their final destination after the 15th instead of December 12th. A number of lake steamers tied up for the season today.

Miss Fairhurst and Miss Queenie Livsay have returned home after visiting with Mrs. Shearer in Buffalo, N.Y. for a few days.

Miss Annie Potter is spending two weeks in Belleville visiting her friend, Mrs. Florence Clark.

Mr. Clare Mott, M.E., of Los Angeles, California, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Mott, Charles Street.

The home of Mrs. A. J. Boyce, 82 Chatham Street was a pretty scene yesterday when she threush her spacious rooms open for a tea in aid of the Women's Missionary Society of John Street United Church. Receiving the many guests with Mrs. Boyce was her aunt, Mrs. Denningham, Mrs. William McGie presided at the tea table and those assisting in the dining room were Mrs. J. Buchanan and the Misses Doris Kerr and Olive Putman.

Mr. R. J. Gray was in Toronto yesterday on business.

REGULAR MEETING OF QUINTE W. I.

The November meeting of the Quinte Women's Institute spent a pleasant afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wm. Redger on November 8th with a good number in attendance.

The meeting opened with singing the Institute ode, then reading and approval of minutes. A card of thanks and appreciation was read by the President from the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, for the fruit sent to them.

In the absence of Mrs. M. Leaven, her report of the Convention held in Belleville was given by Mrs. Clare Gravrys which was excellent. Two readings were given by MRS. Purdy and Mrs. Cora. Mitchell; Mrs. W. Lalbie then favoured with an instrumental solo. Roll call was given by Mrs. Fred Parrott and Mrs. Clare Lemons. Thanks were then given for plants sent to sick.

The meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem. The December meeting will meet at the home of the President, Mrs. Jones Garbutt. Our hostess then served a dainty lunch.

A good closed car bought now at Bridgelle Motors will save you many dollars and make winter driving pleasant. They're selling this week at about half price. So get yours now.

FAMOUS PIANIST EARNS APPLAUSE

Brilliant Performance Of Mona Bates Pleased Music Lovers

The expectations of the patrons who attended Mona Bates' pianoforte programme held under the auspices of the Presto Musical Club were amply justified last night for Miss Bates' marvellous interpretation of the different numbers displayed the breadth of tone and perfect technic of this gifted artist.

A charming personality and a wonderful ability in her rendition of classic gave Miss Bates one of the best receptions ever accorded any artist that has appeared in this city. Her repertoire of pieces extended from Scarlatti to Liszt. The early classic pealing part of the entire evening was the poor crowd that turned out to hear this marvelous pianist, and those that intended to appear at the concert would be disappointed to say the least if they knew what they had missed.

While Miss Bates was in Belleville she stayed with Miss Olive Cooper, a personal friend, motoring to Toronto today. Miss Cooper met this distinguished pianist while in New York. Miss Bates being assistant in charge of the studio where Miss Cooper studied.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Wheat, Dec. 127 3-4; March 131 1-4. Corn, Dec. 87 3-4; March 91 1-2. Oats, Dec. 49 7-8; March 52 3-4.

TODAYS MARKETS

WHEAT SCORES RISE

Chicago, Dec. 1.—With deliveries of December contracts lighter than were looked for both here and at Liverpool, wheat values showed on early upturn today. A contributing factor was unsettled weather in Argentina and a falling off in shipments from there. Opening at 1-8c to 3-4c higher, wheat subsequently advanced little more. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer, corn starting at 1-4c to 3-4c gain and later continuing to point upward.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—Wheat, Dec. 3-4c to 7-8c higher at 143 3-8 to 1-2; May 5-8c to 7-8c higher at 136 1-4 to1-2; July 1c higher at 126. Oats, Dec. 1-2c higher at 47 1-2; May 1-4c higher at 50; July 3-8c higher at 50.

RAILROADS ARE STRONG

New York, Dec. 1.—Confused price movements characterized today's stock market, which was featured by strength of railroad shares. Raising of call money rate from 4 to 4 1-2 per cent, re-indent with the calling of about $25,000,000 in loans and predictions of substantial increase in brokers' loans in the weekly federal reserve report to be issued after the close of the market, were believed to be responsible for most of the selling.

Ticker again fell 15 minutes behind the market by early afternoon. Publication of the Ford price list, which is reported to be from $100 to nearly $200 below corresponding models of other companies, was brought some fresh selling into General Motors but the offerings were fairly well absorbed. Dodge Bros. and Hudson also were subjected to pressure but Nash and Hupp recorded substantial gains.

CLOSING QUOTATIONS

STANDARD MINING EXCHANGE

Quotations supplied by Homer L. Gibson and Company, per Jamieson Bros., local managers.

The chief items of interest today were the popular lower priced issues. Bidgood was as active as usual and advanced 8 points to $1.60. Barry was off 3 pointe. Grenada was up around 2c to 49c and Malartic was strong at 50 to 52. Mining Corporation of Canada was the feature being announced of the deal with the Whitney interests on the Pitn Pion property, last recovered a little later. Hollinger Hughes was exactly bought around $11.80 to $11.90 apparent on the strength of good news coming from the shareholders meeting in Buffalo to-morrow. Quotations at 3 p.m. were as follows:

Small Boy Set Off Fire Alarm By Mistake

London, (By Mail).—A six-year-old Acton boy stood for a considerable time the other day brooding on the injustice of life.

A little earlier in the day the parish church had stood prepared for a wedding, and Registrar James Mitchell, of the local fire brigade was in the act of handing his daughter, the bride, into a waiting car, when the alarm rang in the station.

Mr. Mitchell did not hesitate. Duty came first. He ran to the engine room and took his seat on the motor-engine, which went immediately full speed to East Acton, two miles away. They arrive in record time. They found no fire. There was not even any smoke. An unbroken Sabbath peace lay in Perryn-road.

But they did find a small boy seated on top of the fire alarm post. The small boy did not rub away an naughty boys with guilty consciences and a perverted sense of fun would have done.

He waited cheerfully interested, for he had accidentally sounded the alarm without knowing it.

Human nature is human nature and full of surprises. The firemen did not wait to inquire into fine distinctions of guilt and innocence. After a short interval, marked by actions, they decided. Mr. Mitchell hurried to the church, and the wedding was celebrated without any more interruptions. But the small boy remained—standing—brooding on the injustice of life.

POLICEMAN NEEDS TO BE EDUCATED!

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 26.—The life of a policeman is an interesting one—and educational, oftentimes.

Sergeant Perry gazed over his desk at a man who looked like a professor is supposed to look.

"Sergeant", said the professorial individual, "there's a caprine hollow quadruped ruminant running around the street blocking traffic.

"A what?" inquired the Sergeant.

"A caprine, hollow horned ruminant," replied the complainant. "Of course, it means nothing in my life I'm just telling you."

Sergeant Perry gazed over his desk and walked out.

NO ONE CAN TELL IF YOU DARKEN HAIR

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your crowning glory, makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," for only 75 cents. This is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides no one can possible tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this brush through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, after another application or two its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

REGENT THEATRE

Buck Jones in a two-gun romance from the Fox Films studio called, "Chain Lightning," is the feature attraction at the Regent Theatre until Saturday. Audiences appear to be enjoying this picture even more than is their custom, with those bloodcurdling thrillers of the ancient and glorious west.

The plot of this one, from a story by Charles Alden Seltzer, is somewhat different than any in which Buck Jones has appeared. Instead of his usual role, Jones first shows up as a retired gunman in San Francisco, there in quiet and seclusion to live down his reputation earned in the open spaces. Don't miss it.

BELLE THEATRE

"Craddle Snatchers," Fox Films version of America's most hilarious farce of years.

The story of three middle-aged husbands, who tell their wives they go duck-hunting, but their wives find out it is chickens they're hunting—blonde ones.

And the wives hire three college boys—a timid blond one—a wild dark one—and a wise-ONLY to get the husbands jealous.

And when the husbands show up—! Well, simply simply simply—all that follows will be something you'll never forget.

Louise Fazenda, Sammy Cohen, J. Farrell Macdonald, Dorothy Philips and Ethel Wales are a few of the delightful cast of 9½ delightful picture.

"Craddle Snatchers" will flock you with mirth and howling at the Belle.

Sergeant Perry called a cop.

"Go out and look for a caprine, hollow horned ruminant," he ordered, "if he's double, bring it to me alive."

A few minutes later the officer reported that he had the beast in the patrol barn.

"It's a goat, said the officer.

"Wonder if that get your angora?" soliloquized Sergeant Perry.

YOUNG ORATORS FACE ACID TEST

Warden's Medals For Public Speaking To Be Contested Dec. 8th

The subject selected for the County Oratorical contest for the Warden's medal this year is "The Necessity of the Continuation of Confederation of the Provinces of the Dominion of Canada without the British Empire." The contest is set for Thursday afternoon, December 8th, at two o'clock in the County Council Chambers, Shire Hall. There are two gold medals, one for the best boy orator and one for the best girl orator, and two bronze medals for the second place orator of each sex. For this year the contestants number twelve.

County medals for the pupils receiving the highest number of marks for the June examinations for each inspectorate will be presented on the same afternoon.

The Warden's medals were instituted by Mr. J. Walsh, of Tyrendinaga, who held office in 1923. Mr. Walsh believes that the quality of Canadian oratory is far off and also thinks that we do encourage young boys and girls in the art of public speaking. Succeeding wardens followed him with the idea so that it has become an institution in Hastings County. It is held at the last meeting of the Council each year, and is opened to all primary pupils of the county, including those who have passed their entrance examinations in previous years in June, but excluding children residing in the City of Belleville or the Town of Trenton.

Many used cars are practically as good as new; you can get one of these for about half the real value of the car. Belleville Motors are clearing out their stock this week to make room for the new models and its your chance to buy a good car for next to nothing.

Don't miss Al. Winter's "Speedway Girls" Revue coming to The Capitol next week. Also Big Feature Pictures. It's a big special attraction you'll want to see.—D1-2td

AIKINS W. M. S. HELD SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR

The Women's Missionary Society of Aikins United Church held a very successful bazaar at the home of Mrs. Frank Grills on Friday evening, Nov. 25. The guests were received by Mrs. Grills, and her two daughters, Miss Hazel and Irene Grills. The home was prettily decorated for the occasion. The committee in charge had arranged the following programme:

Hymn—Onward Christian Soldiers.
Prayer—Rev. Sexsmith.
Recitation—Marjory Kells.
Chinese Lullaby—Jean and Bernice Wheeler. Edna singing in Japanese and Bernice in Canadian.
Recitation—Murrey Jeffery.
Song by Five Girls—Words composed by one of the W. M. S. members to the tune of "From Greenland's Icy Mountains."
Reading—Mrs. A. M. Lawrence, entitled "Have you ever been a treasurer?"
Duet—Gladys and Edna Wheeler.
Reading—Clarence Jones, "Christmas Turkey."
Quartette—Eleanor Kells, Mirisel Latta, James Patterson and Kenneth Jones.
Comic selection by young men entitled "Chorus Encore", words composed by one of the members to the tune of "Marching through Georgia."
Reading—Edna Wheeler.
Mouth organ selection by the boys.
Reading—Bernice Hagle accompanied with piano by Mrs. Chas. Moon.
Duet—Mrs. R. Hart and Mrs. A. M. Lawrence.
Closing Hymn—Blest Be The Tie That Binds.

After the programme the room containing the articles for sale, consisting of fancy work, aprons, etc., was opened and buying was very brisk. This booth was presided over by Mrs. Carman Grills and Mrs. Selburne Westover. Mrs. A. Latta and Miss Irene Grills had charge of the fish pond which attracted the younger folk.

Marjory Kells, Edna Wheeler and Marjory Imrie looked after the homemade candy and were soon sold out.

Lunch was served at the close.

Proceeds for evening were $50.00.

The Society is very grateful to Dr. Malott who took charge of the Autumn Thank Offering service on Sunday, November 20th. Thank Offering amounted to $22.00.

ALL CANDIDATES

deficit has been incurred or whether it has been run at a profit. It has been said that the sentiments expressed at the annual "pipe-fest" are an excellent indicator of the turn in the election and in past years this criterion has been found to be correct. Hot-dogs, pop and cigars were on the menu last night and after each one of the candidates had spoken briefly the larder was uncovered and what a grand feast it was.

Charlie Hanna, an old favorite of the Wharf Street gang was Chairman of the evening and he filled that office to perfection. Good natured banter was passed around and the evening went off without a dull moment. Ben Sanford one of the live-wires of the Foster Ward district was at the helm and he left no stone unturned in the arrangements. A canvass was made for new members and most of the visitors contributed towards the support of the Club.

Harry Thompson and Ed. O'Flynn two others who hold a warm seat in the hearts of the members of the Wharf Street Debating Club were on hand and passed around the odd joke and crack which went over big with the crowd.

The Mayoralty Candidates

Ex-Alderman B. P. White was the first speaker called upon. In a short pithy speech he stated that complaining would get us nowhere and we must all get our shoulder to the wheel and work for the good of the city.

Alderman Morley P. Duff candidate for Mayor, was the next man called on by Chairman Charlie Hanna. Mr. Duff said that he had served for the past two years and was not ashamed of any action he had taken as Chairman of the Finance or as a member of the Council. "I contend that the city is in a prosperous condition at the present time" said Mr. Duff. "In 1925 we met with some unexpected expenditures which left us $2000 above the estimates." "The school levied an extra amount but that was not extravagance on the part of the city Council." Actually only sixteen mills were levied by the Council and we had no control over the remainder which was fixed charges."

Referring to the much-coveted street sweeper Alderman Duff said that statements produced, will show that $3000 will virtually be raised this year by the sale of the sweeper and none of the men formerly employed were thrown out of work.

"The sewage is assessed on a frontage basis and not individually as many have the idea. If elected I will try to keep the tax rate down and will give everyone a fair deal.

Oscar Spencer, Foster Ward's five piece orchestra rendered a selection which was enjoyed. This was accompanied by a clog dance by Fred Clapper.

Ex-Alderman Harry Greenleaf spoke of several points which he hoped to stress if elected for the coming year. "We want better water, all big plants running full time and the Moira River cleaned out. Good roads in Foster Ward is another thing which I hope to have realized. Mr. Greenleaf stated that he hoped to see the public works department carried on without going over the expenditures. "This Club should aim for constructive criticism and I would like to see the members take a step to assist the local Agricultural Society which is one of the city institutions. "The agricultural Society was left with a deficit on their hands this year and as a suggestion this Club might commend a subscription list to help wipe that off. "Why not ask the newspapers to open a list with the Club heading the list with a contribution of $250.

Saved $150 On Fire

Alderman A. B. Collins wished the Club every success and if the people knew the record of the Council, I have got promise to make but as in the past I will do my best to help keep expenditures down.

Ald. Chas. Hyde announced that the Fire Committee had made a saving of $350.

Wm. E. D. O'Flynn asked for support for the men who were overseas in the coming contest. "We must not forget our own selfish interests and work for the interests of the city. The speaker noted that the late Colonel Mc-Payne, George Ketcheson and J. William Day had all served with Canadian forces in Flanders.

"I have no fault to find" said Alderman Geo. Tice, "there was nothing wrong everything was done above board. I had hoped to have the street-sweeper question laid over for one year as I believed that the city had already purchased a sufficient machine this year. I am looking for the same support from Foster Ward as I was accorded last election.

William Donahue stated that he had been opposed to the school on the grounds that it was too much money for 12 men to spend without going to the people for their support.

"My past record is before you, said Alderman Wickett and I look for the same support from you as last year.

The New Candidates

Chas. Brownson said that it's a privilege to make his maiden speech in Wharf Street Debating Club. He made no promises but said he would serve the best interests of the city if elected.

J. W. Day said he was making his second attempt and hoped the electorate would see fit to give him a seat in the Council.

Fred Burke in his usual fine manner sang a solo which was enjoyed. Old French asked for the support of the Foster ward electors on Monday next.

Geo. Ketcheson and Chas. Payne spoke briefly promising their best services in the interests of the city if elected.

Geo. A. Reid said it was his first attempt for municipal honors in Belleville but he would give his best service to the city.

"I'm from Foster Ward myself" said Dave Rollins "and I think this Ward should be represented. I am interested in the development of Belleville's industries.

"My career started in 1900 in Municipal affairs and although eventually voted out I am coming back and want your vote and influence this year," said W. A. Woodley.

Mayor Bardley Wilmot thanked the Debating Club and the residents of Foster Ward for support in past years and offered his assistance in the future.

Magistrate Mikel stated that constructive criticism should be the aim of the Club members. "Too much backslapping will get us nowhere."

Ex-Alderman Harry Thompson criticized the Council for the purchase of the street sweeper and declared that it was a useless waste of money as the city of Peterboro had found it a failure. Mr. Thompson quoted facts and figures to back up his statement.

Ald. E. D. O'Flynn, Foster Ward, delivered a brief address which brought the speech making to a close.

NOTICE

The annual meeting of the Union Cheese Co., will be held at the factory on Wednesday, Dec. 7th, at ten o'clock p.m. for the election of officers and general business.

LOST FINGER

Port Hope, Dec. 1.—His middle finger entangled in the most machinery and severed was the unfortunate accident which befell Mr. E. Balfour, who is employed in McGregor's woollen mill. Mr. Balfour was chopping meat when the accident occurred. He was taken to the hospital for treatment.

MEMBERSHIP IN SCHOOLS

Kingston, Dec. 1.—The campaign throughout the schools of the city being conducted by the Y.M.C.A., is under way and the workers are endeavoring to create a greater interest in the Y.M.C.A. among the boys of the different schools. This week boys of Macdonald and Robert Meek Schools are being entertained at the "Y" in order to show the boys just what the "Y" can offer. The boys securing the most members from the pillaged, so audacious are the numerschools will be given a trip to Toronto where he will be entertained by the "Y" here for two or three days, with all expenses paid.

MUST SERVE SENTENCE

Cobourg, Dec. 1.—Frank Lowe of the Albion Hotel, Cobourg, must serve a term of two months at the County Jail, imposed upon him for an infraction of the Liquor Control Act of Ontario, by appeal Judge Arthur E. C. B. Huycke, in Chambers at Cobourg recently, having failed. Lowe was represented by J. A. O'Brien, Peterboro, and Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr, K.C., prosecuted.

SNEAK THIEVES

Oshawa, Dec. 1.—Motorists in Oshawa who leave their cars even for a few minutes may expect to find them ous shelves becoming. While Ray Gunn parked his car on Albert street last evening, some one removed from it a handsome buffalo robe. Although police are constantly on the look-out for stolen property, it has not been recovered.

HAD TWO CALLS

Kingston, Dec. 1.—The firemen had tw ocalls to handle almost within an hour yesterday afternoon but neither resulted in any damage. One call was where an overheated furnace in a home on Barrie street caused some alarm while the other call was in response to a chimney fire on York street.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING

Two games were played last night at the Y alleys in the Ladies League, the first game between the Crescents and the Believers the latter winning all four points. In the first game the Believers were up 43 pins and added another 89 to this in the second game. In the last game the Believers were up 132 pins and also the total by 271. Miss Wheeler had the high single and three string of 304 evening with 106 and 535 while for the Crescents Mrs. Rutherford was high with 426. In the second game between the Rinkey Dinks and the Mayflowers the Rinkey Dinks took all four points from the Mayflowers. REVOY AND SULLIVAN GET ONE TO TWO YEARS FOR VIOLATING GRAVE

Both Admitted Previous Convictions In Toronto And Oshawa

A CLEAR CASE

Judge Deroche Held That Warren's Evidence Was Corroborated

Philip Revoy and Frank Sullivan, both of Toronto, were found guilty of robbing the grave of Mrs. R. C. Hubbell in Marmora cemetery on the night of October 30th by Judge Deroche in County Court yesterday and each sentenced to serve not less than one year and not more than two years less one day in the Ontario Reformatory. Neither had anything to say when judgment was passed. The maximum penalty for the offence is five years and it is considered that they were dealt with in a lenient manner.

Thus the last chapter was written in a case which has stirred Marmora and district since the outrage was first discovered.

"I think I shall have to find each of you guilty of the charge," stated Judge Deroche at the conclusion of the case. "I might do that as a matter of law on Warren's evidence who was an accomplice. His evidence has been given in a more straight-forward manner than either of the other two. I would be loathe to convict on Warren's evidence alone, but there has been a strong corroboration of that while the evidence as given by Sullivan and Revoy has been contradicted at several points and I have no hesitation in finding them guilty.

"I don't need to go into details of the contradictions or the corroboration of Warren's evidence but one or two points were particularly outstanding. Warren states that the car was parked on a side-road while they were engaged in attempting to top the grave and this was substantiated by Boyd who saw the car there. This is denied by both of the prisoners in the box.

Evidence Corroborated

"Again, Warren states that they drove across the river and parked the car until three or four o'clock in the morning and this is denied by Sullivan and Revoy. The marks in the mud were made by a similar car. There was on this car and similar soil was caked on the shovel as was taken from the grave. On the question of the tarpaulin Warren says that Revoy supplied it while both prisoners deny this and Maudsley distinctly testifies that he loaned the sheet of canvas to Revoy. Would you like to be hung by anything about the punishment, Mr. Butler?" His Honor asked the Defence Counsel.

"Both men are married Your Honor and they were loth to believe that there were valuables secreted in the casket. They did not go there with the idea of disturbing the remains but rather hoped to grow rich."

Crown Attorney Donnan—"This is a most serious offence and a man convicted is liable to a penalty of five years. Both men have previous records. Sullivan having been convicted in Oshawa and Revoy in Peterboro and Toronto. They are not subject to suspended sentence under the code."

"I am sorry for each of you men but having been previously convicted it appears as though a short term would not help the situation. Your warnings do not seem to have done you any good and although your families will suffer you must pay the penalty. Mr. Butler says that you did not intend to molest the grave and I am considering the case from that viewpoint. A long sentence usually has a detrimental effect and I think a term in the Ontario Reformatory will be sufficient," said Judge Deroche before delivering sentence.

Mrs. Warren Testifies

Mrs. Ewart Warren, a pretty little flaxen-haired girl of twenty summers, was the first witness called at the afternoon session yesterday. She said that she first saw Sullivan and Revoy at Marmora where she had been visiting.

"Did you hear anything that was said?" queried the Crown.

"They said 'we will be in New York this time next week if everything goes well.' " She said there was a bag of tools in the car.

Mr. Butler—"How long have you been married?"

"Four years."

Mrs. Warren stated that her husband came to Marmora three weeks before the grave robbery was discovered. "My husband asked me where Mrs. Hubbell had been buried.

"Do you know anything much about this thing?" Defence Counsel asked.

"Nothing except what was said in the car."

Paid Ten Dollars

Mrs. Warren said her husband stated that he was given $10 to come to Marmora by Sullivan and Revoy in order that he might get a perspective of the situation.

"My husband went back to Toronto later and the next time I saw him was when he came to Marmora in company with the Salvation Army officers. He said he had confessed to the crime and given himself up."

David Sylvester, Provincial Police officer, told of the investigation was started on October 26th.

Discovery of Crime

"Visiting the cemetery I saw several people around the grave of Mrs. Hubbell which had the appearance of having been opened. A small pile of earth was thrown off to the side."

The officer described the spot which he said appeared as though a tarpaulin had been laid beneath the earth.

"I noticed foot-prints in the earth around the grave."

Crown—"Many?"

"There were three different foot-prints on the earth."

The officer clearly described each separate mark made on the soil. "I found two poles of different lengths and there were marks which indicated these had been used to pry the casket up. A square knob on the end of the casket showed marks of some instrument having been used to strike it."

The witness told of finding a cold chisel near the grave. "I took a photograph of the grave."

Mr. Butler, counsel for the defence, objected to the introduction of the negative as evidence. However, Judge Deroche overruled him and the picture was taken as evidence.

"The vault was taken from the ground and examined."

The officer told of a visit to Mrs. Baker's home where a shovel and pick were found.

Officer Sylvester described the marks of the tires of the car in the ground near which was a small patch of earth, identical with that thrown from off the top of the casket.

A square-faced shovel was produced in court which the officer said he found in Revoy's house in Toronto. A large canvas tarpaulin was shown which was found at Maudsley's home in Toronto. The officer stated when he arrested Revoy the latter stated, "I expected something like this."

Mr. Butler objected to this evidence on the grounds that no warning had been issued to Revoy when the arrest was effected. The officer stated that Warren made this remark before time was given to warn him.

"Revoy stated that Warren had implanted certain knowledge to him about a woman buried in Marmora cemetery. It was believed jewelry was buried in the casket."

Officer Sylvester declared that Revoy stated that he had an upstairs room at his home when he and Inspector Gurnett went to make the arrest.

Revoy On The Stand

Philip Revoy was the first witness for the defence heard.

"Where do you live?"

"311 Dundas Street East, Toronto."

The witness said he was engaged as a painter of smoke-stacks.

"Do you know Warren?"

"Slightly, yes."

Revoy said that Warren had been after a job. The witness told of a visit to Marmora in company with Warren where they visited the latter's wife.

"Where did you go from Marmora?"

"Over to Deloro where I visited an aunt of mine."

Revoy stated that he remained in Marmora six days.

"Were you in a cemetery or did you rob a grave during that time?"

"No."

Revoy stated that Warren came to Marmora for the purpose of getting a job.

"You did borrow a tarpaulin?"

"Yes."

"For what purpose?"

"To do some painting."

"You did not bring that canvas to Warren's place in Toronto?"

"No."

Revoy stated that Warren did not return to Toronto in the car.

Mr. Donnan—"What time did you leave Marmora on the 25th?"

"Did you go directly to Peterboro?"

"Yes."

"Did you have car trouble at Peterboro?"

"No."

Revoy stated that only one stop was made between Marmora and Peterboro, at Indian River.

The Crown produced two shovels which were found at the grave side. Revoy admitted ownership but stated that they must have been taken there by Warren. Revoy denied that Warren had ever had possession of the tarpaulin produced in court.

Mr. Donnan—"Any idea how that soil got on that tarpaulin?"

"No."

Warren had previously sworn that he made repairs to the tarpaulin but the witness declared that Warren never had possession of it.

"Did you make the statement to the officer that you expected to be arrested?"

"No."

"Did you talk to Warren about the trip back to Toronto?"

"No."

"How do you think he found out that you remained all night in the car and that you had the trouble at Peterboro?"

"I don't know."

Revoy admitted two previous convictions, one at Peterboro for assault and the other in Toronto for criminal negligence.

Frank Sullivan

Frank Sullivan the other accused man said he had painted smoke-stacks in Toronto, Peterboro and other places. He stated he came to Marmora hoping to get a job painting the smoke-stacks. Sullivan stated that the party painted a smoke-stack in Brighton and then proceeded to Marmora.

Pointing to the tarpaulin Mr. Butler said "Did you bring that thing in your car to Marmora?"

"No."

Sullivan corroborated Revoy's evidence which stated that Warren was not in the party on the return journey to Toronto. Sullivan denied having been near the grave-yard.

"I saw Warren only once, about a week later when we returned to Toronto," said the witness.

Mr. Donnan—"Did Warren tell you he was going to give himself up?"

"No."

"Were you convicted of receiving stolen goods at Oshawa and sentenced to three years?"

"Yes."

"Are you a relative of Red Ryan's?"

"No."

"Why did you go to Marmora?"

"To paint some smoke stacks at Deloro."

"Did you hide in a closet when Officer Sylvester came to arrest you?"

"No."

"What were you doing between seven o'clock at night and the next morning when you arrived in Peterboro?"

"We remained part of the night in the car along the road."

Harry Crossen who is serving a term in the Hastings County jail was called the witness stand by Mr. Butler, Counsel for the defence. Crossen stated that Warren had told him that he had got a ride on a transportation truck from Marmora to Niagara Falls where he gave himself up. This completed the defence side of the case.

Archie Reid, a garageman of Peterboro, stated that Revoy came to the garage some weeks ago to purchase a fan-belt for a Ford car. Revoy placed the fan belt on the car himself.

Did you observe anything about the car?"

"It was muddy and dirty and three poles were strapped on the side."

Cross-examined by Mr. Butler he said he would make no positive statement as regards Revoy's identity.

Ewart Warren was recalled to the stand. He said the car was damaged near the entrance to the grave-yard in Marmora.

Warren denied telling Harry Crossen that he went from Marmora to Niagara Falls by motor truck.

Mrs. Baker was recalled to the stand. She said she heard a rap on the door during the night and a voice under said, "My name is Sullivan. I want a few matches I'm going to the camp."

Mrs. Baker told him to go down town and get them.

Officer Sylvester was recalled to the stand. He said he examined the culvert near the cemetery Nov. 3rd and found a hole gauged out of the edge, apparently where the car driven by Revoy struck it.

Mr. Butler in reviewing the case, has been given by Warren who admits he took part in the crime. There is detail of this crime from one of the accomplices and the evidence has been corroborated in every detail. The Crown reviewed the whole case, the evidence of each one of the witnesses.

Mr. Donnan said—"We have every reason to believe that the statements made by Warren are true. There is no evidence to corroborate his statements. No effort has been made by the Crown to show that the foot-prints are those of the three men.

DIVORCE COURTS PROBABLE HERE

Measure To Be Introduced In Senate—Too Many From Ontario

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—The Senate is getting tired of dealing with the annual flood of applications for divorce from Ontario and steps will be taken at the forthcoming session of Parliament to have all proposals for severance of the marriage tie originating in Ontario referred to the law courts of Ontario.

Senator W.B. Willoughby, Chairman of the Divorce Committee of the Senate, will introduce a bill in the Upper House and the measure will be introduced in the Commons by a private member. This bill will make applicable to Ontario the law of England, as to the dissolution of marriage and as to the annulment of marriage.

Divorce applications have been coming in from Ontario lately at the rate of nearly 200 annually, and the machinery is getting hopelessly clogged.

Roman Catholic Senators and members from Quebec probably will oppose the measure, as divorce conflicts with their religious beliefs. It is thought, however, that sufficient private members of the Opposition in the Commons will support the bill to ensure its adoption.

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

As for disappointing them, I should not so much mind, but I can't abide to disappoint myself.
GOLDSMITH.

C. P. R. SCHOOL CAR

Taking a school to children is an interesting move by the Canadian Pacific Railway in the sparsely settled northern district of Ontario.

To furnish this pioneer service, the C.P.R. has transformed a railway car into a schoolhouse, and further undertakes its movement from place to place, while the Ontario Department of Education co-operates to the extent of paying the teacher's salary and providing and maintaining the scholastic equipment.

The car constitutes a veritable little country school in every respect. The actual schoolroom, which occupies the greater space, is complete for its functions in all particulars, with twelve desks and seats of varying sizes, blackboards, roller maps, a globe, and well-filled book-cases. There is a full kindergarten equipment, a small victrola and first-aid kit. Adjoining the school room is the teacher's bedroom, for he travels continually with the train, and beyond that is the kitchen, which is fitted up equipped with everything from a refrigerator to the regulation cook stove of a dining car.

The teacher is bilingual, speaking English and French with equal facility, and has been specially selected for his experience in the ungraded schools of the province. His pupils are the children of families in this rugged section which could not be otherwise reached—prospectors, lumbermen trappers, etc.

The school-car moves from place to place, spending a certain number of days at each, or moving about to pick up scholars. It ought to do good work and the C.P.R. is to be commended for the experiment.

JUSTICE

When Arthur A. Carrock of Seattle was convicted of inadvertently setting a fire in a national park the judge sentenced him to plant one hundred trees along the new highway between Seattle and Everett. He has completed his sentence, and no doubt henceforth he will watch his camp fires and cigarette ends.

Nobody but the pilot of an airplane observed a trim New York town with breadth announcing a real estate development. The indignant townspeople traced the aviator and a just judge sentenced him to pick up every circular. He also learned his lesson.

Unfortunately not in all cases can the law compel the offender to undo the injury he has done, but when such a course is practicable it achieves admirable justice. If those careless with fire were edged to rebuild with their own hands the damage done by their carelessness, we should have fewer devastated forests to mar the countryside. If injuries to person or property were repaid in the same coin, reckless conduct of various sorts would become decidedly unpopular.

FRIENDLY NEIGHBOR

Southern California is often favored by Canadians, not merely for a visit, but unfortunately as a permanency in many cases. At a reunion at Eaton's Corner, near Los Angeles, a couple of years ago, 30,000 Canadians were reported to be present.

And certainly there is a kindly feeling about Canadians there which was illustrated by the nature of a service on Armistice Day on Mount Rubidoux. Mount Rubidoux is a hill—a fireside famous in Southern California for its Easter service. The hill commands a magnificent view, and thousands gather on it early year to see the sun rise on Easter morning.

On Armistice Day a Sunset Service was held on Mount Rubidoux. An Ottawa lady now in Riverside sends a copy of the printed programme, which is headed "In Honor of Canada." The prelude to the service was given by the "Canadian Veterans Bagpipe Band." After the raising of the United States flag by the Mayor of Riverside and American officers, the Canadian flag was raised by Canadian officers and officers of the American Legion, and the Maple Leaf Forever was sung by the great assembly. Later came an address "A Tribute to Canada," by an American officer, the singing of "O Canada" and finally a pageant "of United States, Canadian friendship and the Prince of Peace."

RURAL LIFE

Lord Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada, is taking a keen interest in the welfare and development of the Canadian, particularly from the rural standpoint, as is shown by his remark when he watched the parade of young Ontario farmers at the Royal Winter Fair. According to Premier Ferguson the governor general's remark when he was at this impressive parade was brief and pointed. He said:

"Why should it be necessary to spend large sums of money bringing in people to develop our lands? Surely our problem is to retain our own people in our own country to help develop our own resources."

In this remark, Lord Willingdon showed a fine appreciation of the great need of rural Canada. Much has been said and much has been written about rural depopulation, about the drift of young people from the farms to the city. It has been true that tens of thousands of rural boys and girls have forsaken the farm life for the glamor and attractions of city life and thus the country has lost many potential farm men and women.

Given an opportunity of making agriculture profitable, and combining with that the assurance that farm work can be made so congenial and interesting as to give it an attraction greater than that of city life, there would be few who would desert the rural communities. The problem would seem to be to provide those conditions of profit and pleasure in such a measure as to make them effective in retaining the farm population.

IN MEMORIAM

Days which?
Had news from Mitch.?
She's passed
At last.
Rumor leads official note,
Then pen and ink, plane and boat
Bring the news; so mote
It be; we mourn.
She's passed. Model T
Has passed!

Let's praise the memory of Model T
With tuneful voice and loud oration
In my youth it carried me
And many folk of all the nations.
She's had her day
The chose of us of mortal clay.
Her race is run—her soul has fled
To seek.
So to speak.
Relief from noise and din redoubled
On her head, and were confounded
By her efforts all well rounded,
To purr.
As it were.
In minor cadences full sounded.

Model T's expired:
I weep.
I'll have my ancient car re-tired:
Twill keep
Till her offspring's application
For approval and approbation
Receives the same, or condemnation,
As the case might be!

THE PASSING YEARS

(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Mr. Wm. Sutherland leaves in a few days to take a position on the construction of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, and his co-workers of John St. Church surprised him last evening, with an address and the presentation of a lady's and gentleman's easy chair. Mr. Sutherland has for the past year been chairman of the Management Committee of the Church.

The merchants are looking for a revival of trade if the sleighing keeps up. Farmers came into the City on wheels and runners this morning but the latter proved the easier.

At an early hour this morning a west bound freight train was standing on the main line near Dunbarton when a freight engine ran into it and caused a bad smash up. Traffic was greatly delayed and the express due here at 10.47 was forty minutes late. No one was seriously hurt.

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN SOOTHED WITH SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery in touch or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause fiery burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.

HAVE YOU HEARD THIS?

American Girl—Were you presented at court when you were in England?

Her friend—Yes, for driving on the wrong side of the street.

Stranger: "What will you take for that fine Jersey cow you have?"

Farmer: "That depends upon who ye be. Be ye the tax collector or has she been killed by the railroad?"

Lady (to little boy crying): "My little boy, what are you crying for?"

Little boy: "Father beat me."

Lady: "What for?"

Little Boy: "I was doing a cross word puzzle and the clue was 'Drunk in the afternoon' and I put 'Dad' and it was 'ten'."

The well known explorer Mitchell Hedges, tells this little story:

On a journey to America, when the vessel was nearing New York he was one morning sitting in the smoking room when the steward came in and addressed the gathering in these terms:

"If there are any more orders for drinks, gentlemen, will you kindly let me have them at once. A fire raised—more and it will be too late. The Statue of Liberty is in sight."

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

A woman at St. Paul (Minn.) while crossing the street was struck by an automobile. She was picked up unconscious and taken to the hospital where twins, a boy and girl, were born to her. This ought to re accepted as a warning to careless pedestrians.—Brantford Expositor.

He is a rare man who knows a man he would be willing to marry if he were a woman.—Montreal Herald.

It would be interesting to know if the people who applaud at the movies talk back to their radios.—Kitchener Record.

The height of incongruity, according to the Border Cities Star, is reached in the news items which states that a party of Chicago citizens have gone somewhere or other on a shooting trip.—Toronto Globe.

A Word on Canada's Mines
The Standard Exchange, Toronto, has been breaking all records lately, sales running from two to three million shares per day. This exchange has become the leading Mining Exchange on the Continent, and our Mineral Wealth is only commencing to be properly developed. British and American investors are lately realizing the tremendous mineral values already definitely proved, and looking forward to developments that are certain to take place. It is advisable to keep posted on what is going on from day to day, and this can best be done through our Fortnightly Review and through the other information constantly coming in to our office, over our own private wires from our offices at the Mines.
Few people appreciate the tremendous value of minerals already definitely proved in such notable properties as International Nickel, Mond Nickel, Noranda, Amulet, Trek Hughes, Lake Shore, McIntyre, Flin Flon, Sherritt Gordon, Central Manitoba and a host of others. The wealth that will be taken from these properties in the next few years will far exceed that from our industries and will approach undoubtedly to that from the soil itself. Our mines will produce untold fortunes in the next generation, both to shareholders and workers, and the opportunities for profit, right at your door, should not be neglected. It is important however to get proper information, and we are in a position to supply it.

WHY HUSBANDS MAKE BAD DANCE PARTNERS

By LOUIS E. BISCH

There used to be a popular and comic song entitled, "I Can Dance With Everybody But My Wife."

But does it not, in reality, express a true state of affairs? Again and again one hears women complaining that they no longer enjoy dancing with their husbands while they admit they enjoy dancing as much as ever with other men.

A husband's terpsichorean ability is frequently characterized by his spasmodic clumsy, awkward, stiff, lifeless and by other names indicating that stepping the light fantastic with said party heroines closely on torture.

But a strange lady may speak of the same gentleman's ballroom manner in terms that would indicate quite an opposite appraisement.

"He dances divinely" — "To dance with him is like heaven"—What spirit what rhythm, what fire!

And on the man's part similar feelings of disappointment and regret or lack. Husbands get, too tiall out of shirking with their own wives but jointly when it is some other man's wife or sweetheart.

The fascination of novelty has, of course, a lot to do with it. Dancing with husband or wife is nothing new. Still, neither the best nor the worst man feels that way before marriage Sometimes a couple go together and dance together for years without tiring

What does marriage do to kill the pleasure? Is enforced intimacy responsible?

Is it the fact that husbands and wives see too much of each other? Or is there a deeper psychology behind it all?

It must be pointed out first of all that dancing combines rhythmic muscular movements with music. And in addition, what is still more important a mental and emotional attribute which, for want of a better term might be called romance.

Take romance out of the dance and there is no dance, that's all.

The body movements may be most gracefully executed, the whole may be well timed, the music itself may be perfect for the purpose—but unless romance be present the joy is gone and it becomes a mere stunt.

It is what the man contributes to the dance that makes it so alluring, so seductive, so exciting, so rousing, so stimulating, so refreshing, as the case may be.

Your partner may be a dance expert and yet leave you as dead and cold as a stone.

Conversely, your partner may even be a bit awkward on his or her feet and yet you feel you are having the time of your life.

Have you ever noticed how many elderly couples dance and enjoy it? They are anything but smooth dancers But have you ever noted the expression on their faces? See how jealousy is contented they look.

Just for the fun of it, pick out the man or woman you like to dance with best and, while dancing, think of some thing other than the dance, the music or your partner. Think, for instance of your work for the following day.

You will find that the dance that always gave you a real kick now falls absolutely flat. You may find yourself getting out of step or stepping on your partner's toes.

Unless from within your inner emotions you contribute something to your dance the fun is gone.

This is the main trouble with married folks. They don't contribute any thing to each other mentally.

They accept too much for granted They don't idealize. They just move the muscles mechanically.

To enjoy dancing with your wife or husband you must use your imagination a little, that's all.

OSTROM'S

THE BEST IN DRUGS

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUP

CHAPTER 1.

THE GUILTY CONSCIENCE

Lila Latham—soon to be Lila Ware—even now the motor that was to take her to the church was whirring under the porte-cochere—had a guilty conscience.

She stood before the full-length mirror in her dressing-room and saw herself, a misty, white-clad vision, with eyes like stars under the tulle of her bridal veil. She looked like an angel. She felt like a black imp. The opening of the door behind her made her start.

"Oh, it's you, Dot? I'm jumpy, I guess." She turned to a slender girl in a powder-blue bridesmaid's frock, who carried in her arms a huge bouquet of white orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

"Your flowers—they've just come," Dorothy Caine buried her pretty nose in their fragrance.

Lila took them absently.

"Dot," she said hollowly, "I've been wondering if I dare go through with it."

Dorothy's eyes opened wide.

"Marry Herbert, you mean? What on earth has happened? Have you discovered suddenly that you don't love him?"

Lila made a gesture of helplessness.

"You know very well what I mean! And I love him too frightfully much. If I didn't, I wouldn't be behaving like a coward and a perfect hussy, in the bargain, because of my fear of losing him."

"Nonsense!" Dorothy deftly tucked a fold of the bridal veil more securely under its bandeau of pearls. "You're just in a funk at the idea of walking down a church-aisle in about fifteen minutes, with the whole world gaping at you. You've had a case of cold feet—and it affects 'em all the same way."

Lila gripped Dot's arm with a tense hand.

"Dot—should I tell—even now? It isn't too late!"

Dorothy's clear eyes met hers gravely.

Lila, dear, giving advice, even to one's dearest friends, is a facer for the most intrepid person. How do I know what to say? To me, it seems that, if not telling were to hurt some one, then that one's a problem on your hands. But it can't hurt any one; neither can it do any good. If you confess at this eleventh hour, you will take the fine edge off this day—and it should be the happiest in your life and Herbert's."

Lila sighed and trailed her gleaming tulle train across the room to her dressing-table. She unlocked her jewel-case with a tiny key and, taking something from an inner compartment, held it up for Dorothy to see.

"Is it wise to keep that?" asked Dorothy gravely.

"Have I ever been wise?" countered Lila, with a wistful smile. "Of course I shouldn't keep it—but it's quite safe here. No, in a secret compartment in the box—see?"

"Why don't you—dispose of it?"

"I don't know," confessed the prospective bride. "We women are queer things, aren't we? We cherish such ridiculous, such dangerous tokens of sentiment."

She turned the slender diamond circlet over and over in her hand.

"I thought I was so in love the day Jack put that on my finger and said, 'Only death can part us now!' "

"Well, death parted you," said Dorothy sharply.

Lila dropped the ring back in the jewel-case. Her face was tearful.

"Dot, tell me, am I frightfully wicked? Should I tell Herbert—even now, at the last minute—confess to him that I wasn't speaking all the truth when I gave my word that I'd never loved any one else? You see, it means so much to him. He isn't like other men."

"You should powder your nose and be ready to go down," advised Dorothy sensibly. "The car's waiting, and we're already late." The matter-of-fact tones emerged from her voice. "Lila dearest, don't torture yourself and spoil your wedding-day, Captain Farquahar is dead. He's been dead five years, even though you didn't know that until recently. Nobody knows or suspects that you were engaged—almost married."

"We meant to be married as soon as Jack came back," insisted Lila feverishly. "We pledged ourselves to each other that night in France, before all those witnesses. We were terribly in love—or thought we were."

"Well, you weren't, or you wouldn't have recovered the first minute you set eyes on Herbert," said Dorothy with a tiny smile.

Lila smiled, too, waveringly.

"Haven't I been mad about him, though? It's the real thing this time, Dot. I've completely lost my independence and my sense of humor and that's ominous. I can't even laugh at myself for being such a baby about a man. And the worst of it is that I adore him for being so jealous! You know, Dot, he's even jealous of you; and as for my old beaux—" she laughed nervily, "unimaginable—every time I introduce him to an old friend he wants to know if that particular man has ever kissed me. That's why I daren't tell him about Jack. He'd be wild! He'd do something terrible!"

Dorothy was at the mirror, adjusting her powder-blue picture hat.

"Are you sorry?" she asked gently.

"Dot!" Lila had another disquieting thought. "Jack's letters? Have you destroyed them?"

"You mean your—Captain Farquahar's letters?" Dorothy shook her head "I burned the envelopes, but I though the letters—the one you read aloud to me—were too beautiful to destroy. There is nothing in them to identify you. He never used your name, remember?. It was always as 'my soon-to-be-wife,' that he addressed you. He must have been rather interesting, your Jack Farquahar."

"Oh, he was a handsome chap," said Lila, powderingly her nose vigorously, while dashing, masterful sort that appeals to a silly girl of eighteen. Not like Herbert, fine and strong and dependable."

"And stubborn and dignified and narrow," added Dorothy—but not aloud.

Lila flung herself impulsively into her bridesmaid's arms.

"Dot, wish me luck and tell me I'm not making a mistake in not confessing to Herbert."

Dorothy, under the circumstances, it would be the worst possible thing you could do."

"Not only that—it would be fatal!" Lila was her gay self again. "Herbert would throw me down at the altar, very chancel! But, if that's your advice, you've got to stick by it. If I get in jam, you'll have to help me out!"

It was high noon when Lila, radiant and beautiful as the flowers she carried, walked slowly up the aisle of fashionable Saint Timothy's, between pews marked by tall standards of Easter lilies. She saw only Herbert as he waited in the chancel; grave good-looking, carefully groomed. Her tiny, wavering smile was so beautiful that his stern face took on an expression of sheer adoration that brought a catch to the hearts of the older onlookers.

There is five hours difference in time between New York and France. When it is high noon in New York, the riviera is saunntering along the many promenades by the sea, stopping under gay awnings, where the tables are set and the orchestras are playing, for its before-dinner aperatif.

At five o'clock, then, on the day that Lila Latham was becoming Lila Ware, a lean, dark young man, the sailor of recent illness or suffering, on his handsome face, was staring under the awning of the Cafe de Paris at Monte Carlo, staring at the sea, his thin hand nervously turning the stem of a wine-glass.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

In my home town there is a girl friend of mine who keeps tell ing me things that my fiance said When I ask him about these things he deples them.

What should I do? Snub my girl friend or quit going with my fiance?

CUTY: You're storing up a lot of trouble for yourself, my dear, if you persist in listening to everything "they say." This is the cause of more unhappiness than you have ever dreamed. Ignore such things, as they are mostly caused by jealousy. Surely you cannot consider people true friends to you if they insist on making trouble for you, or attempting it, can you? Tell your friend that you love and trust your fiance and that you do not wish to hear anything detrimental to him.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my late teens. I met a young man six months ago and shared a great deal of him.

Before I started to go with him he had courted another young girl she left town and he stopped writing to her. But since she returned home his friendship for me waned

In what way could I win back his friendship?

LONESOME PEGGY: The most pitiful thing in the world is attempting to fan the ashes of a dead love into a flame, Peggy. If the young man is as fickle as your letter indicates, he is not worthy of your friendship. Try to forget him and I am sure you will meet someone who will prove worthy of your love.

POLICE WORKING WITH GANGSTERS

Chicago Newspaper Claims Collusion With Keepers Of Dives.

BOMBS STILL FLY

Federal Government Conducting Secret Investigation For Weeks

Chicago, Dec. 2.—"Herald and Examiner" today said that "Amazing evidence" of collusion between the Chicago police and the operators of liquors and gambling resorts has been obtained by the United States government in a secret investigation during the last month. Every police captain said, the newspaper, has been constantly shadowed by Federal officials during the past few weeks.

The newspaper said it had been indicated that numbers of indictments already have been prepared but were being withheld until the Government's case is completed.

Bombs Still Flying.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Bombing, series of raids, forty arrests and the slaying of one man were recent developments shown on the police records today. Bombing raids and arrests, together with accidental shooting to death of a gunsmith at Springfield, Illinois, were linked, directly or indirectly, with Chicago's gang warfare.

Bombs late eleventh it is tonight of spasmodic gang skirmishing were hurled by the police on the underworld fight for the control of a gambling and vice. An unexpected pool hall on West Madison street was the place bombed; the explosive being pushed through a "Lookout" window in the armoured front door. The explosion frightened tenants of the building but did little damage.

Five police raids were made during the night, all against places credited with membership in the syndicate, police say. Frank Zuta heads Zuta is presumably allied with the Capone-Siddiecro group pitted in the gang conflict against Al Capone and his supporters.

2000 CHILDREN SEE OLD SANTA

Local Store Crowded With Merry Youngsters All Afternoon

Santa Claus, the supreme and unexcelled, the hero par excellence of childhood is back from the people of the Kingdom and yesterday afternoon and evening from his throne in the Canadian-Dupont store he interviewed over two thousand of his little followers.

All afternoon hundreds of little feet scampered wildly about the corridors of the store and eager little children pleaded each other in an effort to catch a glimpse of the supreme personage. Santa Claus treated each of his visitors to a big all-day sucker as a slight portent of the things to follow in Christmastide. Eve., but it is suspected that some vent unreasons little rascals paid a second visit when perhaps thinking Santa Claus' eyes are not as good as they might be.

A beautiful throne of rose and green velvet had been erected for the visit, polished wood, and a bower of Christmas trees, laden with gifts, which however are not to be given out until Christmas Day.

Some little tots made their first trip to the shopping district in order to see Santa Claus and today quite a collection of lost articles are awaiting their owners at the Canadian Department Store, mits, rubbers, hankies all were sacrificed. On an occasion like this who of us can't recall some ecstatic moment of childhood when the store wide-eyed and awe-struck before the beautifully bedecked Tree which had come there magically over night, and though we cannot relive those days we can at least attain some portion of the joy in seeing the same rapture enkindled on childish faces.

BACK FROM CANADIAN ARCTIC

Went By Canoe On Four Months' Trip

Capt. William Lucy, well-known in mining circles, is back from a canoe trip up the Albany river to James Bay, skirting around the shores to Richmond Gulf on Hudson Bay, and return. The hazardous trip, undertaken with two other Ontarians, Hugh Rogers and "Bill" Broadbrook, took four months. Capt. Lucy, who says rifles, the country around the gulf is rich in mineral wealth, is shown holding the skin of a full-grown Arctic deer, the only kind that bears real fur. All other known deer have hair. The species is now nearly extinct, being hunted down by the natives with

PREMIER FERGUSON SYMPATHETIC TO CENTRAL POWER DEPUTATION

Accorded Close Attention To Arguments Of Protesting Municipalities

The campaign for lower power rates that has been waged for several months past by the Central Ontario Power Association was carried yesterday afternoon to the Parliament Buildings at Toronto where a large and influential organization waited upon Premier Ferguson and Hon. Robt Cooke, Minister of Power. As a result of the strong appeal that was made the members of the delegation felt greatly encouraged that something would be done by the Government to ameliorate conditions that are admittedly exceptional and unfavorable to industrial expansion.

The deputation was composed of the mayors and other municipal representatives throughout the zone served by the Central Ontario Power System and in there were in addition many large manufacturing enterprises that had delegated presid. Mr. W. E. N. Sinclair, M.P.P., Leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature, was one of the delegates from Oshawa and W. H. Brad burn, M.P.P., was one of the representatives from Peterborough.

Premier was Cordial

Prime Minister Ferguson was in a cordial mood and received the deputation most cordially. During the progress of the conference he asked many questions which showed that he was thoroughly familiar with the situation and the details for which the delegates were requesting remedial measures.

The delegation was introduced by P. L. Mason, General Manager of The Pedlar Company, Oshawa, and also former mayor of that city. Mr. Mason briefly stated the purposes of the visit and delivered the circumstances which brought about the organization of the Central Ontario Power Association which later occasioned the necessity for the interview with the Ontario Government.

Brief statements showing the local effect of the heavy increases in power rates that came into effect last winter were then made by Mayor Holliday of Peterborough, Mayor Deleite, Bow-

GERMANY WANTS TREATY OF VERSAILLES REVISED

Geneva, Dec. 2.—Count Von Bernstorf, of Germany, caused a sensation at the Security Committee Disarmament Commission today by inviting the powers to revise Article 19 of the League of Nations covenant. This article provides for the revision of treaties and delegates immediately deducted that he referred to the treaty of Versailles.

Article 19 of the League of Nations covenant reads:

"Assembly may from time to time advise reconsideration by members of the League of treaties which have become inapplicable and the consideration of international conditions whose continuance might endanger the peace of the world."

"A GOOD THING"

Toronto, Dec. 2.—C. A. Maguire member of the Ontario Hydro Commission today declined to divulge the source of power which it is proposed to purchase from private interests to supplement the supply for the Central Ontario District east of Toronto.

"The matter is still under negotiation" he said "if we get what we want it will be a good thing for the people." He denied that the purchase would mean a reversal of policy on Hydro's part.

POULTRY SALES MADE A RECORD

Napanee, Ont., Dec. 2.—A record was established at the conclusion of the poultry fair here yesterday when a total of $100,000 for the two days was paid out by bank for sales. On the first day $65,000 was paid out and on the second $35,000. The previous record for two days was 80,000.

The prices were not as good as last year, which proved disappointing to many farmers. The largest quantity was in chickens the prices being as high as 28c. There was only a limited quantity of turkeys, the highest price being 35c a pound. Very few geese and ducks were brought in, the prices being in the same proportion as the turkeys and chickens.

DISMISS MILLION DOLLAR ACTION

Toronto, Dec. 2—Chief Justice Mereditth today dismissed the million dollar damage action instituted against Hon. F. C. Biggs and the Ontario Equitable Life Insurance Company. Plaintiffs claimed the Policy Holders' organization was transferred to the Equitable Company for a consideration which was far below its true value. His lordship found there was no evidence of the conspiracy which plaintiffs complained existed between the defendants and the Hon. A. M. Featherston, General Manager of the Policy Holders' Company.

GIRL STRUCK BY CAR ON FRONT ST.

Little May Todd Suffers Head Injuries Which Are Not Serious

DRIVER NOT BLAMED

May Todd, the eleven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Todd, 399 Dundas Avenue, suffered head injuries when she was thrown to the pavement in front of the Canadian Department Store on Front Street by a passing motor car about five o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Fred. Rawson, driver of the car, via obsolved of all blame by the police.

According to witnesses the little girl, who was on her way to see Santa Claus at the Canadian Department Store, started from the east side of Front Street and, not noticing the Rawson car, ran directly in front of it. She was knocked down with some force and was unconscious when picked up by the first reports being that she was fatally injured.

Mr. Rawson immediately stopped his car and picking up the little girl rushed her to the hospital where her injuries were treated by Dr. G. H. Stoble. A deep cut at the base of the left ear is the only real injury, while she will be confined to her home for some time, no serious results are likely to follow. She was taken from the hospital to her home this morning.

It appears that the driver of the car had not stopped and that the police were looking for him were unaware of the fact that Mr. Rawson did not take the time to report the accident until after he had taken the child to the hospital and satisfied himself that she was not seriously injured. Later he went to the Police Station to explain the accident and was not held.

In the meantime the number of the car had been supplied to the police, who discovered that it was registered in the name of Dr. Crowe, of Trenton. Called on the telephone Dr. Crowe said that he had sold the car to Mr. George Ermaine, one of the Belleville bus drivers who had loaned it to Mr. Rawson.

TRIAL PROCEEDS THIS AFTERNOON

Simon Lovelace, of Bloomfield, former caretaker of the public school there, who was arrested last week by the Provincial Police and charged with serious offences against several little girls in the school found on the premises, appeared in the Trenton Police Court this afternoon.

Lovelace, who is a man seventy-one years of age, pleaded not guilty to the charge that were when he was arrested last week. Police court proceedings are likely to take the form of a preliminary hearing. He is being defended by Fred L. Ward, of Picton. The accused man is an uncle of James Lovelace, the Bloomfield boy who died recently. He may possibly change his plea in guilty this afternoon.

SURPLUS AGAIN!

Toronto, Dec. 2.—According to a Toronto report the forthcoming financial statement of the Province of Ontario for the year ending October 31, will show a handsome surplus. Ferguson estimates the revenues from the sale of liquor at $2,000,000. While details of the statement are not forthcoming it is understood that it is expected that there will be in a position to inaugurate the Government's plan for relieving the Provincial debt within the next forty years.

Operation will be performed by a competent surgeon and will keep the matter strictly confidential. Applicant must be young, not over 25. Light complexed. Applicant will submit name and photograph to attorney.

ASSETS DOUBLE ALL LIABILITIES

Canadian Department Stores Will Have Ample Capital Shortly

"The fact that an interim receiver has been appointed by the Court in connection with the affairs of the Canadian Department Stores Limited does not mean that the Company is either insolvent or financially in bad shape," said K. C. M. Reid, manager of the local C. D. S. to the Intelligencer this morning.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Reid pointed out, the recent sale of a number of stores was made originally by the Directors of the C. D. S. themselves, who recently had not sufficient liquid assets on hand to meet certain payments —through no fault of the Company. The Company's bankers were unprepared at the time to advance the necessary working capital required.

The interim receiver—Clarkson, Gordon—was appointed, as requested by the Company. The local manager pointed out also that the assets of the Company were more than twice their liabilities; it is expected that within two months time the liquid assets available will make possible a satisfactory reorganization, and that the business will be carried on by the reorganized Company. Mr. Reid stated that business locally had been exceptionally good of late.

NOTED SCIENTIST GOES TO M'GILL

Prof. J. B. Collip, Brilliant Ex-Belleviillian Leaves Toronto University

Prof. J. B. Collip, a former Belleville boy, son of the late James Collip of this city, and Mrs. Collip, now of Canandiagua, N.Y., a co-discoverer of insulin with Banting of the University of Toronto, and maker of the first of that serum to be used on a patient, has resigned from the faculty at Toronto University and is joining the staff of McGill.

Dr. Collip is a young man in his thirties and is a graduate of the Belleville High School. He is now Professor of Bio-Chemistry in the Faculty of Medicine at McGill. This brilliant young scientist has been specializing along bio-chemists on the continent and has lectured in leading universities and hospitals in America. He has also been honored by many of these institutions and refused many flattering offers from American hospitals and colleges to become a member of their staff because of his love for Canada. At present Dr. Collip is engaged in working on other important discoveries.

SUPPOSED TITANIC VICTIM WALKS IN AFTER 16 YEARS

Oralville, Leicestershire, England Dec. 2.—Mourned for nearly 16 years as victim of the Titanic disaster, Mrs. Ada Robertson walked into her old home at-this place a day or two ago, and nearly frightened her aged mother to death.

When she left Coalville she had booked passage on the Titanic, but at the last minute changed her plans. About her mysterious doings in the long interval, during which time failed and four brothers and sisters died, she would say little. She explained that she had married and done war work in Germany, and had been captured by the German.

The Titanic on her maiden voyage from Southampton to New York in April, 1912, struck an iceberg off Newfoundland and foundered. More than 1,500 persons perished.

ACQUITS YOUNG WIFE OF MURDER AFTER DELIBERATING TEN HOURS

DIED YESTERDAY

Wept For Joy As Jury Brings In Long Delayed Verdict

TWO WEEKS' TRIAL

Husband Was Killed And Thrown Down Lonely Well

Fall River, Mass., Dec. 2.—The darkeyed twenty-three year old woman on for nearly two weeks has been on trial here for the murder of her husband, Theodore R. Gibbons to-day was acquitted by a verdict of the jury which took ten hours to reach their decision. The woman, Mrs. Gertrude Gibbons, mother of a five year old boy, broke down and wept with joy as the foreman reported the verdict.

Theodore Gibbons was found slain in a well at Swansea last May. Mrs. Gibbons, who admitted on the stand that she lived for six months with Antone Dasilva, was jointly indicted with Dasilva for the murder. The state contended that Gibbons was lured to a lonely farm in a desolate section of Swansea and there killed by Dasilva.

Dasilva was never brought to trial He is in the State Prison at Bridgewater. Witnesses denied all knowledge of the crime.

GIVEN TWO MONTHS FOR SELLING LIQUOR

Dr. Benson proprietor of the Alexander Hotel, Colborne, was fined $200 or selling liquor by Magistrate Floyd at Cobourg yesterday and sentenced to two months in the County Jail at Cobourg.

WIDOW WON HER SUIT FOR $715

Justice Kelly Ruled That Stock Was Sold By Misrepresentation

Toronto, Dec. 2.—Judgement in favor of Emma Jane Vance of Belleville in the claim she filed against the Belleville Milling Company and the Canadian Credit Men's Association, has been handed down by Mr. Justice Kelly at Osgoode Hall. Mrs. Vance claims $20 paid by her deceased husband for stock in the company, claim ing there was misrepresentation by the company inducing her husband to buy the stock.

Mr. Justice Kelly also ordered a note of $465 held by the defendants to be cancelled and entitled Mrs. Vance to the assets of the Milling Company's estate, now in the hands of the trustee. Value was in excess of age when he died last year.

His Lordship ruled the evidence was clear that there was no respect there was gross misrepresentation of facts by T. A. Sinclair, manager of the company, and also H. R. Cory, who was employed to sell stock.

The representations were that the mills in Belleville and the village of Frankford were owned by the company and were clear of encumberance that the company's assets were undoubtedly misrepresentation as to conditions then existing, and were accompanied by with the fraudulent intention of inducing Vance to make purchase of stock.

DEPUTY FAINTED KEEPING ORDER

May's Landing, N.J., Dec. 2.—Emotional tension became so great as the defence witnesses began testifying at the Lillendahl murder trial today that one of the deputies preserving order collapsed and had to be carried out over the heads of spectators. Counsel for William Bach had just promised to present an alibi and Mrs Lillendahl's lawyer had asserted that the $2050 found on his clients garments did not come from the body of her murdered husband but from a moneylender suffered by her little son.

STUDENTS GIVEN PRIZES EARNED

Collegiate Commencement Exercises This Afternoon In Baptist Church

Belleville Collegiate Institute Commencement Exercises were held in the auditorium of the Baptist Church this afternoon when the student body and parents assembled to witness the presentation of diplomas and prizes won by successful pupils in the past year.

Rev. A. E. Atkinson, pastor of the Tabernacle United Church acted as chairman of the afternoon's proceedings.

The chief speaker was Dr. A. L. McCrimmon, Ex-Chancellor of McMaster University who presented the Memorial Shoolarship to Lorind Sprague who secured the highest aggregate on the Junior Matriculation in June, 1927. Miss Sprague was given $100 in cash.

Miss Dorothy Bishop, President of the Belleville Collegiate Literary Society addressed the students.

Medals won by the individual champions in the Annual Field Day were presented by Mrs. J. A. McFee and Mr. H. W. Ackerman. A program of music was arranged, consisting of solos by Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. McKinnon, James Bankier and J. Arnold Thompson. Mrs. Duff presided at the piano.

NOTICE

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned will be received up to noon on Saturday, December 3rd, 1927, for the purchase of the property known as the Belleville Public Library, situated on the corner of Victoria Avenue and Bridge Street, Belleville.

Terms of sale: Cash.

Tenders must be accompanied by a certified cheque for 10% of the amount of the tender.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Possession to be given on January 1st, 1928.

Dated at Belleville, this 1st day of December, 1927.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

If thou hast never been a fool, b sure thou will never be a wise man.
THACKERAY.

CIVIC ELECTIONS

Citizens of Belleville will face no light task on Monday next when they come to elect their council for 1928. It is generally admitted that we have had excellent civic government for the past two years and the calibre o the candidates offered this year is as high as what we had in 1926-27. The real task will be to select the best but I am sure even we cannot go very far wrong.

Three good men are offering their services for the mayoralty, all of whom have had previous civic experience and have proven themselves capable and reliable in handling the city's business. It is to be regretted that Mayor Wilmot is retiring after serving only one year, as a mayor during his second year should be more serviceable to the city than in his first term. For this reason we think it advisable that the mayor of the city should be elected for a two-year term or should stand for re-election at least once. However, Mr. Wilmot is retiring owing to the demands of his personal business and our choice for next year lies among Alderman Duff and Ex-Alderman White and Greenlaw. Anyone of the three should make a capable mayor. Mr. Duff is perhaps most conversant with the city's immediate problems as he has been in the council during the past two years, serving during the current twelve months as chairman of the executive, a position second only to that of the mayor in importance. He has not been sparing in time devoted to the city's business and has brought to it an intelligence of a high order. He has not been carried away by passing fads nor would he be apt to curb the city's prosperity by any idea of false economy.

Ex-Alderman R. P. White served several terms in the city council some few years back and has since kept in close touch with the city's problems. He is a well-known building contractor and is recognized as a man of high business ability.

Ex-Alderman Greenlaw has given as much time to the city's affairs as any other person in Belleville during the past few years. He is an industrious worker on the Parks and Pair Boards and is always one of the active workers when anything for the good of Belleville is proposed.

We may, therefore, assume that any one of the three candidates is capable of performing the duties falling upon the shoulders of the chief magistrate of Belleville; that all of the three are honest and would be willing, if elected, to devote the necessary time to the city's affairs. The question for the electors to decide on Monday is which of the three would prove to be the best executive, which would display the most initiative in augurating policies for the advancement of the city and which would be most successful in securing the support of the council for his policies.

There are bound to be at least five new faces among the aldermen next year as Alderman Duff is standing for the mayoralty and Aldermen Sinclair Proctor, Gorman and Goudy are retiring. In the four men dropping out Belleville is suffering a distinct loss as they were recognized as efficient painstaking members of the council. Alderman Sinclair maintained the waterworks department at a high grade of efficiency and being thoroughly conversant with that department it will be just a little difficult to replace him at once. The other three were just as painstaking in the particular work allotted to them.

It would seem advisable to re-elect the majority of the seven councillors who are offering themselves again. These men have gained useful experience which will be decidedly valuable to the city in the coming year.

Particularly is this true in the case of Ald. A. B. Collins, who has been in charge of the Gas Department where extensive alterations are in progress. This utility has been running behind consistently for several years and in an effort to modernize it about one hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars have been spent. There is now more than a fair prospect that the gas department will at least pay for itself and it would seem to be good business to leave Mr. Collins in charge as he has had two years to familiarize himself with this work.

Ald. C. L. Hyde has brought the fire department to a high state of efficiency and should be returned with a good vote. He is a hard worker and has displayed the same business ability in the city's affairs which he uses in successfully carrying on his extensive hardware business.

Ald. F. R. Wetten has proved to be a valuable member of the board during the past two years. He is known as one of Belleville's aggressive young business men with the interest of the city at heart and the same may be said of Ald. G. E. Walker. Alderman Norman Donahue is known as an economist which is not a bad thing to have on any board of aldermen.

Ald. E. T. Cherry is known as a hard worker but a great many citizens are wondering why he advocated the purchase of the street sweeper. The sweeper seems to have been bought without a great deal of investigation and is apparently an expensive luxury. No doubt at tonight's meetin Mr. Cherry will offer some explanation which may hold him some vote which he would otherwise lose.

Among the new men offering themselves, the citizens should make sure of C. A. Payne, George A. Reid, David Rollins and Gilbert French. C. A. Payne is recognized as one of the most promising of the young lawyers, has a keen legal mind and particularly well versed in municipal law. He will make an admirable addition to the council.

George A. Reid has been a resident of Belleville for fourteen years and is perhaps as well known as any man in the city. Although he has never previously offered himself for municipal honors he has each year been urged to do so and this time has consented His business judgment would make him useful to the city.

David Rollins is the only manufacturer among the candidates and for that reason, if for no other, he should be elected. He is recognized as a man of sound business judgment. Where he ran two years ago he was comparatively a new comer to the city and was only beaten out by one or two votes. He should run well up in the list this time. Gilbert French is a well known flour, feed and grain dealer, has lived in this city for a considerable number of years and is recognized as a good businessman. He was formerly in the council for some years, heading the polls on more than one occasion, and should come back easily.

Another good candidate offering is W. A. Woodley who served for several years previous to 1921 as an alderman when he was recognized as one of the good men. He can once be mayor. W. H. Luffman is a building contractor of wide experience and should be useful on the council. J. William Day is a large property owner in Belleville and is an ex-service man with a fine record overseas.

A rather surprising situation exist in regard to the school board where six out of the seven wards elected their trustees by acclamation. This would seem to show that the citizens are satisfied with the board's action in building the new collegiate institute and have no particular criticism to offer. The only ward in which a contest occurs is Murney Ward where G. M. James and A. R. Schryver are contesting for the honors. Mr. Schryver is the sitting member whose term expires this year and Mr. James is an ex-high school teacher who retired from the local staff to devote his whole time to his large tent hose interests. Either of these men would be well fitted to serve on the board of trustees.

THE PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Anti Liquor by-laws are to be voted on in Madoc and Wellston on the 3rd of January.

It was with regret that his friends learned today of the death of Jacob M. Ashley, which took place at 9 o'clock last evening. Deceased had been ill for some time and his death was not unexpected. He was a grandson of Capt. John Meyers, one of the first settlers of Belleville. He leaves to mourn his loss besides his widow one brother Henry, and three sisters Mrs. Richard Taylor and Miss Augusta Ashley of this city and Mrs. Park hurst, Canadaigua, N.Y.

Mr. Michael Grady, "The Iron Duke" returning from a trip out to the K. & P., says that there is no need for people to go to the Klondike when there is tons of gold in our vicinity. The Webber gold mine about two miles out of Ardoch in the township of Clarendon, is being worked again.

Mrs. (Dr.) Parley gave an At-Home to her friends yesterday.

The Rev. Rural Dean Forneri and bride have arrived in the city and are guests of Rev. A. L. and Mrs. Green Moodie Cottage.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

There is a movement across the line to limit the number of divorces obtainable by any person in the United States. Such a law would be declared unconstitutional for the reason that it interferes with the right of every citizen to liberty and the pursuit of happiness.—Hamilton Herald.

The automobile is putting the baby carriage out of business. The infants of today are driven about in cars with tops and not pushed around in rattan carts. The effect of the auto on the baby carriage is so severe that the rattan factory at Walkerton is mostly to be closed down. In 1920 the factory employed 150 hands. Today the number is 29, all because autos are now used to take baby out.—Peterborough Standard.

SONNET
(Philip Sidney)

Loving in truth, and fain in verse my love to show,
That dear, dear Muse might take some pleasure of my pain;
Pleasure might cause her read, reading might make her know,
Knowledge might pity win, and pity grace obtain:
I sought fit words to paint the blackest face of woe,
Studying inventions fine, her wits to entertain:
Oft turning others' leaves, to see if thence would flow
Some fresh and fruitful showers upon my sunburnt brain;
But words came halting forth, wanting Invention's stay,
Invention, Nature's child, fled step dame Study's blows;
And others' feet still seemed but strangers in my way.
Thus, great with child to speak, and helpless in my throes,
Biting my trunchen, beating myself for spite;
"Fool!" said my Muse to me, "look in thy heart and write!"

LOOK FOR MURDERER
The local police are in receipt of a telegram pertaining to the arrest of Archie Bochenko, of Cochrane, Ontario, for the murder of Nestor Bocick, a fellow-Russian. The offence is alleged to have been committed in Le March Township early in October. The man is described as 40 years of age, 5' 7" in height, weight about 145, dark features with a small moustache, and when wearing a pair of khaki breeches when last seen.

Mr. Angus Robertson, of the firm of Quinlan & Robertson, Montreal, was sitting in the chair car en route to Toronto on the Canadian Pacific express train which was wrecked near Dockrill on Sunday last. Aside from a bad shaking up, Mr. Robertson escaped injuries. He is a brother of Dr. J. J. Robertson of this city.

POLICE COURT
Jesse Burns, Franklin Street, appeared in Police Court this morning charged with illegally "having" booze. Provincial Police raided the Burns' home last night and secured a half-dozen of "moonshine" as evidence. The case was enlarged until tomorrow.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in the matter of bail for the accused. Burns' counsel, C. A. Payne, stated that he thought that only a small amount was needed, as the offence was not a serious one. The Provincials, however, were of a different opinion and asked Magistrate Ponton to make the bail a stiff one, and it was finally set at $300, furnished by Burns' mother-in-law.

Belleville Pays More
Mr. Stock gave a striking comparison between the power and lighting rates effective in Belleville and in St. Catharines. He was followed being about the same distance from the generating points. As Belleville the rate per H.P. for power the increased rates will be $22.50 per annum; at St. Catharines the rate for the year just closed was $15.74. Incidentally that the price at Belleville was almost 50 per cent higher than for the same service at St. Catharines. The comparison of lighting rates was even more striking. For domestic lighting at St. Catharines the charge is 1.4c per k.w. hour and for commercial lighting 3c per k.w. hour. The rates effective at Belleville cost over 100 per cent more, or 3.4c per k.w. hour for domestic lighting and 3.9c for commercial lighting.

Mr. Stock further showed that the power charge for pumping water at the Belleville Waterworks Station had gone up more 25 per-cent from last year and in the same quantity of water were used in 1927 as in 1926 it would cost the people of Belleville almost $2,500 more to pay for the service.

Sympathetic Consideration
Premier Ferguson did not dismiss the proposition with the usual statement of "careful consideration" but gave an extended review of the circumstances that led to the acquisition by the Province of the Central Ontario Power System by the Government in Ontario. Mr. Ferguson reviewed that conditions were now far more favorable than they could possibly have been under the administration of the Electric Power Company which was previously known as the Seymour Power Company. The Government as 20; Tough-Oakes 75; Towagmac 4.00; 42-2nd con as administrators had thus been of Trent Hydro 11.00; Viponi 81.

immense benefit to power and light users in that division served by the power developments along the Trent River.

Mr. Ferguson, however, admitted that there were exceptional conditions in the Central Ontario zone and while he saw serious difficulties in the way of making a readjustment of capital costs in the manner requested by the deputation yet he assured the deputation that he would immediately take the matter up with his colleagues and with the Power Commission to see what changes if any it would be practical to make.

CLOSING QUOTATIONS

She Gained Weight With McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets
You remember of course—not so long ago she was a regular scarecrow—skinny is a mild word for the way she looked.

Just look at her now—if ever a woman had a perfect figure she has it—she is the envy of half the girls in town.

It's nothing to get excited about—all she did was to take on weight—filled out the hollows in face, neck and chest —any skinny, weak, run down woman can do the same and gain a clean, clear complexion at the same time.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets or 2 one dollar boxes any this, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

SCORELESS TIE IN PRO. HOCKEY

GRADS WIN S. P. A.

Toronto, Dec. 2.—Toronto Olympians, alias Toronto Grads, won the S.P.A. senior trophy at Arena Gardens last night, when they defeated some of their former teammates and fellow-students representing the University of Toronto O.H.A. senior team in a sociable game of hockey by a score of 4 to 2.

The Grads were expected to win. The few hundred fans were mostly interested in how big or how little the score would be. The game provided a good test on the ability of the team that will represent University of Toronto in the O.H.A. series this winter but it is said here that the Grads fans have a well-balanced team, with a particularly strong defence. The Grads had to hustle last night to keep in front and it was necessary for Joe Sullivan, in the first period, and "Stuffy" Mcvller, in the last two periods, to turn in some stellar goalkeeping to keep the University boys from pulling out a victory.

PIRATES DEAD-LOCKED

Pittsburgh, Dec. 2.—Pittsburgh and the Boston Bruins battled to a 0—0 tie in an overtime National League match here last night. Play was featured by many brilliant defensive tactics of both teams. By virtue of the tie the Pirates checked their string of defeats, which had reached five without a victory.

Throughout the regular playing periods and in the overtime the defensemen consistently starred in the checking offensives skillfully. There were few penalties.

Boston—Coul, Winkler; defense, Shore and Hitchman; wings, Oliver and Galbraith; centre, Frederickson.

Pittsburgh—Goal, Worters; defense, Langelds and Smith; wings, Darrah and McCurry; centre, Mills; subs. S. Cleghorn, Herberts, Coulmer, Gaynor, Gordon, Clapper.

Referees—Mitz Rodden, Toronto, and Mickey Ion, Vancouver.

ANOTHER TIE

Forum, Montreal, Dec. 2. — New York Rangers and Montreal Maroons played a fast open National Hockey League match to a one-one draw here last night. The locals appeared to have the game saved on Stewart's goal when after 12 minutes of the third period Johnson was in the penalty box on the Maroon net. Passing the defense, the puck was given to Boyd who made no mistake and the game was tied.

Stewart, taking a pass from Dutton who made a goal in goal rush in the second period, scored Montreal's tally.

The game was featured by the dazzling speed of the Rangers' forward line, both their regulars and subs going a fast clip. Smooth team-work continued the combination play they have shown their supporters recently and their attempts goalwards, while not so frequent were more dangerous than the New Yorkers' rivals.

Stewart, centre forward of the Montreal team, played the best game he has turned in this year.

ADAMS' TEAM WON

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 2.—Reg. Noble and "Happy" Holmes, defense men, proved too much for Chicago here last night and Detroit went into third place in the National Hockey League by virtue of a 3 to 1 victory.

Johnny Sheppard scored two of Detroit's goals and Carson Cooper scored a third. McKay accounted for Chicago's lone goal.

Chicago—Goal Holmes; defense, Noble and Traub; centre, Walker; wings, Cooper and Hay.

Detroit—Goal, Gardiner; defense, Wentworth and Graham; centre, Irvin; wings, McKay and McVeigh.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Patrons of the Capitol Theatre have offered them a real thriller this last half of the week. "Foreign Devils", the picturization of the great Peter B. Kyne story, starring Tim McCoy, the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, and the new star made a good impression on last night's large and appreciative audience. Warfare, gymnastics, an interesting romance and a whole lot of real good comedy are all combined in this interesting film with the story laid in China. Don't miss it, if you like thrills and a good picture.

The professional vaudeville offering, the last half of the week, is away above the average, featuring a versatile pair of performers in a clever singing and dancing act that has real merit.

It's an all round good bill, and one you shouldn't miss.

REGENT THEATRE

Buck Jones new Fox Films western, "Chain Lightning," will have its final showing at Belleville at the Regent Theater. It is a story embodying the romance and scenic beauty of the west. Buck is supported by an unusually fine cast including Lione Ellis, William Welch, Jack Ralston, Ted Mechanaro, Buck Moulton and Marty Faust. Lam bert Hillyer, well known director of western thrillers, wielded the megaphone on the production.

BELLE THEATRE

Fast moving, cleverly titled" admirably cast and splendidly directed. "Cradle Snatchers," Fox Films comically funny farce, brought gales of laughter from the audience who witnessed its first showing at the Belle Theatre yesterday.

It is a sermon in laughs for decoy

Y'S MEN'S CLUB DINNER DANCE

Service Club Hosts To Friends And Guests At Social Event

Ladies' Night at the Y's Men's Club was marked with a dinner and dance last evening and the affair was pronounced one of the most successful ever attempted by the Club. Over one hundred were in attendance at the dance which was held following the dinner in the Y.M.C.A. building.

Each member of the Club had as his guest one lady and another couple. The party assembled at the "Y" where a dinner was served at 7 o'clock. Chairman "Army" Armstrong presided and introduced the guests and speakers. "Al" Stillwell chairman of the entertainment Committee had provided a first-class program and announced P. C. McLaurin, principal of the High School as the chief speaker.

Percy Cole was appointed song-leader and Harry Poole, Sergeant-at-arms. Members were fined the usual amount for various infractions of the Club rules and as a result the treasury was enriched to a considerable extent.

Mr. Leo Riggs in his usual fine style rendered two piano solos and Mrs. Riggs sang two solos. Harold Howard, one of the Club members, assisted in the program with two solos. He was accompanied by Mr. Arthur Grosse. Following community singing Chairman Armstrong called upon Stacy Licence who proposed the toast to the ladies. This was responded to by Mrs. Joe Shortt, wife of the new Secretary at the Y.M.C.A.

Past President Newton Thompson introduced Mr. P. C. McLaurin who gave a wonderful talk on the "A B C's of life". Mr. McLaurin has talked to the Club members on several occasions but he was never heard with more interest than last night. He sketched the career of an individual from the first stages noting the changes and how they are brought about. Character building was stressed by Mr. McLaurin in the course of his talk.

The guests adjourned to Johnstone's Dancing Academy where the remainder of the evening was spent. The Bon Ton Orchestra provided the music for the dance.

Jack Andrews was Chairman of the Dance Committee and arranged a first-class program. Newton Thompson was Chairman of Refreshments having as his assistants ten members of the Club. A luncheon was served at midnight.

Specialty numbers in the form of "lucky spot" and "lucky number" dances were on the program for the evening.

The winners of the prizes were: Misses Colclough, Davidson and Allore. The party broke up at one o'clock every one declaring the Y's Men ideal hosts.

SHIELDS SAVAGELY ATTACKS PROF. MARSHALL AND SLAMS M'MASTER

Rev. Hillyad Jones Of The Local Baptist Church Is Attacked

"SAME OLD LIE"

Fighting Pastor Wants To Put Opponents "To The Sword"

Representatives from nearly every religious denomination turned out to hear the Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields address a public meeting in the City Hall last night, and the large auditorium was jammed to the doors to hear this fighting Baptist expound his views.

Dr. Shields ripped McMaster University of today to pieces, and spoke bitterly of the Reverend Marshall and his modernism. In fact, the doctor's address contained in several places distinctly disparaging remarks to Mr. Marshall. The Rev. Hillyard Jones, pastor of the local Baptist Church, also came in for his share of the gun fire. Dr. Shields said that Mr. Jones was perfectly orthodox, in fact he (Shields) had never heard of him being otherwise, but he claimed when Mr. Jones got up on the floor of the convention that he deliberately voted directly for those things that uphold unorthodoxy.

Dr. Shields has a compelling personality, and he gripped his hearers last night with this same personality, his fine deep voice, the epitome of sincerity, thrilling the very timbers of every soul that listened to him. The Fighting Divine denied absolutely any self-seeking of power, claiming that he was not just looking for a leadership. The speaker stated that he welcomed any question at any period of his speech, and would not be offended if he were interrupted.

"God has set His Seal upon Dr. Shields," the Reverend A. E. Brownlee, follower of the noted dissenter, and the second speaker on last night's programme claimed. The greater part of the doctor's speech was taken up in cursing everything at all Modernists, and especially damning the modern McMaster University, and a greater part of the faculty connected with it.

Dr. Shields

Before beginning his address, Dr. Shields invited all present to interrupt at any time to have any questions cleared up. "A lot of people would feel better if they would only get things out of their systems," said Dr. Shields in opening. "So if you have any particular desire to say anything nasty of me, get it out of your system. What I am sorry of in this controversy is that our friends on the other side seemed to have forgotten how to laugh! We must take the sword in hand and put them to the sword, but while we do it we must love the sinner!

"Our friends, Dr. Foss and the Rev. Clover are Modernists. Modernism, when it is finished, is the denial of the Virgin Birth of Christ, of His Death, of His Resurrection and of His Return. It denies the fundamentals. The same serpent is wriggling thru the garden again and it whispers, 'Are you sure that God said?' From the suggestion of a doubt to the denial of something God has said is the next step. The ignorance, as Dr. Marshall claims, is not on the side of fundamentalism.

"Modernism is as old as the record of human sin. The devil never told but one lie and it was so successful that he has been making new clothes for it ever since. Now he puts on the gown and calls it Doctor of Divinity or Doctor of Philosophy, but it's the same old lie just the same.

"The Bloor Street Convention was held in 1910 and Dr. Hearst was then the troubler of Israel. Mr. McNeil, as he was known then, came to me and said that the two of us could carry the convention by signing a resolution. I was young and unsophisticated, and it never entered my mind that a gentleman could sign one thing and the next morning go into a classroom and preach exactly the opposite. I have no doubt that I have made many blunders in my life but that was the greatest mistake I ever made. I did not know that McNeil had corrupted a member of the Board of Governors, Dr. Frank Sanderson enemy of fundamentalism. Dr. Sanderson is a thousand times worse now than he ever was. The evil genius behind it all is Dr. Sanderson, and in all my time I have never met a man more like my idea of the incarnation of a trouble maker than this man."

Dr. Shields emphatically denied any self-seeking of power in this argument, any desire for leadership.

"I know the religious life of this continent and England far better than Professor Marshall. Marshallism is the curse of English Baptism today; diminishing membership, every kind of trouble; Marshallism is the thing to lead any Baptist Church upon the rocks.

"Why is it that Baptists have been losing everywhere? Why is it that in Belleville you have not a church a thousand strong? Why is it? Let the Gospel of Jesus Christ be preached in its power. What we need is to get back to the old times. Why is it that 90% of the people in other churches are Baptists? Because they are not getting the food to eat at home.

"The basis of Union is the Bible. The Word of God will united people. There are 200 Baptist denominations that do not believe in the Bible fundamentally," stated Dr. Shields.

Dr. Shields quoted sections from a speech of Professor Marshall, wherein the professor doubted the truth of the passage in the Book that claimed that "the iron did swim." Dr. Shields said that Marshall could not believe the Bible if he doubted that.

"I believe that the Bible is not a text book of science, but it is inconceivable to me that the Holy Spirit should inspire any man to write that which is not true," stated the Doctor in refutation of this one point.

"If the Book of Genesis were not written directly by God it is not worth the paper it is written upon. What else was there to write it?" queried the doctor. "Professor Marshall says he does not believe in the atonement.

"Dr. Farmer is orthodox, but says, 'I am not going to excommunicate a man who does not believe in the Virgin Birth.'" What kind of a man do you want in your church anyway? You can't deny the Virgin Birth of Christ without denying the authenticity of the Book. When you include that which is contrary to God's Word you will eventually exclude the Word of God."

Dr. Shields stated that the Home Mission Board of the Baptist Church was the tool and under subjection to McMaster University. For some time the doctor spoke rather harshly of McMaster, explaining its faults and shortcomings of the present day.

"Who is responsible for the present condition of the Convention? The vote must be open so that McMaster University might know how everybody had voted!

"You have a pastor in this city who as far as I know is orthodox but who goes to the Convention and deliberately votes for everything that stands for unorthodoxy."

Rev. Mr. E. A. Brownlee

"Why have we come to Belleville? Why has it been necessary? It has been necessary because there are facts which should be set forth to people in Ontario and Quebec," stated Rev. Mr. Brownlee in opening his address.

"It is the desire of a great many that our Baptists should know the facts as they are, set before the people." The speaker criticized the Press for their rather biased opinions on this matter. It is not enough that the dissemination of fact should rest with them or with the Canadian Baptist," our organ, which does not set forth our side of the question at all. It is the desire of many to place both sides of the question before the people, and that is why we are here." The speaker stated that he was a McMaster man, said that he loved that institution, and still does, and said that he came to Belleville as a friend of McMaster University. "It is because we are loyal to that College, loyal to the original charter, that we stand where we are.

"When this controversy began I was 10,000 miles away from Ontario and yet reports reached us in the Orient and as they came through the "Canadian Baptist," our sympathies were with the University. But it was not until long after that that I became aware of the true facts of this misunderstanding. I have come to understand fully that the University was working the wrong lines and so reluctantly my attitude towards this new McMaster began to change. I believe that if McMaster were not now going on that wrong road, her president would not have received his high distinctions. Surely the old school has departed from its thoroughly orthodox position." Dr. Brownlee said that if it had not been for the present policy of the University, Dr. Marshall would not now be upon its staff.

"It is a very easy thing to let things run along and drift easily afield, and I say that the men who are standing against McMaster are men of conviction, standing on their own feet. The issue is re-creating men; there are men today who are proving themselves men.

"Who is responsible for all this trouble?" queried Dr. Brownlee, and "It was not Shield's fault. The responsibility lies with those who have created the situation that needed criticism. A great deal has been said about misrepresentation. Dr. Shields has been charged with it. There has been no man more grossly misunderstood than Dr. Shields! I know those ugly rumours that have been cast at him are not true. I know that he is a man upon whom the blessing of God rests. He has rested. God is setting His Seal upon Dr. Shields."

When a man's down he thinks it's all up with him.

CANADA NEEDS ONLY MORE POPULATION

London, Eng., Nov. 28.—(CP)—There has been much more money put into gold mines than ever came out of them, but the wheat plains of Canada renew themselves," declared Sir Alfred Mond, M.P., to the Chamber of Commerce, at a luncheon. "The wheat plains of Canada, however, renew themselves and if they cannot do that for ever we have fertilizers for renewing them.

"Canada lacks only one thing, and that is population," continued Sir Alfred. "The whole position is summed up into the question of how many people you can get into that mighty continent, and how much money you can obtain to set them to work.

"Canada sometimes feels it is almost overwhelmed by its great neighbor, but, compared with the British Empire, the United States of America makes a trifling proposition which is scarcely worth regarding. Why do we not realize this and have enough business sense to use the knowledge? Why does everybody talk of the Mother Country? I talk of the Empire. Instead of the statement that no member of the British Empire will be admitted I would say that nobody except a member of the Empire will be admitted into other portions."

FIFTY THOUSAND TO BE OUT OF WORK

Sydney, Australia, Dec. 1.—Prospect that fifty thousand workers will be idle tomorrow has presented itself in Australia as the result of inability of striking waterside workers and their employers to come to terms. The mines already are closing down while shipyards have declared that if men do not go to work on the employers terms, vessels will remain tied up. Melbourne is also affected, as are various Australian ports.

LAY IN TRANCE FOR 12 MONTHS

Then Got Up From Bed And Started To Walk

London (By Mail).—Mrs. F. C. Longland, the wife of a farmer, of Barnet, Northamptonshire, who had been lying in a trance for more than 12 months, made a remarkable recovery after the family had gathered round what they thought to be her death bed.

Mrs. Longland claims that auto-suggestion was the cause of her recovery. She had been ill for 20 years, and for four years was unable to move her limbs or body.

"We all assembled round the bed at midnight confident that she could not live until dawn," said Mr. Longland, her husband, in an interview. "Suddenly she moved, and for the first time for many months we heard her voice. She bade us farewell one at a time, and then rested.

"She spoke again in a few minutes, this time asking for a drink of water. A little later she asked for food and portion of a substantial meal of Yorkshire pudding. She never looked back from that moment, and has steadily gained strength, until she is now able to do her domestic work and go for long walks."

"As long as I was conscious," said Mrs. Longland, "I forced myself to believe that I would become better some day.

"As I was lying in bed, I suddenly thought I could walk. I got out and, sure enough, I was able to pull myself up by the bedpost and walk round the bed. I told them all about it, and they could not believe it—so I had to do it again."

A slender income is said to be an excellent remedy for obesity.

GLOOMY DEAN IS EXPONENT ALSO

Of Sun Bathing In The Nude—G. B. Shaw Too

London, Dec. 2.—The Very Rev. W. R. Inge, "the gloomy dean" of St. Paul's cathedral, has astounded the conservative British upper classes by endorsing the cult of physical exercise and sun-bathing in the "altogether," which has won so many adherents in Germany. The English and German stand-patters had no sooner recovered from this jolt than they received another. George Bernard Shaw not only came out in favor of sun-bathing in the buff, but had himself photographed in a variety of scant poses.

Harpooning Conventions

Now the English are used to Shaw's little eccentricities—he is always throwing the harpoon into their pet conventions. But Dean Inge is a distinguished churchman who was reputed to frown mightily on any outlandish fads having to do with nudity in public.

When the dean and Shaw crossed the English conservatives, a howl of disapproval arose. The burden of the criticism was that with a world-wide flaunting of the body in the German fashion all modesty would go by the board. English bathing beaches would become places where no respectable mother could take her impressionable daughter.

Dean Is Cautious

To this criticism the dean made caustic reply, as follows:

"Squeamishness about uncovering the body is not a sign of advanced civilization. It is agreed that bathing in costume is rather harmful than beneficial. There is no necessity to be absolutely nude, but the bathing regulations of our town councils at the seaside places, from the viewpoint of health are incexcusable.

"Germany has gone ahead of us in this matter, and Englishmen have been constrained to regret that the Germans are better set up and fleer formed than we are."

Dean Inge then went on to recommend physical exercise in England similar to the German scheme, but pointed out that the "ladies' exercise" grounds could be protected by the notice: "Gentlemen won't pass this barrier, others must not."

And he concluded: "I am not at all afraid of this freedom increasing immorality."

Sun worshippers have existed at different times since civilization's earliest days, but the German plan came into being shortly after the war, when so many diseases resulting from malnutrition were brought on by the blockade. Tuberculosis swept the nation.

Benefit of Baths

It was found that sun baths restored the bodily vigor, so it became the usual thing to see great crowds of children or young men and women on hillsides of Germany playing about with very little clothing or reclining in the sun. The sexes were divided, but even so the semi-public manner of the proceeding brought much criticism from foreign visitors.

Scientists agree on the therapeutic value of the sun's rays, but those who oppose the sun bathers say they should indulge in their resting and cavorting in private.

Attacks "Exhibitionism"

It has been suggested that men and women who are perfectly well, but who have a tendency toward what the psychiatrists call "exhibitionism" use the scheme as an excuse to go around without clothes.

And considering the tendency already existing toward fewer clothes on the bathing beaches, the critics ask—what next will they take off?

To all this such men as Shaw say, "Pooh, it doesn't matter. Modesty is very often not a virtue, but a form of fear. I wish I had got around to sun bathing at a much earlier age."

MAKES PLEA FOR BETTER FEELING

Montreal, Dec. 2.—French Canadians want the co-operation of English Protestants of the Province in solving the problems of the future, and for "the common good of all" Premier Taschereau said last night at a dinner in honor of Joseph Cosen, M.L.A., St. Lawrence and Col. Oscar Auf rust Alain Smith, unsuccessful Liberal candidate in the last Provincial election in St. George and Westmount divisions respectively.

After noting the preponderance of French Canadian members in the Provincial Legislature and making a plea for more support from the English-Protestant community, Premier Taschereau added, "What has the English-Protestant community to find fault with, in what way have they been wronged. If we are to sin the Government wants to sin on the side of excess of generosity."

Instead of bagging deer a hunting party from Warsaw lost two dogs which were killed by wolves.

It's a pretty safe plan to judge a man by the people he doesn't keep company with.

To the Voters of Murney Ward
Belleville, Ont.

For ten years I taught in your High School and during that time Belleville paid me about twenty thousand dollars. You may now have my services in the end of education for nothing because though retired from teaching my only ambition is to promote the welfare of young people here and elsewhere.

If elected as your representative on the Board of Education I will do all in my power to promote the best interests of Belleville in every way. For over forty years I have been in close contact with young people and have learned their problems and their proper solutions. Why do young people not remain in Belleville and as a result the city remains stationary in population? The solution of that problem is of the utmost importance to the peace of mind of parents and the prosperity of this beautiful city. There are many other equally important problems.

Finally I have both the time and the desire to serve you faithfully, and with the best of my long experience, in the proper education of your boys and girls. Your vote and influence is respectfully solicited.

Very sincerely,
CEO. M. JAMES

BUILDING MEMORIES TO BRIGHTEN THE FUTURE

Never regret the money i thas cost or the time you have spent in building beautiful pictures into your mind.

When you look back upon your own childhood, what sort of things do you like to think of? Not the disagreeable happenings, to be sure.

What pops into your consciousness are memories that delighted you then.

You may recall, perhaps, your pet kitten or frenzy puppy. Maybe your first pig doll may be resurrected.

You may remember vividly a certain tree in your yard where you used to keep your pet rabbit. You may re-se perience the sounds that came from the tolling of the nearby church bell.

Or do you see yourself in your first party dress? Or if a man, in your first long trousers?

Do you recall how disturbed mother felt when she thought you had achieved man's or woman's estate, and how you reassured her that you would always love and revere her? That even when you married you would not leave her?

There are so many hundreds and hundreds of such childhood happenings that we can and do dig up out of our memory storehouses. How refreshing they are! How much they can revivify us!

Childhood, however, is not the only time that we can build for future use.

Any time of life will do. Today, tomorrow, the same be later.

Don't you recall, besides your childhood memories, other experiences equally delightful?

Some may have happened a year ago, two years, ten—who knows?

Your first love. Do you remember that? Your first embrace. Can you make it live all over again?

Your first day on vacation hat Summer. What about that?

What book has given you the greatest pleasure? Which play? Which tune thrills you the most?

Don't depend upon the past entirely, however, for your "purple patches." Experience new ones so that you may recall them in the future.

Plan your life so that you will deliberately seek lasting enjoyment. That may not be money-consuming nor time-consuming. Often the simplest things produce the most pleasing memories.

If, for instance, the sea rouses you, try and look at it as often as possible. If it be trees or hillsides, make it a point to get your fill of them.

You need such memories, anyway, you know. Your mind requires just such beauty to offset the more frequent and drab occurrences of every day existence. If your mind is stored full of happiness then you can reflect and have a wonderful time.

People too often have the misguided notion that they must forever be running about and doing things in order to have a good time. Such persons either do not have many delightful memory pictures to fall back upon or they do not realize that a ready source of enjoyment is so near at hand.

In any case, when you grow old, you cannot be as active as you may wish.

Then is the time that you will appreciate the advantages of having built beautiful and refreshing memories into your mind.

A SUITOR TOO MANY
By MILDRED BARBOUR

"Six months more of this—maybe only three!" he was saying, half to himself, half to his companion, "and then I'll be in shape to go back. There's a girl waiting for me. I haven't seen her for five years!"

He began to talk about her with boyish eagerness.

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS:—

Lila Lathane, on the day of her marriage to

Herbert Ware, is worried, because she has received from him the fact of her engagement to

Captain Jack Farquahar, who was killed in France. She explains to a friend,

Dorothy Chase, that Herbert is so jealous that she thought it kinder not to tell him of this other love-affair. Now she asks herself if her course is wise, for she feels sure that Herbert will learn the truth, somehow.

CHAPTER 2.
THE HOME-COMING.

The young Wares spent their honeymoon in Bermuda. To Lila it was an ecstatic time of golden days melting into burnished tropical nights, when the sea sang and the moonlight silted like quicksilver through the gently stirring palm-trees. Her happiness was unalloyed; so was Herbert's. He was as much in love as she, and Lila's infatuation knew no limits.

She had ceased to think of that mere romance of hers. Now she could easily concede Dorothy Chase's contention that she had never been in love before. That hectic war-time romance of hers, culminating in the tragic pledge, half an hour before Captain Jack Farquarhar had marched away to his death in the trenches, at the pale light of a sickly moon before the brilliant noonday sun of love, as she knew it now.

She didn't even think of Jack Farquarhar during her honeymoon. The vague vision of a lean dark face, of gray, ironically humorous eyes, of a lithe body elegantly set off by khaki, vanished completely from her memory. She had eyes and thoughts and ears only for Herbert.

She liked to look at him, as he sat beside her in the car when they drove every afternoon along the edge of the palm-fringed sea. He was not handsome in a dashing way; but his good looks, his air of breeding, and his complete self-control proclaimed him a man of the world, sure of himself and of his position.

With Herbert Ware, this was no idle confidence. If he had been a clerk, he undoubtedly would have succeeded as an efficiency expert; he possessed that methodical, correct, careful type of mind. As it was, with his inherited wealth and social position, he was just as careful, just as methodical, just as correct. He seemed pleased to be liked it, going to his office every day, as regularly as any clerk in his employ.

When they returned home from the honeymoon and Lila learned this, she protested vigorously. She was young and pretty and spoiled. She wanted a husband who would play about with her twenty-four hours out of the twenty-four; she resented his interest in his work.

Afterward, she was to thank Heaven for his refusal to indulge her! Herbert had been under fool, as Lila's husband, always about the house in those awful days as soon as dawn!

It was like Herbert to have their new home in complete readiness when they returned to New York. It was a smart town house in the seventies, on the right side of Fifth Avenue. Everything was in place, when the car drove up to the door, even the flowers. Dorothy, at Herbert's request, had seen to that, for Lila had been motherless since infancy, and her father was too busy in Wall Street to pay much attention to a daughter who, in spite of certain youthful rebellions, had eventually done the correct thing and made a most suitable match with a thoroughly eligible young man.

Dorothy was just leaving; she met them in the hall.

"You'll find everything perfect, I think," she told Lila, as she kissed her warmly. "How well you both look!"

"But you're not going!" Lila tried to slip the fur coat from Dorothy's shoulders. "You're staying to dinner!"

Herbert echoed the invitation politely, but he frowned. He was jealous of Dorothy. She relieved him by firmly refusing.

"I must go. I've a model waiting." Dorothy dabbled in painting in her smart up-town studio. She was willful-to-do, independent, and had neither chaperone nor guardian.

Before she left, she drew Lila aside under pretext of showing her a belated wedding gift.

"Come to the studio as early as you can tomorrow," she whispered. "I've a letter for you."

"For me? From whom?" Lila paled at a sudden thought.

She had used Dorothy's address only for letters from Jack Farquahar, at had been five years now since the last of those letters had come; it was four months since she had received the communication that Captain Farquarhar, who had, all this time, been reported missing, was dead. The news was so portentous that she hadn't stopped to marvel at its belatedness, or to lament the fact that this important communication, which signified her freedom, had been sent from pillar to post, in some inexplicable way, for Heaven only knew how long, before it reached Dorothy's studio. The explanation of the delay was simple; in disinterring bodies hastily buried on the battlefield, it had been revealed that the remains of Captain Farquahar were among the supposedly unknown dead. There was his identification tag, etc.

Dorothy's clear eyes were reassuring.

"It's from the War Department. Probably something about—well, maybe they want to know if you care to bring his body back."

Lila shuddered, despite herself.

"He had no family," she murmured. "I suppose I really do have to say—"

"Lila!" Herbert's voice was peremptory. He jealously resented even the brief a conversation with Dorothy.

"Tomorrow, then," Dorothy's gloved fingers pressed Lila's. "Don't let this upset you!"

Easier said than done, thought Lila, a trifle resentfully. After all, it wasn't Dorothy who, married and madly in love with her husband, had the secrets of a former fiancé on her conscience.

She was distrait during dinner and later, over the coffee, when Herbert resentfully commented on the fact, she assumed a feverish gaiety. It was wearisome; also it was her first taste of a pose that was soon to become all too terribly necessary.

Try as she would to keep her thoughts on Herbert, his good looks, their new home, their love, and their future, they would slip the leash and play traitor. Time after time, they took her back into the past. A word, and sealed chapter reopened; an episode lived again.....

She sat opposite Herbert in their charmingly intimate little library, with only the width of the hearth between them: with not even that distance between their hearts and souls. At least, that is what Herbert was contentedly thinking, while he watched her, young and slender and gay and lovely, pouring his coffee, with the firelight flickering on her white arms and throat, burnishing her bright hair, deepening the faint rose-color in her cheeks.

Lila's physical self was there in the firelight, as she smiled upon Herbert and listened to his voice. But Lila's thoughts were back in the past; five years back, reliving the events of a closed chapter in her life that must now, at all costs, remain closed forever.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

cmfwy shrdl etaoin clwy vbqkqll cmft

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl going on sixteen years of age. I have met a very nice young man, who is very well educated. He used to be very attentive to me, but he has lately met a girl from another town and I am afraid he does ont like me any more. Please advise me what to do.

LONESOME.

LONESOME: You are much too young, my dear, to be so seriously concerned about any man. I would advise you to extend your circle of friends and go out with many young people. Be satisfied with his friendship. You are not engaged to him and have no right to object to his going with others.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young girl eighteen years of age and am deeply in love with a fellow twenty-one years of age. I saw him out with another girl. He used to pay very much attention to me but now he has changed entirely. What shall I do to win him back?

E. A.: Since you are not engaged to this young man, there is no reason why he should not go out with other girls also. The fact that he does so is not necessarily an indication of his loss of interest in you.

MODEL 'A' FORD NOW ON DISPLAY

Belleville Motors Expect To Have Cars Very Soon

"The new Ford car is now on display in the larger centres of population," said Mr. C. E. Wilmot, local Ford dealer, in commenting on the recent announcement of an advance showing of the New Car. "The big factories at Ford, Ontario, are beginning to produce cars in limited numbers but they have not yet swung into the enormous volume of production that will be necessary to satisfy the demand for this extraordinary car, and I expect that it will be a few days yet before we have a car for display in our own city.

"In the meantime," he continued, "I have secured large display pictures showing each of the six passengers models—the Tudor Sedan, Fordor Sedan, Coupe, Sport Coupe, Phaeton and Roadster—and a supply of catalogues giving full specifications on the car, and am showing these in my showroom. They afford an idea of the splendid consequence of the Ford Company's long and enormous task in designing and perfecting the new car."

"I have ridden in the car and driven it," said Mr. Wilmot, referring to his visit to the Branch of the Ford Motor Company at Toronto, "and it surpasses my greatest expectations in every regard."

Mr. Wilmot describes the new car as a car of handsome appearance and desirable in a wide range of color combination, combining all the best features of contemporary car design irrespective of price, and incorporating a number of features which have never before been available. "It offers great power, comfort, high speed, flexibility, unusual get away, remarkable readability, economical operation and rugged simplified construction. It is a car of the highest quality through and through. There are six body models; Tudor, Fordor, Phaeton, Coupe, Sport Coupe, Sport Roadster, each available in a number of color options. Mr. Wilmot expects to have Tudor and Phaeton models on display here soon.

FOUR KILLED WHEN TRAIN STRUCK CAR

Decatur, Ind., Dec. 1.—Four persons were killed here today when an east-bound Erie Railroad freight train struck a sedan automobile at Mercer crossing. The dead are: Alfred Stutler 36, Miss Hazel Lumonion, 24; Mrs. Kenneth Hoblet, 22; Robert Stritzler, 33. All of the victims were from Willshire, Ohio.

STORMS SWEPT OVER WIDE AREA

Thirty Degree Drop In Temperature Brings Some Suffering

New York, N.Y., Dec. 1.—Storm districts of New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland today faced the prospect of freezing weather as they took stock of the damage of high winds, rains and floods.

Wind and rain storms of almost hurricane force swept Williamsport, Pa., and Cumberland, M.D., late yesterday. As Williamsport the storm was followed by a thirty degree drop in the temperature. No lives were lost, so far as was known.

Hornell, N.Y., in the western part of the state was under four to five feet of water this morning and three hundred families were marooned in their homes. Other points in the Chemung River Valley were said to be imperilled as the river, swollen by twenty-four hours of rain, was out of its banks. Damage will run into thousands of dollars. At Rochester, a water main burst, flooding fifty-five city blocks and pouring into Rochester's new subway which has just been completed.

Flooded Whole District

Corning, N. Y., Dec. 1.—Canisteo river, swollen to unprecedented heights by recent rains, went over its banks at Addison, near here today and was reported to have inundated the business section and part of the residential district. Livestock and small buildings were reported seen in the swiftly flowing streams.

NARROW ESCAPE

Stirling, Dec. 2.—Mr. Earl Maybee had a miraculous escape from death on Tuesday while assisting in threshing grain at the farm of Mr. Ed. Todd, 11th concession, Rawdon. Mr. Maybee was about to replace the elevator belt on the separating machine when he became caught in the shaft. He was slammed against the shafting and the belt scraped and bruised his face, and badly burned his neck. His left shoulder and wrist were wrenched. Those who witnessed the accident claim that the man's escape from fatal injuries was a miracle. Dr. E. A. Carleton was summoned to dress the wounds, which are now gradually healing.

MUSSOLINI DENIES THAT HE IS DEAD

Rome, Dec. 1.—Rumors that Premier Mussolini had been assassinated, circulated abroad were denied emphatically today through the Italian News Agency, Stefani. The rumors were described as "Absolutely fantastic." Contrary to the reports circulated on the London Stock Exchange that the life of the Italian premier had been attempted, he was stated to be enjoying perfect health and that so far as known no one ever dreamed of approaching him to attempt his life.

News'y Neighborhood Notes

GIVEN THREE YEARS

Cobourg, Dec. 2.—After one of the most sensational trials ever held in County Judge's Criminal Court at Cobourg and extending over two entire days, Charles Sequire was convicted on a charge of conspiring to defraud and was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary by Judge J. Thompson. Whitby, who presided at the trial. Sequire was previously convicted and sentenced to four years in prison by Judge E. C. B. Hoyrke but was granted a new trial by the Appelate Division.

Sequire himself, small of stature, dark complexioned and apparently of considerable intelligence, was the central figure throughout the long trial and spent over three hours Tuesday afternoon and three hours Wednesday on the witness stand telling and retelling a most remarkable story of drug and liquor traffic on Lake Ontario under the rigid examination of his own counsel, J. B. McColl, Cobourg, and a gruelling cross questioning by J. L. Lundy of Toronto, Crown Prosecutor. Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr, K.C., was associated with Mr. Lundy in the prose cution.

The conference will be somewhat the same as that being held in Germany, and many important matters pertaining to students will be taken up.

Incidentally Pelton has retired from hockey. He was one of the few hockey players to play with glasses on, and on a trip of Queen's team to New York a couple of years ago, he started the spectators in Madison Square Gardens when he stepped on the ice, wearing his glasses.

TO REPRESENT QUEEN'S

G. M. "Bunny" Pelton, former star defence player of Queen's senior intercollegiate hockey team, will represent the students of Queen's University, at the students' conference, which will be held in Detroit during the Christmas holidays.

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE MAKES LITTLE PROGRESS

Russia Agrees To Meet In March Or Any Other Time

Geneva, Dec. 3.—Preparatory Disarmament Conference, which opened November 30, adjourned today after Soviet Russia had suffered a defeat in the selection of a date for the next meeting. Russia wanted the Commission to meet again on January 10, but the Commission put the date off until March 15. Russia, however, will not bolt disarmament discussions despite the fact that the date of the next meeting was not fixed in accordance with Russian desire.

"Certainly we shall return to Geneva for the next disarmament meeting on March 15," Maxim Litvinoff, Russian delegate, said in response to a question about the Soviet's attitude. "We have said we shall always attend meetings which promise to bring about disarmament, we are for disarmament, first, last and forever."

In declaring an adjournment, President Loudon warned that disarmament must be built not on dreams but on realities.

Britain Has Disarmed

Geneva, Dec. 3.—Impression prevailed at Geneva today that Great Britain stands firm in her decision not to undertake any more obligations in relation to European peace. This impressed anew from the explanation of Lord Cushendun, British delegate to the Preparatory Disarmament Commission, to British newspapermen that Britain is disinclined to sign any more paper and is now disarmed to the lowest possible point.

"At the end of the war," he said, "our navy was unchallenged but we scrapped two million tons. The same thing has been done in regard to our naval dockyards and air force. We had to revive our air force while the army was reduced to the level of an Imperial police force."

Lord Cushendun said he believed that Great Britain might have disarmed too quickly after war ending but herself with nothing to bargain with.

"We have done voluntarily," he declared, "what we are now asking others to do. If we are stripped we can take off no more clothing."

Want Date Jan. 18

Geneva, Dec. 3.—Resolution declaring that disarmament should not be made dependent on securities was introduced at today's session of the Preparatory Disarmament Commission with Mrs. Dorothe Pressding, Mrs. Spanner, the secretary, gave a very full report of the activities of the society for the month and Miss Pearce the treasurer, read a most encouraging statement of the finances.

When the business was concluded Mrs. Ackerman took charge of the programme which was in keeping with the approaching Christmas season. Miss Hanley opened the part of the service with a fervent prayer. A reading concerning Christmas customs in Manitoba, Alsace Sept .22 have been located in Winnipeg by Pte. Donald Police. The men disappeared under suspicious circumstances causing quite a sensation in the Provincial district as they were reported to be very shy and reticent. They were never known to shave or cut their hair. According to the story told by their parents and had isolated themselves on a little farm away from their own family.

JUST INDISCREET IN HIS ACTIONS

Magistrate Williams, Picton, Discharges Old Prisoner

Simon Lovelace, former caretaker of Bloomfield Public School, was acquitted yesterday of serious charges in connection with his actions toward four little girls of the school ranging from eleven to thirteen years. He was tried before Magistrate Levi Williams at Picton, Mr. R. Allston acting for the Crown. Lovelace was defended by Fred L. Ward, of Picton.

Magistrate Williams, in delivering judgment stated that the evidence produced indiscreetness on the part of Lovelace but he felt that he did not go far enough to indicate criminal intent. Seven witnesses beside Lovelace were placed on the stand, two of them, adults, who were acquainted with the situation.

Lovelace was discharged by the school board at Bloomfield and will not be re-instated. He is a man seventy-one years of age.

Kenneth Nicolson Avoids More Serious Charges Being Laid

Charges against Kenneth Nicolson, Moira Street, of the theft of a diamond ring from Annette Manary, nurse, were dismissed in police court this morning before Magistrate Mikel at the request of the Crown prosecutor. Nicolson returned the ring to his owner, and was ordered to pay the costs of the court, which amounted to $25.42.

Nicolson has avoided any charges being laid against him under the Unmarried Parents Act by providing for the future welfare of a child born to the young girl, of which he is said to be the father.

CHEAPER POWER TO BE PROVIDED

Eastern Ontario Will Benefit By New Contract Being Arranged

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—The recent announcement of Premier Howard Ferguson, that a contract is nearing completion between the Ontario Hydro Elec. Power Commission and the Ontario Power Company for a supply of power for Eastern Ontario is said by civic officials to mean that the people of Ottawa are now assured of obtaining sufficient and comparatively cheap cost for years to come.

Ottawa Hydro is guaranteed under new control at least 20,000 more horse power than at present and it was made known last night that the contract ends a condition which has been wiping the local Hydro Commission considerable concern.

WHO CAN CLAIM $100 REWARD?

Marmora Village Council Has Vexed Question On Its Hands

NOT THE POLICE

Provincials Never Allowed To Accept Bonuses Of This Kind

With the three men convicted of attempting to rob the grave of Mrs. H. C. Hubbell in Marmora cemetery duly sentenced, the question now rests as to who will receive the reward of $100 which was offered by the Marmora village Council for information leading to an arrest. It is reported that secret ad persons are being seriously considered in the granting of the reward but the members of the civic body have given no definite decision as the question as to who is the most deserving.

The Provincial Police who assisted in the investigation of the crime and who arrested the men are not eligible for the reward. "Our men are never permitted to take rewards of any kind" said Inspector Lougheed of the Provincial Police.

At the time the outrage was discovery of the desecration caused a great street, offered $100. Later Ewart Warren, one of the accomplices surrendered to the police and implicated others in Toronto and confessed the crime. It was partly through information supplied by him that the other pair were brought to justice.

Hiram Gillen, mayor of the village of Marmora, who has worked on the case is one of those who is seriously considered as a recipient for the money. The village Council will likely take up the matter at the next regular meeting.

SWEEPER LOOMED PROMINENTLY IN SPEECHES OF CIVIC CANDIDATES

HAD 600 BIBLES

Ald. Cherry Stands Gallantly Behind His Action In The Purchase

STRONG CRITICISM

Ald. Duff Made Fine Impression In Review Of Council's Work

Every candidate for Municipal honours who spoke at the public meeting at the Opera House last night had something to say about Belleville's new street sweeper and most of it was uncomplimentary. Alderman R. T. Cherry who has been in charge of the Public Works Department during the past twelve months, was the main champion and he defended his actions in a spirited address quoting figures to prove that the sweeper would eventually save the city considerable money. He invited any of his critics in the audience to come up on the platform and state their objections but none took advantage of his invitation.

There was some wrestling and Mr. Cherry at one stage found a little difficulty in making himself heard but the civic chairman quelled the riot. R. D. O'Flynn rose and appealed for fair play for the speaker. The work of the Chairman of the Public Works Dept. appears in the following columns and in the opinion of many, it is high time that Mr. Cherry had fully answered all objections and had re-elected himself by his statements.

Good Crowd Present

Contrary to the experience of the last few years the City Hall was well filled when Ald. Morley Duff, candidate for Mayor and first speaker rose to address the audience.

Alderman Duff made a fine impression. He admitted that the tax rate had increased owing to absolutely necessary expenditures but claimed that the 1927 Council had done everything possible to limit the City's spending to the least possible amount. He referred to the increased population of the City and to our increased industrial condition, generally striking an optimistic note.

Ex-Alderman Harry Greenleaf appeared as a native of Belleville and stated that everybody was glad to see it civic.

Ex-Alderman R. P. Wallte the third Mayoralty candidate thought that men road and street work should be done on the outskirts of Belleville. He, criticized the expenditure on the Bay Bridge and had some scathing remarks to make about the Thermit less last Spring. Mr. White could not see that the money spent on Thermit did any good at all and characterized this as a bad judgment on the part of the 1927 Council. Referring to the street sweeper Mr. White said he would rather see working men earning good wages than a sweeper doing the work of two.

Aldermanic Aspirants

Sixteen of the thirteen aldermanic candidates spoke, some of them briefly. Alderman C. C. Walker and Mr. W. Ellis were the only absentees. Most of them had some criticism of the sweeper to make but they evidently felt this was a popular subject, and all of them promised economy.

The new men were Mr. C. A. Payne and Mr. Geo. Reid made the best impressions. Both are thoroughly conversant with the City's affairs and are recognized as men of real ability.

Mayor Wilmot acted as chairman of the meeting speaking briefly as to the purpose of the gathering and stated the 1927 Council had faced some big problems and had treated them from a business point of view to the best interests of the City.

CHRIST CHURCH MEN'S BANQUET

Attendance Of Over 200 Hear Interesting Talk On Boys' Work

Nearly two hundred men, members of Christ Church, attended a banquet held in the Parish Hall last night when James Edmund Jones, Police Magistrate for the city of Toronto, one of the leading public authorities on Rymmal music and a well-known boys' worker was the guest speaker of the evening.

Reverend C. E. Clarke, pastor of the church gave a short talk on Duplex Envelopes and their uses, to be followed by a most interesting and illuminative address by Magistrate Jones. The Magistrate is a well-known figure in Toronto Church circles. He conducts a Bible class of nearly a hundred young men ranging in ages from sixteen to twenty-four, and was responsible for the founding of that well known club the Aurn Lee. Mr. Jones' address was heartily appreciated by his hearers, speaking of his boys' work, and touching on many other subjects throughout his address.

Dr. Proctor and the Reverend A. L. Green thanked the speaker for his interesting talk, and R. C. Backus and Mr. R. Conway moved that the men of the church attend evening service on Sunday in a body.

Rev. Mr. Lyons with his warm genius were guests at the banquet. The dinner was followed by community singing and Mr. Ed., Carson gave a solo.

Mrs. Smith is a sister of the late Mr. Walker and she is estimated to have inherited from one to five millions.

"We don't know exactly where we are going to spend most of the time," Mrs. Smith said to-day, "But we are going to California."

FUR COAT MORE USEFUL THAN AN OLD LEFT EAR

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Market for fur coats was bullish today as a dozen furriers and manufacturers were offering their peri-side aural appendage to an unnamed New York and Chicago society woman who advertised for one. The attorney, whose client has sought through the want ad columns to get an ear to replace one she lost in a motor accident abroad, said that the offer of $2,500 for the right would be doubled, provided the transfer of the ear from the owner to buyer proved successful.

One offer came from a young mother who wanted four thousand dollars in stead of the offered $2,000, presin, Ills., she explained, made her willin to make the sacrifice.

Another offer came from Miss Dori Clarke, young and pretty but bashful. She explained she wanted an ear con and proposed to market her left ca if it met the requirements. "I'm tired of being without money, nice dress and fur coats that most Chicago girl have," she told the furriers. "I'll be glad a fur coat will do me more good than my old left ear."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

All desire knowledge, but few are willing to pay the price.

JUVENAL.

HE KNOWS BETTER

Premier Taschereau's oft-repeated declaration against the export of electric is fully endorsed in this province, and our people admire the sole equivocal and patriotic stand taken by the head of the Quebec government. But it is hard to acquit Mr. Taschereau of an intention to deceive his hearers in an address delivered in Montreal this week. One of the problems facing the city of Montreal he said, is the great St. Lawrence question. "Montreal is the great national port of Canada and you must unite and remember that you have the right to keep what you have. Our friends, the Americans, are most anxious to deepen the channel. That may be only a sham. What they need is power, and that power, so far as this province is concerned, we will retain at home, and we will not let it be exported—not a single horse power."

Mr. Taschereau must know that by the proposed navigation improvements in the upper St. Lawrence less than three million horsepower of electric power will be incidentally developed. hardly any of it in Quebec territory, and that the United States will have a right to half of the power developed. He must know also that even if the St. Lawrence waterway were to be undertaken as an "all-Canadian" enterprise Why United States would have a right to half of the power developed in the upper St. Lawrence, where most of the navigation-improvement work would have to be done. Why, then, is he so insistent, in referring to the St. Lawrence project, in emphasizing his determination not to allow the export of power from Quebec?

Perhaps a remark made by the Montreal Gazette supplies the explanation. There is no occasion for anxiety on the part of "any bodies in Ontario lest their industrial progress may be delayed unless the St. Lawrence project is immediately taken in hand," says the Gazette. "Whatever power they may require can without much difficulty be made available. Quebec may have a surplus which will help until Canada is ready herself to develop the St. Lawrence."

So there is no real motive for Quebec obstruction revealed in a clear light. The St Lawrence waterway project must not be blocked in order that Ontario may not provide itself with a supply of electric power sufficient for its needs, but shall be dependent upon the private Quebec power companies.

That is a ground of objection to the St. Lawrence waterway which is hardly likely to prove convincing in this province.

SAFETY FIRST

Three armed bandits entered the quarters of a Toronto athletic club, where forty chances were packed together, backed all those chancemen against the wall, relieved them of all the cash they carried, their jewelry, watches and other personal effects, calmly entered up the loot and got away with it.

Many of these clubmen were no doubt, man to man, more than a match for any of the three thugs; but will occur again. Quebec has swung the things were armed with automatic revolvers, which put the forty at the mercy of the three.

Herein is an illustration of the situation which might well develop in the event of international disarmament. If the big, potentially powerful, idealistic nations disarm, and two or three nations of the second or third class retain their armament, it is conceivable that the big nations would be held up by the two or three, small bandit-nations. Just as the three puny bandits were enabled to back the forty athletic clubmen against the wall and with them because the bandits were armed and the forty were not, so the big unarmed nations might suddenly find themselves at the mercy of one or two insignificant powers because the latter would be armed and the big powers would be defenceless.

In any plan for disarmament it would be necessary to provide against such a possibility.

And it must be considered also that there are national rulers cynical and unscrupulous enough to agree to a general international plan of disarmament without any intention of observing it. They would watch their moment and repudiate observing the agreement while in secret they would themselves be preparing to exercise their plans of aggression.

Would it not be the essence of idiocy for the great democratic powers to divest themselves of their means of defence while Mussolini on the one hand is maturing his plans to revive the imperialistic glory of ancient Rome, and on the other hand the Bolshevist government at Moscow is watching its opportunity to impose its revolutionary theories upon other nations by force?

REAL SPORT

Whenever duck shooting is so entrancing that it calls man away from his sleep for the greater part of the night hypnotizes him into making long auto mobile dri gs, keeps him going throughout the chill, sunless early morning hours between 1 and 4 o'clock on a mist-covered, windblown lake, and then sends him back to town, tired, sleepy, wet, hungry, bedraggled, and yet able to do a day's work despite these sacrifices and exertions, there must be something to that sport, something more than even ill most ardent followers give it credit for.

During the season now closed for most anglers, all have met many men who have been led into such apparent excesses by the piscatorially lure. Of course, they appeared tired, but they seemed cheerful, and they talked rapturously of the sport they enjoyed the whole thing again as soon as the opportunity offered itself. From them one hears all about the expedition how the fish didn't bite in one pool and the in another how they accepted one kind of fly and rejected others —and how the biggest one got away

Anyone who has chanced upon a fisherman with his line caught on a bush or a tree knows that Saxe hit into a particularly difficult hazard It may be these sports have something in common after all, and the golf "bug" and the fishing "bug" and the "fling well," I cried, "this bridal trebles, bass and tenor bells, type should be of profound interest to science. One phase of these maladies, so common to man, that interests me personally is their ability to give the human mind a vacation from worries and troubles of life They are re creations that re-create mental and physical health.

WEDDING BELLS

And Death was but a change of key In Life the golden melody,
And Time became Eternity, and Heaven a fleeting smile;
For all was each and each was all, and all a wedded unity,
Her heart in mine and mine in my companion of a mile.

As I came home by Sudbury, by little red-roofed Sudbury
I waited for my bare-foot maid, among her calm kine,
I heard a peal of wedding bells, of

"fling well," I cried, "this bridal morn! You soon shall ring for mine."

I found her foot-prints in the sass, just where she stood and saw me pass.

I stood within her own sweet field and waited for my May.

I laughed. The dance dhn turned about! I gland within; she'll pass without.

And down the road the wedding came, the maid I danced that day.

I saw the wedding folk go by, with laughter and with gaimetety.

I gazed across her own sweet hedge. I caught her happy smile,

I saw the tall young butcher pass in little red-roofed Sudbury.

His bride upon his arm, my lost companion of a mile.

Record Growth Reported By Bank of Montreal In Annual Statement

Total Assets of the Bank Gained Over Fifty Millions During Year and Establish New High Record at $831,548,967 — Liquid Assets Are Equal to 63.78 Per Cent. of Liabilities to the Public — $1,000,000 Added to Rest Account, Bringing It Up to $30,916,700.

The Bank of Montreal, in its statement for the fiscal period to October 31st, is reporting to its shareholders a year of record growth and expansion. Total assets at the new high level of $831,548,967 show a gain for the year of $50,000,000, as compared with the corresponding period last year; liquid assets amount to 63.78 per cent. of total liabilities to the public; interest bearing deposits are up over $23,000,000 and out of surplus an amount of $1,000,000 has been added to Rest Account, making it up to $30,916,700.

In every department there are evidences of unusual strength and elasticity. It is perhaps largely on this account that the annual statements of the Bank of Montreal are always so closely studied, not only throughout the Dominion, but in all the important centres of the world.

The statement shows that the total assets of $831,548,967 have increased from $781,548,181 at the end of the previous year. Included are liquid assets of $441,006,815, as compared with $424,019,084 a year ago. In liquid assets are cash on hand, represented by gold and subsidiary coin current, Dominion notes and deposit in Central Gold Reserves, amounting to $107,853,213, equal to 14.28 per cent. of liabilities to the public, against $100,611,834, or 14.25 per cent in the previous year.

Large Increase in Loans

With the larger requirements for handling the business of the country, there has been a marked gain in loans and holdings of government and municipal securities, and railway and other bonds and stocks have also increased. Current loans in Canada are $255,155,603, as compared with $253,338,858. Call and short loans in Canada have increased to $29,719,604 from $15,681,864, and call and short loans in Great Britain and the United States of $151,281,604 compare with $148,325,247. The principal accounts in liquid assets include Dominion and Provincial Government securities of $80,760,587, compared with $79,157,814; Canadian Municipal securities and British, Foreign and Colonial public securities $22,963,446, as against $20,230,756; railway and other bonds, debentures and stocks $2,244,028, up from $4,463,251.

With the strong position the Bank holds in all parts of the Dominion, deposits continue to show substantial increases. Deposits bearing interest now total $539,106,510, up from $515,975,640. Deposits not bearing interest are $161,020,203, which compare with $132,034,727, and probably reflect provision for special transactions being carried out at this time of the year.

The Profit and Loss Account shows a comfortable surplus, after the payment of dividends and charges.

This exchange has become the leading Mining Exchange on the Continent, and out-rivals Wealth is only commencing to be properly developed. British and American investors are lately realizing the tremendous mineral values already definitely proved, and looking forward to developments that are certain to take place. It is advisable to keep posted on what is going on from day to day, and this can best be done through our Fortnightly Review and through the daily quotations received by us at our office, over our own private wires from our offices at the Mines.

Few people appreciate the extent of the mineral wealth already definitely proved in such properties as International Nickel, Mond Nickel, Noranda, Dome, Hollinger, Lake Shore, McIntyre, Mond Nickel, Noranda, Dome, Hollinger, Lake Shore, McIntyre, Pitt Flin, Sherritt Gordon, Central Manitoba and a host of others. The wealth that will be taken from these properties in the next few years will far exceed that already taken. Our mines will provide undoubtedly to that from the soil itself. Our mines will produce undoubtedly to that from the soil itself. Our mines will produce untold wealth in the next generations, both to shareholders and owners, and the opportunities for profit, right at your door, should not be neglected. It is important to get proper information, and we are in a position to supply it.

R. P. WHITE'S PLATFORM IS "REASONABLE ECONOMY"

THE BULLETIN BOARD

Mainly About People You Know

BADMINTON PLAYERS

A week from tonight the Badminton team, representing Queen's University will play the local players in the armouries in this city.

SURPRISE PARTY

A very pleasant surprise party was held at the home of Mrs. Dorcas, 5 Cedar St., on Wednesday evening. The evening was devoted to progressive euchre and music. Prize winners at euchre were, Ladies, Mrs. Deegan. Gentlemen, Mr. Geo. Dove and Consolation, Mrs. W. Knox. The party broke up about 1 o'clock, all voting Mrs. Deegan an ideal hostess.

ANNUAL DANCE

Employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Trenton were back to their friends at an informal dance in the Masonic Temple last evening. Many from this city and the surrounding district were in attendance. The Bon Ton orchestra furnished the music.

DOG SHOT

A collie dog was struck by a car near Hotel Quinte last night and the police found it necessary to shoot the animal owing to the fact that one of its legs was broken. The auto was proceeding down the hill and the dog a thoroughbred collie ran directly beneath the wheels. No tag was attached and the authorities were unable to determine the owner.

ADDRESSES BANQUET.

Mr. W. H. Goodwin, lay preacher of Montreal, who is spending the week-end in this city the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ackerman, addressed between fifty and sixty women at Bridge Street United Church the financial workers of that church last evening at a supper given by the Women's Missionary Society in the Sunday School Hall at 6.30. His Honor Judge E. Deroche, also gave a talk. Mr. Harold Holton was song leader.

EGGS HIGHER

The price of eggs was on the ascent this morning on the city market and vendors were asking as high as 65 cents per dozen fruit. Butter varied between 40 and 45 cents. The cold weather had a deteriorating effect on the attendance at the city market and farmers had difficulty in disposing of all their products. Apples were offered in large quantities and found a ready market.

Geese, heralding the approach of the festive season made their appearance and were disposed of at 43 each. No turkeys have been offered for sale as yet.

HAND PAINTED CHINA

Miss Ivy Dickens announces her annual exhibit and sale of Hand Painted China, Thursday and Friday, the 8 and 9 and continues until 31 of December. 49-tfd

This cold weather all of a sudden makes walking not so pleasant. But for very little money you can buy a warm comfortable Used Car at Bellville Motors. They're being cleared these days to make room for New Models, so act quickly.

FREE CARS.

Mr. G. A. Reid, aldermanic candidate, stated to The Intelligencer, today that anyone wishing a car to call for them on Monday to convey them to the polls, will have same free of charge by telephoning either 999 or 960.

SEED GROWERS BANQUET.

About fifty seed growers from the Quinte District banqueted at the Queen's Hotel at noon today after which they adjourned to the City Hall where a business meeting was held by Mr. H. W. Pearson, Seed Inspector for this district. J. McLaughland of the Napanee District, A. P. McIntosh of Picton District, and Ray Aikins of the Stirling District, were also in attendance.

DANCE POSTPONED.

A dance in the Armouries was to have been held last night by the High School students following the Commencement exercises in the Baptist church yesterday afternoon, but owing to the students being unable to procure a piano, the affair had to be postponed to another date.

NO "RAGGING" —

At the annual commencement day exercises there is usually a good amount of "ragging" done by the students themselves. Owing to the meeting being held in a church yesterday the boys and girls were asked to preserve themselves accordingly, and did so admirably. Not one "break" was made by any pupils, large or small.

CARS FROZEN.

Several radiators of automobiles left standing on Front street too long this morning were frozen. Farmers in the Market Square, particularly, had considerable trouble in getting their cars started after the long day's stand.

REV. RAMSAY HOLIDAYS.

Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Minister of John Street United Church has been given four months' leave of absence for the completion of that church. Mr. Ramsay has not been enjoying the best of health for some time and his many friends in this city as well as his parishioners will trust that he will return home which improved in health. Mr. Ramsay has not decided yet where he will spend the holiday although it is announced the first of this month. A supply has not yet been named and it is possible that several will occupy the pulpit. Invited to speak on different Sundays during the pastor's absence.

STABBED FRIEND

Port Hope, Dec. 1.—Rushing from his home in a fit of suspect, knocking a hunting knife in one hand and a razor in the other, and uttering threats of violence, Frank Byers, 45-year-old boy, is alleged to have stabbed Garfield Matthews, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Matthews, Bramley street, about five o'clock Tuesday evening.

FOREIGN SHIPS HAVE U. S. TRADE

According To Shipping Board Report Of U. S. Marine

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 30.—(CP)—Foreign ships carried more than two-thirds of the United States foreign trade in 1926. Of 3,761 vessels approximating 20,320,000 gross tons required to move the trade only 1,078 were under the United States flag.

These figures are included in a shipping board's report which also showed that entrances and clearances for the year totalled 58,400. Imports amounted to 44,880,000 long tons and exports 68,770,000.

United States shippers paid about $600,000,000 for ship services, the report said, of which amount foreign shipowners received about $429,000,000.

Current reports indicated that on October 1, 1927, there were 1,228 privately owned United States merchant vessels of 1,000 gross tonnage and over with a total gross tonnage of 6,034,845, more than 91 per cent. being in active service. Of this number 1,000 vessel, only 170 vessels were engaged in overseas service, the remainder being on coastwise and Caribbean routes.

The report showed that the salaried corps has not been entirely extended to coastwise shipping, there being 347 such craft, approximate 200,000 tons, actively engaged in transporting United States goods to foreign ports. Of this number 205 were under United States registry.

Marjorie Ainslie, aged 13, suffered a broken nose in an auto accident in Tilbury.

TODAYS MARKETS

Sensational Gains

New York, Dec. 3.—Bullish enthusiasm in today's stock market continued at fever pitch with rails maintaining the leadership of the advance which they assumed yesterday. Early gains ran from one to nearly eight points with buying stimulated by dramatic speed operations and steadily increasing public participation. With the ticker nearly twenty minutes behind the market at the end of the first hour, stock exchange authorities tried out their experiment of shortening quotations in an effort to speed up the ticker machinery.

Chicago Grains

SOME WAYS OF READING HUMAN CHARACTER

By LOUIS E. BISCH

It is essential that every one of us read human character as accurately as possible. The insight which we are able to muster in sizing up other men and women determines to a large degree our success and happiness.

Certain persons are born with a knack for reading character. But even these may go far astray in their judgments unless their natural powers of intuition are augmented by the study of character traits and peculiarities and checked up and revised by their mistakes.

The trouble, you see, is that we all have a decided weakness in this business of character reading. We like some persons we dislike others. To some we are indifferent.

And when we like them we don't want to analyze them, we don't want to believe anything bad about them. We would rather live in ignorance of the true facts of their character.

Therefore we find employers engaging subordinates who, they know from past experience, will not make good. But they engage such men because some trait, such as a winning smile, the way they handle the language, or some other such nonsensical appeals to them . . .

Men also women marry for similar reasons. A girl may fall in love because the man looks well in evening clothes or makes her feel at ease at a dance.

Men have married women for no better reason than that they were attractive dressers or had blue eyes or could swim well.

Workers in offices sometimes are willing to earn less in a certain place because the boss has a pleasant greeting for everyone he sees in morning.

It is really astonishing what small things sway us and often in a way that is contrary to our best interests. There are, however, certain clearly marked types of men and women that bear watching.

Don't take too much for granted from the man or woman who doesn't talk much.

You never can be sure what such persons are thinking nor what they may be planning.

Also be suspicious of those who talk too much. Excessive talk often covers deficiencies.

People who have no confidence in themselves are probably suffering from strong inferiority ideas and they don't make very reliable partners.

Suspect those who are over-expressed. It is not natural to be top heavy in. Spontaneity and emotional expression is safer to bank on than its opposite.

Beware of lavish money spenders and speculators. They belong in the shove-off class. They feel they have to make an impression with money because they have very little else to make an impression with.

The bigoted individual who is forever denouncing others and thereby raising his own moral stock also bears watching.

Overzealous reformers are fundamentally changeable. Their eagerness to revolutionize existing conditions and systems of religion, politics or government is an index of their attitude toward their jobs and methods of work.

These are but a few suggestions in character reading. You can train yourself and become quite expert simply by observing closely and checking up on your findings.

Never jump to hasty conclusions, however. Character is never skin-deep. You must watch and wait until it reveals itself.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

It was war-time again. She was meeting Jack Farquahar,

CHAPTER 1

Truant Memories

Lila was not quite eighteen when the United States entered the war. She made her debut during the frivolous days of the 1918 season and, finding that the society which it was her birthright to captivate had suddenly ceased to exist, she looked about restlessly for other and more real worlds to conquer.

Her father had gone to Washington as a "dollar-a-year" man. He left Lila in charge of his cousin, the correct Mrs. Mortimer Breed, who had sponsored her debut. But Mrs. Breed had also forsaken society for the Red Cross. She was up to her eyes in red mittens and bandages and bandaging, rolling. She had no time for Lila, whose gay spirits craved more exciting fields of service; who thirsted to see glim finger-tips with the excitement of her period.

Dorothy was doing war work. Her friend was much in demand for canteens for benefits, Liberty Loan drives, processions of all sorts. Lila envied her; she herself had no particular accomplishments in any line. She could dance divinely; sing a little; play the piano well; but it seemed that nearly every other girl could do that and it was much help in winning the war.

Finally she had an inspiration. One day she saw a trim girl in a navy blue tailleur and a sailor hat.

What was it that called them in those days? she asked herself, as she sat beside the fire with Herbert and dreamed upon him, apparently to him all her attention.

Ah, yes—pomaderines! How quickly one forgot.

Well, she had become a pomaderine. She recalled how she had slipped off and lied about her age and enlisted. She remembered the scrubbing bat day when she had been sent to the Naval Hospital for a physical examination. There were eight other women besides herself. One or two were young; the others were fat and not young; and rather commonplace. She looked anxious; it was obvious that they thought war work a very serious matter. Lila thought it a lark. The war itself didnt particularly excite her, except as such a stupendous thing as cuts the heedless young.

Lila passed the examinations and took the oath of allegiance on the following day. It was scorchingly hot again. One's heels rang in the asphalt and dizzling heat-waves glammered through the canyons of the streets. The office in which the navy chaplain received the applicants was still, and everybody looked wilted, except Lila, who was trim and cool and triumphant in pale green mousseline. There were so many to listen into this branch or that of the service that the oath was administered in the applicants in groups. Lila stood beside a lean youth, in a threadbare suit, and kissed the book with him. Afterward she asked him flippantly:

"I'm not sure what it was all about but I feel sworn in. Are any chance to?"

The youth blushed and stammered and hurried away. Long afterward he ran across him in France. But that's another story.

WAITING

She wanted work that would take her to France and quickly. Two months, she was assigned to duty on an old mud-scow off the Battery! Shades of glory! Dorothy received the name of the offensive old boat!

She ordered her uniforms, blue serge for winter and white drill for summer, expensively tailored, by the best Fifth Avenue firm, and came within an ace of being dismissed for refusing to do clerical work.

"I detest bookkeeping," she told a commander, to his utter scandalization. "I've a ear of my own. I can use it, but not a typewriter."

So she was detailed to drive officers hither, thereabouts. One day—would she ever forget it?—she picked up a colonel at the Pennsylvania Station. He wanted to go to Mineola, and he was rather testy at being driven by a girl he'd never seen before. His experience with chauffeurs, before. But Lila was knee her business, shifted the gears so smoothly and noiselessly that the smart car was gliding away before he realized it.

"Hey, wait a minute—by aide's with me!"

Lila stopped the car and glanced back over her shoulder. A tall, dark, gaunt young man was just getting into the running-board. As their eyes met, he stopped stock-still. His clever hand vanished to his hat. For a long minute they looked at each other, and then a little smile crept into Lila's eyes.

"What the deuce is wrong with you, Farquarhart?" demanded the colonel irritably. "Get in here and I don't want to stay here all day."

Her eyes on the firelight, Lila sighed in sentimentality.

"You're not unhappy, darling?" questioned Herbert quickly, jealously. "No, oh, no no!" she answered quickly, "I love you."

He lifted her fingers to his lips and kissed his wedding-ring on her third finger.

"And I'm the only chap you've ever loved? There's never been any one else?"

"Never any one else, Herbert," she murmured.

Wasn't it true? she asked herself. Herbert was her only real love. She hadn't loved the jaunty soldier who had come into her life that day.

For a brief while, she had been intoxicated with him—with the war, or with Love's reckless challenge to Death.

But memory of it all was dim—now. It was like a dream—the romantic, absurdly unreal dreams of a silly young girl. Had Jack Farquahar ever really existed, after all?

At any rate he was gone from her life as surely as he was gone from the world of reality. He slept, somewhere in Flanders fields, and she was glad he was to have been. There would be no afternoon.

But, awaiting her at Dorothy's apartment, was something that was far more important than the War Department.

CHAPTER 4

The Marriage Proffer

Long after the guests was in bed that night, Lila teased restless and wakeful. Sometimes she could hear the faraway sirens of late motor-cars scurrying through the Park; sometimes the measured tread of a policeman hasing hollowly on the sidewalk; occasionally a muffled roar, like the rise and fall of distant waves, relieved the passing of an "L" train a long way off across the Sunday city. She felt horribly alone in her vast. The darkened house was silent. She wondered what Herbert would say, if he could read her thoughts.

She had parted from Herbert tenderly. "I didn't lie to him. He's the only man I ever did, or ever could love," she told herself. But his first question after they became engaged. She remembered vividly how he had held her by both shoulders almost roughly and had looked into her eyes.

"Tell me the truth, Lila. There never was any one else?"

She had faltered for one dangerous moment, faltered long enough to be warned by something that she saw within his gaze. The thought of losing him had made her frantic.

"No, Herbert. There has never been any one else."

How often since then she had repeated that phrase! He was always asking, and she was always making the same answer.

Now, as she ached herself, lying there in the darkness. If she had it was worth the price to her soul? Herbert's love had blessed her—Herbert's hands had clenched his firm jaw had tightened.

Lila had flung herself into his arms.

"There was never any one but you. Thank goodness he!" she whispered with her lips against his.

Had she lied?

She turned to her now, as she lay there, wide awake, that Jack Farquahar's eyes reproached her through the darkness. Memories of the past besieged her, despite the unhappy things they recalled, and she herself up to them.

The dimly discernible objects that represented the room's expensive furnishings seemed to vanish. It was terribly dark. And she was in France!

A light gray and pale green that also suggest a grayish cast are important colors for semi-formal wear in New York at present, while interest in all beauties is said to be centred on the three-piece ensemble.

Lila had a particular tribune over the ends of the sink towels in a great protection against elegant pieces from glasses and dishes.

Would not be Without Zutoo Tablets At Any Cost

Ms. A. O. Norton, the millionaire Jack Manufacturer, of Eaton, who recently died, was a great "booster" for Zutoo Tablets.

He suffered from headaches from childhood and when he found Zutoo Tablets stopped these headaches in a few minutes and felt no bad effect, he began recommending them to his family and friends. In an unsolicited letter, Mr. Norton says in closing:

"My family use them when ever needed with family good results. I had been suffering from headaches and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets with me in my grip and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

Zutoo Tablets are sold at all druggists at 50 cents per box—at all dealers.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Shaved lamb is outstanding in Paris for trimming.

New York reports that snow leopard is a rare and distinctive fur which accents the chic of new clothe coats.

Green in all its varied tones is new and smart as it can be, and especially featured by Reguy and Patou in their newer sports frocks.

From Paris comes the most astounding fashion news in years—gray for winter resort wear on the Riviera, in Florida and California.

Paris says mjore for Riviera nights, and Londonderge North, Germany and other well-known houses are featuring this lovely 'silk in their midseason collections in glorious new frocks and wraps destined to spend the winter under the stars on the Cote d'Azur.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of 18 years old and would like a respectable girl companion. Would you advise me how to become acquainted.

WAITING

WAITING: Are there not some young people's clubs connected with your church? Join one of these and I am sure you will have no trouble meeting some nice girls.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens going with a boy friend whom I think very much of. He is not very accurate in keeping his dates with me. Will I give him another chance or find someone else. Please advise me what to do?

LONESOME.

LONESOME: I am afraid there is not much excuse for this. Lonesome. Have a talk with him and if he still persists in disappointing you I would seek more reliable companionship.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens in love with a boy two years my senior. He is very jealous of me and accuses me of flirting with my sister's boy friend. What can I do to convince him that I care nothing for this boy only as as a friend?

BRUNETTE

BRUNETTE: Unless you are encased to this young man he has no right to ask you to restrict your attentions solely to him. If he is unreasonably jealous I am afraid I would be inclined to give him up as it is a very bad quality in a man, or a woman either for that matter.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

Wipe up anything that spills in the refrigerator as soon as the accident occurs.

First and most important, give every part of the refrigerator a thorough cleaning once a week.

Take an account of stock each morning to see what should be discarded, that no spoiled food is allowed to stay in the refrigerator.

Put in a heavy window, dip a chamois in about 2 quarts of lukewarm water and 1 cup of vinegar, wring the chamois out and wipe the window as usual, which will clean and dry at the same time.

CROWD ATTENDED COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF THE HIGH SCHOOL

Were Held In Victoria Ave. Church Yesterday Afternoon

DR. McCRIMMON

Noted Professor Was Chief Speaker—Splendid Talk To Pupils

Victoria Avenue Baptist Church was filled to overflowing with students, teachers, members of the Board of Education, and friends yesterday afternoon for the Annual Commencement exercises of the Belleville Collegiate Institute. A special feature of the afternoon was the Bachalaureate sermon by Dr. A. L. McCrimmon, ex-channel lor of McMaster University, Toronto, who gave one of the best addresses that has ever been heard in this city. In short duration, Dr. McCrimmon's address was eagerly listened to by the students and their friends, and the doctor injected the full force of his powerful personality into his sermon.

"One who has been accustomed to spending his life in academic circles", began Dr. McCrimmon, "feels at home in any event of this nature. This is a significant occasion; it means a great deal for Principal McLaurin and his staff. It shows then that something is worth while after all. It means a great deal to the Board of Education, and it means a great deal for Belleville. It does an occasion of this kind."

"The greatest thing in this world", continued the speaker, "is the development of citizenship and there is no manufacture of souls. The part that we have played in the past, what we have gone through and the glorious future ahead of us—I hope you realize all these things. I hope that you are intending to remain in Canada. Distant fields are always attractive in the view, but there is no country in the world to day that provides more opportunity than does this land of ours."

"Our great hills, our Rocky Mountains, our mines, our cities—will never make Canada great—the thing to do that is the men and women of this country. You are important factors in the development of Canada. We have to grow our men big, and the only thing a country ever lacks is men, and big men."

"It is a significant progress that has been made today, on account of these high School children, the parents, the teaching staff, and the Board of Education, these all have indirect touch with you. The boy, the girl, these are the centre of the educational programme."

"I am glad indeed", continued the speaker, "of keeping in touch with life. Remember that your teacher and your principal have your interests at heart; they are there for your development. Do you only know one life to live, what are you going to do with it? You can't experiment with your life, what is it going to be? Are you to hitch your wagon to a star, aim high, you will fall low enough anyway. Make the most of that self in you. To wake up the best elements of self and to grow, that should be your object."

"There can be nothing so great an incentive as to feel yourself growing in power, in self esteem." Dr. McCrimmon congratulated the pupils upon their success in all the sports.

"I wouldn't attempt to paint the world grey, but if you try for happiness and happiness alone you will not get it. Happiness depends upon the self. Take time to grow, don't be in a hurry to leave school to earn ten or twenty dollars a week."

"I thoroughly believe in the development of your body. It means a great deal to have an optimistic outlook on life, and this is often due to physical development. A mind that is keen and runs amuck may do more harm than good. If you take my advice you'll get close to God and moralize your studies To build yourself up, to enter into your third or fourth form knowing that you know your past work, that is growth. For you to know what is being talked about you must be educated. Make up your minds to "know" as you go along. God has set eternity in your heart and you can't get out of it, it is there. A time like this demands clean hearts and great soul."

Thus Dr. McCrimmon finished his fine address, keenly appreciated by the students, and all present. Seldom has a better "message in life" been given at any graduating exercises.

Upon the platform at the head of the Church were seated several important citizens of Belleville, three to present the various prizes, awards and diplomas to the students. The Reverend Mr. A. E. McCutcheon was chairman of the gathering and Mr. G. A. C. Weir, Colonel W. N. Ponton, Mrs. Agnes McFee, Mr. A. L. Stillman and Mr. A. B. Schryver represented the Board of Education, each presenting different awards. Besides these dignitaries, Mr. F. C. McLaurin, "Bud" Galway, Miss Dorothy Bishop, the Rev. H. Jones, Rev. Dr. McCrimmon and several others, all with a part to play in the activities of the afternoon were also placed in this prominent position.

Mrs. (Dr.) Geary, Stella May, two charming solos, as also did Mr. J. Arnold Thompson. Short addresses were heard from Mr. McLaurin, Mr. G. A. C. Weir, Col. W. N. Ponton, Alan Meagher, Rev. McCutcheon, Miss Bishop and Mr. Schryver.

RECREATION BOWLING

Five league games were played at the Recreation Alleys last night all of the games effecting a standing of the leaders.

In the ladies league the Crescents and Beavers each won four points from the Ponies and Ramblers respectively and both of the two former teams remaining at the deadlock for first place with 28 wins each, and only one more game to be played.

In the Junior league things sure look complicated when there are at least 5 teams in the running and all closely bunched. In the games last night the Corn Cobs pulled the surprise of the night when they stepped into the Moose for four points, while the Baby Shoes held the Quinte B's to an even break, each team counting two points.

The big game of the night was played in the senior league between the Hardwares and the K. of C. the latter team taking all four points and practically clinching the senior league as they are 8 points up on their nearest opponents and only two games to be played. In the game last night the Hardware started out with a 1126 score followed by 1003 and 1092 or 3221 for their three strings, while the Knights rolled 3069, two of the Hardware bowlers going over the 700 mark while the third just lacked 1 pin for 700.

CITY HOCKEY LG. MEETS TUESDAY

Clubs Anxious To Enter Urged To Be Represented

Several managers of the City Hockey League teams have been inquiring regarding the formation of a circuit this year such as operated in the senior last season. Eight teams composed the loop last year besides the four entering the Industrial League. The Point Anne team are anxious to enter a team this year and it is expected that there are a number of first-class backspirts having taken up their residence in the province. Club Claudin proxy of the Point Anne Club received today that they would be willing to play their games at the local arena. This arrangement would no doubt suit the local club also as it decidely advance to playing on the Point Anne open-air rink.

For the purpose of getting a line of prospective entrants a meeting has been called for Tuesday evening next week at the Y.M.C.A. It is desirable to open the league directly after Christmas and in order to do this organization must be completed. The league was organized last year and after the schedule was drawn up complaints were registered by clubs that they were not given a chance to enter. This year the managers are given plenty of time in which to make arrangements to be present. Tuesday evening at eight o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. the situation will be thoroughly discussed. The idea is to make arrangements with the arena management for the arena dates.

Clubs who are requested to have representatives present are: Y's Men' Club (last year's champions) Canadian National Express Company, Intelligencer, Canada Cement Company, Alexander Company, Stevens-Adamson Manufacturing, Tigers, Hastings Paper Mill and City Battery. Any other clubs or Industrial leagues wishing to enter will please have representatives present. There is plenty of material in Belleville to make a fast ten team city league and in order to get the ball rolling it is hoped that a good attendance will feature this meeting. For further information of those interested will please call the secretary at 1248 or 1030-W.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

JOHN COLLINS

The funeral of the late John Collins was held yesterday afternoon to Belleville Cemetery where the interment took place in the family plot.

At the house in the presence of a large congregation of sorrowing relatives and friends an impressive service was conducted by Rev. J. A. Black, of Plainfield United Church, who also officiated at the committal at the grave side. The wealth of floral tributes to deceased with the many in attendance at the funeral testify decidedly to the esteem carried by the death of the deceased and the sympathy felt for the bereaved relatives.

The bearers were Messrs. John Sherman, Asa McCreary, Albert Gibson, William VanAllen, Charles Sargeant and J. Emmerson.

RELATIVES OF FORMER PUPILS TRAIN AT O.B.C.

One of the most convincing proofs of the highly satisfactory results obtained from the Ontario Business Training College course is that every year there are in attendance at O. B. C. a large number of brothers, sisters, sons and daughters of former students.

Just this week a son and daughter of Mr. Robert Woods, of Madoc, entered the College. They are here because their sister was formerly here. For several years held a good position with the Steel Trough & Machine Co., at Tweed.

Yesterday Mr. W. H. Willett, of New Richmond, Que., notified the College that his son, Sherwood Willett, will arrive at O. B. C. next week. Mr. Willett's daughter, who attended the College about three years ago, holds a fine position with the Willis Piano Company in Montreal. In his letter Mr. Willett said: "I wish the College every success and trust that still more of my family will be able to train there."

The Robertson family in New Richmond, Que., sent six brothers to O. B. C., all of whom graduated and secured good positions. Numerous cases similar to these could be cited. —

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The first two sours. The instant relief is an alkali which neutralizes acid. Phillips Milk of Magnesia does this and more. Two teaspoonfuls in a little water will end indigestion as quick as it's effect, so harmless to children.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Do learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Every bottle contains full directions—any druggist.

BY-LAW NO. 2233
A BY-LAW TO REGULATE THE CLOSING OF BARBER SHOPS IN THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE.

Passed the 28th day of November A. D. 1927.

WHEREAS, an application has been presented to and received by the Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville, praying that a By-law be passed requiring the closing of all Barber Shops situate within the City of Belleville, under and by virtue of The Factory, Shop and Office Building Act, being Revised Statutes of Ontario, Chapter 228, Section 84 and Amending Acts; AND WHEREAS, the said Council is satisfied that such application is signed by not less than three-fourths in number of the occupiers of such Barber Shops within the Municipality of the City of Belleville and belongs to the class to which such application relates, and in accordance with the terms and provisions of the Act and amendments thereof;

AND WHEREAS, the said Council deem it expedient that such By-law shall be passed;

THEREFORE BE IT ENACTED by the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville as follows:

1—All Barber Shops within the City of Belleville in accordance with the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act, as herein recited, shall be closed and remain closed on each day of the week except Saturday and the day before every Public Holiday at and during the time between the hour of Eight o'clock in the afternoon and Five o'clock in the forenoon of the next following day and shall be closed and remain closed on each Saturday of the week at the hour of Ten o'clock in the afternoon until Seven o'clock in the forenoon of the next Monday or on each and every day next before a Public Holiday between the hour of Ten o'clock in the afternoon and the hour of Five o'clock in the next following day.

2—Any occupier of a Barber Shop within the City of Belleville, refusing to close and keep closed the Barber Shop which he occupies, and in which such business is carried on at and after the hour named for the closing thereof on each day on which the same is hereby required to be closed, according to the true intent and meaning of the said Act and of this By-Law shall on conviction thereof, be liable to the penalties provided for in the Consolidated Municipal Act of 1922 Section 497 and following Sections and shall be recoverable under The Ontario Summary Convictions Act.

3—This By-law shall be published by the insertion of a copy thereof twice in each of the newspapers published within the City of Belleville namely: The Daily Intelligencer an The Daily Ontario.

4—This By-law shall come into force and take effect on and after the Tenth day of December A.D., 1927.

BELLE THEATRE

It is argued that the motion picture has not reached, to any degree of permanency, quite a number of persons in America. Just why it has not is more or less of a mystery. Those few which the screen has not reached are numbered among the older folks who still doubt that modern pictures can portray a story in an interesting manner.

However, these doubting Thomases will have a new joy in witnessing the remarkable drama adapted from the famous story, "Monte Cristo," written by the immortal Alexander Dumas, and which is showing Monday at the Belle Theatre.

This story, which has been read by millions and which will ever remain as a classic of adventure, love, and romance, provides an excellent theme for a screen drama. It is possible through the scope of the motion picture camera to carry the audience to France, the locale of the story, and there depict in a faithful way the stirring adventures of the youth first known as "Edmond Dantes."

The local management states that "Monte Cristo" is without an equal as a screen drama.

Incidentally, it was in this great film that John Gilbert and Renee Adoree scored their first great triumph. The team which has since become famous in "The Big Parade" and other notable successes.

CAPITOL THEATRE

A stage attraction away above the ordinary for cities of the size is Al Winters and His Speedway Girls Revue due to appear at the Capitol Theatre next week. This good revue are seven people, including dancers, singers and comedians, with beautiful costumes, attractive stage settings, everything that goes to form an attraction of real merit.

With the Speedway Girls Revue is the Jungaloo dancers of Canada. It promises to be a treat you shouldn't miss—and one of the really outstanding stage attractions of the present season.

And along with the above the first half of the week is another of those pop ular College films, this one "The Drop Kick" starring Richard Barthelmess and the excellent cast of college stars in an up to date and thrilling story of college life. Altogether it looks like a great bill at the Capitol this week.

TheDropKick
Starring Richard Barthelmess with an excellent cast. It is a huge stars selected from Prince ton, Yale and other colleges. Gaiety. Sadness. Romance Youll find them mirrored in this true to life college story.

REGENT THEATRE

The story of "Time to Love" laid in France, concerns Raymond Casanoura a young man who falls in love with beautiful Countess Elvire. He finds that his best friend, Marquis de Daddo, loves her, too, and Raymond thinks he loves the Marquis. Broken-hearted, he agrees to be "killed" in a fake duel, as an "error" he suffers that Elvire really loves him. He knows she believes in spiritualism, so he comes back as a spirit. When this deception is exposed and the girl is about to be married, Raymond steals her away from the altar. In their escape, they are accidentally carried up in a balloon which civilleryman are shooting at.

TILLIE THE TOILER—

Chalmers Remarks

Mayor Wilmot acted as Chairman of the meeting. "We are again on the threshold of an election. It seems only a few months ago that I was asking for your support. In that there were some big problems to face and they were disposed of to the best of the ability of the Council

"Each individual Alderman will explain his own department. We are unfortunate with the material at hand. Hoaxing and wrestling were out of fashion in the 19th Council."

Alderman Duff, candidate for mayor was the first speaker called upon. "I feel it my duty as Chairman of the Executive to explain the financial condition of the city. The tax rate was increased but we were met with unexpected expenditures in 1926 and one mill had to be made up. The School Board assessed an extra half mill and the increased Hydro rates made up two mills. We expect to end the year with a reserve. I have had the co-operation of the other Chairmen in an effort to keep down expenditures. The total assessment on the mill rate was as follows:

Schools—13 7-10.
Hospital—
Patriotic— 5-10.
Parks—
Various—

Local Improvements—8 6-10.

"This is an assessment leaves the Council 18 4-10 and you can see that not all of it was spent by the Council directly.

"The Gas Department was in poor condition and needed improvements. The accumulated overdraft was over $40000 this year and we had to take steps to put the gas plant on a paying basis and for this purpose a complete survey was made.

Mr. Duff pointed out that 38 meters were not in working order and over 300 were only working partially. The results obtained have been most satisfactory. Formerly 40 to 50 per cent of the gas was going out and we were getting no revenue and this has now been reduced to 30 or 40 per cent.

"There is little worry in the Water works department. The water supply has not been satisfactory and we hope to improve this by means of a filtration plant. We cannot handle the matter in hand for a few years.

Alderman Bates

"In the matter of street lighting I would like to improve the system on Front street without additional cost. This department is costing the Council $1200 more this year on account of the Hydro rates."

In reference to the tourist camp Mr. Duff was from his opinion that we now have the best camp in the Province of Ontario. We have spent $5,000 and do not consider that this is excessive and this year we expect it will pay for itself.

Traffic By-Laws Enforced

Ald. Duff spoke of the stop signs and traffic signs which have been erected on the city streets. These should still go ahead, and more improvements should be made along that line."

Ald. Duff noted that the parking system should be changed.

"We have a splendid park. Built for recreation purposes but I think more parks should be built throughout the city. We can get vacant pieces of land in the city for these playgrounds. Mr. Duff stated that he believed a basketball diamond should be laid in the east end of the city. Memorial Park should be improved. Two public-spirited citizens have offered to start towards a memorial monument for fallen soldiers and I will back up the proposition. In the matter of industries the matter has been pushed vigorously by the Chamber of Commerce. We have secured a first-class industry and more may come. The general outlook is one of optimism. In consideration of the building that is going on, notably a new building at the hospital and Corbyville."

Population in 1927	13,020
Population in 1926	12,824
Increase	196
Total Assessment 1927	$9,409,00
Total Assessment 1926	$9,304,00

"I decided to run only after considerable urging on the part of many friends," continued Mr. Duff. "I'm not afraid of defending my actions. I have gone into matters and I will engage in no mud slinging. I am glad and I hope to keep the tax rate down."

Promote Unity

Ex-Alderman Harry Greenleaf, candidate for the Mayoralty, was next called. "I have been campaigning in the city for the past two days and have found that a great many questions have been asked. I have a pla form and am coming before you with the contention that the citizens of Belleville are not a unity. We all have ideas and interests, naturally we will clash. But we must work together and must make things possible. The management of the city is impaired with these clashes of interests and ideas and we must all move along the same path and assist in the building of Belleville as citizens generally.

"I am coming before you as a business man. I have spoken before but have been residents of Belleville and you will take these things I hope that you will then mark your ballots on Monday."

Ex-Ald. Wright

"The general impression of the public is that there has been a heavy expenditure on the last-years," said Ex-Ald. R. P. Wright in opening. "There has been very little real estate on the outskirts of the city and in every direction while too much has been done on the inside."

"Ald. Duff has mentioned the gas plant and I contend that the plant will pay until the city reaches the 25,000 mark in population."

Ex-Ald. White spoke of the expenditures to the Bay Bridge. "Before the purchase had been made, recommendations were received from engineers out stating that a good condition to put it in costing $800,000 to improve it, of which 20 per cent. falls on the city. The only other way between Kingston and Toronto burd be reached with such expenditure and the Council is taking out of the city each year $100,000 in drivers' per mits and licenses, we pay such an in amount out for the suburban area, roads commission and there seem to be no benefits derived.

Speaking of the Thermith test in the to the mayoralty, he stated that he felt it was bad judgment on the part of the Council. This statement was published and I stand by it.

"I was working at the Carthage Machine plant at the time the experiment was going on and I could see little change in the river Finally, one day I went down to the bridge broke on the shore at Victoria Park and noticed a little of the stream at where the pipes were placed.

"Ald. Duff has mentioned the water works. We have in the estimates this department always paid a profit of from $12,000 to $14,000. I propose that the rates be lowered to lower the tax rate, has been used to lay water mains."

Ald. White opened up the question of the street-sweeper by stating that at the last Council meeting he moved that "The sweeper was offered to the city for $15,500 and on the recommendation of the Chairman of Public Works voted against it. It'd rather see more money spent in the summer on the streets than a sweeper going down the street of it. I'm not prejudiced when I say I believe in good sound judgment, in the interests of the ratepayers. You have my record before you and I give my word that the ratepayers will be considered first."

Ald. Wright, in a brief reply, stated that there were facts and figured to show how a saving was made by buying the sweeper which was purchased on a six-months basis. "It will mean a saving of over $1,000 per year at the old system at the end of the year," stated Alderman Wright.

Ex-Ald. T. J. Brannon

"If I am elected to the 1928 Council I will attend all the meetings and I do not know what a good bid would be for the city," stated Charles T. Brannon in his appeal to the electorate who were present for their support. He stated that he had endorsed the report published in the Daily Intelligencer of June 16th last regarding the proposition to purchase the new sweeper, stating that those using the machine in the city spoke of it most. Aldermen Duff, Goudy, Gorman Walker, Proctor and Cherry, against Aldermen Collins, Hyde, Bates, Clark, Tice and Wetten.

Mr. Brannon continued, if elected he will in his power to further the interest of Belleville.

"I have already had three years experience in my city council," said Mr. Preflich, "and my platform was three years of economy."

French promised if returned at the polls on election day to practise economy during the next term of the council.

C. A. Payne

"This is the first time that I ever appeared upon a public platform in this city," said Charles A. Payne, in asking the vote and influence of the electors. Mr. Payne stated that his desire was to become a member of council to gain some civic experience.

In speaking of the street sweeper he stated that he thought the city had been involved in an unnecessary expenditure in the purchase and that its acquisition by Belleville should have been postponed until larger city had experienced the use of it.

"I think that is unfair for the new men to have to speak from the platform and ask the government in power to defend their platform first," generally remarked George A. Reid in referring to the ruling of the chairman that the agenda address of the candidates before the sitting adjourned.

Mr. Reid stated that he had lived in Belleville for the past fourteen years and was actively engaged in business in the downtown district. Progress such as the Chamber of Commerce. "Each time I go away I am glad to get back to it," said he in speaking of the city. Reid criticized the action of the new street sweeper for Belleville claiming that under the present system wagons and with a team of horses and a driver were hired by the day to clean the streets. The money formerly cleaned the streets are now out of work although their taxes have to be paid by them.

In speaking of City Engineer Charles Campbell, Mr. Reid said that he was a good engineer and he had no objection to the salary which he was receiving, but he thought he should spend all his time looking after the city's interest and not away from it.

"In conclusion, I am asking you for your support at the polls on Monday next and if you see fit to give it to me I will look after the interests of the city the same as if it were my own, and if you do not elect me, I will still boost for Belleville," Mr. Reid said.

"I think every man should give some time to the city," said D. W. Rollins who pointed out that never since he came to Belleville has he been asked to be a representative which would intime be the most important section of the city with regard to expenditure.

Ald. William Donahue

Mr. Donahue said that in 1923 and 1924 he filled the office of Chairman of public works and felt with the awards that he filled it very acceptably. He stated that he objected to the action of the new electorate because he thought the expenditure too great and that the city could afford to wait for a suitable seat of learning.

Concluding, Mr. Donahue asked for the support of the electors and wished them the compliments of the season, saying that this might be the last time he would be addressing the ratepayers of old friend, Howard Ferguson in Toronto, we can all make merry."

"I do not think that during my term of office I have failed to please the electors of the City of Belleville have placed in me," said Ald. Hyde. He stated that the assessment, that of Fire, saying that during the recent visit of the Hydro Belleville he highly commended the equipment.

Ald. George S. Tice

"I voted against the erection of the new school because I did not think that the city could stand the expenditure of such a large sum of money," said Ald. Tice.

Mr. Tice thanked his co-councillors for the kindness shown him during the past year and asked the support of the electorate to support him at the approaching election.

Philip Morrison, a candidate for the Aldermanic honors stated that Professors Barnes had said publicly that the city water was purely an experiment and yet it has cost the city a lot of money. He served one year in the town of Belleville and I will do all that I can in the best interests of the city.

George Krichenon said if elected he would give the city the best municipal government within his power.

The Bay Bridge

"It seems like old times to be back again" stated Ald. Goudy. Mr. Goudy "My record from 1909 to 1921 is before you and during that time I have endeavored to be of service to the ratepayers and it still remains the same and if elected I shall be able to serve you. Mr. Woodley spoke of the Bay bridge upon which he said would cost the thousands of dollars to pay. "The Government has flagrly promised to build the bridge to the Provincial Ontario Power Commission after persistent efforts and the city finally committed itself to the fou dation for West Belleville sowering bad. When the vote was taken on the front street there was a divi sion in the council even then," re marked Mr. Woodley, "and I contend that it is not always economy to buy the cheapest thing, corroborating this statement by pointing out that the best paved road in the city today was Front street, although it was the old est.

"We have already had our share of concerned with the new city street sweeper" said Alderman F. T. Cherry in his opening remarks. "I am going to try to show you the good reason for the silence from the management of the Public Works department this year." "Silence has been said to be Gold, Carroll city engineer, he is one of the most capable engineers the city has ever had" declared the speaker "and I consider the city is extremely fortunate in having such a capable man.

"In reply to Mr. Reid's assertion I wish to state that I have never opposed Front Avenue last year as well as this year. Regarding the fact that I did not attend the Bay Bridge and Wharf Street Debating Club on Wednesday night I did not feel that in fairness I had got to be ridiculed for anything that I had done in my term as Ald. Alderman.

At this point there was some indication of heckling and Mr. Cherry found it necessary to raise his voice and at the rear of the hall. "Regarding the Bay Bridge I will say that I don't take the whole responsibility for certain things, we had many floods and the Bridge was washed out then the city spent about $15000 to correct this nuisance and I am sure no board of Control wider it good judgment on the part of the Council.

Same Heckling

Voice—"What was the cost of the public utilities investment to the city of Belleville this year?"

Mr. Cherry—"$650."

At this point Mr. Cherry's voice was practically at the back of the hall owing to heckling and did not finish his statement as he was asked. "This matter has been under severe criticism, let us get him a fair hearing as he is entitled to subjects to clarify the situation." Instantly there was silence and Alderman Cherry continued his address.

"We entered an agreement with Professor Barnes that was approved by the Council and the flood was prevented, wether due to the Thermit or not, I do not know," said Mr. Cherry. Continuing "We arranged with Professor Barnes to have the Dominion Government railways install that fl go on. "Reply ing to Mr. Reid I wish to state that if elected I intend to look after the city in his regular hours for other concerns I will not be interfered with. The fact that he was justified in doing so as long as it did not interfere with his work as Alderman.

Alderman Cherry said he was in favor of the Bay Bridge proposition and supported the $250,000 proposition but not the $550,000 one. I was however, strongly opposed to the purchase of the plate in the Eastern section of the city and the Bridge on the Western side.

The speaker noted that for flushing the streets the city formerly paid $28 per day for water and $18 a day for sprinkler and horses. "Was it good business for the part of the Council to pay out $570 each year when a machine could be purchased for $4000" Last year the Council paid $1,200 for street cleaning system and I felt that we were justified in purchasing the machine. I went to Chicago at his own expense, secured data, studied the matter closely and I felt justified in doing so. The expense and the sweeper was recommended by the Chairman of Public Works were strongly advised by citizens of St. Catharines and Niagara Falls to make the purchase. Ald. Cherry Concluded Cherry reiterated his statement that he was opposed to the purchase. He read the following report to the gathering.

Residential Area

Patrol Wages	$1086.00
Wages	$636.00; Water Supplied $117.00
Fuel	Rates Brown material over estimate
Operator's Wages	$396.96; Clearing
Leaves, 1 team and helper	$173.40;
Rental	$1,200.00; Rental Supplied
Interest	$295.54; Water Supplied $1.80;
Refuse Removal nil;	Incidental $30.96.
Total	$3,333.70

Total Cost—Flusher and Patrol Men, $1,086.00; Elgin Machine System $2220.18.

Cost per day—Business area $14.81—$1,221.00; Residential area $11.45—$1,776.45. Total $36.26—$17.70.

This represents a saving of $18.56 per day. Calculated for the number of days from the first day of April to December 1st, a total of 244 days by $18.56 or a saving of $3991.84. A further saving over expenditure will be effected by the Council of $4,000.

Reduce Cost

The full years operation next year will materially reduce the expenditure from this year and the levy of $4,000 required for the purchase of machine. The payment for the machine will be distributed over three years by the property along the pavements and the city is relieved of a general levy amounting to $1,333.33 and $2000.00 and the property owners are given a reduced rate four last year of $1500.00." Surely no reasonable person in any sense of fairness can criticize the action of the council to reduce the cost of civic operation for the citizens at large and especially asks the property owners of the city who are paying the sum of nearly a half million dollars personally for pavements besides paying their proportionate share of the city charge for these pavements. We have given this reduction to the owners and the general tax rate and a much superior cleaning service.

The machine cost $6600.00 delivered here with accessories, sales tax and freight paid and a demonstrator to train our operator. The customs were arranged by Mr. R. H. LaRose, Bridge Street East, acting for the Company. The Company offered the machine to us for $4400.00 if paid for on delivery or $5000.00 if paid in six months from June 13th. The council took the latter offer as it meant over $1000 saving in interest. The machine was absolutely new and was sold to us as a demonstrator and machine was never in any other municipality before coming here, and consequently the guarantee you may have heard locally to the contrary.

The cost of operation of cleaning streets has reduced the pavement cleaning cost from that of 1926 by more than one-half. Cost of labor sections $250.00; Cost of leaf removal reduced $540.00; Catch basin cleaning cost reduced $4500. Total $10223.22.

The average life of the brooms in our experience is about 7 to 10 days. The machine travels approximately 22 miles per day—season total 2000 miles approximately. We have $22.00 for a new shaft twisted by a broken link. Gas and oil cost $392.20; Repairs $100.00; Broom material $317.39; Incidental expenses $67.77.

Total cost of operation $1,000.00 deposited in dump the amount of 1291 cubic yards of waste matter, which is practically the same 50 cubic yards in the most heavily congested area. This period is the first time a similar test and the total of all the beats by hand patrol would not exceed 1291 cubic yards. Material was washed into our drains and we have reason to be thankful that we have not to handle the thousand cubic yards of waste in our storm drains.

I trust the explanation is what you wished and will be satisfactory.

Respectfully submitted.

CHAS. D. CAMPBELL,

City Engineer.

Mayor Wilmot—"There has been many unkind remarks in the Works regarding the sweeper but I think it will mean a big saving."

The Gas Dept.

Alderman Collins congratulated the Gas Department and rendered and expressed his regrets on the fact that four of the old employees were not here. Ald. Tice—Alderman for the cooperation given in putting the gas plant on a paying basis. Regarding paying opinions made on the platform in the contrary, "Brockville is not the only town that has had the gas plant there makes money for the town. We have installed 38 meters on the gas plant and we could not close it down and leave users without gas. We will be busy from until the 30th of November we have cut down the overdraft by $3,582.33."

Alderman Wetten said it had been his honor to occupy the chair in the new department and knew the benefit and publicity. "We made a charge of 75 cents for accommodation this year and have handled the matter in such a way sides the fact that hired help assisted this year. We made money this year. We have also completed the model camp of Ontario. It is a great asset from every standpoint," concluded Alderman Wetten.

Engineer's Report

December 1st, 1927.

Ald. E. T. Cherry

Chairman Public Works Committee Belleville, Ontario.

Gentlemen—Reporting to your request of today I beg to submit the following facts relative to the work carried out by the Public Works Department during the year of 1927. Some of the works accomplished are:

In Ponier Ward—Scarified—Dundas St. East, South Front St., Bridge St. East, Victoria Ave.—Pinnacle St. and Front St. and MacDonald Ave., Wharf St. and Bridge St. East—Scarfied—Front South George St., Franklin St.

In Bamson Ward—Scarified—Bleecker Ave. New Macadam—Duffern Ave. Concrete Walk—MacDonald Ave., John St.

In Meichenon Ward—Scarified—Bleecker Ave. New Macadam—Duffern St. East, South Front St., Pinnacle St., Queen St., Victoria Ave. Repaired Sewer—Pinnacle St. (Dr. Roberts).

In Baldwin Ward—New Macadam—Hillcrest Ave.

In Bleecker Ward—New Sewer—Emily St. New Storm Drain—Emily St. New Sewer—Emily St. New Macadam—Sidewalk—Emily St. New Macadam Road—Reid St., Jones St. Scarified Road—Moira St., Queen St., Victoria Road—Mt. Pleasant Ro., Alexander Road.

In Coleman Ward—New Sewer—Baldwin and Slone Sts. New Storm Drain—College Ave. New Sidewalk—St., Queen St., Victoria Ave. Repaired College St., Slone, and E. Moira St. Graded Road—Slone St. Scarified Road—Hillcrest St., Grove St., Harriet Street. Scarified Road—Moira West to Front. Patched Roads—Moira East, Olive St.

In Murney Ward—New Sewer—Sinclair St., Octavia St., Parker St. New Sidewalk—Catherine St. New Macadam—Isabel St., James St. Scarified New—Bay Bridge Entrances.

The above works are the main ones completed. There are the incumbent—the smaller jobs that were looked after as installing catch basins, sewer laterals, weed cutting, sewer cleaning and sewer maintenance. The appropriation will show at the end of the year a substantial balance to the credit of outstanding are paid. The year's work will be completed at the present cost since I came to Belleville—except the year 1923 under Mr. Donahue's Chairmanship and I would state that the average since I have taken charge in 1922 is over $13000.00 per year less for Public Works operations than for the previous period from Jan. 1, 1910. Our road program of the past three years is showing to advantage now but two years more are required to complete the work at hand.

Traffic Markings in the business area are now complete with the glass placed at the various intersections as recommended by the Traffic Committee and passed by the Council. The new machine was put in operation on July 7th and has run 24 hours per day over since with the exception of rainy weather seven days a week. The machine has proven itself a money saving proposition and will continue to do so as long as operated.

The Council in striking the tax rate accepted the figures submitted for cleaning my machine and the Council only voted that I know of but they failed to purchase the machine at once and by their action I wrote myself, myself and the chairman of Finance that we were facing an overdraft amounting to $4,000 or more unless they made some provision.

The operation of the machine since July 7th to Nov. 30th and the cost of the Front Street Patrol total as follows: Total cash appropriation of $3050.00 and a levy of $4500.00.

The increase of expense is accounted for as follows:

By loss due to delay in purchase	$ 337.00
Storage Charge not estimated	100.00
Trailing extra operator	118.00
Rates Brown material over estimate	257.00
Extra Hose to reach our hydrants	16.00
Gas and Oil over estimate	46.00
Patrol Man Front Street	74.00
	$1032.00

The cost of the machine and patrol man on the business area and the residential area for the same period, I submit with a comparison with the former system as carried out during the present year.

Business Area

March 25 to July 6—84 days.
Flusher and Driver $1,086.00
Patrol Wages, $750.00; Flusher Wages $237.00; Spring cleaning $150.00 Supplied $58.00; Refuse Removal $20.00. Total $1274.00.
July 7th to Nov. 30th—146 days.
Elgin Machine System.
Operator Wages $264.32; Patrol Wages $300.00; Patrol (not used) $120.00; Gas, Oil, Storage $180.12; Repairs $211.97; Incidental $44.27; Water $1.35; Refuse Removal $10.00. Total $1150.34.

IF BACK OR KIDNEYS ACHE DRINK WATER

Drink Freely and Often to Flush the Kidneys, Also Take Salts

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headached, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

RED PEPPERS QUICKLY END CHEST COLDS

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a hot cold loosen up in a short time.

Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. And when heat penetrates right down into cold, congested, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper, mixture the congested spot is warmed. Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles don't get a jar of Red Pepper Rub. Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known.

Hosiery and Gloves

Are Sure to Please

This winning pair, time-honored gifts of other Christmases, are first favorite still when 1927 Shoppers seek graceful expression to Christmas wishes,—and we've a wonderful new stock to choose from, of only the finest qualities and pri ced surprisingly low.

Each Pair Packed in a Christmas Box For You

"Twin-Heel" Sheer Chiffon 3.50

Just watch her when she opens the box if somebody has said "Merry Christmas" with a pair of these exquisite chiffon silk-to-the-top hose in the smart "Arab" shade. The "twin-heel" feature is particularly slenderizing to the ankle.

Chiffon with Black Heel $3.95

A tribute to milady's excellent taste!—a pair of lovely chiffon hose in gunmetal shade, with slender "slipper" heel effective in black. Sizes 9, 9 1-2 and 10.

Dainty Chiffon Hose 1.50 to 2.75

Every girl needs an unlimited supply of dainty pure silk chiffon stockings for wear with evening frocks. In all the pale flesh, beige, and silver tints, and new darker tones, too—dozen of shades to choose from. With either square or pointed heels.

"Service-Sheer" 1.50 and 1.75

A very popular weight of silk stocking just now—combining the appearance of chiffon and greater durability of service weight hose. At $1.50 a pair we have a very fine "C.D.S.L."stocking in all the latest shades, and at $1.75 a lovely stocking with the very popular "slipper" heel. Full-fashioned, both of them.

Service Weight Silk Hose - $1.95

We recommend especially this "C.S.D.L." quality of pure thread silk, full-fashioned hosiery. They are knit smoothly and evenly and the weight is just right for general wear. In mirage, atmosphere, flesh, beige, French nude, almond, atmosphere and black.

Wool Hosiery 1.00, 1.25, 1.50

You're sure to know several persons who would appreciate a pair of fine all-wool cashmere stockings for Christmas. These are very well-made, with extra length, and come in all sizes from 8 1-2 to 10 1-2. Zinc, moonlight, French nude, almond, atmosphere and black.

Smart Wool Gaiters - $2.25

To suit this senson's mode for more beauty in protective footwear, come these diamond-knit gaiters of fine wool. Elastic band under foot. The gaiters reach to the knee and come in dark grey, light sand and a pretty brown shade.

Special - Fine Kid Gloves - 2.00

Everyone who has seen them is enthusiastic about these new gloves of fine French kid. They have plain stitching on the back and double perforated cuffs. In mode, beaver and tan. Sizes 5 3-4 to 8.

Very Smart French Kids - $2.50

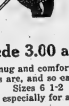

"It's all in the cuffs"—not forgetting the fancy stitching to match, on these lovely French kid gloves. The cuffs are very interesting, though with triangular patches of kid in vivid rose, blue or orchid shades. Sizes 6 to 7 1-2.

Black and White 2.00 and 3.50

Is there anything quite so distinctive, worn with a navy blue or black costume than a pair of black kid gloves touched with white? The $2.00 French kid gloves have white showing underneath the perforated cuffs, and at $3.50 there are black washable cape gloves with white trimmings.

Frilled Cuff Suede Gloves - 3.50

Something different in fine suede feather gloves are these in dome style, with a frilly embroidered cuff and fancy "magpie" stitching. Pretty beaver shade. . . . . .

Silk Lined Suede 3.00 and 3.50

You'd be surprised how snug and comfortable these silk-lined suede leather gloves are, and so easy to put on. Plain beaver and black. Sizes 6 1-2 to 7. These would make a lovely gift, especially for an older woman.

Embroidered Slip-ons - 4.00

"Just a little better"—these lovely soft suede gloves in slip-on style. They have a very effective embro'dered motif on the cuff, and smart stitching to match. In light and dark brown shades.

Children's Cape Gloves 1.00

Good quality unlined brown capeskin gloves for children. Durable and smart-looking. In every size from the smallest—00—to 6.

Annie Maloney put the door prize.

SUNSHINE BELT OF THE SOUTH

The longest beach in the world —driving along the Gulf of Mexico, down around Key West, up the coast of Blue to somewhere east of Jacksonville will not rate as a thing to those who never see it, nor will the warm tropic sun of midwinter of the sea bathing of January. There are oranges to be picked when the snow is harrrassing your door, golf and tennis down South when the weather stripe blows will not clear the breath of the North. When you think things at their worst they are really at their best in Florida and along the Gulf Coast. Hotel rates are reasonable and long train winter tourist fare giving you a wide choice of routes are surprisingly low, why not make a travel investment in health?

COWARD FIRST NIGHT INTERESTING SIGHT

London, Dec. 1.—A Noel Coward first night, especially with Miss Madge Titheradge in the leading role, is always an interesting affair from the social point of view alone. And if, in the case of "Home Chat," the brilliance of the play did not quite come up to our expectations, that of the audience did not disappoint us.

Women seemed to predominate, and very comely, beautifully dressed crowd they were. Lady Curzon (the Viscountess) was in the stalls, her lovely fair hair at last sacrificed to the more than ever prevalent shingle. She was shimmering in diamante and looked lovely, while not far from her a plea for the charm of the unshingled was put forward by Baroness Margaretta Palmstierna, effectively dressed in bright green, with her dark hair called low on the nape of her neck, and striking a distinctive note among the shorn beauties around her.

THE GOSSIPERS

Gossip would quite harmless be
If the stories that we tell
Were of virtues that we see
In the folk that round us dwell;
If the news we spread were of
All the good things that we hear,
Things of kindness and of love,
Things of helpfulness and cheer,
If a gossip I must be,
That's the kind, I'm sure, for me.

AN AGING EXPERIENCE

On board an outgoing liner for Canada were two Scotsmen. The weather was very rough, and the result a few days. When he appeared again on the promenade he had a most woe that one of them was laid up for a begone expression on his face, so much so that his friend exclaimed: "Mon, Jock, yer lookin' years aulder than ye did when ye left Greenock." "Hoots, wonder," replied Jock. "I've had aer eral 'berth-days' since then!"

A Jew arrived in Aberdeen to start a business. On getting out of the station he saw a gentleman feeding a hen with the leavings of his home's breakfast. It was too much for Ikey. He took the next train home. While journeying down the coast he got into conversation with a stranger. They observed a steamer on the horizon. "That frae Aberdeen," marked the stranger. "How do you know?" asked Ikey. "There's nae gulls following it," was the stranger's reply.

Poems Old And New

OVERDUE

Across the ocean, in the sunset glow,
There came to me, borne on a fav'ring wind,
A little ship, which sailed so long ago
That I had ceased to hear its name in mind.

I stood with beating heart and watched it make Full gallantly its way towards the land
I loved is most, methinks, for old times' sake—
To me it had seemed lost for evermore.

The joy within my heart rose ever higher,
I said, with downbent head and quivering lips,
"Heav'n send to longing folk their hearts' desire"
And bring to harbour all their lingering ships."

Fanny Hurrell.

HUMANITY

Here is a shop of wonderment,
Prom every land has come a prize.
Rich spices from the Orient,
And fruit that knew Italian skies.

Perhaps he lives and dies unprained,
This trafficker in humble sweets.
Because his little shops are raised
By thousands in the city streets.

Perhaps Fame thinks his worried eyes
His wrinkled, shrewd, pathetic face
His shop and all he sells and buys
Are desperately commonplace.

Well, it is true he has no sword,
To dangle at his booted knees,
He leans across a slab of board
And draws his knife and slices cheese.

His world has narrow walls it seems;
By counters is his soul confined,
His wares are all his hopes and dreams
They are the fabric of his mind.

Yet in a room above the store
There is a woman—and a child
Pattered just now across the floor;
The shopman looked at him and smiled.

And when the long day's work is done
How slow, the leaden minutes pass
Home with his wife and little son,
He is no huckster, but a man.

And in his little shop, who knows
What bitter games of war are played
How daily on each corner grows
A foe to rob him of his trade.

What if no trumpet sounds to call
His armed legions to his side:
What if to no ancestral hall
He comes in all the victor's pride?

This man has home and child and wife,
And battle set for every day;
This fane has God and love and life;
This stands; all else shall pass away.

O Carpenter of Nazareth,
Whose mother was a village maid,
Shall we, your children, blow our breath
In scorn of any humble trade?

Have pity on our foolishness,
And give us eyes that we may see
Beneath the shopman's clumsy dress
The splendor of humanity!

Joyce Kilmer.

Let Me Tell You

Fine ashes are excellent for polishing steel articles.

Jugs in which milk is kept should be scoured with salt at least once a week.

Boil the onions in their skins, then just slip into cold water and you will be able to pull off their jackets in a jiffy.

As a pound of print butter measures exactly two cups, the easiest way to measure one is to cut the print in two.

Turnips, if cooked a short time in boiling water without onions are delicious if based with rich cream sauce and strips of pimento.

A LEATHER REVIVER

Mix one part of best vinegar to two parts of linseed oil. Shake well together, and apply with a soft rag, after wards polish with a soft duster

BASKET CHAIRS

To clean basket chairs scrub them thoroughly with hot soapy water, then rinse in clear water to which a little salt has been added. This tends to stiffen them.

INDISPENSABLE BORAX

Borax has become almost an indispensable an article in every household. Its salt and pepper. Stains upon tablecloths may be readily washed out. borax is put in the water. A little borax water boiled in the coffee pot twice a week for fifteen minutes sweetens and purifies it.

WHEN BUYING GROCERIES

Buy in large quantities if it is profitable, as it is cheaper. Candles and soap improve with keeping. Oatmeal quickly loses its strength. It should always be kept in an airtight tin. Taste does not keep too long, and coffee loses its flavour if kept too long. Avoid tinned goods with bulging sides.

Schoolboy Howler

A Conservative is a sort of greenhouse where you look at the moon.

Mr. Bennett is described as taking the "reins of office." That must be for rural sections. In cities they will say "at the wheel" and at the coast he will be pictured as "the new helmsman."

They say there's no word in the English tongue,
That will rhyme with the little word "month".
I tried and failed a hundred times
But succeeded the hundred and oneth.

In the inimitable city of New York an industrious hard-working 19-year-old boy, who was so indiscreet as to fall asleep in a subway after an exceptionally hard day's work, has been sent to jail for three months. If he had only murdered his mother in cold blood, been guilty of grand larceny or staged a champagne bathing party with perjury and all the trimmings his chances of release would be much rosier."

A PAIR EXCHANGE

"As Adam slept, so runs the story,
An operation quite ungory
Was by the Lord performed on him,
He lay down fat, but woke up slim.
One of his ribs he seemed to miss,
And where around he then did twist
He got a pleasant, rare surprise,
His rib had teeth and tongue eyes,
And skin, and hair, and all the things
Of which the most blithely sings!
Was Adam elated? You bet your life!
He lost a rib—but he found a wife!"

HOME AND LOVE

Two things alone of comfort and delight
Fill the human hearts, where'er
they chance to roam—
Love the compassionate, and one small fire
That beacons through the night with call of Home.

Home and sweet Love—no other

Aluminum Playing Cards.

A new invention of interest to card-players has just been patented in Virginia—hards consisting of aluminum and celluloid, which will last a long time and withstand grease. The cards can be easily cleaned. Two leading firms however, which produce the usual cards, are afraid of competition, and demand that the existing tax on cards should be increased in accordance with the lasting capacity of the new cards, since otherwise the Finance Minister might be the losing party!

LEGEND OF THE "MUM."

Chrysanthemum is in all its glory now, but I, wonder how many of my readers know of a curious legend that is attached to this wonderful flower? The Three Wise Men coming near Bethlehem wondered greatly what should be disclosed to them. There was no excitement among the people to denote a strange event; there were no welcoming sounds of music, dancing or feast. All was silent and gloomy when at a word from Melchior the others stood still. "It is the star," he cried, "for look! here is a flower, rayed like the star that has guided us, and which is even now hanging above our heads."

As Melchior bent to pick it, the stable door opened of itself, and the travellers entered in. Melchior placed the white chrysanthemum in the hand of the new-born Babe and all went to their knees.

A story has been going the rounds of the French press, and has been even printed in England that Field Marshal Lusdendorff has changed his religious faith. He has become dissatisfied with German Lutheranism But does not mean that he has gone over to the Catholic Church, or be come a convert to theosophy or Christian Science? Not in the least. He has simply decided to go back to the old German worship of Odin.

This might be his latter-day version of the cry about "our old German God" which was so often raised in the early days of the war. Anyhow if the story is true, the Field Marshal has gone back to the primitives with a vengeance. It is much as if Lord Hai'g should resolve to become a Druid or General Pershing should set up a totem-pole in front of his house.

Though Ludendorff is no longer in Germany the name is swray by that he once was, he still has considerable influence. Some are wondering if his example may not lead to a revival of the Odin cult. Others, more skeptical persist that the only result will be to discredit entirely the tale about

WOMAN TODAY

A writer in the "London Magazine" thus gives the contrast with twenty-five years ago:

"Take the grawler, and some think, the better half of the race—woman herself. The girl of today is clothed rationally in short, skimpy skirt, smart silk stockings, and a single rush of underwear. Her mother was bewitchingly swathed in two or three petticoats, with, let it be whispered, sometimes 'plus fours' of red flannel, and she regarded silk stockings as only fit for women 'who were not quite nice.'

"I wonder how the sweet young thing of today who plays tennis like a 'pro', swims like a fish, and runs like a deer, would have liked to wear the pinched 'J' shoes of her ma and to wear half a dozen skirts in the briny, or a sort of nightgown that often came down to her heels? I wonder! Why, I have seen the lady tennis champion of that period wear tight stays, a long flannel petticoat, and a sleeve like a lateen sail when playing for her life! There was a widespread idea a quarter of a century ago that women had no legs. They were always close-covered, and were never mentioned in polite conversation."

conversion, which seems to have had its origin in French newspapers. They perhaps concealed their humorous intent under an appearance of gravity which deceived their readers.

Infant Care

Mothers, you can't start too early to establish a child's serene and tranquil disposition. Even an infant can have a happy, restless state of uninterrupted health. What will help do this? A simple, purely vegetable product as old as you are: plain Castoria.

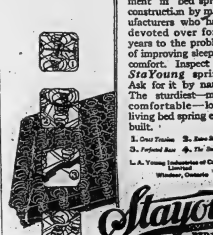

A few drops of Castoria will settle all uneasiness in a fifty. With dispel colic or ward off constipation; and that is surely check diarrhoea.

In real sickness, call a physician. But many physicians urge only Castoria for those little childish disorders that need nothing more. You need never be afraid to give pure Castoria. It is safe and perfectly harmless, for it contains no narcotic, no opiates, no dope of any kind. At least, this is true of the genuine Fletcher's Castoria—and that is the kind doctors tell you always to buy.

Fletcher's Castoria is fine for any child. All children love its take it. Delicious tasting, and as good as it tastes. Just look for the Fletcher signature on the package and you will know you have the genuine and pure Castoria.

"SPECIAL NOTE: With every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" worth it?r weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

NO IMPROVEMENT IN WOOL MILLS

So Says J. A. Burn, President Canadian Woollen And Knit Goods Ass.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—(C.P.)— J. A. Burns, President of the Canadian Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers' Association, in his address to the Ninth Annual National Meeting of the organization here today, reviewing the past 18 months, pointed out that while general conditions in Canada had improved, and while conditions were better in a few branches of their particular industry, on the whole no improvement had been felt by the cloth mills, while blanket weavers, yarn spinners, cashmere hosiery knitters, or the manufacturers of certain classes of knitted outerwear. The bulk of the business was still going to mills in other countries, he said.

"I have been asked why the scaling up of duties in Canada would assist our industry when the woollen and worsted cloth industry in the United States is not protected by their present duties. In the United States the 9 cloth mills occupy 96.8 percent of their market, in Canada our cloth mills occupy 30 percent of the home market; in the United States imports supply only 3.2 percent, of the market, in Canada imports supply 70 percent; in the United States there is enough machinery working single shift at 77.3 percent, capacity to supply their home market, while in Canada there is not enough machinery to supply more than half of the home market, even if working full time single shift. In the United States the problem of the woollen and worsted cloth mills is too much machinery which tariff adjustment cannot cure; in Canada the problem is too great imports which tariff adjustments can cure."

Dealing with the quality of woollen and knit goods produced in Canada and the Association's activities, in bringing them to the attention of the public the president told how a suit length dealer of imported cloth had called at his office, had depreciated Canadian cloth and had said "all cloth was sent out of Canada to be dyed, that the water in Canada was not suitable for dyeing and so on. "Many mills in Canada produce serges equal or better than the sample the salesman showed," said Mr. Burns, "no mills in Canada send cloth abroad to be dyed, indeed cloth comes into Canada from other countries to be dyed, and there is nothing wrong with our water for dyeing purposes."

In order to show the fine quality of woollen and knit goods "produced in Canada "exhibits" were made" at the Canadian National Exhibition in 1925 and 1926, at Ottawa in the spring of 1927 in connection with the Advisory Board on Tariff and Taxation, and at Brandon, Calgary, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Winnipeg this summer. "These exhibits," said Mr. Burns, "proved helpful in exploding that hoary superstition that quality goods are not produced in Canada."

COUGHS AND COLDS DREADED BY MOTHERS

What a weight of responsibility rests on the mother of the family during the cold weather season. In every cough and cold she seems to hear the warning of serious developments. She dreads croup, bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption and realizes that these are the natural results of neglected colds. But Dr. Chase has provided a prompt relief for coughs and colds and a preventive of more serious ailments of throat and lungs, in Mr. Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. This medicine is so well-known that only a reminder is necessary to most people to recall its effectiveness in relieving croup, bronchitis, asthma and all forms of throat and bronchial troubles.

TO USE LIGHTS NOT SEMAPHORES

Old Signal System To Be Displaced By English Railway

London, Dec. 3.— The Southern Railway announced that it is about to embark on an expenditure of $750,000 on the installation of color light signals in substitution for existing semaphore signals. Color light signals consist of powerful electric beams contrasted on the driver's eye which are of great assistance in foggy weather as they can be seen much further away than can semaphore signals.

The new system has been installed during the last year or two at a cost of $900,000 on the Holborn Viaduct to the Elephant and Castle and Charing Cross, Cannon street and Borough Market Junction sections of the line. It has proved so successful that it is held by the railway officials that it is the most efficient method known of dealing with the intensive services which have to be handled in the inner London area, especially in foggy weather. When the work is completed the Southern Railway will have the most extensive installation of multiple aspect color light signalling in Europe, if not in the world.

Two lines are now to be equipped with color lighting signalling. The first portion is the natural extension of the Charing Cross-Cannon street Borough Market Junction reforms completed last year, and embraces the remaining sections of line between Borough Market and London Bridge Station. Includes the Eastern Section Station itself, and continues for about three-quarters of a mile beyond the station to a point just past the position in which the old Spurroad Station stood. In addition the various connections between the Eastern and Central Section lines between London Bridge and those points will be included. This work is estimated to cost about $200,000. The second portion of the scene takes in the Central Station at London Bridge and includes all lines from that terminus down as far as Bricklayers Arms Junction and Old Kent Road. The estimated cost of this scheme is $450,000, and it is hoped to have both sections completed and ready for use by June, 1928.

The first section will be equipped with the four-aspect signals in the same way as the previous sections but on the second portion—that is on the Central section of London Bridge—a modified system will be introduced, and will consist of three-aspect equipment, the signals and their meaning being: "Green, "All right, proceed"; yellow "be prepared to find next signal at danger"; red, "stop".

I.O.D.E. TRIES TO HELP OUT

In Promoting Popularity Of British Kinema Productions In Canada

Toronto, Dec. 3.—The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire is endeavoring by precept and practice to promote the showing in Canada of British films, particularly in view of the fact that at the present time it is claimed that 92 percent of the moving pictures shown in this country are foreign. Not long ago Lady Cowan president of the British Women's Patriotic League, and Chairman of the British Film Committee of Patriotic Societies, toured Canada in support of a propaganda for British films and related Inter-Empire Problems. In an interview with Miss Church, President of the I.O.D.E., Lady Cowan stated that there was no basis in fact for the impression created by film producers in this country that desirable British films were not obtained for Canada but that on the contrary British films beautiful in portraiture, artistic in conception and, wholesome in character were available provided that a sufficiently strong appeal for their use be forthcoming. These include dramatized stories by some of the best known British authors, fine travelogues and charming films of educational value for children.

With the idea of strengthening the bonds that unite all parts of the British Empire by acquainting Britishers with the wonder and extent of the countries under the British flag, and of encouraging home production, an organization has been formed in Canada known as the Canadian Council for Empire Films, with headquarters in Toronto. In connection with this a provisional committee, of which Miss Church, president of the Daughters of the Empire is a member, has been formed pending the organization of a National Committee to include all organizations interested in this project. The first British picture to be presented under the aegis of the new organization is entitled "The Immortals of Bonnie Scotland," which will give pictures of the life of Sir Walter Scott with scenes from his best work and of Bobbie Burns and the scenic inspiration of some of his poems. This production will be followed by other films which are epics of history, such as "The Battle of Falkland Islands," "Gordon," etc.

The Daughters of the Empire have already approved of such British films as the Prince of Wales' Travel film, "Ypres," and others, and are very keen to advance in every way possible the further introduction of British films in Canada, so that the percentage of such pictures may become as great as that of Australia and some of the other Dominions of the British Empire.

Trials Of Indigestion

Learn About This Trouble Into Which People Fall

Many people so far misunderstand the digestive system as to treat it like a machine; neglecting it until it works sluggishly, then irritatine it into work again by the use of purgatives. The stomach needs help at all times, but a study of the process of digestion will show that purgatives, as commonly taken, are seldom necessary and often harmful.

To safeguard your digestion the diet must be controlled. Over-eating is always harmful, but one must select and add enough food to supply the needs of the body. Remember that food is to carry nourishment to all parts of the body and find fuel for its energy. Hence when the blood becomes weak and fails to do its work, indigestion arises. Therefore the sure remedy for indigestion is to build up the blood. If you suffer from any form of indigestion cleanse your diet carefully and take wholesome nourishment. Above all, start building up your blood by taking a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Then study the influence of the new blood supply, your digestive system will respond naturally, your appetite improve and your food will do you good. To begin to improve your digestion by starting to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now.

You can get these pills from you druggist or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The NEW CAR

INTRODUCING A FINE CAR IN THE LIGHT CAR FIELD

THIS entirely new car surpasses the accepted standards of light car accomplishment; sweeps aside all boundaries of price class; establishes a new standard of acceleration, speed, power and smoothness. Heretofore the following characteristics have been combined only in expensive cars.

Speed—better than a mile a minute.

Acceleration—5 to 25 miles per hour in high gear in 9½ seconds.

Endurance—this car will travel all day at 50 miles per hour without strain on motor or chassis.

Riding comfort—flexible springs and four hydraulic shock absorbers permit comfortable travel at high speed over the roughest road.

Roadability—this car's low center of gravity holds it snugly to the road on an unbanked turn even at high speed.

Power—in deep, loose sand with the front wheels cramped and from a dead stop, the car will turn in a tight circle, forward or reverse, without effort.

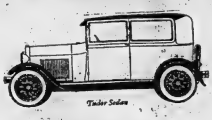

Effective braking—the instant response of mechanical, four-wheel brakes with dual control ensures positive braking for any emergency.

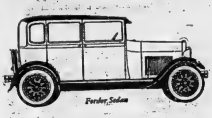

Positive steering control—A relaxed hand on the steering wheel will hold the car steady in loose sand and over bumpy roads. Turning radius 17 ft.

Economy—30 miles per gallon of gasoline, plus the well known economies of Ford car maintenance.

Appearance—coach work of pleasing proportions, tastefully finished in an extensive range of color combinations of durable satin lacquer.

Quietness—Vibration in the engine is practically negligible. New final drive is exceptionally quiet. Double-ply anti-squeak tape, asphaltum treated fabric and hardwood blocks between body and frame minimize body noises.

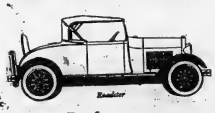

Tudor Sedan

Fordor Sedan

Sport Coupe

Coupe

Phaeton

Roadster

Engine—At 2200 revolutions per minute the new four cylinder engine develops 40 H. P. This revolution speed is low for such power and sets an entirely new standard for light car speed and acceleration, enduring quality and operating economy.

Engine lubrication—Combination of pump, splash and gravity feed thoroughly lubricates all frictional surfaces regardless of road grades.

Cooling system—Combination water pump and Ford thermo-syphon system doubly insures ample radiation. Engine warms up quickly but will not overheat.

Electrical system—The new Ford designed distributor is placed on top of engine permitting direct connection to spark plugs by means of short bronze bands. The single coil is protected by a water proof case. Co-incidental lock on ignition circuit is theft proof. The powerful starting motor and dependable generator are both of Ford design.

Clutch and transmission—Patterned after the famous Lincoln, these units give an operating ease never before found in moderate priced cars. The nine plate multiple dry disc clutch and the selective transmission are designed to make shifting of gears remarkably easy and simple. Getaway, unexcelled by any car made today, is just one of the many advantages. Three speeds forward and one reverse. All gears are made of heat-treated chrome alloy steel. The only light car in which transmission shafts are mounted on ball and roller bearings.

Rear axle—The axle shaft itself carries no weight as the ¾ floating principle places the weight of the car on the axle housing. Flexible roller bearings minimize rear wheel friction. A Torque Tube drive and spiral bevel gear are additional features.

Springs—Transverse semi-elliptic design. Relieved of all driving strain, they perform the sole function of cushioning road shocks. The transverse type of spring helps to prevent a large amount of frame distortion, makes four-wheel brake operation more efficient, gives easier steering and reduces unsprung weight.

Chassis lubrication—Alemite-Zerk pressure system.

HALF OF MOTOR TROUBLE CAUSED BY GREAT COLD

Pines Automatic Winter-front Solves Much Engine Trouble

"You need every bit of heat you can conserve for your engine, during these days," says Mr. Aerotime in advocating the use of Pines Automatic Winterfront, which speeds up the warming process and stands guard over the motor whenever unexpected temperature changes are likely to mean danger.

According to recent findings, over 50 percent of all motor trouble is caused by cold. Sudden changes, an unlocked - for drop in the thermometer, find the motorist unprepared. Manual shutters and radiator covers are troublesome and incompetent. Most people are inclined to wait just a little while before going to the trouble of adjusting and re-adjusting the old-fashioned cover.

That explains the overwhelming popularity of the new Pines Winterfront, which is installed in ten minutes—and then operates without slightest attention a nine part o tithe driver. Put on in the fall, it should be a standard part of the car's equipment until spring is more than anticipated, to avoid all possibility of trouble.

Car manufacturers have found that use of this protective device that works without attention or thought on the part of the driver cuts down repair bills tremendously and gives the car owner a new satisfaction gith his car. It eliminates the necessity of "overchoking" the motor—shortening the "warming-up" period to just a few seconds. Thus—it does away with the biggest cause of fouled spark plugs, dilution, heavy carbon, corrosion and rapid cylinder wear, all of which dangers can be directly traced to neglect of the motor in cold weather. Motorists who have experienced a winter's use of this device strongly urge its installation at 60o Fahrenheit and seldom remove it before late spring.

Anstiine and Sons, Moira St. East, are local Pines Winterfront Dealers.

DUCO FINISH IS REALLY CHEAPER

Surprise your family by treating the old car to a "Duco Finish" for Christmas. It will improve its appearance about a thousand per cent.—for Duco is the one kind of finish that can make it look like new and keep on looking like new.

Possibly you had your car painted last year—an ordinary paint job that most likely looks pretty bad now; but that's the way with every paint job—for Duco is not a paint job but a finish—put on your car as the original finish is applied at the factory—and done locally by experts who can give you equally as good a finishing job as you could secure at the factory.

Isaac Stephenson, in the Greenleaf Building on Station Street is the authorized Duco Refinisher for Belleville and District and is in a position to apply Duco to your car for a comparatively small price. Just because Duco is the best finish doesn't necessarily mean that it can be secured only at a high price.

Duco is not expensive, in the firs place, and its years of wear make it by far the cheapest in the long run. A phone call to Isaac Stephenson at 1587 will give you full particulars about Duco.

WISE ONES HAVE CELLARS FILLED

December—and if by any chance you haven't filled your coal cellar yet, better do so right now. The fact that we have had an unusually mild November, doesn't guarantee that December is going to be so pleasantly mild. One of these days we're going to get about a foot of snow, and if the old coal bin isn't well filled and able to withstand the onslaught you'll be wishing you'd been a little more far-sighted.

Downeys sell that famous D. and W. coal, recognized as a leader in heat value and economy. Phone 149.

NEXT WEEK IS CHRISTMAS WEEK NASH SHOWROOM

Showrooms Nicely Decorated For Special Xmas. Display

Nash "Christmas Week" from December 11—Attractive Showroom Displays by Dealers Throughout Country. Announcement is made that, in keeping with the Christmas spirit, Nash showrooms here and throughout this country have been attractively and appropriately decorated for a country-wide "Give a Nash for a Christmas" week.

Amid Yuletide surroundings "open house" will be maintained by Nash dealers during this period from December 4 to 11 inclusive. The public is invited to visit the showrooms and to inspect at leisure the various models in the Nash line of cars, ranging in price from $865 to $1990 f.o.b. factory.

There are 24 models in the three series of Nash cars, thus affording the Christmas buyer an opportunity to select just the car in keeping with his purse that would "best surprise the family."

It is of further interest that special easy terms for these Christmas purchases have been announced.

The new Nash models on display are distinguished by feature and appointments which make them for the first greatest values ever offered by the Nash Motors Company. Every car in the line is a 7-bearing crankshaft six; all have 2-way 4-wheel brakes, exceptional steering ease, fast pick-up and remarkable riding comfort contributed by new secret process alloy steel springs.

The remarkable performance of these cars is backed by their beauty. Skilful selection of color combined with the finest quality up-holstering and appointments gives each model the beauty and luxury of custom creations.

These features, it is pointed out, make every Nash model eminently suitable as a gift which will provide lasting enjoyment for the entire family.

Among the 11 models three is a car for every taste and purse. The new Nash Ajax Six is a car as a Christmas gift for family who have found in the smaller Nash models of limited passenger capacity a car which is ideal for this purpose, because of the performance and comfort which they offer at low prices.

The local Nash showroom will be open evenings until Christmas, so that everyone in this locality will have the opportunity to thoroughly examine the Nash models for 1928.

FIRESTONE TIRE SUCCESS AIDED BY GUM-DIPPING

Enables Balloon Tires To Give Much Greater Mileage

The question of modern pneumatic tires, on which a good part of the world now rides is not complete without an explanation of the term "Gum Dipping" and its effect on the tire industry.

Gum dipping was introduced by Firestone and is a process exclusive to Firestone tires—a process which has helped Firestone build up its tremendous tire business.

Gum dipping, then, was originally developed to minimumize friction and heat in large truck tires.

By a process of impregnating and insulating the individual fibres and strands of each cord with rubber, the tire is given an additional strength and flexibility which have led to extraordinary increases in mileage in Firestone tires.

So success! l was the process a giving greater dependability and long life to truck tires that it later was adopted for passenger car tires where it proved equally effective in the hardest service.

When Firestone was pioneering the balloon—the Company's most recent and notable success, Gum Dipping, added to the cords the extra strength to withstand the extra flexing strain.

Gum Dipped cords made the low air pressure tire practical, and from the beginning enabled the tires to deliver extraordinary mileage, using operating costs and placing genuine balloons within the reach of the vast majority of car owners.

The Quinte Vulcanizing Company Clcring Deline, Mgr., are local Firestone dealers (Front St., next Queen's Hotel.)

JUMBLED LETTER CONTEST GIVES WINNERS HOLLY'S

Unique Contest By Moores Creates Interest Among Readers

A good many more people know that Moores are agents for the famous Holly's chocolates for Belleville and District than was the case previous to last week, so we venture to "s".

For Moores' Candy Store manufacturers of fine homemade candies, adopted last week a unique means of bringing the fact forcibly to the citizens that they were sole agents in the City for Holly's chocolates. Up-to-date advertisers, they used a method on this occasion which almost invariably proves a favorite with presents, newspaper readers—a contest. There is a lot of fun in a contest of any kind; people like working them out; they get a great "kick" out of do ing them.

And this time, it was a jumbled letter contest—16 letters which, correctly arranged, spelled "Holly's Chocolates" were given and it was up to you to find what they did spell "Holly's Chocolates."

Men, women and children wrestled with it. Some having found it, sent in their solution immediately, without thinking a little extra time or effort or originality spent on it might give their solution a better chance for a prize, for later they stopped to reflect, they might have known that there would be a good many other correct solutions.

But the first prize winner executed an artistic "Holly" sweets design in colors and inserted the words "Holly's Chocolates" in the centre; two or three good poems were submitted, to one of which went second prize, and third was a "Holly's" Candy Box enclosing the solution. The management of Moore's regretted that all of the winning solutions could not be prize winners—but don't give up hope if you weren't successful in winning a prize—perhaps you'll win one next time.

VOTING REPORTED FAIRLY HEAVY AT THREE O'CLOCK

Lost Aviator's Body Washed Up on Shore --- Merger of Retail Hardware Stores May Dissolve

BIG HARDWARE MERGER DUBIOUS

Reports That Cochrane-Dunlop May Dissolve Into Original Parts

WALKER'S INTERESTED

Belleville Store Was One Of Main Links Of The Chain

C. C. Walker and Charles E. Hanna both refused to comment on a story published in the late edition of the Toronto Evening Telegram on Saturday to the effect that the Cochrane-Dunlop Hardware Limited, a large merger of Ontario and Montreal stores might be dissolved. They said that they had received no information from the Head Office in Toronto and were completely in the dark as to what was occuring.

According to the Telegram's story there is considerable likelihood that this important merger with its issue of $2,500,000 first-mortgage bonds will have to be unscrambled. How this will be done and exactly what are the underlying causes are not made public yet. The Walker Hardware company in this city was one of the main links in the chain. This firm was founded in 1328 by Mr. C. C. Walker's father and is recognized as one of the outstanding retail hardware business between Toronto and Montreal. Other firms in the merger are, the Cochrane-Dunlop Hardware Company Limited, Hall-George Taylor Hardware Limited, operating four stores, Frothingham, Starke, Seybold Limited, of Montreal; W. A. Rankin, Limited, of Ottawa; and H. H. Smart, Limited of Brockville.

Bonds Are Sold

A considerable portion of the issue of $2,500,00 of first mortgage 6 per cent. bonds, maturing in 1947, have been sold in Toronto and elsewhere, but not even the definitive bonds have been issued, the holders merely having a receipt for their money. In the event that the consolidation of the several substantial hardware firms included in the merger is abandoned, the purchasers of the bonds will be entitled to have their money back in full from the financial firm that undertook to sell the issue, but they cannot receive the price of 110, at which figure the bonds are sold, because they have never been in possession of these securities.

Apparently a slump in the affairs of Canadian Department Stores, Limited, which was floated by the same promotion house that put out the bonds of Cochrane-Dunlop Hardware Company, is responsible for the confusion in the case of the hardware merger.

Stock Held Heavy Loans

It may be supposed that the unscrambling of such consolidation will prove a costly piece of business in the event that the financial promoters have to pay the commission on all the bonds sold, this will represent a very heavy loss, and there may be large liabilities also to the banks which were gathered together to compose the merger.

BREAD WORKERS SUFFER BY GAS

Three Night Men Taken To Hospital But Quickly Recover

H. A. Seneeal, Jack Bly and Bernard Sayers, three of the night staff at the local Inter-Provincial Bakeries Limited, (formerly the Gilbert Bakery) were overcome by coke gas sometime last night and were taken to the hospital for treatment. They quickly recovered, going to their homes this morning and are again ready for work.

The cause of the mishap is not quite clear. Evidently from some temporary defect in the oven the gas escaped into the room where the men were working. They were discovered unconscious by Superintendent C. G. Lyons who called Dr Van Blaskies and the men were taken to the hospital. Three other members of the staff were affected to a slight extent but not enough to require medical treatment.

Congress Queer At Washington; Many Scandals To Be Aired

Washington, Dec. 5.—New session of Congress, born with every promise of a career of discord and political insurgency, opened today.

With the curtain raised, William S. Vare of Pennsylvania and Frank L. Valth of Illinois were denied, at least temporarily, senate seats to which they aspire. When they presented themselves to take the oath of office the two would-be Senators were stopped by a resolution presented by Senator Norris, Nebraska, declaring them unfit to sit in the Senate because of scandal surrounding their primary campaigns. It was agreed to postpone further action until tomorrow. The Senate also put off until later the election of its secretary and other officers around which another storm is being waged.

TITLE TO LAND BEING DISPUTED

Civil Action Started Claiming Ownership Of Bay Shore Property

The Non-Jury Sittings of the Supreme Court opened before the Honorable Mr. Justice Wright at the court house this afternoon. The list was not down on the docket but some of these will be adjourned or settled.

The first case was a civil action brought by Mrs. Minnie Ketcheson of Sidney Township for the recovery of twelve acres of land along the Bay Shore, west of the city. The case is a complicated one and has been in existance many years ago at the time the late Asa G. Ketcheson died bequeathing his farm to the family. Mrs. Livermore is a sister of the defendant in the action of Harry Ketcheson.

Mrs. Livermore is asking for an order to establish herself as owner of the land. In 1877 a quit claim deed was made but previous to that a trust deed was executed by which the property was conveyed to the trustees.

The question of a title to the land has been contentious since the death of the mother. Harry Ketcheson and a brother James have been in the present occupants. One hundred and seventy-two acres compose the farm. The lots 27 and 28 is the parcel over which the action was instituted. R. D. Ponton acted for the Plaintiffs and G. A. Payne for the defendants.

SKATING SEASON OPENED SUNDAY AT OLD QUARRY

Yesterday was a gala day for a large number of the younger generation of this city when they took possession of the ice at the old quarry on Coleman Flats where they spent the afternoon skating and playing hockey on the open ice lasted.

There was only a thin covering of ice at this pond and great heroism was displayed by the leader of the gang as he made the first venture out from the shore to "see if the ice was safe."

At this pond the first skating of the year is usually done and most of the residents of this city who have good any skating during the score and if half years can recall many pleasant hours spent at the "quarry."

VOTE COMES OUT IN GOOD FORCE

Keen Mayoralty Race Increases Public Interest In Civic Elections

LITTLE BETTING

Supporters Of Various Candidates Feel That Outcome Is Uncertain

Judging from the interest manifested in the civic election up until the noon hour the vote polled in this city contests promises to surpass that of any of recent years.

Aldermanic and Mayoralty candidates were out bright and early this morning making the rounds of the various polling sub-divisions throughout the city. The Council who have served this year have been subjected to a certain amount of criticism on their actions during the term but it is expected that all of the old Aldermen will be re-elected.

A close race in the Mayoralty field is expected and all three candidates were working hard in getting their prospective supporters out to the polls.

Answer Phone Calls

The Intelligencer will supply the latest standing to the citizens tonight by telephone. Results as received at the Intelligencer office by the deputy returning officers will be rushed to the Intelligencer and every members of the Editorial staff will man telephones 1248 and 26 and ratepayers will be given the latest returns. Final results will be bulletined on the street.

Eighteen candidates are in the field for Aldermanic honors with seven of the old body seeking re-election. Five new faces will grace the Council Chamber this year but among the candidates there are several who have given previous services as Aldermen.

There was little wagering on the result of the election this year, the supporters apparently feeling that the race is too close for odds. The most careful as well as the defeated candidates will address the electors in the city hall as soon as the final count is made.

SCHOOL CLOSED AT SPRINGBROOK

Schools and Churches have been closed at Springbrook with the announcement that a case of typhoid fever has been discovered in the village. It appears that several of the children had been invited to the diseased case and in order to prevent a further spread this more was made. The one case of typhoid fever is the only one reported in the district.

SUED FOR $418,000

Government Claims Heavy Sales Tax From Distillery

Toronto, Dec. 5.—Gooderham and Worts are defendants today in an action taken by the Dominion Government in its superior Court, presided over by Mr. Justice Grant at Osgoode Hall for $418,000 claimed by the Department of Inland Revenue as sales tax due on liquor exports. The suit is the aftermath of the Customs inquiry last Spring when the books of the distillers and brewers throughout the country were inspected.

STUCK KNIFE IN HIS LEFT BREAST

Prisoner In Cell Attempts Suicide But Misses His Heart

Wilfred Tessier, alias Wilfred Reed aged 25 years, of the Province of Quebec, while being detained at the Trenton Police Station last evening, awaiting to be taken back to Ottawa to stand trial for passing forged checks attempted to commit suicide by stabbing himself in the left breast with a jack-knife. This morning he appeared before Magistrate J. Rourke, of Trenton, and was given six months in the Ontario Reformatory for the attempt.

Tessier is now being detained in the Belleville jail awaiting word from the respective officials to remove him to Ottawa to face the other charge. His condition is not serious.

Tessier is alleged to have forged checks to the amount of nine hundred dollars in Ottawa, obtaining a ten dollar check four hundred dollars in American Travelers checks; a lady's account worth three hundred dollars, personal clothing to the amount of one hundred dollars and another one hundred dollars cash from a railway agent at Ottawa. When arrested the accused had in his possession a stamping outfit, made at Moncton, N.B., on which was stamped the French "Accepted, Department of Savings."

The arrest was made on the C.P.R. train at Trenton yesterday on word from the Ottawa police officials. Tessier was sitting in the chair car at the time and had every appearance of affluence. He was taken to the Trenton police station and placed in the cell room with several tramps who are numerous at this time of the year about 7.15 last night.

Just after the officer who had been talking to the accused left the cell, Tessier asked one of his cellmates for a knife to sharpen a pencil, and upon receiving same, said:—"Good bye to my family," and plunged the knife into his left breast, but fortunately, about an inch below the heart. The man fell to the floor, losing a quantity of blood before the physician arrived. Dr. Hennessy attended at his side for the balance of the night.

BUSH FIRES RAVAGE CALIFORNIA WOODS

Los Angeles, Dec. 5.—Brush fires which have been raging in four sections of Southern California since last Wednesday, to burn out of control in several places to-day after having destroyed scores of residences, stores and inflicting damage estimated at from half million to more than ten million dollars in the face of efforts by more than five thousand men to stop them. Driving winds which often veered and turned into near gales mocked the tired army of fighters along the extending front and in case the flames threatened to enter the city limits of Glendale, near here, the local Tanee-hall proprietors had as New Year's eve is one time of the year when they reap big profits from the large crowds that attend these affairs. Private parties, of course, will not be interfered with, but any place charging admission to the public will be enforced throughout the province.

FIND BODY OF MISSING COUNT DE LESSEPS IN NEWFOUNDLAND COVE

Disappeared In October While Doing Aerial Survey Work

WELL PRESERVED

Papers In Clothing Pockets Prove Identity Of Lost Aviator

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 5.—Body of an aviator, believed to be that of Count De Lesseps, Canadian flier who, together with a mechanic, has been missing since he started out in a flight from Gaspe Que., last October, was picked up on the shore at Clam-bank Cove, Port Au Port peninsula, according to advices reaching the Deputy Minister of Customs. The body is in care of Rev. Father Pinsault, Port Au Port. Further inquiries are being made by the Department of Justice.

Well Preserved

Sydney, N.B., Dec. 5.—Despatches received here from Agustina, West Newfoundland, stated that papers found on the body discovered yesterday on the shore of Port Au Port peninsula indicated the body was that of Count De Lesseps. Further search along the shore revealed the tent of the Canadian plane or the mechanic who accompanied him. The body found was clothed in a rubber suit and was well preserved, only the exposed parts of the face and hands being disfigured.

Prominent Family

Count De Lesseps was a scion of a prominent French family, his father having been engineer in charge of construction of the Suez Canal. The Count was a pioneer in aviation in Canada and married Miss Grace Mackenzie, daughter of the late Sir William Mackenzie, Canadian railway builder.

Countess De Lesseps resides with her family in Toronto. Count De Lesseps was on aerial survey work when he was reported missing in October last. For several days the Dominion Government and other aeroplanes prosecuted a search for the missing men but found no trace except some wreckage of his ill-fated plane.

COUNTY COUNCIL OPEN TOMORROW

No Important Matters For Discussion At December Session

County Council will open the December sessions at Shire Hall tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. The chief business to be transacted is the hearing of wedding up the current accounts for the year. County Clerk W. N. Nugent said this morning to Intelligencer that there was nothing of special importance for discussion on the slate at the present time. The December session is usually one of the lightest of the year.

The annual Warden's banquet was held at Bancroft early in the summer and the next will be held in August this year. The December session is general by wound up before this month is at an end. The Agricultural Advisory Committee are meeting today preparing the agricultural estimates.

The Public Speaking contest among the children of the schools of Hastings County will be held on Thursday and if is expected that there will be at least fifty contestants competing. Ray Aikin, agricultural representative at Stirling is in charge of this work. Teachers in many of the County Schools have been preparing the kiddies for the contest for the past several weeks.

The young orators made a fine impression last year and many of the members of the Council were surprised at the ability shown. Those competing have already won honors at the various County Fairs under the direction of the Agricultural department.

THE WEATHER

ARRANGED BAIL FOR D. MARACLE

Indian, Held For Attempted Murder, Will Be Allowed Freedom

David Maracle, the Indian residing on the Tyendinaga Reserve who was sent up for trial on a charge of attempted murder by Magistrate Bedford at Deseronto some weeks ago, will be allowed out on bail within a few days.

Mr. W. B. Herrington, of Napanee, Counsel for the accused who is charged with the shooting of Perry Jayrea a deaf and dumb confere made application to Honorabil Mr. Justice Wright at the opening of the non-jury Sittings at the court house here this afternoon for bail. Evidence after bail commitment was placed in the County Jail.

Following Mr. Herrington's application Mr. Justice Wright asked if it is desired itself into the question of recount and defense Counsel replied that it did.

"Is the prisoner able to offer subtsan tial bail?"

"Yes My Lord we can furnish sufficient bail to ensure his appearance at court."

Mr. Justice Wright named $10.000 as the amount, providing it met with the approval of the Crown Attorney. It later said that was satisfactory. Maracle will not face trial until the Spring Assizes.

LOST THEIR GRIPS ON THE WAY HERE

Hard luck is dogging the footsteps of the Revue that is to play a local theatre the first three days of the week. Last night several members of the troupe entered the local Police Station and stated that they had lost some of their paraphenalia, stage props and costumes, etc., on the way from Trenton to Belleville, and asked that the police keep a wary eye open for the missing articles. This morning no trace had been found of the lost suitcases, in which the much-needed stage articles were kept.

CLOSE UP SHARP AT MIDNIGHT ON NEW YEARS EVE

"Public dances and public entertainments of any description will have to close up sharp at midnight on New Years Eve," Chief of Police Kidd told the Intelligencer to-day. Chief of Police Dickson in Toronto has issued instructions to that effect which will be enforced throughout the province.

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

A face that cannot smile, is never good.

MARTIAL.

GERMANY'S PURPOSE

It is clear that German foreign policy is dominated and directed by one purpose, which is the revision of the Versailles treaty of peace. No move of the German government in international politics is made, no speech by any German statesman on foreign affairs is uttered, without that purpose in mind. It is the pivot upon which German foreign policy turns. It was mainly in order to be in a position to further that purpose that Germany entered the League of Nations and took her place on the council. It is with the same object in view that German statesmen and publicists miss no opportunity to protest against the prevailing notion that the German government was guilty of precipitating the great war. In every international conference on which Germany is represented, the same fixed purpose is made evident.

It is therefore not surprising to learn that at this morning's session of the disarmament conference in Geneva the chief German delegate, Count von Bernstorff, took occasion to remark that any study of the means of promoting international peace through the strengthening of international security should of great importance to Article 19 of the League covenant. The report states that Bernstorff's remarks produced a sensation. The reason why is that it was evidently intended to pave the way for a demand for the revision of the Versailles treaty; for Article 19 provides for the reconsideration by the League assembly of treaties which have become inapplicable, for the consideration of international conditions whose continuance might endanger the peace of the world.

If a mere intimation by the German delegate that revision of the Versailles treaty might be called for sometime in the future was sufficient to cause a sensation at the Geneva conference, a great many sensations are due at coming international conferences. For we may be sure that the German people and their representatives will not rest satisfied with the Versailles settlement, which, they claim, was forced upon an unwilling and helpless nation by armed force. The probability is that sooner or later the German purpose will be served, if not completely then in part.

CANADA'S DESTINY

Speeches of the Prince of Wales and Premier Baldwin at the recent dinner given by the Canada Club in London, were noteworthy as reflecting the impressions they gained during their visit to Canada this summer. The Prince of Wales was enthusiastic over the future of this country. Describing what he had seen he added:

"I want these impressions to be shared by many of my own generation in the old country, for Canada, as all of us must see, is on the threshold of one of the most astonishing eras of expansion and development ever seen. How long that will take none of us know, but certainly it will occur in the lifetime of many of us."

Premier Baldwin's speech showed that he shared the view of His Royal Highness, but he went further and added some advice which may well be taken to heart. He said: "May it not be taken as of importance if I say, Canadians, the future is with you. Do not be in too much of a hurry. Your country is for the virile men; let it be filled with the best. What do 100 or 200 years matter before your country is full. Keep the stock you have and the men and women you have, and see that your future generations are in no way inferior to them. Time is on your side. Maintain your values and your standards and may your prayers be that of the Greek sailor which has been preserved by Seneca, 'O God, you may save me if you will; you may sink me if you will; but, whatever happens I will always keep my rudder true.'"

Let us hope that those who are charged with the control of legislation in this country have the same clear views as are shown by these two distinguished visitors. We are marching towards a great destiny but there is real wisdom in the advice to "Make Haste Slowly."

EMPIRE SHOPPING

The council of the Canadian Manufacturers' association, at its meeting in Toronto endorsed the suggestion of "an Empire Shopping week for Canada, to be held in April next. The Mother Country has long been familiar with the plan, having originated it and demonstrate its success. To fulfil its object, however, the dominions must co operate more fully in the effort to produce in British shoppers a psychology which will instinctively give the preference to goods produced within the Empire. The special week to be held in the future will be devoted to the display and sale of British goods in the stores of the cities and towns. It will be a convincing revelation of the ability of the Empire to serve the needs of consumers in every respect. There is no necessity to go outside the Empire to satisfy any buying requirement but it is not the intention to put any narrow restrictions on the freedom of the shopping consumer. The logic of supporting British industry, and especially Canadian industry, however should be sufficiently obvious to appeal to every citizen. The tendency to patronize the foreign market is having very unfavorable results, and if not checked will lead to serious consequences. The Empire Shopping week has been arranged to combat this tendency, and should prove a powerful persuader; to many thoughtless and deceived shoppers who, unwittingly, are acting contrary to their own best interests.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

Everyone lifted in a neighborhood should endeavor to make the community just the kind a new family would like to settle in. Then it will be just right for those already living here. The stress of farming too often takes one's mind off the more important duty—the act of living right

MURALS

By William L. Sidger.

Like murals on the walls of Time;
Like lovely lyrics writ in rhyme;
Like some lost dream of other years,
Mine eyes have seen—this day—through tears;

Long wind-waves on a field of grain
Where sunlight filters through the rain,

White roses washed with wraiths that sing
Through pine trees, ever whispering

Red roses rinsed in rains that flow
Like rivers fed from clouds of snow;

The lacy loveliness of leaves
Stirred by the sunset's fitful breeze;

A small child in a scented bower
Bent low and talking to a flower;

A woman dying e'er her time
Still smiling with a Faith, sublime;

A man who loves her side whose eyes
Through hers look into Paradise;

These are the Portraitures of Fate;
The Images Immaculate;
My murals on the walls of Time;
Life's lovely lyrics writ in rhyme.

THE PASSING YEARS
From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago

Skating is good on the Bay and the young people are beginning to enjoy it

Mrs. Samuel Lazier, Dundas St., has received a telegram from Rochester

9-day skating that Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jary had last this son, Arlington Earl aged 6 years and 3 months.

Mr. Jesse Harlowe, G. T. R. fireman is suffering from paralysis of the face.

Mr. John McMullen, Everett Street is quite ill.

A letter received by Mrs. J. Lake stated that her daughter Mrs. C. Bird and party had a very narrow escape from being burned to death while crossing India, owing to the long grass with grass in that district having caught fire.

The Liberal-Conservative Association of East Hastings will meet at Roslin on the 29th inst., to take measures to select a candidate for the local elections.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

Lawyer: Then you say that this man was drunk?

Witness: I do not. I merely say that he sat in his car for three hours in front of an excavation waiting for the light to turn green.

"Rather a sharp thunderstorm we had last night."

"I hadn't noticed; I was talking with my wife all evening."

From a small school girl's essay on "My Family:"

"In my family there are three of us, my father, mother and me. I am the youngest."

"Your parson seems to be a very dogmatic sort of man, Mr. Verger!"

"No, not very; he's only got two and both of them's mongrels."

The sweet young thing was saying her prayers: "Dear Lord," she cooed, "I don't ask for anything for myself, only give Mother a son-in-law."

No matter how insignificant a man may be, he firmly believes that his sup priority will some day be recognized.

"Mary, You've Put Our Home on a Paying Basis"
MY salary hasn't increased and I know that my expenses are not any less—how do you do it?" John Brent had just been checking up the joint bank account.
"We are saving money now because we are spending systematically," answered Mary. "Now we can afford many things which we never before had the money to buy."
"It means, too, that now we can protect our future with something we never knew we were able to afford —Life Insurance."
The secret of running a home successfully is wise and systematic expenditure of the income. A budget can work miracles in stopping waste and releasing more money for the things you want and feel that you cannot afford.
You will be delighted with our new booklet, "A Budget not a Burden," which shows the remarkable things which can be accomplished with various incomes. In it you will find information that will help you to put your home "on a paying basis."

SIXTY YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE

Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Schryver Celebrate Their Diamond Anniversary.

To have attained sixty years of married life is the rare good fortune of Mr. and Mrs. Simeon W. Schryver who at present are residing with their son, L. R. Schryver, 81 Wellington Dundas Street and today commemorating the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding.

Mr. Schryver was born in West Hastings on a farm known as Schryver Hill 84 years ago and Mrs. Schryver in Ireland 78 years ago. They were married 60 years ago today Rev. Archibald Walker, minister of St. Andrews Church, this city, united in this venerable couple in marriage who are still hale and hearty and whose friends in the Deseronto district were amazed in their honor today. Many relatives and friends extended congratulations after having attained so many years of happy married life and expressed the hope of many more, yet to the aged couple before their union is broken.

The surviving children of Mr. and Mrs. Schryver are Mrs. George Guilfoyle, Dundas Street, this city, Mrs. V. Fair, Guelph and A. H. Schryver, this city.

STORM RAGES OVER ATLANTIC COASTS

New York, Dec. 5.—First memorable storm of the season left a snow, and sleet blanket over the Eastern States and provided a threat of more trouble for all forms of traffic with rain today. Telegraph and telephone wires in many places reached a velocity of more than fifty miles per hour the first mid-day. Either of the season yesterday's area over those States bordering the North Atlantic coast and swelled its delay to railroads and ocean shipping. Little relief was promised before tomorrow when the storm, which swept north from the Carolina coast, was due to leave the Atlantic.

DISSATISFIED WITH U. S.

Canberra, December 5.—Sir Hugh Denison, Australian representative to the United States, appointed only last year, has resigned. He is understood to have expressed grave dissatisfaction at Premier Bruce resenting the recent action given the Australian representative by American officials, especially with regard to the facilitation of trade.

SPOKE AT ROTARY

Gordon Conant

Ex-Mayor of Cobourg, a leading barrister of that city and Vice-President of the Rotary Club who was the guest speaker at Belleville's Rotary luncheon today.

CONANT TALKED WORLD AFFAIRS

Oshawa Man Discusses International Relations—Peace Factors

Some vitally important economic facts, important to Canadians if they desire the predominance and union of the British Empire to hold out, were driven home by Rotarians at Belleville weekly luncheon today by Gordon Conant, vice-president of the Oshawa Rotary Club, one of the leading barristers of the city, ex-mayor of Oshawa, and a member of the water commission for many years, guest speaker at the luncheon.

Seldom, if ever, have Rotarians been privileged to hear such a splendid address, and Mr Conant seems to understand international affairs in fact as well as being able to make others understand them.

International Situation

Mr Conant took for his subject the present International situation, and the challenge of the United States to Great Britain and Canada. "If I understand correctly," he said, "we need upon naval supremacy," stated the speaker in an address extremely forcible address. "It would be impossible and hopeless for Great Britain to equal, much less exceed the naval powers of the United States. We don't quarrel with this attitude of the world to prevent them. Economically, the United States is the greatest entity of the world today, and should be encouraging the money-lending nation of the world, a place recently held by Great Britain. The Americans lacked, on the time after the war—lack of financial experience, but is international experience, and they had to write millions of dollars off their books and now they lend their money through the lesser experience of England."

Continuing, Mr. Conant stated: "The United States today is the greatest source of world power, because not exploiting the League of Nations. The United States, if they ever wish to collect the money they have lent will not go to war, as they would most certainly lose by doing this. John Bull need to be known as the Bulldog of the world, and if the United States is to become the banker of the world as she must also become the policeman of the world. The States in building up their navy, is one of the greatest assurances of continued peace that there is.

Peace Conference

"The three greatest factors of peace today," stated the speaker, "are Great Britain, the United States, and Canada, many Germans believe that the future lies in the hands of Germany economically, and Mr. Conant considered. "The only way to effect international peace is by policeman of the world, and saw it the United States be so. I do not like this international policeman, but the will have to keep the peace if there ever has any hope of collecting his debts."

"But we are concerned in Canada, with the greatest peace that has existed in Canada and the British Empire. The British Empire is founded on sentiment and sentiment alone. The sentiment in Canada is predominant there is no act of Parliament in connection with Great Britain. The relation will arise a quarter of a century from now when the numbers and these people from Central Europe have filled the Canadian land together. Over crowding in the States will send her citizens to Canada, and we cannot expect them to have any other sentiment by the British connections."

Capital Loaned

"There is a large accumulation of capital in Canada by the United States. Over half of our manufacturing is controlled by the United States. Loans need not unless the British Empire between the States with trade relations as between the 48 States, it will disintegrate."

"Canada must undertake the defence of the Empire. We have to go to John Bull and say we will do it to a man. We have the continuance of this country which must it is up to us now."

The sacrifices of some of our trade under the British flag."

MANY YEARS IN BUSINESS HERE

P. J. Wims, Former Belleville Man, Died Suddenly In Montreal

Much sorrow was caused in this city yesterday afternoon when the news reached here announcing the sudden death of "P. J." Wims, a former well known and prominent merchant of this city.

The late Patrick Joseph Wims was born in the County of Niles, Ireland sixty-seven years ago and came to Canada on the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wims of this city. He received his early education in Montreal about seven years and then entered the employ of the dry goods department of the Rathbun Company at Deseronto where he remained for several years after he opened a store at that town which he successfully conducted for some time, removing later to Belleville where he carried on successfully carried on a dry goods business at that town for a number of years.

In the fall of 1904 the late Mr. Wims came to Belleville and purchased the block now occupied by the Walker store and for about ten years was in business there. In 1912 the deceased disposed of his business and property to Mr. William Herbert and removed to a business at Outremont Montreal and after putting that store on a paying basis, left it in charge of his eldest son, the late William E. Wims' return to Belleville about two year later and re-establishing the business remained by Mr. F. B. Wetten, remained in Belleville about four years when upon the death of his son in Montreal, he went there to look after his affairs and with his family returned to Montreal, where at the time of his death he was engaged in the insurance business.

During the late Mr. Wims' residence in this city, owing to his happy, genial disposition, he made a host of friends who will mourn with his family in their hour of sorrow.

After the closing of the Armistice his second son who had served in the Great War, was seized with the "flu" in Glasgow, Scotland, which proved fatal and within the next few months the eldest son died in Montreal, a blow from which the deceased never fully recovered. Some three years ago he with Mrs. Wims made a visit to Scotland to visit their son's grave and also visited his former birthplace in Ireland. While a resident of Belleville the deceased was the Sunnite School representative on the School Board. He was a member of the Methodist and Columbus and St. Michael's Church, both in this city and Montreal.

The late called upon to mourn the death of a loved one are the sons-in-law, Alexander Reade Kerr, W. Alexandres and Campbell-ford, ex-Mrs. Alexander and P. J. Wims, Montreal; four brothers, Mines Mac Grace, Jessie and Margaret all o Montreal, also two brothers, Thomas of this city, and John, of Fort Frances Ont.

Market Shows Up

New York, Dec. 5.—Early irregularity in today's stock market gave way to a period of heaviness, when was featured by a sharp recession in Chrysler shares. Selling was for both accounts and included pools identified with recent spectacular advances. Recessions of four points in some of recently strong industrials were not uncommon.

Trading showed a marked falling off in the volume of orders received from other forms of adverse legislation in long quarters, abandonment was reasonably expected by the end of the week. Lower rate schedules likely to be adopted by the general session, 37th day's business were also largely favorable to the stock market including another advance in the price of steel products and reports of increasing emphasis for railroad equipment.

POLICE COURT

Christmas In Jail

Christmas in jail is not a pleasant prospect, but George Belcher, well-known man about the city, will have no special his Christmasdate in the warm home provided for wrong-doers in the County of Hastings, situated on the high hill on Pinnacle street.

George Belcher, it is alleged, got "right" on Saturday evening and was not lucky enough to elude the ever-vigilant eye of the local police, who was arrested and this morning appeared before Magistrate Mabel and was sentenced to two months in jail.

Belcher pleaded with the presiding chair to give him a better sentence, but the Magistrate coolly informed him that two months was the minimum term that could be given for the offence he pleaded to, and that was the sentence he received.

Another case this morning did John Brown, charged with driving a car while drunk, his second offence within a year. Magistrate Mabel informed him that he could leave to be prepared to cool time next week.

PICK DELEGATES FOR PARLIAMENT

PRIME ESSENTIALS TO HAPPY WEDLOCK

By LOUIE R. BISCH

It is mighty easy to give advice about marriage. It is one of those things easier to preach about than to put into actual practice.

The difficulty seems to be the love element. If we think about marriage in a purely cold, detached way we are less likely to fall into error, but there-by, at the same time, we are also likely to leave love almost completely out of the reckoning.

Love is beautiful. It is the most wonderful value life has to offer.

If not, then the most beautiful thing turns into the most torturing and sometimes the most hideous.

You truly love another when your happiness is crowned by the feeling that you give happiness, peace and help—but, above all, happiness—to that other person whose character, disposition and presence in turn give you happiness.

That is true and lasting love and not mere ephemeral and hollow infatuation.

Marriage based upon that kind of love is likely to last. It is based on the character, disposition, and the mutual feeling that the contracting parties engenders.

It is not mere sex appeal. It is not only a question of a home and home-cooked meals.

It is not even a love that carries with it the idea of children alone.

Base and sensible love, in other words, is what is needed for successful marriage.

We must not let our emotions run away with us no matter how enticing such a prospect may be.

To be so completely in love that you are unable to think of anything else but the person you love used to be considered an ideal state.

To reason too much and to be cautious about marriage was not considered desirable.

Both over-idealized states of mind entrancing though they may be are not, however, the foundation upon which happy and lasting marriages can or should be built. A little common sense should always be mixed with it. Not too much, for then marriage may degenerate into a convenience arrangement in which gross materialism plays the biggest part and pushes love completely aside.

Just enough common sense to stabilize the marriage, that is all that is necessary.

Fairly long engagements, therefore have much in their favor. Young people contemplating marriage should first become thoroughly acquainted with each other before they run to the license bureau.

Especially important are character traits. Remember that habits are changeable but that they are not always so readily changeable.

When in love, all that seems so simple. We feel quite willing to change and we believe the person we love will likewise be willing to change to suit us.

That is what we think. But when the first heat of love cools, nothing is more natural than to return again to the old habits. Then the trouble starts in earnest.

Don't think either that divorce solves all your difficulties if marriage fails. If you have truly loved, divorce will only make the pangs of your heart all the greater.

Divorce may give you physical freedom. But how often does it give you spiritual freedom?

Don't marry with any reservations of any kind. Take time to think it all out first. Discuss it with the one you love. Discuss it with your parents and friends, if need be.

Try to get outside of yourself and see yourself in relation to the man or woman you are about to marry in a sane, sensible, common-sense manner.

What marriage needs is perspective beforehand.

Almost always the perspective comes too late.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

What would be an appropriate gift to give my friend who is graduated from high school?

MARY.

MARY: Any impersonal gift, such as books or a fountain pen, would be appropriate

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I'm a girl of twenty and am in love with a boy six months older.

But here is my fear, he has asked me to marry him and is awaiting my answer. But he has a mother to consider.

I think it would be wise for us to wait at least another year before thinking of marriage, but I am afraid he won't think so. Mother says if he loves me, as he says, he will be willing to wait.

But how can I explain it to him without hurting his feelings?

CONSTANT READER.

CONSTANT READER: You are both under age, my dear, and you could explain to him in a very nice way just what your mother's wishes are in the matter. If, as your mother says, he loves you truly he will be more than ready to bow to her wishes. I am sure you will be able to make an explanation which will in no way hurt his feelings. You don't need to mention the fact of ages at all—simply say that your mother wishes you to wait for one year at least and that you think you should do as she asks.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

The rain was falling drearily on the thatched roof of a shabby inn on the outskirts of a little village. Gathered about a table, in a room lighted by guttering candles, was a group of forms. The room reeked with the men and girls wearing sodden and stuffy scent of wet clothing, and cigarette smoke hung like a sullen cloud above the long table that was spread with a supper of ragout of beef, bread cheese and vin du pays. But there was champagne, too, golden and sparkling, in the thick, none-too-clean glasses. There was champagne to toast the bride-to-be.

Lila was the bride-to-be!

The morrow was to be her wedding day, and the party tonight was in celebration of the great event. Jack Farquahar's brother officers were guests. Lila, who had been transferred to France and was driving an ambulance in the war-zone as coolly as she had driven her car through the streets of New York, had invited several girls of her division to be present. The supper was rather impromptu; there was to have been a more formal dinner the next day, after the wedding, but, with the darkness and its accompanying storm, had come a message from headquarters, ordering, as the night itself, Beyond regiments were moving up, and some of Jack Farquahar's brother officers would not be there on the morrow; hence the hasty gathering.

"Lucky chap!" they said to Farquahar. "While we are in the trenches you will be honeymooning. Well boys, here's to our bride.

Lila heard one of the girls beside her whisper:

"Death!"

She shuddered. She knew the secret of which these gay laughing men were going. It was a death-trap. There were rumors that her ambulance corps was moving up very shortly. But there was time yet, some to live for a little while—and to love.

She remembered how handsome Jack Farquahar had looked that night. Reckless, laughing, the gayest of the gay. She remembered the flash of his gray eyes, the grace of his lithe body, the debonair, jauntiness of him. He was born, wet uniform and muddy boots.

She should almost feel the warm, firm clasp of his hand. It sent a thrill through her to remember that. She felt disloyal to Herbert an dput the memory from her.

But there was no forgetting the denouement of that evening. Jack was on his feet to reply to a toast. She could see his face in the flickering light of the candles. For an instant it wasn't laughing. There was reckless challenge in his manner, but his voice, quiet and steady, cut through the silence and held it from speechless. For he said, looking at her:

"Lila, will you drink this toast with me, not as a toast, but as a pledge? Will you stand here, with your hand in mine, and swear before these good and true friends of ours that, when this war is over, you will marry me; that you will keep yourself for me, no matter what transpires, no matter what time intervenes, no matter what circumstances separate us?"

In the silence that followed, the officers and girls stared at one another. The flickering light made their astonished faces seem grotesque.

Frightened and bewildered by Jack Farquahar's intensity, Lila stammered:

"I—don't understand. We—tomorrow—"

He took both her hands and lifted them to his lips.

"Tomorrow, my sweetheart, I shall be in the trenches. I couldn't bring myself to tell you before. I got my orders tonight."

The gay party took on a sudden solemnity; there was something almost sacr-inspiring about it. Lila stood beside Jack, her hand in his, her face raised in the pledge for which he asked. It seemed as solemn as a marriage ceremony, as vital, as binding. For it was made almost in the presence of Death. Before many days, some of that company would have followed the ghastly trail over the horizon.

Jack Farquahar had followed it, less than three days later. Only—Lila hadn't been sure of that for five years.

He had gone at midnight with his command. Lila alone had watched the rainy dawn of the day that was to have been her wedding-day. A blouse and skirt, he wore a blue-smock-week later the ambulance corps was on the move. No news from Jack Farquahar. Months dragging by. Lila living with her promise. If he were alive, nothing should keep her from him when this inferno of war was over. Then he was reported missing. After that, no news. Years passed, grew dim. New interests, new people. Memory fades. Events, people, pledges. The past is dead. So is Captain Farquahar. Then—Herbert! Love real, demanding eternal!

"O, Herbert, there has never been any one but you."

The truth?

"Yes!" cried her heart. "Yes, yes yes!"

—her "badge of the dilettante," as she called it. "His self-respecting artist would be caught dead in one," she always said.

She leaned forward and kissed Lila. "Be careful you don't get spoiled," she laughed. "I'm a mess, and you look like the latest thing from Paris! Lila removed her wrap and revealed herself in one of her prettiest trousseau frocks.

"I didn't sleep a wink," she remarked, as she drew off her gloves. "And I thought Herbert would never leave this morning. I think my manner aroused his suspicions. Yesterday he was terribly short getting to the office, but this morning—" She shrugged. "Where is the fatal letter?"

Dorothy unlocked a cabinet and drew forth a long envelop bearing the official letterhead of the War Department.

Lila tore it open with trembling fingers.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

Empty the carpet sweeper on a damp newspaper to prevent the dust from scattering.

Wax the bottoms of your rockers and they will not make marks on the hardwood floors.

Most housewives use an electric iron for their laundry work. But do they all arrange their ironing boards so that it is possible to sit down to iron all their things? It is certainly a saving in energy and a needed rest for tired feet.

A SCRIPTURE CAKE

In this the season of recipes, the following has been handed to the "Intelligencer." As well as supplying a very fine cake, it will furnish a test for us to determine how familiar we are with Holy Writ, as each ingredient mentioned appears in the verse and chapter designated.

1 1-2 cups Leviticus 2—2	flour,
1 cup Genesis 18—8	butter,
2 cups Jermiah 6—20	sugar,
2 cups First Samuel 30—12	raisins
2 cups Nahom 3 —12	figs
2 cups Numbers 17—8	almonds,
1 table spoons Proverbs 24—13	honey,
1 pinch Leviticus 2—13	salt
6 Jerimeah 17—11	eggs,
1-2 cup of Judges 4—19	milk,
1 tablespoon Amos 4—5	soda

Season with 2 Chronicles 9—9 spices.

THE ATONEMENT SPEAKER'S THEME

Dr. A. L. McCrimmon Spoke At 54th Baptist Anniversary

BOTH SERVICES

Ex-Chancellor Of McMaster Preached Both Morning And Evening

Both morning and evening services at the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church were well attended to celebrate the 54 the anniversary fo the founding of the church and one of the best speakers in this country, Dr. A. L. McCrimmon, ex-chancellor of McMaster University, preached eloquent sermons at these services. Dr. McCrimmon is no stranger to Belleville people. But it seems that one never tires of his splendid oratory, his masterful learning and his wonderful command of the English language. For nearly forty minutes yesterday morning Dr. McCrimmon held his hearers spell-bound as he preached his sermon on the Atonement and its relationship to church life and individual spirituality, taking his text from the 53rd chapter of Isiah.

"It is a great thing for the men of McMaster University to go out and know Christ and His Atonement," said Dr. McCrimmon in opening his discourse. "I preached the gospel forty-five years ago, and I preach it now. That is the fundamentalism that I preach. I believe in a dignified deference of the faith and the best deference is a constructive message of our Lord Jesus Christ."

"You cannot fathom the depths of the mind of God," continued Dr. McCrimmon, "you are finite and God is infinite. You cannot know the secrets of God in toto. You get to know those which are necessary for your soul's salvation. The gospel is the unsearchable readings of Christ and the mystery of Godliness is great."

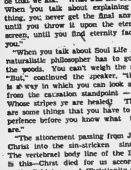

"To bring to you the old message the atonement of Jesus Christ, where Jesus' blood washed my sins away—to come once more and think of the great influence it had upon your life—to fire you with ambition for the advancement of the Church—that you will go out a better Christian, one in unity with your brethren, to work together, for you to be an instrument in God's hands, that is my purpose!"

"Are you going to God's chambers empty handed?" went on the doctor. "It is for you to give Jesus Christ a chance."

"He, by whose stripes you are healed! We want to know what caused all these things, we want to understand, no matter what the things may be that we ask. What was the cause? When you talk about explaining a thing, you never get the final answer until you come it upon the eternal screen, until you find eternity facing you."

"When you talk about Soul Life the naturalistic philosopher has to go to the woods. You can't weigh the soul "Hal," continued the speaker, "there is a way in which you can look at it. From the naturalism standpoint — By Whose stripes ye are healed! There are some things that you have to experience before you know what they are."

"The atonement passing from Christ into the sin-stricken sinners The vertebrel body line of the Church is this—Christ died for us according to the Scriptures. A Christianity with out a dying Christ is a dying Christianity. Jesus Christ was not a mythical personage. If you go into early historians they write of Christ. He was the real historical being who came into this world."

PARIS HAD A ROYALTY WEEK

Blue-Bloods All Visiting At The Same Time

Paris, Dec. 2.—Versailles has had a really royal week. First King Fuad of Egypt, stayed at the Trianon hotels before he made his state entry into Paris in a gaily decorated and befla gged electric train.

Then on the two following days hundreds of people flocked from Paris and other parts of France to the reception given by Queen Amelie of Portugal at her Chateau de Bellevue in honor of the engagement of her niece, Princess Aiden of France. The Duchess du Guise and Queen Amelie received beneath a velvet canopy at the end of one of the drawing-rooms. As each guest entered at the door, one of a band of young men, each with fleur-de-lys in his buton-hole asked the name. This he gave to the Duchess of Guise's lady-in-waiting who called it out as the guest approached the royal ladies. Then came three curtseys or bows, and the most gracious accueil.

The Duchess de Guise has much of the graceful stateliness of her sister, the Duchess d'Aosta, the bridegroom's mother. The bride made the happiest impression. She is pretty, very grace ful, and has a captivating smile.

"Oh! This wonderful atonement!" exclaimed the speaker. "It was in Christ's heart before it was manifested It is a God centred religion. Jesus came into this world, became obedient unto death, went about His work, and those that were His own received Him not. The great tragedy in your life will be if you pass through your life without finding God." Dr. McCrimmon then described the last hours of Jesus Christ.

"I pity the man or woman who has not had the experience of being gripped by the Eternal. This is the atonement — By Whose stripes ye are healed! Even though you be a man the way of salvation is plain. There are thousands of things every day that you act upon that you don't understand. That was my first point. Many a man wants to fathom the Eternal Mind before he accepts salvation. It is the experience that proves the thing. Religion is an experience Jesus Christ saves the Soul, the atonement is efficacious. Trust and see. Trust the Lord and see how good He is!"

"Do you believe the Bible?" "For "God Himself manifested His word in Jesus Christ, dying for you and for me. I preach the old gospel, as we have said before. What place has Jesus in your thinking and what place has He in your life? I say to you that if you have not a hold upon the eternal, then you are missing the centre of religion."

Thus Dr. McCrimmon finish ed of the best sermons that has ever been preached in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, in any church as far as this goes. The doctor also spoke again in the evening.

ANCIENT WOMEN HAD SAME HOPE

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 1.—The modish woman of ancient Egypt had all the equipment of the modern woman to beautify herself and more. Recent excavations of Egyptian palaces and homes, Mrs. Walter Nowak, of the Egyptian section of the University of Pennsylvania Museum said, had revealed many varieties of cosmetics similar to those used by the modern woman.

"These cosmetics," said Mrs. Nowak "were so carefully prepared and such fine material that large quantities have been preserved down through the centuries.

"The Egyptian woman had all the modern woman's equipment to beautify herself and many additional secrets unknown to us. In addition to liquid, and paste rouges and eye preparations the modish woman of Egypt used carefully prepared oils in order that her skin might have an added lustre.

SUCH A STORM YEARS AGO TOO

Fuss Was Raised In Church Sixty Years Ago Also

London (By Mail)—Regarding the storm of ecclesiastical criticism by which the recent utterances of Dr. Barnes, the Bishop of Birmingham, have provoked, the main thing which is forced upon the mind of the man in the street is that, allowing only for changes of the times and the manners of mankind, there is very little difference, when questions of theology are at issue, between the temper of the present day and the days of the Protestant Elizabeth and the Catholic Mary. Both sides appear, at all events on paper, to hate one another for the love of God.

Not for 50 or 60 years, when Bishop Colenso of Natal (and Arithmetic) fame was the storm centre, has the "odium theologicum" had such a really fine time. Bishop Colenso in his day, as is Dr. Barnes in this, was called upon by his opponents to resign his See. To this demand Colenso replied, according to a skit of the day, as follows:

My Lord Archbishop, to resign
This Zulu bishopric of mine,
And own myself a heathen dirk
Because I've doubts about Noah's ark
And publicly to tell all men so
Is not the thing for—Yours Colenso.

"The reason that the woman of Egypt passed so many hours before the altar of beauty was that she was not permitted to work or participate in sports like the modern girl. Almost her entire day was occupied beautifying herself for the magnificent banquets that were the nightly pastime of the Egyptian social set."

BELLE THEATRE

Because of the popularity of the team of John Gilbert and Renee Adoree, who flash Fox has revived ice cream hit of a few years ago, "Monte Cristo", from the pen of Alexandre Dumas, in which these two stars play the leading roles. It will be shown for three days starting today at the Belle Theatre.

It is probable that no work of modern authors is as well known to the present-day followers of fiction and the drama as this immortal tale of adventure, despite the fact that it was written nearly a century ago. It has been filmed many times throughout the world and has been translated into virtually every language. The late James O'Neill played the role of Edmond Dantes, the leading character of "Monte Cristo," for more than a quarter of a century, presenting it in all the small towns as well as in all the big cities throughout the world. There is no possible way of tabulating the number of persons who saw the play. Supplementing this the William Fox screen version of the novel has been shown in all the countries of the globe, proving just as successful abroad as in this country.

John Gilbert and Renee Adoree first won public popularity in this attraction and since then they have soared in such pictures as "The Big Parade," and other notable successes.

REGENT THEATRE

Psychologists say there's something about a high hat that makes ballet boys want to dance snowballs at it. It is just as true that there is something about "Time to Love" the Paramount feature at the Regent Theatre today that makes everybody want to throw bouquets at Raymond Griffith, its star. "Time to Love" is Raymond Griffith's funniest comedy.

The high hat comedian makes this story by Alfred Savoir, the famous French playwright, virtually a bonanza of laughing gas. For balloons provide him with the final, hilarious soup tone that brings the picture to its laughing climax.

Raymond has run away with the young Countess, played by Vera Voronina, and to escape from his pursuers, led by her murderous suitor, William Powell, he and the girl get into a laundry hamper. The hamper turns off to be the basket of a captive balloon. Before they realize their danger, they are high in the air, and soldiers on the ground are firing at them. Their attempts to escape and their final descent by a parachute bring the story to its merry close.

25 SHIPS WINTER AT KINGSTON

Kingston, Ont., December 5.—There will be at least seventy-five vessels in port for the winter months, the last of which will be in by next week. The Canada Steamship Lines have thirty-five; Carter Wood Line, two; Canada and Ferdon Line, three; Tree Line Company, nine; and Key Line, six. The balance are individual craft and the local steamers.

IT'S EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAYING HAIR

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients at any druggist, for only 75 cents at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

HOCKEY MEETING IS POSTPONED

City League Reorganized At "Y" On Thursday Night

Owing to the fact that a baseball meeting has been called for tomorrow evening the managers of the city hockey league teams have postponed their gathering until Thursday night when it is hoped that every Industrial firm or Club in the city who desires to enter will have one of their members present. Practically every Industrial firm have been requested to have representatives at the baseball meetnig and it is deemed advisable to hold the hockey gathering over for a couple of days. At least ten teams have signified their intention of entering the hockey loop with several others seriously considering the entering of a team. Last year's was one of the best Leagues ever operated in the city and from present indications this years will be equally good. All representatives will be present at the Y. M. C. A. at eight o'clock on Thursday evening.

BALL MEETING TOMORROW EVE.

Supporters Of Local Team Will Discuss 1928 Prospects

Belleville's baseball prospects for 1928 will be discussed at a special meeting of the enthusiasts in the Council Chambers at eight o'clock tomorrow night. There is a strong feeling that Belleville should jump back into senior baseball as it is assured that Oshawa, Peterboro and Kingston are anxious to organize the old Central League. The local Kiwanis Club have chosen a committee to look into the baseball situation with the idea of co-operating with the Canadian National Athletic Club who have sponsored the local team since it's inception in Belleville.

Discussions pro and con have been rife since the close of the past season and it is the duty of every interested in the success of the team to turn out and express their opinion before the meeting. Some definite suggestions are often offered by the average baseball fan and the officials of the Club will welcome these.

Several players are needed to bolster the team should they get back into senior ball. Many fans and supporters are of the opinion that the Club should stick to the Intermediate ranks until some of the younger players develops. Belleville was some years ago acknowledged as one of the byst baseball towns in Ontario but for the past few years we have been slipping gradually backward.

At least one other pitcher is needed to help "Host" Gibson who was forced to bear most of the burden last summer and an additional outfielder and one Infielder would help to plug the gap. Lions' Harper who was one of the versatile athletes last season has departed from Trenton and his loss will be keenly felt. However some of the young players are coming along and Belleville may send a team on the field that will take a back seat to none of them. Now is the time to get the ball rolling, not next spring when the season is about to open. It is hoped that every enthusiast will put in an appearance tomorrow night.

The city of Kobe, Japan, has outlined plants to spend $61,000,000 in the next 20 years to modernize its street for traffic.

ITCHY ECZEMA IS HEALED BY THIS SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, say a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist.

NEW MODEL FORD EAGERLY SOUGHT IN BELLEVILLE

Many Orders Have Already Been Received By Local Dealers

"A new Ford Model will be on display at our showroom within the next few days. They will justify in every way the millions of dollars and months of labor expended in designing and perfecting them." Mr. Wilmot made the above statement in announcing that the long-awaited New Ford cars and trucks soon will be on exhibition locally.

"Under the old system of production", Mr. Wilmot said, "the introduction of a new article required only its design and use of a few simple tools for its manufacture. But the Ford system has revolutionized production methods and has created a new standard of quality and accuracy at low cost. This is the reason for the delay in introducing the new Ford. First it had to be designed and it has been improved a degree at a period longer than most people know. Then several models had to be built for test. Then tests had to be conducted and this was one of the great factors in consuming time. Any faults that developed under most rigorous tests had to be corrected. Improvements that suggested themselves had to be incorporated in the test models and tried out. Finally, a little while ago, testing was concluded and the design approved. Then began the work of designing machines for production of the new car. When these machines were built they had to be tested, too. Infinite accuracy is the secret of Ford volume production methods and Ford low cost. Machines had to be perfected to perform delicate mechanical operations millions of times without varying a thousandth of an inch in accuracy. And when these machines finally were evolved and proved by test they had to be built in large numbers to retool the big Ford factory at Ford, Ont., where more than four thousand machines will be required to build the new cars and trucks.

"Tremendous interest has been shown locally in the new Car," Mr. Wilmot said. "This is evidenced by the fact that to date we have received 30 orders for cars, and that we have been kept busy continually accommodating the many people that have visited our showrooms to see our preliminary display."

"We have found it necessary to establish a policy of filling orders strictly in rotation. With the Ford factory swinging into large volume production, cars will soon be rolling in for local purchasers, but we feel sure that for some time the demand will far exceed the supply.

"Never before," said Mr. Wilmot, "has such public confidence in any manufacturer been displayed as in the reception of this new Ford car. In the production of this car which is different in every respect from the famous Model T, the reliability of Ford manufacturing has been sufficient for thousands of Canadian car buyers to place their orders with cash deposits before any details was made known."

In commenting on the position of the present owners of Model T cars, Mr. Wilmot declared that they need not fear neglect either on the part of the Ford Motor Company of Canada or dealers. The factory at Ford, Ont., will continue manufacturing Model T parts and all dealers will continue to carry a full stock. Therefore, as long as Model T cars are being operated parts and service are available. This policy of protection of present car owners against spurious parts is a credit-able one.

"We are laying plans for a busy time when our first cars are delivered, state Mr. Wilmot. "The first model will be placed on public exhibition in ea chow rooms immediately it arrives and all who care to inspect it will be welcomed."

LEAFS TROUNCED BY MONTREAL

Chicago Black Hawks Show Reversal Form To Defeat Rangers

Toronto, December 5.—Despite the absence of Stewart and Munro from their line-up, due to injuries, and with only two available substitutes, the Montreal Maroons, backed by Benedict's brilliant goaltending and a clever defensive system, defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs, 2 goals to 1, in a tightly-contested National Hockey League fixture at Arena Gardens on Saturday night. By their well-deserved victory the Maroons remained at the top of the Canadian section standing.

The visitors, with only eight players in uniform, were conceded little chance of winning and the local fans were confident that the Queen City representatives would break the jinx that has followed them on home ice. The latter have not lost a game on Toronto's at Arena Gardens in over two seasons. However, the ill-luck which has dogged Montreal and resulted in injuries to several of their star performers appeared to inspire the substitutes here last night to great heights and, taking their cue from Benedict, who refused to be beaten after an unexpected shot by Duncan slipped past him in the opening minutes of the game, the Maroon second-string players displayed a brand of defensive hockey that was a revelation to the 6,000 fans present.

Leaders Beaten

Chicago, December 5.—The New York Rangers, leaders of the American division in the National Hockey League, ran into the stiffest sort of opposition from the Chicago Black Hawks here Sunday night and took a beating by a score of 4 to 2. A crowd of 5,000 saw the contest which was considerably more one-sided than the score indicated.

Relying almost entirely on individual effort, the Rangers failed to develop any team play that might have given them a victory. On the other hand, the Black Hawks played together well for the first time this season.

Canadiens Win

Montreal, December 5.—The first victory blank of the season has been brought renewed vigor and an added sparkle to the locker of the Canadiens, but apparently have only served to chill the New York Americans, who were swamped, 4-0, by the dashing local players at the Forum Saturday night.

While the arrival of seasonable hockey weather had its effect on all members of th Canadian team, it was Howie Morenz who revelled in the changed conditions Saturday. Whether it was because of the proper hockey atmosphere, or because his number was waiting him for the first time in a pro league contest, is a question. But the fact remains that Morenz careened over the ice at a dizzy pace, and the result was that he scored three of his team's four goals, and now sits at the top of the scoring lists in the N.H.L.

Senators Rallied

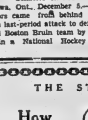

Ottawa, Ont., December 5.—Ottawa Senators came from behind with a vicious last-period attack to defeat the rugged Boston Bruin team by 3 goals to 2 in a National Hockey League inter-sectional thriller here Saturday night. The crowd of some 6,000 which turned out for the fixture saw the world's champions twice come from behind to tie the hard-checking Bruins and then go on to win with less than five minutes left to play. The winning tally literally smoked off the stick of George Boucher, Captain and stellar defence pinion in the capital's hockey machine.

A thoughtless man loses a lot of time when he hurries.

Why walk when you can buy a perfectly good used car at Belleville Motors away below its actual value, these days! They're all in good shape and any one of them is yours at a ridiculously low price.

SHANNONVILLE

The Ladies' Guild of the Anglican church held their annual bazaar and dance in the hall last Wednesday afternoon and night. The inclement weather kept quite a number away but, nevertheless it was well patronized. The work of the good ladies of the congregation in general during the past year was shown by the well-filled tables of saleable goods. And in the evening a large crowd enjoyed the dance. The event was decidedly successful and a very large amount was realized.

Mr. Bert Joby is moving into Mrs Nellie Doxtator's house.

On Thursday afternoon at the rectory the Rev. J. M. Gregory united in holy bonds of matrimon yMiss Winnifred Crawford and Mr. Thomas Howard. Their friends extend congratulations to the newly weds.

Blackheads go quickly by a simple method that just dissolves them. Get two ounces ordo powder from your druggist, rub this with a hot, wet cloth briskly over the blackheads—and you will wonder where they have gone.

Pile Sufferers

You can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Nothing but an internal remedy can do this—that's why cutting and salves fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, is guaranteed to quickly and safely banish any form of Pile misery or money back. J. B. McKeown and druggists everywhere sell it with this guarantee.

SIXTY YEARS OF FARMING

Sixty years of farming! It's a long long way,
But the sun rose every morning and his setting closed the day.
And I could see the stars at night through Heaven's wide open door,
And day and night some dreams would come, no one had dreamed before

Sixty years of farming—'Twas the scythe when I began,
The sickle had barely gone to rest and the sower was a man;
But now where the log-built homestead stood are brick and concrete walls,
Anw we milk our cows and toast our bread by the grace of the Chaudiere Falls.

Sixty years of farming — What brave horses have gone in,
Many a wheel has worn right out and many a ploughshare thin;
Many a cow has come to grief and many a milkman, too.
But every spring the grass grew green and we started in anew

Sixty years of farming — There's some life in that, I say—
There were singing schools to go to where were times we met to pray;
There were picnics in the summer and tea meetings in the fall,
And pumpkin pies were plentiful—
Oh, it wasn't bad at all!

Sixty years of farming — And the church yard had its share;
Some were sick and tired of life, and some were young and fair;
Oh, it's just the same in cities as it is out on the farm.
We come to Mother Earth at last where nothing more can harm

Sixty years of farming — Oh, it's easier said than done.
But all you've got to do each day is keep step with the sun;
And after all those 60 years I'm neither deaf nor dumb,
And I hope to do a trifle yet in the 60 years to come!

On Monday night Bishop Seager, of Kingston, held confirmation service in the Anglican church and twenty-seven were confirmed. He preached a very impressive sermon.

Mrs. William Conley is on the sick list and all hope for a speedy recovery.

CLOSEST ELECTION FOR YEARS MAKES DUFF MAYOR

Icy Street Caused Bad Accident On West Bridge---Old Aldermen Standing Are Re-elected

LITTLE 4 YEAR OLD HILDA REID BADLY INJURED

Car Skidded On Icy West Bridge Street Hill Last Evening

THREE CARS CRASHED

William Reid And John Elliott Suffer Less Serious Injuries

Skidding and slipping down the west Bridge Street hill, icy from a week's cold snap, an automobile owned and driven by William Reid, butcher, crashed into another car driven by Mr. John Elliott, local manager of the Standard Bank, about 6 o'clock last evening, driving the Elliott car over to one side of the road, and careening itself to the opposite side of the street.

Little four year old Hilda Reid, W. Reid's daughter, was hurled through the windshield landing with a crash on the pavement, fortunately a badly slashed neck, and this morning was slowly feeling her own in a girls hospital with death.

Reid himself was badly shaken up, and cut by flying glass. Mr. John Elliott suffered terribly gashed lower arm, a blow on his face caused some internal bleeding, and his legs were badly bruised. This morning Mr. Elliott was able to appear at work, but the worst for his severe shaking up and loss of blood.

Third Car Crashed

To add to the general confusion of the melee, a third car, owned and driven by Durwood Conway, of Napanee, accompanied by Percy Henderson and Ambrose Desk, driving behind Mr. Elliott, smashed into the mix-up, damaging his automobile to some extent, but all three occupants escaping injury.

Louis Rosecia, Herchimer Avenue, arrived at the scene of the accident shortly after it had occurred and rushed Mr. Reid and his daughter to the hospital, where they were put under the care of Dr. Morgan.

No One is Blame

This morning Mr. Reid was interviewed by the Intelligencer at the hospital and gave his account of the smash-up. "I was coming down Bridge street hill at a moderate rate of speed", stated Mr. Reid. "when I noticed a car parked on the south side of the street, and in swinging out to avoid it my back wheel started to skid and before I knew it I was skidding down the hill sideways fairly rapidly.

"The next thing that happened was

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY OVER 2000 DIED IN THE HALIFAX EXPLOSION

Some Blinded And Crippled Victims Still Receive Compassionate Aid

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 6.—Ten years ago this morning, knots of people gathered on the thinly settled slopes of Fort Needham in the north end of the city and along the waterfront, watching two freight steamers manoeuvering in the Narrows. The Belgian relief steamer "Imo", outward bound on an errand of mercy to war-wrecked Europe had just collided with the incoming French steamer "Mont Blanc" headed to the seaports with deadly explosives. But people on shore did not know this, else they would not have watched with so little concern, the blaze that had sprung up on the deck of the "Mont Blanc" as they waited the arrival of the fire boat whose hoses could be seen, as it neared northward. It was a little before nine o'clock on a frosty morning with the sun firmly breaking through a haze.

Just as the fire engine approached the nearest point of the hull side of the burning steamer, a huge black cloud rimmed with red shot up like lightning, billowed over the Mont Blanc, and, in a breath that pessimus hillside was swept with a blast of wrath. Five thousand houses crumpled to matchwood, nearly two thousand people were smuffed into eternity, even while that hell-heaped cloud hovered over the Mont Blanc and where the Mont Blanc had been.

Such was the Halifax explosion of December 6, 1917, the greatest disaster of its kind in history; an explosion that startled the world and so touched the hearts of other nations, particularly the United States that in a few days millions of dollars in money and materials were rolling in to the hastily formed relief committee.

The explosion is forgotten except by a few whose loved ones suffered and died or those pitiful ones whose eyes were blinded by the flash that was one of the awful features of the explosion. Some of the injured are still receiving aid from the relief commission and will continue to do so as long as they have need for it.

URGE ACTION TO END OPIUM SALE

Canadian Representative On League Council Says Traffic Is Enormous

Geneva, Dec. 5—Strong action against the narcotics evil is called for in a report submitted to the council of nations to-day by Senator Raoul Dandurand, Canadian representative on the Council. The report was unanimously adopted.

Repeating charges made by the League's opium commission that illicit drug traffic continues on an enormous scale and is backed by huge financial resources, Senator Dandurand urged the nations belonging to the Council to hasten satisfactions of the Geneva Opium Convention. Little progress can be achieved in suppressing the traffic until the Convention enters into force, he said.

The Canadian delegate also urged the Governments to study the possibility of more adequate control of narcotic factories. He told the Council that Canadian ratification of the Geneva Convention will be submitted to Parliament.

FLAMES SCORCH TRUCK'S DRIVER

Harold Barriage Victim Of Strange Accident—Injuries Not Severe

Harold Barriage, Pinnacle street, narrowly escaped serious injuries this morning shortly after five o'clock when the truck which he was driving burst into flames on the highway one mile east of Trenton. Barriage, who is an employe of Edward A. Kellaway Front Street Grocer, was on his way to Toronto where he expected to load a truck for Trenton.

As he was nearing the outskirts of Trenton the engine blew out and the flames leaped up from beneath the floor boards. Stopping the truck he enlisted the aid of farmers in the vicinity and carried pails of water with which the flames were quenched. Gordon Reid, a milk man living on the Trenton Road, assisted Barriage in getting the oil. The fender under the cab was badly scorched and the driver suffered some slight burns on his hands, when the flames surrounded him. His clothing was burned to some extent.

The truck was brought to Belleville under its own power and placed in a garage where repairs will be made. Melchior's fruit truck was burned in a similar manner some weeks ago, when John Baker, the driver, suffered burns.

DUFF HAS LEAD OF ONLY 54 OVER NEAREST RIVAL GREENLEAF WHO POLLED A FINE VOTE WITH THIRD MAN TRAILING IN YESTERDAY'S MAYORALTY FIGHT

Intense Interest In Outcome Shown By Large Crowd—Close Battle All The Way—Charles A. Payne, new Alderman, heads the Aldermanic field—Seven Aldermen Standing For Re-Election Are All Successful—Ald. Cherry Centre of Keen Battle — Street Sweeper Featured In Campaign.

In the closest mayoralty fight for many years, Alderman Morley Duff triumphed over his two opponents yesterday and last night was declared duly elected Mayor of Belleville for 1928. Duff's majority over ex-Ald. Harry Greenleaf was only 54 with R. P. White trailing a few hundred behind.

Chief interest, of course, centred in the vote for mayor and the crowd at the City Hall became intensely excited as the results from poll after poll were announced with the two leading candidates never more than a handsbreadth apart. For the first six polls Greenleaf was leading and those who looked for an easy victory for Mr. Duff were decidedly uneasy. Later polls, however, showed the railwayman's strength and from there on he was never headed.

The vote for Mr. Greenleaf was a tribute to his unfailing energy for the past few years. Scores of men were heard to express the opinion that "Harry" deserved a vote and that they hoped he would some time attain his ambition, but it was generally conceded that Mr. Duff was the logical choice for the honours this year. In fact if it had not been a three-cornered contest it is practically certain that Mr. Duff would have won by a comfortable majority as Mr. White drew his strength from the Mayor-elect's supporters.

Clean Campaign

In thanking the electors after the results were fully tabulated, Mr. Duff complimented his two opponents for the clean fair campaign they had waged. Altogether we had a splendid election with no bad feelings as an aftermath.

Perhaps the most surprising and at the same time pleasing feature of the Aldermanic race was the recognition given by the electors to two new men, Charles A. Payne and George A. Reid are both without previous civic experience but the electors exalted their capacity and appreciating the offer of their services as Aldermen, returned them with a splendid vote. Both headed the list and field running in fourth place. This result will be encouraging to other prominent citizens of business men who feel the urge to give some practical service to their city.

Another new comer receiving a good vote was Mr. David Hollins. He was the only manufacturer in the list of candidates and his election is a good thing for the city, as he represents an industry that has previously not had a member in the Council.

Ex-Mayor Meade is Called

The splendid vole given to Alderman A. B. Collins shows that the citizens appreciate the splendid work which he has done for the city as chairman of the gas department. The gas plant has always been a difficult proposition for Belleville, piling up a yearly deficit, and until the last few months all of the situation looked more or less hopeless. Thanks to his untiring attention and the liberal support of Mayor Wilmot and other members of the Council, the situation seems to be in a fair way to being dislupted. It is required courage to advocate the spending of money to make a proposition which was already losing money, but the outcome seems to be that what was formerly a drag on the city will become an asset and the citizens generally will get additional gas service.

Aldermen Wotten, Hyde and Walker were returned by very satisfactory votes, there never being any question that these men would be elected. They have each served two years in the Council and proven themselves the type of Aldermen which the city wants. Alderman William Dowsley increased his vote of last year.

EARLY ACTION IS FORECASTED ON THE ST. LAWRENCE DEVELOPMENT

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—Announcement of the date of meeting of the National Advisory Committee of the St. Lawrence Waterway with a sub-committee of the Dominion Cabinet, is expected to be made this evening. The question is one which will be decided upon by the Government today, although an intimation has already been made, to members of the National Advisory Committee that the conference will take place early in January.

Printed copies of the completed report of the joint engineering board composed of Canadian and United States representatives are being forwarded to each of the eight members of the National Advisory Committee for perusal. A large volume of appendices to the original report is included.

Early action on the St. Lawrence development scheme is officially contemplated, in all probability the Federal Government will communicate with the United States at the meeting of the Waterway in January, in respect to the invitation of the United States to open negotiations "with a view to formulating a convention."

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

The devil tempts us not—he we tempt him
Reckoning his skill with opportunity.
GEORGE ELIOT.

MAYOR-ELECT DUFF

With three good men standing for Mayor, Belleville could not make much of a mistake, but in electing Ald Merley Duff to the Chief Magistrate's chair, the electors displayed good judgment. Mr. Duff has served two years in Council with credit to himself and advantage to the city and the experience he has gained will be decidedly useful.

It is, we believe, the first time a representative from the Canadian National Railways has been Mayor of this City, so the choice is a happy one. The C. N. R. is one of Belleville's big assets giving employment to many of our citizens and adding considerably to our wealth and prosperity. It is fitting that a railway man should get the highest honors.

Apart from that, Mr. Duff has proven himself able and efficient in Council and will be influenced in his decisions. He held the respect of his fellow aldermen and has demonstrated that he has the confidence of the city at large.

Mr. Cleveland ran a good second and has nothing to be ashamed of. He polled a splendid vote and had he tried for Council would, doubtless, have been elected well up in the list.

From the first, the fight was between Duff and Cleveland with R. P. White third. Mr. White has been out of the Council for some years and was out of touch a little, which probably accounted for his comparatively poor showing.

OUR NEXT COUNCIL

Seven of last year's Council, all of those who stood, were re-elected yesterday and one of them was elevated to the Mayor's Chair, so the electors may be said to have approved the actions of the retiring Aldermen during the past twelve months.

The men re-elected need no introduction to the electors. They served with reasonable capacity in 1927 and earned the endorsement given them. Aldermen Collins, Hyde, Wetten, Tice, Walker, Denobue and Cherry will all be more valuable for the knowledge they have gained in civic affairs.

Of the first four men in the standing, three are new faces in the Council. Aldermen-elect Payne, Reid and French will add strength to that body. Mr. French has served before, but the other two are new to civic life. They are recognized, though, as outstanding figures in the city's business life and will prove their worth.

Rollins and Woodley are the other new men, though Mr. Woodley was formerly an alderman. Mr. Rollins represents an important element—the manufacturer—and the city is to be congratulated on his election.

The new Council as a whole may fairly be said to be as strong as the retiring body. What was lost in the dropping out of Ald. Sinclair, Gorman, Proctor and Cowdy has been replaced by adding Messrs. Payne, Reid, French and Woodley.

ONTARIO THE PLACE

In all humanitarian schemes the needs of the prairie provinces and the opportunities offered to the industrial worker by the Canadian west are mainly considered. But Ontario also holds large chances of success for agricultural settlers of a certain class. To the laborer on the land the prairie provinces probably hold out the better prospects; but not necessarily is the city-reclaimed farmer with some capital to invest.

A member of the party of British newspaper men which toured Canada last summer, Arthur Grime, manager of the Yorkshire Post, recording his impressions of the country in his paper said there are two classes of men who can reasonably expect to make good in Canada. They are:

"The man of good health and with some experience of the land who will go out under government auspices, be prepared to rough it, to work long hours, and save to pay off the loan; alternatively to take employment on the land, and feel and work his own way towards possession of a holding.

"The man with capital up to £5000, says one authority) who can buy a farm and enter at once upon its fruits."

To the latter class Ontario offers more advantages than the prairie provinces hold out. There are many good farms in the long-settled parts of this province which can be bought at reasonable prices—farms within easy distances of cities and towns well cultivated farms which are sure to yield fair returns to skilful cultivation.

THE EDITOR SAYS

Charles A. Payne made a startlingly good run for the first time out, heading the polls by a good majority. But then Belleville likes bachelors as witness the run of Mayor Wilmot when he made his first attempt. He headed the poll two years ago.

Ald. George Tice ought to be grateful for his election and not attempt the old "gag" of claiming to be misreported. The Intelligencer reported his brief speech of last Friday's public meeting accurately. Anyway, Mr. Tice is re-elected and we hope his year's experience will make him of more use in 1928 than in 1927.

Ald. Cherry is back in Council, we are glad to see. He made many friends for himself by his courage at last Friday evening's public meeting, where he defended the purchase of the street sweeper which some other Aldermen were inclined to side-step. We hope the sweeper will prove to be all Mr. Cherry claims for it.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

The hard thing about conquering the air is that you must do it again every time you go up. — Montreal Herald.

Alberta folks used to threaten to pull their province out of confederation if their demands were not met. Now the Peace River folks threaten to break away from Alberta unless Peace River needs are attended to. Only a few years to change Alberta role from that of the restive child to that of the anxious parent.—Hamilton Herald.

Another fascinating thing about the old-time Western dance hall, as depicted in the movies, is that everyone there danced the four last 20 years before it was invented.—Ottawa Journal.

A RONDEAU.

(Austin Dobson.)

In after days when grasses high
O'ertop the stone where I shall lie,
Though ill or well the world adjust
My slender claim to honored dust,
I shall not question, nor reply.

I shall not see the morning sky;
I shall not hear the night-wind sigh;
I shall be mute, as all men must
In after days!

But yet, now living, fain would I
That someone then should testify,
Saying—"He held his pen in trust
To Art, not serving shame or lust."
Will none?—Then let my memory die
In after days!

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

"Klan, what are you doing with all that jam on your lips? Whatever could you think if you saw me looking like that?"

"I'd think you was going to a dinner mummy!"

Wife (who has caught her husband squandering a penny on a fortune-telling machine)—"Hm! So you're to have a beautiful and charming wife are you? Not while I'm alive, Horace —not while I'm alive."

The child of rich parents saw half-a-dozen ragged infants streaming across the street in front of her car. "Poor little children!" she reflected "I suppose they've got no nurses — only mothers."

An ambitious youth came from the Highlands in order to join the police. He passed the usual examination, and was then interviewed.

"Well, young man," said an officer "you look like a promising young fellow. You have a good general knowledge I hope? Can you tell me how many miles it is from Edinburgh to Glasgow?"

The potential policeman became alarmed.

"Look here, sir," he blurted out, "if you are going to put me on a beat of that length I'd rather return to the croft and help father with the sheep."

THE PASSING YEARS

(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Jas. Wilson, harness maker, fell on an icy sidewalk last evening and broke one of his shoulder blades. His physician tells him it will be five or six weeks before he will be able to be about.

Mrs. John Vair died at Camden on the 20th. The deceased lady was an aunt of Mrs. A. N. Reid, of this city.

Lieut. Wm. Conger has returned from London where he has been taking a course in military training.

Mrs. L. W. Yeomans is now in Dresden, Germany. Her many friends will be pleased to know that her health is much improved.

Mr. Phil Rankicet returned this morning from a three months' business trip in the Maritime provinces.

The following changes have been made in the staff of the Bank of Montreal: W. Hambly goes to Lindsay, Allan Desgall comes from Lindsay here; and Arthur Parker goes to the head office of the Bank of Montreal.

OH! BACKACHE RUB PAIN OUT

Ah! Pain is gone! St. Jacobs Oil is almost like magic.
Quickly?—Yes. Almost instant relief from sorrows, stiffness, lameness and pain follows a gentle rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

Rub this soothing, penetrating oil right on your painful back, and relief comes. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless backache, lumbago and sciatica remedy which never disappoints and never burns the skin.

Straighten up! Quit complaining! Stop those torturous stitches. In a moment you will forget that you ever had a weak back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest St. Jacobs Oil from your druggist now and get this lasting relief.

A Word on Canada's Mines!

The Standard Exchange, Toronto, has been breaking all records lately, sales running from two to three million shares per day. This exchange has become the leading Mining Exchange on the Continent, and our Mineral Wealth is only commencing to be properly developed. British and American investors are lately realizing the tremendous mineral values already definitely proved, and looking forward to developments that are certain to take place. It is advisable to buy sound mining stock now, as prices go from day to day, and this can best be done through our Fortnightly Review and Market Letter, containing information constantly coming in to our offices, over our own private wires from our offices at the Mines.

Few people appreciate the tremendous value of minerals at present definitely proved in such properties as International Nickel, Mond Nickel, Noranda, Amulet, Teck Hughes, Lake Shore, McIntyre, Pan Am, Falconbridge, Central Patricia and a host of others. The wealth that will be taken from these properties in the next few years will far exceed that from our industries and will approach undoubtedly to that from the soil itself. Our mines will produce untold fortune in the next generation, both to shareholders and owners, and the opportunities for profit, right at your door, should not be overlooked. It is important however to get proper information, and we are in a position to supply it.

L. O. L. PARTY

A delightful card-party and small dance was given last night by the L.O.B.A. and L.O.L. at which a large crowd attended. The winners of the prizes among the ladies were, 1st, Mrs. W. McKenna; 2nd, Mrs. Mantle Blair; and 3rd, Mrs. John Penny. The lucky recipients of awards among the men were 1st, Mr. W. McKenna; 2nd, Mr. Fraser Paul; and 3rd, Mr. Orville Bell. Following cards a period of dancing was held during which time all joy fully assisted.

BADMINTON.

Queen's Badminton team will visit the city on Saturday evening when a series of matches will be played with the local club at the armouries. Six men and six ladies will compose the visiting party. A social evening will be spent in the reception room following the games.

NO DRUNKS

Despite the heetic period of election, not passed over, no "drunks" were arrested last night by the police. Celebrations, if any, of joy at the results of the election did not break the bonds of sobriety.

ENTERTAIN NEW COUNCIL.

The members of the Officers' Mess of the Anglo Light Infantry entertained the Mayor and Aldermen-elect of the new Council at the armouries after the meeting in the City Hall last evening. The successful candidates made brief speeches.

ONE MONTH GRACE.

Stephen Haycock, who was convicted some weeks ago of fraud and embezzlement while a clerk for a firm with a resident of Wellington, appeared before Judge Deroche in Picton this morning for sentence. Haycock had previously stated that he would have parties on hand who would furnish the money to settle the case. These did not put in an appearance this morning and Judge Deroche enlarged the case for one month. Haycock is out on bail.

NEW CONSTABLE HERE.

Provincial Constable Hammer, who was recently appointed to the headquarters staff at Belleville under Inspector Loughrin, arrived this morning to assume his new duties. Constable Hammer is a fine robust type of man and will no doubt be a valuable acquisition to the local staff. He has until recently been stationed at Prescott and has had several years experience in Provincial Police work. He is replacing Constable Weatherall who was sent to Lindsay.

OWNERSHIP LAND IS ESTABLISHED

Mr. Justice Wright Decrees Land To Remain In Present Hands

The action of Livermore vs. Ketcheson was tried before Mr. Justice Wright in the Non-Jury Sittings of the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon. The Plaintiff, Mrs. Livermore, of Dover, N. J., brought the action against her brothers, Harry L. and James H. Ketcheson in regard to her alleged equal claim of part of the field lying between the Highway and the Bay of Quinte, which was part of the farm homestead in the Township of Sidney east of the Village of Foxboro. It appeared from the evidence that her father gave her a deed in 1852 of approximately a hundred acres, but to be decided was whether her title as registered in the Registry Office had been extinguished by the occupation and work done upon the lands by the father and mother and the two brothers for many years. The Plaintiff alleged an oral arrangement with her father that the mother could have the use of her property providing the mother paid the taxes. The Defendants claimed that the mother and two Defendants had been sufficient to extinguish the Plaintiffs title held by the Plaintiff. The action was dismissed without costs. A stay of 30 days was granted.

Mr. C. A. Payne, counsel for Defendants; Major H. D. Ponton, counsel for Plaintiff.

ALBERT COLLEGE WINS BEQUEST

Sued Estate Of Late Merchant For Promised Donation To Fund

Albert College were awarded $100, without costs by Hon. Mr. Justice Wright in the non-jury sitting this morning in their action against the estate of the late Daniel Sinclair.

NURSES' HOME IS NOW UNDER WAY

Contract Has Been Awarded To Dickie Construction Company

Work was commenced on the new Home for the nurses at the Belleville General Hospital which will be completed by May 1st, 1928, if the plans of the contractor mature.

The new building which will be erected on the vacant lot between the hospital and the Children's Shelter will fulfill a long felt need as the present home is inadequate to house the staff of nurses now on duty.

The present nurses home will be utilized as an additional wing for the hospital in order to take care of the ever-additional number of patients. The present room is at present situated in the nurses residence.

AFTERMATH!

Heard On The Streets After The Smoke Of Battle Cleared

Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away and the cooling and hectic heat of the municipal campaign and election have died down, comment on the "street" today heartily endorsed the twelve councillors who had been elected by the city's destiny for the next year, and there were many and all of the years aldermen who stood for re-election, and were returned, all were highly complimented by everybody and expressions of discent were heard.

"He's the man who deserves it" was heard on all sides of "Charlie" Payne, "and we are glad that he headed the polls. We're glad too that Morley Duff is mayor, and we're proud of "Harry" Greenwood for the stiff fight he put up. Peter Jull to "dick". While next time!

And looking over the candidates who did not get elected, public "Belleville" thinks they are also some "Street" opinion. Alderman Ruane Wotten has proved his popularity again by the large number of votes that were cast for him, etc. has Alderman Bernard Collins. In the new party, C. A. Payne, Eadie last Friday evening when he expressed himself well. Also "Hellen" Cherry made them all sit up and take notice last Friday evening when he published the why and when of the City Treasurer's purchase, and yesterday his fighting spirit was vindicated when he returned.

Not much time left now to buy one of those reliable used cars at Belleville Motors. They have a very few left to be cleaned out regardless of price. Don't miss this chance!

JUDGMENT GIVEN FOR PLAINTIFFS

Mr. Justice Wright Refers Claim To Master At Cobourg

An action in which over $15,000 was involved, brought by plaintiff, the estate of the late A. W. Purdy, against defendant, upon a mortgage for $7775.79 and for sale and on the covenant, was heard before Hon. Mr. Justice Wright yesterday. The parties reside in the County of Northumberland where the land in question is situate. The property was a small grist and cheese and the mortgage contained an unusual provision for payment, namely, "fifty cents per barrel of each and every barrel of apples raised upon the said farm." The plaintiff claimed it was represented the yield of fruit to average fifteen hundred barrels per annum and the crop of apples would pay for the property, and the price upon which the purchase price of the property was based on the financial returns from the fruit which would produce. The defendant claimed that the crop of apples in all the seasons since acquired the orchard was only a small portion of the above amount and that the property is a farm upon which time and money, and rommer-claimed against plaintiff for $8,000 damages for their bargain by the evidence and argument. Judgment was given for plaintiff on his claim with a Reference made to the Master at Cobourg for sale.

W. C. Mikel, K.C., for plaintiff Smith & Jordan for defendant.

Mrs. Reynolds into Mr. Elliott's car and climbing into the front of his small coupe. The Elliott car was barely visible through the windshield or the window beneath the windshield as an examination of the car later showed and no one was thrown into the back of the other car. Mrs. Elliott ran down the street. I am not badly hurt, only somewhat bruised and a little shaken up," she said as she got out of the hospital in a short time.

Mr. John Elliott was at work today, despite the bad shaking-up he received and the loss amount of blood that he lost. Speaking to an Intelligencer representative last morning he said, "I was just making home from work, and climbed whether I would take my car up the steep hill or not, as I knew I had a terrible handicap. But when I had arrived at the other side of the lower bridge I saw the hill was fairly clear so I decided to go up it.

I was driving at a very moderate speed and had just reached the corner of Everett street when I saw this other car skidding towards me. Knowing that I could not avoid the crash I decided to hold my car right in its course and meet the other head on. When the smash came my car was thrown over to the left side of the road. Mrs. Elliott said that he had not known that he was injured in any way until he had gone into a house to telephone, when he then had noticed that his arm was bleeding profusely.

The steering gear on the Elliott car was smashed, the wheel no doubt saving the life of the driver from catapulting through the windshield. "If anybody had been with me they would have been killed." Mr. Elliott said today. "I don't know how I hurt my legs but I suppose I have been thrown up against the front of the car. The car behind me claimed that he was just going 15 miles an hour when he struck me, and that was the reason he crashed into us. I believe he was going 40."

All three cars were badly wrecked. Mr. Reid's car Mr. Elliott's suffered most. The Reid car, a Ford sedan, has one whole side smashed in and Mr. Elliott's is almost a hopeless wreck. The third car has a broken wheel and some dents.

DON'T BE AFRAID OF THE INSANITY BUGABOO

It is astonishing how many persons harbor a dread of insanity.

If they do something that is unusual, or mislay their glasses or forget telephone numbers, they are likely to consider many such lapses of the mind as signs of mental derangement.

Then again, if they happen to feel especially blue and discouraged they may get the idea that they are developing melancholia.

If they become suspicious of people —and perhaps justly so—it may be interpreted as delusional ideas of persecution.

So many, many deviations within the normal may be interpreted as suspicious indications of an approaching insanity.

To the average man or woman insanity is a mysterious disease that slowly creeps upon one unawares and finally leaves its victim both hopeless and helpless. It is believed that insanity knows no alternative but the insane asylum for the rest of one's natural life.

Well, none of these things is true. First of all, insanity is not a mysterious disease. Much of it is caused by organic conditions which may be induced by alcoholism, certain infections, hardening of the brain arteries, etc—all really preventable.

As to inorganic or functional causes, adolescence (one years twelve to eighteen) is a favorable time for beginning signs. But here again early recognition of mental peculiarity may prevent the catastrophe.

Secondly, insanity does not catch one unawares and off one's guard.

Every case shows a gradual development extending over many months even years. If the patient himself does not realize the change that is taking place, at least his friends and relatives do. In such a case it is their bounden duty to see that the patient gets proper treatment so as to arrest the progress of the malady or, better yet, cure it in its incipiency.

Thirdly, insanity does not necessarily mean asylum incarceration.

A third of all cases are cured!

Fully a half are improved so that they can remain at home!

Only a comparatively small percentage of all types of insanity are hopelessly incurable and unimperavable.

And take heart from this: Out of a population of over 100,000,000 in the United States, the total insane population is about 300,000.

But we must not belittle insanity or laugh at those who fear it.

What we must do, if we feel at all suspicious, is to seek advice and seek it promptly.

If people could only sweep their pride and self-consciousness aside long enough to do just that!

With insanity, prevention should be the watchword.

Bear in mind, also, that if you think you are going insane the chances are dollars to doughnuts that you are not.

The insane have practically no "insight" as psychiatrists say, into their condition.

But get the advice from competent sources just the same if you have th fear.

Be reassured.

You must not let anything cloud your mind.

You must not let a sword of Damocles dangle forever over your heck.

Face the facts. Realize that your fears are unjustified. Clean house mentally.

Most of us are afraid to face the truth because we fail to realize tha the truth is seldom as bad as what our disturbed imaginations conjure u

This is especially true of the insane bugaboo.

Don't let it get you!

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

"Oh!" she gasped after a moment. "How awful! They're turning his insurance over to me—as his fiancee. I never knew he'd left it to me."

"Jack Farquahar's!" Dorothy came to look over her shoulder.

Lila bit her lip.

"What am I going to do?"

"You don't want to accept it?"

"Heaven's, no!" Lil feel like a thief."

"And he had no relations?"

"None that he ever mentioned. You see, we knew each other such a short time. And I wouldn't exactly care to start an investigation. It might prove a — or — boomerang.

Dorothy nodded absently.

"Why not accept the money—ten thousand, isn't it? — and turn it over to one of the funds for disabled veterans?" she suggested.

Lila stared at her admiringly.

"How quickly you think of a way out of the very thing, of course."

She rose and bent quickly to Dorothy's desk.

"I'll write the letter now, if I may use your stationery."

She scribbled rapidly with the plum ed pen on Dorothy's pretty gray paper with its silver embossed street number

"There!" she said; using the blotter with satisfaction. "If the money comes here, you'll have to pretend to be me and sign for it. And then—" she stopped suddenly, struck by a thought. "You'll have to make the donation, too, Dot. It mustn't come from me."

Dorothy laid down her brushes, her pretty brows contracted in a frown.

"I can't do that."

"But don't you see that it is impossible for me to appear in the thing? urged Lila. "Everybody knows haven't ten thousand dollars to give to charity. Dad's always kept me fright fully short, because I'm so extravagant and it's too early for Herbert to have given me so much."

"Why not send it in as an anonomous contribution in memory of Jack Farquhar, or something like that?" suggested the resourceful Dorothy.

"Splendid!" Lila's eyes sparkled. "I must run now. I've promised to meet Herbert down-town for lunch."

Dorothy laughed.

"Can't you two lover-birds be parted for once, than three hours?"

"We wouldn't be parted for one hour if I could help it," declared Lila unblushingly. "Oh, I'm gone all right Dot."

"I should say you are!" sighed Dorothy. "It seems strange—" She checked herself suddenly.

Lila raised her brows.

"You were going to say that it seems strange that I could forget one man so completely and fall so frantically in love with another, weren't you?"

Dorothy nodded, a little smile playaround her pretty mouth.

"I rather liked your Jack Farquhar, you know, even though I never saw him. What was he like, Lila? I don't mean in looks. You showed me his photo—but the man himself."

Lila shrugged carelessly.

"I hardly know. I'm afraid it was only his looks I was thinking about. I was such a romantic little fool! Oh, he was fascinating enough—one of the savage, ruthless sort, you know. A man of that type is frightfully difficult especially as a husband, I should think. Thank Heaven, Herbert's not like that!"

"But Jack sounds so interesting."

"He was interesting," Lila said, as she drew on her gloves. "Stay away! Not off my feet. We'd known each other only a week when he proposed to me.

"Were you very mad when he went away?"

"I don't know," answered Lila thoughtfully. "It all seems so unreal now—like a play. But I guess I thought I was broken-hearted." She sprang up and slipped back into her wrap.

"I'll be late, and Herbert detests being kept waiting. Dot, don't make me talk about that old episode. I want to forget, and there's no reason now why I shouldn't."

It was nearly a month later that Dorothy rang her up one evening while she was dressing for dinner.

"Can you manage to come here at once, Lila? I can't tell you over the phone, but there's some unexpected trouble!"

CHAPTER V
THE GUILTY CONSCIENCE

That the door of Lila's dressing-room happened to be ajar as she talked over the telephone to Dorothy, and that Herbert happened to be passing through the hall at that moment, were one of those maddening coincidences that occur in real life with even more devastating surety than in fiction.

He had paused at the door, arrested by a lover-like impulse to kiss Lila before going to his dressing-room They were dining out, and he had just come from his office with only time enough to change—to be late for an appointment was to Herbert the second of the Seven Deadly Sins—but his infatuation for Lila was strong enough to make him risk it.

With his hand outstretched to open the door wide, he heard Lila's voice:

"Dot, you frighten me! What is it? What has happened?"

And, a moment later, with a hint of pank in her voice:

"What man?—I don't—No, no, don't tell me over the telephone. It is—it's—Yes, I'll come at once—At once, Dot!"

Herbert saw her hang up the receiver. He saw also that her hand was shaking. And then he spoke sternly to her.

She whirled around to face him. Her face was drained of color, but she fore ed a welcoming smile to her pale lips

"Darling, I didn't hear you come in." She hurried to him, her slim arms out stretched. He kissed her rather coldly held her at arm's length, and searched her face with his candid gaze.

"What were you saying to Dorothy?"

The necessity for a quick fib nearly made her dizzy.

"Oh—I—she wants me to come to her at once. She—she's in some sort of trouble——"

"You said you were frightened," he reminded her sternly.

"Yes, yes—for her," Blistered Lila fer erishly.

"You mentioned a man. What man? I wish I knew!" thought Lila desperately. Aloud, she said hastily: "That's just it. It's—it's a man who's bothering Dot, pursuing her, you know. She—she can't get rid of him You know what I mean," she ended lamely.

Herbert's eyes were stern. A flick er of jealous suspicion had lit in them "I know of no one more capable of taking care of herself than Dorothy Caine. It strikes me that she could handle any man pretty well."

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Contrasting trimming is a feature of the smartest fur coats.

Satin for spring evening wraps, the continuance of velvet in millinery, not only for theatre suits but for wear in the south, and the importance of colored satin slippers in evening fashions are important high lights in most recent New York fashions.

Paris reports that hats of stitched velvet promise to be among the most popular this winter, and the forms are quite similar to the stitched taffetas of a season ago, with small crowns, tailored crowns and narrow brands of the stitched velvet which tie in a bow at the side, while other rather gold stitching on dark blue, brown, dark red and black are much used.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl sixteen years of age I am going with a young man of nineteen who wants me to marry him. But I do not love him, as I am in love with a young married man who has a wife and one child.

Should I marry this man or not?

BLUE EYES.

BLUE EYES: My dear, you are much too young to be concerned at all about love and I urge you to change your attitude before you bring unnecessary unhappiness upon yourself. First place, you are not speaking fair if you are considering marrying a man you do not love; you would be doing him as well as yourself a great injustice if you were to marry with the attitude you now have. As for the other man—I most sincerely urge you to put aside this infatuation before you cause trouble in what seems to be a happy home now. You really have no right to attempt to come between a man and his wife and I advise you to break off this friendship before you allow yourself to become too deeply involved. Seek more companions your own age; devote your time to your school work and activities and do not allow yourself self to be so seriously concerned about any man until you are quite a bit older.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in my teens and I am going with a young man nearly two years my senior. He says he loves me yet he does not want me to keep other company. He goes out with other girls and tries to keep me from knowing it. I love this young man, but do you think he is fair.

SHORTY.

SHORTY: The young man is undoubtedly selfish, Shorty. As long as no engagement exists between you, you are privileged to have as many friends as you may desire.

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty. Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

OVER 100 WHEN HE PASSED AWAY

Famous Indian Outlaw Goes To "Happy Hunting Ground"

Williams Lake, B.C., Dec. 5.—(By the Canadian Press)—Another famous Indian outlaw passed on to the happy hunting grounds when Chief Nemiah of the Chilcotin hills died recently. It is conclectured that he lived to be more than 100 years old.

Nemiah lived for years with the tribe in the Chilco Lake country many miles from the haunts of the white man in an Indian paradise on earth. There are countless mountain sheep there, goats, fish, fur and game birds in abundance and Nemiah was known for miles about for his prowess as a hunter. Only about once a year did Nemiah come out to the fringes of civilization to barter his furs.

Chief Nemiah was said to have been responsible for the massacre of Alfred Waddington, explorer and one of members of his party in the Bute Inlet country in 1864 and which led to the Chilcotin Indian war. British Columbia police, however, were never able to solve the mystery.

Some years later he was charged with a murder in the Pemberton Meadows country, but eluded capture. Later Nemiah was tracked for many miles over the snow when accused with the killing of a fellow Indian. He again eluded capture, but later gave himself up and admitted the murder of a Chilcotin woman. After trial, he was convicted and sentenced to hang, but through some legal technicality he gained his freedom.

METROPOLITAN EXECUTIVES ARE PROMOTED

HENRY E. NORTH

Henry E. North, Third Vice-President in charge of Canada and A. F. of Fisher, becomes Second Vice-President in New York.

An announcement of much interest and importance in insurance and financial circles has just been made by the Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who have appointed Henry E. North, Assistant Secretary and Superintendent of Agencies for Canada, as Third Vice-President in charge of Canada. Mr. North succeeds A.F.C. Fisher, who has been Third Vice-President in charge of the Canadian Head office of the Company in 1918. Mr. Fisher has been elevated to a Second Vice-Presidency, with headquarters in New York and will have general supervision of Canada and sections of the Company's field operations in the United States.

Mr. North has had a brilliant and successful career in life insurance, his advance having been exceptionally rapid. He is a young man, being but 36 years old. He started with the Metropolitan as an agent in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1911 and was quickly promoted Assistant District Manager and then District Manager. In 1917 he enlisted in the American Expeditionary Force and served overseas for two years as a First Lieutenant. On his return in 1919 he was made Manager at Portland, Me., and later Manager at Boston.

During the comparatively short time he has been in the Dominion, Mr. North has displayed great activity in familiarizing himself with Canada and Canadian conditions, having travelled across the country many times, visiting all cities and towns of importance. His appointment as Third Vice-President of the Metropolitan will be received with much satisfaction by his associates as well as his host of friends in insurance and financial circles throughout the Dominion.

Every Cold is Serious

Any cold is serious enough when head-aches and painful possibilities are considered, but when there is soreness or tightness in the chest and a dry hard cough you can look for bronchitis, which is often confused with an ordinary cold.

It is usually known by aching limbs and body pains, chilly feelings, weariness and weakness, pain in the chest and a tight, tearing from reaching the lungs.

cough. Fever, dry skin, thirst, coated tongue and constipation are other symptoms.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine seems almost like a specific for bronchitis because it is so successful in loosening up the cough, aiding expectoration and preventing the inflammation from reaching the lungs.

Newsy Neighborhood Notes

GIVEN 3 MONTHS

Port Hope, Dec. 6.—Joseph Hackett, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of intoxication on Saturday, changed his plea to one of guilty. It was his third offence and he received three months in jail. Magistrate Hind took some sympathy in imposing upon Hackett, who is a sufferer from chronic asthma, that liquor was not a suitable remedy for his complaint.

ADMISSION FOR CHILDREN

Kingston, Dec. 6.—It has been decided that children will be hereafter admitted to the City League Hockey games at the Harty Arena for the admission price of ten cents, though the privilege is extended only as long as the boys refrain from making themselves objectionable.

STIFF SENTENCE

Napanee, Dec. 6.—Carman Wood of Sheffield Township, appeared before Magistrate Burton on Saturday and pleaded guilty to a charge of killing a deer which belonged to a Sheffield Township farmer and selling its hide to W. Wilson was present for the Crown and W. A. Graves represented the fourteen-year-old boy. Wood also pleaded guilty to stealing provisions from the buggy of William McDonald on November 19 and to attempting to set a school house on fire about twelve months ago.

He was sentenced to from three to seven years at the Ontario Industrial School.

BLIND FAITH

Peterboro, Dec. 6.—A small eight-year old person who evidently has a great belief in the powers of Nemiah, the versatile magician at the Opera House during the past three days of this week, interviewed a gentleman last evening with the request that he take a check that was carrying on her arm, and prefer it to Mr. Richards, with the request that he turn it into a cable pup.

In 1921 he was promoted to Superintendent of Agencies and came to Canada in charge of agencies in 1925. In April 1926, he was elevated to Assistant Secretary.

His explained that the magician had done this on the stage, and she had always wanted a collie puppy, anyway. She thought she would rather send it to make the request herself, on account of a slight feeling of uneasiness with regard to the performer's magical powers. "He might turn me into a bug when he looked at me," she concluded.

FOUND GUILTY

Port Hope, Dec. 6.—Found guilty in County Judges' Criminal Court before Judge F. C. B. Hayden on Saturday on a charge of attempting to break and enter, Lorne K. Wickes, said to hail from Bradford, Ontario, was remanded for sentence. Wickes, a young man about twenty years of age, was arrested after a brief struggle by night Constable Walter Hall at Bownanville recently when he was discovered at the rear of Couch, Johnston and Cryderman's departmental store. The Constable left Wickes in charge of Richard McMullen, a young man who was passing at the time and went to the police station for assistance and give chase after the other two but failed to capture them.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

MRS. GEORGE APPLETON

The funeral of the late Mrs. George H. DUFF HAS LEAD

One of the main points of interest in the Aldermen's contest was as to whether Alderman E. T. Cherry and his "sweeper" would be re-elected. Scores of those who called the Intelligencer office last night for the results asked first if Cherry was elected and when informed that he was those who were pleased and those who were disappointed seemed to be in about equal number.

With the results fully known the successful candidates spoke briefly thanking the electors. Both the men who lost out in the Mayoralty race and one of the defeated aspirants for Council also took advantage of the opportunity to express their thanks to the people who had voted for them.

Shortly after six o'clock last evening crowds began to congregate at the City Hall anxiously awaiting the result civic election returns which were not complete until nearly nine o'clock and when Ald. H. P. Duff was announced as the victor vociferous cheering was heard throughout the building. The aldermen were also cheered as they ascended the platform.

Ald. Harry Greenleaf who made a close run received great applause when he took his seat on the platform.

Mayor Bardley Wilmot acted as chairman and before calling on the successful candidates stated that he was glad to see so many of the old council returned, saying that it showed the confidence which the electorate had in them.

Mayor-Elect M. F. Duff

"After such a trying day, I am too tired to angle speech. I am appreciative and will tonight" said Mayor-elect Duff. Ald. Duff thanked all who supported him in the campaign and assured the co-operation of the citizens of Belleville for the coming year.

Ex-Ald. Harry Greenleaf

"I am well seasoned to defeat now," said Ex. Ald. Harry Greenleaf who made such a close run to Ald. Duff in the mayoralty contest. Mr. Greenleaf paid a tribute which was seconded by Ex. Ald. White that the citizens of Belleville had in mind in voting for a new mayor. He also thanked his supporters.

Ex.-Ald. R. P. White

"It is a thane the small vote which was polled today" stated Ex. Ald. R. P. White, who came third in yesterday's mayoralty race. Mr. White stated that out of about six thousand voters in this city only about twenty-nine hundred and ninety-five came out to the polls. Mr. White pledged his support to Mayor-elect Duff and the new aldermen who had remained all who assisted him in his campaign.

C. A. Payne

"I am indeed grateful for the signal honor which has been conferred upon me" stated Charles A. Payne. Mr. Payne said that he hoped to merit the confidence which had been placed by him and that he would work to the best of his ability in the interest of the city and its taxpayers.

Ald. A. B. Collins

"I obtained the same standing in today's campaign as I did a year ago" said Mr. Collins. He stated that he made a motion to meet the same confid the coming year.

Ald. F. R. Wolten

"Unlike Ald. Collins I not only held my own but gained one place" said Ald. Wolten. The speaker eulogized Ald. Duff, reviewing the activities of the mayor-elect during the coming year.

Ald.-Elect George A Reid

Mr. Reid stated that he would do everything in his power during the coming year to advance the interest of the ratepayers. "I will also appreciate good sound advice from any citizen" said he.

Ald. G. H. French

Mr. French thanked all who supported him at the polls and promised to work to the best of his ability during during the coming year.

Ald. Charles L. Hyde

"You will receive the same service from me for the coming year as that which I rendered you during the past" stated Ald. Charles L. Hyde Mr. Hyde said that he was sorry to miss some of the old faces from the council but hoped that the new ones would prove themselves to be equal to the retiring men.

Ald. George O. Tice

Ald. George O. Tice took objection to the report of the brief speech which he made on Friday night last stating that it was incorrectly reported in the Intelligencer. However, Ald. Tice is on record there as his speech was reported correctly in this paper.

Ald. E. T. Cherry

"During the coming year I intend advocating the purchase of motor trucks for the city" stated Ald. Cherry who was loudly cheered as he rose to speak.

Mr. Cherry said that everything that has a step towards progress was knocked in Belleville. "I will show the citizens before the end of next year that the sweeper is a good investment" added he. In concluding Mr. Cherry recited a poem intitled "Memories".

D. W. Hollins

Mr. Rollins thanked all for the support tendered him and promised to work intelligently during the coming year for the taxpayers of this city.

W. A. Woodley

Ex-Ald. Woodley promised to do all he could in the council for 1928 to further interests of the city.

Ald. D. William Donahue

Ald. Donahue promised the same sound judgement during the coming year as he gave in the past.

Ald. Jas. Bronson

Mr. C. L. Bronson was the only one of the unsuccessful candidates who appeared on the platform. He said that he was a good loser and would appear before the electorate of Belleville again next year.

RE-ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

Leibbidge, Dec. 6.—M. Freeman was re-elected Commissioner of Public Utilities by acclamation at the civic nominations here yesterday. He will serve in that capacity until the city's new charter providing for appointment of a city manager goes into effect. Two were nominated for one seat on the City Council and five for two seats on the Public School Board.

CAPITOL THEATRE

A full house at the Capitol Theatre last night greeted the opening showing of as good a bill as patrons of this theatre have seen for some time, both on stage and screen.

On the screen "The Drop Kick" starring Richard Barthelmess with an excellent cast proved another of those ever popular college stories, and this one proves even better than the average. It has all the elements that go to form a good play-drama, romance suspense comedy, etc., with a thrilling football game as a climax. Richard Barthelmess is at his best in the film and his one well worth seeing.

On the stage, Al Winters and his Speedway Girls Revue made a great hit with their presentation of songs, clever dances and good comedy. This attraction has merit and took well with the large audience.

Altogether it's a real good bill at the Capitol, and one you should see.

BELLE THEATRE

"Monte Cristo" has been made in a lavish manner by William Fox and will have its last showing at the Belle Theatre tomorrow. Beautiful are the scenes that make up the adventures of the wealthy character. The other scenes, such as those of the prison and the scenes in the French village of Marseilles, are especially interesting as well as truly realistic. Many of the scenes were made from rare prints furnished the director by French societies in America.

The picture has had a splendid reception in a number of large cities where it was enthusiastically received.

It has thrilled literally millions of people in all parts of the world. The blase, sophisticated theatre patrons of metropolises such as London, Paris, Berlin, Chicago and New York as well as the peasants of France and Belgium and the picture lovers of the smallest Main street in America.

REGENT THEATRE

Spiritualism, dwelling and hallooning are the astoundingly diverse highlights of "Time to Love" Raymond Griffith's latest Paramount comedy now at the Regent Theatre.

In this French farce, written directly for the screen by Alfred Savoir and adapted by Pierre Collings, the author-scenarist combination responsible for "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter" Griffith has "story material" that is said to make "Time to Love" his greatest success. It ranges from pure romance, through light comedy, burlesque, farce and slapstick, to an intensely fabulous high-thrill climax. Yet it keeps Griffith always in character as the young Frenchman in pursuit of the girl he loves.

"Time to Love" is also important in that Vera Voronilla, new Russian screen discovery plays her first leading role. Arrived in this country less than a year ago, she has won minor roles in Pola Negri's "The Woman on Trial" and in Rowland V. Lee's "The Whirlwind of Youth."

GRANTLAND RICE ALL-TIME TEAM

Walter Eckerael,' Chicago Official, Heads His Selection

It is hard enough to try to name the eleven best football players from a single season. It is so hard that it is practically impossible, except for purposes of argument, debate and at times profane rebuttal. You can imagine then how much harder it is to name the eleven outstanding stars in American football, dating back a matter of fifty years. Such a list must be made from over fifty thousand players of rank and quality, and it is about as simple as selecting the eleven grains of sand more perfectly developed along the Atlantic or the Pacific coasts.

Yet such is the argumentative power of the football fan that he persists in comparing Heston, Coy and Grange, Hinkey and Hardwick, Heffelfinger and Hare and Glass, and every other star that once shone in the football firmament. There seem to be about five positions definitely settled when the All-Time All-American chatter breaks out like a rash. These are:

Center—Schulz, Michigan.
Guard—Heffelinger, Yale.
Guard—Hare, Pennsylvania.
Quarterback—Eckersall, Chicago.
Halfback— Heston, Michigan.

Schulz of Michigan, dating more than twenty years ago, was six feet four inches in height, weighed two hundred and forty pounds, was almost as fast as an end and a star for five seasons. Peck of Pittsburgh and several others have been used to challenge the Wolverine's claim, but all those who have played against him vote for Schulz. He stands as the fastest giant that ever played football, a human battering ram, equally tackle at either end as he brought down his man after the manner of a hawk snaring a duck.

While Heffelfinger of Yale and Hare of Pennsylvania, both dating nearly forty years, have held their fame against the current of the years, even their positions are not allowed to go unchallenged. I was talking some time ago with one of Yale's captains who later came back to coach. "The greatest guard in all football history," he said, "was Eddie Glass of Yale. He was faster and stronger than either Heffelfinger or Hare. I believe he was the strongest man that ever played football, one of the quickest and one of the smartest. Judge was a student and so was Hare. But they were not up to Eddie Glass, who had strength enough in his hands and wrists to break through any line that ever came upon the field."

This statement may be perfectly correct, yet Schulz, Heffelfinger and Hare have become embedded in tradition and their names are written in granite. It is something of a question as to whether they will ever be dethroned. There is still the memory of Heffelfinger coming back to Yale when he was fifty years old and even at that age outplaying every member of the Yale line, still too strong, too fast and too alert in line play to be held in check.

There is still the memory of the day when Schulz held a great Pennsylvania team, captained by Bill Hollenback, in check for more than half the game. When Schulz left the field, a battered hulk, the score was 0-0. Fifteen minutes later it was Pennsylvania, 31—Michigan, 0.

But the argument breaks out with even greater fury when one has passed the centre men and has come to the tackles and the ends. Among the great tackles of all time one must consider the following: Cowan, Princeton; Henry, W. and J.; Flah, Harvard; Hogan, Yale; Curtis, Michigan; Weir, Nebraska; Hart, Princeton; Henry of W. and J., a two hundred and thirty pounder who was as fast as a bounding deer, probably never had a superior at tackle play. Hector Cowan and Eddie Hart of Princeton were two of the strongest and fastest tackles of all time. Ham Fish of Harvard was a great tackle. There has been bitter disagreement among most of the ages for many years over the tackle selections and few have agreed.

Some time ago six excellent judges were asked by a magazine to name their all-time selections. The list included eleven different men at the tackle positions, the widest disagreement on the field. In the list were Hart, Cowan, Henry, Fish, Hogan, Flah, Curtis, Weir, Hilebrand and others. But the disagreement was too wide to establish any favorite.

The same was true of the ends. For a long time the two top names were Hinkey and Sherlin of Yale, with Campbell of Harvard as the next choice. Then along came Hardwick of Harvard. Then Muller of California, and the argument gathered new force. Hinkey, "the Bounding Rubber," a shining star for four years, may never be displaced in the memory of those who saw him play. But the battle among Sherlin of Yale, Hardwick of Harvard and Muller of California still goes on. These three had all the physical requisites and they all carried the vital spark, the eternal flame of competition. Muller was a much greater football player than the Middle West or the East has ever known him to be. He was a fast roving giant who on the side could pass a football seventy yards through the air and as an exponent of modern football probably stands at the top. Hinkey, Sherlin and Hardwick were much alike in the raging spirit of contest. It will take some much greater soothsayer to name the two leading stars from this quartet.

The list of great quarterbacks has been extremely long. For twenty years the name of Walter Eckersall of Chicago has headed this list in the general vote. Eckersall was a noted sprinter, and a great field general, a fine kicker and one of the best drop-kickers of all time. He was a great defensive man to keep back, either to nail the runner or to return punts through a broken field after gaining the ends sent down to nail him. Pennsylvania still stands solid under the banner of Vincent Stevenson, a ball of living dynamite, a section of raw lightning. Harvard still votes for Daley, who later starred at the Army. Michigan is certain that Benny Friedman is the smartest field general and the best passer that ever played. Hudson and Mt. Pleasant of Carlisle were two others who stood high.

But no quarterback has shown a greater number of great qualities than Eckersall showed in his all-around play. It is for this reason that he has held his place on the All-Time list for so many years.

DOG SLED TO BE OUT OF JOB NOW

Speedy Aeroplane Will Do The Work In About Five Hours

Dawson, Y.T., Dec. 5 (By The Canadian Press)—The familiar yelp of the sled dogs will soon be replaced by the whirring of an airplane propeller when the new air mail service from White Horse to Dawson is inaugurated. The long, snow-covered stretch that until now has been covered by dog sleigh in about two weeks will be crossed by the mail plane in approximately five hours and the new service, it is expected, will be in operation by the end of November.

At Skagway, Alaska, the plane, "Queen of the Yukon", a sister ship of "The Spirit of St. Louis" in which Lindbergh crossed the Atlantic, is being assembled for the flight across the mountains to White Horse, where the operating company has established headquarters.

"All that remains to be done now is to convince the sourdoughs that the airplane is as safe as the dog-sled," said one of the executives of the company. "After a while we expect to be carrying passengers as well as mail. There are plenty of good landing places in the north and we expect that the airplane will be a big factor in mining and other development up there in the future."

One of the districts the company intend to prospect, it is said by air, is the Peel River country, 200 miles above navigable water, where few Indians and no white men have ever ventured. An Indian legend says that the region is haunted by a headless white moose.

SportOgrams By "The Observer"

Baseball prospects for 1927 will be the chief topic of conversation at a meeting of the enthusiasts and supporters in the Council Chamber tonight. Things are warming up in baseball circles with the prospects of a fast team in the city next year several new players may be found in a local uniform when the season is opened. Bellevile has "boss down in the dumps" as to sports so far as the great summer pastime is concerned and considerable work will be done to revive the old spirit and get this purpose in the making of to get an early start in the spring. The Kiwanis Club have taken up the question and hope to work hand in hand with the Chamber of Commerce at Club who have had charge since the team was originally organized. The citizens of Bellevile supported a team well when the old Century league was operated but since that time things have been gradually sinking down hill. The people want baseball here and they will support a club providing the class of ball is fast enough. When some of the players left the city and others hung up their togs the officials were forced to drop back to Intermediate ranks but there is no unwillingness or feeling that the club should jump back into Senior and for this purpose the meeting has been called to-night. It is cried back and forth and criticize but the Kiwanians and the Canadian National want the general public to turn out and offer their suggestions and any criticisms before the meeting. Those who act as general rule do the most of the "scrubbing" are the crowd who take the smallest amount of interest They will be given an opportunity to express themselves tonight and a bumper crowd is expected.

On Thursday night of this week at the Y.M.C.A. the Belleville City Hockey League will be organized and all teams who desire to enter are urged to have a representative present as a start will then be made towards the formation of a new league. The Y's men's team who captured the laurels last season are coming back stronger than ever and promise to furnish plenty of opposition for the other Clubs. They have suffered a loss in the person of Stan Nurse who left during the nets last year but Manager Bob Brown states that he has secured an equally good goalie to take Nurse's place The rest of the team will remain intact and the Campbell Street aggregation will trot out a smart club when the season opens. The Canadian Nationals under the management of Addison Lloyd will be back again and the boys who sported the colors of the Express team last year will be out for a place again. Finlay Canning, Symons, Boland and the rest of the C. N. E. squad will be on hand with the Clarke brothers in the direction of 'Art Young have rounded up several fast boys to bolster the team and the East end Club will take a back-seat to none of them. The Intelligencer (Black Hawks) will be on deck again with most of the old guard including Curry, Arnold, Bill Cook, Frank Satchford, Bernie Brown, Jack Smith, Dan O'Donohue, Gene Boyle Gerald O'Brien, Sid and Bill Hopping, although the ink-slingers did not have much luck last season nevertheless they always made it later outing for opposing teams and manager Cook thinks they will be hard to beat this season. Another organization who will likely place a team in the field is the Canada Cement Club. With Alex. Weir Strachan, Dutch Marsden, Murney Green and several other speedsters around in the local circles should see a big figure in the race. They have signified their intention of playing their games at the East end Park as the other clubs are decidedly adverse to playing on the open ice. Talk at the Point. The Stevens-Adamson Company are lining up a team to enter and with the success achieved on the baseball diamond should be one of the main contenders for the Coalware, they have such players as Bill Knott, Pat Cornell and others just as fast with which to round out a team. Several other teams will enter and Belleville's city league should be a hum-dinger.

BOWLING

The Moose won four points from the Stevens-Adamson Office in the men's junior league at the Recreation Alleys last night, all of the points being closely contested and only 127 pins difference on the total score. Edwards for the Moose and Marsh for the S. A. Office were the highest bowlers.

In the senior league the Rovers were back in good form when they won the first point from the K. of C. the Rovers going over 1000 in this game, but in the second and third the Knights came back strong and counted three points. T. Austin and L. Barrett rolling the highest scores.

RESCUED EIGHT OF CREW

Port Arthur, Texas, Dec. 5.—The Japanese steamer Calcutta Maru, bound for Calcutta from Galveston, picked up a crew of eight men from the blazing schooner W. H. Marston a point 200 miles south of Mobile, Ala., late Friday, said a wireless message intercepted by the Gulf Refining Company's radio station here last night. The schooner had drifted two days after being disabled in a gale. She was set afire just before being abandoned, the message said.

TWINS WERE THE MAKING OF HIM

Pemberton Meadows, B.C., Dec. 5.—(By C.P.)—In hard luck—having twins in the family, spins Joe of the Killoocet tribe; but his mother insists on say that it has been the making of him.

Twins are not honored among the Indians of the Killoocet River country. For generations it has been the tribal custom to look askance at twins and their parents are regarded with particular scorn. Joe, who gained through years of idleness, a reputation for indolence and incompetency, thought life miserable enough already when his wife presented him with two little Joes—duplicates. After that, thought Joe, living would be unbearable.

Tribal ritual is an important issue with the Killoocet Indians and the unfortunate Joe and his wife, according to ancient custom, are required to live for several months apart from the rest of the tribe, on the outskirts of the native village. Joe must not speak or be spoken to by any other member of the tribe during the period of silence has elapsed. He must do his own work, worst of all, he must bathe in the icy waters of the Killoocet River every morning at daybreak.

But Joe appears to be doing well in spite of the punishment. Other members of the tribe declare that he is "very nice on his twelmes". He has to work for himself now and his enforced industry, together with his daily plunge in teeming wonders for him, they claim. When Joe goes back to the village, they say, he will take his place among the leaders because rather than despite the twins who bear his name.

HASTINGS, PRINCE EDWARD, NORTHUMBERLAND, PETERBOROUGH, LENNOX AND ADDINGTON

NAPANEE

Of the many pleasant social evenings which have been enjoyed from time to time by the Helping Hand Bible Class of Grace Sunday school, none eclipsed that held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Snider on Friday evening. Fully sixty members gathered to spend a social time, and a most enjoyable evening was spent in games, contests, music and readings. This class has an extremely large membership, there being over seventy-five on the roll.

The election of officers also took place at this meeting, resulting as follows:

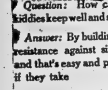

President—Enoch Rose: Vice-president—Harold Thompson; Secretary—F. J. VanAlstine; Asstd. Secretary—Clarfield silk; Treasurer—Mr. S. Shelias; Teacher—A. S. Hamilton.

Refreshments were served at the close, after which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the host and hostess.

Interesting Contest

A very interesting contest was brought to a successful conclusion at the Canadian Department Store Hop. 10, on Saturday night.

For the past three-and-a-half weeks, considerable interest has been manifest ed by the public in this contest, it being guesses on the number of stitches in a lady's sweater, which has been on exhibition. Thousands of guesses, which consisted of coupons, have been deposited in the boxes, and the results are to be known this week, there being five splendid prizes given.

Oscar Thompson spent the week-end at his home, south Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Black and son, John, motored to Stirling yesterday, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Ralph.

Tendered Banquet.

A delightful evening was spent in the Sunday school rooms of Trinity Church on Friday evening when the Ready Helpers Sunday School class tendered the choir a sumptuous banquet. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock and after the appetizing repast had been fully partaken of, the assemblage repaired to the Sunday School rooms, where the balance of the evening was spent in music, contests, and readings. J. F. Robinson, teacher, presided and a very interesting address was given by the pastor, Rev. Harry Pawson.

At the close, the choir members voiced their appreciation by tendering the class a very hearty vote of thanks.

Mrs. W. H. Milsap and sons, Billy and Douglas, motored to Stirling for the week-end, where they were the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Williams.

The weather over the week-end was the coldest recorded so far this fall, the thermometer registering 10 above zero.

There was a small market on Saturday, owing to the extreme cold weather.

Visitors in Town

J. H. Benn, of the staff of The Whig Standard, spent Saturday in Napanee, calling on Picton in the evening.

Dr. Stewart Lockridge, Tamworth, was a week-end visitor in town.

A. G. Taylor, of the staff of the Canadian National Express Company, Belleville, spent Sunday and Sunday at his home, Bridge Street.

Canada's salt production establishes a new record in 1926, with an output of 262,547 tons, valued at $1,490,140, or $479,000 more than in 1925. Ontario accounted for 96.1 percent of the total production, by 11 companies—representing a capital of $2,783,728.

PICTON

A few years ago Prof. Iva Martin presented to his boyhood school at Cherry Valley, a gift of $25 per year, or an amount equal to the expenditure of the school board for books for the school library. This year Prof. Martin made a preliminary gift of $10, in books, to the Milford school, which has been gratefully accepted. This benefaction is to be continued annually, on the same terms as the former, and will be a very valuable asset to the school libraries, an integral part of the educational system.

The death is reported of David Searcy, at the home of his son, Dr. Searcy, Evanston, Ill., husband of Mrs. Edmund Roblin, formerly of Picton. The funeral took place on Saturday from his home, 9 Rusholme Road, Toronto.

The members of the choir of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church were entertained at the home of Mrs. Macleod, Ontario street, Friday evening, after the regular choir practice. A very happy time was spent in games and music, after which refreshments were served with Mrs. Milton Gilmore, Mrs. Bidell and Miss Nelle Miller, assisting the hostess.

The Picton market was particularly large one Saturday. Eggs were selling at 60c a dozen; butter 40c a lb. Besides the dairy and farm produce, there were two foods' sales conducted, one by the Greenbush Women's Institute, and the other by the Mission Band of St. Andrew's church. Both sales disposed of delicious home-made cooking and it was a case of first come first served. The supply did not last long.

Jack Marshall, son of Dr. and Mrs. O. A. Marshall, Belleville, has been elected president of the Athletic Association of Toronto University.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Milford and family, Waupoos, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkinson, Bongards, and Mr. Percy White, have gone to England to spend the winter. The party will return in the spring.

Rev. F. Horton, Mrs. Horton and their daughters, Doris and Freda, have returned to Milford, from a motor trip to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindley Calnan are in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Faulkner, with their children, Phyllis and Bruce, of Saskatchewan, arrived in town on Saturday for the winter, and have taken up residence in Mr. J. L. Shannon's residence, Main street. Mr. and Mrs. Shannon will spend the winter at the home of the Misses Shannon, Centre street.

Mrs. W. V. Pettit and Mrs. Roland Small entertained at bridge on Thursday evening and again on Saturday evening at their home on Queen street.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Jackson have moved from Cherry Valley to Bloomfield.

Isabella Gilgour Coulthard, daughter of the late Rev. Walter and Mrs. Coulthard, of Hamilton, passed away at her home on Monday. Interment was made in Mount Pleasant cemetery, Toronto.

BLOOMFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. T. Cooper of Wimbeg are visiting the former's brother, Mr. H. T. Cooper, on Main St.

A shower was given to Mrs. Geo. McStevens (nee Lavina Cooper) on Tuesday night at the home of her parents. She had called to spend the evening when about 9 o'clock her friends and neighbors walked in with well-filled baskets and took her fully by surprise. Little Miss Cooper then came in with the doll carriage of presents and after Mrs. McStevens had unwrapped them all, she thanked her many friends in a few well-chosen words, and invited them down to visit her in the near future. The evening was spent in games and then a dainty lunch was served. About midnight the guests departed, wishing Mrs. McStevens a happy, successful future.

Miss Alma Thompson spent Wednesday with Mrs. J. Boles at Picton.

Mr. John Rollinson and Little Betty Allison have returned home after spending the past week at Pleasant Bay.

Miss Eva Morris spent the week-end with Miss Rogers at Gilbert's Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. U. Phillips and family of Harold, Ont., are holidaying with Mrs. Phillips' parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Thompson of Pleasant Bay and Mrs. W. Thompson of Wellington spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Les Allison.

Mr. Ed Mrs. A. W. Branncombe and Mr. Orvis attended the Friends Quarterly meeting at Wellington on Sunday.

Miss Evelyn Harvey took tea on Monday with Miss Alma Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stafford (nee Ruth Haight) have returned home from their honeymoon trip and are living in Picton.

Miss Amelia Porter who has been ill for the past week is able to be back at her position in the bakery store.

A Letter From the North Pole

North Pole,
Dec. 2, 1927

Dear Messrs. Boys and Misses Girls:

Santa Claus has said that perhaps you might like to know how the reindeer ran away with me the other day. Well, it happened like this:

You can imagine that they like it when the time comes to go down to the cities and towns where all the little boys and girls live, and clatter over the roofs, and dodge among the chimneys, and send the snow sliding down over the eaves. Well, the other morning, I guess they thought it was time to go for they started off in a hurry, and the faster I pulled them, the faster they went, over the hills and forests and snow plains, with the snow flying up from their feet whenever we touched the ground.

Well, I thought it wouldn't do to get down too soon, because Mr. Santa wouldn't be ready, and so little boys and girls would have their stockings hang up, so I set them right onwards and up-wards until I drove them into a wide cloud and by pulling gently on one rein I turned them round without their knowing it. Then down we came from the cloud, and away they went over the snow plains and forests and hills, and soon I was at the North Pole once home until they got there!

Well, I'm sure you'll be pleased that they did not come down to the cities and towns too soon.

Yours truly,
KLAUSTEN SANTAMAN,
Head Groom,
Reindeer Stables.

Get your Letters In by Thursday!

Santa sends word that though he hates to set a time limit, owing to his "tremendjus" correspondence this year, he wants all the letters in that come by way of the Canadian Department Store mail service, by Thursday December 8th. He thinks all little girls and boy have decided what they want him to bring them on Christmas Eve by now. And on Friday morning the red letter box will be empty—so hurry if you want yours to be in time

CHILD VICTIM OF ACCIDENT DIES IN THE HOSPITAL

County Council Wants Government to Take Over the Entire Costs of Provincial Highways

DRURY OBJECTS TO RESOLUTION AFFECTING HIM

Fireworks At Opening Of The U.F.O. Convention In Toronto

ECHO OF ELECTION

Censures Ex-Premier For Attitude In North Huron Campaign

Toronto, Dec. 7.—A motion limiting discussion by each member to resolutions to fifteen minutes precipitated fireworks at the opening session of the United Farmers of Ontario annual convention today. The convention had opened in an atmosphere of calm and had proceeded serenely through brief address of President, W. A. Amos the reading and adoption of minutes and approval of Secretary J. J. Morrison's report.

Then came resolutions and immediately the question arose as to how long each person would be allowed to discuss a given resolution. Former Progressive leader E. C. Drury, ex-Prime Premier of Ontario; declared there was one resolution affecting his personal honor and he wanted time to state his attitude.

Affected His Honor

The resolution to which Mr. Drury referred as affecting his personal honor, reads as follows:

"Whereas, the principle of 'riding autonomy' on which the U.F.O. steadfastly adheres gives U.F.O. riding associations the right to place a candidate in the field if they see fit.

"And, whereas the United Farmers of North Huron saw fit to place a candidate in the field to contest that riding in the interests of the U.F.O. on the occasion of the recent by-election and in doing so, followed closely the rules governing the nomination of candidates as laid down by the U.F.O.

"And, whereas the U.F.O. nominee as well as the U.F.O., its officials and speakers were subject to attack from Liberal platforms during the campaign by one prominent in the U.

"Therefore be it resolved that this F.O. movement, convention go on record as endorsing the action of North Huron United Farmers in so far as that by-election is concerned, and that persons responsible be censured for making an unfriendly and uncalled for attack upon the U.F.O. nominee, as well as the U.F.O. officials as speakers."

BROKEN LEG IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

Steering Gear Jammed Sending Car Into a Deep Ditch

Mr. R. A. Reid, a farmer residing near Shannonville, sustained a broken left leg and minor body injuries when the car in which he was driving left the highway west of Shannonville about ten o'clock this morning, plunging into the ditch and partially turning over. Mr. W. S. Dies who was riding in the car suffered some lacerations above the right eye.

The men were returning from Belleville. When the driver, Mr. Reid attempted to pass another car, something went wrong with the steering gear and the motor headed for the ditch on the north side of the road. The accident occurred on the highway is partly blamed for the accident.

A passing motorist conveyed Mr. Reid to the hospital where Dr. Sargeant, of Shannonville was called to attend him. Mr. Dies was able to be taken to his home.

The radiator of the car was badly damaged when it struck the ditch.

ONE-ARMED PILOT COMPLETES TEST

Berlin, Dec. 7.—To test the merits of the Seinkel automatically opening parachute, a one-armed Capt. Arrogondo of the Chilian air force successfully negotiated the parachute jump from an aeroplane at the height altitude of 2800 feet. Capt. Arrodondo is commissioned to order the parachute for his government.

MAY RETURN TO FRANCE

Guy and Franc ois de Lesseps

sons of Count de Lesseps, aviator, whose body was washed ashore on the Newfoundland coast. He had been missing since October. The sons, who are aged 18 and 15 respectively, being students at Appleby school, near Toronto, may proceed to France after the funeral to attend school there. To retain their French citizenship they must fulfil the required period of military service before returning to Canada. Whether Guy will accept his father's title is stated to be at present undecided.

RIGID ECONOMY IS NECESSARY TO CUT U. S. TAXES BY $225,000,000

President Coolidge Presents Budget Calling For $4,258,780,765

Washington, Dec. 7.—Presenting a budget of $4,258,780,765 for the next fiscal year to Congress today, President Coolidge stressed the necessity for limiting prospective tax reduction to $225,000,000 as recommended by Secretary Mellon. In his letter of transmittal he also cautioned against any action which might jeopardize "a balanced budget."

The Government's total appropriations recommended by the President cancel last year's budget by $244,222,911 and the amounts actually appropriated by Congress for current year by $116,658,219.

The largest item in the new budget is for national defence, an appropriation of $645,000,000 as compared with a total of $625,000,000 available this year being advocated. The increase is accounted for mainly by the naval building programme, army housing and continuation of the five year aviation programme for the army and navy.

A reduction of even $225,000,000 in taxes, Mr. Coolidge emphasized is dependent on "continued prosperity" and rigid governmental economics.

YOUNG CONSERVATIVE RALLY TO IS-NIGHT

Tonight the Young Men's Conservative Club hold their annual meeting in the Conservative Club Rooms when they will elect their officers and complete their organization for the coming year. The business is not expected to take up much time and following this there will be two or three short snappy speeches, plenty of music, some rather better than ordinary singing and refreshments. The officers have been hard at work to prepare a pleasant evening and it is hoped that all members and interested members will be present when the meeting opens.

A FRIENDLY TIP

Chicago, Dec. 7.—Morris Simon informed a holdup gang last night that he was the manager of the "Co-operative cleaners and dyers." "Allright," replied the gang leader, "you'll co-operate with me, too, Simon, boys." They escaped with $1,150.

OFFERED TEN THOUSAND TO MURDER HER HUSBAND

Cincinnati, Ohio, Dec. 7.—Gene Remus, on trial for his life for the slaying of his wife became hysterical in the courtroomtoday when Harry Trumbull of Hamilton, Ohio, calmly testified how he had watched Remus for days in an effort to kill him for the payment of ten thousand dollars offered by Mrs. Remus, the woman Remus slew on Oct. 6, last.

Remus, sitting next to his tilter, also became hysterical. The court was recessed and Remus's frenzied screams echoed down the court house corridors. Remus first buried his face in a handkerchief and sobs shook his big shoulders. He peered in from beside the piece of linen and from his seat jerkily asked the Judge, "Trumbull, can he have an adjournment."

"He'll try will be escaped," assisted Judge Shook, and Remus let men and the women of the jury filed out.

ASK GOVERNMENT TO ASSUME ALL COSTS OF ROADS

Hastings County Council Concurs In Resolution From Renfrew

AIRHART IN CHAIR

Want Grants To Townships For Roads And Bridges Increased

Owing to the fact that Warden Harryett was engaged in seeing interests this morning Ex-Warden Airhart of Marmora assumed the chair and presided over the session of the County Council.

A communication from the County of Renfrew asking the local body to concur in a resolution for the Government to assume the costs of provincial highways was received.

Owing to the fact that Warden Harryett was engaged in seeing interests this morning Ex-Warden Airhart of Marmora assumed the chair and presided over the session of the County Council.

A communication from the County of Renfrew asking the local body to concur in a resolution for the Government to assume the costs of provincial highways was received.

Deputy-Reeve Bell of Tudor and Cashel moved that the Council memorialize the Government to erect a home at Orillia for mental defectives who cannot be accommodated at the House of Refuge.

It was moved by R. M. Mitchell, seconded by George Bailey that this Council memorize the Government to asking the Government to erect a home at once. It is felt that such a home would fill a long-felt need throughout the Province in taking care of those who are not fitted for the House of Refuge. It was unanimous that it will be a move in the right direction.

The report of the Grand Jury submitted at the autumn assizes was read by the County Clerk. It showed that the County buildings were in excellent shape and the inmates were well taken care of. A recommendation was also inserted that one of the inmates of the House of Refuge be removed to another institution.

The report was ordered filed by the Council.

A letter was received from W. C. Mikel, County Solicitor requesting a place in which to place valuable current files. He suggested the purchase of a number of metal filing cabinets that would keep the documents safe from fire and dampness. The matter was referred to the finance Committee.

A communication received from the Institute for the Blind asking for a grant, was referred to the Committee acting on ways and means.

A communication was received from C. I. Frederick referring to a grant for the Toronto Exhibition. The County's share is $35.32. The matter was referred to the committee on ways and means.

The account of the Mother's Allowance was referred to ways and means.

THE Council received a letter from the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, asking for a donation. This matter was also referred to ways and means. Another communication from the Canadian Red Cross was referred to the same committee.

Highway Tax

A communication was received from the County of Prescott in regard to the present system of taxation on the counties for provincial highways. The County of Prescott have passed a resolution protesting against the present system of taxation. The County must pay for the upkeep of

INDIAN IS GIVEN $2225 DAMAGES

Echo Of Accident When Bus Hit Carload Of Lacrosse Players

Almer Hill, an Indian living near Wiarton, Ont., was awarded $2225 in a suit heard against the Toronto Transportation Co., in which he claimed $5,000. The action was heard before the Honorable Mr. Justice Wright in the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court held in the local Court House this morning.

The action arose out of an accident which occurred near Wiarton on June 6th, 1927. Hill suffered, he alleged, serious injuries when the car in which he was driving was struck by one of the Toronto Transportation Co. buses running between Owen Sound and Toronto Hill, along with several other Indians was on his way to Cornwall to play in a lacrosse match in that City. He claimed that the bus in question cut in striking his car, inflicting serious injuries on himself and considerably shaking up the other occupants of the car. Five witnesses, occupants of the bus gave evidence for the defence and nine for the plaintiff.

In passing judgment Justice Wright said that he accepted the evidence of the man named Hill, as against that of the chauffeur who verified the statement of the Plaintiff that the bus had cut in. Colonel Herbert Lennox, K. C. of Toronto and Major R. D. Ponton, Belleville, acted for the defence and Charles Payne of Belleville, for Plaintiff.

PROMINENT MAN LEFT NO TRACE

Major Osborne Lean Of Toronto Missing—Seen In Bowmanville?

Bellevill: City Police and Provincials have been asked to maintain a vigilant watch for Major Osborne Lean, prominent Toronto financier, who mysteriously disappeared from his home one week ago. He is believed to have been seen in Bowmanville in the latter part of last week and is thought to be heading in this direction.

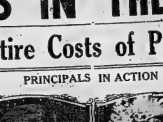

Lean's family are exerting every possible effort to uncover any trace that may lead to his whereabouts. The authorities all along the Lake Shore have been requested to watch for the missing man.

Word from Bowmanville states that one man answering to Lean's description was acting in a mysterious manner which indicated that he was in a decidedly unsettled mental state. His actions while talking to a citizen of that town gave rise to fears that he might become violent. He inquired the way to the police station and also to the nearest physician's office and when informed, he made as if to strike at the informant.

Boy Scouts and Police all along the line are assisting in the search. Inspector of a fine family in Toronto and his relatives are sparing no efforts to trace him.

STOCKS SLUMPED

Pres. Coolidge's Announcement Of Retirement Affects Market

New York, Dec. 7.—Sharp recessions in many of the important issues, ranging from one to four dollars or more a share occurred at the opening of the stock market today. Selling was attributed to President Coolidge's reiteration of his intention not to be a candidate next year and perhaps to some fears that the shipment of one million dollars in gold to England might be followed by other transactions and lead to higher interest rates.

LOST HIS PANTS AND SO HE MISSED NIGHT SCHOOL

Saddest item in the news of today! He missed his night school because he couldn't find his pants!

Found—One blue overcoat, one felt brown overcoat, one suit and vest, blu with white stripes, one pair of blue pants, all picked up by a Police Officer in a back yard off Front street. In the pockets of the suit was found some papers that showed the owner was "Charles Mills, a boarder at Mrs. Baitley's home, 307 1-2 Front street.

Upon investigation it was discovered that the clothes in question has been missed during the evening. In fact they had been missed so much that Mr. Mills was not able to attend night school. The owner called for his equipment at the Police Station today, and he discovered that the thief, or thieves, had not touched some money that was reposing in one of the pockets.

HILDA REID DIES OF INJURIES AT CITY HOSPITAL

Blood Transfusion Yesterday Failed To Save Child's Life

VEIN SEVERED

Inquest Into Fatal Accident Opens At 3 O'Clock This Afternoon

Hilda Reid, the little four-year-old child injured terribly in the automobile accident on Monday evening, died at nine o'clock this morning, despite an unceasing battle for her life. Yesterday her uncle, W. Williams of Bloomfield, submitted to a blood transfusion operation which proved unavailing as the child had not the strength to rally.

When she was thrown through the windshield her jugular vein was severed and despite prompt action on the part of Dr. Morgan little Hilda lost too much blood before the wounds could be staunched. It was hoped on the night of the accident and yesterday that the life of the tiny victim could be saved, but her injuries proved too serious.

The father of the child, W. Reid, also injured in the accident, was taken to his home on the Trent Road in the ambulance this morning but will be confined to his bed for a few days. Hilda was the youngest of nine children. An inquest will be held at three o'clock this afternoon.

FREIGHT ENGINEER SLOWLY IMPROVING

Smith's Falls, Dec. 7.—Engineer Joseph Bradford, of the ill-fated eastbound C.P.R. freight which figured in the Dockrill wreck, is making a slow recovery from his injuries and the shock he sustained.

It was stated at the General Hospital here that owing to what had to be taken, not to upset him or cause him any strain as his condition is still serious, he refuses to discuss the wreck or his part in it.

CAPACITY GROUP IN DEATH HOUSE

Sing Sing Prison Home Of Many Convicted Killers

Ossining, N.Y., Dec. 7.—The Sing Sing death-house population was near a record today, Joseph Lefkowitz, east side jewelry merchant, sentenced in Brooklyn to die for plotting the death of Benjamin Goldstein, his former partner, brought the list of persons awaiting death in the electric chair to sixteen.

Lefkowits and others have been sentenced to die the week of January 8 and all except three cases appeal automatically delay the execution. Mrs. Ruth Snyder, the only woman in the death house and Henry Judd Gray, convicted of the killing the woman's husband in Queens, Long Island, are the most prominent members of the grim little community. They will be the executed week of January 9, their sentences, together with that of Charles J. Rosen, convicted of murder during a hold up in Albany were upset recently by court appeal, the highest tri bunal in the States.

INQUEST OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

The inquest into the death of little Hilda Reid, victim of an automobile accident on Monday evening, was held in Belleville Burial Co. Parlors late this afternoon. The jury empanelled in this inquest include, Mr. T. P. J. Flowers, W. H. Painter, L. Greene, S. Hamilton, James Hare, Daniel Doyle, C. Walters, H. Cochrane and G. Painter.

The inquest was adjourned until Monday, December 19th, the only testimony heard being that of Dr. Morgan, attending physician.

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

Nor love thy life, nor hate; but what thou liv'st
Live well, how long or short permit to heav'n.

MILTON.

VALUE OF DEFEAT

The President of an American University recently gave utterance to a thought which should act as an encouragement to those who sometimes find the contest of life as uncertain and discouraging struggle. He was addressing the annual banquet of the football association. It had been a bad year for the team. In each contest they had found themselves confronted by superior players, and hosts of the games had been lost. This is what their President said:

"Our team has not been made up of iron men, just human beings. Even if it was possible to repeat last year's record, glorious as it was, heaven forbid. We would be swamped by boys who want athletics and not education. The defeats have been good for us. Defeats are life. Not a man on earth always succeeds. Philosophy is evidently one of the subjects in which this professor excels. A lecturer appearing in an Ontario city a few years ago, boasted of the fact that he was educated in the 'University of Hard Knocks.' Facing defeat with courage, and a determination to plug up the weak spots, and turn defeat into victory in the next encounter, is what builds character. One gets an entirely wrong conception of the real life when things "come too easy" because the best things in life are the most difficult to attain, and they are not usually secured with a single attempt (swain them.

Boys who learn how to accept defeat in games in the proper spirit, and to whom defeat only means a determination to put forth a better effort next time, are receiving the finest training for the game of life—a training which is absolutely essential, if they are to succeed.

SPLENDID SHOWING

Provincial Treasurer Monteith's financial statement for the fiscal year ending October 31 is a highly satisfactory document. It presents evidence of Ontario's prosperity. It is the brightest financial statement made by a provincial treasurer since the Ferguson government succeeded to office. There is actually a surplus of revenue over expenditure — the first surplus in several years. True, it is not a large one—only $287,200; but it is a surplus, and it looks quite important when contrasted with the deficit of $19,000,000 in 1923, the last year the Drury government was in office.

The good showing is all the more impressive when it is considered that the election expense of more than half a million is included in the expenditure, and also that $1,500,000 of capital was motoring this year was met out of ordinary revenue.

One of the causes of the financial buoyancy is the revenue received under the Liquor Control Act. In the first 9 months of operation the sale of permits and liquor brought in a revenue of $2,300,000, which is at the rate of nearly $8,000,000 per annum.

Should the provincial finances continue to show the buoyancy which is reflected in this year's statement, it will be reasonable to expect a lightening of the tax burden soon.

KEEP POLLS OPEN

Now that the excitement is over, the victory complimented and the loser, consoled, it is time to point out a charge fault in the handling of the municipal elections. Citizens are criticized for not voting and one of the chief reasons that more did not exercise their franchise was the closing of the polls at five o'clock.

Scores of working men find it difficult, if not impossible to get to the polling booths before five. Great numbers do not quit work until five or five thirty and in the lunch hour there is not time to vote.

Then many were fooled by thinking the polls stayed open until six as was the rule in the Provincial and Federal elections and went to the booths only to find themselves too late.

It is safe to say that several hundred more votes would have been cast last Monday had the closing hour been six o'clock and surely that would have been a desirable change. Can it not be arranged for next year?

A GOOD FRIEND

Crisp weather is with us again—an old friend, and a good friend, if met in the right way.

Rightly understood, our winters are not a drawback to our climate in general. Cold, snappy weather is health -giving, invigorating weather, if we give it a chance.

If our only response is to put on heavy clothing and stay close to the steam radiators, of course, there is no benefit to health or spirits, but rather the reverse. But get out in it, defy it, and it becomes surprisingly friendly and companionable.

Here's how: Wrap up reasonably well and slip out. Walk a block briskly regardless of the cold—you will want to return to steam heat, but stay with it. Keep on walking briskly, and speedily you will find yourself enjoying it—heart pumping strongly, blood tingling, a pleasure warmth, and the air in your lungs positively exhilarating. Do it once, and Old Man Winter will hold no terrors for you henceforth and for ever.

Better still, if you can, get onto winter sports of some kind—skating, tobogganing, snowshoeing or anything of the kind.

Cold weather holds no terrors for those who meet it fully out-of-doors. The coldest days are those who put their faith in furnace heat indoors.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

Here's to laughter, the sunshine of the heart, the happiness of the breath heaven of youth, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the head of the cup of pleasure.

It dispels dejection, banishes blue mind mangles melancholy; for it's the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression the enemy of grief. It is what kings envy the humble, the rich envy the poor, physicians envy the innocent.—New York Life.

Although Lindsay had reached the status of a town in 1857, very primitive conditions of life continued for several years. Police protection was inadequate. The dirty tavern on many a corner turned out drunkards in large numbers and immorality was rife. Brawls and disorderlies than a number of citizens formed a vigilance committee in 1877 and burned down all the more notorious brothels throughout the town. After this purging by fire it transpired that the chief of police himself had been a protector and patron of those houses of ill fame. A late as the eighties cows, geese and does wandered all over the streets up

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

The Vicar made a bad break the other day. At the close of the anthem he rose to preach, and tactlessly chose the text, "Now when the noise had ceased—"

But the choir got their own back. At the end of the long sermon they rose and spontaneously burst into the anthem, "And when we awoke from our sleep."

A young Toronto girl who was holidaying in the country became rather friendly with a young farmer. One evening as they were strolling in the fields they happened across a cow and a calf rubbing noses in the accepted bovine fashion.

"Ah," said the young farmer, "that sight makes me want to do the same."

"Well, go ahead," said the girl, encouragingly. "It's your cow."

In the lounge of a West End restaurant a little girl and her mother were awaiting the arrival of a friend. Presently a man with a lump came in and sat down near them.

"Oh mamma," said the little girl, in a loud, startled voice, "look at that man. His legs are longer than each other. Isn't he awful?"

The woman bent over the child and whispered fiercely:

"Hush! Hush, you little imp! He'll hear you."

"But," protested the little girl, with a bewildered look—"but doesn't he know it?"

THE PASSING YEARS

(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Alderman Falkiner is in Toronto today.

Yesterday afternoon the Ladies' Aid of Holloway St. Church were sewing in one of the Sunday School rooms. One lady had a baby on one of the sewing machines on which she was working and the jarring knocked it off A fire immediately broke out which however, was put out before doing any real damage.

Mrs. John McAdam fell on the slippery sidewalk at the corner of Front and Dundas streets this morning and broke her wrist. The injured member was set by Dr. Yeomans.

An interesting event took place last evening at the residence of Mrs. John Caniff, corner Benjamin and Yeomans streets, when her daughter Miss Ida M. became the wife of Alderman I. O Ponton. Rev. J. J. Rice performed the ceremony. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Blanche Caniff and Mr Henry Johnson acted as best man After partaking of a wedding supper the young couple drove to their new home on Moira St. Both are well-known and deservedly popular in the City.

It is understood that Mr. J. W. Johnson the present Mayor of Belleville will be a candidate for re-election. It would be a fitting recognition of his services to the municipality if he were elected by acclamation, as he was last year, and we trust that this will be done.

TO INVESTIGATE FALSE ARRESTS

Public Enquiry Ordered By Home Secretary Is Of Importance

London, By Mail.—The preliminary police enquiry into the cases of Major J. Bell Murray and Mr. Francis Champion, whose convictions on unestablished police evidence, by separate London magistrates were quashed on appeal, will be conducted immediately. It will be an informal investigation for the purpose of placing all the facts before Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the Home Secretary, who has decided for full reports on both cases.

Sir William Horwood, the commissioner of police, who has been in office for years, is returning to London, and will at once go into the circumstances of each case.

Police witnesses in both prosecutions will prepare detailed reports and when the commissioner has sifted the evidence of the police he will prepare a memorandum for the Home Secretary.

Sir William Joynson-Hicks will only take further action until he has studied his commissioner's report, which will be ready for him early in the week. It is probable that he will confer with Sir William Horwood on the matter.

An official public enquiry will be ordered by the Home Secretary, if he considers that the questions at issue are of sufficient importance. This would probably be an enquiry similar to that ordered in the River Plate case, but it is possible that the Home Office enquiry might be entirely beyond the consideration of the particular cases to include general questions of the relations of the public and the police, and of prosecutions on unsecured evidence of identification.

If the Home Secretary does not see fit to order a special enquiry, the cases of Major Bell and Mr. Champion will be heard on appeal entirely on their merits.

It will then be left entirely to the discretion to decide whether there is reason for further investigation of the conduct of the police concerned in the two cases.

The duty of the policeman were considered to have been at fault, they would have to appear before the Disciplinary Board of senior police officials, which directs at Scotland Yard.

It is understood that the Home Secretary has asked, not only for full reports on the two indictment cases, but for full particulars of the police methods in all cases of the identification parade, particularly for information of what steps are taken to obtain corroborative evidence from independent sources.

This may lead to a thorough investigation of the police methods of identifying suspects, and possibly to the issue of new regulations for the guidance of the force.

A prominent barrister who has been retained in one of the recent notable cases affecting the police and the publication of reports in favor of a full official inquiry current, the reverse to reduce to such cases.

"Our present system is fair neither to the police, the magistrates, nor to the public," he said to a press representative.

"The police are confronted with a difficult task. They have to make arrests if they are to keep the streets clean, but it is sometimes difficult to obtain independent evidence in unpleasant cases.

"Magistrates are placed in a dilemma. If they convict on police evidence alone, they run the risk of making a grave mistake. If they hesitate to accept uncorroborated police evidence they are liable to be pilloried—as they have been—in the pages of the annual report of the Commissioner of Police.

"A successful appeal against a police conviction which is not a great deal of publicity makes police officers extremely cautious about arrests. After a prosecution case has been worked up, and the tendency is to slip into the habit of arresting them off-hand without due regard to their conduct at that moment."

TRY SALTS IF KIDNEYS HURT

Drink Water Freely and Often to Keep Kidneys Flushed and Clean

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which irritate the kidneys and then the whole kidney filter or strain only part of the poisonous acid passes from the blood, then you get sick, rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if bothered by cloudy, scanty, smarting, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or also have rheumatic pains or suffering, begin to drink salt water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable druggist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, there by avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

DIRECTORS MEET
The directors of the Y's Men Club held a business meeting at the home of Mr. Vernon Wright last evening with about ten present. After the business of the club had been transacted a social evening was spent followed by a supper.

SHOOTING MORE SCENES
After several days of rehearsing Captain Bruce Bairnsfather had his "Trooper" out on the lot this morning shooting scenes for "Carry on Sergeant" which is being filmed at Trenton. The carpet of snow on the ground provided an ideal setting for the latest scenes of this Canadian made picture. Over three hundred people have been employed in the making of the picture. Each day new stars arrive and work will continue throughout the winter months. Trenton merchants are benefitting considerably by the new arrivals. Each day after the work is done the results are shown on the screen at the studio and any defects in the picture corrected.

ROTARY TO NAPANEE
Ten members from the Belleville Rotary Club attended the first anniversary of the organization of the Napanee Club last evening which was sponsored by the Kingston Club a year ago and were lavishly entertained by the host Rotary ceremony. The Belleville aggregation assisted with the musical program, Messrs. J. A. Thomson and Al. Stillman rendering solos. Mr. Charles Gordon, President of the Kingston Rotary Club, acted as chairman and Mr. William Harrison, of Toronto, a former Napanee man gave a vocational talk on Cod Liver Oil.

MAYOR THOMPSON WILL TAKE ACTION

Chicago, Dec. 7.—Immediate action on the war demands of the Chicago street car men or the strike of both surface and elevated employees was the ultimatum which Mayor Thompson gave today. Twenty thousand men would be involved. The men have lost patience because of dilatory tactics, employed to arbitrate and insist the strike or settlement be reached" said William Quinlan, president of the street car men's local.

The elevated employees are not involved in the wage dispute, but have promised to strike in sympathy with the surface car men. Mayor Thompson in Washington said "Chicago needn't worry, there will be no strike. If the companies and men cannot agree I will step in personally. But I have not abandoned the hope of arbitration."

going strong.

There was a large gathering of companions at last night's meeting, many of them from a distance, Wellington, Napanee, Kingston and elsewhere.

Excellent refreshments in Odd Fellows hall presided at the banquet, where several fine solos and toasts were given.

The toast to the King and the Craft was the first, to Grand Chapter and Grand Chapter Officers the second. This was proposed by Ex Comp. W. C. Mikel and responded to by R. P. Comp. H. J. Clarke, Gr. Supt. of D. District, No. 11. Following this toast Mrs. O. E. McKinnon favoured with a solo.

The next toast was to Our Absent Companions, proposed by Mr. Ex. Comp. W. N. Ponton, and one to our newly elected officers was proposed by Bro. Webster and responded to by the newly installed officer. This was followed by a role by Comp. J. H. Wilmer. The toast to the visiting companion was proposed by R. E. Comp. S. B. Scanlebury and responded to by the visitors.

BOWEN-BARBER
DWesernio, Dec. 7.—A very pretty and interesting wedding was solemnized in the Presbyterian manse last Saturday at 11 a.m. by Rev. Mr. Irwin when Miss Ruby Barber was united in marriage with Mr. Percy Bowen. Miss Barber is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barber, who for number of years have resided on Dundas street.

The bride looked charming in her wedding regalia. She was attended by her parents and Miss Janet Bowen, a sister of the groom. The groom was assisted by his father, Mr. F. M. Bowen.

In tying the nuptial knot the impressive ring ceremony was used by the minister.

The bride and groom have been brought up in Deseronto environment and are well and favorably known in a large circle of friends and relatives who heartily wish them well.

The groom is a former member of the widely and well-known Bowen farm by which has lived in and around Deseronto for over 100 years. The groom's grandfather located at the bridge of Deseronto more than 80 years ago. He was the first white child born in Cockrich, Ont. His death was announced a few years ago at the age of 90.

ASK GOVERNMENT

Provincial Highways Department expressed at each County for this purpose reaches a high figure each year. The Provincial Government should take over the responsibility and maintenance of all the main thoroughfares of the roads without any costs to the County. The County of Hastings endorsed all the resolutions.

On Tuesday, February 28th, 1928, a delegation from the Municipalities Conference Committee will interview the Minister of Highways, Hon. Geo. S. Henry in an effort to get the matter carried out and all Townships have been invited to send a representative. An effort will be made to have the grants for Township Roads from thirty to fifty per cent. The County Council will have delegates at the January sessions. It was pointed out that the Provincial Government will cut off the Colonization Roads Department and incorporate it with another department. It is quite sad that at the Good Roads Convention the Premier stated that the Colonization Roadways would be self-sustaining and Counties would not have to support the up-keep of the highways.

A letter from Horace L. Britton, secretary of the Provincial Police Force, stating that the Provincial Police Force in the Province, was ordered filled.

The Reeve of Hungerford was notified that he would introduce a by-law tomorrow providing for the appointment of auditors.

Road Chairman James Moore gave the following roads that he would introduce a by-law touching on roads and bridges of dodn soon in Tofonto, and that the County in which all orders under evidence taken were quashed. No 20 feet would fall on the expenditures would be taken. No new witness would be called.

The question of a grant to the Doc Tomlinson Park was discussed. Reeve Pitcher will probably be handed a by-law providing for a grant of $1,000 to the Township.

The question of a grant to the Belleville and Hastings Agricultural Society was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. Ministers from other denominations will be asked to make room for the Hall Rid Cross Hospital was referred who desire to be received in the Presbyterian pulpits in Canada. The matter was carried over from the previous meeting. The by-law providing for the appointment of auditors was passed.

FAMOUS POET AT CANADIAN CLUB

PHONE 329

Professor E. J. Pratt, Victoria College, Will Speak Here

Professor E. J. Pratt of Victoria College, Toronto, who addressed the Rotary Canadian Club here on Saturday afternoon is a poet of no small ability. He is well known as a writer of unusual and somewhat titanic poems. He has just returned from a lecture trip through the West, minus his razor, toothbrushes, pajamas and several other personal possessions. "I know I left a good toothbrush in Winnipeg," Prof. Pratt admitted but that was all the positive information he had of the location of his lost articles.

Professor Pratt, familiarly known as Ned Pratt, was born in Newfoundland but has lived in Canada practically all his life. For a number of years he has guided the destinies of young Canada in the field of literature at Victoria College. He possesses the spirit of youth, a necessary requirement for a poet of this type apparently. Prof. Pratt has just completed a lecture tour through Western Canada, lecturing under the auspices of the National Association of Canadian Clubs. His new poem, "Toronto Down" bids fair to become as popular as his earlier successes, "Witches Brew" and the "Titanic," by anyone who has heard Prof. Pratt will realize what an imaginative mind he is in possession of with the smallest shimmering of literary ambition.

Prof. Pratt admits that he has enjoyed lecturing to the ladies and feels that he was greatly honored by the large audiences of Women's Club members who came out to hear his talking says Prof. Pratt, "the chance of being utterly bored."

In the opinion of Prof. Pratt this is a wonderful period for the Canadian writer. He is everywhere welcomed with enthusiasm. The appreciation of Canadian railways and the Canadian Clubs, the railways run the clubs and the clubs gather the audiences and "I do the best I can," Prof. Pratt says, which is indeed a very fine contribution.

SUSTAINED CALL TO REV. M'LEAN

Kingston Presbytery Dispatched a Heavy Docket Of Business

The Kingston Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church in Canada dispatched a long docket of business at a largely attended meeting held in St. Andrew's Church, Kingston, on Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. A. D. Archibald, Moderator, presided, and there was a good attendanceof ministers and elders. A fine spirit prevailed at the meeting and even the Budget text which sometimes proves a stumbling block was taken up with determination. The Budget year is not yet ended, but the reports which were given in were excellently satisfactory. The action of the Moderator in sending a letter of sympathy to the Hungerford Presbytery to the Rev. John W. Stephen on the occasion of the death of his father, was not only honorably minuted, but commended.

A call was presented from St. Andrew's Church, Picton, in favor of Rev. J. A. H. McLean, B.A., of Milton, Ont. Mr. McLean is a graduate in Arts from Oxford University, England, and though he is a Canadian born, he has been in the United States for his pastorates in Canada—one in Glengarry, and one in Hungerford Presbytery. The call was sustained and provisional arrangements made for his induction in Picton next month at 8 in the evening, the Moderator to preside and Rev. Dr. Norman MacLeod, Rev. A. K. Reid to give the charge to the minister and Rev. C. K. Stirell to charge the people. Rev. Donald Mr. McLean go to Picton he will receive a most hearty welcome.

Rev. Mr. Stewart gave a report on Home Missions, calling attention to the need of ministers also to the mattrfcuiate department in Knox College, Toronto.

Presbytery Assembly
Rev. C. E. Kidd reported on behalf of a committee appointed to consider matters which were considered by the recommended that the Assembly should sit as at present, and also that the powers of the Synod be not increased.

It was announced that a decision on the famous case of St. John's church will be rendered shortly.

FIRE-BUG HELD BY HULL POLICE

Paugan Falls, Quebec, Is Swept By $25,000 Conflagration

Hull, Que., Dec. 7.—Arrested in connection with the fire which swept the village of Paugan Falls yesterday with an estimated damage of $25,000 Joseph Rockwell, 18, of Hull Jail has been held. The charge on which he was taken into custody was not made known. The fire broke out in one of the bedrooms of the Chaillon boarding house and swept through eight buildings before it could be halted. Two boarding houses, two stores, a laundry and three residences were destroyed, and more than one hundred persons were left penniless. Fifty employees of the construction company building dam on the Gatineau river adjacent the village lost all their belongings in the boarding houses. Despite the fire the village people turned out in full force to attend a dance last night. Those who lost their clothes in the fire were able to attend in borrowed finery.

TODAYS MARKETS

Mrt Stocks, Steam
New York, N.Y., Dec. 7—Pronounced reactionary tendencies developed in today's stock market. The opening was heavy in spots, there was a tendency to accelerate the movement and the Curb stocks were ragged. It is commonly believed that the next president will be elected in the first week of December, and that the market was entitled to a period of recession after the extremely recent sharpted advance. Early declines ran from one to twelve points in some of the high priced issues.

Not all of the days news was unfavorable however, further expansion of earnings to 11.50 cents was announced in spite of record output, call money was renewed at four per cent instead of 4 1-2 and monetary action in his annual report to shareholders today characterized business as fundamentally sound and back an optimistic view of future. Sterling exchange dropped from high of $4.82 9-32 for cables on London yesterday to $4 83-16 today, commercial setting at rest fears of heavy gold shipments in the immediate future. Settlement date 1914 which leaves tonight.

EIGHER GRAIN PRICES
Chicago, Dec. 7—Blizzard weather in the Northwest sent wheat prices and grain buyers predominated in all fields and selling was of only scattered sort. Wheat started at 1-4c to 1-2c advance and subsequently hardened little more. Corn opened at 1-4c to 1-2c higher to 1-4c to 1-2c higher at 62 3-8 to 1-2.

DEATH NOTICE

REID.—At the Belleville General Hospital, this morning at 8.30, Hilda Reid, aged 4 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Reid.

Funeral will be held tomorrow (Thursday) at 1 o'clock from the family residence, 66 Bridge St. Interment Stockdale Cemetery.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

PATRICK J. WIMS
The death of the late Pr. J. Wims, a former well-known Belleville merchant, who died suddenly at his home in Montreal on Sunday last arrived in this city via C.P.R. yesterday afternoon and was accompanied by his daughter, Miss May Wims, and son, Mr. Alex. Wims, and was taken to the family plot, St. James Cemetery, where the interment was made with Rev. Father Killeen, rector of St. Michael's Church officiating at the committall.

The large concourse of relatives and friends at the station to meet the remains together with the wealth of floral tributes which came from Montreal silently testified to the esteem with which the late Mr. Wims was held in both cities.

The bearers were all members of the local council of the Knights of Columbus and were Messrs. A. B. Gallery, J. Butler, J. M. Trualsch, W. H. Bastin, L. P. Hughes and F. P. Carney.

DON'T BE ASHAMED TO SHOW FEELING

The other day I heard a little girl of five reprimanded by her mother for making too much noise.

"But, mother," the child replied "what must I do with my feelings?"

Grown-ups often ask themselves the same question. What should we do with the feelings that slop up inside?

We exercise our muscles and we exercise our brain. It is also necessary to exercise our emotions.

There's a technical name for putting the emotions into practice. It is called: "extroversion."

The opposite, the hiding in of the emotions, is called "introversion."

Those that extrovert are always happiest and most content. Those that introvert become secluisve, morbid and introspective.

Therefore doing something with your feelings is the proper thing to do. Don't bell inside—let off steam!

Express yourself. Turn your emotions outward to the real things of life. Don't let your emotions singe and scorch your soul. Don't let them consume you with vain regrets.

Turn that bubbling, dynamic emotional force of yours into something tangible and substantial. Don't be satisfied with thinking and wishing.

Don't be afraid of being embarrassed. Don't care a rap what people think when it comes to giving your emotions exercise. If you know yourself to get into a rut you soon lose the ability to let go of yourself.

You are always watching yourself. After a time you may even become suspicious of yourself.

When you are chronically introverted you become timid add afraid. You doubt and wonder. You imagine all sorts of possible nonsense about yourself.

Many mental ills can start in this way. Therefore laugh all you can.

Don't be afraid to cry even if you happen to be a member of the male sex. Women laugh and cry more than men and in that they are very sensible.

Men would do well to imitate them in this respect. Men swear, to be sure, and that is a form of extroversion.

But swearing shows defiance and anger, while weeping and laughter are much more natural and therefore more beneficial. Romp and play and do such as hard as you can.

A good plan is to mix with children. Be like they do. Be young again. Attend outdoor sports and shout to your heart's content.

Don't be afraid of making a noise. Attend plays and motion pictures that stir you an.

It is so easy to go stale.

Read light fiction at least once in a while. Don't be ashamed of being caught with a detective story. Get music into your system. Attend concerts and keep your victrola busy. Never hire a jazz band in the open.

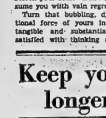

Whistle if you can. Try to sing no matter how it sounds.

And dance! Loosen up your joints and take the stiffness out of your reserve.

Turn your feelings loose!

Don't let them burn you up!

Keep youth longer!

cleanse the system of poisons

Two of the great enemies to youth and vitality are delayed elimination and intestinal poisons. To keep young and free from both these common difficulties will help you to stay young.

With the use of Nujol you can do it for Nujol has a peculiar affinity for body poisons. Absorbs them and carries them off, because Nujol can't be absorbed by the body. Nujol simply softens the waste matter and brings about normal evacuation. It is harmless, contains no drug or medicine. Perfected by the Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

You can take Nujol with perfect safety under any conditions. It won't cause griping pains, or affect the stomach or kidneys. Make sure you get the genuine. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle. Don't delay, get Nujol today.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

Place the bowl on a folded towel when beating eggs or salad dressing and avoid its constant slipping.

Frequently around the necks of black silk dresses powder clings and makes ugly marks. Rubbing gently with a black silk stocking will frequently remove the powdery marks.

The best way to warm up a roast and have it taste like a freshly cooked one is to wrap it in thickly greased paper and keep covered while in the oven.

Three or four bottle caps nailed in a row on a sturdy stick of wood will make a splendid fish scaler.

To two cupfuls mashed potatoes, add one tablespoon finely chopped parsley or chives, and a few drops onion juice. Beat well, spread lightly with beaten egg and grated cheese, and place in oven to become hot.

When making bread crumbs put the hard crusts of bread through the mincing machine. You will find this much easier than using a rolling pin to crush them ,and you will get far better results.

WHEN you frame a portrait of someone dear to you, it is fitting to give a silver mount to keep the memory forever fresh.

Of course the frame needs to be kept clean and bright. This is an easy matter if you use Silvo Liquid Silver Polish.

Silvo is the right polish for silver frames, toilet articles, candle sticks, table ware, and all other kinds of silver. It is easily applied, and quickly removes tarnish, restoring the silver's original beauty. Silvo contains neither acid nor mercury.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

"Not this one," insisted Lila desperately. "I've got to go to ner, Herbert. Really, I must, darling. I promised."

Herbert took out his watch deliberately.

"In half an hour we're due to leave for dinner. You know I can't tolerate tardiness. You haven't time to go to Dorothy."

"Oh, but I have. I'm nearly dressed you see. All but my gown. I'll simply throw it on and rush up-town and be back here again before you're ready yourself."

Herbert studied her face deliberately, noting her suddenly flushed cheeks her averted eyes.

"I will go with you," he announced.

Panic seized Lila, but she clung to a semblance of outward calm.

"No, no, darling. It isn't at all necessary. I can make it so much quicker——"

"If a man is annoying Dorothy," he Lila sudden chills, "you will need not accented the 'if' in a way that gave to send him properly about his business."

"Oh, Dot wouldn't like that!" declared Lila. "She——"

Herbert took her by both arms.

"See here, Lila," he said quietly there's a man accidently staying with somebody you know and want to see; you're not telling me the truth. If he's an old suitor, maybe a fiance." Jealousy was burning now in Herbert's eyes. His fingers hurt her arms.

On a sudden desperate impulse, Lila took refuge in tears.

"You—you're insulting. You suspect me of awful things. I wish I'd never married you. What's her face buried in her hands, she wept convincingly.

They were the first tears that Herbert had ever seen her shed. They terrified him. He was routed. He said he had pardon, dragging her hands from her face and kissing away the drops that lingered on her long lashes.

Lila seized her advantage instantly

"I'll forgive you," she promised pretty soon, "if you prove your trust me by letting me go to Dot—alone. Anyway," she played another card, "you couldn't make it together and be in time for dinner. So just let me run——"

In the car—fortunately it had not been returned to the garage after bringing Herbert from Lynn-town—Lila tried to gather her thoughts Now that she was alone, terror took possession of her. She shivered in her furs; her hands were clammy.

But terror of what? she asked herself. At Dorothy's studio a man was waiting to see her. She told herself that she was being an idiot to let that stop her.

Made for a Vivid Goddess of Today

How closely fashions reflect life. The flat, vigorous, clear-cut styles of this day are made definitely for the girls of this day—the girls who stride up the Avenue with an athlete's vigor, and don't need to conceal deficiencies in physique behind puffy sleeves and corsets and bustles and other tricks by which the Victorian belle of fresh-air age could hide. The dress shown here is ideal for an equally perfectioned girl. From straight shoulders its line bolero lapel and the edging of the trimming accentuates the angular those hips should be slim. In the frock, with its trimming bands which radiate at angles from the side pleats of the skirt, the geometric outline is cleverly worked out. It may be accented by using a lighter or darker shade of the dress material, whether it is light weight wool, sheer wool crepe, silk crepe or crepe de chine. For the belt and cascade on a light weight jersey either satin, crepe de chine or silk crepe to match make a very good contrast. Or two sides of a silk or satin crepe. (Copyright, 1927, by Butterick).

Dorothy herself opened the door to Lila's knock. She was wearing a gleaming crystal gown that, at any other time, would have evoked expressions of admiration from Lila.

At the sight of Lila's face, she uttered a cry.

"You dear thing! I didn't mean to frighten you out your wits. It's nothing terrible, really, but it was use less to talk about it over the telephone" She drew Lila into the lighted studio A middle-aged man, with a gray mustache, rose from a chair beside the big fire-place.

"This is Mr. Jackson, Lila. He has lifted about the—the insurance of your late fiance. Miss Latham will attend to everything, Mr. Jackson. You see," she explained to Lila, "Mr. Jackson—er—was under the impression that you had been killed in the crash thy was floundering a trifle, and Mr. Jackson's gaze became sharper, as he looked from one to the other of the two girls.

"Excuse me Miss, but this seems a bit irregular to me. On our records Miss Latham claims that this is her home, but you, Miss——" he turned to Dorothy, "went and telephoned her to come here," a heard you."

Dorothy bit her lip and made an inward vow to have her telephone mor ed to her dressing-room in the morning.

"Perhaps I forgot to explain that Miss Latham was only visiting friend for a—er—few days," she said gently. "You see, Mr. Jackson, we're both in a frightful hurry tonight—we're dining out——and you've called at a rather inconvenient moment."

Mr. Jackson reached for his hat.

"I can come back tomorrow, if that it'll be better, because this needs looking into a bit. 'I don't know as I have a right to turn these papers over to the young lady when I have only your word—beg pardon—that she's the right person."

"No, no," Lila protested sharply, giv ing Dorothy a look of appeal. "I'd rather have it settled tonight. Never mind about dinner.

Her eyes warned Dorothy: "I may not be able to get here tomorrow. Her thoughts were busy with the fear that Herbert, if she were late in returning might came to the studio for her before the police. Jackson should have taken himself away.

"What do you want it by way of proof that I am—myself?" she demanded haughtily of the man.

He seemed duly impressed, a little apologetic

"You understand, Miss, that it's not my fault——"

"Yes, yes, do get on," she interrupted impatiently. "What do you want for identification?"

"Well, have you got some letters that are addressed to yourself?"

Letters!

Lila's gaze flew to Dorothy, but the latter shook her head slightly.

Ah, yes, Dorothy had burned the envelopes of Jack Farquahar's love-letters.

Lila looked desperately around the studio, knowing that the situation was hopeless. One doesn't ordinarily find identifying things in an apartment

SINCLAIR'S

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I'm a young man at the age of twenty-two. I'm not very good looking nor very rich. The support of my sisters and brothers depends on me. Do you think I should still keep on supporting the family? I am pretty tired of single life.

I'm in love with a girl the same age as myself. She loves me, too, but her parents have objections to me because of a difference in religion. Do you think they are right in doing so?

Please don't tell me to give her up, for I love her very much.

WORRIED.

WORRIED: I realize just how hard it is. Worried, for you to have the burden on your young shoulders of supporting a family. And I know, too, how irksome it becomes. Especially when a fine, big love comes into your life. However, don't you think that you could wait a few years—at least until some of your brothers or sisters are old enough to help? I know it's hard advice, but it's the most helpful I can give. And I am sure the girl will see it in the same light. It would give you both a chance to know each other better and to save a little something with which to start your married life. You'd always be uneasy if you married now, realizing the help that you needed at home which you no longer would utke.

Lady Blanche Beresford, whose wedding was a brilliant event in Westminster Cathedral the other day, evidently prefers the use of the "unbaptismes" of peacocks, for peacock brooches were worn by her nine bridesmaids.

Paris is wearing tunic frocks again Sequins with gold beading, are much favored on evening frocks in New York, where flared sequin skirts and frocks fashioned entirely of sequins are the vogue.

There are several examples in Parisian society of women who consider flowers worn on the back side of the left shoulder smaller than flowers worn anywhere else.

They Laugh— as Health Comes Back

Rose and Valerie are sisters. Their charts say they are 23 and 18 years old. Anyone meeting them for the first time you would think they were 18 and 15. And when you hear them laugh they do. And when you hear the laughter and chatter of these two—for they are Twelfth Night by day in hospital cots—you feel sure they must be the happiest girls.

Yet they are both very slight, but the wonder is they are here at all. Rose has a definite sign they were submitted, victims of the ravages of consumption. Valerie is threatened seriously. Lacking weight and strength again; and you, who have never had ill health, can hardly understand what a wonderful difference that makes to people who are compelled to go to bed for the rest of the day. Users of the Murdock Hospital Bed Community Plan find it being carried on for over three hundred patients each day throughout the year.

Rose and Valerie are a fair example of what can be done for the sick and sleepless children, and they say they are learning all about the disease as they will do their best to see that the other members of the family walk clear of the path of the dread pith that leads to consumption.

Would you not like to contribute to this excellent work? It depends largely upon subscriptions. Send your donation, large or small, to Hon. W.A. Charlton, President, 324 College Street, Toronto 5, Ontario.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

New York reports a vogue for plaids

Smart New York women are wearing gowns fashioned of heavy satin in white and the new yellow flesh.

Paris reports a new vogue for black evening gowns as a setting for turquoise jewellery.

The plainness of the hats now in vogue demands an ornament to make them individual, and flat pieces of gold or silver metal cut in the form of conventionalized flowers, animals and ships are exceedingly smart.

COUNTY COUNCIL RESUME SESSION

Some Members Of Present Body May Not Seek Re-Election

County Council opened the December sessions at Shire Hall yesterday with most of the members present. Following the reading of the minutes by County Clerk Nugent, Warden Harrytt delivered a short address welcoming the Councillors and briefly outlined the work done this year through out the County. "The finances are in excellent shape and we are able to report an excellent surplus." The various committees have functioned well together and the Warden paid special tribute to Mr. Geo. Bailey, Chairman of Finances and Mr. R. M. Mitchel, Chairman of House of Refuge.

He spoke of the splendid work accomplished by the Roads and Bridges Committee of which James A. Moore is Chairman. "The Chairman and the Superintendent worked together and made many negotiations in purchasing material."

"The administration of Justice" Committee with Reeve Fred Curry at the head has functioned well and we have found that all of the towns have given us the best of co-operation with the exception of the city of Belleville which it is expected will come in line shortly".

Warden Harrytt stated that he had not heard a selfish word from any of the Councillors and was glad to report that all had given the best co-operation.'

The Council adjourned shortly before, five o'clock to resume this morning.'

A general canvass revealed that most of the Councillors will be back for re-election next year. Fred Curry, Reeve of Madoc village, has signified his intentions of turning down the nomination this year but he is the only one of the present body who will not be out for re-election. There is a strong possibility of an acclamation in Sidney Township with Col. Ronnie Vandewater and A. L. Burke being returned without a contest.

Several names have been prominently mentioned for the Wardenship next year and chief among these are S. B. Rollins, Reeve of Trenton, Geo. A. Bailey, Reeve of Rawdon and E. C. Metcalfe, Deseronto.

RUSSIA LEADING YELLOW PEOPLE

W. H. Goodwin Talks To Kiwanians On International Goodwill

"The real yellow peril to-day is not in force of arms but in a pan-Asiatic fellowship being fostered by Russia to liberate the Oriental countries from the domination of the West" was what the statement make yesterday after noon by Mr. W. H. Goodwin of Montreal in a stirring address on "International relations" and delivered to an exceptionally large turnout of Kiwanians at their weekly meeting. The speaker deplored the "broken relations" among men to-day—political, religious business and national, and declared that the spirit of fellowship being fostered in this country to-day in such clubs as Kiwanis was a possible ultimate means to an international good fellowship.

True, he said, Russia had recently advocated complete disarmament of nations, because she has other means to attain her end; for the colored people of Asia are being led by Russia, the speaker declared, into a fellowship of hatred; they have long felt the dominance of the whites, and their union now is towards the common objective of breaking up the British Empire; for it is the belief of the Orientals that 'out of the abundance of their poverty" has come the great wealth of the West.

Oriental strength, in business and otherwise is increasing, Mr. Goodwin pointed out, and he foresaw the possibility of our business being captured by these people.

An international spirit of fellowship then, must be developed concluded the speaker, which would offset that of envy and hatred between East and West—one which would break down the obstacles and make us one.

1927 Christmas Seals

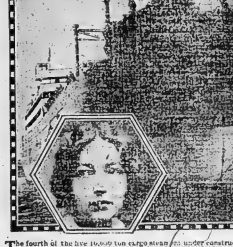

The 1927 Christmas Seal campaign is launched by the Ontario and Toronto Hospitals for Consumptives, and the Seal selected bears a handsome Seal, bearing the double Cross and a message of hope to those who are afflicted with consumption. Every dollar received from the sale of Seals is used for the maintenance of patients.

The National Sanitarium Association is in need of funds to carry on the work of its hospitals at Muskoka and Weston. "Will you help us with funds in love of others?" Not only will you get good value in return, but your money will be a treasure to order it will go to help someone in need.

Look for the Double Barred and Cross on every package. Those there are genuine.

Express Cargo Steamers For C. P. R.

The fourth of the five motor ton cargo steamers under construction in the Old Country for the Atlantic service of the Canadian Pacific was launched recently from the yards of Messrs. Barclay, Curle and Co., Glasgow. With appropriate ceremonies and in the presence of a large gathering of Canadian Pacific Officials, the new ship was christened "Beaverdell" by Miss Mavis Gillies, (inset) daughter of Captain James Gillies, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Steamships Ltd.

When these new steamers are delivered, the Canadian Pacific cargo fleet will be augmented by five of the highest type of exterior cargo steamers and capable of maintaining a speed of 16 knots an hour, which is regarded as exceptional for cargo steam-ers. The rapid growth of overseas trade between Great Britain and Canada via the St. Lawrence route, has prompted the Canadian Pacific to augment their fre ight service to the extent. These vessels will be used to maintain a weel ly service between Canadian ports and those in Great Britain and on the Continent.

The new freighter, like her sister ships the Beaverburn, Beaverdale, Beaverford and Beaverlee, is 420 feet in length O.A. and is built to ship with a deadweight carrying capacity of approximately 10,500 tons and load draft of 27 feet 1½ inches. The ships are to be classed 100 A1 and are to be carried on the passenger load deck. The ships will be driven by internal

V.O.N. REPORT

The Victorian Order of Nurses report for the month of November shows a total of 76 cases. Of these 41 were new cases, divided as follows: medical 12; communicable 5; surgical 4; pre-natal 9; obstetrical 7 and infants 11; 29 cases were carried into the next month.

Of those dismissed 7 paid maximum fee; 10 partly paid; 11 were free and 41 were Metropolitan policy holders. Visits for the month totalled 309 of which 244 were nursing visits. The fees for the month amounted to $141.00. From the M. L. I. Co. $63.35; from patients $77.75.

We regret that Miss Fitzgerald found it necessary to resign from the Victorian Order but are fortunate in securing Miss Handla as her successor. Mrs. Fitzgerald assisted part time during the month. The nursing committee and the clinic committee have combined in preparing for a Christmas Tree which we hope to have in the Veterans' Hall for the clinic children on Friday next. We wish to take this opportunity to thank all friends who have given so generously of their time and donations and are looking forward to a happy afternoon for the children.

Respectfully submitted,
MARY E. SHORE.

EPIGRAMS

London (By Mail).—
The codfish lays a million eggs.
And the helpful hen lays one.
The codfish never cackles
To tell us what she's done;
And so we scorn the codfish
And the helpful hen we prize,
Because it indicates to us
That it pays to advertise.

Lord Devar, who is the arch afternoon speaker of London, was responsible for the above fable when presiding at the jubilee dinner of the Poultry Club in London the other night.

He was also responsible for a further batch of witty epigrams. Here are some of them:

To neighbors disarmament, build battleships by popular subscription.

To work eight hours a day for $6 a week in domestic service—to work 16 hours a day for nothing and appear to be pleased is marriage.

No man can tell what moths lived upon before Adam and Eve wore clothes.

Man wants but little here below—generally a little more than he will ever get.

Some men chase women they should dodge and dodge women they should chase.

Today women display more backers than men.

It is safest to tell your wife everything, but tell her before some one else does and tells her, which you are sure she will find out.

PRIEST CUT OFF INDIAN'S ARM

Interesting Tale Of How Minister Acted As Surgeon

Toronto, Dec. 7.—(CP)—An interesting story of how a clergyman acted as a surgeon in an emergency comes from the offices of the Mission ary Society of the Church of England in Canada.

Peter Bird, a treaty Indian of the Lac La Rouge band of Cree, met with a serious accident on May 12 last while hunting on the Bear Mountain on the north-east side of that Lake While stalking a moose his rifle went off accidentally, almost severing the right arm from the body near the shoulder. Owing to ice conditions on the lake at that time he was unable to be removed to any centre where the wound could be dressed until full 70 days had elapsed, when he was brought, not without considerable risk from ice jams, to the Anglican Indian school on the opposite shore of the lake. Dr. rWestgate, of Winnipeg Field Secretary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, happened to be at the school on a visit of inspection at the time of his arrival late in the evening of May 25, and, with the assistance of Rev. C. F. Hives, principal of the school Nurse Gertrude Heaton, a graduate of Grace College, Winnipeg, and a member of the school staff, and Constable Powers, of the Provincial Police of Saskatchewan. Dr. Westgate immediately amputated the arm and arranged to have the injured man transported to the hospital at Prince Albert, a distance of 250 miles.

Dr. Westgate writes: "The journey of 180 miles, to be made by canoe across five lakes and up two rivers against strong currents and numerous turbulent rapids, was accomplished in six days. Rain fell heavily and almost continuously throughout the journey Four canoe men, Cree Indians, of the Lac La Rouge band, brought the wounded man as far as the south end of Montreal Lake, a distance of 150 miles, when they were allowed to return home and four others were engaged to take him up the Red Deer river and across the east end of Red Deer Lake, a distance of approximately 30 miles."

"Miss Kelly, of the school staff, who was proceeding to Ireland on furlough, and I accompanied the party in a separate canoe. From Red Deer Lake to Prince Albert a distance of approximately 70 miles, the patient was carried in a light truck belonging to the Forestry department and driven by Superintendent Smart, who fortunately happened to arrive at the lake at this time, and very generously volunteered this act of mercy. The road in places was little better than a quagmire, yet, with the assistance of two young Indians who accompanied him to help him through the difficult spots, he succeeded in reaching Prince Albert in about eight hours and handed the patient over to the authorities of the Victoria hospital).

"Throughout the long and trying journey the wounded man was never heard to utter either a moan or a word of complaint He carried with him the tattered remains of a New Testament which he had received as a present from Mr. Hives many years before, and which he appeared to prize more than anything else. His patience and fortitude under acute suffering and the tender and diligent devotion of the canoe men to their unfortunate colleague were touching in the extreme and worthy of the highest type of manhood. It may also be stated that the prompt and chivalrous assistance rendered by the officials of the Forestry department and others along the way, were worthy of the highest and best traditions of the British race."

PRAIRIE SWINE HERD INCREASE

During the five years between 1921 and 1926 the number of swine on farms in the Prairie Provinces of Canada, increased by 547,244 according to the Commission Bureau of Statistics. The figures for the two census years follow: 1921, 1,053,345; 1926, 1,602,589.

Nearly 2,000,000 motor cars went into the scrap heap in America in 1926.

Just about two days more for Belleville Motors to clear out the few reliable used cars they have left. For word comes today that the New Models will be on display Friday, and all the Used Cars must go quickly to make room Prices are slashed so get yours now!

CRIMSON SNOW A B.C. PHENOMENON

On Mount Albert Edward— Caused By Little Plant

Courtney, B.C.—(By The Canadian Press)—Mount Albert Edward, which rears its lofty crown into the clouds back of this city on the east coast of Vancouver Island, is known as the Mountain of the red snow.

When the climber goes above the 6000-6500 level on Mount Albert Edward, he encounters the so-called red snow, the phenomenon being so mark ed that most people not recognizing it, imagine that it has been caused by the slaughter of some predatory animal As far as known, it does not occur elsewhere on Vancouver Island and in very few places, if at all, on the mainland.

The red snow, is, in fact, due to a tiny plant, known to botanists as protococcus nivalis, belonging to the thallophyta on the surface of the snow fields extensive areas in the Arctic regions and certain coastal glaciers in an incredibly short time with a deep crimson. The plant, which may be regarded as one of the simplest forms of vegetation, consists of a little bag or membrane forming a cell. The infusion of "red snow" can hardly be distinguished when hundreds are taken up and examined. The deeper a person dips in the snow the more pronounced the color becomes.

NIGHT WINDS IN MOUNTAINS

A meteorological phenomenon found among the high mountains and noticeable in many places in Waterton Lakes national park in southern Alberta is the night wind from the mountain and during the heat of the day the warm air rises from the valleys but at sunset a current of air from the peaks moves downwards, bringing with it the scents of pines and larches and it may be of the flowers of good summer—a couple of thousand feet above.

Act to-day and you can buy a good used car at a great saving. Belleville Motors are clearing their's out this week a smashed price to make room for the new models coming Friday.

BELLE THEATRE

Grim mystery and sinister shadows embellish the latest return to the screen of Bert Lytell, well-known film star, who, after an extended vaudeville tour comes back in "Alias the Lone Wolf," a vivid drama based on the famous novel by Louis Joseph Vance, which Columbia Pictures will present at the Belle Theatre to morrow. This is Lytell's third appearance as the "Lone Wolf." He has already been starred in two other Vance stories of this mysterious French underworld enigma.

In "Alias the Lone Wolf" the hero finds himself in a battle of wits against a gang of international crooks in a strange plot involving his fiancee in peril.

Lois Wilson is the feminine lead in this new production. E. H. Griffith directed.

LONDON MOURNS WITH THE QUEEN

In Recent Death Of Marquis Of Cambridge, Her Brother

London, Dec. 3.—Universal sympathy will go out to the Queen in the death of her brother, the Marquess of Cambridge, the suddenness of which adds to the blow. Only three days before the end he had been present with Lady Cambridge at a charity function not far from their home, Shotton Hall, near Shrewsbury.

There are many people to whom news of Lord Cambridge's death will recall the happy and united family at White Lodge, where on Sunday after noons the late Duchess of Teck used to collect round her the most interesting and amusing people in London.

The four children, then Prince Adolphus, Prince Francis and Princess Alexander, of Teck, all, remarkably good-looking young men, were devoted to their sister, then Princess May, devotion which she fully returned.

The Queen's affectionate name "Toss" in the days in the happy family circle. Toss followed Prince Adolphus' example and the year to year 20,000 last year and rye at 16,000,000 bushels against 18,000,000 last year.

BASEBALL CLUB REORGANIZES FOR COMING SEASON

Temporary Officers Elected At Enthusiastic Meeting Last Eve.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Belleville May Have Senior Team Next Year—Next Meeting Monday

Belleville will be represented by a ball team either Intermediate or Senior in 1928. This fact was assured at one of the most enthusiastic meetings of the Belleville baseball Club ever held. Over twenty men presented themselves at the Council Chambers last evening when the call was issued for those interested in the team's welfare and if the spirit manifested in that meeting is any criterion, this city is due for a new lease of life in baseball circles. Although the snow is hardly yet on the ground those behind the movement are firmly convinced that no time will be lost in providing some new high-class material to bolster the present aggregation. The twenty men present at last evening's meeting have pledged themselves in some one way or another to assist in the formation of a team for 1928 and the citizens are urged to get behind the movement and assist wherever called upon. Finances were also of the big items and a capable committee was appointed to look after this end of the question.

It was the general feeling of the meeting that Belleville has been going down hill in the matter of a ball team for the past three years and in order to place things back on the plane of four years ago it was evident that work must be commenced to re-build the club.

For this purpose a set of temporary officers was chosen to go ahead and get things lined up for the next six weeks. These officers will likely act until February 1st when another general meeting will be called. In the meantime the present set hope to receive the co-operation of the public in several matters pertaining to the success of the club.

The meeting was composed of a committee from the Kiwanis and players and officers of the Canadian National Club and several citizens who have expressed a willingness to put their shoulders to the wheel and get behind the team for next year. .

Mayor-Select Duff was appointed to the Chair temporarily and Frank Rayfield, Secretary.

Harry Greenleaf, one of the Kiwanis representatives outlined the situation to the meeting. "Something must be done for next year, everyone of us want to see Belleville represented by a ball team and there is a great deal of work to be done along this line".

The Kiwanis Club is solidly behind the movement and have appointed a committee to assist in whatever way possible."

Mayor Duff—"The main thing is to get the nucleus for a team for next year."

Senior or Intermediate?

Mr. Al Pink asked if it was the intention to play Senior or Intermediate ball. It was stated that no league had been formed as yet and it was impossible to determine whether the old Central League will be re-organized or whether Belleville would be inclined to the Bay of Quinte loop.

Mr. Rob. Colling was of the opinion that it was unfair to form a senior team unless Peterboro, Oshawa and Kingston would come back. Up to the present time nothing has been done in regard to the formation of a league. Deloro was mentioned as a third member of a senior league providing Oshawa will not come in but it was explained that Deloro will not enter unless a split is given in the gate receipts.

It was the concensus of the meeting that the O.H.A. had acted unfairly toward the smaller towns in changing the residence rule from May 1st to January 1st. There was suggestion that the Inter-County league be communicated with in regard to organizing an Eastern and Western section with the winners playing off when the schedule is completed.

Ex-Alderman Harry Greenleaf suggested the formation of a temporary organization to function until January 15th or February 1st.

Temporary Officials

Mr. W. E. Rowsome was unanimously chosen as chairman with Stanley D. Haverman as Secretary.

Finance Committees were chosen as follows: Harry Greenleaf, Chairman, P. Rayfield, Dr. Pahey, Major Pratt, Thos. Panter, Jack Fahey and W. E. Rowsome.

The Finance Committee will go to work immediately in an effort to secure funds to start the season. At the present time a balance of $30 remains in the treasury. A guarantee form has been drawn up and such money subscribed by individual citizens will all or in part be returned in the event of a successful financial year.

A Players Committee was chosen as follows: K. J. Colling, Chairman; Walter Crowe, A. O. Meagher, Stan Curry, Cyril McBride and Stan Hazerman. This Committee held their first meeting last night and reported back to the general meeting.

It was decided that another meeting will be held on Monday night next.

The Chamber of Commerce building across the Commerce will report back to the progress made. Keen interest has shown in the meeting and the one feature was the appearance of several manufacturers notably, Mr. Houston who has recently located a plant here, Major Pratt of the McLaughlin Motors, W. E. Rowsome of the Alemite. The Parks Board was represented by T. J. P. Powers, Chas. Panter and Robt. Colling. Citizens are urged to keep in mind next Monday evening when the second meeting will take place.

SportOgramS

By "The Observer"

Hartmen will rejoice to learn the fact that a man interested in athletics of all lines has been elected to sit in the chair of Chief Magistrate for the coming year. Mayor-elect Duff is a keen exponent of clean sport in every line and boys and young men will be assured of the very best of support in any undertaking. Mayor Duff was for some years an officer of the Canadian National baseball team and during that time he was readily recognized as one of the leading followers of sport in Central Ontario. He has been a constant attendant at the girls' games at the armouries and more than once he has been consulted on matters pertinent to the league's welfare. When the Belleville baseball team was at it's height Mayor Duff accompanied the boys on their long trips and no one cheered more lustily for a win than he did. Rowing and curling are among Mayor Duff's chief recreations but the fact remains that he has not yet entered the time-honored ranks of the golfers. All good players are followers of the ancient Scotch pastime and in all probability the Mayor-elect will be found on the links next summer. He has already made the assertion that he favors a baseball diamond in the East-end of the City and that announcement will be greeted with cheers in this section. Mayor Duff received the full support of the sport followers in the past election and his elevation to the new office is a most popular one.

A Start For 1928

At least a start was made at last evening's meeting toward a ball team for the city for 1928. The interest is gaining and Belleville may be represented by a fast team when the spring rolls around. The old guard will remain in the city and with some new blood the present aggregation will make any of them in this neck of the woods step. Lionel Harper's loss will be felt as he was one of those veteran players on which fall anyone's shoes.

Harper has left Trenton to take up his residence in Toronto. It was being counted on for the intermediate basket-ball team this year to be built up a reputation for himself in Toronto on the court.

Croop Meeting To-day

Croop Wednesday at the Y. M. C. A. may be divided into two section this year, with Belleville, Queen's and Kingston composing one section and Cornwall, Brockville and Royal Military College in the other. Eddie Thomas the local pilot is like ly to oppose the same at the meeting in Kingston to-day but whether he will get any support remains to be seen. Ed. Thomas favored bowling the six teams included in the one group with the winners playing off when the regular schedule is completed. The matter will be thoroughly discussed at the meeting in the Limestone City to-day. Queen's look up as the best of the bunch this year with all of the Intercollegiate players in the O. H. A squad. The rest of them appear about the same as last year with the possible exception of Cornwall who have lost several of their best to the "pro" ranks. Farrand, Gillie one of the finest defence men in the group has taken his departure for an Eastern town and it is also reported that Bob Gowdey, Belleville boy has left that place. Brockville should be greatly strengthened this year in the return of Joe Saundercook to the fold after a one yea suspension and Harry Scott Merl Kennedy and one of two of last year's fine junior team and with Jack Murray in the nets should take a lot of beating.

Belleville is weakened by the loss of only one player while several have drifted into town since the snow fell the ground last flurries.

Boyle of Picton has been reinstated and will likely line up with the locals and should help out immensely.

City League Meeting

Managers of City League teams are requested to keep in mind the hockey meeting at the Y. M. C. A. to-morrow evening when the situation will be discussed. Prospects are bright for at least ten teams and possibly more and in order that every team be given a place it is necessary to attend the pre-season meetings. Should the City League be the first to organise they will get the preference of dates at the arena and for this reason it is desired to get "in" early. There is plenty of material for at least ten teams and it is hoped that a large number will turn out for the opening meeting.

RUBBING IT IN!

The Kingston Whig-Standard comes out with some sporting comment touching on Belleville's rink. The local arena has been a source of ridicule for some years past. The Limestone scribe says:—"In a way it seems too bad that both Kingston and Queen's intermediates were placed in the same group with Belleville. It means that one mighty fine team is going to be eliminated in the first group. But on the other hand, R.M.C. may show unlooked for strength, and Belleville might even split the teams and trim both Queen's and Kingston. The only thing in Belleville's favor is that the visiting teams have all got to play in that almost tumble-down rink in which more than one classy visiting team has been spilled. It's high time the O.H.A. stepped in and had some say as to the conditions under which visiting teams must play.

NOTED TRAVELLER DEPICTS RUSSIA

Speaking in a church in the shadow of the Tower of London the other day, Sir Francis Younghusband, the famous traveller and diplomatist, made this striking reference to Russia:

Supposing a body of downright atheists came to power in this country and declared war on religion, disestablished the Church, confiscated Church property without any compensation and used a church like this as a motor garage; supposing they prohibited all teaching of religion in private schools and taught atheism in public schools; supposing the Bishop of London fearlessly objected and was tried by a tribunal of atheistas and carried to secret cellar, seized by the executioner and shot through the head.

Supposing thousands of parish priests were done to death and their bodies laid in unknown graves, and thousands were driven into exile, and bishops were forced to sweep crossings to earn a bare living, while a State Press caricatured religion; would we not in such conditions feel that something essential to the national life was being destroyed, and the very soul seared with a red-hot iron? Yet this is what has been happening in Russia for ten years.

BOWLING

There was only one game played at the Recreation Alleys last night in the Junior League, The Belleville Motors took 4 points from the Everready. The Belleville Motors ran up a score of 1067 in the first game. For the winners Macklin was high with a single of 272 and a total of 699.

For the Everready Moynes was high for his team.

Belleville Motors — Macklin, 699; Simpsiead 518; Corcoran 605; Drew 553; Wilmot 516. Total 2890.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING

The "Y" Reds and the Fairways met in their league fixture at the "Y" alleys last night and the Reds took three points and the Fairways one. In the first game the Reds got away to a good start and were leading by 179 pins and added another 9 to this in the second game. In the last game the Fairways made a strong finish and won this by 42 pins but were down on the total by 140 pins. Mitchell of the Fairways had the high single of the evening with 331 and Stratton the three string with 767.

Men's League

"Y" Reds—Stratton 767; Jeffery 514; Whalen 624; Doran 620; Barrett 554. Total 3079.

DAWSON ENJOYS A BUSY SEASON

Unusual Activity In Lode Gold Mining—Output Still Millions

Dawson, Y.T., (By C.P.) Dec. 7.—Influx of capital is bringing new prosperity to the mines of the Yukon and Dawson has been busier this year than at any other time in the past ten years.

The Yukon district is now experiencing unusual activity in lode gold mining and the annual output still is in the millions of dollars. Along the Yukon River, which was mined by placer miners with their pans and rock ers in the early days of the Klondike rush, a fleet of dredges is operating, churning up the gravel and extracting the precious ore. A. W. G. Treadgold, for many years a leading figure in the mining industry, has taken over several of the smaller companies and merged them into a solid corporation with a view to making a thorough test of the still famous gold deposits. He expects to operate dredges in the Klondike Valley for years to come.

The Mayo district, which has put the Yukon in the silver-lead production column, continues active. Over $1,000,000 down from this high mountain mines on the backs of pack horses, then transferred to ten-ton motor trucks to Mayo Landing and thence by steamer to Stewart City, White Horse, Skagway and down the coast. This district has shipped out about 54,000 tons of silver, lead ore to date.

CUSTOMS MOVED

Oshawa, Dec. 7.—Oshawa Custom House, which for many years has occupied one room in offices above the Post Office, will in the very near future be located in premises on Victoria Street, situated north of their examining house. The building, a comparatively new one, was purchased by the Customs Department some time ago.

NEW FLOOR OPENED

Kingston, Dec. 7.—With necessary improvements and alterations being made, the second floor of the Nickle Maternity wing at the Kingston General Hospital will be opened before the end of the week, and will add to the completeness of the hospital proper.

The second floor of the new building has never been occupied, and with the growing need for it, it was decided to put the floor in shape for occupation. Already the floors and rooms have been finished, and the installation of the furniture will be made today or to-morrow.

IN NEW POSITION

Kingston, Dec. 7.—Sherman Albertson, formerly local manager of the Canada Cork Company, has resigned to accept the position of sales manager of the Elder Aerated Waterworks of this city. Mr. Albertson is a Kingston boy and he has a wide circle of friends who will wish him every success in his new position.

ONLY REMAND JAIL-

Oshawa, Dec. 7.—After pleading guilty to illegal possession of liquor before Magistrate Ilird this morning, Wil liam Davis, Oshawa, asked to be remand for a week. "The only remand I can give you," said the Magistrate, "will be in jail." Accused said he wanted a week's remand to enable him to make arrangements in connection with his book, which drew from Chief Friend the retort that the accused had done no work for the past two weeks, his time being mainly occupied in drinking.

SANTA ARRIVES

Whitby, Ont., Dec. 7.—More than one hundred children witnessed the arrival of Santa Claus in this town late yesterday afternoon. So great was the crowd that Chief of Police Gunson was called out to keep order.

Elected President Of Junior Organization At Annual Meeting

STRONG EXECUTIVE

Members Of Parliament Spoke To Club On Current Issues

J. Earl McQueen, prominent young Conservative worker will guide the destinies of the Belleville Young Men's Conservative Club for the ensuing year. He was elected by a large majority at the annual meeting of the organization held in the club rooms last evening. The place was jammed to the doors for the gathering and the attendance indicated that more interest than ever is being taken in the activities of the Club. An atmosphere of enthusiasm pervaded the meeting which was interspersed by several set actions from the Ten Ton Quartette which aided in making it a real live evening.

The chief speaker of the evening was Hugh Stewart M.P., of Brockville, who delivered an inspiring talk on the past present and future of the Conservative Club in Canada. Mr. Stewart held his listeners at rapt attention throughout the short pithy talk. Mr. W. E. Thurston M.P., and Mrs. W. H. Ireland also gave short talks.

Jack Andrews, the retiring secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and the speakers of the evening were then announced by Alderman Clarence Reid who assumed the chair temporarily. Messrs. S. J. Fisher and Reeve R. M. Mitchell, of Thurlow, acted as scrutineers for the election.

Two cers were nominated for President of the Club namely J. Earl McQueen and J. N. Bentley. The former was elected by a wide majority Jack Andrews the retiring Secretary was chosen vice-president over Earl Fisher and the latter was then appointed to fill the office of second vice-president.

Thomas H. Y. Wills was the only man nominated for Treasurer and he assumed this office. William Warham was elected secretary. The following were proposed by Harold Ireland as Honorary presidents. Hon. R. R. Bennett, leader of the Conservative party at Ottawa; on. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario and E. Guss Porter, M.P., J. F. Hill M.P.P., W. H. Ireland, M.P.P., W. E. Tummon, M.P., and James A. Payne, president of the Belleville Conservative Club.

Mr. J. Earl McQueen the new President assumed the chair and after thanking his electors he called upon W. H. Ireland M.P.P. "We must not forget that we have the best Government that the Province of Ontario ever had, said the popular "Billie". "We must have had better business administra-

WIND, HAIL, RAIN WRECKED WIRES TREES AND POLES DURING NIGHT

Interrupted Hydro Service Many Telephones Out Of Business

Last night, and this morning's storm of wind storm, accompanied by hail and rain created havoc in and around Belleville. Several trees were blown down, electric wires, branches of trees, and the snapping of branches, telephone wires were torn down in different points, disrupting service for a short time and the Hydro power was shut off for about half an hour shortly after the storm struck in the morning. The Bell Telephone Company were visited by the storm in the early morning but the wires did not suffer to any great extent.

Officials of the Bell Telephone company here stated that they had experienced their worst troubles at Colborne. From here to that town the telephone lines are all right, but from there on they have been badly damaged. Communication was shut off from both Toronto and Ottawa.

Pole Down

In the city several minor breakdowns caused momentary confusion, and one or two telephone poles were blown over by Frankford Dr. Bridgeburg. Power or telephone pole was down, as well as a tree. On the Centreville highway one pole on the Hydro Electric Company route on that they had suffered no serious breaks, but that several minor damages had been done in and around Belleville.

The Canadian Pacific Telegraphs here reported the interference that their wires had not suffered in the gale but the Canadian National Telegraphs reported the line disrupted the other side of Colborne, caused by fallen trees.

ALL SPOKE BRIEFLY

Expect Good Year Coming —Deplore Lack Of Citizens' Interest

Mayor-Elect Duff and members of the New Council were the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at the annual luncheon in the Queen's Hotel at noon today. The meeting was of short duration but some interesting discussion and new and valuable ideas emanated from the speeches.

President E. W. Wartik, of the Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the members of the incoming Council. "The Directors of the Chamber of Commerce will look for the same co-operation from the Council as has been enjoyed in the past and we ask for your serious consideration in any matters that we may submit to you for your approval. I believe that we have just as good a council for 1928 as we have had in the past."

Mayor-Elect Duff expressed his appreciation at the invitation to be present and accept the hospitality of the Chamber of Commerce.

Lack of Public Interest

The speaker referred to the lack of interest in municipal affairs in Belleville for the past several years. He stated that many of the electorate were under the impression that the polls did not close until six o'clock and this was the reason that a number of them were unable to cast their ballots. Mayor-Elect Duff promised the co-operation of the new council and in closing said he looked for some new industries to come here in the coming year.

Alderman Russel Wotten voiced his sentiments in regard to the hospitality shown by The Chamber of Commerce. Touching on the question of getting the electorate out to vote he noted that the Kiwanis Club at its Thrift Week had named Belleville the collection day and called up all voters, "Some people in the last election did not get even know where to vote."

Chairman E. W. Wartik stated that the date of the United Ratables the City Hall was the chief polling centre and voting centred there. Mr. Wotten was of the opinion that Belleville's system might be somewhat antiquated.

Mr. A. O. Heath, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly. "The 1City Council has done with one of the best. Everybody welcome. Silver collection

Question Of Oiling Roads Is Discussed At Length

Ex-Warden O. B. Airhart assumed the County Council in the absence of the County Council on the absence of Warden Harryett who is still engaged in selecting quarters for the Agricultural College. After the reading of the minutes by Clerk Nugent, the Council went into committee on reports.

James A. Moore, Chairman of Roads and Bridges, submitted his report to the County Council this morning.

Mr. Moore suggested the importance of a more progressive program as regards the main leading roads of the County and the connecting links through the villages which is part of the road system. The building of concrete culverts on the Frankford-Trenton Road was one of the features which it was hoped to accomplish but the failure of the adjoining municipality to do their share has held this work up until such time as proper adjustment can be made.

One steel bridge has been constructed and four concrete bridges at a cost of $2,393.14, with several more of approaches. One steel culvert, 343 metal and concrete pipe, 18 miles graded and surfaced with stone or gravel coting $29,976.43 makes the total cost for construction work $66,490.13. The maintenance work includes the dragging, short sections of gravelling, culvert and bridge repair, 35,207 yards stone and gravel used in

Colder Weather And Snow To Follow—No Deaths Reported

Toronto, Dec. 8.—South Central Ontario today was shivering in anticipation of a new cold wave. Cloies struck in the region in the night, steadying to a forty-mile per hour westerly wind today. The mercury eased to temper-two degrees above zero this morning with the weatherman forecasting colder temperatures and snow.

No shipping was proceeding on the lower lakes today, so far as could be learned here. Signs were blown down and windows smashed in various sections of the city by the force of the wind.

The storm wrought havoc among Great Lakes shipping in the congested Detroit River channel and seriously affected the ferry service to Windsor. A tug-boat's crew of five was safely landed by fire boat rescuers. After it had been landed about 1o'clock today and driven upstream in the face of the gale. Three occupants of the rescue boat narrowly escaped drowning when they capsized on th way to aid the crew of a launch which had been cast on the rocks near St. Clair. The Wabash car ferries, Main Shower and Thunderer, failed to dock, rode out the gale in the river channel.

"Agwes" on Rocks

Owen Sound, Dec. 8.—Southwest winds which have attained a velocity of fifty miles an hour whipping northern Lake Huron and Georgian Bay into a furore and local shipping men expressed the opinion today that the Algoma Central steamship Steamer the "Agawa", which ran ashore on Adder Reef, Manitoulin Island, during the afternoon yesterday, will be battered to pieces by the heavy sea.

The storm which started yesterday reached its height during the night and showed no signs of moderating this morning. It is regarded as fortunate that few boats are on the lakes at this time of the year. While caps are reported up onto the rocky coast.

COUNTRY CLUB'S BALL THURSDAY

Annual New Year's Eve Function Moved Forward Two Days

On Thursday, December 29th, in the Quinte Hotel, will be held another Day of Quinte Country Club's New Year's Eve dance; the dance was so popular last year that it was decided to make it an annual affair. The club directors have given as their reason for holding the dance on Thursday instead of Saturday that they would have to "close shop" at twelve o'clock if they held the affair on Saturday evening.

This annual dance of the Country Club has been voted absolutely the best party that has ever been held in Belleville, and for that reason it has been requested that those receiving invitations, and desiring to go, shall notify the Honorary Secretary, Mr. W. A. Parker, as soon as possible.

The patronesses this year's dance are Mrs. R.J.E. Graham, Mrs. V. Blakeslee, Mrs. Geo. Graham, Mrs. W. A. Parker, Mrs. Reid, Wrar, Miss Powers, Mrs. A. P. Allen and Mrs. P. H. Wills.

but a few months ago bought over the R. and S. Fire business and colonized the manufacture of the famous Seiberling line here in Toronto. Optimistic over the selling success in Canada in his first few months, "Sam" enthusiastically assured the dealers of Hastings before him—and they were there with but one exception—that "The Seiberling Tire proposition was undoubtedly the great est in Canada to-day." A superior product, such as it is, combines with the "one-supplier" policy of the company, and real co-operation to dealers could not but be beneficial to all concerned.

Fine Reception

Mr. C. A. Jones, General Mgr. of Seiberling for Canada, told of the origin of the Canadian Branch factory in Toronto a few months ago; whence he had come from the Head Office in Akron. Mr. Jones was highly appreciative of the extraordinarily fine reception which had been given the Company in its first six months in Canada; "either we be the biggest company, or the "best company" Seiberling had recently selected its dealers and Mr. Jones announced that the gratifying total of one and a quarter million dollar purchases had been done in Canada to date. From a dealers standpoint, the speaker assured his listeners that Seiberling was now recognized in the States as a Company stood behind its dealers one hundred per cent and cooperated with them fully. Fair, straight forward dealings were its policy. It's no "back-door methods". The Company realized, went on Mr. Jones, that Seiberling success was dependent upon its Dealers' success, so that the Dealers were assured of one hundred per cent backing.

Canada's Future

Mr. W. J. Daley, Sales Manager of Seiberling, in a strong address expressed the appreciation of the gathering to Purchase "Cam" St. Charles for the wonderful banquet tended them, and hoped that some of these get together would be held. Mr. Daley dwelt on Canada and her future and expressed the belief that the continued prosperity our country depended to a large extent on the wakey of its citizens; future progress calls for sacrifices now on our part, as it did earlier on the part of the pioneers.

Era of Prosperity

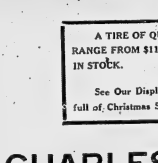

Mr. C. E. Weir, Manager of the Province of Montreal, recalled that Mr. Jones of Clarks, father of the hold had been a successful business man to this city for almost sixty years; he had always been a "square dealer" and his son had inherited his qualities which were helping him forge ahead. for Canada is now the owner of one of the finest tire and accessory shops in Eastern Ontario. Mr. Weir expressed the view that Canada was due for a great wave of business prosperity, and commended the dealers on their prosperities at this time. He gave them all an encouragingly advice regarding lookin after their business.

During the course of the evening, Mr. "Sir" Hodgins, of the Seiberling Company entertained several fine vocal solos, and Mr. C. E. Lobraico, Toronto Distributor for Seiberling entertained with some clever impersonations. Mr. Al Thompson, Adv. Manager of the Company explained, too the extensive Canadian Advertising campaign which approximately one hundred thousand dollars by coming year.

Dealers present included Messrs Kelly for and Wolsey, Bancroft; Warre Kelly, Glenco Jones, Frankford; C. Hamilton and Jackson, Trenton; P. H. Taylor, Madoc; D. J. Trudeau, Tweed; John McCumber, Marysville; H. Acker, Stirling. Mr. Pinn, Cresser representative of the Company and G. McLachlin of the St. Charles Company were also present.

The affair was a huge success, and the optimism displayed by the speakers and dealers augurs well for the success of Seiberling in Canada.

SEIBERLING BANQU ET LAST EVENING

Above are two members of the Seiberling Rubber Company,—on the left, Mr. F. A. Thompson, advertising manager, and right, Mr. W. J. Daly, C. E. tion and a surplus will be announced at the end of the year. Through the Government Control system the money is going back to the people where it belongs. The visions from across the line are helping to bring the surplus up through the motor tax." He spoke of the splendid co-operation that he had always received from the Young Men's Conservative Club in Belleville and he promised to lend his support wherever possible.

Organization Work

Mr. W. E. Tummon M.P., outlined the different activities and also spoke of the necessity of keeping up the organization work although an election is pending in the near future. "R. B. Bennett is the finest leader that the Conservative party ever had but the party leader and the policy will not have the effective results unless the organization work is maintained. Mr. Stewart who will speak to you tonight readily co-operated when I asked him to come to Belleville, he started the first campaign in this riding that I ever took part in and was the only member of Parliament to speak here at that time." Mr. Tummon announced that a Committee composed of members of the club by the different wards of the city is appointed to get in touch with the young men who will cast their first vote in the next election, get them in touch with Club activities and acquaint them with Conservatism.

Chas. Kerr, Bros. Moncrief, Jule Bent, Harry Green were appointed a Committee suggested by Mr. Tummon.

George Taylor, President of the Bonnycastle Conservative Association said he was pleased to see such a young Club has coming in the manner it is. He congratulated the officers on their election. "South Hastings is the strongest riding in the Dominion and we have no fear for the future" he said. Mr. Stewart in opening stated that he was glad to meet once again the young men who had done such excellent work in the late election. I am glad to come here on the request of Mr. Tummon who has been a useful and popular member since he first came to Ottawa, his opinion is valued both in Eastern and Western Ontario.

He made mentioned the splendid attendance at by the young men at the election time and said he was indeed gratified to note that they are co-operating with the older men. Words of wisdom and experience and he advised the Club to seek the loyalties of their experience.

Confederation Year

"This is a wonderful year when we have been celebrating Canada's sixtieth Anniversary of Confederation. The war left us shattered and divided but we are fortunate indeed that this celebration has divided in uniting the Provinces" stated Mr. Stewart. We have caught the spirit and have been inspired by the memory of those who laid Canada's foundation and those who started the policy of the Conservative party. We may look back with pride and satisfaction on the achievements of this youth full nation. Sixty years is a comparatively short time in the life of a nation and many wonderful things have taken place in the progress since the Provinces were united.

The speaker declared that the vision of the Fathers of Confederation have been realized in the vast Dominion stretching from sea to sea. "All of the Young Men's Club will write Mr. Porter a letter expressing the feeling that he will soon recover from his present illness.

Alderman Chas. A. Payne voiced his appreciation of the manner in which the Conservatives stood behind him in the recent municipal election. Mr. Payne urged that the meetings be continued at regular intervals to keep up the spirit now manifested.

GOOD PROGRESS ON SINGAPORE DOCK

London. — (By Mail.) — According to Sir William Sowden, prominent Australian newspaper proprietor, who recently returned from a visit to Singapore, Britain is making excellent progress with the construction of her naval base there.

Thousands of men, Sowden declares, are employed, and expenditure on a lavish scale is being made on motor roads and railways. Seventy tanks for liquid oil fuel, each holding 15,000 tons, have been completed, and 10 more are to be built. These huge tanks are readily accessible to vessels. Sowden learned from the white population at Singapore that the presence of these many oil reservoirs with their inflammable contents aroused misgivings as to what might happen if they were attacked from the air, but it is stated that these fears had been allayed by official declarations that such formidable aerial defence measures would be taken that there was no possible hope of enemy aircraft reaching the tanks.

PRESBYTERY MEETS

The Belleville Presbytery of the United Church met in Grace Church, Trenton, yesterday. The usual inspection and piece of business of the Presbytery was the resignation of the Rev. D. C. Ramsay as Chairman, and the appointment of the Rev. L. S. Wight in his place. Regular business was then proceeded with.

HOLY DAY, DECEMBER

To-day being the Feast of the Immaculate Conception which is observed on December 8th was a Holy Day in all Roman Catholic Churches throughout the country and masses were offered at 6, 8 and 10.30 at St. Michael's Church this morning and were all largely attended.

$300 WINDOW

Trenton, too, suffered from last night's violent storm. Trees were stripped of their branches and several minor accidents occurred. The largest plate window in Trenton, that of the Star Cafe, was shattered by the force of the wind. The window was valued at $300.00.

MOOSE EUCHRE AND DANCE

Over forty tables of euchre were in play last evening at the card party held under the auspices of the local Moose Legion in their auditorium. Following the playing dancing was indulged in until around one o'clock. The music was supplied by the Ben Tilt orchestra which were up to their usual high standard. Refreshments were also served.

The prize winners for euchre were:- Ladies 1st, Mrs. Gause Carew; 2nd, Mrs. Rand; 3rd, Mrs. H. Bowerman. Gents 1st, R. LeMoine; 2nd, W. Daugherty; 3rd, J. Cornell.

MUSIC RETURNED

The Al Wester's Broadway Girl Show at the Capitol had the misfortune to lose the valise with the music scores on the road between Trenton and Belleville. Therefore the show had to change their whole bill for the first three days of the week until what orchestration could be secured. Thanks to the publicity given the incident in the Intelligencer, the music has been returned to the manager and will make an entire change tonight.

IN THE MOIRA

The bill boards at the Belle Theatre were lifted from their proper places in front of the box office and were blown into the river by the violence of last night's gale.

HELD MEETING

Main Chapter R. A. M., held their regular monthly meeting last night. A good number were i uptendance.

HOTEL NOT SOLD

"It have not sold" stated Mr. C. F. Robinson, owner and proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, to the Intelligencer man asked this afternoon if there was any foundation to the rumor that he had sold his hotel business and property to two Picton men.

WIND, HAIL, RAIN

Please turn to Page Five

Officer Canadian National Railways stated this morning that nothing very serious had occurred to the Canadian National lines.

Early Morning

This terrific storm, perhaps the worst we have had so far this year, started shortly after midnight. Fortunately it did not continue to any extent but a cold wintery chill set in.

At early o'clock this morning it was dangerous to walk down Bridge Street as flying branches created a shambles on the road and sidewalks. Garages and signs were blown over, sign-boards ripped down, trees uprooted and windows broken. The chimney of the Salvation Army Hall was blown down, a window in the dining-room of the Quinte Hotel broken, the sign board of Dominion's Hardware blown from its fixtures, and a large branch ripped from a tree on Victoria Avenue smashed on top of the car of the city's stop-light sending it. Besides this various windows and chimneys on homes in Belleville were cracked by the gale. Several sign boards on the west side of the river suffered similar damage and the crash of the debris to city property could be heard at once on awakened sleepers.

Blew Off Roof

Shortly after 7 o'clock this morning the roof of the new home of Mr. Ben Sandford, who lives at 29 Pinto Street, was blown off and scattered over the yard, and then it into bedding itself. The roof is a total loss to Mr. Sandford.

Losses from ruffled fowls reached a total of over $250.00. The smallest on record, during the first half of 1927, Revenue was $24.05 from four for that period, to-day's and more than 4,000 from the "peak railway" period in 1920, the American Railway Association says.

BOY SCOUTS IN GOOD PROGRAM

Third Troop Entertain At St. George's Sunday School

A complete success indeed was the initial concert given by the Third Belleville Troop of Boy Scouts at St. George's Sunday School last evening. This was the first attempt the troop has made in this direction and they are to be indeed congratulated for their successful efforts.

Before the programme commenced, the Rev. C. E. Clarke, Scoutmaster, gave a short address. The first number of the evening was a Camp Fire scene, the entire troop taking part in this act, which was composed of yells and jokes and stringed instrumental selections.

Perhaps the most successful feature of the evening was a Scout play entitled "Scouts to the Rescue", in which Miss Kathleen Trump, Mr. Garnett Rowsome and Ernest Edwards featured. The cast was as follows:

Scouts

Jack Britt—George Nunn.
Joe Brisley—Jack Rogers.
Bert Johnson—Gordon Davies.
Frank Preston—Jim Churchill.

Little Ruffians

Country Director—Fred Churchill.
Scrubby Smithson—Tom Nunn.
Widow Smith—Miss Kathleen Trump.
Police Constable Philpott — Garnett Rowsome.

Jimmy Betteley—Ernest Edwards.

A recitation by Miss Ruttan, sung by Master Turner, a First Aid demonstration and songs by the troop completed the programme. Mr. William Edwards favoured the audience with a solo before the play.

Presentation Made

The Rev. C. E. Clarke, on behalf of the Scouts presented a complete First Aid Travelkit to Scoutmaster Harry Varley. Mr. Varley in a few suitable words thanked the boys for their gift to him.

BEATEN INSENSIBLE LEFT ON HIGHWAY

Oshawa, Dec. 8.—Beaten into insensibility and left on the roadside in a ditch from her home by her alleged son, Mrs. Roy Cutt, Oshawa, was found on the Highway today by passersby and taken to Toronto General Hospital, where she is suffering from shock, concussion of the brain and exposure. Mrs. Cutt, who is 70 years of age, was found unconscious in the ditch and is believed to have been there all night. Her son, Roy Cutt, is under arrest charged with assault causing bodily harm.

COMPLAINT TO JURY

Mayor Hamilton Hall, Deseronto, has complained to the grand jury at the next sitting of the county court which will open in Belleville on Tuesday, December 13th at 2 p.m. today. The complaint is against Mr. Hall's action in refusing to grant a license to the Deseronto Gazette to publish the proceedings of the police court. The Gazette has been refused the privilege for the past two years.

Social and Personals

Mrs. (Dr.) J. J. Robertson has returned to her home, 217 Pinnacle Street, after spending the past several weeks with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. Gertrude Oliver and son, Master Leo, left for their home in Windsor after spending a month with friends in Belleville.

A charming afternoon tea was held at the home of Mrs. B. D. Lazier, John street, this afternoon, at which about sixty invited guests attended. The decorations were in keeping with the present season, and were of Christmas character. Mrs. B. D. Lazier, Mrs. W. Dennison and Mrs. Gwen Lazier were hostesses, and Mrs. R. M. Leach, Mrs. A. L. Bird poured tea and coffee.

Mrs. N. Cowan, Expert designer of Brockville, has accepted a position with the Al Flower Co.

Miss Josephine Tickell, D.A., of Pembroke Collegiate Institute, returned to that place last evening after attending the obsequies of her grandmother, the late Mrs. Emma Marsh which were held in this city yesterday.

Mrs. Harman will have a wonderful selection of new models in Satine, Moleskin, and Lastex cloth in tailored and embroidery on SALE Saturday next. Do not miss this opportunity to get a smart hat for yourself or a Xmas gift for one of the family. 42 1-2 Bridge St., Upstairs. 07-3d must be balanced to-day. Yes, Provincial roads radiate out of Belleville and besides this the city is third city for the Province. Through the improvements made to the bridge in city will be ridded of a debt of $180,000. Mr. Herity explained this the city is liable for the maintenance of the roads within a radius of two and one half miles of the city which he characterized as a very unjust position. The City Council has interviews the Government with no appreciable success. The Eastern Municipal Chamber of Commerce which met at Kingston on Friday last session supporting the city in its contention that the Government should bear the costs of the roads outside the city limits.

The Associated Board of Trade refused to support the movement in the recent meeting held at Kitchener

Mr. Herity was of the opinion that a concerted effort by the City Council was the only remedy.

AMATEUR HAS STATUS ALSO

Has Been Recognized As Factor In International Radiotelegraph

Washington, D.C., Dec. 2.—(CP)—Recognition of the amateur as a factor in international radiotelegraph development has been made by the International Radiotelegraphic Conference just concluded here. Hitherto he has been practically ignored in some countries and in others left to "fish" with narrow wavelengths scattered over the short wave spectrum. The arrangement has resulted in interference for the amateurs and also for government, commercial and shipping services with which their operations have been in conflict.

Discussing the new table of allocations drawn up by the conference delegates that representatives of the interests of the amateur have come out of the conference with a satisfactory allocation for the venturesome experts who have experimented with radio for the love of the game and have incidentally had a very large share in the swift development of the science in the last few years. With present and future requirements of official and commercial broadcasting to be considered, as well as amateurs the allocation of frequencies has been the most difficult question before the conference. The result has been an allocation which will give every branch of radio a definite channel of communication with a minimum of interruption. Instead of being on a different basis in different countries amateurs have been assigned bands definitely allotted to them throughout the world.

From time to time during the six weeks of its deliberations, the conference has endeavored to confine the three fields of interest of the amateur —domestic communication, inter-continental traffic and experimental work. In the final allocation, broad bands in the spectrum around 80 and 150 metres have been made available for amateur local work. These wavelengths are far and will be less subject to international interference than amateur wavelengths of lower frequency used by amateurs on this continent that have been abandoned now in use by amateurs in other parts of the world.

For experimental work, the amateurs are allowed very wide latitude below 12 metres—and it is reported that Overseas explorations in this region will bring to the development of radiocommunicable information.

Some of the delegates favored wider privileges to amateurs but the conference had always in mind the fact that more than 50,000 ships in the world's merchant marine are compelled to carry on their radio traffic in very narrow bands assigned 600 and 1,000 meters and their interests had to be considered alongside those of the amateurs. It was stated by K. B. Warner, secretary treasurer of the International Amateur Union (Hartford, Conn.) that the amateurs of the world intend to organize their work so as to leave the long-distance bands free for inter-continent traffic and they purposed to show the world how efficiently they could use the bands which have been allotted to them. Another delegate expressed the conviction that the frequencies below 5.35, which are available to amateurs, would be exploited successfully and that a new field on the very short lengths would be opened up in the near future.

POLICE COURT

Joe Generaux, a Frenchman from Sidney Township, appeared before Magistrate Mikel in Police Court today on a charge of "selling". This is Joe's third offense of "selling" in two days, others having been under the O.T.A. Generaux asked for a remand, and was allowed his liberty on $1000 bail, his case coming up a week from today.

UNKNOWN WARRIOR'S TOMB IS OPENED

London (By Mail)—The tomb of the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey was opened recently. The object which has become known to many persons, has occasioned considerable surprise and some curiosity.

Exactly why the tomb was opened can now be explained.

This Unknown Warrior was taken by the Abbey authorities to enable them to place inside the tomb the oak casket section of which is remembrance, some of them of great intrinsic value bestowed upon it by the relatives of the fallen.

It was not until some time had elapsed after the funeral ceremony of the tomb that the problem of dealing with these spontaneous gifts became acute.

Every day the officials saw the pile of gold and silver trinkets, medals, crucifixes, rings and other articles growing larger and larger.

For a guest, the tokens were lodged with the Dean's verger, but it soon became obvious that a permanent home would have to be found for them.

Accordingly, it was decided to place them in the tomb with the remains of the Unknown in whose honor they had been deposited.

The actual task of opening the tomb was conducted with the utmost secrecy. In the presence of a few responsible officials a small cavity was made, into which the gathering collection of relics was gently and lovingly placed.

OFFICERS CHOSEN HOLLOWAY W.M.S.

Mrs. Wight Is Re-Elected To Chair After Successful Year

The W.M.S. of Holloway St. United Church held their annual meeting in the league room Wednesday afternoon. The report from the treasurer, thank offering and night watchman, superintendent and the general election of officers proceeded with, Vice President, Mrs. Wight, in the chair. The result of the election was as follows:—

President—Mrs. Wight.
1st Vice President—Mrs. Hall.
2nd Vice President—Mrs. Walters.
3rd Vice Pres.—Mrs. G. Woodley.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Kerr.
Corresponding Secty—Mrs. Scott.
Treasurer—Mrs. J. McCarthy.
Night Watchman Superintendent—Mrs. Langabeer.
Pianist—Mrs. Turnbull.
Stranger Secretary—Mrs. Steward.
Mission Monthly Supt.—Mrs. Hyde.

Christian Stewardship—Mrs. Hyde, Miss Kelly, Mrs. C. Osmond.

Miss Kerr was appointed delegate for the presbytery to melt in Picton in January. Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Woodley, Mrs. Langabeer and Mrs. Kerr were appointed for the programme committee. The meeting closed by prayer by Mrs. Wight.

The first wedding to occur in the White House was that of Miss Todd, sister of Dorothy Madison.

NEW FORDS IN BELLEVILLE MON.

Tudor Model Will Be On Display In Local Show-Rooms

Great activity may be observed in the showrooms and garage of Belleville Motors, local Ford dealers. The finishing touches are being applied both inside and outside for Mr. Wilmot has been notified by the Ford Motor Company of Canada that the first of the New Ford cars will arrive in Belleville on Monday, December 12th and will be on display for two days only, Monday, December 12th and Tuesday, December 13th.

Speaking of the Company's notification, Mr. Wilmot said, "We've waited a long time for this day. Since the cars were first put on display in the larger cities, interest in this latest Ford achievement has tremendously increased, and we have been kept busy answering the many questions of our local residents and handing out details and specifications.

"We are holding open house starting Monday and Tuesday, December 12 and 13 when we will have on display a Tudor model and we look forward to the pleasure of an inspection by everyone in this district."

Information from cities where the car has been on display justified Mr. Wilmot's expectations. The residents of Belleville and district, as much as in any other city or town, are interested in the new Ford car, and won't miss this first local showing.

"Our main problem right now," says Mr. Wilmot, "is the securing of sufficient cars to meet local demand. The Ford factory at Oshawa, Ontario, is rushing production and cars will be coming off on the line at a record speed to catch up with the thousands of orders received. However, we have instituted the policy of filling orders in rotation, and will soon be making deliveries to those whose orders are in our hands."

For the present Mr. Wilmot expects to show one or two models. The showing will soon be increased to include six passenger models and entirely new ton and a half truck and light delivery models powered with the new motor. Within a short time he expects that the Ford factory at Ford, Ontario, will be finally tooled up for production on a larger scale than ever and that orders now on hand will be quickly filled.

OUR SISTER CITIES

Newsy Neighborhood Notes

ABLE TO LEAVE

Oshawa, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Roy Cutts, 168 Simcoe street south, was able to leave the Oshawa General Hospital yesterday where she was taken in an unconscious condition the night previous as the result of harrowing experiences she had on the Kingston highway near Thornton's Corners. Mrs. Cutts told the authorities that she was walking west on the Kingston highway on the south side of the road intending to meet her husband who was motoring from Whitby, when a car drove up and a man asked her to go for a ride. She refused, and one of the men stepped from the car and chased her a few feet when she fell into the ditch in an unconscious condition. Mrs. Cutts says that the man who chased her was carrying a flashlight and she believes he struck her over the head with it.

RECORD TIME

Cobourg, Dec. 8.—Through the use of modern, highly efficient machinery, 2,234 tons of coal were unloaded from the steam collier Coalfax, at Cobourg harbour, Tuesday, into railway cars in less than seven hours. The speed of unloading while not a record, is unusual for lake ports.

TRIED AGAIN

Port Hope, Dec. 8.—Wilfred Tessier, the man who, on Sunday night attempted suicide in Trenton lock-up where he was being held on a charge of forgery, attempted to jump through a window of a train while being taken to Ottawa to answer the forgery charges. His head was badly cut by glass in the attempt. A trainman frustrated his escape.

HOUSING PROBLEMS

Oshawa, Dec. 8.—Daily, the housing situation in Oshawa becomes more acute. While houses are springing up in all directions to take care of the rapidly increasing population, the efforts of the builders have not so far been able to remedy a condition, which, it is safe to say, has no parallel in the Dominion. The vast army of factory workers are largely dependent upon rooming houses for their accommodation, and as these are necessarily limited, rooms are scarce.

NO LIBRARY IN MONTREAL CITY

Montreal, Que., Dec. 8.—Montreal is the only big city in the world which has no libraries for its children, Mrs. M. D. Carter, of the McGill University Library School, stated in an address at the Household Show. With the exception of a few school libraries and the Westmount Library, no public provision is made to supply children eager for books with reading material. This is an extremely short-sighted policy Mrs. Carter contended. Since it was often difficult for the parent, on whom the onus of selecting books for the child rested, to know just what books were fit fare for youngsters of different ages, the speaker referred her audience to th exhibits at th McGill University Library, the lists compiled by experts issued by the American Library Association, and the reviews at children's books in certain papers.

OIL COMPANY IS CHANGING HANDS

Toronto, Dec. 7.—The sale of McColl Frontenac Oil Company, city of Toronto to Nesbitt, Thomson & Co., Ltd., of Montreal, for ten million dollars, was announced today. The McColl firm has refineries, warehouses, divisional agencies and other branches from coast to coast, while purchasers already control Frontenac Oil Refineries of Sarnia. Twenty million dollars merger of both companies is being speculated on as a result of the sale. Although officially denied, said today the merger was "exceedingly probable if Nesbitt company really controls Frontenac."

Here and There

Preliminary figures indicate that mining production in British Columbia this year will exceed by various records, although prices will be somewhat below those of 1926, when a total of $67,000,000 was recorded.

Tobacco growing in the Kelowna district, B.C., has been so successful this year that the acreage will probably be increased to 1,000 next season. The present crop has been safely harvested and cured.

Not since 1917 has the Nova Scotia mining industry enjoyed so prosperous a season. During the fiscal year ending September, approximately 6,549,000 tons of coal were produced in the province against approximately 5,900,000 for the same period of last year.

The biggest shipment of live foxes to leave North America for the European market since the industry has been developed left Charlottetown by a consignment of 1,000, bound for Norway, via Halifax. These animals are valued at from $1,500 to $1,500 a pair, and the entire shipment is valued at approximately half a million dollars.

Her Grace the Duchess of Atholl, prominent British peeress and Parliamentarian, was the central figure recently at the launing on the Clyde, Scotland, of the first of the four new Canadian Pacific "Duchess" ships—the 20,000-ton passenger liner "Duchess of Atholl." Three vessels will go into the Canadian Pacific Atlantic passenger service.

The elaborate figurehead of the "Empress of Japan," the first trans-Pacific liner on the Canadian Pacific, has been mounted in Stanley Park, Vancouver. The "Empress of Japan" was a clipper type steamer and the largest and fastest vessel navigating the Pacific. The figurehead was presented to the Vancouver Parks Board as a historic relic of that great sport.

A special train of six cars carrying pure bred swine and sheep for exhibition and instruction purposes is now travelling through Southern Saskatchewan over the Canadian Pacific Railway. The stock is supplied by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, the Dominion Livestock Branch, Stockyard Companies, Packers and Breeders — all high-class stock. Lectures dealing with the breeding, feeding and management of sheep and swine are given by experts.

Through the auspices of the Canada Colonization Association, 505 families, consisting of 2,799 persons, were settled in Canada on 230,978 acres of land from January 1st to October 31st. The settlement of these families was personally supervised by officials of the Association, who completed the contracts, inspected the lands and closed transactional difficulties will be settled before the end of the year. Since its formation in 1923, the Canada Colonization Association, a subsidiary of the Department of Colonization and Development, and Canadian Pacific Railway, has settled 2,227 families on 1,154,189 acres and there are still 854,189 acres and there are still settlement opportunities for 256,000 acres for 1,164 families. The percentage of success in these settlements is unusually high, being 100 per cent. in Alberta and 99.50 in Saskatchewan.

SLEUTHS GIVEN BAGS OF TOOLS

Packed With Scientific Instruments For Scotland Yard Men

London (By Mail).—Scotland Yard detectives have been supplied with what is officially known as the murder bag.

It is a brown leather bag packed with scientific instruments and other articles essential in the investigation of grave crimes, particularly murder. Five of these bags have so far been provided, primarily for the use of chief inspectors of the Criminal Investigation Department when they go to aid town's assist country and local police forces in elucidating baffling mysteries, but, of course, they will also be used in London whenever the occasion arises.

Each of the murder bags contains the following articles:

Complete apparatus for taking finger-prints.

Two test tubes for specimens, such as hair or bits of clothing.

Two magnifying glasses.

Two pairs rubber gloves.

One rubber apron.

A pair of scissors.

Large and small forceps.

A tin of disinfectant and a packet of disinfectant tablets.

A towel and a tablet of soap.

A roll of tape.

A surveyor's tape measure.

An electric torch.

A two-foot rule.

A compass for determining the exact position in which a body is found, and for other purposes.

A pair of handcuffs.

The importance and value of giving detective officers all the aids that modern science can suggest in the investigation of crime cannot be overestimated. Any one who handles a body as a detective must do in the course of his duties runs a grave risk of septic poisoning unless his hands and clothing are adequately protected. A surgeon wears rubber gloves and a rubber apron, and in future detectives will be similarly safe-guarded.

The purpose of the other articles is apparent. The detective, with the aid of a magnifying glass and forceps, will be able to find and pick up minute particles which often form powerful links in the chain of evidence, and these will be carefully preserved in test tubes for the examination of analytical experts.

Handcuffs Are Ready

Finally, there are the handcuffs, which the detective after a long and anxious inquiry will presumably fasten to the wrists of the villain of the piece, exclaiming as he does so, "I am Chief Inspector Argus of New Scotland Yard. I arrest you on a charge of murder, but I warn you not to say anything."

SINCLAIR'S

HOPE TO FINISH DISPOSITIONS

Of Vare And Smith United States Senate Seats By Christmas

Washington, D.C., Dec. 8.—(CP)—Disposition of the contests over the seats of Senators Smith of Illinois and Vare of Pennsylvania, both Republicans, by the Christmas holidays is planned by Senate leaders.

Senator Curtis of Kansas, the Republican leader, would Congress in a position to adjourn by the opening of the national party conventions next June and to that end he is hoping for early action on the tax reduction bill as well as the Smith-Vare cases.

The tax measure which is promised before the Senate before the Christmas holidays by the House, can be disposed of Senator Curtis believes, by February and certainly before March 15, when first quarterly income tax payments on income of this calendar year are due.

Flood legislation, involving appropriations, likewise must start in the House, the Kansas Senator feels, but this, too, he would push through to an early conclusion.

Meanwhile, Senate attention is focused on the contests against Senators Smith and Vare which are based on the charges of excessive expenditures in their primary campaigns as revealed by the Senate campaign funds committee headed by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri.

There is a growing feeling that if an agreement is reached whereby an early date will be set for a vote on the contests that the two Senators may be allowed to take the oath of office and assume their seats, pending disposition of their cases.

However, it is certain that their right to take the oath of office on the opening day will be challenged, there by forcing the issue immediately before the Senate. There are several senators, though, who intend to vote against the seating of either Senator on the fact that both should be administered the oath of office as the representatives of their states. Some southern Democrats take this view.

But even the most optimistic of republican leaders are making no predictions about the final outcome of the contests against the seats of either and it is the disposition of these leaders to have the case acted upon before Christmas.

If the two senators are ejected, republicans would have only 46 votes as against 47 votes by the democrats. But on the question of organizing the Senate it is expected that Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, of Minnesota, will vote with the republicans, giving them an equal standing. Then, Senator Blease, Democrat, of South Carolina, has said he would vote with the republicans on this point, thus virtually assuring republican control of organization, at least.

Nearly 30,000 permits to graze livestock on ranges within the national forests were issued during 1924.

EVERY TEACHER NOW QUALIFIED

Inspector Of Schools For North Hastings Presents His Report

Mr. J. Colling, Inspector of Schools for North Hastings, submitted his report of the work done in his section to the County Council at yesterday afternoon's session. He noted that the professional training given by the Normal Schools aims at fitting teachers for the graded schools in towns and cities rather than for rural schools. For this reason the inexperienced teacher is often at sea when it comes to organization work.

All of the teachers in North Hastings are properly qualified. There are eight first-class teachers, fifty-three holding second-class certificates and two permanent thirds. The average salary of the teachers is $622 as compared with last year $705. Mr. Colling stated that the salaries were still below the average of those paid in South Hastings. Six or eight of the schools are now teaching household science following an address by Miss Ewing of the Toronto Normal School. Hot lunches are being served the pupils at the lunch hour for which annual grants are made to the teachers.

No building was done this year although three schools have been remodelled and improved. The new regulation requiring teachers-in-training to spend two years in Normal School is likely to have a drastic effect on the supply of teachers. Mr. Colling said he felt that time was coming when it would be necessary to resort to unqualified teachers to fill the positions.

He stated that many useful suggestions resulted from the conference of Inspectors held in Belleville in February when fifteen inspectors from adjoining counties were present. He said it should be made an annual affair.

Mr. H. J. Clarke, Inspector for South Hastings, stated that his report would be submitted at the end of the present year.

Mr. Clarke was appointed as School Inspector twenty-seven years yesterday.

The Council following the reading of Inspector Colling's report went into committee on the whole, Col. Roscoe Vanderwater in the chair. Tax-receipt of $225 for equipment for the office of Mr. McCuaig, Inspector for South Hastings, was ordered paid. The equipment consisted of a desk and a filing cabinet. An account at the Hydro Electric Power Commission of $18.23 was ordered paid.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

Walter Hdwe. Co.	$ 29.31
Imi Bleefeet	1.00
Victoria Ind. School	157.50
Alexandria Ind. School	52.50

Children's Aid	278.10
Chas. N. Solman	6.30
Medical Alliance	812.50
Jennings & Sherry	9.90
Teachers' Institute Grant	25.23

No action was taken regarding a grant for the Sick Children's Hospital. The Council took no action in the request for a grant for the Institute for the Blind. The Council took no action in the, grant for the Canadian Red Cross Society.

A number of hospital accounts were referred to the finance committee with power to act. There was considerable discussion over this matter.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

MARTIN WEBSTER DONOHUE

The funeral of the late Martin Webster Donohue was held yesterday afternoon from his late residence, Sidney Township, to Stirling United Church where the Rev. C. W. Barrett conducted an impressive service and also officiated at the committal at the graveside, Stirling Cemetery. During the service at the church Miss Betty Conley rendered an appropriate solo.

The many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets together with the wealth of flowers clearly testified to the sorrow felt for the bereaved family.

The bearers were Messrs. Edgar D. Morrow, Mostyn Lidster, Hiram Bush, Percy Ultman, Edward Palmer and Gibaldone Parks.

MRS. AGNES DAFOE

The funeral of the late Mrs. Agnes Dafoe was held yesterday afternoon from her late home, 9th Concession of Hungerford, to Trainor Church where Rev. Mr. Lorelace conducted an impressive service at the house and at the graveside, Stirling cemetery.

A wealth of flowers and the large attendance at the funeral were eloquent expressions of sympathy from sorrowing friends and neighbors.

The bearers were Messrs. Hiram, W. H., John, Herman and Gregory Dafoe and Stephen Kellar.

MRS. EMMA MOUCK

All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Erwin Mouck, 21 Murray street, was laid to rest in the family plot, Belleville Cemetery yesterday afternoon following an impressive service at Christ Church which was conducted by the minister, Rev. G. E. Clarke, assisted by Rev. F. Evans, Vicar of St. Thomas Church.

The many interesting floral tributes testified how much the wealth of flowers silently testified to sorrow felt for the bereaved relatives.

The bearers were all nephews and were Messrs. A. S. Lapp, J. McCarthy, D. A. Mercer, Belleville; John Orem, Thomasburg; Mgrney Geen, Fuller, and James Ford, Jr., Toronto.

THOMAS W. CARTER

The funeral of the late Thomas W. Carter was held from his late home, 251 Coleman street, Sidney yesterday afternoon to Holloway United Church where an impressive funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Osborne, who also officiated at the committal at Dustin's Cemetery. The funeral was in charge of Undertaker Dustin.

ROAD CHAIRMAN

re-surfacing costing $46,575.35, making 45 miles re-surfaced.

Several accidents occurred to workmen during the year, which have been taken care of by the Workmen's Compensation Board. The various claims for accidents to the highways have been adjusted by the insurance companies.

The matter of large bridges which are County bridges but not on the County system we will expect a by-law passed at this session so that we may get the maximum amount of assistance from the Government."

The committee has also under consideration the abolishing of some railway crossings and this question is now being taken up with the Dominion Government since they have a fund for assisting in this movement.

Mr. Moore impressed on the members of the need of the advisability of building a more permanent type of road as on a great many miles of the roads such as Tweed-Belleville and Madoc-Foxboro highways. He pointed out that water-bound macadam will not carry the traffic. A detailed statement as to the expenditures on each of the roads will be forwarded to the Reeves later in the month.

The Roads and Bridges Committee was composed of James A. Moore, chairman, R. E. Bonter, Roscoe Vanderwater, G. A. Hoshal, Chas. Thompson.

The expenditures for the roads and bridges committee will over-run the appropriation be a thousand dollars, Warden R. E. Manning said he was glad to note that it is proposed to build a new system of road. He stressed the need of regular oiling.

Mr. George Stokes stated that the system of maintenance should be developed as the good roads seem to deteriorate after building. It is proposed to build the same type of roads as concrete, bellerize and Pusboro.

Reeve R. M. Mitchel of Thurlow brought up the question of controlling the speed limits on County roads such as exist on Provincial highways.

Reeve Rollins of Tweed and Reeve Allison of Marmora both expressed the opinion that tarvia rather than oil aided in the maintenance of the roads.

James W. Embury cited an instance of a piece of road which had stood up well under the traffic after oiling had been done.

Col. Roscoe Vanderwater pointed out the necessity of continuous oiling on roads as they were bound to deteriorate if the work was not kept up.

Hugh Miller, Reeve of Frankford, spoke of the shoulders formed along the edge of the road which allowed no outlet for the water which remained in little pools. "Oil, to my mind on the road is practically useless especially where the traffic is particularly heavy."

Geo. Bailey, Reeve of Rawdon, declared that motorists should be kept off roads where the oiling process was going on.

Reeve Rollins of Tweed stated that some roads need a more permanent surface and oil was used more in keeping down dust.

Reeve Metcalfe of Deseronto said his town had found the water-bound road with the oil top most suitable factory.

Reeve Airhart mentioned the ill effects of trucks passing over County roads with heavy loads and often at an excessive rate of speed. He requested the Council forwarding a resolution to the Government in Toronto to keep trucks on the County Roads.

The question of securing reliable assistants for the County Roads, Road Supt. Simeon Fox stated that several dismissals resulted from unsatisfactory work. He read a copy of the instructions issued to patrolmen. He reported that 795, were doing road work.

Reeve Rollins inquired as to the possibility of keeping the County men engaged in some form of work in the winter months.

Mr. Fox stated that the foreman is now employed during the winter months at various jobs.

Reeve Bonter said he believed some action should be taken in draft a resolution to forward to the Government in regard to heavy trucks on County roads.

SAVAGE STORMS

of Manitoulin Island and shipping and fishing operations locally are entirely suspended until the gale subsides.

Ties Up Industries

Ottawa, Dec. 8.—Much damage is reported throughout Central Ontario this morning to power and other wire transmission systems as a result of high winds last night and this morning. Industries in this city and other points dependent upon light and power supplied by the Central Ontario Power Company found themselves out of action by reason of the interruption in power supply. Many poles were down and long stretches of wire laid low. The Power Company have several gangs of men out repairing the damage but operations are difficult owing to the continued high winds.

Two Away Bridge

Brantford, Dec. 8.—The waters of Lake Erie are being strongly lashed by a windstorm which is today sweeping the lake. At Port Dover the bridge was torn away and much damage caused by high water. At Port Ryers the water rose five feet and some sidewalks were washed away. In this city many signs were blown down and bill boards failed to hold against the strong wind.

Tors From Moorings

Detroit, Dec. 8.—The steamer "Tashmoo", one of the largest excursion boats on the Detroit River, was torn from its moorings here early today by a fifty mile an hour gale, which lashed the channel docks and destroyed a number of smaller boats and launches. The "Tashmoo" valued by her owners at a million dollars crashed into the bow of the Detroit Windsor ferry, "Premier." Tearing the latter away from her moorings both steamers, with no one aboard were driven upstream by the gale and the "Tashmoo" pounded helplessly against the Belle Isle bridge. The "Premier" was driven against the Grand Trunk Railroad shipping dock and crushed into a coal boat. Both were damaged.

Bad Storm at Niagara

St. Catharines, Dec. 8.—Southern portion of Niagara District was badly hit by the storm last night and this morning. At Port Colborne a strong wind from the lake blew water into the harbor but no draft was left under water. The accompanying heavy rain also flooded fill cellars and factory floors with water. The lower floors of the Maple Leaf Flour Mill and government elevator are submerged.

Men on the way to work found them selves stranded in a shack half way out on the pier where they were still marooned this morning. Boats in the harbor are holding their positions with difficulty. The "Valley Camp" broke from her moorings at the east pier and was blown across the harbor to the Canada Steamship dock A tug helped to get the vessel clear. Twenty tons of coal were washed from a coal dock. All construction work on the ship canal has been suspended. Crystal Beach Park is said to be completely under water. The local line street cars at Welland are completely tied up by the blizzard.

Two Canada Steamship boats left Port Colborne at noon yesterday for the head of the lakes, the "saskatoon" and the "Seltzik." While the "Seltzik" is believed to be out of the storm area, some apprehension is felt for the "Saskatoon."

Anal-Eyes Yourself

When you get that tired feeling, it's high time to analyze yourself!

Look to your eyes—for you use your eyes more constantly in daily work than your hands or feet or teeth or any muscles of your body. You can rest your other muscles anytime of day—but not the muscles of your eyes!

The evidence of eye strain is often indicated by frowning, squinting, sensitiveness to light, leaning back to read, crusty lids, styes, inflammation of the eyes or lids, and so forth.

When "the world looks wrong," it is a sure sign that your eyes look wrong. And it's time to analeyes yourself—

THEIR TAMENESS SAVED THEIR LIVES

Toronto, Nov. 28.—(CP)—After several years in which it was not lawful to shoot black squirrels in the County of Essex or the County of Norfolk the recent one-day season found the squirrels so unafraid of man that they ran to meet the hunters who had gone prepared to shoot them, instead of fleeing from the peril of which they were ignorant. The result was that their innocence of danger saved most of them from destruction as few of the hunters took advantage of the squirrels' tameness.

In reversal of the usual order the very plentifulness of the game resulted in exceedingly meagre bags for the majority of the hunters in Norfolk and Essex. This fact was reported to the Ontario Department of Fish and Game upon the return of the Toronto men the majority of whom had the unusual experience of not getting any game because there was too much of it or because it was too tame to try to shoot the unwanted slaughter. They admitted that they had not the heart to kill under he circumstances.

BOWLING

The Belleville Hardware bowlers won the senior league at the Recreation Alleys last night when they took all four points from the C.N.R. Shop team, the winners being very lucky in the first game when they only had 4 pins to the good; the Hardware have only one more game to play and even if they lose all four points they will still have one point to the good. This is the Hardware's second consecutive game that they have rolled over the 3200 mark. Stratton for the winners was high with 713 and W. Austin for the C.N.R., rolled 660 for the high-est.

Hardware 3206 vs. C.N.R. 2828.

The S. A. Shops knocked the Quinte Boys off the top perch in the Rec league when they took three points from them in a junior league fixture. The Quinte Jr.'s winning streak was cut short but losing the next two and total. High bowlers were Barrett and E. Ehler.

S. A. Shops 2521 vs. Quinte Jr.'s 2479.

The usual weekly roll in the C.N.R. Shops League was played at the Rec alleys with the following results. Team No. 12 took a full point of No. 1 by taking all four points from them, this being the worst reverse that No. 1 has suffered. Plaude and Griffiths were high bowlers.

Team No. 1, 1855 vs. Team No. 2, 1966.

Team No. 5 were too good for No. 6 team the former taking three points and the latter one, No. 6 coming from behind in the final game to score their one point. High bowlers were Symons and Batty.

Team No. 5, 2327 vs. Team No. 6, 2037.

In the final game, Team No. 3 won three points and Team No. 4 taking two, both teams playing four men aside: Baldree and Robinson rolled the best scores for their respective teams.

Team No. 3, 1936 vs. Team No. 4, 1782.

BELLE THEATRE

Life for Bert Lytell is just one crook role after another.

When Columbia Pictures selected him for the title role of "Alias the Lone Wolf," the Louis Joseph Vance story which comes to the Belle Theatre today, it marked the third time that he had been called upon to portray the "Lone Wolf" on the screen.

Ten years ago Lytell introduced this character for the first time in motion picture audiences, in "The Lone Wolf," a Selznick production. This picture also marked Bert's first appearance on the screen. At the same time it started him on a career of reel crime which has made him one of the greatest portrayers of crook roles, both on the stage and in films.

His second portrayal of Michael Lanyard, "The Lone Wolf" was in Columbia's "The Lone Wolf Returns," which was one of the outstanding productions of the past year and a personal triumph for Lytell.

Leil Wilson is cast in the leading feminine role opposite Lytell. Other members of the cast include William V. Mong, James Mason, Paulette Duval, Ben Hendricks Jr., Brody and Alphons Ethier.

Edmund H. Griffith directed the production.

REGENT THEATRE

"Burnt Fingers," a Maurice Campbell production presents Helen Percy, Edna Murphy, George O'Hara and Wilfred Lucas in featured roles in the Regent Theatre today. This Pathe picture is from a story by Elizabeth York Miller and tells of the dangerous situation a beautiful cabaret dancer found herself in when she tried to protect her innocent friend from the results of her own folly. Always careful to protect her own virtue, she let her fingers before someone else's fire.

FLIERS LEAVE FORD AIRPORT

Detroit, December 8.—Edward F. Schlee and William S. Brock, round-the-world fliers, left the Ford airport at 10.39 today in the pride of Detroit en route to Dupont Beach, Fla., where they plan to arrive today. Schlee and Brock will attempt to break the world's endurance record.

MIDDLE WEST IS STRICKEN

Kansas City, Mo., December 8.—Snow, continuing with blizzard intensity in the Rocky Mountains today brought another cold wave to the Mid dle West and southwest.

The blizzard, sarting in Canada, moved across Wyoming to enter Nebraska and Colorado last night, while parts of the Dakotas also reported heavy snow.

WIFE OF LLOYD GEORGE EXPLAINS

Tells What It Is To Be Wife Of Prime Minister

London, Dec. 8.—There have been many "official" descriptions of my husband's character. Some ascribe to qualities that might be envied by an archangel, so complimentary do they sound! And there have been people who have so trounced him with the flow of their adjectives that you pause open-mouthed and sit yourself in astonishment: "Is it possible for one little man of Wales to be possessed of such a devil of a temperament as these loud orators declare?"

Now if I were asked to describe my husband's personality and to say what I consider his chief characteristic, I should retort unhesitatingly that his most outstanding quality is his uncon querable, youthful spirit.

He Active Interest

I have often heard people who know him intimately say that he is the youngest person of their acquaintance And I honestly believe that he will never grow old, for the reason that he has retained a young heart. He has too, an unbounding vitality, and every living interests him.

He has never permitted himself to lose his active interest in life and in people, and because of this he is able today to sympathize with, and comprehend the aspirations of the young generation as persons who have let their sympathies become "mummified" can never do.

My husband believes in keeping the body and muscles in trim with exercise and this is one of the reasons why he plays golf wherever the opportunity to do so arises. He smokes in moderation, being fond of a pipe, and also of a cigar.

Commences Day in Bed

When he lived in Downing Street he used to make a practice of commencing his day's work in bed, a habit I encouraged, because it at least had the merit of giving him some degree of rest. He used for instance, to wade through his correspondence, and also contrive to get through a considerable proportion of his writing under such circumstances.

As a family we have naturally taken considerable interest in politics. In fact, it would be surprising if it were otherwise, considering that we have been living in that atmosphere for so many years past.

At the present time Liberalism is on the upward grade; one of the reasons being, I think, that the public are beginning to feel the need of a third party in politics, who can be free to pursue their policy unhampered by the commands of the capitalist class, or as are the Socialists by the demands of the trade unions.

His First Bye-Election

It was thirty-seven years ago, in 1890, exactly two years after our marriage, that my husband first stood as parliamentary candidate, at the bye-election occurred in the Carnarvon Boroughs, and he got in by a majority of eighteen over a strong Conservative opponent.

Originally my husband was destined for a solicitor's career, and, in fact passed his final law examinations with honors, and thus qualified as a solicitor when he was only 21 years of age. After that he started on his own at Portmadoc, and his reputation was made locally when he won a successful case in the high court on behalf of the Nonconformists, and gained a verdict for the latter, giving them the right to the burial of their dead in the parish churchyard.

Third Welsh Chancellor

It may not be generally known that my husband was the third Welshman to become chancellor of the exchequer. Two other fellowcountrymen of his had held this office before him. The first to do so was Sir David Ashter, baronet, of Glamorganshire, who acted as chancellor of the exchequer in 1783. The second Welshman to be given this position was Sir George Cornewell Lewis, also a baronet, and of Radnorshire. He was not appointed until over 70 years later, in 1855 to be exact. And precisely 53 years afterwards, in 1908, my husband became the third Welsh chancellor of the exchequer.

As a child, my youngest daughter, Megan, was most precocious. She was living with us at No. 11 for three years, and then when she was nine, we sent her away to a boarding school.

I have never known a child with a more vivid imagination. During the whole of her waking hours she was always, actually and assuming some character other than her own. Her favorite roles were that of housemaid or secretary.

She must have been impersonating the former character, when, on a certain occasion, a friend who was calling on me, asked her: "Well, Megan dear, how do you like living at No. 11?" To which my small romancer of six summers replied: "Very much, but I have to work so hard. On Sundays, when the maids are out, I set the supper ready, and have to lay the table and carry all

PREPARING FOR DARWIN BATTLE

Oklahoma City, Dec. 8.—(C.P.)—The World's Christian Fundamentals Association is preparing for a bitter fight against the teaching of the Darwinian theory of evolution in Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas, according to Dr. W. B. Riley, President of the Association. The organization will address itself in the campaign to the states' legislatures and the voters.

"These three states will be the centre of the next attack on the teaching of evolution in the public schools and colleges," Riley declared, "and I am utterly convinced that we will win our demands, although church leaders and educational heads in most instances are against us."

Ample financial backing already is assured for the fight, Riley said, and added: "An overwhelming majority of the church people of Oklahoma already are in favor of an anti-evolution law, but the 'Liberals' hold the offices, while university and college leaders throughout the country, are almost as a unit in opposing the fundamentalists."

ACTION OR AUCTION ONE AND THE SAME

Vancouver, B.C. (By C.P.)— Dec. 6.—When the Vancouver City Council defined an "action sale" as an "auction sale" it was well within its powers, Mr. Justice Aulay Morrison ruled recently in dismissing an application to quash conviction of Thomas J. Kennedy in police court on a charge of conducting an auction sale without a license.

Counsel for Kennedy sought to set aside the conviction on the ground that while his client carried on the sale by asking all within hearing if they would pay a certain price for a certain article and then quoted a lower price when he received no offers, that method could not be termed an auction sale.

"This man has originated a new-fangled way of selling," counsel urged. "But he was only doing what every merchant does, although the merchant may not talk as loud as this man has been doing."

Kennedy, his counsel added, was convicted merely on "action" sale and business.

HORNED DOE WAS KILLED AT NANAIMO

Nanaimo, B.C., Dec. 5.—(By The Can adian Press)—A freak two-pronged doe was killed recently on Mount Arrow-smith by Harry Patterson, of Nanaimo who, upon discovering that his kill was a horned doe, immediately reported to the district game warden and the Pro-vincial Police. Upon investigation it was found that the doe was a regularly ed. with two well-grown horns about eight inches long before the spread commenced.

Patterson stated he saw the animal watching him from behind a tree, only the horns and the head being visible. He tried, failing in one animal only to about to remove the head to lighten the burden which had to be packed sev eral miles through a dense forest when he discovered it was a doe. He had technically broken the game laws by killing a doe.

Patterson sold the hide and horns to a local man who intended to have a curiosity. A similar animal was re-ported killed in Eastern Canada some years ago.

1927 Christmas Seals

The 1927 Christmas Seal is issued by the Provincial and Toronto Hospitals for Consumptives, and Tuberculosis Associations. These handsome Seals, bearing the double cross, will soon be here, carry a message of hope to those who are afflicted with consumption. Every dollar received from the sale of Seals is used for the maintenance of sanatoria.

The National Sanitarium Association is in need of funds to carry on the work of its hospitals at Muskoka, Weston and Ste. Agathe. It is hoped the people in face of others' needs only will you get good value in return, but your money will serve a greater end —for it will go to help someone in distress.

Look for the double barred Cross on every package. None others are genuine.

For sale by school children and at Post Offices. Orders for Seals: Ontario Tuberculosis Campaign Institute, Toronto 2, Ontario.

DEVICE PROVES SATISFACTORY

First Appearance Made In Harbour Of Old Montreal

Montreal, Que., Dec. 7 (By The Canadian Press).—The device for automatically receiving signals of distress at sea, which has been the main topic of the Marine Section of the Radio Conference at Washington in the past few weeks, made its first appearance in Montreal with the arrival of the Anchor-Donaldson freighter Carmia, whose operator W. Sewell, gave a demonstration to an interested group of Government and shipping officials aboard the ship.

The instrument, although it does not strike the observer as anything out of the ordinary, is quite a costly affair, but makes up for this in efficiency. A tiny glass bulb is the whole hub of the instrument, which together with three "valves"—nothing more or less than radio tubes, comprises the set, which is absolutely fool proof, taking in only the right kind of signals, which it transmits to bells situated in different parts of the ship.

When the S.O.S. signal is received, sent with the proper precision and punctuation, a "current is automatically set up from the valves, one receiving, another amplifying, and a third transmitting it to the "glass bot." A series of graduated cogs are set in motion automatically, but they fail to respond properly if the message is not the one expected. If the proper signal is received however, they send the current through to bells placed in the captain's cabin, the chartHouse, wheelhouse, operator's cabin and various other parts of the ship.

In Montreal the Carmia's automatic signal receiver was set in motion by various pre-arranged signals and proved to the satisfaction of many observers that it was a thoroughly reliable piece of mechanism. In displaying the instrument, Mr. Sewell and Captain Jack, master of the Carmia, explained that the wireless direction-finder and various other devices in the wireless room were independent of the automatic signal receiver.

He said that on passenger liners some wireless operator is at the head

ABANDONED PLANE HAS NOT BEEN LOCATED YET

London, (By Mail).—An R.A.F. airplane which flew on and is lost, after the pilot had leaped to his death from a great height and the observer had landed safely by parachute in a field, has provided one of the most remarkable incidents in aviation.

Decided to Jump

The machine which came from Farnborough, was flying over East Grinstead in Sussex the other evening when some unknown trouble developed. It became so serious that the pilot, Flight-Lieutenant Mackenzie Richards, and the observer, Harry Norman Green, decided to take to their parachutes.

Dropped Like a Stone

Green came to earth safely, but Richards, whose parachute failed to open, dropped like a stone and was instantly killed.

Meanwhile the airplane, instead of crashing to earth, continued its flight and disappeared in the distance and attempts to find it so far have been fruitless.

CRAIG IS CHOSEN MAYOR KINGSTON

Kingston, Dec.7—Ald. William H Craig will be Mayor of Kingston for 1928.

At the municipal elections held on Monday, he was elected by the handsome majority of 1,019 over his opponent in the contest, Ald. J. E. Johnston.

Ald. Craig had a substantial majority in each of the seven wards of the city. Ald. Craig polled a total of 2,943 and Ald. Johnston, 1,924; giving a majority to Ald. Craig of 1,019.

Even a contest for the Mayoralty did not bring out a heavy vote. There are 11,417 voters on the lists, while the records show that only 4,867 recorded their vote in the Mayoralty contest.

The official returns were received at the office of the City Clerk, where the results were tabulated and given out to quite a large number of citizens, who gathered there. Mayor Price was present, also Ald. Johnston, the defeated candidate. The latter remained until the result of the last polling sub division was received, and was not at all disheartened.

NO WONDER THE NET WAS HEAVY

Two Fishermen Hooked Deer In Place Of Finny Denizens

Cascade, B. C., Dec. 7 (By The Canadian Press).—When Frank Wilkinson and Floyd Cooper, local fishermen, dropped their net in Christina Lake on a recent Sunday night, they had high hopes of a good catch of Kokanee trout, but on hauling the net they were greatly surprised to find it contained, besides numerous fish, a two-year-old buck deer.

After dropping the net, the fishermen commenced to haul in and found the going rather difficult. As the night was extremely dark the men thought they had struck a heavy school of fish or else a snag, but on reaching shore they discovered their "catch" was not limited to the finny tribe and a few blows from a club quickly converted the deer into venison.

It is believed the deer waded into the lake with the intention of swimming across, but ran foul of the net and became entangled in the meshes.

Both men insist this is a "true" fish story.

Giving evidence in a court case in London recently, Detective-Sergeant Madden of the Scotland Yard finger print department, stated that his bureau had taken more than 250,000 finger-print impressions since 1901 without a single error of identification.

SMALL B. C. TOWN WANTS STATION

Are Petitioning Sir Henry Thornton For Terminal At That Point

Victoria, B. C. (By C.P.)—When Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, opens his mail one of these mornings he will find that Leechtown, Vancouver Island, has launched a campaign for a railway station.

Leechtown isn't as big as other British Columbia communities that are bad terring the railway company. It wants no hotels or grain elevators. But it wants a railway station and, as it is one of the oldest places in the province, it feels that it should get it.

It was back in 1864 that Leechtown "sprang into existence. In that year someone discovered gold in the bed of a sluggish creek that runs through the town out of the Sooke hills and reaches Victoria with the news. Business in the city was immediately suspended and almost everyone joined the stampede to the new gold diggings. A million dollars or more of gold was taken out, but the damp did not prove a sensation and the mining community that had sprung up around Leech River in the name of Leechtown gradually dwindled. Now the old gold camp is nothing but a historic ruin. But it has a "mayor" and "a people"—and both of them are mentioned in the petition for a station house.

Some time ago the site of Leechtown was bought by Claude Harrison of Victoria and he installed John Craig as caretaker. It is Mr. Craig who welcomes visitors and Mr. Craig who styles himself "mayor of Leechtown" in his letter to Sir Henry Thornton. Another inhabitant is "Bob" Hoberdin, reputed discoverer of the Klondike and a veteran of many gold rushes. He still "runs for "orders" in Leech River. He is "the people" of the town.

"We guarantee that this typewriter will give you every satisfaction, sir."

"Hm. —Ah suppose ye're no' prepared tae let me have seven days' free trial?"

SPIES COMMITTED IN LONDON COURT

London, Dec. 7.—George Hansen, German, and Wilfred McCartney, described as Irish American, were committed for trial before the Central Criminal Court on charges brought under the official Secrets Act by Magisterie in Bow Street Court today. The two prisoners are alleged to have attempted to collect information about the British armed forces, particularly the air force. At the previous hearing it was brought out that the men were gathering information believed to be useful to Soviet Russia.

RAILWAYMEN ARE ASKED BIG BAIL

Sudbury, Dec. 7.—On charges of criminal negligence, Conductor S. P. Richards and Engineer R. Hooper, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, were committed for trial by Magistrate Dewar at the preliminary hearing at Chapleau. The accused were released on bail of $2,000. The charges are the outcome of the death of Emile Cote, Chapleau brakesman, who sustained fatal injuries when the train on which he was stationed, was struck by another train in a rear end collision.

They Laugh—as Health Comes Back

Rose and Valerie are plump. Their charts say they are 33 and 31 years of age, respectively, but to look at them you would think they were 18 and 15—so slight and delicate are they. Rose is a typical "flapper" type and chatter of those two girls as they are reating side by side in hospital cots you feel sure they must be the lesser ages.

Yet, they are both very slight, but they say it is they are here at all, for just a few months ago they were admitted, victims of the ravages of consumption. They are happy now because they are gaining weight and strength against the dread disease and, according to their health, can hardly understand what a wonderful difference that makes to people who never expected to get well. But they have to the work of the Jubilee Hospital in Victoria to thank and it is being carried on now over three hundred patients each day throughout the year.

Rose and Valerie are a farmer's daughters, in a home in the country they call their own and they say they are learning all about the disease so they will do their best to see that no other members of the family start unawares into the dread pest which they have escaped.

LOVE FOR ANIMALS AN ADMIRABLE TRAIT

By LOUIS E. BISCH

Few people do not love animals. A pet—whether it be a dog or a cat or a horse or a canary—makes almost a universal appeal to the human heart.

If you don't like pets the probability is that the liking is not altogether absent in your character make-up but rather that you have repressed it.

You are, keeping a pet brings out several collections that we enjoy exercising. That is where the pleasure comes in. For instance, if you have a dog he barks and whines and makes a fuss over you when you come home. This, consciously or unconsciously, makes you feel important. Your ego is enhanced thereby. You feel you amount to something, that you are missed.

Besides, such a joyous greeting cheers you and makes your home seem brighter.

A cat, of course, is more independent than a dog and therefore the possession of a cat does not affect you quite the same. A cat gives primarily a home-like atmosphere. There is an ease and comfort about a cat that appeals.

To see a cat lying by the fire makes you think life is worth living and then a cat is so nice to fondle—so soft and pliable.

A canary is a less personal animal. You can't get so close to it. Birds do not express much character. But canaries can sing and thereby cheer you up. They lend color and atmosphere here to the place. Sometimes they respond with what appears a degree of intelligence. They seem to know the person who cares for them.

This thrills. It warms the heart. Horses, as pets, give their owners a certain satisfaction of power.

Yet feel mighty important when you ride a horse. To own the horse makes you feel one hundred per cent more important still.

Training the dog or horse also yields satisfaction. How you delight in telling about the tricks your animal can perform. There is not half the fun in training an animal that is already trained as there is in training one yourself.

Somehow, in teaching an animal, your own intelligence in your own eyes increases. It makes you feel so superior.

Then again, we all of us like to master something or somebody. We like to boss them around. This we can do with pets. They have to do more or less what we wish them to. They don't argue or give back talk. They simply must obey.

Furthermore, animals are so absolutely dependent upon us for food and shelter.

We experience a sense of charity in taking care of them. That is why they bring out many of our best traits.

Lastly, pets are good company. You don't feel lonesome when one is around.

Pets are good for all adults, male and female.

They are especially good for children.

Children who are taught to love and care for pets are not likely to develop bad character traits later on. It softens them and keeps them human.

Every home should harbor at least one pet.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Is it proper for a girl to call a boy by phone?

UNDECIDED EMMY.

UNDECIDED EMMY: It is inadvisable for a girl to phone a boy unless there is some urgent or vital reason that makes it necessary, I would advise you not to do so.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a married woman nineteen years old. I have been married eight months and I have lost all my love for my husband.

I am in love with one of my boy friends. He has been away for about three years.

I have just found out I love him better than my husband.

I have been thinking of leaving my husband for this other man. What would you advise me to do?

BROWN EYES.

BROWN EYES: I don't agree with you at all, Brown Eyes. I really think that you are still in love with your husband and the feeling you have for the other man is simply one of infatuation. Why, you're still a bride and I can't say I think you are very loyal to your marriage vows in even thinking to yourself that you are in love with someone else. It may be that this other man shows you some little attentions which your husband is too tired to think of. And you know there are always men in this world who prey on women who are, or fancy themselves to be, neglected wives. The rest of your trouble lies in the fact that you haven't enough to occupy your mind. Think it over and I'm sure you'll see where you're in the wrong. You are doing a grave injustice both to your husband and to yourself. Be fair and, above all, be honest, and in this way lies your happiness.

GRAY HAIR IS QUICKLY MADE DARK, GLOSSY

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is a tiresome and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just ramper a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray has disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

CHAPTER E.

A HUSBAND AT HER HEELS

"Herbert!" whispered Lila warningly in Dorothy's ear, as she nodded toward the studio door, where the knock-er sounded impatiently.

Dorothy, who had started toward the door with the intention of opening it, stopped dead in her tracks.

Lila, her mind working frantically, addressed the puzzled and half-angry Mr. Jackson.

"I must go now—at once—or I shall be late for my dinner-party. Perhaps after all, you'd better call again tomorrow. Shall I around eleven o'clock please."

He looked at her suspiciously. She could fairly see him thinking: "Aha, that's so you'll be sure to be here? Or was it only her guilty conscience?

"I'll have the papers for you to see," she told him sweetly, persuasively. Someho, she would have to find time to go to her father's house and rummage in that old trunk in which she kept her war equipment and souvenirs.

"I'll run now, Dot," she said to Dorothy, as she made for the door. She opened it quickly and almost managed to whisk herself out before Herbert stepped across the threshold.

A heavy velour curtain partially obscured the view of the studio from the doorway, so Herbert caught only a glimpse of Dorothy in her gleaming gown. But even that glimpse revealed her as very lovely and radiant, not at all the harassed and worried young woman who was supposed to be attempting to earn the livelihood of an unwed mother.

His quick glance, resting sharply on Mr. Jackson, told him that the man was not the type to inspire jealousy in a husband who had every reason not to underestimate his own good looks.

But, as Lila hurried him out, clasping prettily to his arm, and chattering vivaciously, he heard the man say to Dorothy:

"Well, then, you tell Miss Latham to be sure to meet me at eleven o'clock tomorrow—"

Herbert put Lila into the car before he opened the attack. Even in the throes of suspicion and jealousy, he couldn't be late for dinner.

"Now, Lila, what's this?" he demanded. "That chap referred to you as Miss Latham."

Lila was taken aback, but she was ready.

"Oh, yes," she scented brightly. "He knew me as Dorothy's friend, before I was married, and I dare say she never thought to tell him about our marriage. It wouldn't have interested him, I should say."

"Indeed?" remarked Herbert icily. "If he has no interest in you, why does he expect to meet you tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock?"

"Oh, Heavens, how much did he hear while I was ranting on?" Lila groaned to herself.

She explained slowly, sparring for time: "I want to talk to him tomorrow, very seriously about Dorothy. There wasn't time, tonight. You see, dearing, I didn't want to keep you waiting." Her hand sought his, and she lifted her lovely little face, her red lips invitingly for kisses.

But Herbert was not to be cajoled.

"If you meet this person, you must consent to my accompanying you. Remember that I have rather definite ideas and views about marriage. I refuse to permit my wife to make engagements with other men."

"But, darling, he's so old and ugly. They can't possibly interest me."

"What you think and what I think are two entirely different world things."

"But, for Dorothy's sake, I must see him," wailed Lila.

"I am not sure that Dorothy is a proper friend for you, Lila," said Herbert, with dignity. "I know nothing about her morals, but it seems to me that she's very careless of appearances when she chooses to live without a chaperon and to receive men in her studio."

Lila was too distressed over her own problem, at the moment, to resent this criticism of Dorothy; but she resolved not to forget it.

"What would I have done without you in all this horrible mess?" she thought. "I'd even flirt with Herbert, for her sake."

Before the car drew up at the home of the friends with whom they were to dine, she had thought, of a way to see Mr. Jackson without Herbert's knowing of it. Or so she hoped.

She slipped her hand under his arm and said, with all the innocence of a child:

"You're right, darling. About that man, I mean. I'd better not see him perhaps." That wasn't exactly a lie she comforted herself. She certainly wouldn't see him, if she didn't have to, because her sixth sense predicted disaster in the interview with Mr. Jackson.

"Then you won't?" demanded Herbert, eagerly taking her hands.

"I'll go spend the morning with Dad." She managed the evasion neatly. Besides, she had to go to her father's to get those papers; the visit would kill two birds with one stone, "you can drop me there on your way down-town?"

So it was arranged. Herbert dropped Lila at her father's house at ten o'clock the following morning. Lila reckoned that, with luck, she would just have time to find the papers and make a dash for Dorothy's by eleven.

It was tiresome work, rummaging in the old trunk. Uncomfortable, too—like stirring the ghosts of the dead; there were so many souvenirs of the war.

At quarter to eleven, she ran down the front steps, the precious documents safely tucked in her bag.

Herbert, looking very grim, was sitting in the car at the curb, smoking a cigarette.

BLACKHEADS

Don't squeeze blackheads—dissolve them. Get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store and rub with hot, wet cloth briskly over the blackheads. They simply dissolve and disappear by this safe and sure method.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Some of the most becoming coats of the season are of green cloth with trimming of long-haired furs, and the light or colored furs are the ones most used this winter with green.

Among the latest offerings of the Champs Elysees style salons is a black satin evening ensemble with a pink lined wrap which is half cape and half coat, and it has only one sleeve, while the right side is covered by a graceful, flaring cape of almost military swank, and the wrap fastens with a pink lined bow on the left shoulder, and under the half-and-half is a black satin dress with a border of pink satin with encrustations of black in formal design.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

To prevent the mincing machine from slipping when in use, which is an aggravating habit all mincing machines have, try pasting underneath it a piece of emery paper folded with the temper.

Do not leave any crumbs in the table cloth or napkins when they are placed in the hamper of soiled clothes, as the mice might ruin them.

Wipe rough side outwards. However quick ly you are turning the handle you will find the machine absolutely immovable, which is an economy both of time and temper.

COLERIDGE.

ONTARIO'S FINANCES

Very shortly after the close of the fiscal year the people of Ontario now learn what the provincial revenues and expenditures have been during the twelve months. Greater promptitude in the publication of the annual financial statement was made a department practice when the Hon. W. H. Price was Provincial Treasurer, and this precedent he set has been followed by his successor, the Hon. Dr. J. D. Monteith, who has just presented the financial statement for the year which ended on the 31st of October last. It is one which reflects no improvement alike in the public finances and in the public services. In fact, the current statement is acknowledged to be the best that the Ontario Government, under the premiership of the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, has made since it succeeded to office and inherited a deficit of $15,000,000 left by the Drury Administration. A progressive regime in every department of the Government has resulted in a similar financial showing being recorded each succeeding year until now the Provincial Treasurer is able to report a cash surplus of $287,000, as compared with a deficit of $813,000 last year. That the financial improvement has not been obtained through a cheese-paring policy in any of the administrative departments is evident by the fact that in nearly all of them more money has been spent, notably on education, agriculture and highways. In the past year there was an increase of $900,000 in the expenditure on roads, Ontario, like Quebec, realizing that outlays in this respect may be a profitable investment for the province.

Ontario's total income in 1926-27 amounted to $56,266,527, being an increase of $5,655,466 over the previous year. Of the total sum just named $2,300,000 was revenue, received during five months' operation of the liquor control policy sanctioned by the electors last year. The actual returns are somewhat better than the Premier's original estimate, which was $3,600,000 for six months' service under the Liquor Control Board. The immediate significance of the province's better monetary standing is that it has enabled the Treasury Department to go ahead with plans for the retirement of $185,000,000 provincial debt. Execution of these plans was made conditional on a balanced budget in 1926, and Dr. Monteith reports that provision has been made for the issue of this year's instalment annuity bond upon retirement account. As these instalments are continued in accordance with the project devised by the special committee of financial men who studied the problem, the payments will have achieved the full purpose in forty years' time. Now for Ontario has been a few wonder of borrowed money the provincial records plainly show. Defeat of the Drury Government called a halt to this extravagance, and since the advent of the Ferguson Administration the public have been gratified to see a gradual improvement effected in the situation year by year, culminating in the satisfactory state of affairs just reported nations' disarmament will be brought

CUSTOMARY EXCUSE

To the great army of politicians who have found it convenient and expedient to blame it on the reporter must now be added Lloyd George. He found himself in an unpleasant position where it was necessary for him either to own up frankly to having delivered himself of certain "blazing indiscretions" or else take advantage of the usual recourse. He chose the latter.

Some weeks ago Theodor Wolff, editor of the Berlin Tageblatt, sought and obtained an interview with Lloyd George. A report of the interview, covering about five columns of space, appeared in the Tageblatt on October 23 Translations of it were published in English papers. Both on the continent and in England it was brought upon Mr. George much sharp criticism, for to the British editor he is reported to have talked with more than ordinary freedom about European politics and indulged in numerous criticism of several contemporary statesmen, particularly Premier Poincare. This criticism has got under Mr. George's skin, and he has found it expedient to repudiate the interview. He has declared that he did not say the things attributed to him.

Having decided to accuse Herr Wolff of lying, Lloyd George ought to have been content to let it go at that. But there was a mistake of supplementing his denial with an explanation and a protest. He said he did not know that he was being interviewed for publication, and he protested against the presence of newspaper men of hiring public men into conversation and then violating their confidence by publishing what they said. The explanation is an admission that Editor Wolff did have an interview with him. The protest is virtually an admission that although the publication of the interview was wrong, Wolff's report was not a fabrication, but substantially correct.

Lloyd George's denial, modified as it was, was in itself another indiscretion It will not tend to increase public confidence in his sincerity. His tongue is indeed an unruly member.

WORLD PEACE

Russia is making a spectacular bid for sympathy, but the great European powers refuse to be "drawn." They can be no doubt that the Litvinoff proposals for universal disarmament were just a piece of stage play; it require no deep insight into international affairs to see at once that the Russian suggestions are wholly unpractic- "They are, indeed, childish, and no one knows better than the Russians themselves that their program would not possibly be carried out. Litvinoff made a dramatic gesture and acted the part of a crusader burning with zeal for humanity, because he thought it good politics; it would remove suspicion of Russia's sinister intentions. Unfortunately for the success of his plan, no one can believe in the good faith of a perjured nation whose one aim is to sow discord, rather than to promote harmony, and which continues to plot continually for the destruction of the Christian nations, while it professes so great an anxiety to preserve. The Russian disarmament plea is insincere, an argument "ad caplandum," without significance, deceitful—the wolf in sheep's clothing.

Just now there is an increased effort to persuade the British government to renew commercial relations with the soviet administration. The government, however, will have none of it. In view of the known Russian propaganda against the Empire which continues throughout the world, the action of British foreign secretary in refusing even to enter into such negotiation will the soviet representative is quite understandable. Two alleged spies are on trial in London at the present time charged with being in the secret service of Russia, and it would be impossible to estimate the number of spies at work in all parts of the Empire scheming to upset the diplomatic equilibrium and to bring confusion into industry. Not from such a discreditable source can any useful suggestions for world peace come, unless they are presented in a spirit of contrition, of which there is no likelihood. Intelsatisfactory state of affairs just reported shock. If at all possible—all will hop it is possible—by more gradual means and, in any case, there must be some neutral authority strong enough to enforce the peace when it has been secured.

BELLEVILLE GETS FIRST HOME GAME

Local Intermediates To Open With Cornwall Here Dec. 30th

SINGLE SCHEDULE

Movement To Split Group Settled By O.H.A. Secretary

Belleville Intermediates will play the first game at home with Cornwall on the night preceding New Years, Saturday, Dec. 30th. The group meeting was held in the Randolph Hotel Kingston yesterday when representatives were present from the same six teams as last year. A movement was on foot to split the group in two sections with the three Kingston teams being in favor of Brockville, Cornwall and R.M. C. included in one section with the Frontenacs, Belleville and Queen's in the other. The vote was dead-locked with Eddie Thomas, of Belleville, and the Cornwall and Brockville representatives opposing it. It was decided to get them in touch with W. A. Hewitt, Secretary of the O.H.A. and he ordered the group to remain the same as last year. Belleville have the first two games at home with Cornwall here on January 30th and Brockville here January 2nd. Owing to the fact that the students at Queen's and R.M.C. do not return from the vacation until a week after New Years the committee found it difficult to draw up a schedule.

Eddie Thomas was in favor of the leading teams playing off at the end of the season but this proposal was turned down. The schedule.

Dec. 30—Cornwall at Belleville.
Kingston at Brockville.
Jan. 2—Brockville at Belleville.
5—Kingston at Cornwall.
7—Queen's at R.M.C.
9—Cornwall at Brockville.

BRANCH TO MEET

Peterboro, Dec. 8.—The regular meeting of the Peterborough Branch Engineering Institute of Canada, on Thursday, December 8, will take the form of a combined meeting with the Radio Club of Peterboro. The speaker will be L. McNamee, radio engineer of the Ferranti Electric, Ltd., and his subject is "The Modernizing of Old Radio Sets and the Correction of Troubles Encountered With B Eliminators.

Another Rendezvous

The stage is set for the city hockey league meeting to-night when representatives of the various Clubs and Industries will gather at the Y. M.C.A. at eight o'clock to talk turkey with regard to Belleville's prospects for a fast city league this year. The Stevens-Adamson Company are sure starters in the new league as is the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company. The T's Men's team who captured the title last year will be back stronger than ever. Canadian National Express Company who gave the others a close run last season will likely be out for a place. Canada Cement with "Bubs" Caulin at the helm are lining up a nifty aggregation and there is reported to be some speed manchais located at the village. The Intelligencer will be back with practically the same crew and although the printers were running on the short end of the count last season they have bolstered the outfit and the "Black Hawks" will take a back seat to none of them. The secretary has already notified several of the clubs of this meeting but some undoubted ly have been overlooked and it is endeavoured to get as many as possible out to this meeting. Representatives are asked to be on hand sharp at eight o'clock.

Give It A Boost

Belleville baseball prospects are the brightest in years with live committees lining things up for next year. Ernie Rowsome, a real live-wire Chairman, has the ball rolling and the boys are solidly behind him Stan Hagerman makes an ideal secretary and although the officers were only appointed temporarily they are losing no time in getting down to brass tacks. There are plenty of knockers in this world but here is one thing that needs boosting and the move co-operation received the better proposition is going over. Citizens want a ball team, there is little doubt about this but the officials need the whole hearted support of every fan in the city. It is evident that new fans are needed and in order to secure this end a committee has been appointed. The next meeting takes place on Monday evening in the Chamber of Commerce building and not only those who were present on Tuesday evening but all others who desire to help will be welcomed. No special invitation is necessary and it is hoped that some results will have been achieved by that time. The Kiwanis Club, Parks Board, Canadian National, Alemite, Houston Lumber Company, McLaughlin's and other firms are solidly behind the movement but some real boosting-to-goodness boosting on the part of the citizens is needed.

Another Pro

Mickey Murray late of the Galt senior hockey team and for some years one of the main-stays of the Peterboro baseball and hockey clubs is the latest addition to the professional hockey ranks having signed with the Providence Reds. Murray is well known in Belleville where he has performed both on the baseball diamond and on the ice. The best wishes of Eastern Ontario fans go with Murray in his new field.

The Junior Situation

Trenton and Picton will not be found in the Intermediate O. H. A. series during the coming winter Both will concentrate their efforts on the youngsters in an effort to bring some fast boys who will fill the shoes of those who have passed on. Trenton will likely be engaged with Belleville in the Junior series. The local junior situation is none too bright at the present time but Eddie Thomas has the promise of some good boys. Of last year's team the two Cannings, Simpson and Pete Latchford the promising young goal-tender who met an unfortunate demise will be among the missing Young Jeffrey has returned to the city and will be available for goal-minding.

The Starting Point

The Church League where several lads have been developed during past years will function again this year and the officers are getting things lined up. The games will be played on the open-air city hockey rinkings and if the brand of hockey is similar to that played in past years some good contests are in store

COBOURG UNABLE TO GATHER TEAM

Players May Line Up With Port Hope Intermediate Club

Port Hope, Dec. 7.—Cobourg will not have an intermediate O. H. A. team this season.

This announcement came this morning after the backers-up there had held a meeting last night at which reports showed that every possible effort to get a team together had not brought forth enough assurance that the team could be strong enough to compete against the other entrants in the grouping, and the promoters were reluctantly forced to throw up the sponge This decision makes a break in the old time Lakeshore group and the news will not be welcomed in the other centres represented for Cobourg was always a welcomed member. The other centres have the assurance, however that every effort was made by the Cobourg promoters, and it is necessity and not choice that keeps them out this year.

But, even though there is a dream in the town, the available players may not be kept out of hockey. There is the possibility that those of them who are willing to hook up with the Port Hope team will be given an opportunity to do so. Both with the idea of giving them the right to stay in the game and also to strengthen the Port Hope team. It is likely that an invitation to them will be extended very soon from the Port Hope management With Cobourg not in the running there is every possibility that the remaining teams in the group, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Peterboro and Port Hope will arrange a double schedule at the meeting which was held in Port Hope yesterday.

Very close competition resulted in the Ladies' League last night at the Y alleys when the Crescents and the Rinkey Dinks met in their schedule match each team taking two points. In the first game the Rinkey Dinks won in the fore and were up 199 pins but in the second game the Crescents round the Rinkey Dinks with by 30 pins and again in the last game were up 6 pins. Miss Mouck of the Rinkey Dinks made a new league record for the three string with 597. Miss Mouck also had the high single of the evening with 220, while for the Crescents, Mrs. Rutherford was high with 474.

Above—four short, simple words! What a wealth of meaning they hold! For a great artist does hear himself sing on the new Orthophonic Victrola. He hears himself as you may hear him,—his highest notes pure and clear; his lowest intonations full and deep in their rich resonance.

The voice is perfect as in life, the instrumental music which accompanies, is like the background in a beautiful relief, exactly in its proper relation. So it is in hearing all music on the new Orthophonic Victrola with its Victor-controlled principle of "Matched Impedance" or "smooth flow of sound".

Classic—yet beautifully modern in design—and convenient are these instruments. Electrically operated (no winding) at slight additional cost. Instrument stops when the record stops. Models from $1400 to as low as $115 on convenient terms from all His Master's Voice Dealers.

A Word on Canada's Mines:

The Standard Exchange, Toronto, has been breaking all records lately, sales running from three to three million shares per day. This exchange has become the leading Mining Exchange on the Continent, and our Mineral Wealth is only commencing to be properly developed. British and American investors are lately realizing the tremendous mineral values already proved, and looking forward to developments that are certain to take place. It is advisable to keep posted on what is going on from day to day, and this can best be done through our Fortnightly Review and through the other information containing in our offices, over our own private wires from our offices at the Mines.

Few people appreciate the tremendous value of minerals already definitely proved in such properties as International Nickel, Mond Nickel, Noranda, Amulet, Teck Hughes, Lake Shore, McIntyre, Pitt Gold, Sherritt Gordon, Sentinel Manitou, and a host of others. The wealth that will be taken from these properties in the next few years will far exceed that from our industries and will approach undoubtedly to that from the soil itself. Our mines will produce untold fortunes in the next generation, both to shareholders and owners, and the opportunities for profit, right at your door, should not be neglected. It is important however to get proper information, and we are in a position to supply it.

FORMER PUGILIST DIES IN POVERTY

New York, Dec. 7.—Alfred Griffith, 55, known to fight fans of twenty-five years ago as Young Griffo, died suddenly today in a basement room on the West side, where he had lived for several years. Acute indigestion was believed the cause of death.

He came to this country from Australia and first fought as a featherweight, later moving up in the lightweight class. His most noted ring engagements were against George Dixon, Jack McAuliffe and Kid Lavigne. He was known as one of the cleverest boxers in the world. He used to regret that he could stand upon a handkerchief and no one could hit him in the face. Another wager he used to win was to be that no one could knock a cigar out of his mouth.

Fortune turned its back on the once famous fighter in recent years. He earned a precarious livelihood peddling papers and doing odd jobs. He was often seen in conference near the fight light district discussing the glories of bygone days. He had taken on weight and tipped the scales at two hundred pounds.

Prisoner In Local Jail Crawled Into Furnace, Died Later From Terrible Burns

TIRED OF LIFE; CRAWLED IN THE JAIL'S FURNACE

Prisoner Badly Burned Before Rescue And Likely To Die

OUT NEXT MONDAY

Frank Renaud Only In For Two Months On Liquor Charge

Frank Renaud, of Tweed, who tried to end his life at the County Jail this morning by climbing into the blazing furnace pit died about three o'clock this afternoon at the Belleville General Hospital. His condition was hopeless from the beginning.

Crawling into a red-hot furnace on his hands and knees in an effort to end his life, Frank Renaud, 45, of Tweed, a prisoner in the Hastings County Jail here, is lying in the Belleville General Hospital in a critical condition with slight hopes for recovery. The flesh on Renaud's body was badly seared, his body and legs were burned badly and Jail Physician Dr. Procter said that he is doubtful if the man will rally. A fit of melancholy is believed to have prompted the act as Renaud had acted peculiarly around the jail for the past month. Hardly burned he was rushed to the hospital in the police ambulance directly after he was discovered by Chas. James, a negro, who also resides in Tweed.

Renaud's act is difficult to understand as his term was to have expired next Monday. He was serving a sentence of two months for a violation of the Liquor Control Act on which charge he was convicted at Tweed.

Crawled Small Hole

Renaud crawled in a small opening twelve inches by fourteen, at the front of the furnace which is barely large enough for a man's body to pass through.

Shortly after nine o'clock this morning Renaud, along with Charles James was sweeping the halls under the surveillance of Robert Collins, turnkey, and the former was sent to empty a pan of sweepings in the furnace. He did not return directly and as Mr. Collins had been watching Renaud closely since he noticed his strange actions, he delegated James to investigate.

The latter uttered a shrill cry summoning Mr. Collins from the adjoining corridor and the two of them pulled Renaud out over the hot coals. The turnkey burned his hands on the hot casing of the furnace and required medical attention.

Dr. Procter, the jail surgeon, was called and he ordered the man's removal to the hospital in the police ambulance. Luckily the furnace had not been fired up this morning and the spot where Renaud's face lay was a mass of back coals and he was not burned badly there.

Never Complained

Renaud had been employed in duties of the jail since the spring with James and jt was only a few minutes previous that he had talked with Turn-Key Collins regarding the meals of getting to his home in Tweed when he was to have been given his liberty on Monday.

According to the jail officials he had never complained any complaint on the treatment received although he had shown signs of melancholy since he was first brought to the jail. For this reason Turn-Key Colling had kept a close watch on him.

When he did not return to the hall-way from the cook room Mr. Colling believed that he had escaped through a window facing the rear of the jail. The latter ran around a few feet from the furnace room door but heard no sound from within.

Renaud who is a married man with four children had been convicted on previous occasions for breaches of the Ontario Temperance Act. He has always made his home at Tweed. Should Renaud recover a charge of attempted suicide will be laid against the man. His clothing was burned almost from his body by the red hot coals.

County Council resumed session this morning at eleven o'clock with Warden Hayrett.

The report of the Finance Committee for 1927 was read by Geo. A. Bailey, Reeve of Rawdon, Chairman. Mr. Bailey reported that furniture and equipment had been purchased for the office of Mr. Mellroy, Public School Inspector from the office Speciality Company. The total cost of the filing system and desk was $235.00.

Improvements were proposed at the Armoury office but owing to the fact that sufficient funds were not at the disposal of the Committee the desired changes were laid over. The woodwork at Shire Hall and at the Court House was to be decorated at a cost of $300.00. A new floor was laid in Judge Dereche's Chambers at a cost of $110. A new lino was laid in the corridor of the Court House at a cost of $190.00. A rug for the Judges' Chambers $65.00 and repairs to plastering $67.50. Other repairs at the Court House have not yet been completed. Repairs will be made at the rear of the court house along with a stove house for coal and wood.

The fire insurance carried by the County at the present time is $168,400 including that of Court House, Shire Hall, Registry Office, Clerks and Jail-ers residence and House of Refuge.

Ernest Erwin, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee submitted his report to the County Council this morning.

A corn borer Inspector was appointed in the person of Mr. Thos. Montcomery who made an extended tour of the Province. The Committee recommended that an immediate request be forwarded to the Minister of Agriculture to include Hastings County Council in the tuberculine free area for dairy cat tle. Prince Edward County has already been placed in that area and the committee felt that it is in the best interests of the County that this be done.

The report was adopted.

COLDER WEATHER IN WAKE STORM

Anchor Ice Causes Trouble At Power Houses On Trent

Following closely on the heels of the blizzard which swept this and other sections of the Province on Wednesday night the wind subsided to almost normal and a cold, almost February-like weather was felt last night. The weather man at the Pump house reports that the thermometer dropped to fourteen degrees last night with the maximum temperature twenty degrees from the zero mark. Superintendent's office at the Canadian National stated that some difficulty was met in getting through messages owing to wires being down. There was no trouble in this quarter but some delay was encountered by the operators" said an official this morning.

Bell Telephone officials stated that practically all trouble locally with wires had been repaired and service was back to normal. Operators found it hard to get long distance messages through to the west with wires down in the vicinity of Oshawa and Bowmanville.

The Hydro Electric Power Commission has also cleared away all "pig-tails" would be available this morning. Inquiries revealed that this was due to the anchor ice in the Trent River in the section of the power houses. This anchor ice clogs the system and puts the power houses out of commission. However, a gang of men worked during the night and cleared the ice away with the result that the three able to supply the customers with electric power This morning.

Anchor Ice Ten To Fifteen Feet Thick Plugged Intake

RELIEVED AT NOON

Bay Bridge Fill Blocked Ice Masses From Getting Clear

Anchor ice piled up by the strong west wind of the past thirty-six hours cut off Belleville's water supply during the hours of the night causing serious inconvenience and some apprehension. The situation relieved itself about noon today and water is again flowing freely through the mains of the City.

Speaking to Mayor Wilmot and Alderman Sinclair, Chairman of the Water Works, this morning, they pointed out that this difficulty could only arise under exceptional circumstances and would not have arisen except for the Bay Bridge fill. The strong west wind broke up the ice on the bay surface and great masses of anchor ice brought down by Trent river were added to the ice surface on the whole mass being driven by the storm down into the dead angle formed by the fill of the Bay Bridge. Although the intake pipe is ten feet below the level of the water that mass of ice formed ten to fifteen feet deep completely choking the intake.

Clear Below Fill

Below the Bay Bridge fill the bay is clear and there has been an outlet for the ice on the north side of the Bay there would have been no difficulty. If the same circumstances arise in future the same results will probably follow.

The lack of fire protection was the first thing perceived against by Mayor Wilmot and Ald. Hyde this morning. Mayor Fraser, of Trenton, when called by telephone promised to have the town's fire equipment stand by ready to answer any fire call from Belleville. Trenton's fire department is equipped to pump water from the river or bay.

In hundreds of city homes this morning the children went to school without washing their faces or necks, which is against the parents much more than it did the children. Perhaps a more serious difficulty was the hardship of doing without tea or coffee for breakfast as these were prohibited at most tea rooms. Some of Belleville's well-known eating houses were prohibited and scores of families supplied their immediate needs with pails of water carried from these sources.

The Water Works Dept. was unable to do much to alleviate the condition as the mouth of the intake is about five hundred yards from the shore and it is impossible to get at the seat of the trouble. Workmen could not get out over the ice, however, as the ice and ice power boat was strong enough to force its way through. Fortunately the ice is very thick itself and at 2 o'clock the pumps were working at twice their normal capacity.

SASKATCHEWAN'S 50 P.C. INCREASE

London, December 9.—The opinion that both and the United States are in danger of drifting into estrangement and that the failure of the Geneva conferees may lead to unhappy results was expressed last night by Sir Robert Borden, Canadian representative in a speech at Kentish Town. It was essential, he said, that both nations should know their attitude towards the United States was not competition, but co-operation.

He referred to the Geneva conference failure as a most lamentable event, in consequence of which, he said, could be seen in the terms of President Coolidge's message. "It is impossible," he said, "to acquit the British Government of clumsiness in handling the situation at the conference. I am one of those who believe that the warmest friendship and closest co-operation with the United States should be the pivot of our foreign policy.

—ADDISON.

LIQUOR CONTROL

After the plebiscite in June last, when the voters in Manitoba expressed themselves in favor of amendments to the provincial liquor laws, which would permit sales of beer by the glass, Premier Bracken and high officials of the Government came east and studied the government control of liquor systems in force in Ontario and Quebec. After their return, the Manitoba Government framed its legislation and, in accordance with expectations, called an early session of the Legislature in order that the will of the people might be put into effect without delay. First reading has now been given to the Government's bill. The measure not only provides for the sale of beer by the glass, but proposes the adoption of what is known as a cash-and-carry system under which citizens may buy hard liquor at authorized stores and carry it to their homes for consumption. That the new legislation would go to this extent was announced at the time the plebiscite was decided upon, and it is in regard to the wide latitude the bill proposes in this and other respects, and to the methods under which beer will be sold, that criticisms are dare to be heard. Premier Bracken, however, will have foreseen that no matter what proposals he may make, they will inevitably revive some of the old controversy, but with the mandate that was given to him on his return to power last summer, he is justified in proceeding to deal with the liquor problem in a most thorough manner, scrapping laws that have multiplied in the past and consolidating all proposals in one measure that will be at once practicable and capable of enforcement.

What are described as "sweeping" changes in the liquor laws are enabling clauses through which, as the reports indicate, the Government may enter the brewing and distilling business and operate the beer parlors which the law will sanction; but all this, apparently, is contingent upon circumstances arising which might render such a course of action expedient or desirable. For the time being, interest centres on the project to give effect to the change sanctioned by the people by establishing beer parlors controlled and managed on lines similar to those that prevail in Vancouver and other parts of British Columbia. Licences for these places will be limited according to population, and no beer parlors will be permitted where a locality votes, or has voted, an option against them. Local option rights, in fact, are an outstanding feature of the bill. Beer parlors will be sanctioned only in hotels of approved standard, and in this provision there is evidently attempt to reassure, on the one hand, those people who have professed a fear that the sale of beer in hotels might bring a return of the hotel bar, which is incompatible with "approved standards" and to satisfy, on the other hand, others who would for beer by the glass believing that in that way they would help to improve hotel accommodation in the province by giving hoteliers a chance to increase their earnings through the sale of beer.

On the whole, the legislation now proposed by the Manitoba Government seems to have been framed with judicious care. The privileges that are to be granted are by no means unrestricted, and the liabilities incurred through any breach of the law may be considered stringent enough to compel obedience. At the same time, the Government appears to have avoided prohibitions which could interfere with the reasonable exercise of legitimate liberties. The aim being to enact the best liquor legislation possible, the Government will no doubt be willing to accept from the Legislature any proposals which will be likely to strengthen and improve the measure now before the Assembly, and if, when the new system has been sanctioned and is in operation, it be found less efficient than desired, the very latitude of the powers which opponents complain the Government has assumed in the matter can provide the means for application of the remedy where and when experience shall prove that it is needed.

WOOD EXPORTS

The statement issued by the department of commerce covering the trade of Canada for the twelve months ended October 31 last gives the total value of paper exported to the United States during the year as $114,057,718, an increase of approximately eight million dollars as compared with the year 1926. This is satisfactory, so far as it goes; but when one comes to examine the position with regard to exports of pulpwood, there is not so much cause for congratulation. Exports of pulpwood amounted to $16,121,723, as against $13,917,000 in the previous year—an increase of $2,204,724. This pulpwood goes out in unmanufactured form—it is a raw material. When we take the figures for manufactured wood, we find that there was a falling-off of over four million dollars. So that the increase in the value of pulpwood, and the decrease in the value of manufactured wood products nearly make up for the increase in the value of paper exported to the United States. In other words, the situation is little better than it was in the previous year and the arguments for an embargo on Canadian unmanufactured wood exports remains as strong as ever.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

"Napoleon was a fool," says Mr. Ford. An intimation, no doubt, that history has taken on a large significance since it was described as "bunk."—Ottawa Citizen.

"There is no tomfoolery in Canadian trials, or English trials, or German trials, or French trials, and in those countries crime is at the minimum, while in America crime is a riot, an uncontrolled, ungoverned, disgraceful carnival of the crooks. And the people have the bills to pay. Three days for the Strangler in Canada; weeks and weeks to hear his case in America!"—Oregon Journal.

LONDON'S SHINING STREETS

Now, in the twilight after rain
The wet black street shines out again;
And, softening through the colored gloom,
The lamps like burning tulips bloom.

Now, lighted shops down aisles of mist,
Smoulder in gold and amethyst;
And pave with fragments of the skies
Our sooty town like Venice lies.

For, streaked with tints of cloud and moon,
The tides of a bewitched lagoon
And round the shadowy minster
Into the solid squares we know flow;
Till even that emperor of the street,
The bluff policeman, on his beat,
Reflected there with portly pride
From boots to helmet, floats exalted.

Now every woman's face is fair,
And cockney lovers walk on air,
And every road, in broken gleams,
Mirrors a travelling throng of dreams.

—Alfred Noyes in "Dick Turpin's Ride and Other Poems."

TRUCK HIT CAR.

A large truck owned by LaPalm and driven by Edward Greatrix, Brassey street, crashed into a small car driven by an unknown woman on Dundas street, at an early hour last evening. The small automobile suffered considerable damage, a fender and side suffering from the impact.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

A fraternal visit was paid by Belleville Lodge No. 125 to the brethren of Hastings Lodge No. 625, for the purpose of installing officers for the latter lodge for 1928. The installing team follows: W. M., Bt. Worshipful H. J. Clarke, S. W., Rt. Wor. Bro. W. Adams, J. W., Rt. Wor. Bro. R. Mallett, D. of C., Rt. Wor. Bro. W. Read, M. of C. Wor. Bro. W. Read, M. of C. Wor. Bro. V. Graves, L. C. Bro. A. Bergquist and Sec. Wor. Bro. J. Maidment.

The ceremony was ably conducted by Rt. Wor. H. J. Clarke who was assisted by Rt. Wor. Bro. Jno. Benson. At the subsequent banquet a programme was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS

At the last regular meeting of Quinte Division of Ontario Legion 187, held December 5th, the following officers were installed by Past North Moose J. Cochrane for the year 1928.

North Moose—J. Walden.
South Moose—P. Donovan.
Past Moose—S. Gorman.
West Moose—Rilett.
Asst. Herder—W. Edwards.
Guiding Moose—L. Ivers.
Custodian of Heart—J. Morey.
Argus of Heart—C. Mears.

After the installation, the members presented the retiring North Moose, J. Cochrane, with a club bag in token of esteem of the splendid work done by him during his term of office. A banquet and entertainment followed which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

DIDN'T WANT THE BEER

Astonishment almost beyond description was the position in which Mr. Jack White, an employee of the Star Motor Sales Company, this city, found himself in a few days ago when he was getting into his automobile which was parked in front of the Quinte Brewery Company to find a case of beer thrust upon him unexpectedly. He was proved to have been placed in the wrong car by an employee of the brewery. Mr. White immediately set out finding the beer in his car went to the office of the brewery and informed the office of that concern about his "loot." The office boy only a short time before had carried out a case for a customer who requested him to put it in his car and after Mr. White's visit to the office checked himself up and found that it should have gone to another car. The mistake was quickly rectified much to everyone's satisfaction.

TODAYS MARKETS

Stocks Rally Again

New York N.Y., Dec. 9.—The stock market displayed a complete reversal of form today rallying sharply after an opening period of weakness. Call money continued in plentiful supply at a renewal figure of four per cent. Rails were again in the forefront in the advance, Southern Pacific selling at the year's high on buying influenced by expectations of an early increase in the dividend rate. St. Paul issues also were broadly bought.

Aeroplanes also were heavily bought on belief of a substantial expansion in commercial air routes next year.

Sharp change in temperature was regarded as an important factor in the strength of alcohol stocks. United States Industrial Alcohol soaring seven points.

CORN PRICES DOWN

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Fresh selling pressure of the corn market with disappointed holders and from speculative sources tended early today to pull down all grains. It was pointed out that with withstanding colly supplies are approximately 64,000,000 bushels more than last year present corn prices are much higher. Starting unchanged to 1-4c off, corn today showed pronounced setback. Wheat opened at 1-8c decline to 1-4c advance and then averaged lower, followed corn.

VICE-REGAL PARTY LEAVES WASHINGTON

Washington, Dec. 9.—A train of early lined up in front of the Canadian Legation today for the third time in two days. This time they were going to resort Canada's Governor General and Lady Willingdon on their train for New York and Boston where they will visit privately before returning to Ottawa. The Excellencies have finished three strenuous days of entertainments on the Potomac which established Washington as the Toronto Exhibition. Samples were collected and were the delight of every favorable comment. The matter of setting aside Grimathorpe as a Fish and Game Reserve was taken up with the deputy Minister of Agriculture but no satisfactory report was received.

A suggestion was made in the report with regard to have someone connected with County resources at the Exhibition.

Total expenditures by the Committee $378.55.

Considerable discussion took place concerning the question of the supply of replenishing the lakes of the county with fish fry. Some of the Reserves planned that the Government had not acceded to the request of supplying Chub. It was pointed out that the fish ration had been thoroughly studied by Government men and it was found that only certain kinds were suitable for different lakes. In most cases the Govt. had forwarded the requisite amount of fry.

Another one of the problems discussed was the advisability of petitioning the Govt. for a tuberculine test of cattle in the county and the matter in question was to have been carried on by Prince Edward.

CHILDREN DIE IN FLAMES OF SHACK

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 9.—Two children, Mildred Sauer, aged eight and her brother, Harry, aged six, were burned to death early today and their mother and brother-in-law, Edward Samak, suffered severe burns when the four-roomed shack in which they lived at Algonquin was burned down shortly after midnight. Mrs. Samak and her brother-in-law were burned when they endeavored to save the children.

MARK H. GRAHAM NAPANEE, APPOINTED ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Attorney-General W. H. Price yesterday announced the appointment of Mark H. Graham, present Town Treasurer, of Napanee, to the post of Magistrate for the Counties of Lennox and Addington. The position has been vacant for from a considerable length of time.

The new appointee has had a lengthy experience in civic affairs, having been Town Treasurer for 17 years, was Mayor of the town, and, in addition to these honours, has served as Reeve and in other capacities.

COUNTY COUNCIL

The Committee recommended that the County Council take steps to urge Sir John A. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, to establish an Agricultural School in County Eastern Ontario. The Committee felt that this section of the Province has been neglected in this respect.

Mr. Thomas Montgomery who was appointed Inspector under the Act for the eradication of the European Canker for the County of Hastings submitted his report. Mr. Montgomery visited all the schools in the Townships of Sidney, Thurlow and Tyendinaga. He gave lectures on the best method of control of the corn borer and circulars were distributed. He found the European Corn Borer present in all of the townships visited and he found that farmers and residents in town were concerned in the matter and are willing to assist in every way in promoting measures of control.

The Publicity Committee submitted a report on this Committee's session of the Council. The members waited on the Minister of Lands and Forests requesting that his department undertake some reforestation scheme in Hastings County and that the Township of Grimsthorpe be set aside as a timber and game reserve. They requested the Minister of Agriculture to take steps regarding the establishment of an Agricultural College in Central Ontario.

Publicity Work

The Minister of Highways was interviewed in an effort to have certain roads in the County included under the Provincial Highway system. The Committee had two thousand folders completed and distributed touching on the mineral and tourist attractions of Hastings County. An information bureau has been established at the Canadian National Exhibition. Samples were collected and were the delight of every favorable comment. The matter of setting aside Grimathorpe as a Fish and Game Reserve was taken up with the deputy Minister of Agriculture but no satisfactory report was received.

A suggestion was made in the report with regard to have someone connected with County resources at the Exhibition.

Sault Ste Marie, Ont., Dec. 9—Supt. S. J. McCormack, of the Algoma Central Steamship Lines received a message from Manitoulin early today stating that a number of Mindemoya had picked up a radio message from "the Agawa" to the effect that the crew were still safe aboard the vessel.

The operator on the vessel had rigged up a temporary aerial so as to broadcast a message but it was not strong enough to be very far. Algoma Central have made arrangements for a tug now at Providence Bay to go to the rescue of the vessel as soon as weather permits. Capt. W. C. Jordan, of Colling wood, master of the Agawa is one of the most capable sailors on the great lakes.

Steamers Moving Again

Sault Ste Marie, Ont., Dec. 9.—Information was made today of a report that the Paterson Line, 5,500 ton freighter Alastor had left west bound for Keewaunee Point, Mich. It was learned today the crew was safe but the vessel is a bad position to fight the Alastor broadcasted "SOS", which which were picked up by vessels and shore stations.

The "Thomas Britt" is reported fast in heavy ice in Bad Lake and close behind her is the Brockton. The Alastor was aground in Sault Ste Marie, Mich., have gone to their assistances. The steamer "S. B. Squire" is said to be lying in mid river near Port Huron, Mich., while nothing has been heard as yet of the Saskatoon and Midland, outbound from Port Colborne, which are overdue at the detour.

With conditions improving the "Hamond" left here today for the lake ward. Midland Prince and Dayton are reported at the head of the Canadian locks but it.ere is not a word of "King" and "Ogles Bay."

CHAPTER 9

THE COMPARTMENT THAT WASN'T

SECRET

At the sight of Herbert in the motor at the curb, Lila stopped dead. Her heart began to pound and the blood rushed into her cheeks. She was a lovely and radiant picture of guilt. At least, that was the way she felt, and that was the way she looked to Herbert.

Feeling that some explanation was necessary, yet not knowing what to say, she trotted up to him, masking her dis comfort with a brilliant smile.

"I passed your father in his car, after I left you," said Herbert. "He was on his way down-town."

Inwardly Lila thanked him for the tip.

"I know," she nodded brightly. "Wasn't it stupid of me to be so late that I missed him?"

"It's been three quarters of an hour since you entered the house and found him gone." Herbert looked at her with a serious question on his eyes.

"I do believe he thinks I went to Dad's to meet a man," thought Lila. She rather thrilled at Herbert's jealousy, for she was still too much in love to find it tiresome.

"I know, darling." She looked adorably penitent. "But I couldn't resist going over the house a bit. Just—well, just to see that he hadn't been looking after Dad properly."

Herbert's brows lifted significantly.

"I never knew that you concerned yourself very much with your father's comfort, Lila," he said, adding more gently: "It was the only fault I ever had to find with you, sweetheart."

"I know, darling. I've never been half nice enough to Dad. I've always just taken him for granted, and he didn't seem to mind—much. But loving you has taught me much. I'm sorry that I was such an indifferent daughter."

Herbert melted at once. He could never resist Lila when she talked about her love for him.

"Let's go for a drive and have an early lunch somewhere," he suggested.

HELPING TO SOLVE A CHILD'S PROBLEMS

By LOUIS E. BISCH

We know a lot about the inside of a child's mind, but not half of what we should know. Much of what is going on in the little one's thoughts still remains something of a mystery.

We adults think this and guess that, but how can we be sure? And that is why we often make such frightful blunders in child training.

A child cries, for example. We think he is crying because his mother will not allow him to play with a certain toy.

The real truth, on the other hand, may be that he is frightened by the harsh tone of voice employed in reprimanding him.

It may be the child's sensitiveness that has been unwittingly trampled upon. The cause of the crying may not be selfishness or stubbornness on his part at all.

This is only one of many examples of how we may misjudge children. We think that because we are older the child's mind must of necessity be simple enough for us to understand it thoroughly.

That is why we are impatient. We don't think about the child's mental and emotional mechanisms sufficiently. We jump to hasty conclusions altogether too often.

Take the arbitrary manner in which parents so often correct their children. Is it any wonder that the children sometimes feel resentful? Often we do not even give the child a chance to explain. We assume he must be wrong and there is an end to it.

And yet, since we do not know with absolute certainty what is really going on in a child's thinking, we ought to assume at least that its mind is a logical, reasoning piece of machinery and that it is governed by the same rules of common sense that control more mature brains.

When a child asks questions, we do not always give sensible answers. There are times when we are unable to answer. We don't know the answer.

But it is far better to admit such ignorance than to bluff it out and pretend and confuse the child's mind.

Children are forever groping for knowledge. You must help them in this groping.

To put them off takes care of the difficulty for the time being, but it invariably leads to loss of confidence on the part of the child toward you.

Children's questions are perhaps the greatest problem in child training. even more of a problem than correction and punishment. The questions come thick and fast. They are annoying sometimes.

But never say: "Don't ask foolish questions," as one hears so often. No question is foolish in the immature mind. Children don't ask the hundred and one things they do because they want to waste time. The questions mean a lot to them. The answers mean even more. Curiosity instinct prompts them.

It is by curiosity that they learn, develop and mature. A child soon learns a bluff and a take in the same way that adults do. In fact, they seem to catch on much quicker.

And when children find you out they don't forgive or forget as readily as adults do.

They remember it and, hold it against you. Children are fundamentally very unforgiving.

Try always to make some rhyme and reason out of what your child says and does.

You may be sure that there is some connecting logic behind it all.

Help a child to solve the riddles of his own mind.

Lila's heart sank. It was already eleven o'clock. The horrible Mr. Jackson would be even more snarling her at Dorothy's studio and getting more insidious every moment. If she didn't show up at all—

She shuddered. She had visions of Mr. Jackson indignantly down and Miss covering that Miss Latham, the fiancee of the late Captain Jack Farquhar, had turned in France, was Mrs. Herbert Ware. In that event, of course, there'd be no keeping the truth from Herbert. With everything happening right under his nose.

Again she heard herself saying to Herbert: "Darling, there was never any one but you!"

So she had to agree to Herbert's big question that they lunch together. At any other time she would have adored it. She loved him so much that there's hoped that more of their lives together was a delicious thrill in going out to lunch with him.

She said, over the luncheon-table, not meaning to be flippant:

"Do you know, darling, this isn't a bit like being married. I think marriage would be much happier if people pretended to be lovers, sometimes, instead of husband and wife."

Herbert looked as shocked that she was actually frightened.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young girl sixteen years. I am writing this in hopes you will help me. My problem is How can I get a beau. I know a young man whom I admire very much but he doesn't pay the least bit of attention to me. If I meet him and he sees me he never speaks to me unless I speak first. I'm going to stop speaking to him soon and see if it will make any difference. Now I'm not one of these ugly girls. I like to go with the young people and have lots of fun but I just can't get the fellow interested at all.

DISCOURAGED BRUNETTE

DISCOURAGED BRUNETTE: You are far too young to become discouraged Brunette. If you wish to have friends of the opposite sex, make yourself as agreeable as possible. Have little entertainments in your home and invite this one, in whom you are interested along with your other friends. Why should you stop speaking to him, you know it is always the lady's privilege to speak first. Just be your natural self and I am sure you will get along all right.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

My mum and I wish to know if it is proper to tell a boy friend what you want for Christmas, if he asks you and would you suggest to us things to ask for? Is it proper to give boy things and what?

WE TWO.

WE TWO: I think it is much preferred if you boy should pick out your present himself, and besides it is a surprise and a thrill. It is quite proper to give a boy a present if he is a friend of yours—cigarette case, silk handkerchiefs, scarf, eversharp pencil any of these would be suitable.

WHAT'S NEW

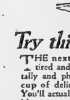

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Among the southern resort models in Paris are two-piece costumes in satin evening ensemble with a pink a rough silk that resembles pongee and colors run much to light green, blue and jade, while one two-piece frock is in pale green silk, both jumper and skirt crossing with loose side jabots.

The earliest laces were the result of a desire on the part of certain ingenuous folk to disguise the frayed edges of once sumptuous garments by twisting the threads and stitching them together, and from this humble beginning lace-making grew until in the fifteenth century it was considered a necessary accomplished among ladies of high rank.

The black "pull" still shrouds Paris fashion for the mid-season showing of the smartest houses do not depart very far from the sombre tone of costumes which dominated the earlier collections and evening dresses are blacker than ever, by far the majority of chiffon and satin frocks shown at some places being entirely of black.

The Hygienic Method That 8 in 10 Better-Class Women Use

By ELLEN J. DUCKLAND Registered Nurse

ONE of the commonest obstacles to the average woman's peace of mind was the old time "Sanitary Pad." Uncertain and unsafe, it has now been supplanted with scientific protection that is absolute.

With the amazing absorbency of Cellucotton as your weight in moisture, KOTEX, the new way, is 5 times as absorbent as the ordinary cotton pad. It is the only sanitary pad filled with Cellucotton—making the world's super-absorbent.

Use it, discard like a tissue. Also deodorizes, thus eliminates all fear. No laundry, no disposal embarrassment. Obtain at any store, 12 in box.

Note particularly that the package is marked KOTEX. If not, don't accept — it is not genuine Kotex.

YOUNG ORATORS DISPLAYED SKILL BEFORE THEIR ADMIRING FRIENDS

Compete For Warden's Medals Yesterday—Only Four Entered Contest

Four young orators from the different sections of Hastings County were honored at yesterday's session of the County Council. These girls attacked her competed in the contest which was held in Shire Hall with all the Council less present. The latter were amazed at the talent shown by the young orators and the speeches as delivered show, of the results of long and careful preparation. The teachers who assisted the children deserve a great deal of credit as they coached them in the work and helped to prepare them for the contest. The Warden of the County donated the medals which were presented by County Clerk W. H. Nugent.

Twelve boys and girls were scheduled to compete but owing to the inclement weather some of them especially those from the northern section of the County found it difficult to attend. Miss Mary Orser of School Section Number 19 Sidney was awarded the prize by the Judges who reached a decision only after a lengthy debate. Mrs. Bert Rush is the teacher of the section Miss Patricia Turner was awarded second prize among the girls while Miss Kathrine McDonell the only other of the girl's entrants received the medal for thirds.

Master Kenneth Holland of School Section Number 13 Huntingdon was the only boy to compete. Mr. Arnold McCutcheon is the theacher. Warden Marriott opened the proceedings with a welcome to the pupils, teachers and their parents. He explained that they had been some mistake in the original subject and some of the pupils had prepared others and it was decided that under the circumstances the pupils were allowed to speak on any subject which they chose. The origin al subject was "The necessity of the Continuation of Confederation of the Provinces of the Dominion of Canada within the British Empire. Mr. Jt. E. Bonter was appointed to act as Chairman of the affair.

Miss Mary Orser was the first speaker called upon. She a clear, distinct, striking tone she opened her speech on the "Confederation of Canada." She has obtained some experience last year in the oratorical line and with a clear pronunciation she was accorded an excellent reception by her audience.

Miss Patricia Turner of Allen School Rawdon Township was the next of the young orators to take her place. She spoke on "Canada" outlining it's past and future and dealing with the responsibilities before this great dominion She faced her audience and in a striking manner delivered her speech. She spoke a little faster than her predecessor and a touch of nervousness was noticed but she was the second choice of the Judges and she richly deserved the honors.

Miss Katherine McDonell was the next girl to speak. She was slower in delivering her piece of oratory but was not the least nervous and had excellent control of her subject. Miss McDonell's speech was delivered in the clearest manner and in a strong manner delivered her speech. She spoke a little faster than her predecessor and a touch of nervousness was noticed but she was the second choice of the Judges and she richly deserved the honors.

Great Britain. At that time the colonies were separate units governed by Governor and his council and although French Canada extended up the St. Lawrence River to the head of great lakes, only a small portion of it was settled.

The English population was largely increased by the United Empire Loyalists After the American Declaration of Independence the two races, so different in ideas and ideals, found it hard to settle down to live together, and the British Government divided the colonies into Upper and Lower Canada each having a constitution of its own

While French and English fought side by side during the war of 1812 when the danger was over the old trouble arose again and in 1837 a rebellion broke out, which resulted in Lord Durham's report recommending that the colonies be granted a larger measure of responsible government and that later they be united in a federal union. A union of the two Canadas was brought about but was not very satisfactory, due partly to the fact that the French held the balance of power in the Legislature while the new governor did not appoint a single French representative to his council.

While Canada was trying to find a way out of her difficulties, the Maritime colonies as crown colonies under the Imperial Government were prospering and lumbering were becoming important industries, ship building flour and grist mills a large trade was being carried on with the Mother Country. But they had one difficulty. They feared the United States as they felt that country was bitter toward England on account of the sympathy shown the South during the Civil War. The English Raids brought to the fore the need for defense and a conference was called at Charlottetown. Some of the delegates from Canada thought this an opportune time to press for the large union and asked permission to attend. This was granted and after a five days' discussion, they decided to meet again at Quebec. The Maritime colonies were not very favorable to the union and the people of P.E.I. and Newfoundland refused to accept the agreement as arranged at the Quebec conference but Canada and the British Government were anxious that such a union should be brought about.

In 1866 representatives of N. B., N. S. and the Canadas met in London and drafted the British North American Act, and in 1867 the Confederation of these four colonies became a reality.

At that time all the territories west of the watershed of the Great Lakes to the Rocky Mountains and north to Hudson Bay were held by the Hudson's Bay Company and thought of little value for settlement. Arrangements were made with the British Government to purchase these territories and in 1870 the small settlement of Manitoba entered the union. The following year British Columbia also entered the union on the promise that a railroad would be built across the mountains.

Two years later P. E. I. became a province of this great Dominion also. Thus the Dominion of Canada as we know it today was formed, created by the strength, vision and courage of a few great leaders. English, French, Scotch and Irish who forgot their differences to further a great ideal.

Let us consider it our privilege as well as our duty in this the year of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, to do honor to The Fathers of Confederation, who left for us this great heritage—The Dominion of Canada—and let us, the men and women of tomorrow, try to form ourselves the same sense of truth and honor the same courage and steadfastness the footsteps of our forefathers, and care the future

"Proud that we were born in Canada Beneath the British Flag."

The IPaal Speaker

Master Kenneth Holland spoke as follows:

"By reason fires alight on the hilltop Peace afloat by church services and by the broadcasting of programmes, as well as by great parades and pageants showing the growth of Canada through out the years, on July 1 Canada celebrated in every village, town, city and rural community the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation.

Just before Confederation there was a dead lock in Parliament because both parties were of equal strength. We Canadians were afraid of our neighbors who were becoming wealthy and the cause of their Civil War. In 1865 the United States had repudiated reciprocity because it gave Canada too many advantages. In 1866 many Americans hailed with delight the invasion of Canada by many of their fellow citizens disgruntled as Irishmen but Canada had statesmen at the head of affairs. There were John A. Macdonald, a very capable leader, George Brown, the Editor of great influence, George Cartier, French Canadian, Dr. Tupper from Nova Scotia and Leonard Tilley from New Brunswick. By supreme efforts of these and other statesmen Confederation was formed for the new union that was to take place.

In 1868 the British Government passed the British North American Act, and on July 1, 1867, the Dominion of Canada became a nation.

At this time Canada was made up of the four provinces, Ontario Quebec Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Five years later there added Manitoba—Manitoba in 1870, British Columbia in 1871, Prince Edward Island in 1873, Saskatchewan and Alberta in 1905.

In 1867 the population of Canada was three and a third million (3,577,000). At the present time it is well over nine and a half millions which shows that it has trebled in 60 years. The immigration has consisted largely of English, Scotch and Irish but many other Europeans have settled in the north and west. The French Canadian of Quebec is as proud of the rights and privileges of his province and of its place in Confederation as any English-speaking Canadian could be of his. Quebec was the place at which the Fathers of Confederation formed the seventy-two resolutions which really consisted of the constitution of Canada. The French Canadian loves of his work and his environment, not of war or longing for the old Fatherland.

Canada is surely progressing. Sixty years ago her foreign trade was less than $12,000,000. Now it is twenty times that. For the year ending in March, 1927, it was well over $2,000,000,000. Also in the same period the value of her field crops has advanced tenfold from about $100,000,000 to over $1,050,000,000. Railway lines sixty years ago totalled a few hundred miles and now exceed 41,000 miles in the present time. In the year of Confederation the total deposits in the chart ered banks amounted to $53,000,000 In 1926 the deposits were 25 times this amount—$1,340,550,021.

The wealth carried by Canadians has also increased by many million dollars.

Canada is one of the most important lumber producing countries of the world. Hidden in the rocks beneath the soil of Canada are stores of minerals whose value no man can even estimate. Coal, nickel, asbestos, gold, silver, copper are found in abundance. Another great source of wealth to Canada is the fish which are in the ocean bordering her coasts and in inland the country is being developed the manufacture of the raw materials is literally increasing.

We Canadians have the privilge of owning almost half of the great continent of North America. We are among the most fortunate peoples of the world and should strive to realize how great a thing it is to be a citizen of Canada. Let us try to keep the spirit of co-operation and understanding among the Canadian people still growing as it has been growing within the past fifty months. During the past few months the flame of co-operation and understanding among the Canadian people has been shining high; let us keep the home fires burning.

Newsy Neighborhood Notes

TWO MONTHS

Cobourg, Dec. 9.—William P. Wilkie, ex-M. of Delano, Hastings County, was sentenced to two months in the County Jail at Cobourg by Magistrate W. A. P. Campbell this morning, when he pleaded guilty to being intoxicated in Port Hope Wednesday evening. Wilkie was taken the magistrate to be given a chance to get back to his work in Deloro, but the recent legislation under the L. C. A. does not allow such a disposition of a drunk charge it was pointed out. Chief Murphy told the court of having received two complaints from a woman living near Wilcome, about Wilkinson hanging around her home.

BREWERY OPENED

Oshawa, Dec .9.—While it was expected in some quarters that the brewery warehouse in Oshawa would be ready for business this morning, the opening will not take place until next week, at the earliest. Every effort is being made to have the premises at the Adams Garage, King street west, in readiness by that time. E. A. Donald, Government vendor, who will be in charge, stated this morning that the entire building of two floors would be used.

Oshawa, Dec. 9.—The cell room in Oshawa's police station was crowded to capacity last night when no less than 21 men found shelter within its limited space. This is a record number for lodgers his season eclipsing the mark of 19, set last week.

FIVE IMBIBED

Kingston, Dec. 9.—Imbibing too freely while attending a wedding, five residents of Sharbot Lake ran foul of the law, and the result was that they appeared before Magistrate J.W. Strachan at that place on Tuesday, and all pleaded guilty to the charge. They were each fined $10 and costs.

PILSUDSKI ARRIVES AT GENEVA LEAGUE

Geneva, Dec. 9.—Premier Pilsudski arrived here this afternoon in connection with the controversy between Lithuania and Poland. He went immediately to a hotel where he was met by Van Hokand, of Holland, who has been designated by the League of Nations Council as a special reporter on the dispute. The public meeting of the league council will be held tomorrow to discuss the matter. Briand and Chamberlain will be the principal speakers. Efforts will be made to bring about a amicable settlement of the crisis. It was unlikely that the premiers of two countries would face tomorrow's council eying to tension exceeding between the two.

BERLENBACH AND DELANEY MIX AGAIN

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Jack Delaney and Paul Berlenbach, both forgiven light heavy weight champions, met in their fourth meeting tonight with consider ably more at stake than a mere ten rounds of milling. There is a possibility the winner will meet Tommy Loughran today. Berlenbach is fighting to prove he is not through. Delaney knocked out Paul in the first round, but two others were even. A gale of fifty thou and dollars was looked for. Delaney will probably weigh 177 and Berlenbach 172.

BELLE THEATRE

Strange secrets from the records of the Paris police prefecture form the basis for Columbia's mystery photo play, "Alias the Lone Wolf," adapted from Leon Joseph Vance's novel of the same name, now playing at the Belle Theatre. Bert Lytell in the starring role portrays the "Lone Wolf" as a secret service man combining a band of cunning jewel thieves. Edith Wilson plays the heroine opposite Lytell.

REGENT THEATRE

"Burnt Fingers," a Pathe picture now at the Regent Theatre is said to be a tense drama, with Edna Murphy as the girl who starts the fire at which her friend, played by Eileen Percy, gets her fingers burnt. George O'Hara and Wilfred Lucas act also in England, and others in the cast are Jane Jennings, J. Huy Bennet, Tom Dulio, Henry Mowbray and Jimmy Ward.

SOFT CORNS

Money Back Says Druggists If Moone's Emerald Oil Doesn't Relieve Pain With All Soreness and Pain in 24 Hours

Marked Growth Reported At Bank Of Montreal Annual Meeting

Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart., President, Reviews General Business Conditions in Canada—Sees No Reason Why Present Prosperity Should Not Continue—Refers Specially to Growth of Newsprint Industry—Warns Against Excessive Speculation.

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, General Manager, in His Address Deals More Particularly With the Business of the Bank and Referred to the General Trend of Affairs Throughout Canada.

The annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal marked the close of a successful year and was featured by many interesting announcements by Sir Vincent Meredith, President and Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, General Manager.

Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart., who has been president for a number of years was elected to the office of Chairman of the Board of Directors and Chairman of the Executive Committee. Sir Charles Gordon, G.B.E., was elected President and Mr. H. R. Drummond and Major General the Honourable S. C. Mewburn, C.M.G., were elected Vice-Presidents.

An executive committee of the board was appointed consisting of Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart. (chairman) Sir Charles Gordon, G.B.E., H. R. Drummond, Esq., and Major General the Honourable S. C. Mewburn, C.M.G.

Sir Vincent Meredith in addressing the shareholders said in part:

"It is a pleasure to report that your Bank has had another satisfactory year. The increase in our commercial loans has been gratifying notwithstanding the fact that many of our important borrowers have taken advantage of present favourable conditions to fund their indebtedness by issuing to the public long-term obligations at a low rate of interest.

"The banks of Canada have a combined capital and rest of $253,000,000 which is more than ample to take care of the demands of our present population of 9,388,000. The excess of capital over Canadian business requirements is so great that we are obliged to employ in New York and abroad large sums that would otherwise be idle. It is not your directors' intention, therefore to increase the capital stock of the Bank at the present time, but rather to strengthen our Rest Account, and with this in view we are transferring $1,000,000 from profit and loss account, bringing the Rest Account up to $20,918,700.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

"Trade conditions in Canada during the year have been active, and while there is still keen competition in many lines, balance sheets generally show satisfactory profits Manifold evidence supports this statement. Bank debits, bank clearings, bank deposits, car loadings, railway gross earnings, imports, note circulation and lower mercantile mortality, all reveal that the tide of business has risen during the year.

"Speaking generally, manufacturing industries thrive; textile mills are fully employed; iron and steel operators continue to be strong competition from abroad, as an increasing volume of imported steels; the lumber trade shows a slight improvement; newsprint output increases; production of foodstuffs is larger and the industry is in better state; the manufacture of motor cars has lightly diminished, but in the first nine months of the year 161,583 cars were turned out, having a value of $102,179,000, or practically the same as in the like period of last year, though the number of cars was 700 less.

"I see no reason why an abatement of confidence in the continuance of these prosperous conditions need be apprehended.

FOREIGN CAPITAL

"Capital continues to flow freely into Canada from New York. Here, it is estimated, $200,000,000 of Canadian securities will this year have been marketed, a fine fraction of which represented refunding. Canadian governmental and municipal bonds have had a ready and broad market in New York, and industrial and hydro-electric power corporations are now able to borrow there at relatively low rates of interests. This introduction of foreign capital accelerates industrial development while having a favorable bearing on the exchange market and although interest and dividend remittances on the borrowings may otherwise operate, the process is, on the whole, advantageous. The remission of securities in Canada has also been large and their absorption readily made.

"The newsprint industry has had astonishing expansion in recent years, and of the building of new plants there is yet no end. Price stability and maintained consumption have given profit to producers, but signs grow stronger that the point of saturation is approaching, if indeed it has not already been reached. Canada is now the principal pulp and newsprint producer of the world, a position not likely to be lost in the near future. In the first nine months of this year exports of newsprint rose to $94,715,000 from $88,719,000 in the corresponding period last year, while that of pulp fell to $35,321,000, from $38,371,000. These figures are satisfactory, as indicating lower export of raw material and growth of manufacture in Canada of the finisher article.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor in reviewing the business of the Bank said in part:

"You have before you the one hundred and tenth annual balance sheet of the Bank.

"In accordance with custom, let me comment briefly on the principal changes therein and on some more important factors in the trade and economic situation bearing on our year's business.

"First, then,—in two fundamental features earning power and liquid strength of resources, our position continues highly satisfactory. Never have we been better prepared to care for all the normal needs of the public and to meet any business or financial exigency.

"At the close of our bank year, total assets stood at $839,500,500 and of this amount $481,900,000 was in liquid form—cash, call loans, securities, or other items readily realizable. These quick assets equal 61.7% of our total liabilities to the public, and this reflects the usual position in which your Bank is maintained.

"Our commercial loans in Canada have increased by about $5,000,000 and now stand at $255,100,000. Many of our largest industrial customers, after taking advantage of liquid condition need less banking accommodation from us than heretofore; also, certain loans of a special nature which appeared upon our books last year have in the interim been paid, being replaced by advances more widely spread,—an indication of greater business activity in the country generally. The total commercial loans of all Canadian banks at the end of September, the latest figures available, aggregated $1,231,900,000.

"Our deposits total $708,100,000, an increase of $52,900,000 from the corresponding date last year. While much of this represents deposits of a commercial and special nature, a goodly portion of the increase has occurred in our savings department, showing both widespread prosperity and continued public confidence in the Bank of Montreal.

"As a sign of this country's growing capital resources,—the deposits payable after notice in all banks exceed total commercial loans by 360 millions, whereas 15 years ago these loans exceeded such deposits by 219 millions.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

"I have referred to the past year as one of rapid expansive in the country's commercial history. That Canadians have experienced a greater degree of individual prosperity than ever before is, I think, undisputed. The high general level of employment, and the enhanced spending power of the people, are attributable to a succession of good harvests and to a great broadening of the basis of production. Until a few years ago Canada was best known abroad as an agricultural country, and outside capital sought investment here chiefly in government and municipal issues and in railway building to provide transportation facilities for an ever-increasing agricultural area. Today most of the largely increased capital coming in for investment is for industrial development. It is now fully recognized that Canada has the natural resources for the building up of a vast variety of industrious industries, and is filled by the character and spirit of her population to take an increasingly important place among the industrial nations of the world. The great expansion in recent years of mining and metallurgy, with their field now extending into agricultural Manitoba, and of the manufacture of pulp and paper, and those various fabrics commonly referred to as artificial silk, are spectacular instances. Scarcely less impressive is the great progress in a variety of other industries, for which the extraordinary development of hydro-electrical energy is providing the cheapest and most convenient of all motive powers. It is obvious, therefore, that whereas in earlier days we dwelt almost wholly upon our agricultural, fishery and forest resources when appraising our national wealth, we must now also take into account the country's untold wealth in water powers and in mineral.

HOCKEY LEAGUE GETS UNDER WAY

Organization work on Bellwille's city hockey league was started last night in the Y.M.C.A. Eight teams were represented and from all indications the loop will be better this year than ever before.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year and other important business transacted. The following were chosen to fill the executive positions.

Hon. Pres.—Mayor-Elect Duff.

Hon. Vice Pres.—W. E. Rowsome, Manuite; A. W. Lacy, Quinte Electricans; J. H. Legate, Canada Cement; S. B. Dawson, The Intelligencer; Albert Armstrong, "a man's friend"; R. Harker, Imperial Oil; P. Melchoir, Tigers; F. Donovan, Moose.

Pres.—K. J. Colling.

Vice Pres.—Robt. Redner.

Treasurer—D. Roe.

Secretary—Sam Curry.

Executive—Joe Shortt, C. Young, F. Bayfield.

The teams were represented by the following. Intelligencer, Lorne Cook; Canada Cement, Robt Redner and W. Caulin; Tigers, J. Hedger; Alcazar, V. White, F. Belnap and A. Young; Imperial Oil, D. Roe; Moose, C. Young, M. Connur; Y's Men, R. Brown, Quinte Bakery, P. Hibbard and A. W. Lacy.

Time-keepers—Nsp. Goyer, Tom Bowler, L. Cook, E. Davy and Joe Shortt.

Referees—K. J. Colling, Clarence, Bun Prechette and N. Goyer.

A $1 entrance fee will be charged which will be refunded at the end of the season if no game are defaulted.

A limit of twelve players may be signed with only ten actually taking part in each game.

No O. H. A. players will be allowed to take part in the games. A gate fee of 15 cents will be charged.

Each manager will collect the money each night for the payment of the rink and the surplus taken on the gate will be placed in the bank and divided equal ly among all eight teams at the end of the season. The Secretary and Presidents are a committee to draft a list of playing dates. Another meeting will be called in the near future.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING

Only one game was played on the Y Alleys last night this being in the Men's league when the Y's Men and the Semi-Centennials met and each won two points. In the first game the Y's Men went to the fore and were up 43 pins and added another 110 to this in the second game. In the last game the Y's Men fell away off and the Semi's came strong in the last few frames to win by 199 pins and the total by 46 pins. V. RAGING BLIZZARD HALTS RESCUE OF THE 'AGAWA' STRANDED CREW

FAILURE DID NOT ENDANGER PEACE

London, Dec. 10—The Lahortie "Daily Herald" today prints an exclusive interview with Sir Austen Chamberlain in which the British Foreign Minister said that the failure of the recent Tri-Partite Naval Conference showed the danger of going into a conference with other powers on a vital question without having first ascertained what sort of agreement might be expected.

He was encouraged, however, by the fact that the failure had not embittered the friendly relations of three Governments. He declined to give his version as to whether another disarmament conference was possible in the near future.

JUNIOR ORATORS AT CITY HALL

Contest Last Night; Miss Mary Drummond, Winner—"Scotland"

Oratory flowed freely last evening at the Junior Oratorical Contest held in the city hall under the auspices of the Literary Society of the Belleville Collegiate Institute. There were six contestants for the judges to decide between, the winner becoming a challenger between in awarding the prizes and selections of the winners proved to be a arduous task, owing to the excellent speaking calibre of those taking part.

The different subjects chosen by the contestants showed that they had been carefully prepared and from the delivery it was also evident that the outstanding points were clearly appreciated by the orators.

The delivery of the subjects as well as the enunciation was unusually good for students and each speaker was loudly applauded by the large assembly of spectators who completely filled the auditorium of the city hall.

After considerable debating on the part of the judges who were Miss Robina Templeton, Mrs. J. S. D. Nelson and Miss Alex. Farquhar, the prize for the best speaker was awarded to Miss Mary Drummond who spoke on Scotland; Miss Florence Barber, the winner of the second prize, chose as her subject "The Beauties of Nature". The other contestants and their subjects were Miss Blanche Coulter, "The Trail Hog in Canada"; Mr. Samuel Goodman, "The League of Nations"; Mr. Fred Forester, "Radio" and Miss Edith Mc-Evoy, "Robert Louis Stevenson."

Following the oratorical contest three stunts were put on by the pupils, which created much merriment with their wit, costumes and originality.

The first scene was "The Fashion Parade" by 1-2 Miss Helen Clarke B.A. directed this act.

Mr. J. Berger of the Artistic Ladies Store directed the next two sketches which were composed of 3-B pupils. The first was a scene from Hamlet "To Be or Not To Be" and the second "Love's Tangle."

BREAK FROM ICE

Threatened Tie-Up In Sault Canals Averted For The Present

Toronto, Dec. 10.—The situation of the crew of the "Agawa" remains perilous today. Sevity-two hours after the ship grounded in Michael Bay, the tug Strathcona today was again baulked by weather in her attempts to go to the Agawa aid and to assist the Core tender, three miles away. The Agawa's hull, is believed to be still intact.

The crew of the Allador are awaiting coast guardsmen to take them from their badly damaged vessel but are in no immediate danger. The threatened tie-up of lake freighters was averted for a time when three steamers, the "Britt," "Brockton" and "Mashinaw" crashed their way through ice jams in the Sault Canals.

Wireless received at Port Arthur stated that consigaard crews had been unable to locate the Altadoc at Keewatin and Port Hammiphin" however was believed standing by. Tugs "Brenson" and "Bowmanville" standing by the steamer at "Marlian" aground on Hare Island. The weather at the head of the lakes is unsettled and navigation conditions are still bad.

The steamer "S. B. Squier" reported a day ago to have foundered in Lake Huron, arrived in the lower St. Mary's river at the Sault today covered in ice.

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

When a man is tempted to do a tempting thing, he can find a hundred ingenious reasons for gratifying his liking.

THACKERAY.

THE HARD ROAD

The story of an Ottawa youth who escaped from Norwich prison farm five and a half months ago, and gave himself up voluntarily to the police rather than be taxed any longer, is a striking example of the suffering which wrong-doing brings to the human soul. In the time he was at liberty, this seventeen-year old lad plumbed the depths of misery. At every turn he was haunted by the fear of re-capture. For five and a half months he was a wanderer on the face of the earth, moving from town to town and from city to city obsessed by the thought that the police were after him, and that he was on the verge of being discovered. Poor lad, sane and starving, he at length saw a detective whom he knew, and gave himself up.

It is a pitiful story of the processes to which the human mind is subjected when coincidence and remorse hold sway. Possibly in many cases, there was no need for this lad to be afraid of discovery, but back in his mind was the knowledge that he had done wrong and that he was wanted by the police. It took him only five and a half months to come to the decision that he would be better back on the prison farm serving out his sentence than roaming around the country harried by the thought that the police were after him. His experience should be an object lesson to the youth of the country on the unfailing truth of the oft-repeated platitude that "The Way of the Transgressor is Hard."

"QUALITY OF MERCY"

Attorney-General Price has shown a commendable sense of the part which mercy should play in the administration of justice in ordering the release of Edwin Horlick, thirteen-year-old Peterborough boy who was sentenced to a term in the Mimico Industrial School on a charge of selling liquor. The magistrate who imposed the sentence may have felt that he was in duty bound to order this punishment, and had a legal right to do so, but there were moral considerations bound up in this case which makes the attorney-general's disposition of the case a very fitting one.

It was evident from the start that the boy was no criminal, just a misguided lad who had become a victim of conditions which should never have been allowed to exist in the community. There was a strong feeling that he was merely being made the sufferer for the offences of adults who had not the courage to come forward and take their share of the blame for the crime which had been committed. The type of manhood of those who were really to blame for Horlick's offence can be judged from the fact that they were willing to stand back and see a mere boy sent to an industrial school rather than be unmanly enough to confess that they were responsible. It is apparent that Horlick was more sinned against than sinning, and with the opportunity afforded to him of growing up into a respectable citizen under the guidance of his father and the children's aid society officials, he can overcome the handicap which has been placed upon him by the boyish mistake, and, thanks to attorney-general, he can play a large part in helping other boys to avoid making the errors which he made.

LOVE OF MUSIC

Is Belleville a musical city?

Occasionally people are heard to bemoan the fact that there is no place to go for amusement but to the movies and yet, when a first-rate artist comes to give a concert, how many people avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing him?

The Presto Musical Club, an essentially small organization, holding its meetings in the homes of its members endeavors to bring some really worthwhile artists to the city from time to time. By strenuous efforts—selling tickets, advertising, etc.—sometimes the club is able to break even. Occasionally a small surplus is realized, but sometimes, alas, there is a deficit.

Last week Miss Mona Bates, a Canadian pianist, who has appeared in recital and with orchestra in the leading musical centres of the world, gave a delightful recital in the Memorial Chapel of Albert College. Those who were fortunate enough to come out in the rain to hear her, were delighted with her marvelous artistry. The programme was one calculated to please those with mediocre musical training as well as the serious students of piano. But, unfortunately, there were not enough of either class present, and, in common parlance, the club went in the hole.

All lovers of music should patronize such concerts; Teachers of music should urge their pupils to attend, for it is only in such a way that the City of Belleville can become a really musical City.

This worthy club anticipated bringing other artists here this season, but it is now a question whether it can afford to do so.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

"What do you think you're playing?" said the conductor angrily to the short-sighted trombonist during a rehearsal.

"Sorry, sir. There's a fly crawling on my music and I keep playing him."

Frances: Don't you really care for Hasting?

Otis: Not since I was decorated by a French general.

Dear Old Lady—I gave you a piece of pie last week and ever since you have been sending your friends here.—Ragged Andy—"No, pardon, lady—my enemies!"

WAITING-TIME

I opened sleepy eyes and stretched pink hands,
Soft baby hands, and gurgled lazily
And quick she came. Ah, waiting time was short
When mother-love was all the world to me.

I opened joyous eyes and stretched glad hands,
Stretched eager hands, and smiled in ecstasy,
And lo! he came. Ere waiting-time was sweet
When my Beloved was all in all to me.

I open tear-dimmed eyes and stretch tired hands,
Stretch weary hands, and cry, implo-
Piteously.
Yet still I wait—Ah, waiting-time is long!
Till God's dear love sends kindly Death to me.

TEMPERATURES

The temperature for today was: maximum 39, minimum 17.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

Two local pupils of the High School were winners of Carter exhibitions for the County of Hastings. Ethel Adams won first, with a cash value of $100 and Walter Prentice, 2nd with a value of $60.

BAZAAR SUCCESSFUL

The Queen Street United Church Bazaar held yesterday proved to be most successful. There was a large attendance and the many appropriate Christmas articles were quickly picked up by the large throng of buyers.

SPRAINED WRIST

An aged lady from the country fell on Pinnacle street this morning and badly sprained her left wrist. She bravely walked over to the Bank of Commerce where her husband was transacting some business and patiently waited for him on the step when he took her to a physician for attention.

TELEPHONE TROUBLE

Due to the storm of today the long distance line of the Bell Telephone Company between this city and Toronto were out of commission for a time but was cleared away this afternoon. The local Hydro report no trouble with their wires.

CHRISTMAS TREES

With Christmas just two weeks away, local men are taking advantage of the opportunity of already stocking Christmas trees for local patrons. At today's market the green spruce and balsams were plentiful and were selling for the usual prices that were asked last year. With the falling of snow last night green branches, they presented a pule-like appearance.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT

Large numbers were in attendance at the Baptist Church Sunday School Christmas held last evening in the auditorium of the church was interspersed by decorated in keeping with the spirit of the occasion. P. C. Hicks, Mrs. Laurin, Superintendent of the School, acted as chairman for the event. The program consisted of presentation of prizes to the pupils, songs, dialogues, recitations, vocal and instrumental solos and duets.

AN ERROR

A slight error occurred in McKeown's Ad of Friday's issue when it was stated that the sale of Vivani Beauty Products effected special for this week-end was priced at $1.79. The figures should have read $1.97, the special price to be effect this week-end for prize of this set of Vivani Beauty Products is $10.00, and the present exceptional opportunity of securing these products at this low price ends this evening.

PAY FOR DAMAGE

It pays to be a good shot, even with a stone. A young lad going to school yesterday morning about nine o'clock aimed a stone at the Coca Cola sign near Maycock's store on N. Front Street. The stone, instead of striking at its proper destination, crashed through the large plate glass window of Manager Maycock's store and not satisfied with breaking the window alone, shattered a share of the boy's mother agreed to pay the damages.

EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY

One of the leading Life Insurance Companies of Canada is desirous of securing an outstanding man as District Manager for this district. Knowledge of life insurance is not necessary but applicants must be well and favourably known in the community. A very attractive contract. Apply Box "C," Intelligencer. 48-Tdf

BEN SPENCE TO VISIT BELLEVILLE

Famous Prohibitionist Consents To Speak At Regent

During the past year or so there has been much said regarding the need of education along temperance lines. Though temperance societies and organizations are still in existence, one institution given in our school rooms and Sunday classes and young people's gatherings at regular periods, though frequent reference is made and admonition is urged in church pulpits on this phase of the gospel of Christianity, yet complaint is heard that not enough is being done to counteract the increased temptations and dangers especially besetting the youth of our province in this respect.

To cope with this situation an auxiliary organization called the Dominion Prohibition Bureau with headquarters in Toronto is assembling information and conducting public meetings to interest live men and women in the population. The object of the Bureau is to contribute to the development of an informed and virile public opinion in favour of abstinence and prohibition. Last month large gatherings were held in Massey Hall addressed by prominent speakers of many denominations and were favorably reported upon in the daily papers.

This season Belleville is being afforded and joining with other important centres the privilege of such meetings. On Friday, December 16th, at the Regent Theatre, Front St., at 8.15 p.m., Rev. Ben. Spence will give an illustrated talk on the temperance situation up-to-date. Possibly there at no man in Canada more competent to deal with the subject than this erstwhile and outspoken campaigner. He will be accompanied by the secretary of the Bureau, Mr. John Burnham, who is engaged in the fraternal life of our country and a forceful speaker as Dominion Convener of the Royal Templars of Temperance.

A free-will offering will be received to defray expenses and to aid the cause. Special music is being volunteered. Rev. Ben Spence is held in community singing.

An interesting program is assured. Be early for the best seat.

YOUNG FARMERS

of Durham County for discussion in regard to County Debating Leagues after which Sec. Gordon McCutcheon, of Peterborough, addressed the Young Farmers' Debating Championship League. Representatives from each county took part in the discussion. After hearing the opinion of many present Durham County decided to form an executive and draw up some resolutions.

Moved by Mr. W. A. Dempsey and seconded by Mr. Donald Spencer, that Mr. W. Arnold be appointed as Secretary for the conference.

Moved by Mr. Gordon McCutcheon and seconded by Mr. Clarence Allan that the Counties represented organize into inter-county leagues.

Mr. MacVannel, Agricultural representative of Prince Edward, spoke a few words in regard to the organization and in concluding said that the representatives of the eight counties represented thereat would donate a trophy with the understanding that it was to be competed for annually.

Victoria County issued a challenge to any and all seven counties represented for a debate. Unfortunately it was not accepted by any one, but the challenge was renewed by the following:

Victoria County—William Murphy, Peterboro County—Clarence Fitzsimons, Durham County—Clarence Allan, Northumberland County—Cordon McCubbin.

Prince Edward County — Sherma Bedford.

Lennox & Addington County — Mr Clarke.

Hastings County—Perry Badgley.

It was decided to hold another Junior Debate Night at Belleville at Presqu'ile and to take place sometime in July.

The matter of holding the Junior Farmer's Conference next year either in Belleville or Toronto, was left for the executive to decide.

A resolution was passed authorizing the Secretary, W. J. Anderson, to write to Mr. Atkins, Agricultural Representative of Hastings County, expressing their gratitude in his assist to the Junior Farmer organization of Hastings County and to the City of Belleville for their generosity in giving free seats to the Opera House for the meeting of the Executive will take place the third Wednesday in January 1928.

Tears are the wine in which misery consecrates itself.

TODAYS MARKETS

Grain Prices Up

Chicago, Dec. 10.—An all around advance in grain values took place today following unusual steadiness displayed at the opening. Some bit of Chicago bullishness seemed to change existing conditions. Covering of shorts in the face of Argentine shipments of wheat and Canadian Bureau of Statistics figures showing Canada's wheat crop to be 20,000,000 bushels larger than previously estimated. Closing prices were 1½ to 2½ cents net higher. Corn finished with gains of 1½ to 2 cents, and oats with advances of ½ to ¾ cent. Provisions showed no change of importance.

Winnipeg Grain Exchange

Winnipeg, Dec. 10.—Wheat, Dec. up 1-2 to 1 1-8 cents; May up 1 1-2 to 1 5-8. Oats Dec. unchanged at 61 1-4, May unchanged at 64, July unchanged at 64 3-8 and 3-4.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Wheat, Dec. 1-4; March 1-8, corn, Dec. 3-4, May 2 -8, Oats 52 5-8

QUEER FORM OF CRUELTY IN HUMAN NATURE

Psychology makes frequent use of the term "sadism." Technically, it means pleasure derived from giving pain to a beloved object. In its broader sense, however, "beloved objected" includes not merely an animate object like a person one loves, but also any inanimate object as well upon which emotional interest is centered.

When the lover pinches the cheek of his sweetheart we recognize the sadistic element in a mild form.

It is also sadism that is, motivating when a man, who glories in his work, talks about "punishing" his work for the day.

In the one case it is sadism in connection with the love life. In the other it is sadism in connection with ambition and ego.

The point is that a thrill of pleasure, more or less pronounced, is afforded the individual who, by inflicting actual or symbolic pain, exercises command or subjugation.

Men are by nature decidedly more sadistic than women. If men were not so they would fall easy prey to the keen, stern, and often relentless competition of life.

Their personalities and performances would lack punch. They would not be inspired to forge ahead despite obstacles. They would be fearful and timid. They would not possess that strength and virility that one ordinarily associates with masculinity.

Nevertheless, sadism can easily go too far.

Vigor and forcefulness of character can become ruthlessness.

The sadistic tendency can become downright cruelty.

We find men allowing their sadism to get the better of them all the time.

Without altogether, realizing it, they often drive unnecessary sharp barbaric sometimes they plan for months to get a business rival into a tight corner so as to ruin him.

Old faithful employes are sometimes dismissed without proper future, in consideration that the business really owes them for working cheaply, or for sticking it out when the firm was a young and struggling concern.

Then again, men often attack each other, as during a political campaign with violence that is not necessary. They go much farther than trying to prove the rightness of their cause. They try actually to hurt the individuals who happen to be on the opposing side.

This sort of sadistic order and enthusiasm sometimes consumes reformers. They may become so rapt in their propaganda that they see no good what ever in persons who hold views opposite to their own.

The motivation behind all such behavior is sadism.

Women are also be much more disguised.

When the husband or sweetheart takes a trip and promises his beloved that he will write every day and then fails to do so—that is a disguised form of sadism. He gets a kick out of making the lady of his choice anxious. If he finds afterward that she actually suffered he enjoys all the more.

Women are not free from sadism either.

On the whole, however, they are not nearly as sadistic as men.

When sadism gets the better of them members of the same sex.

they usually direct it against other Most of the animosities that women show toward each other can be explained on this basis.

Too often we hear women say that they do not like women.

The very objectionable traits that they, themselves, may possess, and which they may censure invariably lead them into a veritable fury of sadistic antagonism when they observe them in other women.

When a man jilts a woman, her friends are seldom commiserate. To her face, yes, perhaps. But do they really feel sorry?

All of us, therefore, are sadistic.

We must watch ourselves to see that it does not get the better of us.

Sadism and sympathy go hand in hand.

We need a little sadism in our emotional make-up just as we need a little roughness in our food supply.

More than a little sadism must be curbed and held in check.

If not, we suffer in the long run our selves and in the same way that we have made others suffer.

The Hydro Electric Shop

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

HeH opened the front and prepared to drop into it the diamond and sapphire bracelet. But his fingers accidentally touched a spring. Even he, who had purchased the case, had not known of the secret compartment.

The compartment opened and disclosed to Herbert's astonished gazing—a circlet of small diamonds, very like a wedding-ring. But Lila's wedding-ring was of gold. Inside the circlet that glittered in Herbert's palm was a tiny inscription.

He read it and gasped.

CHAPTER 18

THE TELL-TALE RING

Lila was having tea with Dorothy in the studio. She had rushed there immediately Herbert had left her after that ill-omened luncheon. But Mr. Jackson had not arrived. She breathed easier again.

It was now nearly five o'clock, and still he hadn't put in an appearance.

"Why doesn't the wretch show up?" Lila fidgeted to Dorothy. She had enough trouble getting, here at all; I certainly can't ride the line of him every day." She had told Dorothy all that had happened between herself and Herbert, not even omitting Herbert's unkind words as to Dorothy.

"Poor old Herbert!" laughed Dorothy. "He's about as near hating me as a nice young man can be."

"It's only because he's jealous," Lila defended him quickly, proud of her husband's love for her. "He really admires you very much, Dot—like all other men."

Dorothy shook her pretty head, a quizzical smile in her hazel eyes.

"Not nearly so much as admire me ad you pretend to think. I'm not cling ing enough, Lila. Men like sweet, soft, cuddly creatures—like you. I'm too boyclined to stand on my own feet when trouble comes."

"Well, Heaven knows I'm learning!" breathed Lila fervently. "Or am I, too, standing on yours? Oh, Dot, you mustn't let me down. I'd die, if I lost Herbert."

"Didn' you feel that you'd die that night in France, when your fiance moved up the line and you two were torn apart on the very eve of your wedding?"

Lila moved uncomfortably under Dorothy's direct gaze.

"I guess so. I don't remember now. It's frightful. Dot, the way one changes."

Dorothy said abruptly: "I don't believe I'd change."

"Then you've never been really in love,' ecountered Lila quickly. And then, when Dorothy didn't answer, she asked: "Have you?"

Dorothy rose and walked to the window. During her bright head against the blue velour curtain, she stared down into the canyon of the street.

"I've had proposals," she said, after a time, in a low voice.

Lila laughed softly.

"And you scoffed. "So did I, when I was very young and very silly. But you don't know reality."

"Then you didn't really love Captain Farquahar?"

"Oh," said Lila flatly, defiantly. "He was fascinating, and I was crazy."

"And now?" After he sailed, and before you left France, you used to push here every afternoon to see if there was a letter," Dorothy reminded her gently.

"C'etait la guerre!" declared Lila. "He was in uniform, and I was in uniform, and it was my first engagement."

"But when, you cut to France?"

"Oh," Lila confessed Lila frankly. "We were mad about each other, for the little time it lasted. That's why, in our anguish at being parted on the night before our wedding, we did such a crazy thing as to make that pledge in the presence of all those officers. In the light of reason, the whole affair was absurd. As if we two could bind the future against time and circumstances and death!"

"But Captain Farquhar believed in your pledge. He trusted you!"

Lila sprang to her feet with an impatient exclamation.

"I'm tired of that joke, Dot, stop talking about him! He seems to fascinate you. And I want to forget that he ever lived. Of course, I'm sorry, and all that," she added more slowly, "but it's life and fate, and one isn't to blame for what happens."

"No," murmured Dorothy, since Lila's remark was in the tone of a question, but her gaze was remote, and she seem ed to be thinking of her past.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

My guardian has forbidden my going with a young gentleman friend of my acquaintance. I love this man with all my heart, but I do not want to disgrace my guardian. What shall I do?

BROWN EYES.

BROWN EYES: It is possible that your guardian has some very good reason for objecting to the young man. Don't you think it might be a good idea for you to have a talk with him and find out the exact cause of his disapproval? Our parents and guardians are always in too much more experienced in their judgments of character that they can see things which young, love-blinded eyes fail to discover. On the other hand, it may be but a question of prejudice, which a frank discussion may overcome. And you owe it to your guardian to be frank with him. But don't lose your temper and don't quibble. Every problem, even love affairs, has two sides, and you are both argued pro and con, it is an easy matter to adjust things satisfactorily all around. So try it. You may be sure you will be much happier and fin a solution to your dilemma.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

If sago used to thicken soup is all in a lump, it has not been added in the correct way. It should be shaken grad ually into the boiling soup while stirring all the time.

Food should never be allowed to cook in the kettle in which it has been cooked unless the pot is earthenware. Delicately flavored foods are affected by teh metal.

GOOD CLEANING AVAILABLE HERE AT LOWER RATE

Patrons Of Sprague's Appreciate Money Saving Rates Applying

Christmas just "Around the corner" so to speak, even though you haven't been able to realize it yet.

And speaking of Christmas, one of the chief things that one must consider in the way of preparations is the preparation of one's apparel.

Nowadays it is no longer necessary to buy new clothes for every big event that comes along. Cleaning methods have solved that problem, and permit a person—man or woman—to look his or her best for the comparatively low price, of a thorough dry cleaning of suit, coat, dress etc.

At Sprague's, Cleaners and Dyers on Front Street do good cleaning for less money. Cleaning must be good to maintain for any firm its business—and increase business, and within the last year or less, since Sprague's lowered the cleaning rate in Belleville, this firm has enjoyed a fine business, vastly increased, and a business with a host number of satisfied patrons sending their garments repeatedly to Sprague's proof testimony of satisfactory work they are doing.

So this Christmas bear in mind this: It is possible to have your garment well cleaned and pressed for less money, at Sprague's; a trial order will convince you of this.

RHEUMATISM OVERCOME BY RED PEPPERS

Red Pepper Rub takes the "ouch" from sore, stiff, aching joints. It cannot hurt you, and it certainly stops that old rheumatism torture at once.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red pepper. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any good druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

A Sure Relief For Women's Disorders

Orange Lily is a certain relief for all disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the sufferer's system. The dead matter in the congested region is expelled giving immediate mental and physical relief, the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened and the circulation is rendered to normal. As this treatment is based on strictly scientific principles, and acts on the actual location of the disease, it cannot help but do good in all forms of female trouble, including delayed and painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, etc. Price $2.00 per box, which is sufficient for one month's treatment. A Free Trial Treatment, enough for 10 days, worth 75c, will be sent free to any suffering woman who will send me her address.

Include 3 stamps and address Mrs. Lydia W. Ladd Windsor, Ont. Dept. S.

EXPERT MECHANICAL SERVICE AT GRIFFIN'S

Next time there's anything wrong with that motor car of yours, take it around to R. H. Griffin on Campbell Street No. 19 1-2 (in the rear). Mr. Griffin in the few months he has been in business for himself has established an enviable reputation as an expert mechanic; expert repairs are available in his shop for all makes of motor cars. All kinds of fender welding are available to motorists at Griffin's as well. If you get the old bus in an accident and the fenders become rather badly bent, you may not have to get new ones, for Griffin in all probability will be able to straighten out the old one for you.

Just what may be done in the way of fender straightening will surprise you. So call in and see R. H. Griffin next time the car gets out of order.

FINE CHRISTMAS CAKE DISPLAYED AT WONG'S CAFE

Work Of Art Is This Piece Of Pastry Made By Wong's Cook

About the first Christmas cake we've seen is a fine large one on display in the window of Wong's Cafe. This immense Christmas cake is truly a work of art.

It was made by the chef of Wongs' Cafe entirely, and represents what must have taken hours and hours of work in its preparation. It is in three layers and finished in a great variety of colored icings, skilfully blended, as by the hand of a real artist. Surmounting the corner of the various layers are birds, fashioned skilfully out of the same icings, and well made and multi-coloured flowers, all lending a finished and beautiful appearance to the immense cake.

Surmounting the topmost layer is a belfry, fashioned also of icing and with bells in it as well, completing this fine cake, and looking about as tasty as anything one could wish for.

But at that we wouldn't advise you to take a bite of it, for all is not good that glistens, and the interior of the cake was perhaps not meant to be as tasty as it looks.

MANY HANDSOME STONES SHOWN AT MOORE BROS.

Local Monument Firm Is Successful In Meeting Outside Prices

Speaking about buying in Belleville a good many people never even take the trouble to find out if what they require is or is not obtainable in their own town. For some unaccountable reason, there is an idea prevalent that better goods can be secured elsewhere than in your own city.

Such as may sometimes be the case—but in the majority of cases it is not so. In the matter of monuments Moore Bros., well known monument firm of this city have time and again demonstrated to their customers their ability to compete in price successfully with any of town firm, whose only lmates have been secured before the final choice has been made.

Just call at the shop of work done a visit to their shop on, Front Street will overwhelm an additional reason why anyone would do well to buy his monument in his home city of Belleville.

So next time you are investing in a stone, have a talk with Moore Bros. get their estimates, and ask for yourself the kind of work they are doing

ELECTRIC GIFT ALWAYS PLEASES

Oliphant's Have Very Fine Stock For Christmas Trade

A Christmas present that is perhaps more appreciated than any other is one that is really lasting and useful There are presents and presents—but one ideal suggestion is an electrical gift. What better could be chosen than a lamp, a percolator, a toaster, a heater, or any of the "hundred and one" other electrical gift suggestions what may be found in an up-to-date electrical store, such as that of W. H. Oliphant, on Bridge Street.

Oliphants have a specially fine stock in now for the Christmas trade and cordially invite you to drop in and inspect their line of electrical goods and accessories. A visit will reveal many valuable gift suggestions to you and help solve the Christmas problem in a sensible way

It has been noted that the oak is struck by lightning more often than any other tree.

CALIFORNIA'S GOLD

Mammy Stirrups and the Mason-Dixie line have all meized a seema, before the Sun in the orgeous groves of California. And there's a reason. The prize is going to the worthy. If there are cloudy days in California once never hears of them, and it is reasonable to suppose that one should if there were. A million people each winter follow the steps of the conquistador of whom, perhaps, they have never heard. They search for gold—the gold of the beach, of the groves, of the unsun over warm Pacific waters And there is a mine there for you, a real mine of health and a wealth of sport and recreation activities for you to exploit at will.

Any Canadian Pacific agent will gladly supply information regarding fares, routes, etc., upon request.

FIRE AT SOO DOES $100,000 DAMAGE

Sault Ste Marie, Ont., Dec. 9.—Damage of one hundred thousand dollars was caused by a fire here today which broke out in the Kitchen of Cupp's grill, one of the leading restaurants in this city. In addition to the restaurant, Hollinrake's Drygoods store and Cherries' Men's Furnishing store were gutted and water and smoke damage was done to several other stores. The firemen fought the blaze in sub-zero weather.

BELLE THEATRE

If the time ever comes when J. Farrell Macdonald, Fox Film character actor, has to write about his own productions from a publicity standpoint he will be able to plunge into his task with the ease of a veteran. He worked as a scribbler when reported in many of the large cities from New York to San Francisco, and then "beat his way" around the world writing feature stories for American publications Macdonald is cast as an American commissioner of finance in "Paid for Love", a Howard Hawks production for Fox Film, in which George O'Brien and Virginia Valli are featured. This picture comes to the Belle Theatre for an engagement of three days commencing Monday.

REGENT THEATRE

Every member of the cast of "Ten Modern Commandments" Esther Ralston's latest starring vehicle for Paramount, which comes to the Regent Theatre Monday, got their start on the legitimate stage.

Miss Ralston heads the list with Neil Hamilton, Maude Truax, Carolyn Rice, Rose Burdick, Rosaline Fielding, Arthur Hoyt and Rocco Karns all privileged to cause under the category of "old troupers." Dorothy Arzner directed "Ten Modern Commandments."

The death rate of whooping cough has fallen off more than that of any other children's disease in the last 26 years.

BASEBALL CLUB LOSING NO TIME

New Officers Are Working Hard To Prepare For Coming Season

Baseball prospects for Belleville in 1928 are booming brighter as each day passes and with the Committees and Officers appointed at last Thursday night's meeting going full speed ahead it shapes up as a banner season. The Finance Committee are also planning a great deal have been spending strenuous three days and it is reported that over two hundred dollars in cash has been subscribed or donated already. President Ernie Sinclair has been allowing no grass to grow under his feet and has put all the boys to work. Mr. Rowsome is also on the job and is setting things on the move, He is the right man in the right place and the ball fans could not have chosen a better individual for the chief executive position. Mr. Rowsome is connected with a good set of officers who are "o out on the jump. With over $500 to start next season it is surely a fine beginning and fans are looking forward for a revival of the great summer game Peri Hope and Cobourg have both been mentioned as possible entrants and the old Central League will likely be re organized. Whether Oshawa will come back with Kingston in the league is a problem at it was the long jump to the Limestone City which practically caused the poorer crew to quit the league. Peterboro remained in Senior last year and although they made a fine in the Lake Shore League the team played exhibition games to keep in trim and the Ltt Leckers will no doubt welcome the organizing of the loop. Joe Daley of Kingston is predicting that the Grenfell Leaguemodels get together, and get a start toward next year. There is still plenty of Senior material and will be boy on the fast Junior team to bolster the outfit they should have little trouble in fielding a fast aggregation.

Mr. H. A. Elliott of Deloro, will be in Belleville on Monday night for the meeting which takes place in the Chamber of Commerce building at eight o'clock. The Deloro team would come in if the gate proceeds were split. Some new faces will likely be seen here

CORNWALL WEAK FROM LAST YEAR

Intermediates Open Hockey Season Here Friday, December 30th

With the opening Intermediate hockey game on Friday December 30th Manager Eddie Thomas is hoping for some suitable hockey weather in order to get the boys out on the ice. Work has started on the repairing of the arena and with some cold weather the ice-makers will get busy and provide a sheet at the earliest possible date. Belleville's material is somewhat of an unknown quality, but the Maroons will at least be as strong as last year Rooney will come along and may be groomed for the pivot position, already Jack has had on the blades and last Sunday on the quarry he was seen limbering up. He showed a great improvement of form towards the tail-end of last season and especially at the game in Cornwall did he distinguish himself when he bulged the twin for two-counters. Hagerman and Whalen will likely take care of the wing positions and both boys are old hands and will be going just as good as ever. Bill Green and "Soup" Goyer who teamed up on the defence last year will in all probability be out for the same places

Benny Bohan who is still sailing will arrive in town in time for the opening of the season providing he has wealth ered the blizzards which have been sweeping the Great Lakes. Bohan had no peer in the local group last year and he turned in some magnificent performances. It is rumored that a couple of Intermediate players have drifted into Trenton and since that town will not be represented by an Intermediate Club they may line up with Belleville.

Several fans will be missing from the 'Flying Frenchmen" when they step into Belleville on opening night. Ralph Tilson the brilliant little centre man who is no stranger in these parts is up Windsor way while the Conlan brothers have shaken the dust of Cornwall from their feet. Farrand Gillie the sweetest of them all is down in the Ottawa Valley and his absence will leave a big hole to plug.

Belleville should not in this case be faced with any great amount of opposition from the Easterners. It is generally conceded that Queen's are the team to bear watching with most of the intercollegiate players turning out with the O. H. A. team. The Harty arena at Kingston has already been flooded and in this direction the three Kingston teams will get the jump on the other in the matured practice.

The Belleville Juniors are grouped with Trenton and Picton and the trio will play a single schedule. Trenton will open at Picton on January 2nd and while Belleville will not have the first home game until January 13th when the Picton Kids will be here. All around it appears as though the fans of Belleville are due for some stirring contests on the ice during the coming winter.

The Junior schedule which was drawn up at Trenton is published below Mr. Lamore represented, Trenton, Mr. Thomas, Belleville; and Mr. Stafford Picton.

The games:—

Jan. 2—Trenton at Picton.
Jan. 5—Belleville at Trenton.
Jan. 13—Picton at Belleville.
Jan. 17—Picton at Trenton.
Jan. 25—Belleville at Picton.
Jan. 26—Trenton at Belleville.

Rome, December 9.—Giuseppy Giulietti, former president of the Italian Seamen's Federation, was granted amnesty and freedom by a court decision announced today after his trial for misappropriation of millions of lire of the federation's funds.

RECREATION BOWLING

The Wanderers won four points from the Ponies in the ladies league at the Recreation alleys last night by very close scores, the Wanderers winning the first game by 4 pins, the second by 20 and the final by 18.

In the Junior league the standing is getting more complicated than usual. The Alemite by winning four points from the Baby Shoes puts their name near the top of the league as it also does the Coca Cola when they won three points from the Rose Motors. For the former game Hopping and Forsyth were the highest bowlers and in the latter game Flagler and Marshall were the best.

The Wolves made sure of second place in the senior league when they broke even with the Ponies with two points each, the Ponies piling up enough pins in the first game to give them a point on the total score. Lynch's 635 and Yeres 622 were high scores for their respective teams.

Ladies League

Wanderers—L. Bone 749; Benedict 616; H. Reddick 672; G. Brown 459 total 1896.

Ponies—V. Bresgh 602; V. Hobson 392; H. Kemp 445; M. Kemp 435; total 1644.

Junior League

Coca Cola—Atkins (2) 265; Donavan 500; Deacon 486; Yorne (2) 234; Forsythe 580; Phillips (2) 274; total 2457.

Star Motors— Mohor 431; Hooding 90; Lalor— 466; Corrigan 383; White 527; total 2287.

Baby Shoes—Peeling 433; Oster 516; Marshall 519; Oster 432; Deshane 495; total 2457.

Alemite—Darrah 491; Palmer 531; Gibson 466; Belnap 566; Flagler 597 total 2866.

Senior League

Ponies—Drumm 611; Brennan 618; Cummins 541; Mitchell 595; Yeres 623; total 2938.

Wolves—Cowell 627; Bryant 425; Lynch 635; Jeffery 417; Domenico 661; total 2865.

A Word on Canada's Mines:

The Standard Exchange, Toronto, has been breaking all records lately, sales running from two to three million shares per day. This exchange has become the leading Mining Exchange on the Continent, and our Mineral Wealth is only commencing to be properly developed. British and American investors are lately realizing the tremendous values already definitely proved, and are looking forward to developments that are certain to take place. It is advisable to keep posted on what is going on from day to day and this can be done overnight by carefully Reviewing and through the other information constantly coming in to our office, over our own private wires from our offices at the Mines.

The wealth that will be taken from these properties, in the next few years will far exceed that from our industries and will approach undoubtedly to that from the oil itself. Our mines will produce untold fortunes in the next generation, both to shareholders and owners, and the opportunities for profit, right at your door, should not be neglected. It is important however to get proper information, and we are in a position to, supply it.

CREW OF 'LAMBTON' ARE SAFE AT INDIAN MISSION

Civil War Again Flames Out in China --- Mate of "Agawa" Tells Tale of Heroism of the Men

CUT OFF FROM FOOD BY 40 FOOT WAVES CREW STOICALLY WAITED

Rescued After Ninety Hours On Stranded Wave Beaten Vessel

LOTS OF TOBACCO

Discipline Well Maintained During Days Of Misery —All Safe

Detour, Mich., Dec. 12.—An absorbing tale of the harrowing adventures of the crew of the steamer "Arabaa" stranded on Advance Reef, Manitoulin Island, for ninety hours, 38 hours with out food, and the wonderful display of discipline and fortitude in the face of these adversities, was told today by John T. Armstrong, second mate, who with 11 other members of the crew was conveyed by the tug "General" to Detour.

The boat left Port William with two hundred thousand bushels of grain on Sunday, December 4th. The weather turned bad Wednesday and in a strong wind the ship struck the reef. Everything was done to make preparations for the coming storm.

"The wind got worse and during the night we had the full sweep of Lake Huron upon us." The fireman had a dangerous passage forward when dirty en from the back of the boat by the waves.

Cut Off From Food

The seas got gradually worse and the men were ordered in the observation room and the Captain's quarters, brought forward." Armstrong said. "Unfortunately no food had been "and nothing was eaten until Saturday morning except some chocolates apples and figs. We had lots of tobacco."

Friday the front of the boiler house had been levelled, part of the boat deck torn up, boats washed away and the stack knocked down by the seas. Some of the miraculous waves were as high as forty feet above the deck he said.

Saturday it got calmer and they were able to hack their way through thick ice to the crews' quarters forward. At daylight they were able to ga sit for the first time and get some sandwiches and tea.

During all the miseries, William Johnston, the oiler who was taken off by the yawl on Saturday night, was attacked with what they thought was appendicitis. The yawl arrived with five men on it, who had pulled it over land to the nearest short point.

Sunday the tugs General and Sarah Begie were both observed and it was not long before the men were taken off.

CROWDS SEE THE NEW MODEL FORD

Steady Stream of Interested Motorists At Belleville Motors

The new Ford is in Belleville at last After months of waiting Bellevillians were privileged this morning to have their first glimpse of Henry Ford's much talked of new creation, and judging by the comments heard on all sides, the new product more than satisfies expectations.

The model on display at Belleville Motors, to-day, for one car only has been received for this advance showing and represents a radical departure from the Ford Car that has made history during the past twenty years. Placed in attractively decorated surroundings if the local dealers upstairs showroom, is a handsome, low slung creation, equipped with practically every line car accessory—top wheel brakes, shock absorbers, wire wheels, etc. and instrument board with speedometer, ammeter, oil pressure gauge, etc. all arranged together to be seen by the driver at a glance.

Only One Model Here Yet

The Model on display is the Tudor Sedan, finished in "dawn grey" and trimmed with a lighter grey, and was produced in Detroit, being but the three hundred and seventy-fifth car turned out of the factory official present at the advance showing stated that production in the Ford and Toronto factories had already begun, but that it would probably be two or three weeks before the various models could be in the city ready for delivery.

All morning long a steady stream of interested shirters crowded around the new car in Belleville Motors, indicating the tremendous interest the car has created here as elsewhere. Specifications seemed to be familiar to most of them, for they have been reading about the car in the press for weeks past, and know all about it.

FIND STILLS IN HUNGERFORD TP.

Charges To Be Laid Against Owners Through Excise Department

Provincial Constable David Sylvester and one of the local Excise officers paid a visit to the northern section of Hungerford Township on Friday where they located a still in a shed on the farm of William Comford. A quantity of mash was found in a barrel and a portion of this was seized by the officers. The farm is located near Otter Creek. A still ready for operation was set up in one of the outbuildings.

Cornford, who has not yet been arrested, was in the bush at the time, only his wife being at home. A barrel of brew was found on another farm but the officers could not locate the still. Action will be taken against the owners of the stills by the excise department. The officers experienced some difficulty in reaching the farm where the still was located.

ADJUSTED FOUR POSSIBLE WARS

League of Nations Council Takes Well Earned Holiday

Geneva, Dec. 12.—With four International problem including the Polish-Lithuanian controversy, on the way to the 40th session of the Council of the League of Nations adjourned to-day to meet in March. Officials said no arrangements have been made to convene the March meeting in Rome although Rome has been suggested as offering a way of bringing about the meeting of foreign Minister Briand of France and Premier Mussolini.

French representatives seem desirous of having the March session in Paris.

Representatives of Poland and Lithuania to-day agreed to enter into direct negotiations and it is likely that a conference will be held soon at Riga Latavia.

Two other vexing problems were disposed of. The request of Greece to be freed from obligations to make full payment for the battle cruisers "Salamis" contracted for in German shipyard before war was referred to a mixed arbitral body. The request of the free city of Danzig to have a Polish wireless depot in that City moved or else put under Danzig's control was left to a local conference at Danzig.

DOCKRILL PROBE OPENED TO-DAY

Expect Adjournment As Freight Engineer Is Still In Hospital

The story of the fatal crash at Dock rill station between the Montreal Chicago flier and a freight train on the Belleville and Prince Edward County Enterprise when the inquest into the death of the six victims was resumed by Dist. Coroner Dr. G. H. Cowan of Napanee.

Crown Attorney U. M. Wilson of Napanee who has been gathering information for the past two weeks in the course of the case for the crown while the Canadian Pacific Railway will be represented by A. D. Spence of the firm of Spence and McMurchy Toronto.

Likely Postponement

Enterprise, Ont. Dec. 12.—Everything is ready for the opening this afternoon of the adjourned inquest into fatalities resulting from the collision on November 27th, of C.P.R. Montreal-Toronto flyer and a freight train at Dockrill. Coroner, G. H. Cowan and Crown Attorney U. M. Wilson of Napanee from the train crews, but Engineer Bradford of the freight, the only hospitals witness, is still in the hospital at Smith's Falls. In the circumstances' therefore, adjournment some time this evening is probable.

GOVERNOR USES SOLDIERS TO STIFLE IMPEACHMENT

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 12—Oklahoma National Guardsmen to-day were summoned for the second time in four years to prevent the self-convened legislature from assembling in the State Capitol building for the announced purpose of instituting impeachment against State officials.

Governor Harry S. Johnston without preliminary, ordered the guard to sub the any insurrection and to suppress all insurrectionary meetings. A conference of session leaders would be called as soon as possible, said representative Kight, chairman of the Lower House investigating committee which prepared the charges.

FIGHTING AGAIN AND FEAR SOME ONE MAY BE HURT

Communists Seize City of Canton After Five Hour Battle

LINES ALL CUT

Establish "Red" Headquarters For All China In Captured City

Hong Kong, Dec. 11.—Communists in Canton today took control of the city after extensive fighting and definitely announced dependence on the present leaders of the Kuomintang or Nationalist Political Organization, who last Saturday denounced the Communist movement.

After fighting, which lasted six hours, the revolutionists issued a proclamation stating they had taken complete control of the city and had occupied all anti-revolutionary administrative offices.

Cut Communications

Hong Kong, Dec. 11.—Advices from Canton today are that Red workers have taken control of city and there are fires and indiscriminate looting there after the attempt of General Cheng Fang-wu to disarm certain of his troops. Steamship and railroad service from there is cut off and telegraph wires cut.

The General Bank of China has destroyed it was reported.

Open the Jails

Hong Kong, Dec. 11.—Persons arriving from Canton today stated that Chinese cutthroats on the Canton river ravished the country. They declared that revolting communists had wrecked the police bureau, liberating prisoners who augmented the looters and terrorists. Gates leading to the foreign settlement were closed, and volunteers got control of the city.

Reds claim they will make Canton the centre of the Communist movement in China.

ITALY TROUBLES EUROPE'S PEACE

800,000 Italians Living On French Soil Cause Uneasiness In Paris

Geneva, Dec. 12.—Effort of Premier Mussolini of Italy to find an economic outlet for Italy's growing population today appeared to be the great problem which makes European statesmen nervous about Franco-Italian relations. Mussolini's desire that Italians be given the privilege of preserving their nationality chiefly in the French colonies, such as Tunis and Algeria, was also involved in the question. It was hoped that a conference between Sir Austen Chamberlain and Sir Hoar ard Graham, British Ambassador to Italy, being held today, would lay the groundwork for a conference between Mussolini and Briand.

An early meeting, however, could not be expected, Chamberlain said. Observers point out that eight hundred thousand Italians are on French soil, principally near the Italian frontier. How quickly these Italians can be absorbed into French national life was said to be a matter of considerable concern to France. The problem is how to foster a reasonable nationalist spirit for respective countries without permitting Italians on French soil to develop into an element menacing France.

Another move toward peace in Europe was a conference today between Premier Voldemaras of Lithuania and Foreign Minister Zaleski of Poland, who discussed measures to inaugurate normal relations between their countries after the settlement in principle reached on Saturday.

COUNCIL GUESTS OF ROTARY CLUB

P. C. MacLaurin, High School Principal, Spoke On Canada

Today the City Council was the guest of the Rotary Club, and the chief speaker of the day was P. C. MacLaurin, Principal of the High School, who spoke on "Canada and our Citizenship." He followed upon Canadian history than Mr. MacLaurin?

PLANS NEW MODEL

Henry Ford

who, having just turned out a new model, says he is already working on his next model. He planned the last one five years, he said. There was no reason for the new car's creation other than the fact that the old one had passed its day. There was no particular mystery about the price of the new one, he said. The reason it was withheld was that he didn't know it until he sat down with his son, Edsel, for half an hour and decided what it was to be.

MELLOR'S TRIAL DUE SATURDAY

Condition of Bertha Houck Chief Witness Will Force Postponement

Joseph J. Mellor, deposed Picton Pastor will appear before Judge McLaren in Picton on Saturday of this week to answer serious charges preferred by Bertha Houck, a former young lady friend. Speaking with Mr. Fred L. Ward, Mellor's Attorney today the Intelligencer learned that the trial will likely be adjourned from December 21st until a late date in January.

The physical condition of the girl the chief witness will necessarily postpone the trial indefinitely. She is at present in an Ottawa maternity hospital. Mellor is still in Picton jail.

NUMEROUS REBELS HAVE BEEN KILLED

Mexico City, Dec. 12.—More than one hundred have been killed in the combined Federal drive during the past week in States of Colima, Arqua Calients and Michoacan, despatches state Military authorities expect to be able to announce within a short time that that district has been pacified.

NO STOCKINGS ON WHEN SHE FLED

Valleyfield, Que. Dec. 12—Doris MacDonald, standing trial here with her husband Frederick, charged with the murder of Adelard Bouchard, Montreal taxi operator, arrived at the border stockingless shortly after the murder, a United States customs officer said to-day. The witness appeared found near the scene of the crime has already been identified as closely resembling that worn by the woman at the wheel of Royal Hotel on the afternoon of the murder. The MacDonalds with another man left the hotel in the victims taxi limousine late in the afternoon of July 17 last.

BLOOMFIELD MAN ON THE WRECKED S. S. "LAMBTON"

Edward Davis, a resident of Bloomfield is reported as one of those involved with the crew of the Matthews steamer Lambton which ran aground in Lake Superior thirty miles from Sault Ste. Marie at Parisienne Island. The vessel was abandoned on a reef, and was covered with ice when sighted by the Eades, a lake boat passing near the scene. From all appearances the crew of seventeen men passed off in life boats when the boat ran aground. News of their whereabouts has not yet been received at the Sault. Two tugs the Illinois and the Sabin are searching the shore-line of the Island in an effort to get some trace of the crew There is a possibility that they may have been drowned but mariners state that they had probably taken refuge in an uninhabited part of the Island The Intelligencer called Bloomfield by telephone to-day but could gain no information as to whether Davis' family had heard anything from him.

Crew of "Lambton" May Have Made Way To Shore And Safety

OTHERS "MISSING"

Navigation Closes At Midnight And Vessels Race To Clear

Sault Ste Marie, Ont., Dec. 11—The crew of the wrecked freighter "Lambton" has been found in Gouin Bay district but two are missing and believed to be drowned. They are the wheelsman, M. Baird, of Wiarton, and oiler Ivan C. Moore, of Owen Sound. Seventeen other members of the crew and Captain Livingstone landed safely.

The boat is broken in two on a reef in the southeast corner of Lake Superior. On log distance telephone today it was learned that the ship went on the reef on the afternoon of last Thursday. The crew stayed on board until Saturday when they set out for shore, eleven miles away, in a small boat. The ship had plenty of food on board but the crew were uneasy about the weather and the ship was in a dangerous position.

The men landed in the vicinity of an Indian Mission about 35 miles from here and left at noon for the Sault.

Port Arthur, Dec. 12—As navigation draws to a close on the Great Lakes, shipping disasters are filtering through. Steamer "Oglebay" wrecked at Sloh Island, and the "Lambton" are recorded in the list of the storm's toll.

The "Kamloops" of the Canada Steamship Lines is among the missing and grave fears are entertained for her safety. The company to-day despatched all the tug "Lake Prince" from Port Arthur to search the north shore of Lake Superior for the missing vessel. The "Kamloops" was last seen in White fish Bay. It does not carry wireless and is believed to have got into difficulties and to be lying in shelter.

The tug "Champion," which went to the assistance of the "Alladoc," and was reported missing, to-day turned up safe at the portage entrance, Keewenaw.

The freighter "Martian," aground on Hare Island near Port Arthur, is still fast despite efforts to pull her off the rocks.

Navigation closes at midnight tonight, when the special insurance premium rates become effective and ships are preparing to clear from the head of the lakes before that hour. Weather is reported moderate on the upper lakes and the high seas have subsided. Fog is ended and navigation is not difficult. The "Hamonic" a passenger ship is among the vessels in clear to-night

Anxious About Crew

Sault Ste. Marie Dec. 12—Anxiety exists in maritime circles regarding the safety of the crew of the steamer "Lambton" and the whalebacks. Steamship Line freighter which grounded on Par Islame Island, Lake Superior. Crews of the vessels are safe on a second attempt to discover the whereabouts of the 21 sailors composing the crew of the steamer and whalebacks have not found their way safely ashore and to the Soo harbor as expected.

Three large freighters to-day lay abandoned at widely separated points after a night of storm that resulted in thrilling attempts over the week-end to rescue the crews. Missing Island may possibly be salvaged next Spring The "Alladoc" is badly damaged on Pelee Island reefs and the "Oglebay" and Port Arthur with her crew on board. They are in no danger.

RIVAL CHAMPIONS TO SETTLE DISPUTE

New York, Dec. 12.—Two world's champions in the same division Tommy Loughran, and Jimmy Slattery, will battle each other in a 15 round titular light-heavyweight bout at Madison Square Gardens to-night. Slattery is recognized as champion by the New York Commission, after whipping McTigue, while the National Boxing Association holds that Loughran is champion. Loughran is a two to one favorite.

TODAY'S THOUGHTS

Wise men learn more from fools than fools from wise men.

CATO.

HE MEANT IT

Henry Labouchere once said that if a politician said "yes" he meant "perhaps," that if he said "perhaps" he meant "no," and that if he said "no," he wasn't a politician. President Calvin Coolidge would hardly measure up to "Labby's" definition. When, last September, he declared that he "didn't choose" to run for President in 1928, the wiseacres of the Labouchere school smiled. To them it was simply silly that any man in politics should mean what he meant or mean what he said, and dictionaries long dust-covers were invoked to show that what man chose to do and what he might do were entirely different things. President Coolidge meant what he said. He simply didn't choose to be a candidate, said so—and is sticking by his choice. "My statement stands," he has just told the National Republican Committee. "No one should be led to suppose that I have modified it. My decision will be respected." So that is that.

Mr. Coolidge's decision places the Republican party in a somewhat difficult position. He was probably not the "strong, silent man" (as a matter of fact he delivered more and longer speeches than any President except Roosevelt) depicted by a skilful propaganda. But he had become something of a legendary figure, and to the American people, who must have a hero, and who associated his name with their recent marvellous prosperity, he made a tremendous appeal. Certainly there is no other Republican leader with so much of promise as a Candidate. Mr. Hughes, a great jurist, and highly respected, is available but he is lacking in those human qualities which make an Al Smith or a Lloyd George irresistible, and, in addition, has the handicap of a previous defeat. Mr. Herbert Hoover is acknowledged to be a great administrator as well as a man of the highest ability, but he too, is as cold as an iceberg, and is lacking in platform appeal. The remaining possibilities, outside of Senator Borah, who can hardly be classed as a Republican regular, are not outstanding. Borah, had he not such an incurable irreverence for party doctrine, would be an appealing and picturesque candidate; but though nobody doubts his honesty, a powerful section of American opinion is fearful of his radicalism.

With Coolidge out of the running, the chances of the Democratic party become brighter. There still remains the possibility of a faction fight between supporters of Governor Smith and his opponents tearing the party asunder, just as in 1924. But if this should be avoided, and Smith be nominated, the Republicans, orphaned of Coolidge, would hardly experience the almost effortless triumph of four years ago.

GOOD NEWS

One of the most striking signs of the return of pre-war activity in international trade are the plans which have been announced for new passenger shipping on the Atlantic. They are plans on the grand scale, if the news about them is authentic, and for great ships. The Cunard Company is to build a 60,000-tonner, at a cost of $30,000,000. The White Star Company will reply with a ship 1000 feet long, 56,000 tons. The North German Lloyd have laid the keels of the Bremen and the Europa, to be the fastest passenger ships in the world. And the news from the American side is that the American Shipping Board is discussing the building of a fleet of ten giant speedboats, from 600 to 800 ft. long, and to make thirty-five knots.

Then again, with the launching last week of the Canadian Pacific new ships the Duchess of Athol and the Beaverbrae, the British press expresses the belief that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is establishing a world record for a private company. In two months the company will have launched five 10,000-ton vessels and one 20,000-ton ship, as well as the Pacific Coast Princess Elaine, a total tonnage of 70,000. Canadian Government Merchant Marine also has five ships building for the West Indian trade.

All these plans are the symbol of a great revival and expansion of world trade, and they constitute a hopeful augury for peace to set against the rumors of wars which still come from Europe. The news is especially good for Great Britain where the building of some of these ships will give work to thousands of men on the Clyde and in Belfast. It is significant to note that the despatches intimate that Great Britain is going out to meet any challenge to its supremacy as a nation of shipbuilders and shipmasters. It will make a tremendous difference to the economic outlook of Great Britain if there is to be a real revival of the shipbuilding industry. The return of prosperity to the Old marine-rivalry with Great Britain I also an event of first-class importance It need not be feared. The best antidote for wars and rumors of wars nowadays is the industrial rehabilitation of Europe. The news of a new fleet for the Atlantic means work and wages and bread and butter in Europe, and it is for good news for the peace of all the world.

VERTICAL FLYING

A large aircraft factory has begun construction of an airplane for which it claims the faculty of rising absolutely vertically from the ground at the rate of 1000 feet a minute. It is the invention of a young aeronautical engineer and tests with a model machine proved highly successful, it is said.

There has been widespread interest in helicopters and auto-gyros for years chiefly because of the fact that the standard airplane must have a spacious field, both for taking off and landing. A vertically-operating machine, however, could be brought to earth on a handkerchief, on a ship's deck, or in military operators of any sort, the advantage of vertical operation is immediately apparent. In commercial flying such a machine would become the final link between concrete-covered downtown areas and flying fields. With it, passengers or freight could be taken from the roof of an office building to the field, to continue the journey in machines constructed for fast flying.

There is another and probably more immediate need for a heavier-than-air flying machine that will fly both horizontally and vertically. Such a machine would take the danger out of forced landings. Many fliers are killed or injured and their planes wrecked because they have had the double misfortune of having engine trouble beyond the reach of a safe landing place. If it were possible to land a plane in an area no larger than the plane itself unsafe landing places would be as rare as safe landing places are now.

Aviation is still in the process of evolution. The perfected plane does not exist, but hundreds of engineers and inventors are constantly working for its completion at some not far distant time.

IRRITABLE OYSTERS

The Geodetic Survey of the United States, wishing to find out, once for all how fast sound travels under water has spent several thousand dollars installing hydrophones and other delicate apparatus along a stretch of shore-line south of Cape Lookout, North Carolina.

Then they sent a ship out into the bay with a submarine bomb. The ship dropped the bomb, which at a chosen instant exploded. Operators at the hydrophones sat down to listen for the noise of the explosion. All they heard was a steady clack-clacking, a most mysterious noise, not unlike the static one sometimes hears in radio. The noise of the explosion vanished. The experiment was a failure.

Further investigation showed that the clacking was produced by thousands of oysters lying on the ocean bed smacking their lips, as if were, opening and shutting their shells with a most unmannerly noise.

Thus explodes in a mocking submarine titter another cherished figure of speech. No longer can we say, carelessly, of husbands and such, that they are "as silent as an oyster." It is to be hoped that this is the last of our misconceptions regarding this bedecked fish. ew have it on the authority of Richard Brinsley Sheridan that an oyster can be crossed in love. Indeed Judge by the bewildering frequency with which, as the biologists tells us these creatures change their sex, unrequited love must often be their lot.

We haze ill also from Sherwood Anderson that the oyster is a revolutionist and his destructionist attitude toward the Geodetic Survey strengthens the belief that the bivalve proletarian is sullen and discontented. It was Sam Weller who pointed out that oysters and poverty go together. The mollusc have been so long on the rocks that they have become stone deaf. These are the things which have made the poor creatures so irritable, but it is to be hoped that in the light of our new sympathy and understanding of his problems they will learn how to laugh and grow fat.

WOUNDED

(By Theodore Goodridge Roberts)

Here is a hurt I shall keep, though it gnaw my sleep.
Here is a wound I shall hide, though it burn my side.

I dreamed of fame;
And that was a sad awaking!
I lost like a sportsman
And laughed at my heart's aching.

I shot at many a mark,
And missed by a mile;
I still have courage to shoot
And the heart to smile.

I gave of my best;
And though it were given in vain,
Unhurt, unabashed,
I am giving my best again.

Dust of defeat was mine—
But never despair.
I am up again, though disaster
Blacken the air.

Here is a wound I must hide, though it eat my sleep.
Here is a hurt I must hide, though it drain my side

GALE WRECKS PLANE

Buffalo, December 9.—An army bombing plane, a Curtiss condor, one of the largest ever to land at the Buffalo airport, was torn from its moorings by a gale today and forced through a fence. The plane is a wreck.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

Motorist (to man run into)—Here's five shillings—I'll send you some more if you will give me your address.

Victim—Tree! What's the game? You can't run over me on the instalment plan.

Father—Isn't it time he could say "Daddy?"

Mother—We've decided not to tell him who you are until he gets a bit stronger.

What are you doing up in that tree professor?

I'm hanging myself.

But you must put the rope around your neck.

I tried that, but I couldn't breathe.

Newly Married Burglar—Listen, kid it makes it awful hard to succeed in business when you won't let me go out nights.—Judge.

Radio Dealer—Want one with a loud speaker?

King Solomon—No, I want a little quiet. Give me one thousand pairs of headphones.

Sam Simpson worked hard. All day long he carried heavy iron bauks and girders to and fro Towards evening he said to the foreman, who was a notorious slave-driver, "Boss, you a'nt rush got me down on dat pay-roll yeh?"

"Yes," he said, "here you are, Sam Simpson. That's right, isn't it?"

"Yaas, boss, but Ah thought mebe you done gone got me down here as Samson."

Desk Sergeant—Didn't I tell you the last time you were here that I never wanted to see you before me again?

Toodles—Yes, yer honor. That's what I told the cop, but he wouldn't believe me.

"Daddy, does the sun go down into the sea every night?"

"Yes, dear."

"Then how do they get it dry enough to light it again in the morning?"

"They say brunette have a sweeter disposition than blondes."

"Well, my wife's been both and I can't notice any difference."

Every mortal who is weighed in the balance is found wanting—something he doesn't need.

The Cole's and other hand Cole's fire have dropped four out of five contests and will probably eliminate them from the running.

INQUERY RESUMED

The inquest to inquire into the death of Frank Renaud who died in the General Hospital as results of burns received in a fire which gutted the fish store at the Court House on Friday morning last will be continued at the police court rooms before Coroner Dr. Tennant tonight. The evidence of the standing physician has already been taken and it is expected that the remaining witnesses this evening will take but a short time to complete. W. A. Woodley is acting as Foreman of the Jury and Detective Trudah as Coroner's Constable.

Mrs. Moses Stewart Mason, Irene Keeler and Grace Mallory entertained at supper to the visitors and the local members.

The Belleville players won five out of 6 mixed doubles; two out of 3 ladies' singles; three out of 6 men's singles; two out of 3 ladies' doubles; two out of 3 men's doubles.

Belleville players were: A. H. Retcheson, R.J.E. Graham, H. Ross, C. Graham, A. Armstrong, H. Jones, Mrs. Armstrong, C. O. H. Scott, Mrs. H. Ross, Mrs. A. H. Retcheson, Irene Keeler and R. Ross.

The Queen's players were: Jenner, Malcom, MacGregor, Dorrance, Jonah, Miss Jenner, Mrs. Melvin, Mrs. Chown and Miss Knight.

POLICE COURT.

George Thompson, not he a Penitentiary Store fame, appeared in Police Court this morning, charged with vagrancy. Thompson is rather well known to police here, having been arrested before on a charge of housebreaking and sentenced to another one month.

When interrogated by Sergeant Detective Trudah a few weeks ago, on a charge of vagrancy, he was in company with one Archer "Shorty" Bell, and Bell was making for the party a "mulligan," in his evidence this morning, Detective Trudah asked him what he and the Shag Hitrate wished to know what a "mulligan" was. He explained to the police court that a "mulligan" was another word for Irish stew.

Thompson was acquitted of his charge of vagrancy, as he had some visible means of support when he was arrested. The articles found upon his person when apprehended numbered two pack-locks, a file, flashlight, money compact and $1.50 in small change. Besides this he carried in a sack some personal effects and tools, picks, and an assortment of vegetables. His harvesting collection was returned to him to-day.

John Shannon appeared in Police Court this morning and was charged on a week's remand, which was granted by Magistrate Mikel.

Herbert Holtum, charged with "selling" was also remanded for two days.

Marriages

His wife, Mrs. Marion Wood-Alyea and Mrs. Asselstine have been in attendance at his bedside.

Miss MacDougall, of Buffalo N.Y., formerly of this city was a guest of Mrs. Reginald Dingwood over the week-end.

Mrs. Lila Allen, Adelaide, is a guest of Mrs. T. Callaghan, Pinnacle Street.

Ancestors of the armadilla which have been found in the southwest were seven feet long and had shells weighing more than half a ton.

REV. GRAHAM AT JOHN ST. UNITED

London Minister Occupies Local Pulpit—Interesting Discourse

Yesterday the pulpit of John Street United Church was filled by Rev. A. Graham of London, Ont. A moderate being large notwithstanding the condition of the roads and walks.

The morning theme of this matured divine was "Working Partnership" from the 1st. Cor. 3:9. "The world growing smaller . is a striking realization in modern times when transit is performed and crowned as the development spirit of the age is the task of the church, then selfishness will be redressed. Begin in the commandments of the past the church of Christ needs to be revitalized at times for her spiritual mission. It is not primarily one of self culture, rather that of conquest, the church is a man of her times in which we live we shall be sensed with, thrilled by, feel the tug of, and responded to the challenge of such. Why we are living in this age of the world, is a question to be pondered over. A great religion is essential for a great need. As the body is the instrument for the expression of the the pulses of the mind in fellowship of all that is desirable, so the church is the manifestation today of the Son of God. Personality, not creed or dogma is a main principle. Eighty to ninety per cent. of the wealth of the world is nominally in Christian hands Silver and have I none; and hardly is admitted nowadays. Is there the power utilized to command Silver and gold let and walk? In order to be a human interpreter of the Divine, we must be in touch with the source of inspiration. Do we often forget our marching orders, queried Rev. Graham. It is our business to translate and reproduce God's will to those we come in contact with. Love revals Him, and as Principal Grant one told his theological class, the rational life includes use higher than its measure by love and love is measured in sacrifice.

Rev. Graham urges a more serious exertion on behalf and also of the social needs of the world, and to put the stride and keep the pace set for us by our Elder Brother. Then out of the dry desert there will emerge the noontide of a new world instead of the sinister trend of evil and unchanging scenaries, the golden highway of the ideal shall exist.

The choir rendered a choice anthem, the air being well taken by Mr. John R. Watson, who also rendered in an effective solo his melodious baritone voice. Mr. J. D. Bankier as usual gave a pleasing tenor rendition.

Again and again—fresh fare favorite food at bearers.

Market Still Buoyant

New York, Dec. 11.—Wall street speculative sentiment was distinctly bullish in today's stock market. Wrightaeronautical, manufacturer of the "Lindbergh-cowled motor", soared more than 10 points to a new high record at 57.

U. S. Steel Common up 3 points to 144 3-4. Abraham Swift Straus ran up more than six points and a number of others including Houston, Atlantic refining, Standard Oil of New Jersey, International Telephone and Green Cananea Copper sold at a higher level.

Buying on a score of issues broke into new high ground. Rails, which were heavily bought Saturday, showed splendid resistance to pressure today and a few moved forward.

Wheat Prices Sag

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Wheat prices here showed an early setback today, influenced a good deal by weakness of the market at Liverpool. Lower arrivals of wheat and flour in Great Britain were reported. Opening at 3-8 to 2-4c decline, Chicago wheat soon showed a slight further sag. Corn displayed power to rally, starting 1-4c to 1-2c lower and receding a little more, but then recovering well. Oats were firmer. Provisions tended to decline.

DESIRE TO BE FIRST DOES MUCH MISCHIEF

By LOUIS E. BISCH

Every woman wants to be the first. And from that deeply-ingrained desire flows the jealously motive.

A woman naturally wants to be first because it is she who attracts the male and being first means that she has accomplished it.

Here we see a curious contradiction in the feminine make-up. That is, whereas woman is extremely altruistic and self-sacrificing in many ways, she at one and the same time refers every thing to herself and interprets every thing in terms of herself.

This is the desire to be first.

The contradiction, however, is more superficial than fundamental. Underneath, the self-sacrificing tendency means sacrifices for someone the woman loves, which in turn, of course, really spells pleasure for herself.

In other words, if we perform an act for someone with whom we are in love and therefore want to help, it gives us pleasure if they are happy, and it makes us unhappy if they are unhappy.

Woman wants to make happy every body in whom she is interested.

She has comparatively little interest in the unhappiness of persons outside that personal circle. The fact that she wants to spread happiness to the individuals of her choice also accounts for the jealousies with which she surrounds them. She is jealous of anything that touches or threatens their welfare.

Woman is also jealous of all other women. All women are her potential rivals at least.

Sometimes her envy and jealousy may go as far that she is jealous of other women who cannot possibly influence her own happiness or well-being. One often sees a woman trying to prevent female acquaintances or friends of her daughter marrying well although such marriages cannot in any way affect her own status.

Woman can be jealous of almost everything. They may be jealous of another woman's wealth. Her social position may cause envy.

It may be the fact that the other woman has children or it may be the fact that she has none.

Men, to be sure, are also jealous.

Men can become madly jealous of a rival in love.

However, when the rival does not hurt a man's pride or his pocketbook the chances are that he will not be jealous even if he is beaten in business competition or in any other accomplishment upon which he has set his heart.

Man is accustomed to see things from every viewpoint.

Woman has not yet learned the advantages of doing that. She wants to be first in anything on which she centers her interest.

If some other woman wrests her in the game of life she is not likely to let the other is more capable or attractive. A man will give up such events and be will immediately try to improve himself so as to stand a better chance of success the next time.

The woman, on the other hand, will find refuge in nursing her jealousy, even in planning revenge.

Woman undoubtedly allows jealousy to enter altogether too freely in her judgments and opinions. She also lets jealousy upset her too much.

Jealousy is an emotion that almost always undermines. It is never constructive. It is always destructive.

It is a blighting and disturbing influence.

No woman can look women or human nature in the right perspective if she is jealous.

By contrast such low women open the wide of the reading man's own virtues.

And reading about the disasters that befall such common women, a safeguard is provided for the reader's jealousy motive.

Women should try to rid themselves of jealousies as much as possible.

If they examine their own hearts they will see how devastating jealousy ideas have been.

Jealousy, more especially, should be out taught by precept and example how really foolish it is to be jealous.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been going with a very dear boy friend for the past two years and up until three months ago we got along famously; then we began to quarrel. Since he and I have been quarreling my parents have turned against him terribly and don't want me to keep his company or friendship.

What would you advise me to do by way of persuading my parents, especially mother, to consent to our keeping company? Also, what would you advise to correct such frequent arguing and misunderstanding? We never quarrel over any serious things, just petty arguments.

P. N. R.

P. N. R.: My dear, you are laying very dismal path throu n life for yourself, I'm afraid. You're young, willful, headstrong, and opinionated and so probably, is the young man. Both taking your own side for the right and refusing to compromise; hence the quarrels. I do not mean to be harsh and critical, my dear, but if you could only realize where all these petty bick erings and fusses will lead you. They'll rob you of youth and happiness and contentment, I know it's hard for you to realize you're right to even listen to another's opinion; much less give in to it, but you'll find that before you get, the more you will have to do this in order to inherit your rights for happiness. Cultivate a strong sense of humor. "Laugh that off" is a slang expression, but a mighty powerful one. For you will find that a laugh will avert many unhappy moments, even though they're laughed through tears. This old life is a series of give and take any how, and you've got to do both in order to get by. Think it over and I'm sure you'll see exactly what I am trying to tell you.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of fifteen years of age. I go out with lots of boys. Most of them ask me to give them a good-night kiss and I have been puzzled whether it is right or wrong to kiss a boy whom you are not engaged to. Can you help me?

KATIE.

KATIE: Promiscuous kissing only cheapens a girl, my dear. Besides, you are entirely too young to be thinking of such things. You are quite right in refusing your kisses and keeping your lips for the one real love of your life.

Long circular capes and cape coats are featured in the Paris mid-season collections, and Mme. Agnes, for instance, is showing a charming sports costume which consists of a one-piece frock of narrow horizontal striped wool in pale green, red and white, and there is a narrow red leather belt and a long circular cape of light green tweed with round nickel buttons at the neck.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUP.

At half past five, Lila despaired of Mr. Jackson's putting in an appearance.

"Tell the beast that I'll be in around noon tomorrow," she said, with a resigned sigh, as she kissed Dorothy and left.

All the way home, she hummed a tune under her breath. She was eager to see Herbert; she wanted the reassurance of his kisses after that intelligent at luncheon. It was delicious to be on the very verge of a quarrel, because it would be so sweet to make it up. She decided to forgive Herbert, for, of course, he would ask her to do so; but she would appear a trifle reluctant. It would be pleasant to feel her power.

There was no sign of Herbert as she entered the house and tripped upstairs. Not home yet, she thought, as she opened the door of her dressing-room.

On the threshold, she paused and almost screamed.

Herbert confronted her. He was standing before her dressing-table, and a level-case lay open in front of him. He held out something that glittered.

Lila didn't need to look twice to know what it was.

"That ring!" said Herbert thickly. "It's a wedding-ring. It's inscribed inside: 'From Jack'."

CHAPTER 11

The Very, Very Weak Explanation

Lila stared silently at the ring in Herbert's palm.

She knew that she must say something, but she was unable to speak.

This was a terrifying experience—like a nightmare in which one tries to run away from some dreaded object and makes no progress at all. Lila's mind simply refused to work; she could not escape the fact of that ring.

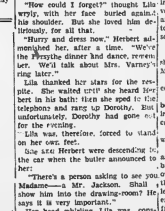

Jack Farquhar had given it to her in France. It was his engagement ring, but it was also to be her wedding ring. He had slipped it on her finger with a look of reverence in his eyes eyes that had belied his laughing words: "I couldn't afford an engagement ring worthy of you, sweetheart, and it's impossible to buy one here, because if I could, this will be used for both." She remembered how he had kissed her hands as he spoke. "You'll wear it always, Lila?"

That was the true story of the ring she had foolishly forgotten.

With Herbert's cold, accusing eyes upon her, she muttered her only plea, opened her mouth. Finally, to her own astonishment, she heard her self saying calmly:

"Oh, that!" She even laughed a little. "It doesn't belong to me. It's Mr. Jack Varney's."

How clever I am, she thought, remember in this moment that May husband's name is Jack!

A "Restaurant Dress" of Becoming Slimness

MRS. TAGGART found, the day before she was giddy last month at the Allied Charities committee, that she couldn't have it all. Time, exemption then rose, what should she wear" when she entered with her pansie at the town's dainties, freshest restaurant? Her ... choice of dress frock with its vestee front and its slenderizing lines was perfect, made of silk crepe and so well cut that it layered pleats attached across the front in a curved effect. Tight cuffs with sleeve that flare above them and a belt slipped through two bound eyelets in the front and buckling at the point of closing finish this gown which will lend poise to the most flustered matron. A vestee of georgette or lace may be added to a silk or satin crepe dress in a harmonizing color. For a cashmere or other light weight wool the vestee could be of satin or crepe in china to match or harmonize. (Copyright, 1927, by Chas. Jarick)

Herbert looked from Lila to the ring.

"What is it doing in your jewel case—in a secret compartment?"

That was a facer. Lila hadn't thought of that. So she acted eagerly on the last phrase.

"Isn't it amusing about that secret compartment?" she rattled on "I didn't know of it until just the other day. Why didn't you tell me, darling?"

Herbert waived aside the question.

"What is Jack Varney's ring doing in your possession?"

"Well, what was it doing?" thought Lila deliberately.

"I—I can't tell you," she said, ironically aware of the truth of that statement.

Herbert made an impatient gesture. His features had been stony, but anger and jealousy now began to flame in his eyes.

"Either you will tell me, or I will ask Mrs. Varney myself," he said decisively.

Lila flushed to the roots of her hair.

"Oh, Herbert, you wouldn't so humiliate me!"

He took a step toward her. His eyes were blazing now and his fists were clenched.

"There's nothing I wouldn't do to find out the truth about you. You are in love with a man named Jack!"

"Herbert!" There was panic in her voice. Surely, surely, for a moment that he had discovered her secret.

Then she realized that he was only guessing. She pulled herself together with an effort.

"The explanation of the ring is not my secret," she said, with dignity, "if you force me to tell you, it will—it will be a breach of—of confidence in and faith."

She controlled good, she thought. It ought to have weight with Herbert, to whom keeping faith was everything.

But Herbert's jealousy was in her uncertainly. Lila snatched at the chance his wavering offered.

"Oh, Herbert, don't you trust me?" she pleaded, in very genuine distress. "Everything I d-do or s-say you think is w-wrong."

"You'll wear it always, Lila?"

That was the true story of the ring she had foolishly forgotten.

With Herbert's cold, accusing eyes upon her, she muttered her only plea, opened her mouth. Finally, to her own astonishment, she heard her self saying calmly:

"Oh, that!" She even laughed a little. "It doesn't belong to me. It's Mr. Jack Varney's."

How clever I am, she thought, remember in this moment that May husband's name is Jack!

Herbert clutched her arm tigtly.

"Swear to me, Lila, that you're not in love with him."

"Will you let him, didn't you, at Dorothy's? Doesn't that answer your question. If not, I swear!"

He let her go, at last, and she went into the drawing-room.

The butler, the beautiful room, Lila felt, were all part the business of her faith. I couldn't keep that date with you this morning, but I went up to your place around six o'clock. Nobody was home, but the girl at the switchboard told me I'd likely find Miss Latham here——and here I am!" he ended lamely.

Lila was thinking quickly, now that her first panic had subsided. It was not a serious situation, after all. He did not know that she was Mrs. Ware or that this was her home.

She stood in the drawing-room door very cool and lovely and haughty, one hand negligently on the knob. She hadn't asked Jackson to be seated.

"I am dining here," she said, quite as if it impossible for me to talk to you now. Please see me at the studio in the morning——and I should be very grateful, if you would not break any more engagements with me. I can, am anxious to have the matter settled."

She rang for the butler.

"Show Mr. Jackson out, Siddons," she directed serenely. "Good evening Mr. Jackson!"

Jackson, completely overawed, depart ed in the wake of the butler.

Lila opened the front door. Herbert was standing by the fire, frowning. He said nothing when Lila called gaily:

"Ready, darling! I made short work of Jack."

He was ominously quiet in the car as they drove to the Forsythe party. Lila was too preoccupied with her own thoughts to notice it. She was thinking of the expression of the butler as he bowed them out to the car, engaged him, of course, and was satisfied with his work. But he rather fear She didn't like the man; Herbert had also being too suave, too sleek, too knowing.

She was uncomfortably conscious of his ugly curious glance at her as she left the house with Herbert Could he have overheard Mr. Jackson have said to him? Of course, she thought, the very fact that he had asked for "Miss Latham" must have surprised the correct Siddons; but then he was undoubtedly, for she still received letters and parcels addressed to "Miss Lila Latham," most of them forwarded from her father's home There should be nothing extraordinary about one person of Jackson's class inquiring for her as Miss Latham.

And yet that look of Siddons——

Herbert spoke harshly.

"And now, Lila, suppose you explain about that ring."

She laughed shrilly, her nerves tense.

"Haven't you forgotten that yet?"

"No. Neither do I intend to," answered Herbert deliberately. "If you don't tell me, I'll ask Mrs. Varney. She is going to be at the Forsythe party tonight——Jack Varney told me so himself today."

Why, thought Lila desperately "did I have to pick May Varney, of all people? There are others in our crowd with husbands named Jack."

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

Cakes must be cold before being iced. The best results are obtained when the cake is made one day and iced the next.

When making cake with raisins or currants, put them in without being floured and before you put the flour into the cake, and they will be scattered evenly all through the cake.

Lemon juice and olive oil used in the proportion of one teaspoonful of lemon juice to two of oil makes a delicious dressing for lettuce.

If wash curtains do not hang well after being laundered dip a curtain rod through the bottom hem of the curtain and leave over for a few days. At the end of that time the curtain will hang straight.

White of egg whisked into a jelly when it is almost set will make the latter light and foamy and very attractive in appearance. Further, a jelly that has been set in an elaborate and difficult mould will turn out whole if the mould has previously been coated with the white of an egg.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Shell frames outnumber metal types in the newest bags.

New York reports a vogue for the metal dinner frock with its matching hat.

The newest piece of costume jewelry designed by Paris is the big ball or lot enge shaped pendant which is attached to the neckline or dress with the wraparound or side closing at the left side of the blouse, high up, and while jade green or pale pink, carnelian, amber and crystal are used for the pendants jade is by far the most popular.

The newest vanity veils worn about Paris just now are light mesh ones with no design save a black spot or mouche at one side, meant to be worn so that this mouche give the effect of a beauty spot near the corner of one eye, and the idea is said to have originated with Reboux.

A very new, smart make-up is a bronze statue effect which a famous French counturier introduced at his fall opening. All his models had bronze-tinted skin and looked like slender, green ful statues; and the effect is gained by means of a bronzing powder or by the use of bronze-tone powders and the make-up best suits women with very regular sculptural features.

In the spring premiere of one of the leading Paris style houses, ensembles are presented comprising a buttonless jacket of transparent velvet with contrasting crepe dress, the latter elaborated with embroidery, and printed silks, with the heavier Marocain as well as chiffon grounds, are chosen for most of the long-coat ensembles.

The most significant development in coats is brought out at New York's demi-season openings is the dominance of the cape theme for evening and the occasional introduction into the daytime mode, but its influence in the latter is not nearly so much deeper and this has been reflected at both the head and the bare shoe, where the smart audiences sponsored an overwhelming majority of cape wraps.

Why Women Wanted And Science Developed A New-Type Hygiene

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

MODERN women with the busy life, less world to live for, and a more tense mood life to lead, demanded greater protection in meeting their greatest hygienic handicap. As a result, the old-time sanitary "pad" is fast disappearing.

More than 80% of better-class women now employ KOTEX—more than a sanitary pad; now a textile protection. Filled with Cellucotton wadding, the newly perfected super-absorbent, it is five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Kotex also DEODORIZES while it acts. Also, it is discarded easily as tissue. No laundry. No disposal problem. Packed 12 in a box. At any store. Look for name Kotex on the box. If it is not there, take care; it is not real Kotex.

CANADIAN POET READ HIS POEMS

Prof. E. J. Pratt of Victoria College Guest Speaker At W. C. C.

In the person of Professor Pratt of Victoria College, Toronto, members of the Canadian Club on Saturday afternoon were privileged to hear, not only a speaker of marked distinction but in addition a poet of great ability. Professor Pratt is the possessor of a delightful personality which coupled with an easy flow of language makes him at once a favorite with his audience. Professor Pratt though at present residing in Toronto is a native of Newfoundland and the subject of his address was "Newfoundland Sea-faring Life and Seal Industry" in connection with which he read many of his very fine poems.

The Sealing industry Professor Pratt stated is a very important factor in Newfoundland sea-faring life. This colony, England's oldest dominion, sends out yearly ten to fifteen steamers, manned by some 2,000 men from St. John's harbour to engage in this industry and it is the ambition of every captain to be the first in sight the seal, returning home laden, to win the "Ayres-stakes." Professor Pratt drew a vivid picture of life on the ice floes where the sighting was prosecuted. He depicted the fever ish excitement with which the sealers work, piling up pelt on pelt till—

"The pelts in a pyramid rose 9000 or more,

Beating the catch of the day before."

The industry appears cruel and tragic but is necessary. Prof. Pratt spoke of the instinct of Newfoundland sailors which almost amounts to a sixth sense. One sea-captain in particular, without guide or light could find his way into his harbour between parallel lines of rock by listening to the echo of his ship's whistle and thus judging the position of the formidable cliffs. They can find their way through apparently trackless wastes. In the opinion of Prof. Pratt they must "smell" their way like a dog.

In one of his poems "The Sea Ship" Professor Pratt portrayed one of the greatest tragedies of Newfoundland when over sixty sailors became separated from their ship in a blinding storm and perished on the ice floes, some drifting out to sea and others wandering blindly, falling into the sea. The poem starts out in a burst of life and ends with the tragic return of the ship.—

"With the rise of the sun we started to kill.

For slaughter was swift and the blood was warm."

From this dynamic start he depicts the actual scenes of the horrible day and he ends with the return of the few survivors when a shi. l

"Seemed like a dream that belonged to a horrible past.

A voyage home with a flag half mast."

In a further poem dreamy with the burial of the victims of this tragedy and called "The Bells", Prof. Pratt expresses the thought that of all the sacred ritual and church ceremonies, the bells tolling alone expressed fittingly "the eternal story of the sea." The deep cathedral notes "anthemed God's tenderness" and the bells alone "knew how to tongues that lifted of the sea.

In another poem written to sh hero "Carle", Prof. Pratt tells a story which happened some seven or eight years ago when a vessel with 91 on board became stranded on a reef only 200 yards off the mainland of Newfoundland. Though people on shore could clearly see the ship in distress it was impossible to reach it as the waves, dashing fourteen feet high formed an impenetrable wall. After several unsuccessful attempts to throw a life line to shore the great dog which was pierced up and down taking in the situation was called into action and after five attempts finally succeeded in swimming through the terrific sea to the ship, returning with the rope. Communication se life line, rescuing the 91 on board. In the poem "Carle" the idea is expressed that dogs have souls. It rses on to say.

"They argued with such confidence Twas instinct, nature or blind sense you did your deed and never knew you did it."

Prof. Pratt seems this kee and main taint that deeds such as these must seem the golden gate to the eanin. kingdom.

In concluding Prof. Pratt quoted from his latest p. "To Iron Door." The title refers to two fose at death hung amid granite cliffs, forming an impenetrable barrier between this life and the next. Before it are assembled numberless people, mourning for admittance, and from these are chosen, seven or eight different types whom the poet has met in life. There is the woman with profoundest faith who never questions immortality and in contrast the skeptic neither knowing nor caring; the little child with its simple trusting faith, and there also appears an old fisherman who has lost three sons in a magnificent case of resce at sea and who calls for recompense for virtue and honor and sacrifice. In spite of all their pleas the door remains closed and their call is like "unanswered signals of destiny," when "no flowers are left but poppies with their charred autumnal lips." Finally moved by some ulterior power the door begins to open and the multitude passes through, whither they go the poet cannot see but he catches the sense of life with "magnificent faces and great "suns of light" when the door closes and he is left alone on the side with life.

Mrs. F. C. Anderson conveyed the thanks of all present to the speaker and Dr. Baker expressed his appreciation for the fine address. The meeting adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem. Prof. Pratt's poems are indeed beautiful and his book of poetry would be an acquisition to any library.

ROCKNE BELIEVES THEORY "NO WOMEN"

Des Moines, Ia. (By The Canadian Press).—Knute Rockne believes that the success of his Notre Dame gridders, in part at least, is due to the absence of co-eds from the campus of the South Bend University.

"How can the boys get along if they have a girl around?" he asks. "Football takes two hours, study takes from two to three hours and if they have a girl, she must have at least two hours a day. That means that sleep or football or study must suffer. So, we have no girls."

The novelist's theme that a girl in the grandstand spurs her hero on to victory was discounted by Coach Rockne. "A girl might be a good thing but they are better off without any girls to play for."

CLOSE CONTESTS IN PRO CIRCUIT

Leafs And Ottawa Battled For Seventy Minutes To Tie

Toronto, Dec. 12. — There could scarcely have been a more striking demonstration of the unsuitability of the pro hockey rules than the game at the Arena on Saturday night in which the Toronto team and that from Ottawa battled through an overtime game with not either side scoring. There is no longer any effort being made to cover up the limitations of the code. The chief theoretical fault of them agree that changes must be made and that soon. There will be a meeting of the governors of the N.H.L. at Montreal today when the matter of rules will be taken up.

Unpopularity of the code under which the pro play is commending is be reflected in the attendance at the games. The crowd on Saturday night was rather an large or as enthusiastic as it might have been. To the credit of the players and coaches of both teams it ought to be said that they tried all they knew to make the contest attractive on. They took all the chances that could be taken without inviting defeat There was no end of good rushes-hooking and hard checking, but there was also the customary lack of sustained speed so characteristic of the pro game

Dec. 12.—The battle of group leaders of the National Hockey League here last night, terminated in a 2-0 victory for Canadien of Montreal over the New York Rangers. The game played before a capacity crowd of 15,000 was one of the fastest witnessed here for some time.

Rangers by their defeat relinquished the leadership of the American group being replaced by the Boston Bruins who won a brace of hard earned games Canadians advanced themselves to a two-game lead in the international group.

Montreal, Dec. 12—Detroit Cougars brilliant forward line swamped the Maroons in the third period of the National Hockey League engagement here Saturday night to win by 4 to 1. Aurie Shepherd, Cougar left wing, tore through the defense to score. Aurie in the second period and the other three in the last session.

Play in the first two periods was tendence. Neither team made an attempt at offensive play beyond long shots. The puck-carrier would find a five-man defensive wall in front and practically all rushes were auto Play was slow and uninteresting Maroons missed Stewart on their forward line, but Stewart would not have been Saturday night's game. Their offensive efforts, coming up against Reg. Noble's crafty stick and "Flying" Holme's brilliant goaltending, looked weak.

Pittsburg, Dec. 12—The New York Americans decisively defeated the Pittsburg Pirates in a National League hockey game here 2 to 0. Playing their eighth game of the league season, the locals were unable to score their first victory against the strong Yankee defense and attack of Conacher, formerly of Pittsburg, and his America mates in their eighth game the Pittsburg lemen have been defeater six times and tied twice They have scored only four goals.

Chicago, Dec. 12—Boston's Bruins handed the Chicago Black Hawks their third rioutout of the National Hockey League season Saturday night in a rough but spectacular 2 to 0 victroy Chicago entered the first for the Bruins in the opening period, with Gainor shoving the final tally over 30 seconds before the end of the. Referee inflicted 13 penalities. Only 5,000 persons saw the game.

Detroit, Dec. 12—In a desperately fought overtime battle the Boston Bruins won a National League hockey game from the Detroit Cougars here last night 2 to 1. Gainor, Bruin forward, scored both goals for Boston and Reg. Noble, Detroit's captain, scored the lone tally for the Cougars.

Changes its own Records

Plays twelve records without attention.—Runs itself for a whole hour. No operating effort on your part.—Just listen.

WHEN you turn on the current, the turntable starts to revolve; a mechanical "hand" takes the first record from the group of twelve and places it on the turntable; the tone-arm moves into position; the sound-box is lowered and the music begins. At the end of the selection, the mechanical "hand" removes the record from the turntable, slides it gently into a felt-lined concealed drawer, and "picks out" the next record from the magazine arm. These operations are repeated until the last record is played, then the mechanism stops automatically.

So magnificent an instrument demands an exterior of exceptional beauty. Victor craftsmen have designed a distinguished cabinet for the Automatic Orthophonic Victrola, in which every luxurious touch that ingenuity can devise has been incorporated.

The price of the automatic instrument is $775. Other models of the Orthophonic Victrola instruments are obtainable at prices ranging from $790. down to $115.

PORT HOPE SUFFERED

Port Hope, Dec. 12.—Port Hope harbour which previous to the recent storm was practically in a state of ruin, suffered considerably as a result of heavy seas and winds in the last few days and only a coating of ice threads more serious damage.

The west breakwater which has fast been breaking for the last few seasons is completely gone and the east pier is going almost as fast. The part of the east pier south of the lighthouse has been moved eastward about six feet and the break in the continuity of the pier can be seen from a distance.

GRUDGE AGAINST HIM

Oshawa, Dec. 12.—S. F. Kinsey, 31-year-old Chinamali. former, manager of the Biltmore Cafe, who will face trial on Tuesday in connection with the destruction of the Alger Block by fire on October 24, believes that some one, to satisfy a grudge against him, maliciously damaged his car, Kinsey is out on $2000 bail and has been staying at Waverly Inn, east of the city. Yesterday when he went to get his car, he found that some one had broken the lock on the garage door. Being unable to start his car, he discovered that the gasoline tank had been punctured and the gasoline had soaked into the garage floor.

DENIED RUMORS

Peterboro, Dec. 12.—Both O. T. Elcoate, inspire in charge of the Canadian Department Stores, Limited, and C. L. Burton, General Manager of the Robert Simpson Company, Limited, gave emphatic denials last night that negotiations were under way by which the Robert Simpson Company might take over some of the 21 department stores scattered throughout the Province and one in Montreal. "We are not interested," said Mr. Burton.

Mr. Clarkson said no proposition of the kind had been received by him.

REGENT THEATRE

Esther Ralston, beautiful Paramount star, turns out a few kinks and wrinkles in the social code of today in her latest fast moving comedy, "Ten Modern Commandments" which opens at the Regent Theatre today for a run of three days.

To Jack Lait goes the credit of allowing Miss Ralston to juggle convention for it was he who wrote the original story. Then Dorothy Arzner, Paramount's only woman director, who did such a splendid job with Dorothy Mackaill in "Fashions For Women" finished it off with a great bit of direction.

"Ten Modern Commandments" is a story of the stage, a story that will shock broad-minded folk. When she was two years old, her mother carried her before the footlights and from then on it was one round of travel, work and the inevitable theatrical boarding-house. How she uses the "Ten Modern Commandments" to serve her ends makes an amusing and striking story.

BELLE THEATRE

For the discrimination of fact and the playful use of slitteration, "Paid to Love" is a rollicking review of a high class novel. It's the Fox picture which comes to the Belle Theatre tonight with George O'Brien and Virginia Valli in the leading roles. J. Farrell Macdonald, as the rich American, who, of course, commutes for Sir Daniel Cupid, is as funny a comedian as he ever was, which is saying much indeed.

The story deals with a mythical kingdom, the crown prince of which is more interested in mechanics than women. The old king would have his son marry a princess of Wisconsin, rather than remain single, and produce strange notes in the royal nursery with his humming machinery.

But what happens is entirely out of the schedule and it wouldn't be sporting to tell it.

There are spots on some of the stars as well as on the sun, according to astronomers at the University of Wisconsin. They found that many stars shed a variable light, due, they believe to spots on their surfaces.

Carve A Truly Merry Christmas

Amusing Novelties To Make From Soap

EVEN the least creative of us usually is overcome with the irresistible urge to express ourselves with our hands in some interesting manner.

Clever ornaments for the Christmas tree, and useful figurines also may be carved from white soap. Many delight in a few spare minutes. Many designs can be made by children, and in a number of the schools art periods are being given over to carving, since with so little of manipure the material is so light and easy to obtain that it is no bear to the youngest or the least experienced.

Illustrated are simple designs showing what can be done with straight lines. Just cut a guide size cake of ivory soap across into three slabs of equal width, smooth carefully and draw or trace the design selected, using the point of a pencil or other pointed tool. Then cut away the soap outside the design, make the cuts of the design deeper, clean up the edges, and carve. On the other side the design may be reversed or left plain and painted with solid color. Water color paint is dissolved in decorated alcohol and silver are for coloring. Gold and silver are also very effective. Just use the ordinary water color boxes or mix bronze powder with shellac and apply. The shellac may be thinned with denatured alcohol. Added sparkle and brilliancy may be given by putting a coat of white shellac over the finished work.

Color Suggestions

Boy and Girl (Paint): flesh; eyes black; face and legs flesh; hair black; lips red; mouth, rosy red. Girl doll (Polly): hair, shoes or sandals, brown; face, flesh; eyes black; mouth red; dress blue. Cat: eyes, blue; face white; nose, pink; bow red. Holly wreath: green; bow with streamers, green; berries, white. Elephant: grey or white; eyes yellow and red, or orange and violet.

Patterns for these designs, and booklets on soap sculpture, may be obtained free of charge, by writing to Children's Service Bureau, 34 East 12th Street, New York City.

BASEBALL FANS GATHER TONIGHT

Second Meeting Called In Chamber Of Commerce Building

Baseball fans are reminded of the meeting tonight at the Chamber of Commerce building when a further report of the Committee will be received and the general discussion talked over. President Ernie Rowsome may have some interesting announcements to make tonight and all of those who were present at last week's meeting and any new ones are requested to be on hand.

It is probable that a meeting will be called directly after the First of the year to discuss plans for the re-organization of the old Central League. Past President Newton Thompson has already communicated with Kingston, Peterboro and Oshawa and he will make his report of the findings tonight.

Last week's was one of the most enthusiastic ball meetings ever held in the city and an even greater attendance is looked for at this meeting.

There is no doubt that all fans desire to see a first-class team represent the city on the diamond but its up to every interested fan to get out and attend these meetings and lend the officers a hand wherever possible. Oshawa have already signified their intentions of coming back and it rests with Peterboro and Kingston whether the four team loop will be possible.

ORTHOPHONIC IS ON DISPLAY AT FORD OPENINGS

Both Inventions Brought Out In Previous Form 20 Years Ago

While the demonstration of the new Ford Motor Car models was in full swing in Belleville today—having made their debut Friday, December 9—another great invention was recalled to mind by the appearance in practically all the Ford showrooms of models of the new Orthophonic Victrola.

In connection with the appearance of these instruments in Ford showrooms, the officials at the head office of the Victor Talking Machine Company in Montreal, quoted a telegram which read, in part: "Henry Ford has consented to have Victrolas in Ford Showrooms throughout the country on opening day."

Upon further inquiry it was found that exactly two years before the Ford opening date, i. e.: December 2nd, 1926 the Victor Company made the announcement of its new type of reproducing instruments, which were from then on to revolutionize music played in the home.

The fact is also significant that the first Model T. Ford car was put on the market in Canada twenty years ago, co-incidental with the appearance of the first cabinet type Victrola. Thus these two inventions have progressed side by side through the years, both having recently passed through a stage of immense improvement and development.

An informal statement issued from the Victor offices says: "We believe that the automobile and the phonograph together have been perhaps two among the most important features in increasing the pleasures of living in modern days.

"Both these inventions represent clean wholesome and educative recreation. Henry Ford has enabled motion and women of all classes to travel economically, to see things and to gain broader vision of this earth we live on. The Victrola has thrown open the treasures of music to all people in the same way, enabling them to travel even to the ends of the earth for their musical inspiration, without ever leaving their own hearthstones. Thus these two inventions have influenced the home—both for the better.

"The new Ford models are obviously just as far ahead of the old type automobile as the new Orthophonic Victrola models are ahead of the old type talking machine."

The attractively decorated showrooms of Belleville Motors, today display both of these remarkable achievements; the Orthophonic Victrola is on display through the courtesy of Doyle Drug Store, local dealers.

THERE'S NO FENCE AT THE BOTTOM OF THE HILL

A new winter-time vogue—weekends and holidays—has come to the Ontario Lodges in the Highlands of Ontario. There, among the most picturesque of surroundings, you can enjoy winter sports as you never have before.

There is skiing, tobogganing, bobsledding everywhere—and no fences at bottoms of runs to spoil the fun. Skating, ski-joring and snowshoeing too—a host of sports that will make you claim winter as the best season of all.

A new folder is just off the press describing this sport country—telling you where to go—and how to go. A copy can be secured from any of Canadian National Railways Agents—just ask or write for it.

From a competitive standpoint, 1926 and 1927 have been great years for Canuck marathoners. Full distance marathon races have been promoted in this country, and a greater number of Canadians have attained success in Yankee marathon classics than ever before. Last year Johnny Miles won ever made over the famous course, the Boston marathon in the best time Cliff Bricker won the Buffalo marathon and Perry Wyer raced through a blinding snowstorm to win the Detroit marathon. Three big Yankee marathon races for Canadians to win in a little over a year, certainly made the experts sit up and take notice. Canada is to have four runners in the Olympic marathon next year, and in addition to Bricker and Webster, the other two will be picked from Perry Wyer, Johnny Miles, Billy Reynolds, Orville Garbutt and John Cuthbert.

CHRISTMAS 1927

INCIDENT WAS CLOSED

(From Bobby Jones' new book on golfing, entitled "Down the Fairway.")

——"I was playing a match with Harry Vardon.

"We came to the seventh hole, a dogleg.....Harry and I took the big jump safely and were in front of the green, each with a short, plain little shot to get near the flag. Harry was a bit farther away and played a simple run-up, not far from the pin. In those days I loved to pitch, and elected to use a niblick, though there was no intervening trouble. I looked up on the shot and committed the most horrible mistake possible under the circumstances; I topped the ball and it scuttled like a rabbit right over the green into a bunker.....To this day my ears get hot, thinking of that shot.

"I played out for a bad, losing 4 elected to use a putter, desperately embarrassed, walked on to the next tee with Harry, who had not said a word thus far in the round. I thought I would ease my embarrassment and break the ice at the same time. So I said:

"Mr. Vardon, did you ever see a worse shot than that?"

"He said:

"No."

"This appeared to close the incident."

COUNTY HOCKEY REORGANIZES FOR COMING YEAR—MARMORA IS OUT

W. Nugent of Madoc President of New Hastings Circuit

Stirling, Dec. 12.—A big surprise was given to hockey enthusiasts in Stirling and district when they learned that the Hastings County Hockey League was no more, that Marmora would not place a team in the field this year and that a new league had been organized and named the Trenty Valley Hockey League.

A meeting of the Hastings County League was held in Stirling on Tuesday night with the following delegates present: Tweed, T. Beaty, T. E. Moffat, Geo. Geraldi; Campbellford, Malcolm Cook, C. Saunders; Frankford, F. A. Finnigan, A. D. Whitelaw; Stirling, W. J. Whitty, E. Luery; Madoc, Thos. Rupert, W. Nugent, E. Mickin; Jas Watson.

Marmora was not represented and immediately a phone message was sent to a supporter in that village, who informed the meeting that Marmora had not sufficient material to place a team in the field. This is sad news as the northern village always turned out a sextette that could give any team a real battle and who were always anxious to stage a victory against Stirling, thus stimulating interest. For the past two years the grouping has included Marmora, Madoc, Tweed and Stirling, but after receiving Marmora's decision, it was decided to enlarge the league and include Campbellford and Frankford as both places were anxious to enter a team in the league. It was decided to drop the name Hastings County Hockey League and the new group will be known as the Trenty Valley League.

The following officers were elected President—W. Nugent, Madoc; Vice President—W. J. Whitty Stirling.

Second Vice President — Malcolm Cook, Campbellford.

Sec. Treas.—E. Luery, Stirling.

The schedule is as follows:

SORRY KILLED MOTHER GLAD SHOT FATHER

St. Clairsville, Ohio, Dec. 12.—First degree murder charges will be placed against Andy Dyken, 15, held here for the slaying of his mother and the shooting of his father and a farmhand, Theodore Paul Y. Waddell announced today. Dyken, found today hiding in a straw stack on the Dyken farm only 200 yards from the place of the shooting, told authorities he "didn't mean to kill mother."

"I thought she was the old man," he declared.

The boy is alleged to have shot and killed his mother, Mary Dyken, 33 and then to have turned his shotgun on his father, Nick Dyken, 35, and John Morella, 30, a farm hand. The father shot in the back, may recover, although severely wounded in the hips and legs.

Dyken, who appeared badly frightened when captured, was defiant later when questioned at the jail. He declared he wanted to kill his father for the way he had been treated.

"I would shoot him now if I got a chance," he declared.

Among the creatures that live to be more than 100 years are the swan, falcon, golden eagle, parrot, carp and tortoise.

AGED FIGHTER IS LOOKING FOR MORE

Quincy, Ill., (By C.P.)— Jacob Coney, picturesque leader of "Coney's Army" in 1893, still is determined "to do something for the people." He is thankful, he said, that he has retained his strength long enough to fight the "interest trust". He is 73 years old.

"Interest is the economic hookworm of the nation," said Coney, "and I am going to fight it back to its lair."

His plan, he said, is to charter state, county and municipal banks to loan money to citizens at one half per cent interest a year. This interest, he explained, was "to cover the cost of bookkeeping." The banks were to be owned by non-interest bearing bonds sold to the government.

Loans were to be repaid at the rate of four per cent of the principal per year which was to be assessed with regular taxes against the property of the borrower, thus providing for retirement of the loans in 25 years.

SPANISH QUEEN SPORTSMAN TOO

Has Donated Cup For Cruising Yacht Races Like King

Washington, D. C., (By C.P.)— Queen Victoria of Spain has offered a cup for small cruising yachts in the Spanish-American international ocean race next summer to supplement a similar trophy for larger boats donated by the King, it is announced at the Spanish Embassy here.

The Queen's class will be restricted to entries of between 35 and 55 feet water line length. Spokesmen whose owners have signified their intention of competing include the Diabolo of Los Angeles, owned by A. E. Perkins of that city, who will sail his craft through the Panama Canal this winter. Dudley F. Wolfe, of Boston, is to start a schooner now building at Wiscasset, Me. The race is between New York and Gibraltar.

In the King Alphonso cup competition the entries to date include the tern schooners Atlantic, winner of the ocean race of 1905 and now owned by Gerard B. Lambert, of New York, the Guinevere owned by Edgar Palmer, donor of the Palmer Stadium at Princeton, the two-masted schooner Spejekka, owned by Albert V. Gowan, of Concord, Mass., formerly of Cleveland, the dink-rigged schooner Aloha, owned by

BOAT "ALGONQUIN" IS STRANDED ON SHORE

Duluth, Minn., Dec. 5.—Coast Guard cutter "Crawford" has left for Copper Harbor more than 100 miles up the north shore, to stand by the Canadian package freighter "Algonquin," grounded during the storm on Isabella Reef. Crew will be taken off today by coast guardsmen. It is thought the vessel is badly damaged and it may be left on the rocks until spring.

MORE THAN THIRTY DIED FROM STORM

Chicago, Dec. 9.—More than thirty persons have met death in the sub zero blizzard which yesterday continued to fan the continent from coast to coast. Abatement of snowfall and high speed winds does not mean that mercury will begin a quick climb. Cold weather was expected.

REMOVING BERRY STAINS

Berry stains, especially the red and purple varieties, are difficult to remove after they become dry. Soap will set this stain. A spoiled mouthful of stain is fresh and moist but when exposed for a height will effectually remove the stain from any white wool hat fabric in the sun to dry—moistening with lemon juice will help, or sponging with a little hydrogen peroxide to which a bit of ammonia is added. Other effective agents are acetic acid (10 per cent. solution) or oxalic acid solution.

If the berries are cooked the stain can be more easily removed. If the material is washable stretch stain over a bowl and pour boiling water over it. On delicate fabrics it is often merely necessary to sponge the stain with warm water.

Blueberry stains will disappear if washed at once with cold water and a good white soap.

WASH POISON FROM KIDNEYS

Drink Water All Day Long and Take Salts If Your Back Hurts

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse again, there is difficulty in holding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation. The hower type Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Rold, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Rold has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to Pile sufferers. Let us tell you some for you or money back. J. S. McKeown and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Rold with this guarantee.

SULPHUR WILL CLEAR SKIN OVER NIGHT

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its rare destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to subdue the irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It actually fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait a few days before embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like spot cream.

DARKEN HAIR! LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Restore Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance; this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for only 75 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to darken gray hair a natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeths Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

COMMUNISM SPREADS POISON THROUGH SOUTH CHINA

Blame Not Placed Yet For C.P.R. Smash At Dockrill--Inquest Adjourned For A Month

FRETTED ABOUT GIRL'S SICKNESS

Frank Renaud Had Letter Telling of Daughter's Ill Health

NOT QUEER BEFORE

Coroner's Jury's Verdict Is Suicide While Temporarily Insane

"We, the jury empanelled to inquire into the death of Frank Renaud, find that he died on December 8th, 1927, in Belleville General Hospital of shock caused by burns self-inflicted by crawling into the furnace at the County buildings, and we believe him to have been temporarily insane at the time. We exonerate the Officials from all blame."

The above was the finding of the jury at the resumed inquest held last evening at the police court conducted by Coroner Dr. R. W. Trenland, to inquire into the death of Frank Renaud prisoner at the local jail on Friday last. Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan represented the Crown.

Sheriff J. H. Clare

To Mr. Donnan:

"When did you first see the prisoner?"

"I first saw him in the Belleville Jail around the first of November."

"What was he committed under"

"For breach of the Liquor Contro Act."

"When was his sentence to have ex pired?"

"About December 19th."

"Were you present when he made the statement"

"No."

Thomas Keirhson

"Did you have prisoner under observation during the time of his term?"

"Yes, but not particularly. He worked a little around the jail. As far as observation, when the 15th came in he was not a noisy looking man. When his friends came to see him the first week he began to cry. His friends told him to quit. Mrs. Renaud and sister expressed the with that I get him out of the corridor as fast as possible. Shortly after that I put him in the kitchen and the next day when another pris-

CLEVER DEBATE CLOSE DECISION

Christ Church A.Y.P.A. Entertained St. Thomas' Organization

A full house was present at Christ Church Parish Hall last evening to hear the debate between the A.Y.P.A. of that church and the A.Y.P.A. of St. Thomas Church which is a new organization.

Christ Church Society challenged St. Thomas Church to a debate "Resolved that the modern inventions have not improved the lot of the working man", the former church taking the affirmative. Christ Church debaters were Mr. Harold Bateman, Miss Marguerite Coulter and Mr. Edgar Bateman. St. Thomas Church represented were Mr. C. Mills Gwen, Miss Helen Potter, Rev. C. E. Clarke, Minister of Christ Church, and two judges, Mrs. I. Winter and Mr. J. Sherbert and Rev. J. Lyons of St. Thomas Church appointed Mrs. A. E. MacColl.

Both sides had their points well thought out and each speaker presented some strong points in favor of their respective side. The delights of each speaker was also good and points were awarded for this as well as English.

When the votes made were counted they gave two hundred and thirty-three points for the affirmative and two hundred and forty-two for the negative.

Following the debate a social hour was spent and a supper served by Christ Church A.Y.P.A.

WRECKED BY GALES

Blown Down Landing Field

Driven before a fifty-mile gale, a W.A.A.C. biplane, owned and piloted by S. J. Nolan of Kalamazoo, Mich., was completely wrecked on the London, Ont., air field. The plane, which was en route from Toronto to Kalamazoo, had been anchored for the night after alighting for repairs. Caught by the piling gale it was blown 100 yards down the field, turned over and completely wrecked. The biplane is almost a total loss, only the engine and instrument board being salvaged

FIRE PROTECTION AT CITY HALL

City Council Will Purchase Pinnacle Street Property

The property on the west side of Pinnacle street lying north of the school and south of the lands belonging to the City abutting on the Market Square will be purchased from the Gwynne estate for the sum of $5,000.00 subject to the approval of the title and claims by the City Solicitor. The motion was made at the Council meeting last night.

The City Treasurer was also authorized to issue a cheque for the usual honorarium of $500 to His Worship the Mayor.

The City Treasurer has been authorized to pay the salaries and wages of all City employees on Thursday, Dec. 22nd.

Mayor Wilmot, Aldermen Cherry and Tice have been appointed a special Insurance Committee with power to act for the balance of the year 1927. The chairman of the Executive has been instructed to put all insurances accounts as soon as they have been passed by the City Treasurer.

Better Fire Protection

The report of the special Committee in regard to the fire marshall's order as to the protection in the City Hall was approved and necessary action will be taken to have the work completed as soon as possible. The committee recommended the outlay of approximately $1000, the cost of the installations.

The Fire Marshall found that the building is not equipped with fire escapes which are necessary for the safety of life. It was found that the basement is strewn with debris and litter near the furnace. No adequate water protection has been made in the auditorium or on the stage. Two state fire escapes with property, width and construction will be built. Windows will be cut in the east wall leading to the fire escapes.

One extinguisher will be hung on the wall and 75 feet of hose will be attached to the water pipe in the furnace room. The furnace room will be cleaned up to prevent starting of fire.

A letter was received from Fred Smythe in regard to the drop curtain in the City Hall auditorium.

Mr. Smythe reports that the present one is in bad shape and requires repainting. Mr. Smyth said the work would be completed at no cost to the City provided a three-year franchise on the advertising spaces was granted.

Work on the curtain will be done without removing same and material will be the same as those used on theatre curtains. This offer was accepted by the Council.

ASK RELEASE OF NEPHEW CHARLES

Mrs. Frank Renaud Needs Him To Chop Wood And Feed Cattle

Mrs. Frank Renaud, widow of the late Frank Renaud, who jumped into the furnace at the County Jail on Friday of last week while under sentence there for a breach of the Liquor Control Act, at the conclusion of the inquest held in the Police Station to determine the cause of her husband's death asked Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan if he could help her in securing the release from the local jail of her nephew, Charles James, also under sentence there for the same offence as her late husband.

The widow stated that she had lots of wood at her farm, but none at her home in Tweed. She stated she also had horses and cattle to feed and if James were released from custody he could look after things for her and have wood.

Mr. Donnan promised to get in touch with Charles Rollins, of Tweed and forward a recommendation to the Attorney General to this effect.

James' sentence will not expire for over a month yet.

A charge of corruption was also voted, against Justice Fred Champion of the State Supreme Court.

TRAIN'S WEIGHT CAUSED WRECK

Carried Engine Past Entrance To Siding Into The Flier's Path

INQUEST ADJOURNED

Matter of a Minute's Time Would Have Averted The Crash

Enterprise, Dec. 13.—Investigation into the wreck of "Canadian" crack flier of the C.P.R., which took toll of seven lives, was commenced here yesterday. The accident occurred on Sunday, Nov. 27, at Dockrill siding, 36 miles east of Belleville, when the Montreal-Toronto express, travelling 60 miles an hour, and making up time, crashed into a freight train which had overrun the siding at Dockrill.

The passenger train had been 15 minutes late at Smith's Falls, 56 miles to the east. The crew of the east bound freight, counting on the flier being a few minutes late at Dockrill, decided they could make the siding at that place. Consequently, instead of backing on to the siding at Lens, four miles west of the scene of the accident, they proceeded to the next station east.

Passed Siding Entrance

They might have cleared the main line in plenty of time to let the fast express thunder past if the switch engine had not failed to open the switch at the siding. The freight had attempted a speed of 30 miles an hour after crossing the south pair west of Dockrill.

With 2,000 tons of freight behind him, the hard-pressed engineer of the freight was unable to back up. He barely locked the train and run with some five cars to the east end of the siding, back up the caboose and pull the balance of his train clear are the oncoming express should reach the danger zone. But he could put his plan into execution the fast-travelling passenger train emerged from the rock cuts to the eastward and crashed into him head-on.

Injured Men Absent

All this came out in the evidence at Enterprise yesterday. Important witnesses were missing. Engineer J. L. Bradford of the freight train is still in hospital with serious injuries. Engineer

KAMLOOPS STILL AMONG MISSING

HERRIN AGAIN

Scene of Bloody Massacre Again In The Limelight

Herrin, Ills., Dec. 12.—One year of peace in Herrin, the storm centre of the Illinois coal fields was broken last night when Elmer McCormick, brother of the late Mayor and John Stamm, chief of police, were wounded by gunmen who circled the city hall in a motor car firing volleys of bullets. McCormick is in a critical condition.

Searching North Shores Of Lake Superior For Big Freighter

Sault Ste Marie, Dec. 13.—Situation on the upper lakes is clearing today after one of the most hectic weeks ever experienced and the centre of attention as weather turned fine and wind died down was the missing steamer "Kamloops" and the threatening ice blockade in the Sault canals. Upbound steamers "Canadoc" and "Queen" were believed to be slowly breaking through the ice to the Neeskah cut today. Fleet of up and down bound both are waiting for these steamers to clear.

Looking for "Kamloops"

Port Arthur, Ont., Dec. 13.—At noon no ships had been reported of the steamer "Kamloops" carrying valuable package freight which is missing on Lake Superior. Government tug "Murray Stewart" left yesterday to join in the search and the Midland Prince has returned after a search of one hundred miles without trace of the vessel. "Pelt Prince" is still on the hunt. Eight grain carriers which have just gone through the canals to keep a continuous lookout. Pine and Clear weather favored this first and there is no wind.

The possibility that the "Kamloops" is shipwrecked at the Pancake Bay reef is expressed by the Captain and crew of the "Quebec" which docked at Michipicoten Bay 60 miles from Fort William today. They said that when upbound in heavy weather the Kamloops was west the Quebec narrowly escaped rocks near Isle Royale while the Kamloops was standing in close from them, appeared to be heading on to rocks.

The Canada Steamship Lines, owners will press aeroplanes into service in the search for the ship.

Rescue of Crew

Toronto, Dec. 13.—Six members of the crew of the wrecked steamer "Atalanta" arrived here today from the Sault, enroute to their homes. Roy Hartman of Wiarton, second engineer, told a gripping story of the attempt made by himself and three other men to secure aid for their comrades who remained on the wreck as it pounded on the rocks of Keewanaw Point.

Hartman and his mates after the boat struck, Hurkman and Roy Burke,Walter Lacroix and Jack Keith, launched a life boat and made a hazardous trip over a hundred yards of surf landed on the rocks. Afraid of being cut off by the big waves they kept to the beach and were continually soaked in spray as they made their way to Eagle Harbor where they got away. They reached Copper Harbor Saturday night and a team was sent over for them to Delaware. They telephoned coastguards at Eagle Harbor and Delaware that the boat would probably be having difficulty gaining altitude. He soon got better results and quickly disappeared to the southward.

The young hero of the New York-to-Paris air-hop decided time and weather were right and without more ado was ready to go on his errand of good-will which is expected to require about 36 hours in the air. Lindbergh scorned a parachute.

TRIPLETS STILL IN GOOD HEALTH

Slightly Under Normal Weight But Are Progressing Favorably

The triplets born to Mr. and Mrs. William Rushlow, 15 Church Street, at the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday, April 19th last, are still doing nicely, although slightly under normal weight. "If they survive through winter," stated Miss Mary Shore, V.O.N., "they will likely live and be normal children."

It will be recalled that the triplets were among the few born in Belleville and at the time of their birth The Intelligencer raised over a hundred dollars for them by public subscription to tide the family over for a while as they were in straightened circumstances.

Miss Shore visited The Intelligencer this afternoon and asked to have a member of the staff bring the children up to the Baby Clinic on Friday afternoon next so that they might be weighed and receive clothing examination from Dr. G. S. Cronk.

It is probable that the triplets will have their "pictures taken" while up town.

LINDBERGH OFF ON LONG FLIGHT

Carrying Message Of Good Will From Washington To Mexico

Washington, D.C., Dec. 13.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh started his one thousand mile non-stop flight to Mexico City today, taking the air at Bolling Field at 12:29 p.m. As he started over Pontiac in the famous "Spirit of St. Louis," Lindbergh seemed to be having difficulty gaining altitude. He soon got better results and quickly disappeared to the southward.

The young hero of the New York-to-Paris air-hop decided time and weather were right and without more ado was ready to go on his errand of good-will which is expected to require about 36 hours in the air. Lindbergh scorned a parachute.

DROVE OVER 48 HECTIC HOURS WITH BOOTLEGGER

Rochester, Dec. 13.—Still in a nervous daze from the effects of the forty-eight hour drive which she says she was compelled to take with a self-confessed bootlegger, Mrs. Eva Bergold of, wealthy forty-year-old chiropractor slept out her fatigue in her husband's home today while authorities sought her alleged kidnaper. She was able to trace her enforced tour only from her reappearance in the midst of a State-wide search last night to Elmira. Beyond that she could remember nothing, she said.

Communists Are Masters Of Canton Where Looting Is Proceeding

MISSIONARIES OUT

United States Gunboat Lands Troops And Guns For Protection

Shanghai, Dec. 13—Southern China to-day appears in the throes of a Red Revolution. Canton is completely in control of the Communists while, Nanking, Hankow and other cities are threatened by the Reds. Outbreaks along the Yangtze River including Wuchang and Changhai were quelled by the Nationalist Government which united, however to recapture Canton.

In Shanghai itself agitators are trying to foment a general strike. United States gunboat "Sacramento" landed men and fled guns at Canton to protect foreigners while the Communist indulges in an orgy of looting and pillaging and set up "Soviet Government."

Canton Has Looted

Shanghai, Dec. 13—Foreigners are beginning to leave Canton themselves, or foreign settlement of Canton for fear of disorders breaking out between them and the Communists according to reports reaching here to-day. Armed United States launches have conveyed fifteen Americans and two Britishers to the shelter of foreign concession while field guns have been landed to protect the United States Consulate. Trouble is threatened due to the communist agitators. Only Canton Government troops are massing outside Canton, presumably preparing for an attack on the communists.

At Hankow also the communists are active and leading districts of that city are declared to be entirely communistic. A peasant's army has been organized and it is believed that wealthy landlords have been murdered. Anti-foreign feeling has resulted posters of one building at Canton were driven out by communists early after. Communists are looting Canton wholesale.

Rescue Missionaries

Hong Kong, Dec. 13.—Chinese refugees and about 35 missionaries mostly Americans and Germans, arrived here to-day aboard the British steamer "Pakshan" from Canton. Missionaries originally had fled from the country post to Canton.

Released Prisoner

Shanghai, Dec. 13.—Capt. Lalor, who had been held for ransom by Chinese bandits for seven weeks, has been released and is aboard the British gunboat "Bee". Details of his release are not known.

SKIDDED OFF ROAD KILLING THE DRIVER

REVISED PRAYER BOOK IN HOUSE

Keen Discussion In Lords And Commons Over Adoption Of Change

London, Dec. 13.—Members of the House of Commons were privately discussing today by the Archbishop of York, who in the House of Lords yesterday introduced a resolution urging acceptance of the prayer book of the Church of England. The Bishop of Manchester and other prominent members urging support of this measure. Bishop Barnes continues to oppose the revision, saying that last days lie adoption by Parliament might lead to still further chaos.

Discussion in the Lords yesterday occupies a prominent place in today's newspapers. The "Daily News" expresses doubt that the rejection of the bill is desirable, from a purely political standpoint, because of it was rejected there could be no debate in the common. Yesterday's vote in the lords probably anticipate a majority of one hundred for the bill in the Lords and 150 in the Commons.

CATTLE EXPORTS

Following up our recent editorial in which it was pointed out that the demand for dairy products in the United States, and not the Australian trade treaty was responsible for the decline in butter making, it is of interest to note that J. A. McPeters, head of the dairy department of the United Farmers' Co-operative is inclined to the same idea. His view of the situation is that it is an abnormal cycle, created by a shortage of dairy cattle in the United States, which has been further accentuated by the losses sustained in the recent floods in the New England states. Normally, he points out, the shortage in the eastern states would have been met by drawing on the herds in the western states, but that is not the case at present. Owing to the higher quality of Canadian dairy cattle, a strong demand has been created for them, and the farmers are reaping large profits from the sale of their stock, although, at the same time, this means a decrease in the dairy production of Canada.

The great demand for Canadian dairy cattle is due to the different methods followed by the breeders of the two countries. The farmers of the United States have tended to specialize in the breeding of cows for high production only, paying little attention to type. On the other hand, the Canadian dairy farmers have paid a great deal of attention to the breeding and developing of the dairy type of animals, believing that when the type is right, the production will also be right. It is a good thing for the farmer with a surplus of cattle to sell that this condition prevails, but the result is to produce a situation which is misleading. The farmers cannot eat their cake and have it, too, and it is impossible for the dairy farmers of Canada to sell thousands of animals to the United States and still keep up the aggregate of production.

MR. DRURY ESCAPES

Tried before the U.F.O. on a charge of political heresy, or, to be more exact, on a charge of political bigamy and with Miss Agnes Macphail as chief counsel for the prosecution, Mr. E. C. Drury, whom some people will remember as having once been Premier of Ontario, has escaped through a disagreement of the jury. A motion of censure against him which had it been adopted, would have meant his "excommunication" (Mr. Drury's description) was watered down until, as Miss Macphail sadly confessed, it "meant nothing."

The indictment against Mr. Drury was, briefly, that while supposed to be living in wedlock with the U.F.O. he had been walking out with another young lady, to wit, the Liberal party, and that, indeed, this liaison carried on in a clandestine and sometimes in a brazen way, had reached the proportions of a scandal. Miss Macphail, with the sure instincts of her sex, rebelled against it.

Nor was the indictment softened by the fact that as claimed by Miss Macphail, Mr. Drury's philanderings and faithlessness became much more flagrant after adversity had visited the party which, in its more prosperous days, had been content to "love, cherish and protect." It was bad enough to have an occasional waltz with Mr. King while Mr. Drury's household was prosperous, but that he should desert it when the dowry which the U.F.O. brought him was running low—well, that was too much.

Yet Mr. Drury has not been ostracized. Not formally, anyway. Wronged parties, like wronged wives, have an imponderable capacity for forgiveness, particularly when justice involves outright surrender of what they feel belongs to them to the foe; so the expremier, showing signs of penitence, is to stay. Yet the reconciliation, we fear, will be in vain. Mr. Drury, whatever his vows to the U.F.O., and regardless of his protestations of fidelity now, has, and always had, an incurable infatuation for the Liberal party—and will stray back to it. Miss Macphail's intuition is right.

TRASHY FLOODS

Fifteen United States publications have, according to a statement made by the Canadian Printer and Publisher, a combined circulation in Canada of 23,358,812 copies. Those fifteen are but a few of the six hundred American magazines and weekly newspapers that circulate in Canada and carry on the work of Americanizing us.

However, we seem to have a pretty good resisting power. A plebiscite on the issue of annexation to the United States would be a very one-sided affair—and not in the way of favor for annexation.

Yet wouldn't it be worth while, in the interest of Canadian publications, to have something in the way of protection for them against the flood of print, mostly trash, that pours into this country from across the border?

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

The average man is so optimistic that he actually laughs at trouble except, of course, when the trouble is his own.—Montreal Herald.

As long as barbers have become chiropodists, and undertakers morticians, it is time that the lawyers' truant officers in Cincinnati are to be known henceforth as officers of child accounting.—Detroit News.

A traffic commission in the United States has just completed a report looking to the drafting of a uniform code of traffic laws, regulations and customs for highways, and the Provinces of Canada are being invited, on the invitation of the Minister of Highways of Ontario, to co-operate so as to secure the adoption of uniform regulations for the whole continent of North America. With the growing influx of motor cars a uniform traffic code is much to be desired.—Hamilton Spectator.

He—If you keep looking at me like that, I'm going to kiss you.

She—Well, I can't hold this expression very much longer.

The Patient's Wife—"Oh, before you go up to see my husband, Doctor, will you just see what's wrong with Chu? He's not very well."

The Doctor—"I'm not in the habit of treating dogs professionally, Madam."

The Patient's Wife—"Oh, indeed! Then you needn't attend my husband."

RECOMPENSE

He begged of me the little toys at night
That I had taken lest he play too long;
The little broken toys, his sole delight
I held him close in wiser arms and strong.
And sang, with trembling voice, the evensong.

So, Lord, like children at the even fall—
We weep for broken playthings, loath to part,
Whilst Thou, unmoved, because Thou knowest all,
Dost hold us from the treasures of Thy heart.

But we shall find them at the morning tide,
Awaiting us unbroken, beautiful.

Business Man—Indeed?

Fair Applicant—No; the boss was already married.

A young man was boasting that his family traced its ancestry much further back than the Conqueror.

"I suppose," sneered one of his friends, "you'll be telling us that your forefathers were in the Ark with Noah?"

"Certainly not," said the young man, with a lift of his eyebrows. "My people had a boat of their own."

THE PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

It is said that ex-Alderman Robinson will be a candidate for the Mayoralty again this year.

Rev. Newton Hill, Belleville, preached excellent sermons in Queen Street Methodist Church, Kingston, yesterday. Mr. Hill is vigorous in style and thought.

Mr. W. Knight, Everett street, was returning from his farm in Sidney last evening when he was run into and upset by a man going in the opposite direction. His horse ran away, leaving Mr. Knight on the roadside with a badly bruised shoulder. The buggy and harness were badly damaged. Mr Knight was brought home by a friend.

The pupils of the High School are preparing for their "Commencement" to be held on Thursday night. One of the features of the evening will be the presentation of medals. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, H. Corby, Esq., M.P., W. H. Biggar, Esq., M.P.P. and Thos. McGinnis are each to present gold medals to the successful competitors in the four forms of the High School. The presentations will also go all through the oratory building. Outside the new models were scampering back and forth. He watched them with a host of genuine affection in his eyes.

"Meantime, however, people continued to buy the old models and our plan was devoting one-fourth of its work to producing replacements from which

NEW CAR COST $100,000,000

Ford Began Planning For It Five Years Ago; Now On Market

Dearborn, Mich.—Henry Ford reached down into the pants pockets of his motor company for $100,000,000 to make the new Ford automobile.

Today he is producing a few hundred cars each 24 hours. He expects by January to manufacture them at the rate of 1,000 every turn of the clock. After the first thousand, then the

The time will come when, if there are six persons in a family, there will be six cars for the folks, says "The Boss," as Ford is known in Dearborn.

Exaggerated Report

In an interview Henry Ford gave no countenance to the rumour circulated that the building of the new car had meant an expenditure of approximately $250,000,000.

"All I know," he said, "is that when we started actually to work out this matter of models we had $150,000,000 in the bank. Now we have worked it out and we have $250,000,000 in the bank. That's how we have spent $100,000,000 in the operation."

"But," he added, "what's the difference? Money does its part in the production of anything just the same as ore in the bin, coal or any other materials going into the car."

This great expenditure of money was made possible without outside financing simply because Ford believes in building and maintaining a tremendous money surplus—and today he is continuing to build that surplus for his next change in production. He is ready is planning for that.

Began Five Years Ago

"We actually started planning abandonment of the old model 'T' around five years ago," he said, "but, looking backward and forward in his thinking as we always do, we did not start building outside the new factory building. Outside the new models were scampering back and forth. He watched them with a host of genuine affection in his eyes.

"Meantime, however, people continued to buy the old models and our plan was devoting one-fourth of its work to producing replacements from which there is an income of around $10,000,000 monthly. Finally we decided that we'd simply travel to the production of the old model 'T' if we ever were to get going on the new car models. So we stopped production of the old cars, continuing to operate the plant at one-fourth capacity and assembling. And let me say this—as long as there is a model 'T' on the road we will keep up the business of producing repair parts and we will produce them better than ever before."

Times Have Changed

"We stopped making the model 'T' because times have changed. The big model belonged to another age. It was responsible for good roads in this country.

"Good roads and prosperity have driven it out. A new refinement in motor manufacture has been made possible by the very conditions which the model 'T' has created. So we produced the new cars because they belong to the new age."

Mr. Ford revealed that he and his son, Edsel, passed personally on every thing on the car. And any apparent delays that occurred were due entirely to the fact that they were always find ing new ways to improve the car.

"As for the so-called secrecy and mystery about price of the new car, we told friends at the outset that we didn't know what the price would be, but added it would be somewhere close to the old cash-on-the-line," he said "We made no secret of that. As a matter of fact we actually didn't know what the prices would be until the day before they were announced. Edsel and I sat in the hall out there in the shop and went over the figures. It is still an hour after the announcement of prices and that was all there was to that except the announcements the next day."

Doing His Best

"However, I will say we can't produce as cheaply as we think we can. I am sure people will be willing to pay fifteen or twenty cents more per car. After all, about the only thing there is to maintaining the good will of the customer is to convince him you are producing the best possible article at the least possible price for him. We're going to do the best we can.

"Right now we're producing about 10 cars daily and expect to run this up to a thousand a day. After the first thousand we are beginning to get going."

Asked if he would make an effort to capture the majority of foreign countries with the new cars, Mr. Ford explained that, of course, his company would sell cars wherever there was a market.

TWO ACES GIVEN POSTS

Rome, December 12.—Two of Italy's leading air aces, lives been given new posts under reduction of the list issued Commander Francesco de Pinedo, rated for his 35,000-mile flight from Italy to South America, thence to the United States and Canada and across the North Atlantic to Italy again, becomes commander of the third zone which includes Rome.

Major Mario de Bernardi, who took the Schneider Cup from the United States in the last international race, has been placed in command of the pursuit group at Mirafiori.

West Indies Cruise of Recaptured Adventure

Four hundred years of strife with pirates and plotting are recommissioned in the history of the islands of the Spanish Main. For all these bright islands are monuments of the days of romance, of explorers and pirates. The West Indies mirror the world in miniature or the way of the world, and one sees them today in the graceful under tropical sailing.

A modern voyage of re-discovery is no longer a matter of years or even months as is emphasized by the schedule of the proposed cruises to this region of romance by the Canadian Pacific liner Montroyal which sails from New York on January 26 and February 29, each returning in 29 days.

Judging by the popularity of these cruises, the West Indies are still as tempting as they were to Columbus, Pizzo de Leon, Drake and Cortes, Hawkins and a hundred others. Although there remain today no pirates, no rich galleons to rob, for both voyages in search of these still remain the blazing air on silver seas, the beauties of coral islands, and of tropical life and many reminders of a bizarre past. Even in the matter of buried treasure everyone would like to partake the world as did Lloyd George Williams who found until some old ruins at Panama last year, by means of a light ray detecting instrument, a treasure worth $50,000. This mass of gold and jewels was unearthed on the site of San Jose Church which was destroyed in 1671 by pirates under Sir Henry Morgan.

Every one on the new Montroyal cruises offers living testimony of a romance in the Old World. There is Cuba, the beautiful Island, over the Spanish Empire, Jamaica, headquarters in the old days of the pirates of the Spanish Main, the ferror highway of Spanish treasure trains and home of many of the world's greatest canal; Colombia, strong-hold of filibusters; Curacao, a little bit of Holland in the Caribbean; Porto Rico, where Columbus rested and whence Ponce de Leon set forth to find the Fountain of Youth; Nassau, in the Bahamas, with its coral formations and its gardens and Bermuda, the "Isle of Devils" of Shakespeare's time—all recall exciting days of the past and afford delightful in a voyage of recaptured adventure.

"Make Your Watch Tell The Truth"

No one loves a liar, not even in a watch. Some watches have been born conscientious but have been taught to lie by bad handling. Other watches born with a slight tendency to error could readily have been corrected had they got into proper hands.

Truth, indeed, reigns supreme in this world.

DANCE TO BE HELD

The annual dance of the High School Athletic Club is to be held on Thursday, 23rd of December. It has been announced. These dances are always popular with the younger set.

DIRECTORS MET.

Following the supper held at the Y. M.C.A., for the team workers of the financial campaign drive, the directors of that organization held a meeting and transacted routine business.

MEETING POSTPONED

The meeting called last evening for the election of officers of the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion was held but the officers were not finally decided upon. A meeting of the executive will be held on Thursday afternoon next.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

The installation of the officers of the Quinte Friendship Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, will take place in the local Masonic Temple this evening. R. N. Spencer, Grand First Principal of the Grand Chapter of Canada, will be the installing officer. It will also be the occasion of the official visit of Grand Superintendent for Prince Edward District, H. J. Clarke.

REAL ESTATE ACTIVE

Belleville Locators report that real estate in the city has been quite active lately, among the transactions handled by this firm recently is the purchase by Mr S P Flindall of Wellington of a new bungalow on S Park Street. Recently the property of Mr T Harris, also Harold Bateman has purchased a property at 67 Victoria Ave. from the Bullen Estate.

FINANCE OBJECTIVE IS ALMOST REACHED

Another banquet of the teams working on the Y.M.C.A. financial drive was held last evening at the Association building. The reports were most encouraging and showed a reserved interest in the "Y" work and the success attended favorably with the results of the last two campaigns. Mr. Harry Keyman, the General Chairman of the Campaign was in the Chair and announced that the objective was almost achieved.

Immediately following the supper a meeting of the Directors of the "Y" was held when a number of improvements were proposed and activities were planned for the coming year. These improvements and plans will no doubt be of considerable interest to the general public. Mr. Bert Jennings was in the chair.

TRAIN'S WEIGHT

ginger Thomas, the conductor, train was killed instantly and his fireman, R. Post, suffered grievous hurts and was unable to work.

There were, however, a score of witnesses, including residents of the village, who saw the occurrence and C.P.R. officials from Toronto and Smith's Falls and the train crews.

Competent Engineers

It was frankly admitted by important officials of the company that Bamlett and Bradford, the two engineers have both competent men with excellent records. Bradford had been in charge of a locomotive since 1910, save for several years he was overseas and won his commission on the battlefield. Some members of the crew of the freight train were inclined to believe that Bradford, the engineer of the freight, had been remiss in his duty in not sending out a man to warn the oncoming express that the line was not clear. They said no flagman had been told to flag the passenger train, and they thought Bradford could have required a brakeman 200 or 300 yards eastward, dropped him there and then returned with the rest of the engine at Dockrill.

In behalf of Bradford it was stated by his counsel, Arthur W. Roebuck of Toronto, that the freight train was overloaded and that he could have backed into the siding in ample time but for this fact.

Resume Jan. 9

The inquest was adjourned until Monday, Jan. 9, at 10 a.m., when it is expected Bradford and Post will be able to attend and give evidence.

The presiding officer is Dr. G. H. Cowan, Coroner, of Napanee, and the Crown Attorney is U. Morley Wilson of the same place.

H. C. Grou, General Superintendent of the Ontario District of the C.P.R. was the principal official of the company present. In reply to Mr. Roebuck he stated that all trains were controlled by time-table and train orders and when asked if this was the usual manner of handling trains, said it was "the best railway practice known." He also was asked what he thought of the wooden colonist coaches as compared with steel, and whether steel colonist coaches would have stood the impact with less loss of life. His reply was that reports of steel-coache wrecks had shown that these coaches had on occasion telescoped each other, with terrible results.

ARRANGE SANTA CLAUS BASKETS

Kiwanians Will Carry On Christmas Cheer Work As Formerly

Kiwanis will this year again play Santa Claus to Belleville's needy families. Following their custom of the past few years, the local Service Club will pack and distribute upwards of seventy-five Christmas baskets, thus doing their part to bring Christmas cheer into homes not otherwise in a position to have old Santa visit them. At the weekly meeting of the Club to-day in the Queen's Hotel, a committee of three, Dick Faulkner, George Beckwith and Charlie Hanna, was appointed to superintend the work of preparation and distribution of these baskets.

One week from to-day, Kiwanis will entertain the boys and girls of the Children's Shelter, at the Queen's Hotel. A Christmas tree will be set up, with gifts for every child at the Shelter, and it looks as if the kiddies were in for a big evening next Saturday.

Kiwanian, Dr. Bill Lewis, of Barrie and Lieut. Governor of the Northern Ontario District was the speaker at to-day's meeting, and gave Kiwanis an interesting, informative address on the "Romance of Modern Science" Taking his listeners back three thousand years and more the speaker traced the development of medical science down through the centuries and up to the present. He told of the tremendous contributions of Harvey, the discovery of blood circulation, in the 17th century, of Jenner in 1800 the work of Edward Jenner, who first introduced vaccination to prevent smallpox, of Lawrence in 1895 who first treated hydrophobia with inoculations, of Lord Joseph Lister, who gave us modern ideas of of antiseptic surgery, and of others in the long procession of those who have made possible the medical skill of the present day.

The speaker made a plea to Kiwanians to interest themselves in the vocational guidance of the youth with a view to developing their talents, for who could say but that they mashit produce another Banting or Osler in the District.

Kiwanian Harry Greener announced that Senior Baseball was being planned for Belleville in 1928; already about six has been subscribed to the fund with an objective of $1500.

COUNTY COURT OPENED TO-DAY

Dr. Taft's Appeal Is Laid Over Until December 29th

County Court opened this afternoon before His Honor Judge Deroche and the one case set down for the afternoon session was adjourned until Thursday December 29th.

At the opening of the sitting Crown Attorney Ketcham stated that Dr. Walter L. Taft was appealing the judgments handed down by Magistrate Mott in Belleville Police Court on an L C A charge. Mr. Donnan announced that Mr. Chas. Payne, Counsel for the appellate was not ready to proceed and requested that December 30th be set aside as the date when the appeal will be heard. The Bench granted the request.

Mr. E. J. Butler, Cqunsel for the plaintiffs in the case of Bedford vs McVey asked for a postponement on the grounds that one of the chief witnesses was indisposed and unable to attend.

He moved for the adjournment of the case until the Spring Session.

Mr. T. Y. Wills' Counsel for the defendants agreed to the postponement on the stipulation that his client's costs for attending court to-day would be paid. He claimed that his client was not exercised diligence in finding out if all of his witnesses could attend. He objected to the case being laid over until Spring.

"I'm going to try this case later if all three attorneys are not willing to have it laid over. Dec. 29th was set as trial date.

The case arose out of an automobile accident near Ridgeway some time ago.

Jacob Christian Hoff, originally of Norway now of Belleville and Teodore Paraninuk of Roseneath, Province of Manitoba both applied for naturalization papers and these were granted by Judge Deroche.

CLOSING QUOTATIONS

STANDARD MINING EXCHANGE

Quotations supplied by Hoper L. Gibson & Co., per Jamieson, Bone, Local Manager.

The market was decidedly weak again today, with the public apparently taking Christmas gratis wherever possible. Amulet sold off about 50c to $4.65, Bidcood was strong at $1.47, Central Manitoba was in demand at $7. Don't off .6c on another denial of rich find by the mine manager. Some day they may make a find that he wont deny, you never can tell. Teck was offered $10. Kirkland Lake off 5 to 8 points. Laval continued weak, Noranda fairly strong and Wright Hargreaves established a new low again at $6.35.

Quotations at 3 p.m. were as follows.

DON'T RUN FROM WORRY - - - FIGHT IT

By LOUIS E. BISCH

Worry, the besetting sin of the mind, has been attacked from many angles. Time was—and it is not so long ago—that the worried one was told to take a trip, have a change of scene, divert his thoughts to other things and forget it.

Forget your worries was the slogan. We hear it still, in fact. But not so commonly.

The old belief, that new sights, different people, and a distracting environment would quickly restore a harassed mind of normalcy.

A great deal of emphasis was placed upon will-power.

"Just push it out of your thoughts as though your worry did not exist"—or words to that effect—was not an unusual prescription.

Convenient and enjoyable panaceas they all were. But did they work?

It worked for some—yes.

Worry actually disappeared, never to return, in cases where the victims were not very harassing.

It was found, however, that in real, deep-seated, tormenting worries the job of getting rid of them was not quite so simple pleasant or easy.

The latest viewpoint, which is prim arily psychological, acknowledges the benefits that may be derived from getting away from one's daily routine, but it contends that the method is far from satisfactory as a cure-all.

You see, the person who is obsessed with worry has already tried to do the very thing that is advised.

In other words, people do not worry for fun. They can't help themselves worrying. They usually try to rid themselves of the worry.

The worrying individual tries to forget it automatically. He also has endeavored to exert his will-power. The mind takes care of these self-protective mechanisms. The mind tries to heal itself.

Therefore, admonishing him to do what he has been trying to accomplish by himself for hours, for days, for years, even, merely adds to his panic all the more.

After a while not only does he have his worries to battle with—and that is certainly no small torture—he most likely gets it into his head in addition that he is not as strong and virile as other people.

Humility, shame and self-accusation are heaped upon him in addition to the worry.

His burden, instead of becoming lessened, becomes greater and more unendurable still.

No! Nowadays different tactics are adopted.

Mr. X or Miss Y or Mrs. Z are told to take their worries in hand fearlessly face the worry and fight it. Keep on running away, because that leads to panic.

Instead of taking a vacation or a trip or what not, spend the time in studying the worry from every angle and analyzing it down to the last particular.

Fight the worry to a standstill.

Then fight it some more until you get it on the run.

Then, when the storm is over—then and then only—is the time to run off. Then only is it possible to forget and have a bully time.

It's the fear reaction in worry that really does the hurt.

But if you stick to your saddle and fight, you become more and more conscious while if you run you become more and more afraid.

Chase worry before—shelter by a direct, forceful, frontal attack.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

We are two girls sixteen and eighteen. We would like to know how to be popular with both boys and girls. We're not so very ugly and come from good families. We go in for a little bit of excitement, but we want the right kind. We can dance if it is desirable, but we do not have to be dancing to have a good time. We enjoy swimming, picnic parties and shows.

How can we make young people interested in us and how can we develop a good personality?

WORSE AND MORE OF IT.

WORSE AND MORE OF IT: It frequently happens that when two girls are very close friends they become so self-centered in themselves that all and every thought of anyone else is entirely pushed aside. And this is mostly the answer to the question you ask. Popularity is such an elusive will-o'-the-wisp that it's hard to give any definite recipe. Try to not be so oblivious of others. Very often old and simple friends don't sit in a corner and be sympathy all to yourselves. It may be that you don't actually do just this but you are so inseparable that it becomes tiresome to your friends to find each of you hanging onto the other every second. You will spoil all your chances of popularity by pursuing such tactics. Make yourselves agreeable, friendly charming. Develop your interests and get along, and I'm sure that in time your friends will recognize your friendliness and discover that at last you've found the secret to popularity.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

In the school where I go the girls have their "sheiks" though nothing is serious.

I like a boy, but I do not know whether he likes me or not. Sometimes I think he does and sometimes I think he cares nothing for me. How can I find out whether he likes me or not?

CHICK.

CHICK: If you children would make make up your minds to be friendly in your school tasks instead of finding "sheiks" you'd be storing up much happiness for yourselves in the future. Friendships between boys and girls are splendid things, but all this talk of "sheiks" is utterly ridiculous. Dear child, if you only knew how fortunate you are to have the opportunity to go to school and if you would but recognize the advantages to be derived therefrom I am sure you would make up your mind to store your brain with all the things you are being taught which will stand you in good stead in the life before you. There's plenty of time for sweethearts when you have finished school, so put such thoughts from your mind. Accept the friendship of your schoolmates, but don't let any silly, sentimental thoughts enter your mind and probably spoil your ventures and destroy the illusions which will so endear you at some future time to the one and only man.

No housewife likes the odor of cooking to go through the house. To prevent this happening the French are known to resort to one or two simple devices. If the odor of the anticipated cooking is not exceptionally strong they'll take a potato, cut it in two, and lay one half, skin down, on the stove. It warms them and the steam condensing on the potato absorbs the odor of whatever happens to be cooking provided the odor is not too intense. If it should happen to be very strong the housewife may take an orange-peel, put a few drops of vinegar on it, and lay this peel on the stove in the same way as the potato half. The skin gets a little warm, but does not cook, and the kitchen is wrapped odor.

A SUITOR TOO MANY
By MILDRED BARBOUP

But, all this time, even during her interview with Mr. Jackson, Lilla's unconscious mind had been working on the ring story. An inspiration suddenly popped out, full-fledged.

"Since you make me break faith, Herbert," she said, with dignity, "I'll tell you why I have Max's ring. She—he met to me at the bridge and she had no money. I told her it was quite all right, but she said that I must keep the ring until she gets, her next about it and, of course, I was afraid of hurting her feelings. I felt terrible of losing it, that I put it in the secret compartment—"

Herbert's arms were around her, his lips against her hair.

"My darling, forgive me! I've been a brute," he whispered.

Lilla forgave him sighing with relief. She sank back in his arms and smiled to herself. The evening had been a great asset to her.

"If I ever get out of this mess, I'll never tell an untruth again as long as I live!" she vowed.

A little later she thought: "I hope he figures May Varney isn't wearing her wedding-ring tonight!"

CHAPTER IX.

"THE WICKED FLEE—"

Lilla and Dorothy were driving down town in Dorothy's runabout. They were en route to the headquarters of an organization that collected funds for disabled war veterans.

"You've got the hank-draft safe in your hand-bag, Lilla, don't you?" said. It was in that form that she had arranged to make the donation, and, when Dorothy nodded assentingly, she added, with a sigh: "I'm sorry to be such a pest about this business, but you see this role....Wouldn't I have made a rotten adventuress, though?"

After awhile she said: "Remember, Dot, you've got to do the presentation and all the talking. I mustn't appear in the matter at all."

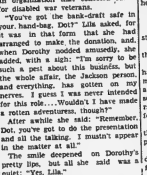

The smile deepened on Dorothy's face. She, too, all of a sudden, was quiet: "Yes, Lila."

The traffic was heavy, and Dorothy was forced to stop her cars every few yards. Lilla fidgeted nervously, her slim gloved fingers twisting and untwisting the chain of her mesh bag. Her restless gaze roved up and down the street, watching the moving crowds that thronged the sidewalks of Fifth Avenue.

They had stopped momentarily before a fashionable shop noted for its fur treasures. There were some beautiful old brocades in the window.

Lilla clutched Dorothy's arm.

"Do stop here a minute, Dot."

From the Wardrobe of the Court of Lilliput

This paragraph is addressed exclusively to Aunties and Uncles—that is all, and it contains a whispered message of real importance. I would like to add that last exquisite touch to the Christmas stocking of each and every one you've'll dress her doll in one of those creations from the capital of the Land of Fancy that's east of the sun and west of the moon. And to them is a complete wardrobe. On the left is a ruffled dress of organdie or lawn adorned into a tiny embroidered dots. Of course the basket has ruffles to match. If we could be in the scenery of this blonde baby we could admire the pretty slip and pantie combination. Pink ribbon is set behind with its lace edging when they are carefully put away in the basket. It sleeps in an elderdown or blanket edged deeply in lace, with pink satin or blue satin ribbon, with a bood lined in silk until quite full to the face. For the slightly "older" doll the same idea but on a larger scale. Slip and daffy. Its shirt is two tiered and the bodice has a bonk. They may be of organdie, lawn or cotton voile. She includes in her tiny wardrobe a lace edged nightgown of nainsook, lawn or batiste to match her slip and pantie combination. For visiting she wears a full length cape of cashmere, shirtoon or flannel with a turncover collar and a ribbon tie. These patterns may be had for dolls measuring from twelve to fifteen inches. The skirt gets a little warm, but does not cook, and the kitchen is wrapped odor.

(Copyright, 1927, by Bulterick).

"I can't very well do anything else."

"I mean it's go in Vanderpool's. I wasn't thinking of that because for Cousin Anne Sneed. It's her birthday tomorrow, and I almost forgot. Seeing those brocades reminded me."

She glanced at the car and sped through the crowd. Dorothy, with a resigned sigh, turned her runabout into a side street, parked it, and sauntered back to Vanderpool's.

Lilla was busily purchasing a coffer as brought silver.

"I thought it was brocades you wanted," murmured Dorothy, gazing abstractedly about the dim shop. There was only one other customer here, a man. He was awkwardly examining some fragile Venetian glasses.

"Some ladies make bugbear a wedding present!" she thought.

Just as Lilla had received her purchase from the clerk, the other customer turned around. His abstracted, slightly harassed gaze rested upon Lilla, hesitated, wavered, returned. His brightened and took several quick steps forward.

"Why—it's—"

To Dorothy's astonishment, no less than to the consternation of the strange young man, Lilla gave him one look and bolted.

The clerk of the shop banged behind her.

The clerk was first to recover.

"But Madame had not paid!"

The strange young man, again stared at Dorothy and stammered:

"—I b-beg your pardon, but wasn't that Miss Lilla Jackson—Miss Lilla Parker?"

Dorothy, still stunned at Lilla's behavior, looked so blank that the young man ended away with a muttered apology. A moment later he took himself out of the shop, with a very embarrassed look on one who has made a foolish mistake.

Dorothy opened her purse and paid the anxious and curious clerk for the purchase Lilla had made off with.

"I must Madame was not taken suddenly ill," murmured the clerk, mollified.

Dorothy replied carelessly: "Oh, no; she probably saw a friend passing outside." But her curiosity was heightened as she passed out of the shop, conscious of the curious stare that followed her.

"Now why on earth did Lila bolt like that?" she wondered acutely. "And what was the young man?"

She went in search of her car, fully expecting to find Lila in it, but there was no sign of her. Dorothy climbed in and waited. She had engaged a model for the afternoon; she didn't want to be late, and there was still that errand regarding the disposition of Jack Farquahar's insurance money.

Why, she wondered, did the thought of that gallant young officer cause Lila to bolt from the shop in France haunt her so insistently? She had never even seen him.

And where on earth was Lila? And what had the strange young man in the shop done to make her cut and run so disgracefully?

"Say, lady!" A nasal voice cut across her reverie. She turned with a start to see a newsboy beside her car. He pointed to Lilla's handbag. "Is that dame over there trying to git youse lie ner?"

Dorothy's gaze followed the direction of the finger. There was a modest hotel on the opposite side of the street. Lilla stood in the doorway.

Dorothy slid out of her car and sauntered over.

"Honestly, Lila, what is this—a French farce?" she demanded. "It's time you simply had to be a tragedy," responded Lila hollowly. "Do you know what this was—the man in the shop?"

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

Pearl, ivory or bone handled knives should never be allowed to stand in water even for a moment. Water discolors and loosens such handles.

Mix a small quantity of flour with a little water, stirring out all the lumps and spread over the top crust of pie before baking. It will make it deliciously flaky.

When using a paint remover don't be so anxious to have it remove paint quickly. Apply with a brush and give the remover time to do its work. When paint forms in putty-like mass remove with putty knife.

Hold a piece of heavy cardboard under moldings when painting them. Paint that drops from the brush will spatter, the walls.

Lacquered brass must, of course, be kept free from polishes; usually a lemon or damp cloth will suffice to keep it in order. If it does get dirty, wash with a little ammonia, dry and polish with a dry whiting.

NEW LAMP CHIMNEY

Before using a new lamp chimney it should be placed in a pan of cold water and brought to the boil. Allow it to cool before drying it. This will harden the glass, and it will last much longer. A smoky chimney is best cleaned by being plunged into warm vinegar and water, to which a little salt has been added. This loosens the soot.

WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

The newest cocktail napkins are triangular in shape and edged with narrow lace.

Beaver, lynx, fox, and light fluffy badger are the outstanding features of the fur-trimmed sport coat in New York at present.

"Kashatula," the open weave which has been one of the most popular Rodier fabrics for the past year, is being shown this season in Paris in a double weight entirely in silk, and is called "Tuliamam."

In her black costumes which are so smart this winter, the Parisienne allows immortelle embellies it in some way with astrakan fur for the coat and often, also, for the winter dress.

A smart new necklace is made of strung strands of 2½d penny twisted tweester to form a rope, and at either end is a large ornament of carved jade while the necklace is worn with the looped-over ends hanging down in front.

Two materials so individual as to belong in no classification are velveteen, used for the packet or coat of re sort ensembles, and shantung for one piece or two-piece frocks, and those with metal novelty materials for evening costumes, have a definite place in new fashions.

The habit of young women who throw their coats around them, leaving the sleeves loose, has been brought out practically in a special model, in which one contrasting arm of the sleeves loose and slits the coat under the arm so that the arms may pass through.

Cardigans are often made to resemble collarless jackets, and suits to give the effect of a tailleur. Short, separate skirts are sometimes worn with the ensemble, while again long, self-scarfs attached to the jacket or carnelian rival small fur collarettes, those which extend into a fur scarf.

They Laugh—as Health Comes Back

Rose and Valerie are sisters. Their stories are typical of those of girls of age, respectively, but to look at them you would think they were twins and if-so slight and delicate are they. And when you hear the laughter and chatter of these two sisters you are reading side by side in hospital beds you would never guess that they were ill.

Yes, they are both very ill—but the wonder is they are not at all, for just a few months ago they were practically dying. Rose is a victim of anaemia. They are being sent away because they are gaining weight and strength slowly. Valerie, who has never lost your health, can hardly believe that she is going to be well and strong again. Everybody who ever expected to get well. But then—that is the wonder of the Stoddart Hospital for Consumptives, and it is being carried on in the same wonderful way at the present time as it was throughout the year.

Rose and Valerie are a farmer's daughters, in a home where there are eleven children, and they say they are happy to be there, and they are happy to be getting their best so that no other members of the family walk unawares into the dread pitfall that leads to consumption.

You would like to contribute to this wonderful work? It depends largely upon subscriptions.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CURLING CLUB

Mr. Jos. Imlah Will Occupy President's Chair In 1928

Reports received at the annual meeting of the Belleville Curling Club at the rink on George Street last evening were most gratifying and indications point to another banner year. Over twenty members left the annual meeting last night feeling that the Club is on the eve of a fine season and with the capable set of officers that were elected last night success is assured.

The retiring officers were complimented on the work achieved during the past year. Many new members have promised to link themselves up with the Curling Club and especially is the younger blood welcomed. All is in readiness and as soon as ice is available the activities of the Club will get under way.

Mr. Joseph Imlah who acted as Vice-President last season was chosen as President for the coming year and will make an ideal Chairman. Mr. Imlah has been one of the enthusiasts of the Curling Club since coming to Belleville from Fergus some years ago. The other members of the Executive are, G. J. Symons, Vice-President, and H. A. Thomson, Secy.

The complete list of officers and committees are as follows:

President—J. W. Imlah.
Vice-Pres.—G. J. Symons.
Secy.-Treas.—H. A. Thomson.
Entertainment Committee—Messrs. Jay, Daniels, Dickens and Dewar.
Reception Committee—Messrs. Wray, Ackerman, Bedford, Jones.
Management Committee—Messrs. Wray, Hurley, Allen, McCarthur, Calloway and Gartley.
Ice Committee—Messrs. Gartley, Burgess and Hurley.
Auditors—Messrs. Dawkins and Dewar.

Representatives to Ontario Curling Association—R. J. Wray and J. A. Kerr.

Reps. to Central Ontario Curling League—Messrs. Jones and Gartley.

Patrons—Mayor-Elect M. P. Duff, Judge Wills and F. E. O'Flynn.

Judges Wills and F. E. O'Flynn.

Patronesses—Mrs. M. P. Duff, Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn and Mrs. J. F. Wills.

Hon. President—W. E. Gartley.

Life Membership.

Membership fees for 1927-28 will remain the same as 1926-27, namely $15, $10 and $7.50.

Messrs. J. D. Clarke, J. A. Bowbridge, Frank Mitchell and R. W. Adams were elected as honorary members of the Club.

The Secretary was directed to send letter of condolence to the families of the late Geo. Dean and the late F. W. Hurley.

A motion was passed that the Secretary for 1927-28 be paid an honor-

NO LICENSE

Kingston, Dec. 13.—"Professor" Ira Dean, an aged resident of Harrowsmith, was fined $25 and costs with an option of one month in jail when he appeared before County Magistrate Bradshaw on Saturday morning charged with practising medicine contrary to the Ontario Medical Act.

Mr. Dean pleaded not guilty to the charge, although he admitted that much of his evidence submitted by S. G. Parker, specialist for the Ontario Medical Council, was true. The evidence of this aged man was that he had been for the same kind of thing for twenty years and that he was simply trying to do good to his fellow beings.

BREAKS WRIST AGAIN

Port Hope, Dec. 13.—As a result of a fall just outside her door on Saturday evening, Mrs. J. Thomas is in Port Hope Hospital suffering from a broken wrist. Just two years ago Mrs. Thomas had the misfortune to fall and break the same wrist as the one in this time. The injury is quite painful.

BEAR RUNNER ARRESTED

Cobourg, Dec. 13.—Charles Fenton, formerly of Brighton, and now of Hamilton was arrested on Saturday afternoon by Police Chief Wm. G. Cook while working on a run boat at Cobourg harbour. Fenton appeared in the Police Court at Cobourg this morning on a charge of fraud and was remanded until December 15th, when he will come before Magistrate W. H. Floyd at Brighton.

THIEVES BUSY

Cobourg, Dec. 13.—Thieves were busy in Cobourg on Sunday night, making a call at the residence of Miss Mary McCluskey at the corner of George and Haydock streets, between 7 and 8 o'clock, when they completely ransacked the house but took nothing, the object of their search apparently being money, none of which had been left lying around.

BROTHERS IN JAIL

Cobourg, Dec. 13.—Two brothers, Ralph Murphy, 26, and George Murphy, 18, who were arrested in Stratford Thursday on warrants issued in Bowmanville, were booked to the Counties Jail at Cobourg Friday to await trial. The Murphys, it is alleged, broke into premises of Lorne Kenneth Wicker when the latter was engaged at the rear of the Couch, Johnston and Cryderman Ice Commercial store at Bowmanville in November. Wicker, charged with attempting to break and enter, was found guilty in County Judge's Criminal Court at Cobourg two weeks ago and was remanded for sentence.

ALEMITE EMPLOYEES TO ASSIST THE NEEDY

During the past week employees of the Alemite Products Company of Canada, Limited, Belleville, have appointed two of their number Messrs. Ray Belmo and Jack Allen, with the object of collecting funds for charitable purposes during Christmas week.

The result was spontaneous and most gratifying as everybody from the General Manager to the Junior employee immediately grasped the worth intent of the appeal and acted accordingly.

It has been decided by the Manager and employees to donate a certain amount to the Canadian Legion for distribution amongst families of returned soldiers who are in need of financial difficulties and require assistance, and the balance presented to the Old Folks' Home.

The Alemite Company has certainly given a practical and most commendable lead which might advantageously be followed by other Companies in the case of ordinary humanity and practical Christianity during the festive season, and so cause a little nearer to the prophecy of Robert Burns when he stated, "It's comin' yet for a' that, and man to man the whole world o'er shall brothers be for a' that."

FRETFUL ABOUT GIRL'S SICKNESS

oner was discharged I put his friend James, in there also. I never saw one bit of change with the man's demeanor. Last Wednesday a letter came from home which he claimed had bad news in it, and made him feel badly. But the next day he swept the floor and was apparently all right. Friday he was all right. I have had prisoners cry before when their friends came to see them."

"On December 9th, what time did you unlock the door?"

"About 6.45."

"Where were you at the time Renaud was in the cell?" asked Crown.

"In the jail proper."

"Who notified you of Renaud?"

"The Crown," I said to Corr, 'Run as fast as you can's and I locked the door and hurried there and found the man completely in the furnace with the exception of his boots. The pot of the furnace is six feet from bottom to top. The door is about 20 inches by 91-2 inches."

"About what did Renaud weight?"

"About 165 pounds."

"What did you do?"

"I grabbed him by the left boot which came off his foot, drawing me against the door and then I grabbed him by the other boot and got him right out."

"He would have difficulty in getting in so small a fire box?"

"Yes."

"Was there a fire in the furnace at 9?"

"Yes, a fire near the door."

"Did he offer any resistance at being taken out of the furnace?"

"When I got him out I supposed I had hold of a dead man and when he was lying on the pavement in front of the furnace he began pounding his feet on the floor and at times was trying to punch skull in."

To Mr. Donnan Mr. Ketchenson said the prisoner's clothes were nearly all burned off and flesh exposed. Just two pairs of socks remained as soon as they could get them and notified the jail surgeon.

"Were you present when the statement was made?"

"Yes, I was present. It was not either Mr. Ketcheson's or Colling's fault, but no one but his own."

"What time on the morning in question did you take the prisoner out of the cell?"

"About twenty minutes past six when I went to get James made myself round and did their usual work."

Here Mr. Colling related that he with James and deceased were cleaning up the upper corridor and Renaud went ahead to empty the pail of dust in the furnace which was his usual work each morning. As the prisoners had been acting rather unusual, Mr. Colling told James that he had better watch him as he might take it into his head to walk home.

"It was only a short time before that I was asking Renaud how he would get home, telling him that it was not very far to walk anyway. James was only gone a short time when he came rushing back to tell me that Renaud was in the furnace and we both ran downstairs and when we got there we started to pull him out by the feet and in doing so I burned my hands. I then put the hose on the front of the furnace and after that we got him out."

Mr. Colling stated to the Crown that the furnace had been acting quite melancholy and never spoke to the prisoners during the night.

The next two witnesses called were Charles James and Joseph Corr, who are serving short terms at the local jail. Both these men were engaged at work in the same section of the building as the deceased and corroborated the evidence of the officials. However James stated that for some time Renaud had been complaining of having a feeling in the ear which he said was bothering him. Corr stated that the deceased had only a few days previous to his death received a letter from home with several crosses on the bottom of it which Renaud took to mean that his family were dead. "As he could not read very well, I read the letter for him and told him that it was full of good news."

Marjorie Refused

Miss Renaud stated that she was a stenographer of the deceased and that he had no knowledge whatever of anything mentally affected before he was taken to the Belleville Jail.

Mrs. Renaud stated:

"Up until the time that your husband was sentenced to jail, did you notice anything about his mental condition?"

"No."

"Did you write to him and visit him during the time he was in jail?"

"Two times. I wrote him that Marie who was very much attached to her father was very sad and that we want to have him blame me for not letting him know that she had been sick. If anything should have happened, 'She was his favorite and has fretted terribly, and failed desperately after he left,' stated the widow to the Crown.

DIVORCE JUDGE DISLIKES WORK

Approves of Woman's Second Thoughts—Hates Farcial Orders

Mr. Justice Hill of the London Divorce Court, who recently hinted that judges might one day be empowered to enforce a divorce even when the petitioner asked only for a judicial separation—made two further pronouncements on the subject of divorce yesterday.

"I think it is very proper," he said, when he was informed in the Divorce Court that the petitioner's wife in a case of judicial separation had decided on advice to proceed for divorce.

Mr. T. Bucknill, for the wife, said when the case was called that the petitioner would not file it was a wife's petition for judicial separation, and there was a chance of misconduct. The wife had received advice, and she now asked for leave to amend her prayer. That would necessitate the case going out of the list, as he could not call evidence that day. He formally applied for leave to amend the prayer in the petition.

Mr. Justice Hill: Yes, leave to amend by asking for dissolution.

Permission for the amended petition asking for a dissolution of the marriage to be restored to the list as fore his death.

early as possible was granted.

"Hateful Duty"

In the other case, that of a wife's petition for a decree of restitution of conjugal rights, Mr. Justice Hill commented:—

"I always have hated and still hate making orders when there is not the slightest chance of their being obeyed and when the court has no power to enforce them."

The petition was brought by Mrs. Ellisa Smith of Park Hill-rise, Croydon, against her husband, Mr. William Joseph Smith.

Mr. Victor Russell for the wife, said in reply to a question by Mr. Justice Hill, that Mrs. Smith wanted her husband to go back to her.

"I was hoping that we were rid of these petitions for restitution of conjugal rights," said Mr. Justice Hill at the conclusion of the evidence. "Fortunately they have fallen by about 400 a year. A few years ago they were something over 600, now they are down to thirteen or fourteen, I think.

"The law entitles people to ask for such orders, and I must carry it out, though what good it does anybody I do not know."

A decree for restitution of conjugal rights was granted.

In the earthquake of 1692, 300,000 persons were buried in Peking alone, note, owned by Mrs. A. L. Delta, of Corfeville, Kas., died at the age of 25 years and 26 days. Twelve years is regarded as an old age for an canary. Rags sang his last song two weeks before.

CHLOROFORM IS 80 YEARS OLD

London. — (By Mail.) — Eighty years ago at the Royal Free Hospital, Edinburgh, a little boy of four was the first patient to undergo a painless operation under chloroform.

The new anaesthetic was simply administered—just sprinkled on a handkerchief by a dour Scotsman with long untidy hair and bushy whiskers. The result was all that he had hoped and believed.

He had made many preliminary tests notably on himself before trying his new discovery in the operating theatre This was the crucial test. Painless surgery of which he had dreamed and for which he toiled, had become a reality.

Sir James Young Simpson might not have impressed strangers with the sympathy or gentleness of his nature; yet the relief of pain was the object of his whole career.

Once he nearly abandoned medicine to greatly mourn he affected by the agony of a woman who had to undergo an operation without an anaesthetic. It was only the thought of the disappointment of his humble parents, who had labored so hard to give their clever boy a chance, that made the baker's son conquer his feelings and "stick to his job."

Keep your temper if it is good and don't lose it if it is bad.

CAPITOL THEATRE

BRINGING UP FATHER

There is more fun than fiction in the statement that the world is more interested in fun than fame, more interested in comedy than music, but there is no denying the fact that a combination that cannot be beaten.

"Jiggs," "Maggie", "Dinty Moore" and the pretty daughter upon the stage. Not one of the three succeeds the vast amount of fast and furious fun that could be portrayed in one reeling entertainment. The overwhelming success of these musical comedies have prepared the way for a perception of the not-to-be-forgotten "Jiggs". This time he appears in an irresistible musical comedy "Bringing Up Father in Politics".

The actor, George McManus, has again surpassed himself in mirth-provoking situations and the manager Bill has equally surpassed all previous productions by presenting thirteen pretty, effective girls, twenty-four of them, and dancing music, the kind that jazzes you also, even in memory. See it all for yourself at the Capitol Theatre, Thursday, Dec. 15, one evening only.

REGENT THEATRE

Let the "Ten Modern Commandments" be your guide as to what's worth while entertainment, and you can't go wrong.

BELLE THEATRE

"Paid to Love," Howard Hawks' third directorial effort for Fox Films, now showing at Belle Theatre until Wednesday, December 14th, offers his favored masculine role opposite Virginia Valli. The story concerns an American interested in mechanics than in society. Romance enters his life, however, as he encounters plenty of action in the course of it.

Some men would rather sleep an hour later than to wake up and find themselves famous.

JUDICIAL SALE

Pursuant to the Judgment and Order for Sale made by the Supreme Court of Ontario in an action of Daly vs Taylor and Pulver, and bearing date respectively the 16th day of March A.D. 1927 and the 21st day of November A.D. 1927, there will be sold by public auction, with the approbation of the Local Master in Belleville at the office of the Local Master in the Court House at the City of Belleville on the 22nd day of December, 1927, at the hour of 12 o'clock in the afternoon, the following valuable farm property:

ALL AND SINGULAR that certain parcel or tract of land and premises, situate, lying and being in South East Quarter of Lot No. 104 in the Second Concession of the Township of Sidney in the County of Hastings Edward, containing fifty acres more or less.

Upon the premises are erected a good house and barn, pig pen and hen house. The property is well watered by two wells and a spring.

The property will be sold subject to a reserve bid fixed by the Master.

Terms of Sale: 10% down and the balance within one month thereafter without interest. Other terms in respect the terms and conditions of sale shall be the standing conditions of sale of the said Court.

Dated at Belleville the 21st day of November 1927.

The "Never-Rot" potato, a variety planted in Lennox and Digby counties, Nova Scotia, this year, is reported as showing up in its tests, coming through flood damage practically unharmed.

United States farmers receive about 15 cents a bushel less for their wheat than Canadian farmers, because of higher railway rates, according to Senator Brookhart of Iowa, speaking at Washington recently.

The Lliard River district in the extreme north of British Columbia can produce excellent crops of grain and vegetables, it is stated by the Department of Agriculture of British Columbia, following experiments carried out in conjunction with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Specimens of grain have been received here.

Ocean tonnage to carry 26,000,000 bushels of Western Canadian wheat via the Pacific to the United Kingdom and Europe has been booked for November, December and January, and during December alone tonnage for 20,000,000 bushels has been fixed, shipping men believe that a hundred vessels will be required for this.

"Indian Gold" will be a novel form of fuel if experiments now about to be introduced this winter at the Dominion Fuel Station, Sydney City, for the enjoyment of the winter sports parties. The new fuel will be placed on skids and snowshoes, and over a course of 100 yards the competents will replace holes and bows and arrows will take the place of golf clubs and balls.

The Poultry Department of the University of British Columbia announces the sale of a white Leghorn hen which has not yet the famous Hen No. 6, but F. 319 and was established at Ottawa last summer. Last year she laid 332 eggs in 365 days; and as she weighs just four pounds her purchase price was $125 per lb. F. C. Salmon, Greenwich, Conn., was the purchaser.

The Government's final crop estimate is now: Wheat, 444,000,000 bushels, as compared with the estimate of 459,000,000 in September and last year's actual yield of 567,000,000; oats 452,000,000 bushels as against September's estimate of 562,000,000 and last year's actual yield of 1,035,000,000. Barley is put at 91,000,000 bushels as against 95,000,000 last year and rye at 16,000,000 bushels against 22,000,000 last year.

The fourth of the five new freighters being built for the Canadian Pacific Steamships was launched recently at the yards of Fairfield, Curie & Co., Glasgow. The S.S. Beaverhill will make her maiden voyages from Glasgow to Saint John or Montreal in May. With her sister ships the Beaverhill will be in a weekly service between Canadian ports and London, Antwerp, Hamburg and Rotterdam. She will be an "all-weather" vessel with a speed of 14 knots and built to the highest class of Lloyds specifications.

His Excellency Lord Willingdon, while attending the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto recently, showed in the entry list a stallion under the name "Lord Willingdon." His Excellency expressed a desire to inspect the animal, which was paraded by its owner, W. J. McCallum, of Brampton and Eglinton. The six-year-old Clydesdale was purchased by Mr. McCallum at Scotland last summer and brought out on the Canadian Pacific Empress liner in June. The animal purchased for $10,000 was also included in a shipment of over 100 pure-bred animals.

WEIR'S TEAM IN LEAD HOUSE LG.

Will Play Kerr's Team On Monday Night For Championship

Coming on with a rush in the last half Vern Weir's team clung to the lead in the House Basketball League by disposing of the squad captained by Percy Cole at the "Y" last night by a score of 45-44. It was the heaviest scoring game of the season and it was due to effectiveness under the basket that won the game for the red shirts.

Cole went into the lead at the start and threatened to hang up a win but doggedly their opponents fought and held them fairly even until Jimmy Alexander was hailed on the floor. His presence tightened up the defence considerably and Weir's team then went into the lead.

Farley Faulkner and Percy Cole bore the brunt of the work for the losers with Evey and Al Hitchen lending some valuable assistance.

Vern Weir went on a scoring rampage and netted a total of 24 points. Weir played a sterling game all the way. Harry Shirley and Milt Davidson turned in nice games and performed in great style when within scoring range.

Weir's team have won three straight and have but to defeat Kerr's team to win the championship of the House League. Kerr's team have beaten all and sundry to date and it is sure to re sult in a fast game when these two meet next Monday night. Jimmy Alexander who failed to score last night says he is saving them for the next tilt.

Ralph Morden refereed last night. The Intermediate squad will practice tonight from seven to eight o'clock in preparation for the game with Royal Military College on Saturday night at Kingston. The locals played Queen's an exhibition game defeating them by a wide margin.

Players and scores:

Cole—Faulkner 14, Cole 16, Evey 6, Hitchin 4, Marshall 3, total 44.

Weir—Hurley 12, Curry 4, Davidson 18, Weir 24, Alexander, Barber, total 48.

CAYUSE'S DAYS ARE NUMBERED

So Says U. S. Livestock StatisticianOf Dept. Of Agriculture

Washington, D.C. (By The Canadian Press).—"The days of the 'cayuse' on the western range seem to be numbered," reports C. L. Harlan, livestock statistician of the United States Department of Agriculture. "Without value as a source of work animals, he has some value when converted into chicken meat scrap or dog biscuit, and there is a number of plants in the West engaged in slaughtering horses and processing the carcasses and carloads of live animals continue to go to the Pokahuna, Calif., chicken farm. In most States local authorities are now permitted to round up and sell all unclaimed and untamed horses had efforts are being made in many sections to rid the range of these animals.

"Horse prices for all but the best heavy horses continue at a low level and little interest is shown anywhere in the future of horse production. With the advent of motor trucks and good roads, the picturesque freight outfit with string team and wagons coupled together has practically disappeared and a team and buckboard are as rare in Wyoming a horse and buggy now in Iowa. But no mechanical substitute for the cow pony is as yet forthcoming, so high-heeled boots and 'chaps' are still good form."

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S TRAVEL

Throughout the year there is no period so like a magnet for drawing people together as Christmas time.

No matter where you may be, there is an intensive longing for Christmas at home. Long ago, when travelling facilities were limited, people journeyed many weary miles and endured great hardships in order that thy might be with their friends and loved ones on Christmas Day, but this has all been changed by the application of modern railway methods, whereby even the continent may be crossed in safety and with every comfort, in a comparatively short journey.

This year Christmas and New Year's travel promise to be heavy, and with a view to placing every facility at the disposal of their patrons, Canadian National Railways have made their advance preparations and plans for extra trains and additional equipment on regular trains. Full particulars will appear in newspapers, and special time-tables will be shortly obtainable from any Agent of the Company.

Those who wish to prepay the fare of relatives or friends from any outside point can deposit the money at any Canadian National Agency and the transportation will be delivered immediately and economically.

BOWLING

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING

One game was played in the Ladies League at the Y alleys last night when the Mayflowers and the Crescents met the former taking three points. In the first game the Mayflowers were up 97 points and added another 291 to this in the second game. In the last game the Crescents came from behind to win this by 18 pins but lost the total by 190. Mrs. Rutherford had the high single and three string with 217 and 508 while for the Mayflowers, Mrs. Mayhew was high with 691.

Mayflowers — Mrs. Salisbury 491; Mrs. Varley 524; Mrs. West 454; Mrs. Beal 225; Miss H. Bland 434; total 2119.

Crescents—Mrs. Thomas 313; Mrs. Rutherford 508; Mrs. White 412; Miss Sayers 343; Mrs. Bottum 334; total 1829.

RECREATION BOWLING

The Crescents were declared winners in the ladies league at the Recreation Alleys when they won all four points from the Beavers in a play off game as both teams were at a deadlock with 22 wins each at the end of the schedule. The Beavers rolled a very good game which ordinarily would of won at least two points but the Crescents were right on their toes and tucked away the first game by 20 pins, the second by 74 and the final by 199 pins, the Crescents' total for their total score. Miss M. Lynch for the winners rolling one of the best games to date with a single of 262 and 654 for the total, for the losers Miss Whalen had the best score.

Ladies League

Beavers—E. Whalen 678; L. Melchoir 660; Py Melchoir 434; S. Melchoir 453; J. Miller 458; total 2353.

Crescents—V. Wheeler 681; D. Belnap 561; M. Tilley 412; M. Lynch 654; L. Curry 483; total 2581.

The Baby Shoes were right in form last night in their league fixture with the Star Motors and won all four points and also rolling up a nice total score of 2939. The first game being very close which is select a team and "Bub" Caulin and Bob Redner both stated that the "Point" will give a good account of themselves.

Jimmy Hedger, manager of the Tigers, is not saying a great deal but the others will be given a surprise when the Bengals step on the ice for the opener. Manager Hedger is recruiting his aggregation from the vicinity of College Hill and some smart puck-ers have found their way out of this "neck of the woods."

The Moose, the latest entrants to City League hockey, will trot out some new players and Cy Young is losing no time in procuring the services of some veteran hockeyers to bolster the outfit.

The Alemite Company are reported to have added some new names to their last year's list and the East end aggregation are out to add to the honors captured on the baseball diamond.—Manager Young says some new faces will grace the line-up when the opener is announced.

The Intelligencer with Manager Lorne Cook at the helm, have all of the old players signed and some other well-known players will step into the newspaper squad. The Intelligencer boys completed the schedule last year and made some of the good ones step to pull out with a win. "The Black Hawks" hope to get in shape with a few exhibition games before the start of the regular schedule.

City League Delays

The present turn of the weather in the form of a mild spell has had its influence on the camp of the City Leaguers who were hoping that ice would be available in a week or two for a practice session. With eight teams already entered it loses like another banner season for City League hockey in Belleville. The managers have been scurrying about since the initial meeting and are lining up some of the choice material in the city for the campaign. Paul Hibbard of the Quinte Electricians, is one of those who is allowing no grass to grow under his feet and he reports the signing of some of the best hockeyists in the city. With the exception of a team in the firm Mr. Hibbard has personally contacted the players he can't but with the Electricians and in that case they will not be found with the Alemite this year. The boys are still eligible for two years in the minor ranks but it is doubtful if they will confine their efforts to City League hockey this year.

The Canadian National Express have practically stated they will not be in the series this year and with some loose material at hand Mr. Hibbard is camping on the trail of Sammy Symons, Whalen and a host of stars in days gone by. With this array centred the Electricians should provide plenty of opposition for the rest of the clubs

Need a Goalie

The T's Men have captured the laurels after a hectic struggle with the Bell Telephone last season, are hoping to get a file on a goal-tender to replace Stan Nurse who recently resigned the management. If they succeed in landing a first-class net minder they will be practically as strong as last season with Anderson Jeffery, and several others having signified their intention of coming out with the Campbell Street aggregation.

Donald Roe, pilot of the Imperial Oil clan, is gathering a bunch of young players under his wing and promises to provide some stiff contests. He has the Ritchie team of last year from which to choose several players.

The Canada Cement Company have no dearth of material from

A CHALLENGE

Mr. D. Doran and W. Harris of the Bayside Hardware senior bowling team and winners of the fall league at the Recreation alleys have issued a challenge to an all star bowling team, losers to pay for the eats, games to take place any night next week at the Recreation Alleys. The Challenge was readily accepted by the management of the alleys who will pick the fire highest average bowlers.

The Rovers and Ponies played their final game in the Intermediate Rugue last night with the Ponies taking all four points and rolling 3135. The Ponies have just been hitting their stride in the past three or four games and no doubt they are going to give the leading teams a hard old battle when the winter league gets under way after the New Year. Yerex and Salisbury were the highest bowlers for their respective teams.

Another Enthusiastic Meeting of Local Club Held Last Night

Another enthusiastic meeting of the baseball fans of the city was held in the Chamber of Commerce last evening when further plans for 1928 were discussed. The fans manifested in Belleville's baseball future was indicated by the large attendance at the get together. President Ernie Rowe occupied the chair and Secretary Stan Hagerman read the minutes of the last meeting. It was decided to call in all of the uniforms in order to get a perspective of the possibilities for new outfits and equipment for next year as it is expected that the Club will need to furnish some new playing paraphernalia as well as some new uniforms since the present ones are in bad shape after three years in use.

A letter was read from Mr. Chester President of the General Motors team of Oshawa, inquiring as to the possibilities of forming a Central Ontario League for next year. Another communication was read from Mr. F. J. Hall, Secretary of the Peterboro Club, expressing the sentiments of Mr. Jim Cockrell to re-enter the Central League should plans mature. Word was also received from the Kingston Club that they will be ready to step in next year if the old League is reorganized.

The question of including an amalgamated team of Port Hope and Cobourg in the new circuit was discussed at length and it was the general opinion that the Port boys would get in touch with parties at Port Hope will informed on the baseball situation in order that a meeting could be called at Port Hope within a few days to consider the proposition. The Secretary was told to get in immediate communication with Mr. Jack Nott, former Secretary of the Central League who is sporting editor of the Port Hope Daily Times. This meeting may possibly be held on Friday of this week.

With at least four teams ready, it is almost a foregone fact that Belleville fans will witness Central League senior baseball next year.

Fine sports were also submitted by the finance and players' committees.

BASKETBALLERS TO PRACTISE TO-NIGHT

Besides the House League basketball game tomorrow night, there will be two Church League fixtures. At seven o'clock the Holloway Street Juniors take on the Christ Church juniors and at eight o'clock John Street Intermediates meet the Christ Church team. Both of these games should prove interesting contests and worthy of support of the followers of both teams.

Tonight from seven to eight the Y Intermediates will work out in preparation for their game with R. M. C. at the latters' court, this coming Saturday night. As far as the local entry is concerned, this is the opening fixture of the N.O.A.B.A. series and the boys are all set on landing away a win on the occasion of their initial game. Although they broke into basketball comparatively for the first time last year, the Royal Military College Basketeers are rightly smart performers and if the home team hope to make a showing against them, Captain Weir and his helpmates will need to be at their best.

It is estimated that there are about 150 hermits left in the deserts of Egypt.

HERE'S SPEEDY RELIEF FROM BUNIONS AND SOFT CORNS

Druggist Says Emerald Oil Must Give Complete Satisfaction or Money Cheerfully Refunded

Get a two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) today. Every well stocked drug store has this, with the distinct understanding that your money will be cheerfully returned if it does not reduce the inflammation, soreness, and pain much quicker than any remedy you ever used.

Your bunions may be so swollen and inflamed that you think you can't go another step. Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture and pray for quick relief. What's to be done?

Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.

And as for Soft Corns a few applications each night at bed time and they just seem to shrivel right up and scale off.

No matter how discouraged you have been with pads, shields, or other remedies, if you have not tried Emerald Oil then you have something to learn.

It's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other ingredients—so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually for reducing varicose or swollen veins.

Doyle's Drug Store, Schryver's Pharmacy, Dolan the Druggist and every good druggist guarantees Moone's Emerald Oil, to end your foot troubles or money back.

WIFE DESERTERS TO HAVE REFUGE

Topeka, Kas.—(CP)—Wife-deserting husbands may find a refuge in Kansas as long as Governor Ben S. Paulen is chief executive of the state.

A wife who cannot hold a man's love and keep him at home is not entitled to the services of a sheriff to take him back, the Kansas governor believes; and so he refuses to grant writs of extradition on that charge.

"Of course the man who wilfully deserts dependent children is a criminal and deserves to be treated as such," the governor says. "But investigation has disclosed that most requests for extradition of men on charges of wife desertion are attempts either to compel the payment of alimony or to make possible a reconciliation between the couple. Alimony is only a civil debt. I am a banker and believe all financial obligations should be met, but don't believe in sending anyone to prison for debt," he continued.

"As for requesting a writ of extradition to enable some woman to make up with her husband, well, that's ask ing too much. This state keeps out of family quarrels."

Governor Paulen's policy has the approval of the attorney general, William A. Smith, who, as the state's chief prosecutor, will not ask the governor to issue a requisition for the extradition of a wandering Kansas husband from some other state unless the offense is child desertion.

Kansas, four hundred miles wide two hundred miles long and sparsely populated, refuge of fleeing slaves in Civil War days, thus offers sanctuary to what the chief executive feels is the other group of "oppressed" human beings.

GUILTY ON MORE SERIOUS CHARGES

Kingston, Dec. 14.—Michael Cassidy was today found guilty on County Court of indecent assault against a young woman. Cassidy was charged with indecent assault and theft in June last, being convicted and sentenced to a term in the reformatory. On appeal a separate trial was ordered for each count. The theft charge was proceeded with this afternoon.

LINDBERGH NOT YET IN MEXICO

Uneasiness Grows Over His Non - Appearance And Conflicting Reports

Valbuena Airfield, Mexico City 11.50 A.M. Dec. 14.—Mexican government officials were thrown into uncertainty concerning the whereabouts of Col. Charles Lindbergh by the arrival here of commercial aeroplane from Tampico. This caused officials to believe that the previous telegraph reports of the sighting of the American aviator may have been actually reports of the sighting of this commercial plane in mistake for the "Spirit of St. Louis."

All nine planes which took the air some hours ago returned by 11.50 with no sign of Lindbergh. Fears that Lindbergh might have met with some adventure gained currency when Mexican officials waiting at the field.

Unanimous Grows

General Alvarez, chief of the President's staff, at 11.35 sent telegrams to all government agencies instructing them to ascertain urgently whether Col. Lindbergh even reached Tampico after he had been reported. Officials expressed the belief that the American flier would certainly have come to Valbuena before now if the report of his passing over Tampico had been true.

Shortly after noon, President Calles requested the Associated Press to rush information of exact time and place at which Col. Lindbergh crossed the Mexican border. He asked for this information in order that an investigation by the Government into the whereabouts of Col. Lindbergh might be made. Fears concerning Lindy were increasing as time went on.

Although there was feeling that alarm concerning Lindy might not be justified, a wave of depression swept the vast crowd at Valbuena Field. At this time slightly more than 24 hours had passed since the American aviator had taken off from Washington and the anxious report had been received of him as being anywhere over Mexican territory. President Calles immediately expressed his appreciation, ordered authorities in Mexico to seek information.

LIVERPOOL WATCHED WITH FEAR FLOOD OF GASOLINE

Liverpool, Eng., Dec. 14 — Anxiety prevailed along seven miles of docks today due to thousands of gallons of gasoline floated several inches deep on the turbid surface of the Mersey. Police, dock workers and firemen were on the alert lest by any chance this inflammable fluid be ignited and set Liverpool ablaze.

The strong odor of gasoline pervaded the dock area and streets half a mile inland from the Mersey when the tank steamer "Seminole" broke in two pouring its inflammable cargo on the surface of the river. Fear remained to-day but apparently a disaster had been averted.

Appeals To Rev. Jones Claiming To Be a Baptist In Religion

Miss McLeod, Superintendent of the Belleville General Hospital was in receipt of a long distance telephone call from a lady residing at Selkirk, near Hamilton, late today in regard to the stranger found wandering on Belleville streets last evening. She did not give her name but stated that her husband left home last week and has not been heard of. She stated that the description given coincided with her husband. She informed Miss McLeod that she is leaving before noon by the earliest train for this city.

Claiming that he cannot remember who he is, where he comes from, what he does and only knows that he is a Baptist by religion, a strange man wandered in to the reverend Hilyard Jones' home yesterday afternoon suffering from aphasia. Mrs. Jones communicated with W. H. Merry in the absence of Mr. Jones. The latter took the man to the police station and he was later removed to hospital.

Upon searching his clothes absolutely no marks of identification were found, but a key, marked Walpole was found in one of the pockets. There are two Walpoles in this country, in Saskatchewan, near Regina, and the other in the Niagara peninsula.

The police asked the stranger where he had come from, and what direction, but he could not tell them even that. He stated that he had lost a valise, but where he couldn't say.

COUNTY COURT OPENS AT PICTON

Judge McLean Reserves Judgment In Prince Edward Case

The general sessions of the Peace opened at the Court House in Picton yesterday, before His Honour Judge MacLean. There were no criminal cases on the Docket, nor were there any applications for naturalization, and no jury civil cases. The case of Brown versus Hoff was tried before the presiding Judge, without a jury. The Plaintiff, Lee M. Brown, the owner of an extensive fur farm near Port Hope, is in the County of Norfolk, accompanied by one, P. M. Johnston, obtained from several farmers on Hoff's Island, paper writings purporting with the intention of developing a mink rat farm on the opinion in their respective marsh lands. One of these parties was George L. Hoff. Before the expiry of the option notice was served upon the Defendant by the Plaintiff of acceptance of the option at the price of $5.00 per acre for his marsh land. The Defendant repudiated the option on grounds of no consideration, vagueness and indefiniteness, "alleging condition" precedent and misrepresentation. After hearing all the evidence and argument of Counsel, His Honour reserved judgment. A great deal of interest has been aroused in this action owing to the fact that the Plaintiff has brought two other actions, one in the Supreme Court, against other owners of Hoff's Island. Major R. D. Ponton Counsel for Defendant. Mr. E. G. Martin, Toronto, Mr. R. S. Young and Mr. R. E. Nourse Counsel for Plaintiff

NARROW ESCAPE FOR MOTORISTS

Cars Wrecked In Head-On Collision But No One Killed

Allen H. Campbell, 521 Hunter Street, Peterboro, suffered cuts about the left forearm and minor bruises and his companion Jack York, of Trenton, received a bad gash on the right temple when the car in which they were both riding ran off the highway one mile East of Trenton was struck head-on by a car driven by Thomas Lytle, 104 Dundas Street, Belleville, last night shortly after six o'clock.

The two men were taken to the Belleville General Hospital following the accidents and reports from that institution state that they will be able to leave in a day or two.

Thomas Lewis, son of Mr. Chas. J. Lewis, Dundas Street, accompanied by Stanley Scott and two young ladies from Trenton were proceeding west along the highway and when travelling near the centre of the road collided head-on with the car driven by Campbell. Both cars were almost completely wrecked but the occupants were not thrown out. Considering the damage to the cars their escape was a miraculous one.

The two men were taken into a farmer's residence and help was summoned from Trenton. They were then taken to the hospital. Traffic Officer Frink was on the scene shortly after the accident occurred and he stated that both cars were proceeding without lights despite the fact that a dense, almost impenetrable fog prevailed at the time.

The two cars were towed to Trenton for repairs.

PROPERTY DEAL AIRED IN COURT

Real Estate Agent Claims Commission—Judgment Is Reserved

Before His Honor Judge Deroche the case of Weaver versus Dion was heard this morning and the bench after hearing the evidence reserved judgment. Both parties are residents of Trenton. B. B. Jordan acted for the plaintiff and H. G. Graham for defendant.

The case is a complicated one and arose out of claim for commission on the sale of real estate in the town of Trenton by Mr. Weaver who is a real estate agent. Weaver found a purchaser who agreed to buy Dion's property but when the time came to pay the price the purchaser was unable to make the payment and the deal fell through. The agent claims to be entitled to the commission in spite of the fact that the property was never actually sold. The claim amounts to $75.

Judge Deroche will deliver judgment later.

KAMLOOPS JUST 'LOST' WITH ALL HER CREW OF TWENTY-TWO SOULS

Unrelenting Search For Past Week Fails To Reveal Trace

SIGHTED IN CALE

Probably Swallowed By Wild Storm On Great Inland Sea

Port Arthur, Dec. 14.— Systematic search of many miles of rugged coast line of Lake Superior has failed to produce any trace of the missing freighter "Kamloops" which, with its crew of twenty men and two women cooks was last sighted seven days ago during the height of the blizzard off Whitefish Point.

While every resource was being summoned for the hunt, marine men at the head of the lakes expressed little hope for the safety of the crew. While a report was in circulation that the "Kamloops" had probably struck rocks of Keweenaw Point, local shipping officials were without any definite word as to the progress of this investigation.

Capt. Gehl of the tug "Champlain" which returned to port today from the wrecked steamer "Altadoc" expressed the belief that there was little chance of the "Kamloops" having foundered off Keweenaw Point. Capt. Gehl declared that he cruised from the portage entrance along the shore line but failed to find any trace of the missing freighter. The "Altadoc" was ordered to be about eight hundred feet from the steamer "City of Bangor" which passed near Keewenaw on Novem ber 30, 1926. There is very little hope of salvaging the vessel.

Fears "Kamloops" Wrecked

Built Site Marie, Dec. 14.—This port today was still without any information, as to the fate of the package freighter "Kamloops" of the Canada Steamship Lines, which with a crew of twenty and two women cooks is now missing on vast Lake Superior for a week. The vessel was last sighted at Isle Royale near the head of Lake by the Captain of the "Quedoc", who expresses fears that the "Kamloops" may have been wrecked on the rocks of Isle Royal in the gale. Two day down boats which had been long bound in St. Marys river for some days because of the ice jam at Nesbith Chan nel resumed their journey east. Two up boat vessels, "Vandoc" and "Saskadoc" which had been caught in the ice have reached Sault Ste. Marie.

Start on Search

Houghton, Mich., Dec. 14.—Members of the Eagle Harbor coast guard crew under command of Capt. Glass today were prepared to begin a search of the Keweenaw Peninsula shores for traces of the Canadian package freighter "Kamloops" lost during the recent storm on Lake Superior. The Kamloops" has been missing for seven days with no trace reported from any point and fears have grown that it was sunk carrying with it twenty men to death.

It was a disheartening task that the Eagle Harbor crew faced today as men are tired and worn and many are suffering from exposure as the result of days of battling the elements in rescue work. A northwest wind has blown ice from the Wisconsin shore into the vicinity of a channel through the heavy floes before their boat can be in open water. The ice is also forming and the crew of the "Altadoc" was rescued had two holes torn in its bottom and was unfit for duty. This later craft was transferred more than a mile overland from the point being hauled to the water planked at the coast guard station that it would be necessary to construct another only remaining life boat in that harbor, because of its great weight.

VETERAN RETIRES AS COURT CLERK

F. M. Clarke Gives Up Post And S. J. Fisher Is Appointed

Mr. Sidney James Fisher, well-known insurance man and auctioneer, of this city, has been notified that he has been appointed Clerk of the local Division Court to succeed Mr. Frank M. Clarke who is retiring from that position. He will commence his new duties at once.

Mr. Fisher has been in the insurance business for twenty-seven years and for ten years was clerk of the Court at Campbellford before coming to this city nine years ago. He in conjunction with his son, Mr. R. M. Fisher, will continue in their insurance and auctioneer business as heretofore.

Twenty-Two Years' Service

Mr. F. M. Clarke has been Division Court Clerk in this city for the past twenty-two years and on April 19th last celebrated his 79th birthday. He was born in Belleville and although not living in the house in which he was born his present home is on the same ground.

Many of the happenings of olden days, especially during the stirring Civil War in the United States are especially keen in the memory of Mr. Clarke who served on the frontier duty in the stirring days of '66.

Veteran Orangeman

For over fifty years he has been a member of the I.O.O.F. Mr. Clarke joined that organization in the first meeting in Belleville. He has also been Grand Secretary of the Orange Lodge for Ontario East for over thirty years.

Mr. Clarke has been a reader of The Intelligencer since he was old enough to read, and his father a subscriber before him. He is the proud possessor of a copy of The Intelligencer printed in 1837.

Speaking to the reporter today Mr. Clarke stated that he would still carry on his business during his life time office he occupies at present.

This efficient official still rides his bicycle to and from work each day and has every appearance of health despite his nearly four score years.

MAYOR BRATTON RETURNED

Prince Albert, Sask., Dec. 14.—Mayor Bratton was returned for his fourth consecutive term as mayor, was successful over E. T. Bagshaw by 96 votes in the week's polling. Aldermen successful were: W. STUDENT'S "RAG" CLOSES LONDON'S BIG THEATRES

London, Eng., Dec. 14.—Indignation was evident in London to-day against Oxford and Cambridge University students over their pranks. In the west-end theatrical section after the annual football match between the two universities. The "Rag" was obviously not spontaneous but deliberately prepared. Numbers of seats had been bought up in several theatres by the undergraduates and their friends, and upon after performances in several theatres got under way the trouble commenced.

The performance was one of the worst sufferers. The victorious Cambridge football team was there but a large part of the audience was comprised of Oxonians. The uproar became so great that the manager went before the curtain and appealed for order. This had little effect and performances were drowned out by the shouts and songs of the collegians.

The "Rallieloh song in "Hit the deck" was the climax of the disturbance. With howling worthy of mad baboons the students drowned everything and the theatre had to be closed. The Palace Theatre fared worst when an American dancer appearing there was pelted with paper balls.

TENNYSON.

UNFAIR COMPETITION

For years the Brantford Cordage company has been the bright particular example exploited by our free-traders and advocates of low tariff. There was a Canadian industry carrying on a successful manufacturing business and prospering without the artificial aid of any tariff. If this Brantford company can make twine and profits in unrestricted competition with the world, why should not other Canadian manufacturers make other things and prosper without tariff protection? How often has that question been put with an air of triumph!

But times have changed and circumstances have changed with the times. It used to be easy to make binder twine profitably in Canada because foreign makers of binder twine had made little or no effort to capture the Canadian market. In fact the foreign competition was almost negligible. It is different now. Dutch and other European manufacturers of this article of commerce are awake to the vast possibilities there are in this country for the sale of binder twine and other cordage, and they have been selling their goods at prices lower than the Brantford company can make their product for. Hence a wail from the president of the Brantford company. His company, he says in his annual statement to his shareholders has never asked and does not now ask for tariff protection against fair competition. "However," he goes on to say, "if the present situation which has developed should be allowed to continue with the unprofitable conditions resulting therefrom, it will ultimately become impossible to continue the manufacture and storing of large quantities of binder twine in advance of the harvest."

It is not against fair foreign competition that the president protests; it is unfair competition. What he means by unfair competition is successful competition. Foreign manufacturers because they have the advantage or cheap labor and working conditions favorable to production, are able to undersell him in his own market. That's what he wants to be protected against, and thinks he's justified in asking and expecting such protection.

But it is precisely this unfair competition which Canadian capital has invested capital in the manufacture of glass and woollens and many other commodities claim to be necessary and think they have a right to ask for. If the Brantford Cordage company should be granted a measure of tariff protection because it is exposed to un fair competition, many other Canadian industries should be granted as much tariff protection as will enable them to overcome the handicap of unfair foreign competition.

UNIFORM PENSIONS

The demand is heard for an equalization of rates throughout the province for mothers' allowances, the rate paid in the cities being $5 per month more than in towns and $10 per month more than in the counties. This naturally has the effect of inducing those eligible to move to the cities. A uniform rate, it is claimed, would remove the injustice to the larger municipalities; but the grievance would then be transferred to the townships, which with their cheaper living conditions would inevitably attract a large number. The matter calls for investigation and there are many other respects in which the act might be improved, though if has certainly been a great boon in its present form. The whole question of mothers' pensions, not only in this province, but in other provinces which have adopted such legislation, is covered in a little book just published by J. J. Cohen, barrister, with the title Mother's Allowance Legislation in Canada—a legislative review and analysis with a proposed "standard" act (Macmillan Co. Toronto, $1). There is a foreword by Mr. Tom Moore, president of the Canadian Trades and Labor congress, in which he sketches the history of the movement and emphasizes the benefits which have accrued. Regret is expressed that a federal measure could not have been passed. The legislation in force differs very considerably in the various provinces and four provinces are without any such legislation at all. Mr. Moore acknowledges the imperfections of the existing laws, and considers that the only way to secure uniformity and equitable arrangements is to persuade those provinces which have not yet adopted such legislation to do so as soon as possible. This, however, as Mr. Cohen shows, is not an easy matter.

NET INCOME

Gross income is no barometer of net profit. Corporations doing business in millions often count their losses in thousands. The busiest business is not always the most profitable.

There is the case of the crew cleiks in the coal mines who draws a bank president's salary but has only a moderate wage left after he pays his helpers.

Lawyers with incomes of $10000 a year are not uncommon, but office overhead leaves them a net income much lower. Physicians afford a parallel instance.

But overhead is not foreign to the salaried worker and wage earner. The machinist's overhead is his tools and overalls. Expensive attire necessary to their employment is the business expense of others. The writer must buy books and travel and deduct their cost from the price for which he sells his work. The landlord has for profit on his investment what is left from rents after taxes are paid, repairs are made and depreciation is deducted. It is never safe to judge a man's means by his income.

MEMORIES

Memory builded me a house,
A rambling house with vistas wide;
With corridors and whispering rooms
Where little, laughing dreams may hide.

Where every corner holds for me
Some dear loved ghost of happy hours;
A house that wears the drifting scent
Of memory's long-remembered flowers

For here are hands that reach to mine
And eyes that smile for me again;
While all the ghosts of yesterpast
Will pass me by in gallant train.

Memory builded me a house,
A little house that's set apart;
Where live the dreams that once I knew—
A little house that holds my heart.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF OLD ENGLAND

London, Dec. 7.—The young matrons of Mayfair take calmly the accusation that they earn a greater interest in motor cars than perambulators. They declare that it is the middle-class mother who has the use for a nursery. Certainly there is no lack of nurseries in Mayfair belonging to young mothers whose names are often in the papers as attending dances and race meetings. Lady Plunkett has been married five years and has two children; Lady Sandon has had three in the same period; Lady Blandford has three children; Lady Airlie four; Lady Hillingdon, four; Lady Scarsdale two in four years; while the Duchess of Rutland has five; and the Baroness Bessborough the same number. And these are names just taken at random.

Still They Dance the Charleston

There seems little diminution in the popularity of the Charleston, judging from what was seen at the Empress Rooms, which may be described as the Mecca of the good dancers. There was, however, a demonstration of one new dance called the Rhythm Step which may become popular, particularly if the band is as good as Tucker and his Royal Empress orchestra! The exhibition was given by Miss Dorothy Cole and Mr. W. Tacey.

London's Cheery Greeter

Tex McLeod is now here at this public rendezvous, and he has a cheery word for everybody. Mr. W. H. Morris, of motor fame, was present a few nights ago and he laughed at McLeod's disclosure that his new 1929 car would have two steer wheels, so that if a husband and wife had a difference they could each drive a different way! The acrobatic dancing of Pat and Terry Kendall was much enjoyed as also the droll singing of Dellie and Billie, who comprise the cabaret.

Prize Film Story

Mr. Sabatini has been exceptionally successful as regards films based on his books. Two years ago he was awarded the £10,000 prize offered by Mr. Adolph Zukor, the famous producer, to the author whose story made the most successful film. "Scaramouche" was the picture in question.

Sabatini's "The Trampling of the Lilies" was generally considered more suitable as a screen play. It has not yet been filmed.

Among talented amateur artists is Lady Norbury, who is arranging next month an exhibition of her work, chiefly landscapes, at the Chester gallery, where Violet, Duchess of Rutland, has another show. Her clever tinted portraits and pencil sketches Lady Norbury is not a general exhibitor like other clever amateurs, and this will be, I believe, the first time she has shown.

ATTEMPTING TO FIX PRICES OF MEATS

Paris, (by C.P.)—Official price-fixing for butchers is again being attempted here to bring down the cost of living. Shortly after the war-time boom of 1920 there was a great outcry against meat prices and there were many prosecutions for violatiohs of official prices lists.

Bakers all over France have had bread prices fixed for them by official commissions, the wheat quotations as the basis.

Butchers have proved more difficult to handle. Their resistance to argument by official city commission caused the government, which shares largely in governing Paris, to approve drastic methods. Premier Poincare and the cabinet adopted a plan to make obligatory a scale of prices to be drafted weekly by the city. These prices are required to be posted, just as every restaurant must post its menu with prices.

Much of the expense of French butchers is attributed to waste in not having proper refrigeration and the disproportionate amount of overhead expense because of the large number of small butcher shops.

Wait for others to advance your interests and you will wait until they are not worth advancing.

The United States produces only about half of the 600,000,000 pounds of wool it uses each year.

So much more vigor —when the system is cleansed of poisons we all have

DO you know that poisons form all the time is your system? They get into the blood stream and so rob you of the vigor, life, youth and energy you should have. Hardly anyone escapes them. Food wastes accumulate and fermentation takes place. As many as 26 of these ever-forming poisons are already known to science.

But nature has provided a natural sort of antidote. In a scientifically pure state this antidote is available to everybody under the trade name of Nujol. Nujol is a unique substance unlike anything else known to man. It cannot be absorbed by the body or any of the organs of the body. At the same time, it has an affinity for body poisons. It takes hold of them, absorbs them, and carries them out of the system safely and harmlessly. It also softens waste matter and brings about normal evacuation of the intestines. Gets rid of poisons, gets rid of food wastes, tends to heal and soothe irritated membranes. Contains no drugs or medicines. Absolutely harmless. Protected by the Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. It's in a class by itself. You can take it with perfect safety under any conditions. It won't cause gas or griping pains, or upset the stomach or kidneys.

Every corner druggist has Nujol. Make sure you get the genuine. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle. Don't delay, get Nujol today.

THE BULLETIN BOARD

Mainly About People You Know

The Women's Conservative Club held their regular meeting in the Conservative Club Rooms last night. The evening was devoted to the discussion of routine business.

PARCEL PICKED UP

A parcel containing a quantity of clothes was picked up near the police station by one of the officers. The owner may have same by calling at the station.

AMBULANCE CALL.

The ambulance was called in the box factory to-day where one of the employees was asked with an epileptic fit. The man was removed to the General Hospital where he was attended by Dr. Faulkner.

SUCCESSFUL DANCE

The Palencia Club held a most successful "At Home" in Johnstone's Academy last evening when one hundred and seventy five people attended the affair under the auspices of this popular social organization. The Ikon Tree orchestra furnished the music. Refreshments were served at midnight. Those in charge were Mr., and Mrs. Wetherd Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Graves, Mr. Stanley Kerr, Miss Marg aret Heritage and Mr. John Maither.

CANINE WAS SHOT

A dog was run down on Moira Street this morning by a motorist and as one of it's legs was broken the police were called to shoot the animal. Officer Thompson answered the call.

GREAT SOLDIER'S CAREER IS OVER

General Sir Edwin Alderson Died Today—Won Host Of Honors

London, Dec. 14.—C. P. Cable—Lieut. General Sir Edwin Harvey Alderson K.C.B., Commander of First Canadian Division in the war and subsequently of the Canadian Army Corps died at Lyssniott today.

Sir Edwin Alderson was a great soldier and he had a distinguished career. He was the eldest son of the late Sir Edward Alderson, Ipswich and was born April 8, 1859. He entered the Royal West Kent Regiment in 1876 and gained promotion from Captain in 1886 to Lieutenant-General in 1914.

Throughout his long, military career he served faithfully and well and in the course of his life received numerous official recognitions of his services. He was Brigadier-General Commander of the Second Infantry Brigade at Aldershot, 1903-7; Commander the Dublin (Poona) division in the army in India 1908-12; served in the first Boer war 1881; Egyptian war 1882; Nile Expedition with a Camel regiment 1884-85. Sir Edwin commanded the Midland Infantry in South Africa 1900-1, was Inspector-general in South Africa 1906-7 and was promoted to the rank of Major-general. He was mentioned in despatches three times in the South African war, received two medals, with seven clasps and was appointed aide-de-camp to the King.

Honors in Great War

Lt. Gen. Sir Edwin Alderson gave splendid services throughout the great War. In connection with his command of Canadian army corps he was mentioned in despatches and created a knight-commander of the Bath and commander of the Legion of Honor. He was aide-de-camp to Queen Victoria and from 1905 to 1906 was aide-de-Camp to King Edward Seventh.

He was the author of a number of books of a military nature including "With Mounted Infantry and Mashona land Field Force", "Pink and Scarlet, or Hunting as a School for Soldiering", and "Lessons from Notes made in Peace and War."

Sir Edwin married Alice Mary, second daughter of the late Oswald Sergeant, vicar of Chesterton, Oxford.

Seen at Tantoyuca

San Antonio, Texas Dec. 14—Information received here by Western Union Telegraph Company stated that Lindbergh passed over Tantoyuca state of Vera Cruz at 10:15 a.m. Tantoyuca is less than an hour's flight from Mexico City.

Reports are Denied

San Antonio, Dec. 14.—Report emanating from Army Radio Station here that Charles Lindbergh had arrived in Mexico City at 10.55 a.m. was denied upon investigation. Operator at the Army Post said that he had merely repeated a report which he had received from the Commercial Telegraph Company. A check with the Western Union showed that Lindbergh had last been heard from at Aztecolco state of Hidalgo, at 10.53 a.m.

SAID FAREWELL TO MRS. H. TOMS

Presented Beautiful Electric Lamp To Family Leaving Belleville

The home of Mrs. Harold Toms, 124 Victoria Avenue was last night the scene of a very merry party. Mr. Toms, employed by the C.N.R. as Supt. of the Bridge and Road Dept. has had his headquarters removed from Belleville to Richmond, Que. This necessitates their removal from Belleville. Mrs. Toms' friends could not allow her to go without some expression of goodwill and farewell. Accordingly about fifty of her friends gathered at her home last evening at about eight o'clock as a real surprise party and spent a most enjoyable evening.

Mrs. A. H. Fisher helped to entertain the guests by directing several contests which proved highly interesting and amusing to them. Miss Bessie Barlow rendered a fine Piano Solo. Mrs. M. P. Daly also rendered sang. Mrs. Arthurs recited a selection from Drummond to the delight of all.

After Mr. Tom Bell who acted as chairman, made an appropriate address, he called upon several of the guests for impromptu remarks. Among those who responded were, Mr. Kelley Mr. Spraklit, Mrs. McCutcheon, Mrs. Duff and Rev. A. E. McCutcheon. In very suitable and well chosen words they all made feeling references to the personal worth of Mrs. Toms' love devotion and faithfulness by her various Church activities, and expressed regret at her departure but wished that in her new home they would all be both happy and prosperous. They also voiced the sentiment that they might return to Belleville in the not too distant future. After this Rev. Fraser presented Mrs. Toms with a beautiful electric lamp, a token of the esteem and affection of her friends. Mrs. Toms replied in suitable words expressing her thanks, for this remembrance and expression of friendship and goodwill from her friends.

After all were served with light refreshments, the evening was concluded by singing the hymn, Bless Be The Tie That Binds, and prayer by her Pastor, Rev. A. E. McCutcheon.

ais feet three inches in height, between the ages of thirty and thirty-five and weighs about one hundred and sixty pounds. At the present time he is in the, hospital here and the police are endeavouring to get from something about him.

He was wearing a Masonic ring on his finger as well as a pin on his collar lapel, he was attired in a blue suit, light gray overcoat with navy collar, light brown spats and tan shoes. He was also wearing horn-rimmed nose glasses and a heavy fawn coat.

At first it was thought that he might be the missing Mayor Leas of Toronto, but the latter is about sixty years of age while the man picked up here is in the neighborhood of thirty-five.

While at the police station swallowing the removal to the hospital he complained of severe pains in his head.

PRIMARY CLOSE IN C. OF C. VOTE

Three Ex-Mayors And President Chief Magistrate Are Nominated

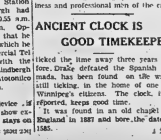

As a result of the Primary election for directors of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, which was concluded at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, the following two members were nominated for the office of director for the ensuing two years: H. W. Ackerman, J. B. Boyce, C. J. Cameron, H. J. E. Graham, H. P. Reichenon, M. Robertson Rose, C. Sargeant, G. A. C. Weir, C. E. Wilmot, E. W. Worth.

Deep interest was manifested in the nominating primary and the vote was one of the largest that has taken place since the Chamber of Commerce was first organized in 1919. No less than seventy-one of the members received nominations. The contest was exceedingly close, only a ballot or the separating of one or those who were nominated and others who failed to receive a majority.

It is interesting to note that among the ten receiving a majority in this Primary Election there are three former mayors and the present mayor of Belleville. These are ex-mayors H. W. Ackerman, H. J. E. Reichenon and H. J. G. Graham, and His Worship Mayor Wilmot.

A ballot containing the ten names mentioned above will be immediately mailed to all the members and the Final Election will conclude Tuesday, December 20th, at o'clock p.m. It is anticipated that the Final Election will bring out an even larger vote than the Primary and the contest will be exceedingly interesting as three nominations are among the most prominent business and professional men of the city.

WATCHING SNAPPY DANCES IS COSTLY

London.—(By Mail).—When an enterprising London merchant put on a new hosiery display he did not reckon with his interest. The display consisted of a girl's legs clad in silk stockings protruding through a black screen and doing the Charleston. Two men seated behind the screen were to take turns in doing the steps. The second man so great that it burst the glass and fell helter-skelter into the window. Twenty-two, including several children, were injured.

DR. EDWARDS AT ORANGE LODGE

Representatives Are Present From Eleven Lodges To Hear Noted Leader

Representatives for eleven neighbor ing lodges and five Grand Lodge Officers were in attendance last evening at the regular meeting of L.O.B.A. No. 270 of this city which was held in the lodge rooms, Corbett Block, East Front Street. Following lodge work the meeting was thrown open at nine o'clock to the Orangemen and sister societies with Worshipful Master, J. H. Hanna of 274, presiding.

The first speaker was Rt. Wor. Bro. T. A. Kidd, M.P.P., for Kingston, Grand Master and Grand Lodge No. 78. Bro. Kidd gave an able discourse which received a good hearing. The Grand Brethern had a rare treat in the form of a talk from the Hon. Dr. Edward Most Worshipful Master of the Grand Lodge of British America. As every where else "Doc" Edwards received the most attentive hearing in Belleville last evening. Most Worshipful Master Edwards is an outstanding figure among the Orange Fraternity in Canada and is considered one of their most outstanding orators.

Other brothers speaking last evening were Bro. Bro. J. Lyons, Bro. Bro. C. E. Clarke, and Rev. Bro. A. L. Geen, Rt. Worshipful Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge for Ontario East. The assembly were also favored during the evening with readings from Sister Ebersina Hutton and Sister M. Gerow.

Following the addresses the gathering was adjourned to the banquet hall where a supper was served by the members of L.O.B.A.

DIAMOND CROOKS NEATLY FOILED

Wallet Contained Worthless Bits Of Personal Apparel

London (By Mail).—A remarkable story of how the representative of a Hatton-garden firm of diamond merchants was robbed by a gang of international thieves, but retained his gems now worth at least £20,000, has been revealed.

The man went to Amsterdam for the diamonds and was well aware of the need for extra precautions, as during the past month there had been three cases of diamonds having been stolen on the journey to London.

Shadowed by Gang

Before he left the continent he knew he was being shadowed by several men. Others spoke to him and others dined near him on the boat. He was polite to them, but ever on his guard.

The gems were safe when he reached the London terminus. Instead of taking a taxicab he sauntered down the steps to the underground, followed by the same of crooks. They surrounded him in the elevator in Holborn station, he was jostled and in a second his wallet was in the possession of one of the thieves.

The old policy of scattering to meet again was adopted by the conspirators, but the man who had the wallet was not allowed to go off alone. It was feared that the temptation would upset the scheme. He kept closely among thieves, so he was kept under observation till the rendezvous and the shareout.

Then Came the Surprise

The meeting place was the bar of a Clerkenwell public house, and eager faces watched the opening of the wallet. Then came the surprise. There were no diamonds inside. The wallet merely contained articles of no monetary extent to the owner.

In Hatton-garden that night there were many hearty laughs. The loudest came from the traveler who had faithfully carried out his mission for the diamonds were sewn inside his soft collar.

VALUE OF A WIFE UNKNOWN TILL ILL

London (By Mail).—"A man does not learn the cash value of a good wife until she falls ill."

This was the assertion of Miss Edith Wilkinson, M.P.

"Under the present conditions," she concluded, "a wife has no status at all. Her work is not paid for, and although reckoned on a wage basis she would have considerable cash value."

WATCH FOR THESE DANGER SIGNALS OF EMOTIONS

No person is 100 per cent when it comes to his emotional make-up.

The emotions are at one and the same time our greatest assets as well as our greatest weaknesses. They keep us stirred up and this state makes for friendliness or timidity, success, hardships, happiness or misery, as the case may be.

Every individual must, of course, be studied by himself because in the general emotion plan of everybody there enters into consideration heredity, child hood training, handicaps and special advantages.

Nevertheless, we are all of us more or less alike. We are so much alike that certain rules may be laid down regarding the danger signals of temperament.

WeW know, for example, that to be too emotional all the time is bad, just as all excesses are bad. If we waste emotional force we drain our vitality and retard our development.

Worry is another danger signal.

The doubting habit—never being able to make up one's mind—is one of the most common danger signs.

The mess of doubting questions may become so strong that it amounts to a sort of chronic nightmare.

Such people do not know what they want. They are forever putting off decisions. They lack confidence in themselves. They do not possess the strength of their own convictions. They allow circumstance to influence their to an unbelievable degree.

Irritability is another danger signal of temperament that requires close watching.

Irritability gets us into all sorts of troubls. We lose our friends be cause of it. They lose confidence in us. It keeps us angry and upset. It leads almost invariably to ineffectiveness in work and unhappiness at home.

Then be careful about self-pity.

We all need courage to face the realities of life and conquer the manifold and varied problems that confront us almost daily. But if you pity yourself you are simply admitting to yourself that you are a failure.

The much "day dreaming" is also to be avoided. It gets you into the habit of wishing and being satisfied with wishing, rather than being satisfied with actual accomplishment.

Lack of planfulness for the future is likewise bad.

Getting into a rut is another.

Depending upon past performances instead of trying to make the present the one time to achieve, no matter what you may have accomplished in the past, always indicates a temperamental weakness.

Think about these danger signals.

Let them warn you of approaching danger as they should.

Use your stirred-up emotional state for your own good and for your advancement.

Control it. Hold it. Make it serve you.

This alone will accomplish more than anything else in making our emotions behave.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and have been keeping company with a young man a few years my senior. I am very much interested in him but lately he have not spoken and he has stopped going with me. His brother seems to be very fond of me and I have been out with him two or three times this week. They have confidence in them that I do not care for him. What can I do to regain his friendship?

ROSY CHEEKS.

ROSY CHEEKS: If this first friend is no longer interested in you, I would caution you against making too serious an effort to win him back. However, you must make a decision for yourself; if you are still desirous of having the friendship of this young man, I think it is inadvisable for you to go with his brother. You must determine which friendship you would rather have and if you choose the second, put the first out of your mind completely, as it is a true fact that brothers do not care to take out the same girl. If you prefer to retain the friendship of the first, stop going out with his brother; arrange to have a small informal party and include him among your guests. You can then let him know in a subtle way that you are still interested in him and if he has not had a change of heart in the interim, he will renew your friendship from there.

WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Fifth Avenue shops are showing sport frocks in both jersey and tweed with a novelty fur coat lined with the dress fabric.

A very flattering style is the white feather evening cap seen about Paris this season, which is a tight skulling that looks very much like a wig, and shows none of the wearer's hair.

Fancy knitted and woven woolens are being considered for spring wear abroad, where angora is being used by many of the foremost couturiers in the midseason openings, and yellow and periwinkle blue are liked.

New York reports that it is interesting to note the increasing prestige of beaded bags, and a considerable number of these bags, particularly in the plaited and gold tones, are worn by fashionable women for informal evening wear.

So far as coats are concerned Paris is still committed to the belted coat, often with large pockets, while another favorite of autumn is the two-piece sports frock having a jersey jumper and a cashmere skirt, the former often with a crepe turnover collar.

If a knife-board is used it is a good plan to remove the wood stains, and especially from the points, before beginning to rub knives on the board. This may be done with a piece of cork dipped in powdered bath brick or knife powder. With the wear-and-tear of the knife is, of course, considerably lessened if this is done.

A SUITOR TOO MANY
By MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER 14.

A PACE FROM THE PAST

In the dingy parlor of the side-street hotel, Lils explained to Dorothy why she had run ignominiously from the shop and taken refuge in this shabby retreat.

"That man—the one who started to speak to me—was Captain Gilroy Holmes!" she announced dramatically.

Dorothy's pretty brown puckered. "Yes? What of it?"

Lils made a despairing gesture.

"Don't you see? Can't you guess? He was Jack Farquahar's pal. One of the brother officers who gave us that supper in France the night—the night that—"

"Hmm!" Dorothy perched on the edge of one of the doubtful red plush chairs and considered.

"Do you think he'd remember —everything?"

"How could her help it?" countered Lils desperately. "You can't understand what that occasion meant, Jack and I were mad about each other, and we were torn apart at the eleventh hour. You could never realize how solemn and sacred our pledge seemed, not only to us but to those officers and girls who witnessed it."

"It didn't occur to you that any of the witnesses might turn up later," murmured Dorothy thoughtfully.

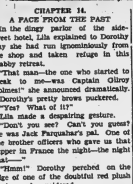

"No," declared Lils vigorously. "I've never had eyes or ears for them since that night. The officers were scattered to the four winds, afterward—probably, they're all dead, except Holmes. And," she added, "what on earth can bring him here? His home's in Kansas City."

Dorothy laughed: "There's no law to keep him there, however."

"I wish to Heaven there were," said Lils viciously.

"What are you so afraid of?" asked Dorothy curiously. "New York is a big place; you're not likely to run across him again, and, even if you did, it couldn't endanger you to speak to the man civilly, instead of boiling as if you'd seen a snake."

"Don't you understand Lils desperately, "that it will be just my luck to run across him when Herbert is with me? And, should the Standard Oil Holmes understand the situation, he'll begin to babble about Jack. It's only natural, because Jack was the line that I haven't told Herbert and that Herbert's insanely jealous and

"I do see," agreed Dorothy gravely. "Yes, I dare say you're right." She rose. "Let's go. You're safe now. Your Captain Holmes probably thinks he made a mistake when he thought he recognized you. He may be only visiting in New York, and you'll never see him again. Cheer up!"

Lila hugged her gratefully.

"You're such a comfort, Dot."

They drove on down-town to arrange for the donation of Jack Farquahar's insurance to the fund for disabled veterans.

The clerk who received them was dazed on learning the amount of the contribution.

"And which of you young ladies makes the presentation?" she asked, with pencil poised above an official blank.

"Neither of us directly," answered Dorothy hastily. "We—I wish the donation to be anonymous: merely say that it is 'in memory of Captain Jack Farquahar.'"

"Ah!" the clerk's eyes raked Dorothy. "You were his—sister?" she asked gently.

"No." Dorothy flushed a trifle. "A relative, though?"

"A relative, though?"

"No. No relation whatever."

"Ah, I see," smiled the clerk sweetly. "A—er—donation of sentiment!"

Dorothy lifted her head haughtily for a moment, then she gloriously flushed.

"Really, is this catechism necessary?" she asked icily. "Is there any reason why I—why a donation should not be made anonymously to this fund?"

The clerk was not to be crushed. Her revenge waited.

"We are requested to make such reports as we can upon donations of this character," she added softly. "It's a bit odd, isn't it, that the amount is exactly that of the war insurance of a soldier?"

Dorothy heard Lila's head pounding in her ears.

"Why not?" she asked quietly. "It happens that this gift is the war insurance of a soldier."

The clerk looked at her shrewdly, a bit unpleasantly. She hadn't forgiven that moment of hauteur.

"You were, I suppose, his fiancee?" she remarked coolly glancing at Dorothy's unlogered and ringless hand.

Dorothy hesitated, coloring visibly, and Lila spoke for the first time:

"Please," she said, in a low voice, "must you make my friend suffer by reminding her of the past?"

The clerk turned her gaze upon Lila, studied her carefully, and passed her.

"Forgive me," she said graciously. "I was only attempting—"

She didn't say what she was attempting, but returned to her official blank.

"Attempting to pry, the curious old cat," thought Lila resentfully.

At that moment a telephone rang in an inner office, and the clerk rose, with a murmured excuse, and withdrew. They heard her speaking over the wire.

"Let's get out of this quick," Lila whispered to Dorothy. "I'm scared stiff for fear she's going to ask more questions and make us tell how we came to have the money to give away. I'd no idea they'd do anything but grab the check and say 'thank you.'"

Dorothy was glad to go. They slipped out quietly. A moment later the clerk returned and was dumbfounded to find that they had left.

"Why they've gone, without even telling me their names!" she said to a fashionably-attired woman who was just entering from the street. "We received a donation of ten thousand dollars this morning, Mrs. Anderson," she explained, "and I've neither the name nor the address of the donor. How can I send out a receipt?"

The newcomer was glancing over some letters on the desk.

"Are you talking about the two girls who've just left?" she asked. "I met Herbert Ware; I don't know the other one. Have the receipt sent to Mrs. Ware."

Long Vertical Lines Set Off by a Dainty Bow

Two trick bows in contrasting georgette with the simple, serviceable kind of apparel which a girl in business demands and exerts all the minute so lavishly supplies. Miss Executive forbids nothing of refinement and grace in this charming frock, but she can slip into it and know that it will work during a long day and be as fresh at 6 o'clock as it was at 8 o'clock. The tailored treatment of the long skirt which is cut to form a full fastening over box pleats is offset by the deep V opening of the collarless bodice, disclosing a soft vestee finished with a bow at the throat. The three bottom fastenings of the belt is repeated as trimming on the pointed cuffs. Light beige or other good with a vestee of a harmonizing color; or crepe de chine, satin or silk crepe with print or crepe de chine for the vestee make this practical and charming dress. SINCLAIR'S

CHAPTER 15

An Unpriined Actress

Herbert Ware sat at a table in a down-town restaurant, eating a solitary luncheon, in a state approaching ouerulness. The big room was crowded with business men and women, singly or in pairs and in groups. There was none of the "hush" about the handling of crockery such as distinguish the up-town luncheon places of big business, but the food was excellent and the service quick; two qualities that appealed to Herbert's mind, when he was being purely a business man and not a social light.

He was gloomy and morose that day because he was eating luncheon alone. Lila had refused his invitation for lunch at Sherry's; she'd said she had an important engagement and could not break it.

It seemed to Herbert that she had too many of that sort of engagements. His ideal wife—an ideal Lila had seemed to fit, to perfection in their courtship days—was one who was always ready to play when he was, but she was quite as willing to slip back into oblivion when he wanted to work This new Lila, who had emerged since their honeymoon, rather reversed the procedure.

Having accepted Lila's explanation of the mysterious Mr. Jackson and the near-wedding-ring, Herbert realized that he had little to worry him. And yet, something told him that all was not as it appeared on the surface. There was something curiously evasive about Lila, of late.

He had just come to the conclusion that the trouble lay with Dorothy Caine—the pretty girl who had crazy independent ideas into Lila's head; probably telling her not to be a slave to her husband"—when a smartly gloved feminine hand tapped him lightly on the shoulder.

"Hello, Herbert Ware! Will you let me sit with you in this bedlam while I wait for my husband?"

WEST NOT KEEN FOR RESOURCES

Provinces Show Strange Indifference To Project They Wanted

B. C. ANXIOUS

Wants To Develop Peace River—Survey of Maritime Conditions

Ottawa, December 14.—An interesting situation developed over the proposal for an early return to the four western provinces by the federal Government of the natural resources now administered by the Dominion. The Government at Ottawa is desirous of an early settlement of this question, but it appears that two or three of the western provinces, which at certain times have been clamorous for the return of their natural resources, are now showing a strange indifference to the project.

Involved in the recent negotiations between the federal Government and the Governments of Manitoba and Saskatchewan over the Flin Flon property, situated in the northern portions of the two provinces, is the question of the early return of the natural resources. Manitoba waiving its claim for 50 years to the royalties it accrues from the mineral production on the Flin Flon property. A similar waiver was sought from Premier James G. Gardiner of Saskatchewan, but th mining that went through subject to subsequent negotiations on the matter of royalties between the Whitney interests, who own the mining property, and Saskatchewan.

School Question

Another factor in the natural resources situation is, of course, the school question in Alberta. Many months ago in the federal Parliament there was a lengthy debate on the question of altering the conditions contained in the Alberta Act as to the maintenance of separate schools in that province, but the move for an amendment was finally shan doned when the federal Government announced its intentions to submit, at the earliest opportunity, to the Supreme Court of Canada the question of the validity of clause 17 in the Alberta Act.

This submission to the Supreme Court resulted in a decision that the Alberta Act was intra vires, that clause 17 respecting the maintenance of separate schools was legal and that the federal Government had full authority to pass the Alberta Act. The federal Government, however, sought to go a step further and have a final confirmation from the Privy Council of the Supreme Court's decision. So far there have been difficulties in the way of obtaining such a ruling from the Privy Council. The hope is entertained by the federal Government, it is understood, that it will be able to enlist the co-operation of Alberta in getting such a question before the Privy Council, but from recent indications, especially utter apathy at the recent provincial conference, Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta is not anxious to take such a move.

In the case of Saskatchewan, Premier Gardiner realizes that that province would have little, if any, to be gained from a return of the natural resources as that province is not rich in minerals and other properties so far administered by the Dominion, so that Saskatchewan could only be induced to a prompt settlement of the resources question by some proposal for financial reimbursement. Manitoba shows no desire to have the matter settled at this time, and when negotiations do come between Manitoba and the Dominion the provisions of the remedial act must be considered, which involves a consideration of the school question in that province.

B.C. Keen for Move

It remains for British Columbia to make its position clear in this direction, as that province is genuinely and keenly desirous of an early return of its resources, particularly for a return of lands which will enable it to open up the Peace River country through some sort of a railway deal. The total area of the British Columbia railway belt is 10,976,000 acres and out of that there remain 8,919,259 acres that may be available for transfer by the Dominion to that province. Out of the 2,500,000 acres in the Peace River block there remains 2,220,000 acres for transfer to the province.

The total areas available for transfer by the Dominion Government to the other three provinces are as follows: Manitoba, 120,000,000 acres; Saskatchewan, 67,200,000 acres, and Alberta, 97,000,000 acres. The figures for Manitoba and Saskatchewan are computed on the assumption that the forest reserves will remain with the Dominion, while the forest reserves figures for Alberta are estimated according to an agreement effected last year. Three of the provinces remain in the Dominion with an area of about 8,000,000 acres.

OUR SISTER CITIES

Newsy Neighborhood Notes

THE NEXT MAYOR?

Peterboro, Dec. 14.—Who will be Peterborough's next Mayor? If the present incumbent can do his recently announced intention of contesting the vacant seat on the Public Contract, a sure guess is that it will be neither Aldermen Phelan nor Dunn, although both these men are signified that they are in the Mayoralty contest. According to statute, Mayor Holloway must resign before he qualifies for the position of candidate for the Utilities Commission. This would leave the city without a Chief Magistrate until the new Council is inaugurated for the 9th.

It will therefore be necessary for the Council to appoint a Mayor who will hold the office with all its authority for about three weeks.

This seven aldermen who will be eligible for the appointment are Crowe, McIntyre, Macdonald, Brock, Cotton, Ackerman, and Stocker. Only once before in the history of Peterboro has the same situation arisen when the late Mayor T. H. G. Deane resigned to contest the vacancy on the Water Commission, and John Ockey was appointed Mayor of the town.

CHARGE DISMISSED

Oshawa, Dec. 14.—The charge of resisting arrest against William McMaster was dismissed in Oshawa Police Court this morning, and John Kemp, who laid the charge, was ordered to pay the costs, according to Kemp, McMaster had run into his car on Simcoe street, and Kemp's Corners, on the evening of November 28th, causing considerable damage. Examination by J. A. Bennett, counsel for McMaster, convinced the court that Kemp had been at fault, and having had proper care in his driving, he was discharged.

CONVICT DIES

Kingston, Dec. 14.—Carvel Robert Thomas, of the Kingston Penitentiary, died on Sunday afternoon, as the result of a tumor on the brain, and the inquest which was held on Monday morning, brought in a verdict that deceased came to his death through natural causes.

Duncan was twenty-seven years of age, and was sentenced at Toronto on June 7, 1927, to two years in the penitentiary for theft. Since October he had been in the hospital at various times, and on Saturday said that he felt well again and asked for permission to leave the hospital. He went out to work, but was returned to the infirmary after a fainting spell. His condition became worse, and Dr. W. T. Connell was called. It was found that the tumor on the brain was bleeding, and this caused his death on Sunday afternoon.

CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

Oshawa, Dec. 14.—A meeting was held at the Y.M.C.A. on Monday night of the Oshawa City Hockey League for the purpose of getting the organization on foot.

It was decided that any group made up of players resident in Oshawa on or before May 24th, 1927, may enter. The residence rule was interpreted to mean that players working in Oshawa are not living in the city were eligible.

The meeting became a veritable hornet's nest when the question was introduced of former O.H.A. players being eligible. After a lengthy discussion the decision it was decided that in the interests of the younger 1928 junior and intermediate O.H.A. players be eligible. Referred but any ex-junior and one ex-intermediate O.H.A. player are allowed to a team.

STREETER TO VISIT AFRICA ONCE MORE

Buffalo, N.Y.—(CP)— Daniel W. Streeter's an authority on African stories have created wide interest, again will sail for the dark continent December 30. He will have two companions from Buffalo.

The party will go after big game, especially elephants, and will charter a steamer to sail up the White Nile 600 or 700 miles from Khartoum. Guides are to be found the largest elephants in the world.

Licenses are required to pay $200 before going out on a shoot in Africa, Mr. Streeter explained and a charge of $75 is made for each elephant killed. Hunters are allowed to kill two greater buffalo, more than that number must be paid for. Certain things must be brought with as the hogged is a rare bird. Mr. Streeter said he was not worrying much about hoogos, however, as he did not expect to get on anyhow.

The party expect to return in March.

NOVEMBER IN SASKATCHEWAN

Some sing of the beauty and glories of spring:

When nature is radiant and all the birds sing,
But there is a season my fancy has won
And that is November in Saskatchewan.

The air is so clear and the sky is so blue
No cloud dims the brightness the whole day through
The sun like a giant just springing from rest
Is the pride and the glory of this land of the West.

His beams fall like blessing from morning till night
Just like a true friend who is constant and right
Though shadows may pass and obscure for a time
The bright ray, He is still shining on till the close of the day.

O peace is now sculling down over the land
A great hush unbroken as out of God's hand
The farmer is resting his work bravely done
His grain is all housed and his goal at last won.

With his fine new McLaughlin so fast and so free
Away over Land Mountain some sport now is he,
Or the old beaten trail, no danger to fear,
We have left the bright sunshine, the clear air and all
We are home in Ontario, 'mid the trees great and tall
And the rain and the fog and the darkening skies,
Fill away in the West, oft our memory flies.

Where the days in the Autumn are so bright and gay,
They chase gloomy thoughts and dull-ness away.
We grow young as we think of that far away clime,
Where the sun shines in November nearly all the time.

CLEVELAND WILL SPEND VAST SUM

For Development Of Its Waterfront; To Cost $100,000,000

Cleveland, Ohio.—(CP)—At a cost of $100,000,000 Cleveland purposes to make its waterfront the front line of vast industrial center, with great bulk head piers terminals for railroads and lake shipping, protected by high speed boulevards, courses for boat races and an exterior park system.

In the future day when the St. Lawrence waterway is completed, war department engineers say, ocean going inland waterfront as serving 40,000,000 persons living as far south as Nash ville, Tenn.

That eventually has been considered in plans for the development by City Manager William R. Hopkins, but the improvement also is projected as necessary to the growth of the city.

Hopkins has asked the city council to approve the first step, which would be construction of streets, bulkheads sewers and a high-speed boulevard with eight traffic lanes. The immediate development would cost $6,500,000 to be borne by the city, railroads, shipping and other private interests.

As an adjunct of the project, the council has asked Mr. Hopkins to present plans for a municipal stadium on the lake front, seating 100,000 persons and costing $2,000,000.

Scattered along the westward sweep of the lake shore now are several municipal parks and some shipping facilities, but the waterfront will have to be virtually remade to conform to the contentious plans, which have been completed on paper.

Thousands of acres of land will have to be reclaimed and other thousands made to rise out of the waters of Lake Erie by artificial dumping.

EDUCATION SHOULD NOT BE MERCENARY

Winnipeg.— (CP)—Dr. Robert W. Holland, O.B.E., L.D., of London, England, head of the Plumas College and branch schools of Great Britain, warned against a too rigid attention to only those subjects calculated to turn the wheel of commerce and bring in the dollar, in an address here recently.

Dr. Holland pointed out that a greater cultural education was necessary to build up the well-balanced life Laughaven, he said, occupied a much larger place on the school curriculum in the Old Country than on this side of the Atlantic.

Dr. Holland is making his trip through Canada and the United States to study systems and methods of education in North America.

FREE STATE LOAN CLOSED

Dublin, Ireland, Dec. 14.—Subscriptions to the Free State loan of £7,000,000 (about $35,000,000) have come in so well that the lists closed today instead of tomorrow, as had been scheduled.

The $15,000,000 portion of the Irish loan taken up by an American syndicate was heavily over-subscribed several days ago.

BRITAIN FAILING HER OWN PEOPLE

Foreign Office Asked To Probe Outrages In Foreign Countries

London, Dec. 14.—News was received in London last night of the murder in Bryan, Mexico, on November 8, of William Taylor Ennis, a British cattle rancher. This latest of a long series of outrages on British subjects abroad during the last few years has resulted in a demand for a Foreign Office investigation of the treatment of British nationals outside of the Empire.

With the announcement a few days ago that the French Government had pardoned Benoist Duty, the American who deserted from the Foreign Legion and was recaptured and sentenced to death, it was disclosed that John Harvey, an Englishman who deserted from the Legion, was serving seven years' imprisonment and still is confined in the French prison at Clairvaux.

Simultaneously with these events there arrived in London another Foreign Legion deserter, Thomas William Whitman, who gave a graphic account of the maltreatment of British and other members of the Legion. Both Harvey and Whitman served with distinction in the British army during the war.

Ill Use In Transylvania

Several British subjects are reported to have been beaten and much property destroyed during the recent student riots in Transylvania, and the British Minister in Roumania has instructed to make a thorough investigation of that incident. That it is necessary for the Foreign Office to take a number of cases in recent years the British Government has failed to take adequate action.

A notable case, that of Fred Thomas, the British correspondent of the Associated Press at Manatawyn, who is alleged to have been chained to the dock rail and exposed to the epizuti, was the subject of a memorandum to the Government at Washington in September. Then there is the case of Captain Joyce and Chief Officer Buston of the British steamer Edith Cavell, who were imprisoned in France charged with the loss of their vessel, and as a result of the treatment to which they were subjected in prison died soon after their release.

Other noteworthy cases are the unjustified false imprisonment of an English governess at Athens, and the imprisonment at Denver, Colo., last month of A. K. Orr, a British subject, without a charge being made against him.

In the case of Ennis, who was murdered while supervising the construction of a burial church, five Mexicans attacking him with knives and machetes. Although the heart, did murderers are reported to have been arrested and will be tried in Petrograd. Ennis had lived in Mexico and Texas.

Captain Arthur Evans, Member of Parliament, has given notice that he will appeal tomorrow to the Foreign Secretary to ask the French Government for the release of Harvey in view of his services with the British Army during the war.

LARGER 'PLANE THAN BELLANCA

Has Been Completed By United States Aviation Department

New York, N.Y. (By The Canadian Press).—A new Bellanca plane, larger and more powerful than the Columbia, which set the world long-distance flying record in the flight to Germany last summer, has been completed and will be used in an effort to return the flight endurance record to the United States.

The record of 52 hours, 11 minutes, is now held by two German flyers, but a previous record had been set by the Columbia.

The new plane has an estimated 5,000 mile cruising radius and is capable of 72 hours sustained flight. It is equipped with a stabilizing device that can be controlled by the pilot from his seat and which is said to give the ship perfect balance at all times. The plane's dimensions are larger in every respect than those of the Columbia. The wing spread is 85 feet, and the weight 1,850 pounds. It is powered with a 200-horsepower Wright whirlwind motor and has a gasoline capacity of 446 gallons as compared with 295 in the Columbia.

The plane was sold to A. R. Martino of New York recently and is to establish a new world's endurance record with it.

Here and There

Preliminary figures indicate that mining production in British Columbia this year will exceed all previous records, although prices will be somewhat below those of 1926, when a total of $67,000,000 was recorded.

Tobacco growing in the Kelowna district, B.C., has been so successful this year that the acreage will probably be increased to 1,000 next season. The present crop has been fully harvested and cured.

Not since 1917 has the Nova Scotia mining industry enjoyed so prosperous a season. During the fiscal year ending September, approximately 6,640,000 tons of coal were produced in the province against approximately 6,000,000 for the same period of last year.

The biggest shipment of live foxes to leave Canada for the use of the European market since the industry has been developed left Charlottetown in a consignment of 1,000, bound for Antwerp, via Halifax. These animals are valued at from $100 to $1,500 a pair, and the entire shipment is valued at approximately $400,000 Canadian currency.

Her Grace the Duchess of Atholl, prominent British peeress and Parliamentarian, broke the record for one recently at the launching on the Clyde, Scotland, of the Duke of Argyll, the four new Canadian Pacific "Duchess" ships, the largest passenger liner "Duchess of Atholl." These vessels will be operated on Canadian Pacific Atlantic passenger service.

The elaborate figurehead of the "Empress of Japan," the first Canadian Pacific liner in the Canadian Pacific, has been mounted in Stanley Park, Vancouver. The "Empress of Japan" was a clipper type steamer and has been in the Pacific service since 1891, navigating the Pacific. The figurehead was presented to the Vancouver Parks Board as a historic relic of that great ship.

A special train of cars carrying pure bred swine and sheep for exhibition and breeding purposes to show travelling through Southern Saskatchewan over the Canadian Pacific Railway. The stock is supplied by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, the Dominion Live Stock Branch, Stockyard Companies, and by individuals who still keep stock. Lectures dealing with the breeding, feeding and management of sheep and swine are given by experts.

Through the auspices of the Canada Colonization Association, 509 families, consisting of 2,000 persons were settled in Canada on 130,928 acres of land during the year to October 31st. The settlement of these families was principally supervised by officials of the Association, who completed the selections, inspected the lands and closed transactions. It is expected that 100 additional families will be settled before the end of the year. To date, the Canada Colonization Association, a subsidiary of the Department of Colonization and Development, Canadian Pacific Railway), has settled 2,227 families on 854,180 acres and there are still settlement opportunities on 256,000 acres for 1,000 families. The percentage of success in these settlements is unusually high, being 100 per cent. in Alberta and 99.50 in Saskatchewan.

FOR THREE YEARS DIDN'T SEE WOMAN

Winnipeg.—(CP)—After three year spent in the north country, durin which time she never set eyes on a white woman except her mother and sister, Miss Mote Thompson, daughter of a surveyor and mining engineer stationed at Cranberry Portage, 200 miles north of The Pas, Man., arrived here recently and is now a student of music at the Toronto Conservatory.

Accompanied by her brother, the northern girl accomplished a canoe trip which lasted for days and included a 16-mile portage and many exciting moments shooting rapids.

Going straight from the life and gayety of San Diego, Calif., the Thompson family has passed the last three years in a section of the north country where visitors are rare in the summer while the winter finds them isolated from the outside world.

BELLE THEATRE

A comedy drama featuring a group of the most youthful players playing before the camera, Hal Roach's latest in the Fox Films release to the Regent Theatre for three days commencing Thursday.

Nancy Nash, Clifford Holland and Charles Morton are in the thralls of love and laughter while Marjorie Beebe and Ted McManigal, are another pair of lovers who help furnish the fun and pathos in this picture. The story is one of the best motivated and logical of a series of recent months and was written by Arthur Somers Roche, one of America's foremost and favorite story tellers.

REGENT THEATRE

There is nothing of the traditional war film in "Hoots o Flesh", which starts Thursday at the Belle Theatre. It is based on the two novels, "The Scottish Farm" and "Sixty-Four, Ninety-Four," by R. H. Mottram, and has been produced with fidelity by Maurice Elvey. It is a psychological study of the effects of the war on a village and its people.

A young Englishman touring the battle fields finds himself in Bruddcrox where his war life was spent. His memories take shape before him. The scenes of the front and his battalion were quartered at the Spanish farm, his endeavor himself efforts brought him in contact with Madeleine, mistress of the farm. She seeks information of a lover whom she has not taken from her and for a time she conducts herself with discretion.

Not even the war, however, can alter the character of Madeleine. Faithful in her past to her faithless lover, she accepts the situation philosophically. She does not deceive herself either about her feelings for Skene, to whom she yields out of pity for his condition of war sick, knowing that it is only a temporary affair.

Skene regains Madeleine again and the climax shows her with her two "children," the Frenchman, now blind, and her father, driven half crazy by his treatment at the hands of the Germans. The film ends on a note of pathos, a wonderful scene that will be remembered when other parts of the film are forgotten.

Lillian Hall-Davis, John Stuart, Hum berto Wright, Jameson Thomas and Bromley Davenport are in the cast. The production was made by Maurice Elvey. It's a super-special...produced in England.

SEARCH FOR HYDROPLANE

Marseilles, Dec. 14.—Several seaplanes and three cruisers were searching the Mediterranean Sea today for a French hydroplane which sent out an S.O.S. call yesterday.

It was first reported that two planes had sent out the call, but officials believe it was a single plane with a pilot and radio operator which left Ajaccio, Corsica, yesterday for Tunis, despite heavy seas and bad weather.

A Real Game of Patience

Have you ever played a game called "Patience"? It wiles away an idle hour very pleasantly and, of course, you can put down the cards and quit any time you please.

But there are "Patience" players, who play another kind of "Patience," and they can't leave off when they wish.

George is at it...he is an inmate of the Ward for Chronics at the Hospital at Woodbridge has been there for three years now. For a chap who used to take an active outdoor life this is hard. A few months ago, his health began to fail rapidly. He had a long fight, but he believes he will win—and so do the kindly nurses and doctors, who are helping him.

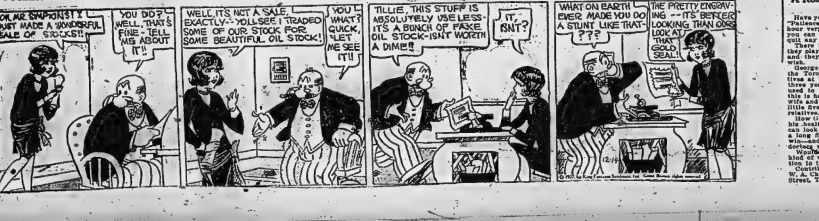

Woodbine was like to help in this fight, and has started four subscriptions for the Hospital.

WHEN KIDNEYS HURT CONSULT YOUR DOCTOR

Drink Lots of Water All Day and Take Salts if Back Aches

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get dull, Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and various day-to-day orders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Rumanian Presents Large Moose Head As Trophy To Club

Winipeg.—(CP)—One of the biggest moose heads ever bagged in the big game hunting territory adjacent to the borders of Jasper National Park was brought to Winnipeg recently by Prince Michel Ribburcha, who is in charge of the Rumanian Legation at Washington.

The Prince was accompanied on his hunting trip by the Princess Sturdza who also bagged some big game.

The moose head which the prince bagged had a horn spread of five feet one inch.

Season Opens Saturday

The Y.M.C.A. Intermediate basketball team will open the season on Saturday night with the local Military College team at Kingston. The locals are, if anything, stronger than last year, when they were eliminated by the fast Elizabeth team of Toronto in a two-game series. Percy Cole who learned his basketball in the city has returned and will strengthen the Kingville team. Ivey of Hamilton has been showing up well in practice and Walters who hails from the States will no doubt be a valuable acquisition on the defense, while all of last year's players are turning out regularly to practice. Vern Wood, Armstrong, Alexander and Buchanan are all nifty cake artists and the team should make up into a good group which consists of Kingston "Y" team, Queen's, Royal Military College, Napanee and the local entry. The boys have been keeping in shape in the House League games and with an exhibition game with Napanee under their belts should make the Cadets step to win on Saturday.

May Come Back

There is a possibility that Lionel Harper may be found with the Belleville Nationals when the ball season opens in the Spring. Harper may return to Trenton in the same line he certainly would be welcomed which he formerly starred and back with open arms by the local baseball moguls. He was a versatile athlete and could play any position but shone at first base part tolerly.

A Close Finish

Vern Weir's team will have their hands full in the House League at the Y.M.C.A. next Monday night when they stack up against Johnnie Kerr's smart five in what will like ly be the deciding game of the Pali circuit. Should Vern's boys come through with a win they will be crowned champions. On the other hand the Kerr boys have yet to lose a game but they still have two to play while Vern has played all but one of the scheduled games, it will be a battle from the drop of the hat and basket ball fans will do well to keep this date open.

"Won't Be Long Now"

Talk is gradually drifting round to hockey with the opening of the season but two weeks away. The Intermediates are of course the chief topic of conversation but fans are wondering what sort of Junior aggregation Eddie Thomas will introduce. It is reported that the Canning boys will not don the blades with the O.H.A. team but instead will do their playing in the Senior City League. If this is true Pilot Thomas will have to scurry round and locate a couple of fast boys to take their places. However some smart material was uncovered in the city league last year and Mr. Thomas may be able to fill the gaps with several of these fast boys.

Trent Valley Hockey League

The Trent Valley Hockey League, formerly the Hastings County League, will be minus one of the chief drawing cards this year as Marmora have decided to abandon hockey as it is feared that sufficient material cannot be located to warrant their entry. However, Campbellford have tossed in their hat with the T. V. L. and with Frankford, another new entry, the league should go over big. Fans in the north will likely be treated to some more of those stirring contests. Trent have a new covered arena and all of last year's players are still on hand. With the exception of Madoc every team in the league has a covered rink in which to play their home games. Campbellford suffered a loss when the rost was partially blown off the rink in last week's storm but this will be repaired before the season gets under way. Stub Barrett, of Belleville, will likely referee some of the games in this circuit.

Out For Funds

The Belleville High School Athletic Association will hold a dance to raise funds for the winter program, at Johnstone's Academy on the night of December 22nd. Extensive plans are being made for a fine evening of entertainment. The High School will be represented by another fast hockey team this year and Cleo Colling states that he fully expects his boys to go through for a championship after all these years of waiting. Bud Galway, Raymond Ross and the rest of the squad will remain intact from last season.

RECREATION BOWLING

In the Junior League at the Recreation Alleys in last night's game the S. A. Shop took three points from the Specs. For the S. A. Shops, P. Cornell was high with 639 and for the Hydro Keegan was high with 677.

S. A. Shops—E. Ether 547; C. Cornell 554; A. Ether 505; P. Cornell 639; D. Doyle 505. Total 2830.

Hydro—Gilbert 556; Keegan 677; Blaker 518; Kennedy 484; Hallam 474. Total 2809.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS BY TELEGRAPH OR EXPRESS

The Canadian National Telegraphs place at your service their wonderful facilities for the quick transmission of Holiday Greetings. A special staff is engaged during the Christmas rush in order that transmission and deliveries may be quickened to the highest point. A very attractive design of message form is being prepared for the holiday season.

The Canadian National Express offers the best vehicle for the safe and swift transport of Christmas gifts. That particular feature receives special supervision at holiday time, and this in itself is a guarantee of efficient service. Remember that a Canadian National Express receipt will protect you and will insure complete satisfaction.

Canadian National solicits your patronage for every branch of its public service utilities. Every effort of each employee is centred on the efficient performance of his or her duty, and those who place their business in the hands of this nation-wide merchandising organization for whatever expenditure they may make, plus that measure of personal interest which is the true complement of perfect service.

1927 Christmas Seals

The 1927 Christmas Seal of the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, are just issued. These Seals are the best in the World. Buy a Cross, carry a Cross, and help the Cross carry a message of hope to those who are afflicted with consumption. Every dollar received through their sale is used for the maintenance of patients.

The Ontario Anti-Tuberculosis Association is the organization responsible for the work of the hospitals at Muskoka and at Weston. Why not buy these Seals in lieu of others? Not only are they good value in return, but your money will serve a greater and wider field if it is sent instead in distress.

Look for the double barred Red Cross Seal with the words "Save children" thereon.

HUGE SUM SPENT ON BRITISH GOLF

Modern Sport—Provides Living For Many People

London, — (By Mail) — More than 20,000,000 pounds sterling, approximately $100,000,000, is spent annually on golf in Great Britain and Ireland, according to figures just copiled.

This estimate, made by authorities closely associated with the industrial side of golf, is based on a yearly expenditure of from 30 to 50 pounds sterling by each player. There are 500,000 golfers in the British Isles.

These figures reveal the progress of the game when compared with golf in the days of the 18th century. The Edinburgh Burgess Society passed a resolution in 1744 to erect a boy to caddie messenger and waiter on a salary of five shillings a month.

The statistics show that modern golf provides an adequate living for worker of many grades among the men from caddies, to club-house architect and including course constructors builders, secretaries and clerks.

O'Keefe's Dry GINGER ALE

What is the secret that gives O'Keefe's Dry that exclusive...inimitable flavor?

First water, crystal-clear, from a famous spring...then it is because we skilfully blend the finest Jamaica Ginger, pure cane sugar and selected fruit essences, and further because O'Keefe's, like a rare old wine, is mellowed by age.

There is no secret about the fact that O'Keefe's Dry is Canada's favorite beverage.

MURDERED MAN'S SON RATHETIC

Timid Little Youth Gives Testimony In Low Voice

Valleyfield, Dec. 13.—Presenting pathetic figure in the witness box Arthur Bouchard, 15-year-old son of Adelard Bouchard, Lachine taxi-operator with whose murder George C. McDonald and his wife are charged testified at the trial of the accused pair in the Court of King's Bench here. The timid little fourth grade testimony in a low, soft tone and he swallowed hard when he told what he knew of the murder. Only once did his voice assume a strong, firm tone and that was when Philippe Brais, K. C., Crown Prosecutor, asked him the formal question: "Do you know how your father died?"

"He Was Killed"

"He was killed," the youth shot out through tightly gritted teeth.

While the boy described his father last meal at home both accused leaned forward in the dock and were visibly affected with the rest of the court. Dorsa McDonald hid her head, and when she heard him tell of his father's departure for Malone, N.Y., with about $500 in cash on his person the day of the murder, July 17, last.

Brunelle Freed

This was by far the most dramatic event of the day. The examination of the young witness, one of several children left by the victim, was so obviously painful that Mr. Brais handled it after a few minutes and told Mr. Justice Walsh he would rely on other witnesses for additional matters concerning Bouchard and the affairs of his little garage in Lachine.

Self-interest is more likely to warp a man's judgment than anything else Some people have no use for their friends unless they are in a position to use them.

TWEED

Tweed and vicinity was stirred to its depths when death, the grim reaper, visited the home of Mr. John Zavitz and took a tender wife and fond mother, Agnes Zavitz. The deceased leaves five small daughters, the youngest only a few days old. She died on Saturday morning. The service was held at the home of deceased. Captain Taylor preached the sermon. His text was found in Philippians 1, verse 21, "For to be to live is Christ, and to die is gain. The tragedy of it all is that Mrs. Zavitz was so young. She was only twenty-six years of age.

Dr. Laird preached a very inspiring service last night in Tweed United Church. His text was John 17; 19 verse, "And for their sakes I sanctify Myself."

PICTON

Sad indeed was the passing of Agnes Rose Pitwo, wife of Elphabt Harrison, of Cressy, in Picton on Thursday morning last, after a long period of ill-health.

Mrs. Harrison was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pitwo, and was born at Cressy fifty-one years ago. She was a lady of strong personality and her large circle of friends at Cressy, where she always resided, deeply regret her passing. Before her ill health she was an active member of Cressy United Church for many years, being organist. Mrs. Harrison is survived by her husband, father and mother, a sister, Mrs. Charles Holmes, Ottawa, and one brother, William Pitwo, Cressy.

The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon with a private service at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pitwo. Interment was in Glenwood cemetery.

BLOOMFIELD

The November meeting of the Bloomfield Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. W. E. Carscallen, murphy. Mrs. C. W. Fralegh presided and the usual form of opening was observed. The roll call "My favorite economy stunt," gave a number of ideas for utilizing many things to advantage. The minutes were read and approved, and a financial statement given. The president spoke of the approaching Christmas season, and limited discussion, relative to the matter of giving gifts to the children of the village. It was decided to follow last year's precedent in the matter. The next meeting was made and a committee appointed to carry out the work.

It was decided to draw the attention of the council to the matter of improving the corner at the Wellington turn, and the W. I. will gladly co-operate in the planting of bulbs and shrubbery. Mrs. Clayton Purtelle presided for the programme, and took up current events for the past two months. Mrs. W. Clarke sang a solo, Miss Lenora Goodenough read the paper, "Modern Sick's Field." Mrs. Fralegh and Mrs. Isard gave an excellent report of the Belleville convention and Miss Retha Stark sang a solo. There were twenty-nine members in attendance and the collection was $2.60.

HOPE GROWS FAINTER OF RESCUE FOR CREW OF LOST 'KAMLOOPS'

No Trace Of Missing Freighter With Twenty-Two On Board

TIE-UP THREATENS

Twenty-Five Vessels May Be Frozen In For The Winter

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 15.—Twenty-five lake freighters may be caught fast in the ice in St. Mary's River for the Winter, as they have been unable to make any progress in the past 48 hours and the thermometer has dropped well below freezing.

The tie-up is in Rock Cut off West Neebish Channel, where the steamer "Eades," in the lead of a procession of boats, is stuck fast and efforts to release her have been unavailing. Traffic on Lake Superior is over for the season and the high tender "Marvin Hewart," the last boat on the lake is expected in here today if it succeeds in taking off the light keeper at Parisienne Island. There is still no word of the "Kamloops."

Still Some Hope

Port Arthur, Dec. 15.—The fate of twenty men and the two women of the crew of the missing package freighter, "Kamloops", remained unsolved today, eight days since the vessel last was sighted. While marine men here still cling to hope that the long overdue steamer might yet be located, no tangible clue has been discovered to indicate whether the Kamloops sank during last week's storm which swept the Great Lakes, or became ice locked in some isolated inlet.

Only Boat Disaster

Duluth, Minn., Dec. 15.—Unless the missing (Canadian) package freighter "Kamloops" is accounted for the 1927 season of the great lakes, notably free from disaster will have closed with a tragic note. Locks at Sault Ste Marie were closed at midnight and those which cleared the port before the dead line Monday night, when insurance was discontinued, were reported safe in port. All but the Kamloops, last, even Dec. 4, the day before the usual lakes were whipped high by gales.

In the days that have intervened since the Kamloops moved into Superior from the Sault, a careful search has been futile. In a final effort to get trace of the missing steamer Eagle Harbor coast guard today were working its way through the ice to search Keewenaw Point. If the Kamloops has dropped to the bottom of Lake Superior, as shippers fear, it will be the first and only real disaster in the 1927 season on Lake Superior, known as the most treacherous of the great lakes.

Several vessels were forced to send out "SOS" messages in the storm of last week and nearly 50 more were rescued by coast guard crews and others but there has been no serious loss of life.

PAYS $3 A WEEK TO KEEP CHILD

W. Ketcheson Has Sentence Suspended On Non-Support Charge

Upon the charge of non-support of his child, William Ketcheson voluntarily agreed to pay three dollars a week towards its upkeep and therefore in handing down judgment, Judge Deroche suspended sentence upon the accused for one year.

"It might be suggested", stated the Judge in passing sentence, "that since the father was to pay interim alimony in the matter under an order of the Court, that the mother might be expected with that money to provide for the child as well as herself. But the accused has never paid the alimony money, and further than that, the alimony order was issued on the 20th day of June, 1927, a month later than the custody order, and therefore the custody order could not have been based on the alimony order.

I think therefore, regardless of what I might think of the various differences between the father and mother, I am bound in law to hold that the father is liable for necessaries for his child. He has not provided them and he must therefore be found guilty. As the accused has voluntarily offered to pay three dollars per week toward support of his child I suspend sentence for one year."

This case is distinctly separate from the action that is to come up in the near future, asking for alimony from the accused. The Toronto court ordered W. H. P. Ketcheson to pay interim alimony, but he never paid it, or bothered towards the upkeep of his little child in any way.

THE WEATHER

SEVENTEEN YEAR OLD GIRL HEROINE OF THE DISASTER

Quebec, Dec. 15.—A thrilling story of heroism of a girl was related this morning by one of the Sisters of St. Charles Orphanage who was on the second floor of the burning wing and saw Miss Gaudreault who is seventeen years old while rescue work was proceeding. The flames prevented her work being continued.

"A couple of minutes after the Reverend Mother had given the alarm that there was fire" the nun said "I saw Miss Gaudreault coming down the steps from the third floor leading a group of six or seven young girls. She was carrying two younger ones. I took them from her and rushed them to the front entrance and on my return to the second floor to see that all the children were out of my dormitory I met her again with a similar group of children.

As before I took them from her and found the passage to the fire escape cut off. I had put the children through a window and was about to ground caught them in my arms. Continuing to work with Miss Gaudreault returned to find her again carrying children who had been overcome by smoke. She was very sick herself and told her it was certain death for her to go upstairs again as flames were leaping around us as we spoke. I felt myself fainting and I rushed in a nearby window and jumped on to the snow.

The nun did not see Miss Gaudreault again but heard her shouting the stairs to go to the children on the third floor.

THIRD THIS YEAR

Children Suffer In Two Previous Disasters In Canada In 1927

Toronto, Dec. 15—The fire at the Hospice St. Charles last night is the third disaster to take toll of numerous young lives in Canada this year bringing the number of child victims to about 125.

The other two were the fire and panic at Laurier Theatre, Montreal January 5th when 15 were killed and the orphanage fire at Lac La Plonge, Sask., Sept. 29th when twenty children were burned to death. Other fires in Canada this year claimed upwards of forty victims.

GAVE 2 MONTHS TO BOOTLEGGER

Magistrate Severe On First Offender Here Under New Law

Herbert Hollum, Station street, was sentenced to two months in jail by Magistrate Mikel in police court this morning on a charge of "selling." This is the first case of bootlegging to appear before a local court since the new Liquor Control Act has come into force. Hollum was found in some Indians from the Reserve of Tyendinaga some time ago, and they were arrested by Highway Traffic Officer Frank at Shannonville. They later testified that they had purchased the "booze" from Hollum, who, however, when arrested pleaded not guilty to the charge and the case has been remanded several times.

Magistrate's Judgment

Magistrate Mikel in giving his decision said:

The accused in his cross-examination says, he has no independent means, is not working, is an engineer, mentions only two months of employment, has no bank account worth anything, as appeared by the questions put to him with his answers.

"The credibility of the witnesses in this case is rather high. One witness called by the prosecution swore that he had not spoken to the accused at any time, while the wife of the same witness swore that he had been intoxicated within that period. The principal witness for the prosecution says that the offence was committed about one o'clock in the daytime, and that no one was present in the house of the accused but the accused himself when he purchased the liquor.

ONTARIO SENATE APPOINTMENTS

Ottawa, Dec. 15—It is reported here that the Cabinet Council have made several Senatorial appointments.

It is learned that W. D. Raymond, Brantford, and Thomas Affleck, Ottawa, were appointed for Ontario vacancies. It is also stated that J. H. Spence was the third from Ontario appointee.

To fill the Quebec vacancies, P. J. Paradis, Quebec, is appointed, also R. B. Du Tremblay, former editor of La Presse, Montreal.

This means one Quebec vacancy to fill, which will probably go to J. C. Prevost, Terrebonne, or to Sir Lomer Gouin, Mayor Mederic Martin, Montreal, is also mentioned in connection with the third vacancy in Quebec.

NOTHING TO HIM CLAIMS MR. KING

Canadian Government Not Concerned With Thornton's Trip

FALLON OBJECTS

Bishop Wrote Letter Of Protest To Prime Minister

Ottawa, Dec. 15.—"The Government of Canada had no more to do with the arrangements of Sir Henry Thornton of the invitation he received from the Government of Mexico than the Government of United States had to do with the acceptance by Col. Lindbergh of an invitation received by him from the same Government," declares Premier W. L. Mackenzie King, in a statement issued in reply to the open letter by Bishop Fallon, of London, Ontario, criticizing Sir Henry Thornton for his trip to Mexico.

Demands Explanation

London, Ont., Dec. 15.—An open letter has been forwarded to Right Hon. Mackenzie King by Right Rev. M. F. Fallon, Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of London, and given out here last night by his Lordship. The letter strenuously objects to the recent loan of Sir Henry Thornton by the Canadian Government to the Government of Mexico, and in the name of Canadians demands an explanation. The letter says in part:

"Mr. Prime Minister:

"I notice with some interest that Sir Henry Thornton, President and General Manager of the Canadian National Railways, after a sojourn of some weeks in the society of the robbers and murderers who now form the Government of Mexico, has returned afire to Canada. In this achievement Sir Henry has been much more fortunate than the thousands of innocent Mexicans who have been ruthlessly butchered at the gang of venal ruffians and treacherous assassins who have displaced civil liberty by savagery, and have destroyed the last vestige of civil and religious liberty in the Republic of Mexico.

Honor Besmirched

"The purpose, however, of this letter, Mr. Prime Minister, is not to comment on Sir Henry Thornton's good luck in getting back to Canada alive, I write as a Canadian to publicly inquire why you have besmirched the honor and dignity of Canada by subjected my native land to the most disgraceful, indecent and indefensible episode in its whole history. In asking this question I transgress no principle of law or of propriety.

"There is another most important point to which, Mr. Prime Minister, I respectfully direct your attention. Catholics constitute almost 40 per cent of the entire population of Canada. They are to that extent the owners of the Canadian National Railways. Of the staff of employees they pay the salaries of Sir Henry Thornton and of the staff of gangsters who accompanied him to Mexico. Will you inform us, Mr. Prime Minister, why you have failed to publicly ask the question, what powerful secret influence forced you to grovel before the Catholics of Canada by turning a portion of their taxes to the aid of the infamous Government in the world today?"

REFUSE INVITATION

Col. Lindbergh's Mother Goes On Teaching Her Classes

Detroit, Dec. 15.—Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh to-day declined the invitation of Ambassador Dwight Morrow to spend the Christmas holidays with her son, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in Mexico City as the guest of the Ambassador and President Calles of Mexico.

In a telegram to her son to-day Mrs. Lindbergh said, "Please thank Ambassador Morrow. I regret it is impossible to accept their invitation."

Mrs. Lindbergh was back at school to-day, teaching her chemistry classes as usual.

BANKRUPTCY END OF PICTON TALE

Charles L. Mounce Bakery And Confectionery Business In Difficulties

Charles L. Mounce, the long suffering husband, who tried to his marriage vows, of taking his wife for better or for worse, has added another turning point to his private and social life at Picton. On the 5th of this month he entered into bankruptcy and the Canadian Credit Men's Association, Limited, are now in charge of his erstwhile thriving bread and confectionery business of that town.

It will be recalled that within the past two months his wife eloped with the baker who was in the employ of her husband. Not satisfied with besmearing her husband she took five hundred dollars of his money and departed for Windsor where they were arrested. Immediately following the wife's elopement, Mounce's eldest daughter was secretly married and joined her mother and lover in their apartment at Windsor.

However, the "honeymoon" for the three couples was of a short duration as they were arrested shortly after setting up the love nest and duly fined and brought back to Picton where, when the abandoned husband saw his wife's partner in the prisoner's dock, refused from his attitude of unforgiveness and took her back to his home after she was allowed her liberty by the magistrate on a suspended sentence.

With this once prominent baker's business going into the bankruptcy court, he and his family's association with the life of the community of Picton will no doubt also terminate.

DEFENSE CALLS NO WITNESSES

Evidence In Murder Case From Valleyfield All In

Valleyfield, Que., Dec. 15. (C.P.)—No witnesses will be put forward by the defence in the trial of Alfred Lamarche, old and Doris Palmer McDonald for the murder of Albert Bouchard, Lamarche's taxi-driver. After the close of the Crown's case here today, J. Legault, K.C., on behalf of Mr. Calder, K.C., defence counsel, announced that no testimony would be offered on behalf of the accused.

The court was adjourned until tomorrow morning, when addresses to the jurry will commence. The Crown lawyers will speak first, followed by the defence counsel, with a reply by Philippe Brais, Crown prosecutor. The prospects are that a verdict will be reached by Friday evening.

HEPBURN REPEATS "J.J" IS A STRONG FAMILY MAN

Toronto, Dec. 15—Further reference to his "family compact" charges made against J. J. Morrison, secretary of the United Farmer's of Ontario were made by H. F. Hepburn, Liberal member of the House of Commons for West Elgin in an address before the Toronto Young Men's Liberal Club at luncheon to-day.

"Featuring by the Press of my remarks concerning the family of Mr. Morrison and the positions they occupied in the United Farmer's Co-operative Society, made in my speech at Dutton, was unfortunate" Mr. Hepburn said," as they were not what I considered most important."

"He is indeed a strong family man" declared the speaker, "I am entirely opposed to nepotism of this sort."

PROMOTION GOES TO FINE OFFICER

D. Sylvester Of Local Provincial Made Inspector At Hamilton

Provincial Police Officer David Sylvester, Grade A., has received notice that he has been appointed Inspector in Charge of the Provincial Police for the district of Hamilton, and on Saturday will leave to take over his new post. Perhaps nowhere could a better and more hard-working man be found to fill such an important position than Officer Sylvester. He was only stationed in Belleville for about a year and a half, but in that time showed his worth and was highly esteemed by his chief, Inspector Lougheed and his fellow-police, Sergeant Roy Clarke and Constable Wetherall.

Officer David Sylvester has a long and honourable record in police circles. He started his career with the Provincial Mounted Police, counted as the best and most efficient police force in the whole world. For five years he was stationed in the Yukon, and saw the hectic days of the gold rushes. Officer Sylvester numbers among his friends the Canadian poet, Robert Service.

Missed France By Accident

"Dave," as he is known to his friends for three years and a half served with the Canadian Expeditionary Force, not seeing France, however, as he was detained while in training camp in Canada. After the war he joined up with the Provincial Police Force and in 1922 was promoted to License Inspector. Officer Sylvester joined the Provincials in Sarnia, from where he was transferred to Dunnville, later to Renfrew and from Renfrew to Sault Ste. Marie. From the Soo he came to Belleville, under the command of Inspector Gunnett.

Mr. Sylvester lives on Chatham Street and has a wife and two children, both boys. Although the new inspector leaves on Saturday, his family is going to remain in Belleville for a month or so yet.

Inspector Sylvester will have charge of enforcement of the L. C. A. in the special district which includes the City of Hamilton and the County of Wentworth.

PARADIS HAS BEEN APPOINTED SEAT

More Bodies Of Children May Be Found In Smoldering Ruins

BRAVE RESCUES

Destroyed Wing Over 100 Years Old And Not Fire Proof

Quebec, Dec. 15—Firemen and other rescuer workers to-day searching the ruins of St. Charles Hospice had found, up to two p.m. the bodies of fourteen little tots, victims of last night's disaster. With the seventeen bodies recovered during the night this brought the death list to thirty-one according to an estimate made by the Sisters connected with the institutions. There are still twenty-three missing.

Quebec, Que., Dec. 15.—The list of known dead as the result of the fire last night at St. Charles Hospice was increased to nineteen at noon today when yet another kiddie's body was found.

At noon today, no positive statement as to the number of missing was available as many people who took children into their home last night had not reported to the authorities." Of the 371 only 120 inmates had been positively traced. It was the belief of firemen who were searching the ruins under tremendous difficulties that more bodies might still be found.

Find Another Body

Quebec, Dec. 15.—The body of a little girl of about eight years was found this morning on the third floor of the ruined wing of the Hospice St. Charles. The little corpse was frozen with cold and it appeared to have been due to asphyxiation. This brings the total number of known dead to eighteen, seventeen children and one adult.

Rose Anna Goudreault aged seventeen, an employee in charge of the babies ward, the daughter of Mrs. Albert Rattray, who died from shock, Mrs. Rattroud were the only three victims that had been identified this morning.

Miss Gaudreault met her death on her fourth entry into the dormitory to rescue the youngest of the children in the institution of which she was a student.

Until the various places where children were taken after escaping the fire were carefully checked up and the roll-call verified it was impossible to estimate how soon the death list would be known, but it was thought there were twenty-four missing out of the 371 that were in the building.

Eighteen Bodies Found

Quebec, Dec. 15.—Eighteen bodies have been recovered early today from the ruins of the Hospice St. Charles Orphanage and Educational Institution for Children, part of which was destroyed by fire last night. The fire, which swept with devastating suddenness over the three floors of the structure found the children and nuns in bed. The eighteen bodies were discovered a few hours after the structure had been destroyed and when the ruins cooled firemen early today found additional bodies.

Few of the bodies showed signs of having been burned. The children, it is believed, were suffocated in their mad endeavor to reach safety. Most of the children are orphans and had been asleep for nearly three hours when the flames began to sweep the old wing of the institution. So rapidly did the flames spread that, despite every effort by the nuns, little could be done to rescue the poor youngsters, many of whom were so overcome by sleep that they could hardly have realized what was going on.

The scene was one of the most heartrending ever witnessed in this city.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

The supply of time is truly a daily miracle, an affair genuinely astonishing when it is examined. You wake up in the morning and lo! your purse is magically filled with 24 hours of unmanufactured time, all the universe to your life. It is yours. Talk about an ideal democracy. In the realm of time there is no aristocracy in intellect. Genius is not rewarded by even an extra hour a day.—Bennett.

U. S. COMPLAINS

The United States shipping board in its annual report to Congress, makes a charge against the Canadian and Australian governments that they are discriminating against American ports, American railroads and American shipping. This charge is made in connection with the restriction of the British preferential tariff rate to goods imported through a sea or river port of Canada, and a ruling of the Australian tariff commission which favors British shipping plying between Vancouver and Australia. It is stated that the United States state department had been unsuccessful in arranging a settlement of this matter with Australia to remove the discrimination against United States shipping.

The United States board may feel that it has good grounds for its complaint, but it is hard to see what it can do about it. Canadians should, on the whole, feel satisfied with the rulings which benefit their own ports their own railways and their own shipping, even though it may be at the expense of those of the United States. Certainly there is discrimination shown in the regulations and it was intended that there should be. They were intended to build up Canadian ports and Canadian trade, and not to help the United States ports, railways and shipping companies. The fact that a complaint has been made shows that they have been successful, and that their purpose, that of diverting traffic from United States ports to Canadian ports, and from United States vessels to those of British registry, has been accomplished. The United States has shown no compunction in discriminating against Canadian goods by the imposition of high tariff walls to protect its own industries. Why, then, should it complain because Canada seeks to protect its own mercantile and marine interests against United States competition?

QUIET WORK

One lesson Nature, let me learn of thee,
One lesson which in every wind is blown,
One lesson of two duties kept as one,
Though the loud world proclaim their enmity—
Of toil unswerved from tranquility;
Of labor, that in lasting fruit outgrows
Far nobler schemes, accomplished in repose,
Too great for haste, too high for rivalry!

Yes, while on earth a thousand discords ring,
Man's fitful uproar mingling with his toil,
Still do thy sleepless ministers move on,
Their glorious tasks in silence perfecting;
Still working, blaming still our vain turmoil;
Laborers that shall not fail, when man is gone.
—Matthew Arnold.

THE PASSING YEARS

(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Judge Fralick presided in County Court today.

The closing exercises of the Kindergarten under the direction of Miss Yeomans will be held tomorrow.

In last Saturday's "Globe" is a picture of "Yukon Detachment of Mounted Police preparing to go out thirty miles for wood supply." Among the number is the familiar face of Dr. Alfred Willa, one of our former towns men.

The popularity of Mr. S. A. Gardner Principal of Queen Victoria School, was fully exemplified last evening, when over fifty of the pupils in his division called at his residence on Octavia street and presented him with a beautiful marble clock. They also presented Mrs. Gardner with a set of dressing mirrors.

Mr. Erastus Asll returned from Trinity College, Toronto, accompanied by a few friends, to spend Christmas.

ONE LAD DROWNS OTHER IS SAVED

Rescued By Teamster When They Plunged Through Ice Hole

Paris, Ont., Dec. 15—When ice on the flood above Penman's Mills gave way yesterday afternoon, Clifford Watt was drowned. His companion, Earle Baker was saved by the plucky action of Frank Moore, but his condition is reported critical by Paris Hospital physicians.

Moore was passing with a team when the lads plunged through the ice. Seizing a life preserver he went to the rescue. The ice broke with his weight, but he managed to take his way to the spot where the boys had disappeared and seized the unconscious form of young Baker. With the help Moore kept himself and the lad afloat until the fire truck rushed a boat to the rescue. Both man and boy were taken to the hospital.

The body of Watt has not yet been recovered.

STRANGER HAS NOT BEEN IDENTIFIED

The woman who was coming from Selkirk, Ontario, to see if the stranger suffering from aphasia, picked up by the police the day before yesterday, was her husband, had not arrived by press time today.

The chief is in receipt of a letter from Hamilton, from a man by the name of Duhart, stating that his friend has been missing for the past two weeks and that the stranger may be he. In the meantime, the man is resting quietly in the hospital.

KNOWN DEAD

Rescuers fearlessly entered the burning building and with wet blankets and rugs, still half asleep and not being fully aware of the danger in which they had been, Many children themselves, jumped from windows and elder children came forth from the burning building carrying younger children along with them.

Two Identified.

All last night and this morning the local morgue was a pitiful scene. The first victim identified was one of the fraternity brothers were there in bunches to try to identify their children. Only two had been identified up to 9 o'clock this morning. One was belief ved to be the daughter of Mrs. Albert Racine, of Canardiere Road and another is thought to be the daughter of Mrs. Marcotte, but the parents say dress, is unknown. There are still about twenty of the 271 children who were living at the institution missing and the search is being continued all today among the ruins of the old wing of the building in the hope of finding them.

The cause of the fire is unknown. According to a Nun, who was stationed in an upper part of the building, badly burned as to make identification shortly before half past ten last night there was an odor of smoke and the children were awakened at once.

Gallant Rescue Work

Quickly this section of the building was a mass of flames which spread with extreme rapidity long before the firemen, nuns and passersby were able to organize any effective rescue work. While the building was a roaring furnace, nuns, firemen and people who had gathered in the street entered the building to rescue children who were known to be still there in large numbers. Rescuers entered by the windows and were not expected by whoever to return, so terrible were the flames but many of the rescuers were successful in rescuing children and bringing them to safety.

It was only in the older part of the building that the tragedy occurred. This was built in 1873 and served at first as a hospital for sailors. Children in the new building filled out in perfect order and there were no lives lost there.

Many stories of heroism were told. One fireman was reported to have rescued fifteen children, making repeated trips up and down a ladder. Persons threw children and nuns from the windows into life nets and a human chain passed the victims across the street to the shelter of a warehouse.

Fire which began in the basement presumably through an explosion of the furnace which shot flames up the central flue, creating a draft and carrying fire through the old building and through the roof. Rescue work was stopped when the walls collapsed. Today, the structure which formed the L-wing of the original building, was a heap of ruins.

Fire Section Fire Proof

The new section was of fire proof construction and was practically undamaged. Police reported that a majority of the children were in dormitories in the section which fell a prey to the flames. The fire resulted in a hasty mobilization of fire and police staffs from all sections of the city and a great crowd collected and aiding the frantic parents of many children. A particularly distressing episode occurred when firemen who first entered the hall found a tall Christmas tree decorated and ready to be lighted for the pleasure of the children during what used to have been a Happy Christmas occasion.

Dense clouds of smoke hampered rescuers who had to grope in the darkness for the youngsters. In one section of the dormitory they found grouped together the bodies of sixteen children who had been asphyxiated. This group accounted for the majority of the body at the morgue. Many rescuers met the eyes of those who entered the ruined edifice. Some of difficult. Pulmotors were used to revive some children carried out successfully.

General Alarm

Rev. Mother St. Bridesphane, who was home in the old building, was the first to notice the odor of smoke. She immediately ran to give an alarm, running through the building calling out "Fire, Fire." Louis Turgeon was passing the building at the time and he saw the smoke and sounded an alarm which brought nuns and employment from the nearby station. On their arrival, however, a general alarm was put in, bringing all men and equipment of the district.

Flames spread so rapidly that all efforts to organize safety measures were useless. Seventy or more children sleeping in the old wing were at the mercy of the flames, unfortunate infants the majority of them. Orphans could be heard crying for help but most of their cries were in vain. It became very soon, a physical impossibility to enter the building and in less than two hours it was a mass of flames. In the new part of the building, where over two hundred children were sleeping, Rev. Mother St. Bernadd, Superior of the Home, organized the children into sections and they marched out in splendid order and without panic. By half past eleven last night the area at the foot of Crown Street became the centre of frantic women, many of whom fainted.

Frantic Scenes

"Where is my child. Is he dead?" On every side could be heard this piteous passionate tones from the throats of mothers who were mad with anxiety over the fate of their little ones children. The 271 children living at the Hospice were all children who had been left by mother or belonged to a poor family which was unable to care for them.

After the warehouse, across the street from the Hospice was filled with children others were removed to the Dick Roch Hotel, very room of which was placed at the disposal of the Sisters Here the same frantic scenes were again enacted and when that building was found to be dangerous, it became too small to cope with the crowd of parents and the Grand Opera House and the Shepherd Convent was utilized as an emergency hospital and some children were removed there.

It was after midnight before the flames were under control. Then the firemen were able to enter the ruins in some sections in their endeavor to rescue children unable to get out of hideous aspect of the dead. At that hour the building when the fire began. Pitiful scenes met the eyes of those who entered the ruined edifice. Some of

MRS. JAMES EATON

Word was received in the city this morning that Mrs. James Eaton died at her late home Royal Oak, Mich. The late Mrs. Eaton was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dean of the Third Concession of Thurlow. She was the sister of Mrs. Hilton Dean of Thurlow Township besides a father and mother. One sister also survives Mrs. Roy Wilson of Belleville. No particulars as to the time the body will arrive or funeral arrangements have been completed at the present time.

FAT MEN SHOULD DO HARD WORK

London, (By C.P.)—Fat men should be sentenced to hard labor, for indigestion is a crime, Professor B. Collingwood of the University of London told the Health League of Health.

"There is no excuse for indigestion," he said. "Indigestion is simply caused through lack of knowledge—knowledge of what to eat and how to eat it.

Eating food attractively is a most important point. The belief that you are going to enjoy your meal is half the battle.

"Then you must eat it properly. Don't swallow too quickly. After a meal it is wise to sit and rest for half an hour at least."

The physiologist charged over-eating with indigestion in many cases. Heavy weights should be placed in the dock, he repeated, as the first step on the way to the work house.

MINNEAPOLIS BANK ROBBED

Minneapolis, December 15.—A young bandit, armed but unmasked, waylaid the paymaster in the Columbia State Bank here yesterday, tied them up and escaped with between $2,000 and $3,500, after fooling one of the victims to open the vault.

On the beds were little lifeless corpses of unfortunate youngsters having been apparently choked to death by smoke.

Although a crowd of doctors entered the ruins with the intention of try ing to administer respiration it was found that the children who had been less fortunate than others were beyond human aid. Appreciating that none its work and in additional, the bodies were removed with tact.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

The speaker was May Varney; she was pretty, well-dressed and bewept. Herbert welcomed her as a change from his gloomy thoughts.

"I'm here to board the lion in his den and drag a check out of him," laughed Mrs. Varney, as she seated herself opposite Herbert. "Sometimes even us feminists find it polite to approach husbands after a meal. Jack becomes perfectly mellow after a Chateaubriandish steak."

She stripped off her gloves and began to eat olives from Herbert's untouched hors d'oeuvres. Herbert noted the absence of her wedding-ring. He felt a little prick of remorse when he remembered how, at first, he had distrusted Lila's story about Mrs. Var ney's ring.

"Jack will probably taunt me down cold," May Varney was railing on. "I haven't a bit of business buying new pearl earrings when I have three sets already. But these I saw today —so precious. I simply must have them."

It occurred to Herbert, even while he smiled indulgently upon the extravagant lady, that women have a curious code of honor. He'd imagine that May Varney would have wanted to pay her just bridge debts and redeem her sacred wedding-ring before she'd think of purchasing baubles.

"You're fond of jewels?" he asked politely, solely to make conversation.

"Adore them!" she exclaimed, nibbling at the olives. "I'd wear rings in my nose, if it could possibly be done. In fact I'm not sure that I won't some day, she laughed. "The only thing I've ever balked at was a wedding-ring that isn't a pring'ole, as I pretend, but the fact that they're not splashy enough."

Herbert started slightly and looked at her with intentness.

"You don't wear a wedding-ring—ever?"

"Never!"

Herbert made a queer sound in his throat. If hine'd been taking an olive\,

Mrs. Varney would have said he was choking off a pit.

"I nearly fired Jack's poor family into convulsions by refusing to be married with a ring," the lady went on serenely. "I finally compromised with a seal-ring of Jack's when the jeweler said it couldn't be done without, but I took it off the second the ceremony was over."

Herbert nodded for water, feeling that he was choking.

"But you—haven't I seen you—" He faltered clearly, for he lied badly, at all times. "Don't you sometimes wear a—a—circlet of diamonds—like a wedding-ring?"

May Varney shook her head vigorously.

"Symbol of bondage—that's all a wedding-ring is!" She dashed into a favorite subject with enthusiasm. "Now, take men, for instance. Except in Europe, no man ever wears anything to proclaim to the world that he has got a wife. Look how free he is; look how—"

She talked on and on, and Herbert nodded politely, but thought in chaos. May Varney was enthusiastic; she believed she was making a convert for the movement to free divorce from modern marriage exactions.

Herbert wondered agonizingly if Varney would ever come back up to take this maddening woman away. He resented May Varney so bitterly as if she had deliberately plotted to destroy his happiness. That it was destroyed was certain. He told himself Lila had lied to him. There was a "Jack"—some where in her life.

After Varney had come and taken May away, Herbert paid his bill and, fairly nauseated at thought of business, betook himself up-town.

CHAPTER II

The Heart-Breaking Romance

Lila declared afterward that it was fortunate for her that their errand made Dorothy late for her appointment with her model.

"You can't possibly make it now," Lila urged. "Come and lunch at home with me. You can telephone your studio and dismiss your model."

Dorothy assented, suggesting a rich Italian particular model was hard to get and she'd been trying for several weeks to finish a sketch. She reflected, with a rueful shrug, that being a spinster let one in for a lot of slavery to one's married friends.

They lunched pleasantly in Lila's own sitting-room, in front of a cheerful fire.

"It's so much more cozy," said Lila making herself comfortable in a soft negligee of a luscious peach shade, bordered with satin. One of the maids served them, at her order.

"I'm beginning to detest Siddons," Lila confided to Dorothy. "There's something uncanny about the man; it seems to me that he's all ears and eyes I'd ask Herbert to dismiss him only I loathe the type of wife who's always complaining about the servants."

They reached the dessert, and Lila was preparing the Turkish coffee, when the door opened without warning, and Herbert stood upon the threshold.

His expression was ominous.

Lila sprang up with a little cry of greeting but she felt a sickening premonition. Something was obviously wrong.

When Herbert saw Dorothy, sitting quietly beside the fire, he seemed to pull himself together. He made her a stiff little bow, and murmured a conventional greeting. Turning to Lila he said rather sharply:

"When you're at leisure, I should like to talk to you on a matter of great importance."

"Yes, darling!" chirped Lila brightly quite as if she weren't inwardly shaking with fear.

Dorothy rose quickly; "I was just going, Herbert."

But Lila stretched out a detaining hand. "No, Dot. Not yet. Stay awhile. I've something important to tell you."

Her eyes implored Dorothy; to Herbert she said:

"I'll come down to the library right away. Wait for me there."

He nodded grimly and closed the door behind him. Lila whirled to face Dorothy.

"What on earth do you suppose has happened now?" she gasped.

Dorothy shook her head, her eyes troubled.

Lila began to pace the floor distractedly.

"I haven't done anything. have I? And nothing has come to light. He's quite over the Jackson episode—hasn't mentioned it for more than a week. Now what do you suppose—

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I went with a fellow whom I dearly loved for over a year. This fellow moved out of town and doesn't think of me now. He used to write to me quite often but for the last three months hasn't dropped a line at all. He always told me he loved me. I've tried to forget him but I find it impossible to do so, as I love him too much. Your advice will be greatly appreciated.

SAL.

SAL: Obviously, my dear, this boy has lost interest in you and the wisest thing you can do is forget about him. Cultivate new acquaintances, develop new interests and the discovery that your new friends afford you. I am sure you will be able to forget him if you friend is indeed as fickle it is just as well that you found it out now before you allowed yourself to become deeply involved. Don't waste your time.

I am a girl in my teens. My ideal and make new friends whose companionship will amply compensate for his.

FRANKFORD W. I. REGULAR MEETING

The Frankford Branch of the Women's Institute held their monthly meeting in the Public Library on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 2. The President, Mrs. J. Snider, was in the chair. The meeting was opened with the singing of the Institute "Ode". The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted and a press reporter appointed for the balance of the year.

After the business session, Mrs. J. W. Rose, past president, spoke of the capable, willing and cheerful manner in which Mrs. Weese, who has been Secretary for the Institute for several years had performed her duties during her years of office. A vote of thanks was moved to Mrs. Weese and carried unanimously. Mrs. J. Snider also spoke highly of the assistance given her by Mrs. Weese. Mrs. Weese expressed her deep appreciation for their kind words.

The meeting was adjourned by the singing of the National Anthem.

COUNT'S SON WILL GO TO FRANCE SOON

Toronto, Ont.—It has been rumored that the two sons of the late Count de Lesseps, Guy, aged 16, and Francois, 15, now students at Appleby College, Oakville will by their father's wish, proceed to France and attend school there and fulfil the required period of military service in order to lost meetiey were read and adopted and a press reporter appointed for the balance of the year.

time before his death, it is stated, the Count announced that the sons would return to France early next year to enter the famous College de Normandie—one of the oldest boys' schools in France, where members of other branches of the de Lesseps family are to be found. Nothing will be known definitely, however, until after the contents of the will are divulged. Speculation is also rife as to whether Guy will inherit his father's title which may still hold although France is now a Republic.

News Of Movies

BELLE THEATRE

To call this a "war film" without qualification might be a cause of misunderstanding, for the description is unpleasantly associated in fastidious minds with spectacular sentiment, spectacular brutality and a peculiarly mean trading upon inevitable emotion. There have been honorable exceptions, of which "Mons" was one, but they have been rare, and have certainly been films from which personal drama has been carefully excluded.

In the present story the dramatic emphasis is chiefly personal. Principles of discretion, hearing this and reading the threatening title, might be tempted to say: "Oh, this will be another tale of the soulful youngster, the swearing sergeant, and the lady from Hollywood who discovered in Flanders a becoming background!" Let them not be misled by the futility of the past. "Roses of Picardy" is by comparison with what we have suffered on other occasions an quatere and brand piece of work.'

BASKETBALL

Captain Buchanan was forced to use two players on his team who had participated in a full game just previous to the House League fixture Kerr vs Buchanan. This in part was responsible for the very much one sided score of 66-9 which Kerr & Co rolled up inside the forty minutes of play. Incidentally it put the Kerr Captained aggregation on even terms with Vern Weir's Hoopsters at the top of the House League, each team having three wins to their credit.

Kerr—Forwards, Kerr, McPee and Brown; Centre, J. Redfern; Guards, A. Weir, H. Redfern, R. Palmer.

Buchanan—Forwards, Hibbard, Cunningham; Centre, Y. White; Guards, Buchanan, G. Miles, Strachan.

Christ Church and Holloway juniors provided an interesting argument in the Junior Section of the Church League. The latter at one time had a four point lead but were not able to hold it. At half time the game was tied the score standing four all. At the conclusion of the regular playing period the score was again Even Steven and ten minutes overtime had to be played. Holloway went into the lead as the result of a free throw being registered but Christ Church overcame this by a field goal to win by one point just before the period finished.

Christ Church—Forwards, Carter, Thomas; Centre, Fulwell, Day; Guards, Flindall and Noakes.

Holloway — Forwards, Langsbeer, Moorman, Andrews and Aseltine; Centres, Twiddy and Rosevear; Guards, Bhind, High, Sinfield.

John St. Intermediates had altogether too much experience for the Christ Church boys taking the opening game of the Intermediate Church League series by the count of 36-10. This game was a good clean exhibition of the indoor pastime and although the losers were rather outclassed they never stopped trying until timekeeper called a hault to the proceedings.

Christ Church—Forwards, White, Pecwell; Centre, Bachelor; Guards, Carter Morgan and Ashton.

John St.—Forwards, Pinkston, Parell Clarke; Centre, Skinner; Guards White, G. Miller.

By "The Observer"

The Intelligencer Sports Editor is in receipt of a communication from Mr. W. P. McLaughlin, of Napanee, with regard to the formation of a Bay of Quinte Hockey League which would include a team from Belleville. Several years ago this city was represented by 34th Battery in a group which included Kingston, Young Irishmen and Napanee.

Picton, Trenton and Frankford have already signified their intentions of coming in and as Belleville is situated in the centre of these four towns, travelling expenses would be low. A meeting of a of the representatives will be held in Belleville on Tuesday, Decemby 19th at the Queen's Hotel. It is desired that any parties interested should be represented at this meeting. With eight teams in the circuit league, it is doubtful if any of the local clubs would feel like entering. Besides this, there are two O.H.A. teams and managers might have trouble in making the proposition a paying one.

Interested parties will please get in touch with The Intelligencer Sports Editor for further particulars on this proposed league.

BOWLING

The last game in the ladies league was played last night at the Y Alleys when the Believes and the Rinkey Dinks met, the former taking three points and the latter one. This gives the Believes the league. In the first game the Rinkey Dinks took the league by 3 pins but the second game to the Believes when they rolled 920, breaking the league record for the one game. The Believes were up 176 pins and in the last game both teams were very evenly matched the Believes winning this by 4 pins and the total by 177 pins. Miss V. Bland had the high single of the evening with 236 and Miss Curry the three string with 588 while for the Rinkey Dinks, Miss Ford was high with 569.

Believes—V. Bland 536; V. Wheeler 461; E. Benedict 483; V. Rainbird 419; L. Curry 588; total 2676.

Rinkey Dinks—E. Ford 569; W. Ross 453; V. Rowson 449; M. Moock 432; M. Woodley 396 total 2299.

Pop Corn for Xmas. The good kind, guaranteed to pop. 10c per lb. C. E. Bishop & Son, Seedsmen, 172 Front St., Phone 283.

With the ruby paraphernalia tucked away in the moth-balls for the winter, sport fans turn to hockey, that great winter pastime. The Grads, Canada's representatives at the Chevsaic games, will shortly be taking the hop across the pond, Jack Adams' Detroit Cougars are making things hot in the Pro group while the Junior O.H.A. will be getting underway shortly. Belleville will see the opening game on Friday, December 30th, when Cornwal Intermediates come here Brockville will invade the city or, the following Monday and with both games at home off the bat the locals should get away to a flying start. The teams in this loop appear to be pretty evenly matched with Queen's having a slight edge on the other five.

The Kingston Whig-Standard says—

Kingston Intermediates got a great conditioning in their practice at the Arena last night, when they were forced to work out on heavy ice. The result was that the players got a taste of what they might expect in Belleville, Cornwall and Brockville in mid-winter.

Just chalk this down on your spare shirt "Bouncer" Holway is going to have his biggest season. Holzsen-haired "Happy" Day, of the O.H.A., is going like the grand old days when he used to help chift the Belleville ring (?) from one corner to another.

Wonders never cease, eh, in Belleville some interested parties are talking about an artist-ial ice arena to seat 2,000. Still, they've done that before, and the sum total was a few more nails in the rickety sides and an extra hunk of wood in the dressing-room store.

BIRDS IN DANGER

Port Hope, Dec. 15.—The efforts of the Port Hope Fish and Game Association to stock this district with English Pheasants during the last two or three seasons have been most commendable but the proposition that now faces the organization is to obtain protection for the birds hatched and running wild. Hawks and owls are sadly depleting the ranks of the pheasants and the birds are becoming more scarce all the time. One farmer, Halford Benson, the proprietor of a growing chicken farm near Bewdley is only one of a number who has noticed the decreasing number of pheasants. Already this year Mr. Benson has killed a number of hawks and owls. One of the owls which he shot but was unable to shoot was of the Arctic White variety, one of the largest of the species.

Yuletide Greetings

1928

CHRISTMAS has one great lesson for the world.

'tis this: Our own happiness really depends on how much we help to make others happy.

Think it over. Grasp the full significance of that statement and you will realize that never were you so happy; never were you so satisfied with yourself as when you voluntarily did some good turn for a fellow human.

We often get our values confused in this world. We often forget that true happiness—the thing we really seek—lies not in ministering unto Self, but unto our fellow creatures.

Christmas is an occasion that brings us to our senses, that makes us realize after all that we are in this world not strictly as individuals, but as co-operating members of a great family whose hopes and aspirations are one and whose happiness is mutual.

Let Christmas Day fix in the minds of each one of us the eternal truth that the more I help my brother to be happy, the happier I am going to be myself.

GOOD OLD DAYS OF THE SCHOOL BY THE WAYSIDE; ITS INFLUENCES

Writer Recalls Old Days When He Was a Lad

Beside yon straggling fence that skirts the way,
With blossomed furze unprofitably gay
There in his noisy mansion skilled to rule
The village master taught his little school.

—Goldsmith.

Like "The old oaken bucket that hung in the well," The Little Red Schoolhouse on the Hill is to most of us a half poetic dream rather than reality. Perhaps even the name was not coined in Canada, but came to us from across the Great Lakes where Venetian red was a favorite color for barns and frame schoolhouses, so that generations ago the little red schoolhouse was a familiar feature of their landscape. Pity my part. I sing the praises of The Wayside School. To relate the story of one such school is to reveal the annals of a thousand others dating back to the pre-Confederation days of Upper and Lower Canada.

The Old Seat of Learning

The school where the writer received his initial birching had its origin at least seventy-five years ago. Bleaker than Squeers' Dotheboys Hall in Yorkshire, it stood bare and unbretting on a township line sideroad encroaching on a primitive farm orchard lot. Lane must have been costly, one would imagine, or else the illimitable acres of it were regarded as a mere encumbrance, for there was neither playground nor space for any conveniences, what ever. The Duke Ruths and the Cobbs of those days played Two-Old-Cat or Duck-on-the-Rock along the road allowance or in the yard of the pioneer church established a "few rods away by Dr. William Savage, a famous saddlebag preacher from England, who ministered to the souls as well as to the bodies of Western Ontario folk. The settlers who well and truly laid the foundations of this country knew that religion and education must needs go hand-in-hand, else no worth-while character building nor enduring nation-building would ensue Devoid of fads, frills or paint, the seat of learning was of ship-lap boards on a lasting timber frame, growing gray and rusty with passing years. Young aters were not diverted by pictures or prints on the smoky, cob-webbed walls The "new brick" erected in 1872 seems a palace of art contrasted with its predecessor. The old windows were set high that scholars might not waste time watching passing of cordwood and grain by the hundred loads Heavy wooden shutters propped with rails protected the windows after school hours. Big wooden desks, well hacked with jack-knives, sometimes secreted yellow-backed tales of Dick Deadeye and I have recollections of perusing the burglary incident in Oil on Twist instead of the less alluring columns of Cobb's spelling book.

Primitive Pedagogy

The first teacher recalled was W N. Yerex, son of a country local preacher and farmer. From earlier local masters he got a start in "book larnin" supplemented, he relates, by lessons through co-operation with Bishop Cronyn and Bishop Hellmuth, of London. "I'm only 80," he remarks, "the youngest old man in town." One of the most beautiful writers that ever put a pen to paper, he became widely known as a commercial college man In those days the gad was generally reckoned the most effectual factor in teaching the young idea how to shoot.

"How many did he lick this morning?" asked the trustee of his daughter at noon.

"Nobody."

"Humph!"

At night the same report of school doings.

"That won't last. I'll give the young man just one week.—That'll set his finish!"

The teacher was next called on the rag-mat by the trustee.

"How do you keep order?"

"I didn't come here to keep order. I came here to teach."

"But how do you do it?"

"I don't. The scholars keep the order."

He had mastered a principle of pedagogy—first interest, then inform. The section lavished $18 to $20 per month on his wages, and it was a man's job to handle a school of say 40 or more scholars ranging in winter time to twenty years of age. How a young lady Normalite of 18 would have tackled them, dear only knows.

In the Good Old Days

It was rough and ready discipline. I recall one battle royal that lasted about an hour and ended in a draw the heavy willow stick being worn to a shred. Stern measures were in order when a vindictive youth was discovered carrying a big open clasp knife in his breast pocket with the avowed intention of stabbing the teacher. They reaked out and the weapon was wrested from him without bloodshed. To cure another boy of objectional ways the teacher imprisoned him in a huge box stove. Fortunately that was in the good old summer time, so there was no cremation. All other methods failing, a very dangerous youth was threatened with the amputation of his ears on the next offence. Even that allowed a little sleight-of-hand with the teacher's knife and a bit of yellow leather, and the frightened yells of the boy could be heard half a block away Two embryo desperadoes at this school once lodged a junior pupil on a brush pile and set it ablaze, but their devilry was fortunately cut short without a tragedy.

Oratory and Public Examinations

Time-tables were not rigid in those days. One teacher of varied gifts would occasionally launch into an hour lecture on some subject, grave or gay, apart from lessons:

"While words of learned length and thundering sound,
Amazed the gazing scholars ranged around—
And still they gazed and still the wonder grew
That one small head could carry all he knew."

Before the coming of inspectors, a School Superintendent went the rounds One of these a few old inhabitants will yet recall—James Armstrong, a scholarly farmer, a lay preacher betimes, later on warden of Middlesex County and finally an honored member of the Canadian Parliament at Ottawa, where his speeches received deserved attention. His towering figure stooped through the school door the signal for a searching inquisition of the classes with sundry wise counsels in conclusion. Sometimes he figured in those public examinations which might well be revived in place of some rather frivolous modern entertainments. One after another the various classes were called to the front and before the assembled adult population of the section, thoroughly questioned by other teachers, clergymen and officials. Star pupils would distinguish themselves. "W. W." excited the admiration of the crowd by demonstrating without a hitch the 47th proposition (pons asinorum) of the first book of Euclid—no trifling feat! Then followed declamations, one or two impersonating a marker square quack discoursing "Panticurial-nervous-cordial warranted to cure all diseases incident to humanity." The program ended with a grand spelling contest, the last on the floor winning a full-length slate pencil for his or her jaw-breaking triumph. Singing schools and panorama shows, travelling ventriloquist and sleight-of-hand performers enlivened nights during the winter season.

"The Three Cents You Owe"

Annual school meeting days provided variations not on the program, as when one ratepayer accused another of being three cents shy on a personal deal. Recriminations led to a lawsuit in a village court, where both parties were "soaked" with costs. A legal poet satirized the affair in a city paper ("The Footscraper") each verse ending with a refrain: "Pay the three cents you owe." Rural School costs have steadily risen. In some thirty years expenditures in one typical case rose from $472.65 per annum to $1,226.96

CLEAR AND COLD ON COAST

Vancouver, Dec. 14.—Clear, cold weather was general along the British Columbia coast today with a minimum temperature of 18 above zero reported at Vancouver and Prince Rupert. Victoria reported but two degrees of frost, while in the upper country it was six above at Kamloops with snow. In the Yukon the weather remains decidedly chilly, Dawson reporting 30 below zero this morning.

Happiness is the ever-recreating summit on the hill of ambition.

TIGERS TRADE STAR PLAYER TO BROWNS

New York, Dec. 13—Detroit Tigers today announced that first baseman Lou Blue and outfielder Harry Mansuh had been traded to St. Louis Browns for outfielder Harry Rice, pitcher Van Gilder and a third player to be named later. Whether the third player is George Sisler, Brown's famous first baseman, or not, is not known.

FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLAR ROBBERY

Langhorne, Pa., Dec. 13—Fifty thousand dollars worth of raw silk was stolen from a freight train here today by fifteen armed bandits. In an exchange of shots with the train crew one of the bandits was wounded but was carried away by comrades.

THE QUESTION STANDS – SHOULD CHRISTMAS BE DONE AWAY WITH?

In 1926 G. B. Shaw Remarked It Was Unnecessary

FARMER VIEWPOINT

Give Decided Opinion Upon Such a Thing As No Xmas.

I have been asked to express my opinion on the question whether Christmas should be abolished or not. To begin with, I should like to ask "Who is strong enough to abolish it?" We might as easily try to abolish the sun! If the great festival of goodwill were done away with, men and women might (perhaps) be richer in money but they would be infinitely poorer in the things which make life worth living. Scrooge—before his eyes were opened—declared that Christmas was a "humbug." The business of pilling up money for himself seemed to him to be his one business in this world. But after he had been shown that a life spent-th selfish pursuit of gain was a life wasted, he said humbly: "I will honor Christmas in my heart and try to keep it all the year."

A little boy once said: "Christmas is everybody's birthday." And he was right. The Child, whose birth celebrates at Christmas, identifies Himself with the least of His brethren. Each Christmas card or gift—if it is a real token of goodwill—is, like the gifts of the wise men, accepted by the Lord of Christmas Day as a birthday gift to Himself.

Instead of abolishing Christmas, let us fulfil it—fill it full of goodwill—to men. Then the Great Companion will abide with us always.

"O come to us, abide with us,
Our Lord Immanuel."

Hope.

In any debate which was worded: "Resolved that Christmas should be abolished," there are plenty auf Scotchmen who would tak' the Affirmative. About the only thing that they ken, or remember, in connection wi' Christmas is that it's a time o' money spending, and, naturally, ye couldn expect them to be in favor o' it. heard o' one auld chap in Aberdeen who went oot into the back-yard the night before Christmas and fired off a couple o' shots wi' a pistol he'd been saved frae one o' his friends. Then he cam' back into the house and told the bairns that Santa Claus had committed suicide.

Whether or no' this explanation o their empty stockings the next morning, ratified the youngsters, I canna clearly, on which side some men would say, but the story serves tae show wera line up, gin we were to hae a referendum on the doing awa wi' Christmas.

For myself, I think that the Christmas spirit would be a fine thing gin we would hang on to it for the three hundred and sixty-five days o' the year. One day oot o' the let for "peace" and "good will" and a generous and friendly feeling towards one another, doesn't amount to nae very much—especially when we are as sel fish and bad-natured as we ever were the rest o' the time.

I think it was auld Charlie Dickens that chap who made a whole book about Christmas, who said something like this: "I will honour Christmas in my heart and try to keep it all the year." And his idea o' Christmas, as he tells us further on, was that it was "a good time: a kind, forgiving, charitable, pleasant time." When we all get this notion o' it, and that the day ought to be looked on as mair or less a model for the balance o' the year, we'll—vicious celebrations will be well worth the time and money we spend on them.

Another Englishman, who wrot books for a living, and accidentally told the truth noo and again, said that "a good conscience was a continual Christmas." It works both ways, ken. For it's certain sure that the man who has managed to get the gen uine Christmas spirit into his system will never have to lay awake at night wi' a bad conscience for company.

Sure thing! I'm all for the continuance and celebration o' Christmas—in spite o' the expense—and when the twenty-fifth o' December comes around again I'll say wi' one o' Scotland's greatest poets:

"Heap on mair wood! the wind i chill;
But let it whistle as it will,

We'll keep our Christmas merry still!
Sandy Fraser.

COOLIDGE AWAITS NAVY'S DECISION

Washington, Dec. 13.—President Coolidge is still awaiting the final conclusions by the Navy Department on its recommendations for a cruiser programme to be laid before Congress by the administration. It was said flatly at the White House that the President not only had not approved any naval building programme but that the Navy Department itself had not as yet rendered any final conclusion on the recommendations it might make.

CHRISTMAS FOR LESS FORTUNATE

Belleville's Public Institutions Well Cared For During Great Holidays

Inmates of the Belleville Home for the Aged, the Children's Shelter, the House of Refuge and the County Jail, who total one hundred and forty-seven will have as bountiful and sumptuous a fill-of-fare as their more fortunate brothers who reside in their own home hold the lap of comfort and are free to wander in and out of their dwellings as they choose. Due to the many public spirited citizens of Belleville and the county of Hastings who give freely of their time and means to help the less fortunate all the inmates of these charitable institutions will again this year sit down to a dinner "fit for a king."

At the Belleville Home for the Aged there are at present twelve inmates, eight men and four women, who are depending upon the bounty of the citizens of Belleville in the evening of their life and this Christmas as in former years they will feast as perhaps they never did in their most prosperous years. The matron of this institution informed the Intelligencer this afternoon that she expected that the menu would be the same as on former Christmases; turkey, mince pies, plum pudding, candies, nuts, fruit, etc. "The old people always look forward to their dinner" said she. The New Year's dinner will be similar to the Christmas one with the possible substitution of goose for turkey.

"There are thirty-five children in the Shelter at present, including six babies" said Miss Harris, Matron of that institution. She stated that the menu there for Christmas and New Years would include turkey, mince pies, puddings, nuts, candies and fruit. She also so said that the Christmas tree would likely be held between Christmas and New Years.

"Roast beef with mince pie and lots of other good things to eat will constitute the Christmas dinner for the inmates of the Jail" stated Jailer Thomas Ketchenon to the newspaperman. Mr. Ketchenon said that at present there were sixteen men confined there.

"We have eighty-four in all; thirty-six women and forty-eight men" said Mr. J. Leigh, Superintendent of the County House of Refuge to the reporter. He stated that their Christmas and New Year's fare would consist of roast goose and chicken, cranberry sauce, mince pie, plum pudding, candies, nuts and fruit.

The many charitable organization in the city as well as those of the different churches will send out baskets and donations to needy families of Belleville.

IS CHRISTMAS SAME AS EVER?

Or Has The Good Old Feast Day Passed Away?

Away back in the early years of the seventeenth century Ben Johnson wrote his "Masque of Christmas", in which Father Christmas and his children took a survey of their conditions to see if nothing could be done to better their prospects. "But is old, old good old Christmas gone?—nothing but the hair of his good, fair, old head and beard left!" says one line from "An Hue and Cry After Christmas", which appeared in 1645. So it would seem that for more than three hundred years the world has been fearful that the good old Christmas was gone beyond recall. Yet we still manage to have mighty good times around December 25th and all the merriment has not evaporated from the feast. Also we still cherish that fear that good old Christmas is gone forever. It belonged to the childhood of the race and we are so far from childhood, so sophisticated, we cannot recapture that fine careless rapture of bygone days.

Such nonsense! In the first place we are not nearly so sophisticated as we like to imagine, and the great majority of the people in the world still have, at least at times, much of the capacity for whole-hearted joys (and sorrows) which is the essence of the child heart. We are perhaps a little self-conscious, being just sufficiently grown-up to care rather much what the neighbors are saying. (Usually they are saying nothing and paying no attention to what we do.) There is a slight frost over the exuberance of our rejoicings at times. We do not care to break into singing an old Christmas carol out in the public high way as we fondly imagine our jolly old forefathers doing—but maybe some of them were just as shy as we. Or as uncertain of the operatic quality of their voices. Still we can admit that we have grown rather foolishly self-conscious and that it does handicap us when we want to celebrate.

Christmas is not only the festival of children, the children's day, but to enjoy it one absolutely must approach it in the child spirit and to appreciate it one must remember that this festival has its roots deep in the childhood of the race. When the Church decreed in the sixth century, that the twelve days between Christmas and Epiphany were to be days of rejoicing: it was giving sanction to a very ancient practice. The practice was pagan in its traditions, but it was so natural and spontaneous an expression of the feelings of the people and so dear to their hearts, that it could not be uprooted. So it was adopted and into the Christmas festival that celebrating the birth of Our Lord there were incorporated many very ancient customs, customs that were the instinctive expression of natural emotions. Chief among them was the rejoicing when the sun returned to power after the winter solstice. One cannot, dwelling in a northern race which would not spontaneously create a season of rejoicing for lengthening days and warmer sunshine. Such a festival is not pagan, unless we call all natural impulses pagan.

HAVANA CIGARS

IN ALL SIZES

From the Roman Saturnalia we are supposed to have inherited our gift-giving ways. They held their great fairs, at which were sold clay images or dolls, warranted to ensure the return of the sun to power, and they presented their charms to their friends as evidences of affection and overflowing good spirits. The use of boughs and branches as decorations in times of rejoicing is a universal practice, dating back to the time when the spirit of vegetation was worshipped and propitiated. Evergreens were a natural symbol of everlasting life and of the hope that the cold of dark winter days would really give way to warmth again. The bright red berries gladdened the hearts of the people in these far off days when winter brought real suffering and terror and the dreadful fear that the sun might be gone forever. If our celebrations are not quite so abandoned as some ancient orgies, it is because we have not known the physical suffering nor the mental distress from which they had early release. One fancies that Christmas nowadays is actually more merry that it ever was before. Even in comparatively modern times the richest and greatest lived and died without imagining the comfort and the good food that is the common lot of most of us nowadays. If good old Christmas is really gone, so is the black dread of winter that led to the saturnalia of rejoicing when the sun stopped out again.

Mistletoe has been in disgrace and not allowed into churches at all until recently, because it played so great a part in the old heathen festivals. But mistletoe was beloved by the people and they retained the decoration long ages after they had forgotten all it once stood for, when the Druids believed that it contained the very life of their sacred oaks. Nobody quite knows just how or when or why the mistletoe became the warrant for a kiss, though there are ancient legends that purport to explain it all. In the "good old days" which we are wont to regret, the maiden who was not kissed at least once under the Christmas mistletoe was supposed to be doomed to one more year unwed. A large bunch was hung in a conspicuous place in every house and a berry was pulled off every time a kiss was given. When no berries were left, there were no more kisses—at least that was the ideal and they observed it.

Many of our Christmas customs come from the ancient Aryan religion and the worship of Balder. The Christmas Tree is thought by some to be the descendant of the Yeggdrasil, the giant world ash, in whose branches were the dwelling places of men and gods. In olden times the Teutons brought into their houses tiny trees decorated by candles to symbolize the tree of life. Golden balls to represent the other heavenly bodies were hung in the branches, with small figures of animals sacred to Balder. Giving to the poor was a natural expression of goodwill at such times.

Santa Claus seems to be a composite figure, descendant of many ancient customs and legends. There was St. Martin, for whose horse children put out their shoes, filled with oats, in return receiving gifts from the good Saint if they had been good themselves. Saint Nicholas was a fourth century Bishop of Myra, who gave him ous gifts to certain of his parishioners and established a tradition of Christmas as the time when we try to make dreams come true, especially for the young.

FAMOUS THEATRE CHAIRMAN HERE

Winnipeg. — (CP) — Archibold P. Flower, chairman of the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, Stratford-On-Avon, was a visitor to Winnipeg recently from England. He intends spreading the gospel of Shakespeare as a vital force throughout the west.

Born in the great playwright's native town, Mr. Flower believes that Shakespeare stands today as the greatest of entertainers and philosophers. His aim is to eradicate the idea that Shakespeare is for the classicists and not for the masses. He regarded the presentation of Shakespeare in modern costume as an interesting experiment, stating its value lay in the fact that it demonstrated Shakespeare was timeless.

PRACTICAL JOKE BY LONDON PEER

When Twenty Divorced Couples United At Party

London, Dec. 2.—Twenty divorced peers recently were tricked into dining with their twenty former wives. Details of the discomfiture of the forty famous celebrities are beginning to leag out, and smarter London is chuckling.

A British practical joker, Lord Kinnoull, combined this party with one other humorously inclined Englishman Sir Michael Bruce, had made up of the peers' divorced wives.

So tense was the atmosphere when the two parties met that the diplomatic owner of Victor's club, fearing scandal, refused admittance to the Duke and Duchess of York, who arrived unexpectedly. The emotional reactions of the twenty divorced couples ranged from frigidity to hysterical gaiety and along to reconciliation.

The combining of the two parties and "female" parties. He invited the is blamed on the Earl of Kinnoull. In some way he had learned of "male" twenty peers to meet him at Victor's. He called Sir Michael Bruce and told him to meet him at Victor's with the twenty former wives of the peers "There's a jolly crowd at Victor's," he said.

The men guests arrived first, hilariously and happy. They were led into the already crowded supper room by Victor himself.

Victor was appalled when he recognized in the superbly gowned and bejewled women of the second party, just arrived, the former wives of the party he had just finished seating.

YE OLD YULE LOG

The burning of the Yule log on Christmas Eve has been a custom in England for many years, many believing that the burning of the Yule logs the evil spirits away from the home until the following Christmas, thus ensuring a year free from enchantment of an evil kind.

Decorating the house with evergreens dates back to the time of the Druids. The mistletoe which adds merriment to the Christmas festivities is supposed to come from the Druids who looked on it as sacred. Britain is the place of origin of a great deal of mistletoe for foreign markets. On the high ground near Mount Dol there grows enough mistletoe to supply all Europe. In Surrey, England, it is also largely cultivated, where the apple trees are used for it to climb on.

The legend of the mistletoe and its connection with kissing comes from Scandinavia. Frigga, the mother of Balder, took an oath by all the trees in nature that nothing could harm her son, but forgot the mistletoe however, and he was slain with an arrow of mistletoe wood. He was restored to life and the od mistletoe was ever afterwards a symbol of love and good-will as long as it was suspended above the ground.

The Scandinavians have a custom of placing in a row all the sheaf of the household on Christmas eve as a symbol that the family will live in peace and harmony throughout the year.

Some of the peasants in England believe that the cattle kneel in their stalls at midnight on Christmas Eve also that the sheep form a procession in remembrance of the shepherds and the angel messengers. When a roost-er is heard to crow in December during the night it is supposed to be crowing for Christmas, and by crowing it frightens away the evil spirits left they appear at the holy season. This seems to us ridiculous, yet it might teach us the wisdom of chasing away the evil spirits of hate, jealousy, etc., which so often mar the happiness of Christmas.

The ancient custom of placing an extra plate at the table in hopes that the Christ Child might enter and be a guest is one that we might well follow, for there are always so many lonely ones whom we can entertain at this festive season, remembering Christ's words, "Inasmuch as ye do it unto one of the least of these, ye do it unto Me."

In Russia they used to have a beautiful festival called "The festival of the Evening Star." It started when the evening star appeared and no doubt had its origin in the star which led the wise men to the place where the infant Jesus lay.

It is very appropriate to place a star on the top of the Christmas Tree, as it helps the children to remember amidst all the gayety, the Star which led the wise men all through their tedious journey until they came to the manger, where they knelt down to worship the King and offer their gifts.

In many places in the old land, the festivities lasted from Christmas Eve until the sixth of January when the people went back to their duties. Especially was this true of Scotland as we learn from the lines:

Yule's come and Yule's gone, and we has feasted well;
Sae, Jock maun to his flail again, and
Jeannie to her wheel.

FOSSILS FOUND NEAR PORTLAND

Oregon Discovery Advance In Tracing Animal Life

Portland, Ore., (By C. P.)—Discovery of fossils in Harney County, Oregon, of the age of reptiles as announced by Dr. F. B. Dade of Boise, Idaho, a noted geologist, is heralded as an important step in tracing the development of animal life.

Dr. Dade's statements of his find last indicated he had learned that once was the realm of monstrous reptiles and trees—gigantic almost beyond belief.

A carload of fossilized scales from reptiles such as the monotherium, triodon and other gigantic monsters can be picked up now in Warm Springs on the edge of the town of Burns, Dr. Daude declared. What the United States Geological Survey has reported as rhpolite is actually a silicified forest of sequoia, cedars and conifers whose staggering size is such as to test the most vivid imagination, the geologist added.

United his discoveries recently, Dr. Dade declared the fossils of the petrified lizards of the reptilian age had been identified here. And this, he pointed out, is the most important discovery inasmuch as the reptilian age existed long before the mammoth when arrived in the course of "dawn" age.

Reconstruction of the lizard by Dr. Dade shows that it was a gigantic monster whose habitant was swamps. Its length was approximately 100 feet.

Wait for others to advance your interests and you will wait until they are not worth advancing.

The United States produces only about half of the 600,000,000 pounds of wool it uses each year.

INQUIRING BEST WAY FOR WOMAN

Women's Institutes Meet In Toronto. In November

Toronto, Nov. 30.—In the report on Women's Institutes just issued by the Ontario Minister of Agriculture, W. R. Lang, Provincial Convenor of Legislation, says: "Nearly all letters received have has something to do with guardianship of children, wills, and the unsatisfactory nature of the present economic position of married woman. It is interesting to note that these questions are agitating not only the rural but the city women; not only Canadian women, but those from England, Scandinavia, Austria and every other country. I told you last year of the good sense of the citizens of Scandinavia in facing this problem and in recognizing by law the fact that marriage is a partnership of two persons, differing in the kind of service which they render to their mutual undertaking, the home, but each equal before the law in their responsibilities and economic standing. No longer in Sweden do they talk of a husband 'supporting' his wife; they both support the family, he by working outside and she by working inside, and the financial responsibilities of the wage earning partner is not finished until he has contributed to his wife, in addition to the housekeeping money, a personal allowance which is her own to spend or save. As you know, a case in British Columbia was given against the wife, who during the war did her own housework in order to be able to save the wages of a maid to subscribe to the Red Cross. It was ruled that money given to her 'for a certain purpose, in this case housekeeping, was not her own to spend or save.

"Hitherto, in Ontario, the married woman's Property Act has definitely stated that a woman's earnings are her own in any occupation in which her husband has no proprietary interest, and also money which she earns by her own literary, artistic or scientific skill. But this Act was drafted this year, and this clause has been left out, and it looks as if no ruling has been made as to when a woman's earnings are her own. What exactly will be the result of that, I do not know."

BILLY BOO'S XMAS.

A POEM

"Christmas comes but once a year,
Cried young Billy Boo
To Redneb on Christmas Eve,
And friend Jerry, too.
Sure it would be great fun if we
Through the sky could leave
To where Santa Claus is now
Busily preparing

All the toys and Christmas presents
Which he will deliver
In his reindeer-drawn sledge
Just as soon as ever
From the tellries of the world
To his ears the sounds
Of midnight shall come and send him
Speeding on his rounds!"

"That's a good idea, Billy,"
Redneb said. "And I
Quite agree," said Jerry—only,
Bill and I can't fly!"
But Bill laughed and said to Jerry,
"Don't you take alarm,
But just watch and see what happens
When I rub my charm!"

And what happened was that Billy
Wished a wish and cried
"Yakadoo!" and of a sudden
There at Billy's side,
Standing in a row and filling
Standing in a row and filling
Were three broomsticks such as witches
Ride on through the skies!

"Now," said Billy, "let's be mounted!"
And away they flew
On their broomsticks up to Toyland,
So that soon they drew
Nigh, and saw a great big building
And at least a score
Of reindeer with widespread antlers,
Grazing near the door.

"That must be the Toyshop!" Billy
Yelled; so down they dropped
To the door, and as they landed
All the reindeer hopped.
Helter-skelter, out of sight—
Which brought Santa Claus
Running to the door to see
What the trouble was.

Billy Boo at once saluted,
Saying "How-do-you-do!"
And old Santa smiled and murmured
"Charmed! But tell me who
You and your companion might be?"
And Bill answered, "We
Have come up to see you, hoping
We some help can be."

"That's most kind and thoughtful of you,"
Santa Claus replied.
"There are heaps and heaps of presents
Waiting to be tid."
So he took them in and gave them
Paper sheets and cord,
Saying, "Work fast, now, and you'll later
Each have your reward!"

But at first poor Billy found it
Hard to work because
So entranting were the lovely
Toys which Santa Claus
Had collected in his toyshop,
That Bill could but stare
Open-mouthed at all the gorgeous
Things assembled there.

Soon, however, Billy settled
To his task, and made
Redneb fly to him with presents,
Which he wrapped and laid
To one side, and which by Jerry
Then were neatly stacked
Near the door all ready on the Sledges to be packed.

"Thank you, boys that's fine!" said
Santa
When the clock struck ten.
"Now we'd better fill the sledges;
After which I'll then
Phone across to Mars and ask them
To release some snow . . . ."

"Yes," laughed Bill, "we've been to Mars and
Seen it made, you know!

And as time drew on to midnight,
And eight reindeer stood
Harnessed to four laden sledges,
Santa said, "It would
Save me lots of time and trouble
If you pixies would take
Each a sledge and try to follow
Closely in my wake."

"Now, just let me wish you all a Merry Christmas!" said
Santa, and they joined in chorus
"Same to you!" . . . . And sped
Homeward with their presents, singing
"Good old Santa Claus!
For he is the nicest, kindest
Man that ever was!"

So, when belfry bells were loudly
Tolling down below,
Off on Santa's trail they started
Through the falling snow.

Neither "Just as Good"
FINDLAY & PHILBIN

And throughout that night they labored,
Dropping parcels down
Chimneys, and then swiftly speeding
On from town to town.

Till at length their task was ended
And their wearied steeds
Brought them back again to Toyland
Where their kindly deeds
Were by Santa Claus rewarded;
For he said "What toys
Do you fancy? Well, just look and Help yourself, my boys!"

"Oh, please, Santa!" answered Billy,
"Neither of my pals
Cares for toys, but they are very Fond of festivals!"
So old Santa gave them each a
Bag of lovely eats,
Full of fruits and pies and puddings,
Chocolates and sweets.

And he also gave to Billy
Pipes to please his Dad,
And a hatchbag for his Mammy
And because Bill had Been so good, old Santa also Gave him to take back
Oh, the loveliest railway engine
Running on a track!

MICE GAVE THEM THEIR SHORTNESS

London, (By C.P.)—Nurses at the Enfield Isolation Hospital of World's End have been granted permission to wear shorter skirts because of the plague of mice.

The mice for months have centered their attention on the nurses' quarters, until the dwellers therein were constantly on the verge of prostration. The mice got into the beds of the young women, chewed about their bedrooms, got into the bathrooms, reared families under the floors and made themselves those made by unkind words.

at home generally. The mice simply defied all efforts to exterminate them, and made the professional mice catchers with they were engaged in another profession.

At a meeting of the hospital board it was suggested that the buildings in which the nurses live should be hunted over to the mice, and new accommodations sought for the young ladies. As a last resort, however, the board asked the surveyor to recommend a remedy, and he suggested shorter skirts as a measure for temporary relief.

Physical wounds may heal, but not of a success as a fisherman.

CYNIC SNEERS AT CHRISTMAS TIDE

Just a Piece of Advertising Says He—Poor Cynic!

(Farmer's Advocate)

"Bah," sneered the Cynic, as he buttoned up his pockets lest a silver piece escape into the Christmas Pot. "Bah! Christmas! Just a commercial piece of advertising with the world stampeded into spending twice as much as it can afford for things nobody really wants and food nobody can digest. Nice apology for merriment and goodwill, this modern travesty on Christmas."

Poor Cynic! He was not to blame, for that was how things looked to him from where he stood. If only he had turned around and seen the other side of Christmas, he would have known that the modern world is just like any other world in being made up of many different kinds of people. To simple hearts, simple things will always bring joy. He should have watched a father and mother in a tiny pioneer home as they laughed together over their amateur toy-making. He should have seen the utter bliss in children faces when those same two were discovered on Christmas morning, all their faults transmuted into beauties in that wonderful alchemy of childish imagination. He should have been permitted to read the secret of the shabby little man he passed in the street, a secret almost too precious to keep, that meant a dozen tiny sacrifices every day, after the first Christmas card glimpsed in a shop window had revealed to him that it was none too soon to begin hoarding pennies. And the Scrip would be some coveted possession, not very valuable in the open market, of dollars and cents, but destined to bring delight to the dear little wife at home and to rest in her eyes more priceless than rubies.

The Christmas of barter and exchange, of commercialized giving, isn't really Christmas at all. It is just a rare saturnalia which happens to fall at the same time as the real festival. It has nothing to do with loving and living and laughing, with the bliss of choosing the one perfect gift and finding it just a little more expensive than one can really afford, which somehow makes the joy of giving twice as great.

For those who like such things, there always has been and doubtless always will be, the yearly playing of Beggar My Neighbor. For the great mass of mankind there has always been and doubtless always will be, the yearly climax to kindliness, when simple hearts drink deep of the joy of sacrifice and love, and are the better for it all through the year.

A thuthful man never makes much

THE CHRISTMAS ROAD

(By Margaret Sangster)

By a beautiful road our Christmas comes,
A road full twelve months long,
And every mile is as warm as a smile
And every hour is a song.
Flower and flakes and clouds and sun
And the winds that risk and sigh,
Have their work to do ere the dreams come true
And Christmas glows in the sky.

The sassy and cedar and mistletoe,
They thrilled when the nights were chill,
For the maiden's glance and the madcap dance,
And the lover's fool on the sill.
For the Christmas mirth the brave pine grew,
Serene and straight and tall,
The deep woods knew in their bush and dew,
When the dearest of days would fall

To the beautiful home our Christmas comes,
To the home that is safe and sweet,
With its door ajar for the beams of the star,
And its corner for love's retreat.
There the mark on the wall for the golden head
Is higher a bit, for lo!
Between Christmas coming and speed,
There's time for the babes to grow.

TEXTILE WAGES REDUCED

Manchester, N.H., Dec. 14.—A ten per cent wage reduction, effective on Saturday, December 17, was announced late today by Agent W. Parker Straw, of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, whose mills here make up one of the largest textile plants in the world. Approximately 8,000 workers will be affected.

"ACCIDENTAL DEATH" VERDICT OF ORPHANAGE JURY

Aphasia Victim Son of Baptist Minister --- Hope of Finding Lost "Kamloops" Has Been Given Up

FATHER CLAIMS MAN IS HIS SON

Mysterious Stranger Identified Last Night—Taken Back Home

LOSS OF MEMORY

Does Not Know Parent Now —Has Had Slight Trouble Before

The identification of the man found wandering on the streets of Belleville on Tuesday night was established early last evening with the arrival of Michael Siple, of Simcoe, Ontario, who claims the man is his son. Mr. Siple who is a retired Baptist minister, was accompanied to the city by a son-in-law. They motored here the first of early and arrived about eight o'clock. They were immediately taken to the General Hospital by the police and the latter informed the Chief that it was his son Harry Siple. The latter, however, did not recognize his paternal parent when the latter went into the room. The visit to the city was the result of newspaper articles describing the man and his actions.

Harry Siple, his father said is a business man in the village of Silkirk, a few miles from Hamilton and as was customary he made weekly trips to Hamilton for supplies. A week ago on his return to the Hamilton city along with the truck driver and after the goods had been loaded, Siple was missing. The driver phoned as Mrs. Siple thinking that her husband had returned did not appeared. He then made a search of all the business places but was forced to go home without any news. Efforts were made to trace him out without result and the next light to be told of the strange disappearance was the report appearing in the newspapers.

Subject to Trouble

Mr. Siple Sr., told the police that his son was subject to loss of memory but up to this instance had never extended over half an hour. Siple did not recognize either of his relatives. He will be taken back to Silkirk today by motor.

The man wandered into the home of Rev. Michael Jones on Tuesday afternoon claiming he was of Baptist religion. Mrs. Jones was frightened by his actions and called Mr. W. H. Merry by telephone. Mr. Merry on his arrival informed the police and Siple was taken to the Central Hospital where Detective Sergeant Trumbell has been maintaining a close watch over him. He was taken for short walks about the hospital grounds but complained continually of pains in his head. It was reported that he was becoming an annoyance to other patients and the nurses. Had the party been Western Ontario not arrived he was expected that measures would be taken to place him in either the jail or the police cells.

Rev. Mr. Jones paid a visit to the hospital last evening and it was discovered that he was acquainted with Mr. Siple Sr., but did not know the son.

CUP RACES ONLY EACH TWO YEARS

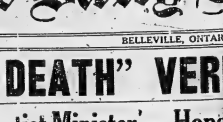

Schneider Trophy To Be Competed For Bi-ennially In Future

London, Eng., Dec. 16—British and Italian Governments have decided to support the project for amendment of the Schneider Cup rules to make future races bi-annually instead of annually, by making this amendment the Air Ministry stated that the present interval of one year between races was not enough to allow adequate progress in technical design of marine aircraft the object of the trophy's donor.

Governments have agreed not to support an air flotilla entry in 1928 provided that the other possible competing countries agree to follow the same course. United States, French and German authorities have been informally consulted and are understood to concur in this proposal.

APPOINTED NEW B. H. S. TEACHER

Mr. I. Cutler From Bracebridge Succeeds Mr. A. L. Stillwell

Mr. Isaac Cutler who for the past two years has been a member of the staff of Bracebridge Collegiate Institute has been engaged by the Belleville School Board to replace Mr. A. L. Stillwell who recently resigned as mathematics instructor at the local High School to accept a similar position at Humberside Collegiate, Toronto.

Mr. Cutler comes to Belleville highly recommended and the Board feel exceptionally fortunate in securing the services of this efficient gentleman. He is a graduate of the University of Toronto. Mr. Cutler will assume his duties here directly after the commencement of the winter term.

The examinations at the High School started today and will continue until next Thursday. The Athletic Association will hold a dance at Johnstone's Academy on Thursday night.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

In me there dwells
No greatness, save it be some far-off touch
Of greatness to know well I am not great.
TENNYSON.

LED THE WAY

With the absorption of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment by Department of Health a word regarding Canada's work for ex-service men may not be out of place. In this task—the task of remembering in a practical way the men who fought for her, and of re-establishing them in civil life—Canada, it can be said without boasting, was more successful and more efficient than any other nation that took part in the Great War. The bonus paid to Canadian war veterans was the highest granted by any nation. Our soldier land settlement scheme has been, from the beginning, a fine success, good for returned men and good for Canada. Our pensions are among the highest—if not the highest—in any of the allied countries And, finally, the work of our Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment has been copied by nearly every other nation that had a part in the war.

The danger of all such work is that it leads to the creation of large bureaucratic departments. It has done so in the re-establishment of ex-service men. When Major N. F. Parkinson, who is now retiring to private life became Deputy Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment in 1920, the staff of the department numbered 8,000 persons. Later on, due to an amalgamation with the administrative work of the Board of Pension Commissioners, the number of the staff increased to 10,000. Today it is down to 1,200. Considering the tendency of all Government departments to grow, and having regard to the vast amount of work that the Soldiers' Re-establishment was called upon to do, this is a remarkable showing.

Major Parkinson, who now relinquishes the task that he has held for nearly eight years, deserves the thanks of the country. It is good to know that his retirement is not, as rumored due to political machinations, but to the simple fact, as emphasized by his Minister, that by his capacity for re-organization and zeal for the public interest, he abolished his own job. Such devotion to the public good is rare; and it is to be hoped that in his return to private life Major Parkinson will have all the success which his ability deserves.

THANKFULNESS

I offer thanks for just familiar things;
The ruddy glory of the sunset sky,
The shine of firelight as the dusk draws nigh,
The cheerful song my little kettle sings:

The woodland music of my giant pine
The last sweet token that my garden yields,
The mellow tints upon the autumn fields,
The far off misty mountain's purple line;

The sense of rest that home so surely brings,
The books that wait my pleasure, true and fine
Old friendships that I joy to feel are mine,
I offer thanks for just familiar things

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

Sir Charles Gordon, who has been elected President of the Bank of Montreal, is an example of advancement and honor by merit. Having started life in a wholesale dry goods firm in Montreal, he soon decided to enter the manufacturing field. One success after another in the manufacture of cotton goods, led him to the presidency of the largest cotton company in Canada. During these years his work was always of a constructive character and he distinguished himself by his great administrative and executive ability. It was these qualities which pointed him out as a fitting director of the bewildering task of making and supplying munitions during the war, and he became in succession vice-chairman of the Imperial War Munitions Board of Canada, vice chairman of the British War Mission in Washington and representative of the British Ministry of Munitions in the United States. Naturally these operations involved immense financial transactions and his clear understanding of these problems further enhanced his reputation. His services had previously been appreciated in banking circles and his wide experience and sound judgment attracted the attention of the Bank of Montreal. As vice-president for a number of years he became familiar with the details of this great institution. As president he will maintain the dignity and uphold the sound business principles which have always characterized it.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

THE PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Repairs are being made to the street railway roadbed.

Mrs. Hart (nee Miss Laura Folger, second daughter of B. W. Folger) wife of Mr. W. D. Hart, manager of the Standard Bank, Kingston, died yesterday morning, after an illness of some months' duration.

Complaints are again made of disorderly gangs of boys, hobble-de-hoys and young men who nightly make a rendezvous of themselves on Bridge St. W., between Murney's Hill and the bridge. Will the police look to this?

Mr. Joseph Nevin Doyle, son of Ald Doyle, who has been in New York for two years, seems to have hit his vocation as a compiler of songs, several of which, sentimental and comic, have already won for their young author high commendation.

The pupils of Miss M. Fleming's division in Queen Victoria School, called at her residence on Cedar street last evening and presented her with a beautiful opal ring, accompanied with a neatly worded address. The pupils were afterwards entertained by their teacher.

Mr. E. Doyle has gone to Trenton to relieve the mail clerk between that town and Picton for a time.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

It was Christmas Eve. They snuggled in the sofa before the hearth fire. He had talked himself out without saying anything. She thought him slower than the mail man on Christmas morning.

"Do you notice," he observed, "do you notice how the fire reddens?"

"Yes," she sighed wearily, "but I'm sure it's not because of anything we've done.

Little Willie was meeting his grand father for the first time.

"I'm your paternal grandfather," said the old man.

"What does that mean?" asked Willie.

"It means I'm on your father's side."

"Are you?" replied Willie. "Well, you can take it from me you're on the wrong side in this family."

THE RANGE OF JACK PINE

The jack pine (Pinus Banksiana) has a very wide range in Canada. It is found from Nova Scotia to the Rocky mountains and northward in the valley of the Mackenzie river to Great Bear lake. Its best development as a timber tree is reached in northern Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

COURT WEPT

Abbe Caron," Chaplain of the Hospice was a feature of th opening session of the inquest.

Abbe Caron, who wept copiously from the opening of the inquest, declared when he took the stand that the fire men were directed to place ladders to the windows on the upper storey by which many children could have been rescued. Instead he said the ladders were placed otherwise and hope of saving more inmates was lost. The ladders are testified and denied that he had received any orders from the Sisters or other persons of the institution with regard to placing ladders.

Thirty-Four Recovered

Quebec, Dec. 16.—Thirty-six hours after the great catastrophe at Hospice St. Charles, the number of dead found of whom had been discovered, stood at thirty-four with sixteen other children still unaccounted for. Although it is possible that some of the fifteen children are still living and with individuals who rescued them from the burning building, little hope is held out. When the search was halted last night owing to the danger of falling walls, searchers reported that other bodies could be seen in the wreckage. Early today an extra gang of fifty men were placed at work clearing away debris in an effort to reach the bodies of the other victims.

TODAYS MARKETS

Corn Market Weak

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Agressive selling at the part of speculators led to a decided early setback in corn values today and also indirectly weakened wheat. Below zero temperatures in Iowa acted as a brisk incentive to sell corn. Open ing at 1-8c to 3-4c off the corn market quickly underwent material further set back. Wheat started unchanged to 5-8c lower and subsequently showed losses all around. Oats were easy. Provisions likewise tended to sag.

Chicago Grains

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Wheat, Dec. 125 1-8; March 129 1-8; Corn, Dec. 84 5-8; March 88 7-8. Oats, Dec. not quoted; March 54 3-8.

EXCHANGE RATES

New York, Dec. 16.—Foreign exchange steady demand rates in cents Great Britain 4.87 3-4, Canadian dollar 3-32 of one per cent. discount.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

MRS. GEORGE JOHNSON

Mrs. George Johnson passed away early this morning at her home, Herchimer Avenue. Deceasd was born in Thurlow township, eighty-three years ago and has lived in this vicinity for the past ten years. She was a member of St. Michael's Church. She leaves to mourn her loss, beside her husband, Georgee Johnson, two sisters, Mrs. T. Carney, Toronto, and Miss Elizabeth Milne, Toronto; and one brother, Alexander Milne, Thurlow township.

MRS. MELISSA ROSS

The remains of the late Mrs. Melissa Ross arrived from Toronto to-day accompanied by friends. Interment took place in the Elmwood cemetery, the services being conducted by the Rev. Farnsworth. Many beautiful floral tributes were in evidence.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUP

The ringing of the telephone interrupted her. She thrust aside the bro cade skirts of the simpering Marie Antoinette doll that covered the instru ment and took down the receiver ab sently.

"Yes? . . . What, . . . Oh, yes. May .... It's quite all right, I'm she listened. "You—you lunched with Herbert?. . . . Oh!. . . No, no. May. . . . It's quite al right, I'm not in the least jealous!" She laugh ed shakily. "No, that wasn't why I sounded so shocked. It was—er—something else. . . . No, I can't tell you. . . . What did you and my Herbert talk about? . . . Wedding-rings! Wedding-rings, did you say! Oh, Heaven!" Lila groaned and threw an eloquent glance toward the puzzled Dorothy.

There was a little more conversa tion, during which Lila promised to have tea with Mrs. Varney the fol lowing afternoon. Lila hung up the receiver and turned a stricken face to Dorothy.

"May thinks I'm crazy, naturally! But, the worst has happened. Mary met Herbert, by chance, at luncheon, and they talked wedding-rings. Of course, he must have asked her about hers, and—and—she must have told him."

She buried her face in her hands.

"What am I going to do now?"

"Go down and face him," counseled Dorothy. "See what he has to say, but don't commit yourself. Be very hurt and dignified; after that, well, we'll see what can be done."

Lila pondered her now dispiritedly, fluffed up her hair, and sprayed it with perfume.

"Caesar, as who are about to die, salute you?" she murmured, with a wan smile, as she went out.

Herbert was pacing the library when she entered. He began the attack at once.

"Lila, you have lied to me! That's a harsh thing to say to the woman one loves, but there's justification."

Mindful of Dorothy's instructions, Lila drew herself to her full height, quite as if her knees weren't knocking together, and assumed an expression of hauteur.

"Really, Herbert——"

"That ring in your jewel-case, the circlet with 'From Jack' engraved in side, does not belong to Mrs. Varney!" said Herbert flatly.

"She told you that in so many words?" asked Lila icily. "She told you that that particular ring is not hers?"

Herbert, who prided himself on his truthfulness, considered momentarily.

"We-ell, not precisely," he admitted reluctantly. He tried to recall Mrs. Varney's exact statement as to wed ding-rings.

Lila smiled in a maddening super ior way.

"That is all, then?" she asked loft ily. "You accuse your own wife of ly ing—on the basis of words you can't even recall."

She was taking a wild chance, but it worked. Herbert was momentarily confused. Lila swept majestically from the library. In the hallway she had to giggle, despite her alarm.

She sped back to her own quarters and detailed the interview briefly to Dorothy.

"Now, it's your turn!" she urged, pushing Dorothy out of the door. "Don't leave him a leg to stand on. Do, or I'm lost!"

Herbert, frowningly considering his young wife's curious composure when caught in a falsehood, looked up at the opening of the library door. He fere and ack fore-gemens.

But it was Dorothy who stood sniff ling on the threshold. There was a glint in her pretty eyes that could easily have passed for a look of amuse ment, but it deepened as she began to speak, and Herbert decided that it was due to emotion. She said softly:

"Herbert, I hope you will forgive me for seeming to mix into an affair that is none of my business, but I love Lila very much and I'm sorry to say that you have hurt her deeply. She is very sensitive, you know; quite like a child in some respects."

Herbert replied, with alleged dignity:

"She has tried to make a fool of me——"

"Oh, no, Herbert!" Dorothy pro tested, with such unseemly haste that he regarded her suspiciously.

She came to him and laid her hand on his arm.

"Herbert, let me tell you a story."

She told it, prettily, convincingly. In her self, too, there was a poetic story about an American girl who had fallen in love with a Prench war comer secretly engaged, but neither quis and he with her. They had be was of age, and, when their perspec tive families learned of the engage ment, they were separated. The young man had been forced to marry a girl of his family's choice, and the other girl had grieved bitterly. After that, she had married an American— much older than herself. Although she now loved him, she had never for gotten the first man.

"Can't you guess, Herbert?" asked Dorothy softly, "that the girl was May Varney? And that ring—do you think May would want Jack Var ney to know that she had suffered so? Do you think she would ever tell any one about it—except her most inti mate friends, of course?" she added hastily.

"I should think," said Herbert, heav ily, but looking greatly relieved the same, "that, if the ring meant so much to her, she'd pay her bridge debts and get it back."

Dorothy, who had made up the touching story while she waited for Lila up-stairs, had thought of that, too. It was a weak point in her ar mor, but, since Herbert could think of May Varney's heartlessness, it prov ed that he was impressed by the tale and believed it.

It occurred to Dorothy on the way home that it might be well to tip May off to the fact that she was the hero ine of a heart-breaking romance.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens. My parents will not allow me to go with boys. I have talked with my parents about it several times but it doesn't do any good.

I am deggly in love with a young man from another city. I manage to see him when he comes to my city. If my parents knew it they would be angry. He is a gentleman in every respect and I know he loves me because he has told me so. What shall I do?

JEAN.

JEAN: You are undoubtedly too young to be permitted to go with boys, my dear, and I would advise you to abide by the advice of your parents. Also, I must caution you against meeting this boy without the consent of your parents and put aside these thoughts of love until you are old enough to understand the meaning of the word. By meeting this boy secretly you are but proving yourself unworthy of your parents' trust and by the time they permit you to have boy friends, they will have lost the faith in your ability to discriminate and may hesitate to allow you to go out. I would advise that all further friendship immediate ly and devote your spare time to your studies and school activities. Be pa tient, Jean, and be assured that when you are old enough, your parents will only too gladly permit you to have all the friends you wish.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Small clusters of pearl or crystal in tended to be smart boutonnieres are used in lieu of a pin to finish the lace collar on a velvet gown.

Beaded net, sponsored by Chanel, is quite the latest accession to evening dresses and, while extremely pretty, is considered very smart.

The last minute notes from abroad state every one is in Deauville wears a smart raincoat of rubberized crepe de chine in such cheerful colors as olive green, apple green, Chianti red, Deau ville tan, new blue, navy, black with contrasting bindings and a very light grey known as pigeon grey.

THRILL OF MYSTERY NEVER LOSES GRIP

You have probably read that Theo dore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson liked detective stories.

Many men and women with grave and heavy responsibilities have found relaxation and enjoyment in fiction and plays of that sort. Perhaps you have tried it yourself.

Have you ever noticed how a plot with mystery and suspence will hold your interest as nothing else?

The so-called "best" literature de pends upon character study primarily and only secondarily is action import ant.

In the literature type of story the character of the persons involved make the story and the plot, while in detective fiction the persons involves are only stuffed men and women who are what they are because of the ac tion that the author has invented.

The point is that many persons read detective fiction on the "G.T." as it were. They adopt behavior as if they would pay for it to be caught with it.

Why do they behave like that? Cer tainly there is nothing disgraceful about reading a ghost story or a train hold-up.

To find an explanation both of the zest of our liking for such stories we must go back to our childhood. A child adores secrets.

Mystery stories are secrets into which the reader is taken in confidence.

A child likes excitement. Every de tective tale is full of it.

A child cares nothing for character study. He wants plenty of action and that is sufficient. There would be no story at all if the detective yarn were not all action.

Children also delight in surprises. The more sudden and unexpected things happen in detective and mys tery fiction the better we like it.

In short, we like detective stories first and foremost because we still pos sess so many childish qualities.

None of us is absolutely free from such qualities. They are nothing to be ashamed of. Indeed, we ought to be glad we have them. To feel as we did as children is a tonic always. No thing is more relishing.

Then again, detective fiction takes us into lands and places that have as lit tle connection with actual reality as possible.

It also introduces us to types of peo ple we do not usually meet on the street.

All this not only fires our imagina tion, it also satisfies it. This, too, is relaxing and refreshing. We forget ourselves that way. It makes us think of new and different things. It puts romance and adventure into our lives. It supplies things we all more or less crave.

No one should feel embarrassed about having a liking for this sort of litera ture.

As a steady diet it will probably stale quicker than the better novels that come closer to the trouble of life.

Everybody might well read at least a story or two each week that deals with unreality.

Read detective stories all you like and you don't care a rap what other people think.

ROYALTY HONORS WALLACE H. ROBB

"Quill And The Prince" From Pen Of Local, Writer

Mr. Wallace Havelock Robb, well-known bird lover and poet, has mailed to the Prince of Wales as a Christmas gift, the first copy of "The Quill and the Candle," a book of poems devoted chiefly to Canadian birdlife. The Prince has acted as Mr. Robb's Patron and for the past four years His Royal Highness has taken a great deal of interest in Mr. Robb's work. The book was published by Royal Command, the Prince having repeated the Command to Mr. Robb at Victoria.

The volume which is the product of the Riverson Press, of Toronto, is bound in green suede and, hand-tooled. The inscription "To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, who has graciously given patronage to this volume." The first page is done in green silk with the illustrations in sepia tones.

The poem, "Belleville, the Beautiful," is especially interesting to people in this city as it deals with the many broad avenues with the overhanging Maple Trees and pictures of the Bay of Quinte, all in a beauty.

The opening poem, "Listen" is dedicated especially to the Prince, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. "Twang, twang," tells of the many peat beauties of the River Shenoaks now the Moira.

The Introduction is as follows: His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, while touring Canada in 1924, was gratefully pleased to look with favor upon the poet's early efforts to give Canada a better knowledge and understanding of her native lands.

At that time by letter of October 11th from Government House, Ottawa he accepted the photo of Rosignol which is reproduced as a frontispiece. Just as the memory of the sons of Rosignol must have sustained the early French settlers wintering in a new and strange land, so the memory of this generous action of the Prince of Wales has lifted and sustained the poet through the long silence of the trail of Canadian birdland.

Much has been accomplished in the interest of Canadian birdland literature and His Royal Highness has acknowledged a copy of "Bulletin to Cabotian Birdland," issued from Abbey Dawn in which appeared an important announcement and the poem "Listen."

The Prince has communicated the poet by letter from St. James Palace and he has generously given His Royal Patronage to this volume of the first copy which he is pleased to accept.

As an introductory expression per mission has been granted to quote the Prince of Wales as follows: "His Royal Highness sincerely appreciates all that you are doing to popularize the study of Bird Life and especially your efforts to interest young Canadians in the birds of their country."

FIRE DANGER AT XMAS. INCREASED

Local Department Chief Urges Citizens To Co-Operate

Fire Chief Brown is in receipt of a letter from A. W. Goddard, Secretary of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association in regard to fire prevention at the Christmas season, when in flammable materials such as decorations and scenery often create an added risk against fires. The communication is directed chiefly to store-managers and the local Fire Chief is anxious that it should be perused in order to assist the department in preventing fires at the Festive season. The letter follows:—

Dear Sir:—

Following our usual custom at this season of the year, I beg to draw your attention to the danger to life and property from Christmas decorations such as draperies, scenery, cotton to represent snow, etc. Display of this nature, and the lighting arrangements in connection therewith, add very considerably to the ordinary risks of fire.

I would also point out that should an accident of the kind occur in a crowded store or meeting, the rapid spread of fire in such inflammable material is almost certain in occasions rarely will there large numbers of people and particularly children are to be gathered.

See that inflammable material is clear of and not hung over heaters and lighting devices, steampipes, stove pipes, electric light bulbs, etc.

See that open electric circuits are properly fused and not overloaded by the addition of temporary lights.

Examine your fire extinguishing appliances and see that they are sufficient, in good order, and readily accessible.

See that all exits are plainly marked and not obstructed. Have all temporary decorations removed and safely disposed of as soon as they have served their purpose.

Remember that nothing can render these displays absolutely safe, and that if accidents are not to mar the festive season, constant vigilance and care must be exercised.

Yours truly,
A. W. GODDARD,
Secretary.

SMILE THE WHILE YOU TRAVEL

The "Vancouver Express" is by no means a pain, but you cannot help smiling when its porters hand your luggage down because the smile has become a habit. It may be that the smile is infectious and you catch it from the porter when he showed you to your berth, but one thing certain is that having travelled on the "Vancouver Express" nothing has happened to take the smile away. The service, the cuisine, the equipment, the roadbed, the punctual running of this million dollar train have all contributed to your happiness—that is if you have required the habit of travelling Canadian Pacific between Toronto and Vancouver.

The "Vancouver Express," the continent's standard of Railway efficiency leaves Union Station at 9.00 p.m. to night and every night of the week.

For rates, reservations, tickets etc., consult J. W. Dalton, 31 Bridge St. East, or any Canadian Pacific ticket agent.

BILL ASKS QUOTA BASIS

Washington, December 16.—Representative Bacon, Republican, New York has introduced a bill to place Mexico on a quota basis for immigration of the United States.

The measure would not disturb the existing status of other Latin-American countries, which are on a non-quota basis. There is another bill before the House which would place all American countries including Canada on a quota basis.

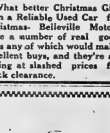

SMALLPOX HALTS MEETINGS

Toronto, December 16.—Cancellation of scheduled political meetings in Toronto may be necessitated on account of the smallpox situation, it was reported after the meeting of the Board of Control today.

ST. MICHAEL'S WIN CHURCH LG. OPENER

Greater experience particularly in their shooting, spelled victory for the St. Michaels Girls in their basketball opener with the St. Thomas Girls at the Y last night. St. Thomas basketeers played some nice combination play. Their chief difficulty was in getting the ball through the hoop after they had worked down the floor. The St. Michael's Girls lead by 26as Cruijf were not letting any opportunities slip by and their attack on their opponents' basket was much more systematic.

Miss J. Tilley proved the point gain er for the losers and Miss C. Cruijf did the heavy scoring for the winners. Checking throughout the game was somewhat heavy but intentional violations were conspicuous by their absence.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING

The last game in the Men's league was played last night at the Y Alleys when the fast combination of the Fairways met in their postponed game the Remi's winning three points and the odd game in total pins. The Semi-Centennials are now winners of the league having four points up on all the other teams. In the first game the Semi's were up 122 pins but the Fairways came back in the second game and cut this lead down by 68 pins. In the last game the Semi's won by 75 pins and the total by 129. Gilbert of the Fairways had the high single of the evening with 329 and Wyatt of the Semi's had the three string with 701.

Semi-Centennials—B. Wray 701; T. Morrell 524; O'Callaghan 686; C. Corfield 622; T. Austin 591; total 3003.

FAIRWAYS—Pal Drumm 620; F. Austin 528; G. Gilbert 701; J. Legault 569; C. Gilbert 636; total 2808.

RECREATION BOWLING

The Moose put a crimp in the hopes of the other teams in the Junior League at the Recreation Alleys by taking three points from the Belleville Motors after dropping the first game by 61 pins. The latter took the second game by 31 pins and the final by 201 pins. Dreer and Edwards rolling the highest scores.

In the other Junior game the Stevens-Adamson Office were three points and one game up over and won 1, like the other game the Ever Ready won the first game but on the next two and total Mcintosh and Mason rolled the highest score for their respective teams.

Junior League

Moose—Young 549; Ivers 618; Meens 562; Edwards 622; Hope 567; total 2868.

Bell. Motors—Bungstead 441; Mackleen 548; Corcoran 528; McNeil 573; Dreer 690; total 2529.

Ever Ready— Mason 573; Bawden 501; Kemp 531; Eagleton 512; Mcintosh 625; total 2545.

S. A. Office—Marsh 546; Preeman 510; Walters 499; Croft 614; McIntosh 625; total 2794.

Owing to the big games of the season takes place at the Recreation Alleys to night when the Walters and the Hard ware clash in the final game of the senior league. The Hardware were winners in this league with the Waters right at their heels throughout the schedule and with the rivalry that there has been between them for years It promises to be a big battle all the way.

PER CAPITA POWER INSTALLATION

As the industrial prosperity of a country is largely dependent upon the amount of mechanical power available to its workers, Canada's high average of 1.13 horsepower of hydraulic installation per 1,000 of population places her in a most advantageous position among the countries of the world.

INDIANS WILL ELECT CHIEFS IN TRADITIONAL STYLE THIS MONTH

Five Leaders Chosen By Open Ballot Every Third Year

ONE HEAD CHIEF

Nominations Next Week; Handle All Affairs Of Reservation

The triennial elections for the chiefs of the Tyendinaga Reserve takes place on Wednesday, December 28th with the nominations next Wednesday, December 21st. Every three years the elections for the Council to govern the affairs of the Reserve; take place and the last election was held in 1924. Five Chiefs are elected by the population of fourteen hundred and from among these a Head Chief is chosen who acts in the similar capacity of a Reeve or Mayor in a town or city. The five Chiefs handle the affairs of the Reserve such as schools, taxes, etc. The elections are conducted by open ballot.

At the present time Peter Bruce is Head Chief and the rest of the Council is composed of David Barnhart, John W. Marsh, George Hill and Hermon Claus.

The Head Chief is chosen from among the five others elected. The new Council House is the scene of the nominations and elections. It is stated that little interest has been shown in the elections to date but things are expected to start warming up in a few days. Most of the members of the old Council will likely be returned at the elections this year.

There are some big problems to be discussed next year and one of these is the reason why Indians are not allowed privileges under the Liquor Control Act although the fact remains that they were convicted of charges laid under the Act. Three schools are maintained on the Reserve and a new Council House has recently been erected.

INDIAN RIGHTS DEFENCE'S PLEA

But Magistrate Rules Aborigines Must Have a License To Fish

Isaah Brant was charged under the Fish and Game Act before Magistrate Bedford at Deseronto yesterday with fishing in the Bay of Quinte waters without the necessary license. The accused pleaded not guilty through his attorney, Mr. E. J. Butler of Belleville. The charge was laid by Irvine Lindsay, Fish and Game Inspector. He was convicted and ordered to pay a fine of $10 plus the costs. It was announced that Mr. Butler would appeal the case. Mr. C. D. Donnan acted for the Crown and Inspector Lougheed represented the Provincial Police.

Mr. Butler contended that in a similar case at Walpole Island, near Sarnia, an Indian was fined with a similar charge and the Magistrate held that Indians had the right to fish without a license. Magistrate Bedford, however, contended that Indians should pay the penalty as well as all others. He stated that he could not get a license to fish when he had made application. This case was a sequel to the charge against two other Indians, Maddick and Bowers both of whom were convicted and fined. Inspector Coffee of the Fish and Game was present at the hearing.

BADMINTON STARS WIN IN KINGSTON

Belleville Badminton players established an enviable record for themselves last evening when they succeeded in capturing twenty out of twenty-one games in the play last evening with the P. W. O. R. team at the Kingston armouries. Following the game the visitors were royally entertained by the Kingston players. Owing to weather conditions the Belleville players travelled by train.

The Belleville team was made up of: Mrs. C. C. Walker, Mrs. O. M. Scott, Miss Sylvia Rec, Miss Irene Kelcher, Mrs. A. H. Ketcheson, Mrs. D. M. Hannah; Messrs R. J. E. Graham, George M. Graham, A. H. Ketcheson, A. Armstrong, J. Rooney, H. Rose, and C. C. Walker.

Broken Wheel Ditched 11 Freight Cars Near Bowmanville

A broken wheel was the cause of another wreck at Bowmanville on the main line of the Canadian National Railways at 8.30 last night when eleven cars left the track, blocking traffic for over hours and spilling merchandise along the right of way. The engine did not leave the rails and fortunately no one was injured. Conductor Mason was in charge of the train and Engineer Welsh of Belleville was in the cab.

Traffic was held up on both main lines but the west-bound track was cleared after a few hours' work by the wrecking crews from Belleville and Danforth. The east-bound passenger trains were diverted over the Canadian Pacific tracks. This is the fifth wreck on this division of the Canadian National within a period of six weeks but fortunately no persons were injured in any of them. The latest spill is being investigated by railway officials.

CANDLESTICKS FOR MISS SHORE

Presentation Made Before Popular V.O.N. Nurse Leaves The City

Miss M. Shore, V.O.N., who leaves in the near future for Brantford to take over her duties as superintendent of the General Hospital there, was made the recipient of a very pretty pair of silver candlesticks at the "Well Baby Clinic" held in the G.W.V.A. hall yesterday. The presentation was made by Mrs. Knight on behalf of the "Mothers." In connection with the presentation an address was read by Mrs. McKenna which gave high commendation to Miss Shore's industrious work on behalf of Belleville's Babies. Though untiring in her efforts to relieve suffering humanity in general, Miss Shore seems to have been especially interested in keeping the babies well.

Tea was served during the afternoon with Mrs. P. J. Lee and Mrs. Knight presiding at the tables.

MUSIC'S VALUE IS SHOWN TO BOARD

J. L. Atkinson, Toronto, Spoke To Board Of Education

The Board of Education holding its third 1927 session last night, heartily endorsed, and stamped with its approval the talk of Mr. J. L. Atkinson, Director Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music, that musical ability is to be taught in the schools of Belleville. The instrument to be taught is the violin.

Mr. Atkinson came down from Toronto yesterday morning at the invitation of the Board of Education members; last night and for nearly an hour explain to the aims of his society. "The prospect of the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music is to encourage appreciation of good music and an interest in good music," stated Mr. Atkinson. "The violin is the ideal instrument. The speaker told of the fine mental training it affords, and the wonderful training of memory. Concentration of eye, mind and hand is produced, explained Mr. Atkinson and the moral of music has a tremendous value. The great value of music, the speaker stated, is in the home, it keeps the children there, off the street, but it must more than entertain, it must open an expensive instrument.

Mr. Atkinson quoted examples of other schools in Ontario and Quebec, and one of the strong points of his arguments was that nearly always the class standing of pupils, and that the children that have learned music fared better in their studies than those who did not.

The Instruments

All that is required for one of these classes is a piano, a teacher and some board key-boards for the pupils, with four octaves on each key-board. The pupil sits at the board and the teacher has the keyboards in front of them. The tone comes from the piano. The class needs to be so small that the teacher can give personal attention to each member. Each pupil gets his or her turn at the piano, and every pupil needs either a piano in the home, or one that he can practise on at his neighbours.

It is also held in Toronto twice a year for instruction for teachers in this work, and that the children learn to play from Belleville may do so, at their own expense, and although the Board will not undertake it would not interfere in any way with his singing class.

The recommendation was made was taken up with strictly routine business, passing of accounts, consideration of applications for positions for teachers were read and filed, Miss Rose, school nurse, gave her report, and reports from Mr. Clark, school inspector, the principal and Mr. Spencer, and Mr. P. C. McLaurin were read. It was decided that the inaugural meeting of the new Board would be held on the third Friday in January.

GANGSTERS GETTING FIXED FOR CHRISTMAS EXPENSES

Chicago, Dec. 17.—Chicago sidewalk men did one hundred thousand dollars worth of Christmas shopping yesterday, fast, jewelry and cash to that amount being taken in nine robberies.

Sharing record the preferred Christmas gift was Smith Under. Wholesale jewelry salesman made the heaviest contribution with fifty thousand dollars in sample cases. His was robbed on a street car by three men who escaped in an automobile.

C. Thomas, real estate dealer, donated $25,000, in jewelry, clothing and valuable rugs which were stolen from his home. Other hold-ups on the street and in stores brought the total loss to one hundred thousand.

ISLET PRINCE IS CAUSE ANXIETY

Left Monday To Search For "Kamloops"—Probably Took Shelter

HAS NOT REPORTED

Hamonic Breaks Through Ice Blockade—Others Frozen In

Port Arthur, Dec. 17.—To the uncertainty of the fate of the package freighter "Kamloops" missing for fifteen days with its crew of twenty, has been added anxiety for the steamer "Islet Prince" which left the head of the lakes on Monday last to search for the Kamloops. Officials here are confident that the Islet Prince has not met with disaster and believe the vessel must have been forced to run a harbor due to the stormy weather of Upper Lake Superior during the past two days.

On Wednesday Capt. S. E. Fadey intercepted the mitoss Pooint about 87 miles down the shore from Port Arthur and he was instructed to the head of the lakes after a futile search for the missing steamer, but since then no definite reports have been received concerning the movements of the Islet Prince.

The vessel is a steamer well supplied with fuel and provisions and own ers of the ship state that the crew will be able to hold out for several weeks if necessary, in event of the vessel being ice locked. Confirmation was being given here today to a suggestion that the ice breaker "Wiarton" was dispatched from Parry Sound for the Kamloops. The imminence of a complete freeze up, however, may prevent this plan being executed.

Hamonic Gets Through

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 17.—Steamer "Hamonic" of the Northern Navigation Company passed detour today on her way to Sarnia with a load of package freight, after having been stuck in the ice of the middle Neebish Channel for several days.

The rest of the downbound fleet of 14 ocean-going boats have been delayed in their efforts to reach the lower lake and today none yet had made any attempt to follow in the wake of the Hamonic, which was released only after laborious efforts. The steamer Eadie is still frozen in the West Neebish channel and Sault, Mich., tugs are concentrating their task of freeing her but with little hope of success. Government tug "Murray Bayne" collecting lighthouse keepers at this end of Lake Superior, has not yet returned but no anxiety is felt for her safety.

Paid Fines Of Cell Mates To Get Out Of Apartment

Chicago, Dec. 13—Al Capon, fastidious dresser and inclined to be particular in his choice of associates was somewhat put out at Joliet Jail yesterday because he had been placed in a cell with two men whose general appearance and demeanor were not to his liking.

"Why are you in here," Capon asked. They explained they were unable to pay fines, where upon Capon told the police to take the necessary $27 from his own bankroll of more than two thousand dollars and pay the fines. The men were released and Capon had the cell to himself.

TRIPLETS VISIT THE BABY CLINIC

Nearly Nine Months Old The Famous Infants Are Doing Well

Quite uncommon that they were the centre of attention at the "Well Baby Clinic." Belleville's famous triplets—children of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton—were especially brought in the greater part of the afternoon in spite of the chatter of many babies. There were bonnie brown-eyed babies they are who will deserve the attention that has been given them. Though somewhat under weight, they seem to be quite healthy and happy.

Were subjected themselves to being weighed by the attendant nurse. Miss Irene Hamilton, the baby in the girl of the trio, Mary June, weighed 18 pounds 1 ounce; John Hamilton, the baby boy was next with 18 pounds, but Joseph Richard who has not been gaining quite as fast as his little brother and sister, tipped the scales at nine pounds. Richard was perhaps the healthiest of the three as sixth but he found file a hard struggle and slipped back a little. He has been doing better lately however and it is hoped he will soon overtake even his sister, June.

Born in April the babies are now nearly nine month old and in the opinion of the doctors on the subject if they survive the rigors of their first winter, the greater part of their battle will be over and they will be well on the way towards making Belleville proud of her triplets.

among the first children saved from the Hospice St. Charles, where at least thirty-one of their young companions lost their lives in a tragic fire. Last night they were tucked snugly in bed slumber when fire destroyed the St. Jean Berchman school. The little girls with a score of survivors of the Hospice disaster were being cared for just opposite the burned building. They were the first to be carried to safety when flames swept through the school early last night.

Little Jeanne boasted proudly "We were first to be saved from the Hospice St. Charles and first to be saved tonight."

Her companion was more serious. "You know," she said, "There were forty girls burned to death at the Hospice St. Charles."

Catholic Boys' School Prey To Flames But No Lives Lost

BUILDING SUFFERED

Survivors From Hospice Holocaust In Nearby Building Sheltered

Quebec, Dec. 17.—One hundred and forty-two little French young boys were led to safety when fire broke out last night in St. Jean Berchman's boarding house for boys and St. Louis Academy, both housed in one building which was located in the heart of the best residential section of Quebec, close to the Legislature Buildings of the province. The six storey building was completely gutted.

Several were injured, two seriously. Sister Ste Victoire, nurse in the academy is reported near death following a heroic attempt to save a sick boy, installed on the top floor of the building. Sister Ste Victoire was attending this boy when the fire began. Finding her retreat cut off, she took the patient in her arms and in her way to a window, called to the firemen and jumped ninety feet to the street being spread for her. Both she and the youngster named Redmond were carried to the hospital seriously hurt.

The origin of the fire, the second within two days to destroy Catholic institutions here remained a mystery today. Police began an investigation as soon as the flames were controlled and announced that they had reported that several men were seen leaving the grounds shortly before the alarm was given.

Injured in Crush

Quebec, Dec. 17.—Twenty-five sisters and several girls are at present lying in the Hotel Dieu hospital as a result of last night's fire at St. Jean Berchman's school here. The young girls were in the Mother House, opposite the school at the time of the fire and when the alarm was given that they had to leave the building at once, panic took hold of young children became alarmed and with hurry and panic, many fell and fainted or sustained minor injuries from falls.

The Sisters, of whom there are fourteen slightly injured and in a nervous condition all received their injuries while engaged in rescue work. The remaining eleven sisters were suffering from shock.

Quebec, Dec. 17.—Two fires with appalling losses have ravaged Quebec within the short space of 48 hours. On Wednesday night 44 the Hospice St. Charles a fire began which resulted in the destruction of the building and the loss of at least 36 lives. Last night fire began in St. Jean Berchman's School, resulting in the loss of property estimated at between half and three quarters of a million dollars.

No lives are as yet reported lost as a result of last night's fire but many are in the hospital suffering minor injuries. Both institutions are under the control of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd. For the first time within memory, the fire alarm was rung out last night to handle the large crowds that gathered.

While last night's fire was raging, a sixty mile gale swept the city, making the task of the firemen a hazardous one.

NEVER HAS SEEN HIS OWN CHILD

Victor Latham, Newly Married, Missing With Crew Of "Kamloops"

Mrs. Russel Groh, North Park Street, wife of the local agent of the Canadian National Telegraphs, is anxiously awaiting news of her brother-in-law Victor Latham, 21, of Sarnia, who was wireclerk on the Canadian freighter Kamloops, which has been reported from sight in Lake Superior following one of the worst storms ever remembered by veteran mariners. Shipping men firmly believe that the ship was sunk and little hope is being held out for the crew. For, over a week Coast Guard have been searching for the vessel but are now inbound on the shores of Lake Superior.

Young Latham, who was married only last year, is the father of a five-months babe which he has never seen. Starting as a deck-hand on the Kamloops, he has filled the position of radio operator for the past month or two, a wireman. Mr. and Mrs. Groh expect to leave for Sarnia today.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Unless the mind is attuned to appreciate in its fullest sense, the significance of the great occasion, people are unable to grasp or retain the inspiration which comes with the Christmas season. In order to assist our readers to get into the proper atmosphere for a true enjoyment of the Yuletide, we reproduce today an article which appeared in a recent issue of the magazine "Christian Business," which has been supplied to us by a faithful and sympathetic reader. The article is entitled "The Christmas Spirit":

"Everybody tacitly recognizes that during December, there is an intangible spirit of friendliness abroad in the world—in the home in social activity, in business. Every one profits in some measure from this spirit by increased activity in business, or by the lightening of the heart that accompanies it.

"The Christmas spirit tends to draw out the best in everyone whom it inoculates. During the holiday season even the intolerant seems to find a measure of respect for the opinions of others; hearts are opened in impulse of loving friendliness is more in evidence; old dissensions and disagreements are forgotten.

"It is obvious from the wide-spread influence of the subtle thing which we call the Christmas spirit that it must have a source far deeper than the human mind. In other words, only in man's divine nature can there be a source deep enough and comprehensive enough to send forth an influence that touches so many people in such varied ways. It must come from that part of us which is so little recognized, the real spirit of man.

"Since the influence of the Christmas spirit is wholly constructive it would seem that if this spirit were manifested throughout the year, the general trend of business and other aspects of life would be improved materially. The Christmas spirit can easily be made the natural accompaniment or the motive force of man's daily activities. To this end, the first essential is that man shall recognize both its nature and its source as spiritual, and keep close to that source in thought and deed."

BUILDING CANADA

Montreal City Council adopted a motion urging the federal government to introduce freight rates that would enable Alberta coal to be marketed in Central Canada. Its action was enlightened and commendable.

Alberta resolutions to same effect are discounted by the fact that Alberta would benefit directly by adoption of the policy suggested. Montreal can have no interest in the question other than the general economic welfare of the country. The resolution of the Montreal council, therefore, should carry weight in Ottawa. The Council went out of its way to render unselfish support to a cause that concerns, ultimately the prosperity of the Dominion.

If someone suddenly evolved an idea that would result in incidentally increasing Canada's exports to Great Britain by one-fourth he would be hailed as a nation-builder. If some freak of fortune added to our trade territory a country as large, and buying as much of our products, as Germany, France, Italy, Belgium and the Netherlands combined we would hold a day of national thanksgiving. All these countries are among our nine best foreign customers. Yet all of them, combined, take no more of our products than we could take of our own products by making Canadian coal available to all Canada.

Extending our foreign trade by a hundred million dollars would not be worth nearly as much to Canada as keeping in this country the hundred million dollars we now send to the United States for American coal and its transportation. Dollars paid out for American coal are lost to Canadian trade. Dollars paid out for Canadian coal and its transportation keep circulating in Canada.

Some expense is involved. There apparently must be a subsidy provided in the form of freight rates to enable Alberta coal to be marketed in the central provinces. But if expense were involved in securing a new market for one hundred million dollars' worth of Canadian products, would we wait to haggle over it? Canada has spent large sums to provide steamship service to the British West Indies, to Australia and New Zealand, and other countries. Yet Australia, New Zealand, the British West Indies and the British East Indies, Argentina, Newfoundland and China as well—though all these countries are included in our fifteen best foreign customers—do not take as much of our products as the market for Alberta coal in the central provinces would represent.

It is a business proposition, and as sound and advantageous as was ever offered a country anxious to develop. Parliament this year will deal with it in its resources. It is to be hoped that on its merits. As a nation-building project it is of first importance.

CHRISTMAS

The Christmas Spirit! 'Tis a wondrous thing.
It tints the sordid streets with mystic glow,
It make the bells their gleeful carols ring
And makes goodwill through every heart to flow.

The Christmas Spirit! 'Tis a kindly thing.
It gives to weary hearts a taste of joy;
It teaches silent lips a song to sing;
It brings the eager child a longed-for toy.

The Christmas Spirit! 'Tis a lovely thing.
It lights dull eyes, illumes the sombre face.
How many wanderers does it homeward bring!
How many fancied wrongs forces erase!

The Christmas Spirit! 'Tis a holy thing.
The Blessed Babe is in our midst today,
The gifts we bring, the praises that we sing
Not half our adoration can convey.

SUCCESS OF BIG 'SAFETY' DRIVE

Garages, Drivers, Motor Clubs And Car Owners Have Co-Operated

Toronto, Dec. 17.—The Department of Highways here made gratifications for the co-operation extended from all quarters in the campaign for accident prevention this fall," stated Hon. George S. Henry, Minister at the annual meeting of the Ontario Truck Owners' Association. "We feel that much good has been accomplished, and the results will pay for the fall in the future. In the formation of the Highway Safety Council we set out to make our motor car drivers and the public generally more "traffic conscious." That is, we desired them to appreciate more fully the fact of the greatly increased traffic on our highways, and the consequent augmented dangers, and the need for care, courtesy and consideration.

"Reports we have received from all over the Province confirm my own observations during that our campaign can be characterized as successful. Since our motor traffic law assumed its present proportions we have never had so little reckless or careless driving. We have had more than one campaign was opened. On the other hand we have never enjoyed so much courtesy on the highways. Never in my knowledge have drivers shown so much respect for the rights of others.

"In addition, reports from garages all over Ontario are to the effect that motorists have come in much sooner for the adjustment of headlights and brakes. The campaign assuredly benefits have been that glaring headlights are a definite menace, and also the fact that slight adjustment of brake or buggy greatly reduce this menace. If, the headlights and brakes of all cars in Ontario were in proper mechanical condition the problem of highway safety would be well on its way to solution.

"Incidentally the badge, "I'm for care and courtesy. Are you" which was attached to windshields did a great deal of good. It kept the idea of care constantly before the drivers. True, some people objected to this sticker, but we felt we had to do something to get the campaign going. Many cars still carry these stickers.

"I wish to thank the members of the Executive of the Highway Safety Committee, Editors of newspapers, both city and provincial, secretaries of public clubs, presidents of boards of trade, automobile clubs, service clubs and the numerous associations. Had it not been for the work of these, the campaign could not have been such a success as far as it did."

Why throw away money on that used car you intend buying when you can get a real good one at Belleville Motors considerably below its actual value. Act quickly and you'll have your choice of a number of good cars.

Prominent Speakers Attack Shields' Campaign Of Disruption

HARMONY NEEDED

Defend McMaster University And Missionaries Of The Church

Vigorously denouncing Dr. T. T. Shields's ideas of modernism at every point, Rev. H. F. Stillwell, Secretary of the Foreign Mission Board of the Baptist Church and Dr. J. H. Farmer Doctor of Theology of McMaster University, were, listened to with rapt attention by a sympathetic audience in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church last evening. Owing to the inclement weather only a handful of people turned out for the meeting which was arranged following a visit of Dr. Shields to the city some weeks ago when he openly attacked Rev. Hilard Jones, local pastor and the Rev. Marshall, professor at McMaster University.

Rev. Jones acted as Chairman and in his opening remarks stated that there would have been no occasion for calling the meeting except for the fact that Dr. Shields had expressed his views and it was fair that the other side of the question should be heard. "Although this is not an open debate you are invited to ask questions of either the speakers" said the Chairman.

"We are here to exalt Jesus as Lord and Saviour. The one thing that we have been trying to do for twenty-five years" said Mr. Stillwell. "Although we were accepted by the conference of the convention I felt it was my duty to dispell the many misrepresentations in reference to the rumors of modernism among the Missionaries in Mission fields." The speaker emphasized that these ellspersions had an effect in the contributions to foreign missionary work. "Even men have been going through the country openly abusing Jesus Christ and saying publicly that something is radically wrong with the Convention. "The Convention is not perfect but we have been serving the Church as best we can."

Mr. Stillwell said he was in the guilt pit to defend the Missionaries against these scathing attacks of modernism and unbelief there. "Many missionaries in Foreign Mission fields are referred a questionable a work requiring me to their belief in regard to the Virgin Birth, The Ascension, the present reign of Jesus Christ and the second coming." "If a sign of modernism in the answers is noted they never reach the pulp

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

The most striking modern contribution to the study of the mind is that Lew science called psychoanalysis.

And it is not so new either. We have known about it in America for upward of twenty years and it was growing headway in Europe, especially in Vienna, its birthplace, before that.

Sigmund Freud, a Viennese nerve specialist, is the founder of the psychoanalytic doctrines.

As the term implies, psychoanalysis is not an "ism" or cult, but a practical scientific procedure by which thoughts and emotions can be disentangled and made plain.

Several hundred books and I daresay several thousand articles, scientific and otherwise, have already been written on the subject. It was first studied with a view to helping nervous disorders of a functional nature. Now, however, psychoanalytic principles are being employed in the study of pedagogics, business, and the arts.

Up to the advent of psychoanalysis the study of the mind was largely in terms of what the mind does—in its output.

With psychoanalysis the viewpoint shifted. Although still interested in what a person does and says and thinks psychoanalysts are especially interested in the reasons why the person does and says and thinks the way he does.

Cause instead of result became the watchword.

The ever-present problem of psychoanalysis is WHY.

The main theory underlying the psychoanalysis is repression.

Analysts believe that we are continually repressing our fundamental and instinctive emotions.

Especially do they believe this to be true in the love-life and self-preservation spheres.

Some of these repressions go back to childhood.

Besides, one does not always realize in what ways or to what extent one is repressed.

Nor does one realize how much childhood ways of thinking influence adult thought and behavior.

In other words, all such repressed ideas are still part of us, hidden in that underneath mind of ours called the unconscious and subconscious.

Psychoanalysis aims to explore the unconscious, and to bring buried and forgotten memories to the surface.

In that way we see ourselves as we really are and not as we would like to think we are!

Whether one believes psychoanalysis is as valuable for the treatment of nervous afflictions as the psychoanalysts themselves claim, there can be no question but what an analytic housecleaning has value.

It destroys sham and pretense. It reveals faults. It also reveals mental assets. It shows us up and thereby makes us want to do better. It is in its very essence a character builder. It points the way to living a more rational, unprejudiced and adjusted life.

It should be pointed out that the first step toward developing a finer and nobler manhood and womanhood is to realize what you really are.

All of us make excuses for ourselves. We all dodge real issues. None of us is so fine but what he can become finer still.

Well, psychoanalysis tries to accomplish all that.

It is a fascinating study. It gives one a new insight into life.

It can be studied by anyone, but it should not be practised as a science to help others except by expert, qualified, and thoroughly trustworthy individuals.

WHAT DOES PSYCHO-ANALYSIS REALLY DO

CHAPTER IV.

A FRIGHTENING DISCOVERY

Several weeks passed without the tiniest ripple to mar the tranquility of the young Wares. They were gorgeously and triumphantly happy in each other.

"Wasn't it curious, Dot," Lila remarked one day, "how everything happened at once? The Jackson episode and the ring and all that? My whole life has been that way—never a summer shower, but a deluge. Thank Heaven, this one's over!"

Dorothy who was standing at her easel, palette poised in one hand, motioned with the other toward a hideous, grinning god of carved jade above her fireplace.

"Don't let him hear you! The Chinese claim that he brings boosters to their undoing."

"Pooh!" scoffed Lila. "I'm not afraid of your Chinese god. Love is stronger than superstition."

She went away, carrying that thought with her. "Love is stronger than anything in all the world," she said to herself. Therefore, her love for Herbert was stronger than the forces that had seemed to threaten it.

"And it will always be the same; it will never change!" thought Lila.

She was surprised to find Herbert already at home.

"Why didn't you tell me you'd be early, darling? I wouldn't have stayed so late at Dot's," she said, as she lifted her lips for his kiss.

There followed several ecstatic moments, after which Herbert asked jealously: "Why do you spend so much time at Dorothy Brady Lila, an artist's studio seems to me hardly the place to pass every afternoon when you have so many social duties as my wife."

Lila pressed a gentle finger against his lips.

"Don't be cross, darling, and I'll mix you a new cocktail. Much better than any Siddons can make."

"You learned to make it at Dorothy's, I presume!" he remarked, with lifted brows.

"Heavens, no. Dot doesn't drink!" said Lila.

"Then may I ask who it is——" Herbert was beginning, but she cut him short with a swift embrace and a delighted laugh.

"You goose! I always made cocktails for Dad at home. He has a book of recipes. Darling, I adore you when you're jealous!"

Sipping his cocktail, Herbert remarked:

"Oh, by the way, Varney is coming to dine tonight. His wife's out of town for a few days, and we're taking this evening to go over some business matters; we've been planning a deal together. It won't bore you, will it?"

"Not in the least," declared Lila, with a sneaking hope that the two men would keep to business affairs and away from the subjects of wives and matrimony.

"Anyway," she thought, "Herbert wouldn't be so crude as to mention that ring to Jack Varney, after what Dot told him."

She dressed in one of her prettiest dinner gowns and saw to the flowers herself. She wanted Herbert to feel that she took as much interest in his business dinners as in the bright social affairs over which she loved to preside. She loved gaiety, music, laughter, and dancing; they went out, or entertained, nearly every night. Herbert said that, when the season was over, they must begin to stay at home more; he wanted to catch up on reading and sleep.

The dinner for Jack Varney was excellent. The Wares had a French chef, and he had outdone himself on this particular night. Varney ate with gusto, and then he said:

"If May only liked this sort of food, I'd be a happy man. But she's got the foolish slant that the high seasoning of foreign food is put there to hide something. Of course, she's never been abroad," he added, with a shrug, and a twinkle in his eye, as the excellence of the French cuisine but young Mr. Ware, at his end of the table, lowered in silence at young Mrs. Ware, who flushed and bit her scarlet underlip.

Just before they rose to partake of coffee in the library, Herbert's dyed gentleman Lila, naughty, but eloquently. They said plainly: "And what's this rigmarole that Dorothy Caine told about Mrs. Varney's foreign romance?"

Lila's answer was a finger on her lips and a warning glance toward the happy and unconscious Varney. With that, she led the way in the library, thankful that the necessary discussion of Dorothy's story would be postponed for a while, at least.

But her brain was busy with a plausible explanation as she poured the coffee. She was filling Herbert's cup when her straying attention was caught by Varney's heavy voice:

"Yes, I think you've a find in that new man, Herb."

"He's not a New Yorker. He has no clients of his own," Herbert objected.

"Never mind. He'll whip into shape. You mark my words. What's his name—I forget?"

"Gilroy Holmes!"

The sugar-tong slipped from Lila's fingers and fell with a crash, sending the broken fragments of a cup and a flood of hot coffee onto the hearthrug.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young mother twenty-three years of age. My husband pays a great deal of attention to another girl. He never takes me anywhere at all. He says the place for me is at home. I am very lonesome. Please advise me what to do. WORRIED MOTHER.

WORRIED MOTHER: I would advise you to have a frank talk with your husband, stay-at-home, and explain to him that you also are entitled to some diversion. If you keep quite home attractive and do not neglect your own personal appearance, I think your husband will prefer your company to that of anyone else. Your children surely are a strong bond between you, but I must caution you not to let the care of them weary you so that when your husband comes home you are tired and cross. Make an effort to be the sweet and charming girl he fell in love with and I am sure he will be surprised that he ever looked for diversion outside his own home.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

When frying chip potatoes both time and frying fat will be saved if potatoes, after being cut, are steamed for 15 minutes.

A small window may be made to look larger by setting the curtain rods beyond the casing on each side and using draperies of a material heavy enough so that the casing will not be seen through the material.

FINE CHRISTMAS CANDY DISPLAY AT MOORES SHOP

Fine Homemade And Boxed Lines Solve Gift Problem

Just one more week until Christmas—and Gift Seeking is the order of the day. Taking a look around the stores one cannot but be struck with the extraordinary varieties of the Gifts displayed and the care and attention the various stores have given the preparation of their places of business to lend them for the Gift Season.

Among those which stand out as especially attractive during this festive season is Moore's Candy Store on Front street. From without the observer draws upon window's attractively trimmed with Christmas strength informing the reader that the store is agent for the well-known Moirs, Hellyn and Neilson's Chocolates which will be the choice of many in solving the "Gift Problem."

Within, multi-colored decorations and an endless variety in all sizes of fancy Christmas packages of Candies by the above makers, and homemade Candies of almost every kind greet the eye of the visitor—truly an ideal spot in which to select the gift—for Candy is something that is always appliarr most of us have a sweet tooth and good candy as a Christmas Gift has always been a prime favorite.

Moores this year have one of the finest stocks of homemade and boxed candies they have ever been privileged to offer; in addition to these lines, the growth in their business during the past year has made possible even lower prices and greater values than they have ever offered in their stock of high class homemade lines of Candy.

Sale prices don't prevail at Christmas time as a rule but at Moores this Christmas time, cut rate prices prevail in all homemade lines and you'll find almost every kind of candy you could desire there—all at the saving prices featured in the big cut-rate Christmas Sale.

People of the city and district are lucky to have such an up-to-date and progressive candy store to satisfy their needs in this line. Their candies are a real treat, of pure quality, and greater value than ever before, is now available to you now at the new cut-rate prices.

WARM MOTOR IS NECESSARY FOR FULL EFFICIENCY

New Chandler Equipped With Motorstat—Acts As Watchman

"Few motorists know that in order to obtain maximum fuel and oil efficiency it is necessary to maintain a warm and not a cold motor," says Mr. W. J. Green of the Chandler Motor Sales, local Chandler representative, 307 Front street.

"Engineering authorities agree that an automobile motor performs best when its temperature is about 40 degrees below the boiling point of the water," he continued. This does not mean an over-heated motor. To the contrary, an efficient cooling system not only maintains its water at the proper temperature, but in addition it provides a way by which the motor may be brought to the required temperature quickly regardless of climatic conditions.

"To maintain the proper cooling temperature, Chandlers various series, world-famed Pikes Peak motors are provided with a highly efficient temperature regulating unit known as a Motorstat.

The Watchman of the Cooling System

"This vital unit might be termed the watchman of the cooling system since it regulates the motor temperature under constant bulliant point and builds up the required temperature in the shortest possible time.

"The greatest decree of oil dilution and the most destructive point of motor operation occurs during the first few minutes of cold running," Mr. Green pointed out.

"Consequently the short trips of city driving may have a detrimental effect on motor performance unless properly safeguarded.

"This condition has been eliminated by the addition of the motorstat on all 1928 Chandler models. The motor stat restricts the passage of water from the cylinder jacket to the radiator until the proper operating temperature has been reached.

"The regulating valve in the motor stat then comes into play and automatically maintains a constant water temperature regardless of climatic conditions.

"Maintenance of the motorstat is practically nil. The mechanism is so simple and positive in action that this

BATTERYLESS IN RADIO MEANS BIG ADVANCE TODAY

Opportunity To Buy De Forest Batteryless Now For Less

During the past year or two, the trend among radio manufacturers has been toward the perfection of a batteryless set,a product which, according to radio experts, is to be the set of the future. In fact, it has been predicted that within a year or so battery operated radio receivers will have become a thing of the past altogether.

In line with other prominent radio manufacturers, DeForest Crosley this season announces a Batteryless Radio —a remarkably fine batteryless set, perfected after five years development, five years of persistent effort by the greatest radio laboratories of the continent have attained the utmost degree of perfection in every detail.

The new DeForest Crosley set has eight unique features: (1) Absolute freedom from alternating current hum; (2) Balanced circuit—no howl or squeal; (3) Superlative to equality at edge selectivity; (4) Utilizes latest any volume; (4) Installation as easy as putting in a new lamp; (5) Razor sharp tubes—volume without distortion; (7) Power and range incomparable; (8) Exquisite cabinet design by McLagan-decorative controls.

Carl C. Read, manager of the Radio Shop, local DeForest Crosley agents, announces a two-day free introductory offer in your own home—and the set must sell itself in your entire satisfaction. This firm offers free service for one month, personal instruction and terms that make it no problem at all for you to own this superb batteryless model.

A demonstration of this remarkable set will be gladly given at the Radio Shop or in your own home. Prices too have been lowered substantially, enabling you to buy this set easily.

A special Christmas price of $268.00 puts this remarkable set in your home.

FEW PEOPLE OWN PERFECT SIGHT

Estimated That One In Four Enjoys Perfect Vision

Only twenty-five persons out of every hundred have perfect sight. The others either wear glasses or have to struggle to see clearly. Some are prejudiced against glasses—some are unconscious of the strain some realize their need for glasses but put it off from day to day.

Enthusiasm, time, optimism and all the youthful qualities of life that accompanies these, vanish before the chilling influence of indistinct vision.

Apart from the actual discomfort entailed by wearing glasses when needed, and the probability of the trouble increasing at a much more rapid rate, serious injury to the nervous system may result from such neglect.

Expert eye-examination is the first step towards safety. It will reveal the true condition of your eyes and definitely determine whether or not you need glasses. Why not take this precaution now. Your sight is surely worth it!

The only way to be absolutely sure whether or not you need glasses, is to have your eyes examined.

CALIFORNIA'S GOLD

Mammy Songs and the Mason-Dixie Line have all stolen as seems before the Sun in the orange groves of California. And there's a reason. The praise is going to the worthy. There are cloudy days in California one never hears of them, and it is reasonable to suppose that one should if there were. A million people each winter follow the steps of the compliant color of whom, perhaps, they have never heard. They search for gold—the cold of the beach, of the flowers of the sunset over warm Pacific waters. And there is a note there for you, a real mine of health and a wealth of sport and recreation activities for you to exploit at will.

Any Canadian Pacific agent will gladly supply information regarding fares, routes, etc., upon request

The Profit Lies in the Finish

IT PAYS to market cattle with the proper degree of finish. A quality product always commands a premium and is readily saleable at a profitable price. If you have stock which needs a little more time for finishing, and the feed is scarce, see the local manager of the Standard Bank. It is a simple matter to arrange a loan to carry the stock until a favorable market warrants a profitable sale.

WATERFOWL ATTRACTS TOURISTS

The manifold attractions of Percy Isle to Canada's sportsmen and to those in Canada generally, were demonstrated during the past summer. Most of these, during their stay in Percy, enjoyed a thrilling visit to the bird sanctuary on Bonaventure Island and Percy Rock, close at hand. One local boatman alone took three hundred visitors to see the gannet colony. Quebec, influenced bird-covered rocks this year.

GARAGE PUTS ON ELECTRIC DOORS

Riggs Installed New Device For Service To Their Customers

A new and novel up-to-date device has been installed in Riggs Garage this morning which promises to be a great labor and time saver. The innovation is in the form of electric doors which will no doubt prove an improvement over the old hand system. The test of a horn outside the garage doors and the push of a button sees the big heavy doors slide open to admit the car. The doors are operated by a one h.p. horse-power motor which revolves a wheel causing the chain to slide the doors open.

The garage proprietors feel that through the winter season they will be in a position to give much better service to their patrons. The system is the product of the Richard Wilcox, Canadian Company of London and can be installed in any style garage door. It was installed by Messrs. Blythe and Ferguson, local electrical contractors in different points in the garage are connected up with the motor.

WOLVES INVADE ALBERTA RANCHES

Lethbridge, Alta., Dec. 16.—The protracted cold weather in this district is driving coyotes and timber wolves into the settled sections, and egs in years has there been so many of the prairie marauders on the settlers' ranches. Coyotes are traveling in bands this winter, a rare habit among these animals.

PLANS FLIGHT TO CENTRAL AMERICA

Mexico, City, Dec. 16.—Central America is scheduled for the next air voyage of Lieut. Emilio Herbruger, unless present plans are changed. The U. S. flying ambassador of goodwill intends to fly from Mexico City to Guatemla City, San Salvador, Honduras, Panama, possibly Nicaragua and then probably visit Havana.

News Of Movies

An animal picture without a single shriek!

That is the unusual result Douglas MacLean has achieved in his current Paramount comedy, "Soft Cushions" which reches the Regent Monday.

Deliberately avoiding an attempt to make the costumes and settings correct in all authentic, the producers in staging this unique comedy are said to have added to the beauty rather than conformity to Far Eastern costumes and architecture.

BELLE THEATRE

A new way of stealing bases is demonstrated by Clyde Cook in Warner Bros.' production of "The Bush Leaguer," starring Monte Blue and directed by Howard Bretherton. The nimble Australian comedian pretends he is going to slide, but instead dives over the baseman while the latter is groping for him in the dust below.

Clyde Cook had never played baseball before he acted as catcher in "The Bush Leaguer." He was in no wise embarrassed, as he had been wicket keeper on his school cricket team back home, a job which is very much like that of catcher in baseball.

Cook's long cherished ambition to play the piccolo ended during the filming, when a fast one caught the end of two fingers. He declares that he has now transferred this desire to manipulation of the base drum.

"The Bush Leaguer" comes to the Belle Theatre Monday for a run of three days.

So great has been the demand for New Fords since their advance showing at Belleville Motors a few days ago that the local Ford Dealers have now a number of real good Used Cars on their hands for quick and cheap disposal. It's your chance to buy one away below actual value.

CAPITOL THEATRE

One of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's newest production is "Becky" coming to the Capitol Theatre Monday for a three day run.

And it is said to be one of their best, too, with two thousand people in the fine cast, headed by Sally O'Neil and Owen Moore. Some of the most lavish settings ever filmed are included, with comedy, melodrama and Grand Opera combined as never before in a single film feature. Muldoon have read Becky as a rental and the screen story is said to be equally as good or better. Excitement, suspense, laughs and love—they're all in the picture; you'll like it.

What the camel is to the desert and the motor car is along macadamized roads, the "buckie" is to travellers over the snows of Northern Canada. The efficiency of the 9-in team as a means of travel is shown by the fact that a trained team can make a distance of 40 miles a day, and maintain this speed for days together.

SINICAL SADIE SEES

Straightforward folks tend to move in the best circles.

Woman makes love by listening. Once a woman passes a certain point in intelligence she finds it almost impossible to get a husband: she simply cannot go on listening without laughing.

"See there" she said, "the lady Eve, born from a rib, how she talks to the serpent. It was a good idea of that painter to give the serpent the face and head of a man."

"When you're a married man Samivel, you'll understand a good many things as you don't understand now; but whether it is worth while going through so much to learn so little, as the charity boy said when he got to the end of the alphabet, is a matter of taste."

Dickins.

MORNING SONG

Each morn the rosy-fingered dawn
Comes up, so does my yawn,
And robins chirp along the lawn
To greet the new-born day;
From bluejay laugh to the bluebirds flit,
The leaves with dew are pearly;
'Til take the poets' word for it;
I don't get up that early.

"Goblin."

The Scotchman had fallen into the well and, while swimming around in it, called to his wife. She came running to him and asked: "Shall I call the servants from the field, that they may pull you out?"

"What time is it?" inquired he.

"Eleven thirty," said his wife.

"Well, never mind," said he, "I'll swim around until dinner time!"

SUPERFLUOUS CARE

To gild refined gold, to paint the lily,

PEPTS ON PLEASURE

May 1st—Up betimes. Called up my wife and maid, and there first put on a summer suit this year; but it was not my fine one with flowered tabby vest, and coloured cannonli tumipee, because it was too fine with the gold lace at the hands, that I was afeared to be seen in it; but put on the stuff suit I made the last year, which is very handsome, and so all to the office in it, and sat all the morning, the day looking as if it were to be fine all the day, home to dinner, and there to find my wife extraordinary fine, with her flowered tabby gown that she made two years ago, now laced exceedingly pretty; and indeed was fine all over; and maids dressed to go, though the day was very lowering; and she would have me put on my fine suit, which I did. And so soon as we went alone through the town with our new liveries of serge and the fellows' canes and tall tied with red ribbons, and the standards there gilt and the sun shining, and green trees, and people did mightily look upon us; and the truth is, I did not move. Pite into the patty case shells, put the balance of whipped cream on tops, and decorate with the halved cherries or dates.

SILVER IN CANADA

Following the discovery of rich silver deposits near Cobalt, Ontario, in 1905, the production of silver in Canada rapidly increased, and that date up to 1925 Ontario was the leading producer. Recent discoveries in British Columbia restored that province in 1926 to the position of leading producer of silver in Canada when the production exceeded that of Ontario by more than one million ounces. Canada's total production of silver in 1926 was 22,371,924 fine ounces.

SPONGE CAKES

How to Make Delicious Desserts

Sponge cake is one of those deserts that can be adapted in such a wide variety of combinations that it need never grow tiresome. It can be made quickly, inexpensively, and is most useful to a busy woman in an emergency, because in the hands of enthusiastsit it can be made just as delicious if several days old as if strictly fresh.

The genuine sponge cake, as original ly conceived, contained no baking powder, depending for its lightness upon the beating of the eggs and the method of putting ingredients together. Then followed the sponge cake with just a teaspoonful of baking powder, which produced a little more delicate cake because it required one less egg. Then, principally for economy and speed, came the so-called hot water sponge cake, which answers all purposes nicely.

A real sponge cake should be baked in an ungreased pan, and the pan should be turned when taken from the oven, and the cake allowed to remain clinging to the pan until cold. If immediately removed from the pan, the egg cells will collapse and the cake will be tough. The cake will not remain open unless the cake is undisturbed until cold. It must be baked in a slow oven, and is done when a very gentle touch with the finger tip leaves no impression. The ways in which sponge cakes may be used seem endless.

Chocolate Cream Sponge Cake—Bake hot water sponge cake in shallow layers, and when cold cut into slices about two by four inches, having two layers for each service. Spread one layer with a chocolate cream filling, over that spread buttercotch sauce. Put the other layer in place, spread with a little of the buttercotch sauce, and cover that place sweetened and flavoured whipped cream. Strew sliced roast almonds on the top, and decorate with a bit of maraschino cherry.

Ice Cream Sponge Cake.—Bake sponge cake either in layers or in regulation sponge cake tin, and when cold split across in two or three layers, according to height of cake. Spread one slice with ice cream, cover over it caramel sauce, and put on another layer. Four sweetened and flavoured whipped cream over all.

Raspberry Cream Sponge Cake.—This is an especially delicious and economical way to use stale sponge cake. Cut the cake in cubes, and arrange the cubes on a dish so that they will not overlap or be piled up. Pour over them a little cream or top milk—not enough to make the cake soggy. Turn the pieces occasionally to absorb what cream is on the dish, and use enough until it is not quite as soft as fresh cake. Spread each piece with a little raspberry jam, and arrange in individual serving dishes. Put sweetened and flavoured whipped cream on top. This is a delicious dessert, and does not in any way appear like a "made-over."

Sponge Cake with Cream Filling—Bake a sponge cake in patty tins. When cold, scoop out the centres, and break the part removed into pieces. For a dozen small cakes allow half a pint of whipped cream, two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, half a teaspoonful of vanilla, half a cup of walnut meats, and a dozen figs and six maraschino cherries or dates. Whip the cream with sugar and flavouring, and reserve half of it for the tops. Fo the other half stir the nuts and figs, and mix with the cake crumbs re

Let Me Tell You

An old-fashioned commode is a handy piece of furniture in the kitchen. The top may be used as a table, the drawer for mixing spoons, knives, etc., and cooking utensils may be kept in the underneath part.

Left-over cereal, mixed with any jelly fruit or left-over preserves, molded and chilled, makes a nourishing and inexpensive dessert.

Dust the sick room with a damp duster. Keep a basin of water at hand and dip the duster in frequently using the cloth damp and removing dust with a single stroke, rather than by rubbing up and down.

Flour quickly absorbs the odor of kerosene. It is, therefore, wise to keep kerosene where it will not come in contact with foods.

Iodine should be kept out of the reach of children. In an emergency it is well to know that the antidotes for iodine taken internally by mistake are mixtures of flour or starch water, followed by an emetic.

Oil will stain marble if spilled on it. Remove it immediately by washing the marble with warm soda water. Apply a paste of fuller's earth and allow it to remain for 24 hours before washing off with tepid water.

Crockery which is used for dinner is stronger and more greasy than that which is used for tea, and for this reason the washing should be performed with moderately hot soapy water. It is important to wash the dishes on both sides, and to rinse them in clean warm water. A good rack to place the wet articles into a rack to dry, and to complete the operation later on by polishing them with a dry cloth.

A Chimney On Fire

This can, of course, be prevented to a large extent by keeping chimneys and flues of every chimney should be swept once or twice a year. Any soot which accumulates near the fireplace should be swept away with the sweep's brush when the different grates are cleaned. If the chimney should catch fire, immediately close the doors and windows in the room, so as to prevent a current of air increasing the flames. Then throw over the fire a few handfuls of salt, and as a rule it burns itself out in a short time.

POPULARITY OF SKI-ING

Ski-ing has made tremendous strides in Canada during the past few years. This great outdoor sport has swept the country from coast to coast enlisting armies of recruits and is fast becoming one of the most popular of our winter pastimes. No outdoor activity repays its devotees with a more abounding measure of health and strength; none provides greater delight or a keener sense of freedom. Under a velvety mantle of snow, the bush trail, the lakes, the swamps, obstacles during summer haunt, become easy to traverse. Like the snowshoe the ski provides the key to the wilderness.

Poems Old And New

EAST AND WEST

Eastward, the shallow seas
Fret at the shore
With gnawing, nibbling fronditers ever more—
Puffer with playful ease
Or scratch with huge uproar;
Taking the pasture-lands, the kirkyard graves,
As sport for tumbling waves.
O Time and wantoning tides—who things can stay?
Where are the poppled fields of yesterday?

But in the grey, grim West,
Deep-fathomed ocean floods that never rest
Buffet and surge and shock
Against the enduring bluffs of ravenard rock
And from our days of fret, our secular scars,
We turn to these
The eternal deeps, where wait
Wards of the guarded gate,
With whom abide
The stark resistant shores, the storm-defied.
The vision that allures, the mists that hide:
Flashing of wizard lights, and, seen at whiles
A glimpse of Happy Isles.
—Arthur L. Salmon.

THE COUNTRY OF BOOKS

(John of London's Weekly.)

The workaday world is no trying-times,
Folks chatter and squabble like crooks;
So the wise flee away to the best of all climes,
Which you enter through Library Memoirs or Rhymes,
That most wonderful Country of Books.

And griefs are forgotten, you go on a tour
More wondrous than any of Cook's,
It costs you but little, your welcome is sure,
Your spirits revive in the atmosphere pure,
Of the wonderful City of Books.

Your friends rally round you; you shake by the hand
Philosophers, soldiers and spooks,
Adventurers, heroes, and all the bright band
Of poets and sages are yours to command
In that wonderful Country of Books.

New heights are explored, and new ban ners unfurled,
New joys are found in all sorts of nooks;
You come back refreshed to the workaday world
From that wonderful Country of Books.

The Jubilee Console

Is the product of 3 years of research and 2 years of concentrated laboratory effort and test to construct the finest Radio Receiver that human skill, science and experience could produce. Price, complete, $490.00.

You are certain to get a Radio soon — get a Rogers for Christmas!

With all the "new" things that are being claimed for light-socket operation this year, there isn't a single basic feature that wasn't built into the Rogers Batteryless Radio three years ago, and there are many features exclusive to the Rogers which NO other set can utilize.

During this time it has thoroughly proven its merit in many thousands of Canadian homes. It has been tried, tested, perfected.

To-day it is the standard in performance and quality by which all "electric" sets are judged. There are more Rogers in use sold than all other "electric" radios put together.

ROGERS BATTERYLESS RADIO RECEIVING SETS

NO BATTERIES—NO CHEMICALS

What does it mean to own a Rogers Batteryless Radio? Just this:

You listen-in when you want to—not when you can. No danger of making the sad discovery that a battery is "down"—the Rogers hasn't any. No need to fuss with chemicals, chargers or attachments—the Rogers is complete in one cabinet all ready for action. It can be installed in 3 minutes and costs less than 5c a week to operate.

If it's to be a "Radio Christmas" in your home—choose the only time-tested electric set.

ACIDS CAUSE BAD KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders. By all means you drink lots of good water every day

CHEST COLDS BROKEN UP BY RED PEPPERS

Fast your fight aching chest Stop the pain. Break up the congestion Feel a bad cold loosen up in just short time—

BE BEAUTIFUL!

DARKEN HAIR

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Don't stay gray! Nobody will get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur Compound" you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell you that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and even You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

IF YOUR SKIN BREAKS OUT USE SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or eczema skin, the intense itching and scalding begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation made into a delightful cold cream, relieves such a quick relief, even to torturing, fiery eczema, that never was seen found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.

REV. GEEN SPOKE TO O.B.C. PUPILS

Addressed Scholars Yesterday Afternoon At The Business College

The pupils of Ontario Business College were yesterday afternoon treated to an address by one of the first men to ever graduate from that ancient and widely known institution. The Reverend A. L. Geen, a pupil at O. B. C. approximately sixty-five years ago, was the speaker.

He exhorted the pupils to pay strictest heed to detail, to be careful and neat in their work, and when they applied for a "job" not to "knock it all." Mr. Geen stated that he had inaugurated the six-column journal for himself, and described some of his first days in business.

"Take my advice," stated Mr. Geen, "don't try to impress your employer with your knowledge of the work, even Mr. Moore, your principal, might learn something from inadvertence. When you take a position don't think all the duties and cares it may bring you, try taking an interest in the business. You'll get the money if you take the interest. The reason I have succeeded in life is that I took an interest in my work. It will pay you to do it, let your employer see that you take an interest. Be businesslike in all matters. Don't loaf on the job, know the business through and through. If you take an interest in your employer he will reciprocate by taking an interest in you."

RECREATION BOWLING

Two important junior games were played at the Recreation Alleys last night and in both games the losers were eliminated from the contest. In one game by the Alemite taking all four points from the Coca Cola; they not only put the losers out of the running but tied the Moose for first place in this league.

In the second Junior game the Claco started out to give the Quinte B's a bad trimming by rolling the first game by 132 pins, but in the second game the Quinte B's were the same number of pins and also the final by 73 pins which gave them three points and puts them only one point down on the Moose and Alemite with all the teams to play one more game.

The Senior league came in a close last night when the Wolves and the Hardware played the final game and it was a real game for the first two games, the Wolves taking the first game by 45 pins and losing the second by 13 pins. In the final game the Hardware had a walk away taking this game by 142 pins and counting three points. G. Anderson was in form as usual and had the highest three string score with 746 and for the Wolves Domenico led the way with 726.

Los Angeles Police Scour City On Trail Of Killer---Stirling Station Wrecked By Freight Cars

SUSPECTS HELD FOR ATROCIOUS MURDER OF CHILD

Father Paid $1500 For Recovery Of Dismembered Body

MUTE EVIDENCE

Los Angeles Stirred By Latest Attack On Young School Girl

Los Angeles, Dec. 19.—Three more suspects, two men and a woman, were arrested here today near the place where the kidnapper Saturday exchanged the mutilated body of little Marian Parker for fifteen hundred dollars in currency presented by her father.

A man answering in a general way to the description of "George Post", who took the twelve year old girl from her school was first found. He was booked under the name of George Ransman, and gave his age as 24.

The woman, who said she was Lillian Padley, 23, was then arrested together with another man who gave the name of William Long. They were taken also at the mysterious house which the police believe may have been the site of killing of the girl and the dismembering of her body. The house was raided after the police had been told that a woman had been running up and down the street shouting, "I didn't know her, I didn't kill her, they did it".

$1500 Ransom

Police said the woman was interrogated. Long was hazy in his answers to the police questions, officers said, he could not remember to whom he paid the rent for the house, whose window overlooks the spot where Perry Mac Parker Saturday night paid over $1500 to the kidnapper who returned the daughter's mutilated body. When pressed for the name of his landlady he answered "Mrs. Parker".

Within the house, raiding officers found heel prints plainly etched in what appeared to be blood stains, blood stained towels and towels which had been freshly washed in an attempt to remove similar stains, a piece of man's clothing which still bore a large stain although freshly washed. Several razor blades were found which the police believe may have been used in the atrocious crime. Upon the wall was a crudely drawn picture of Judge Tenaiot whose name figured in one of the ransom letters sent Parker.

Drag Not Set

Long was released by the police after questioning. The police explained that while he was arrested at virtually the same time that Long and the woman were found, he was not in the immediate vicinity of the mysterious house.

The early morning raid was one of a series of climaxe in the greatest manhunt ever staged in Southern California. There is a price of more than fifty thousand dollars on the head of the kidnapper slayer, whose identity operations have shown him to be as cunning as his adopted name "Post" implies. Since the first note was delivered to the districted father of the girl, last Friday, he has defied and even taunted an army of police and detectives while restive citizens have contributed a huge sum for his apprehension.

Four thousand officers have raked Los Angeles and nearby cities since the torn body or the girl was picked up from the street into which "Fox" had tossed it.

The net result of the huge police operations has been the arrest of fifty persons but only four of these are being held. They are Puddy woman, Ransman, Lewis Dwyatt, who was taken into custody at Los Vegas, Nevada and a man, Gaffe name, police refused to make known are the four.

STIRLING STATION IS ALMOST DEMOLISHED BY FREIGHT CARS

OLD FASHIONED CHRISTMAS

London# Dec. 19.—The British Isles today were in the grip of one of the frostiest spells that they have experienced in decades and with more snow in the offing prospects of an old-fashioned Christmas of the Dickens order were declared quite favorable.

FARMER EXPIRES ON HUNTING TRIP

Herbert Eggleton, a retired farmer at Stirling, dropped dead suddenly on Saturday while out walking on the road south of the village. Death was due to heart-failure and Coroner Dr. Alger has decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mr. Eggleton who was well past middle age left his home prepared for a few hours' hunting in the woods near the Lake and while walking toward his destination alone he expired suddenly. He was found by farmers in the vicinity and the body taken to an undertaker. After the body had been viewed Dr. Alger deemed an inquest unnecessary.

The late Mr. Eggleton had resided in the Township of Huntingdon practically all his life but some years ago disposed of his interests and moved to Foxboro and five years ago he went to live at Stirling. He leaves a wife and two daughters.

Wheel Breaks And Cars Topple On Frame Depot

Stirling Canadian National Station was practically demolished yesterday morning shortly after six o'clock when six freight cars left the track spilling the contents along the right-of-way and tearing up the road bed for a considerable distance. A broken wheel is given as the cause of the latest wreck by railway officials.

The train which was bound from Peterboro to Belleville was loaded with grain and when one of the wheels on a car mid-way between the engine and the caboose shattered the car left the track carrying with it five other loaded box cars. The string toppled over directly on the top of the station and the front portion of the station-master's home. The heavy mass of wood and steel. The little depot presents a sad appearance today with debris strewn all over the vicinity. It will practically have to be rebuilt. Fortunately it was Sunday and no passenger trains were running on the line. The station was deserted at the time and no one was injured. The wrecking crews from Belleville and Peterboro were called to remove the wreckage. There was a fire in the stove at the time but the live coals did not spread over the floor, otherwise more serious damage might possibly have resulted.

The other cars in the box cars thrown off the track was grain in transit to Montreal for shipment.

BENNETT DENIES REPORT OF TRAVELLING INCOGNITO

Montreal, Dec. 19.—"It is an entirely manufactured report. There was a man named R. B. Parker on the steamship Georgia but he went on to New York and I came to Montreal on the regular steamship special from Halifax. I travelled all the way under my own name and my baggage plainly marked R. B. Bennett. It was an unfortunate error that my name was left out of the last minute passenger list and did not appear on the passenger list."

Pretty Wife Oblivious Of Impending Fate Sits Knitting

DOUBLE HANGING

Possible Chance Sentence May Be Commuted To Life In Prison

Valleyfield, Que., Dec. 19.—George "Crosseye" McDonald and his wife, Doris, are guilty of the murder of Richard Beaucher, Lachine taxi driver, who was brained, shot and left to die, in a ditch on the Malone Highway, on July 17 last. Friday, March 23, is set for the double hanging, if doubt it should be, for the jury recommended no clemency for the girl.

Agog for weeks over the murderers' trial here, and the court proceedings, now are retelling the story of the last woman to be hanged in Quebec. That execution was in 1900, when Cordelia Viau, went to the scaffold amid disorder and disgraceful scenes that banned the wide-open hanging furvey from this province.

People are inclined to believe Doris will not hang. One chance to escape comes with the appeal from the jury verdict, whiche defence counsel are considering for both of the condemned. They held Mr. Justice Walsh committed illegalities yesterday in his address to the jurors, beside which the fierce attack of the Crown prosecutor paled.

Doris, while sitting in a cell in Montreal awaiting her trial here, has been knitting little garments for weeks. Her chances for commutation to life imprisonment are good.

KING BEN IS DEAD

Followers Refuse To Summon Undertaker; Believe He Will Rise

Benton Harbor, Mich., Dec. 19.—Benjamin Purnell, "King of Heaven of David" is dead. Benjamin died at 11.30 last Friday morning and early today, more than sixty hours after his death, the body still lay in the bed where he had died, the belief that Benjamin will rise again after three days has kept the colony officials from announcing an undertaker or making any announcement of his death.

ALAN SPRAGUE IS POPULAR CHOICE

Defeated Clarke Kinnear In Close Race For Boys' Parliament

Alan Sprague, a pupil at the Belleville High School and a member of Bridge Street United Sunday School was elected the city at the annual sitting of Boys' Parliament at Queen's Park, Toronto, during the week of December 5th. Mr. Sprague defeated Clarke Kinnear in the elections which were held at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday and Saturday last week. When the ballots were counted by Returning Officer Hector Thompson and Scrutineers Cyril Hart and Orville Pinkston, on Saturday night it was announced that Alan Sprague had amassed a total of 133 votes as compared with 75 for his opponent Clarke Kinnear. More interest was shown in the election for the local representatives of the Boys' Parliament than for several years and of two hundred and eighty who were eligible to exercise the franchise well over two hundred cast their ballots.

Mr. Alan Sprague as the popular choice of the electorate is sure to fill the position most acceptably and is a worthy representative of the boys of Belleville. He recently took part in an oratorical contest in Toronto and made a most creditable showing, bearing the second choice of the judges. Clarke Kinnear was making his initial appearance as a candidate for the Boys' parliament and his showing was an excellent one.

The Belleville Boys' Work Board with Mr. Marshall as President sponsored the election and the officers are to be congratulated on the manner in which it was carried out.

The representatives in the meeting at Toronto will discuss the various angles of boys' work, Tuxis Squares, Trail Rangers, etc. The finances are raised through a boys' parliament, which is certain per centage of which goes to Ontario Boys' Commour. The local Committee are especially interested in the camp at Mossy Lake where the boys from all of the city are given an annual outing.

CHILDREN HURT WHILE COASTING

Coasting down the North Front Street hill on a bob-sleigh, little Melvin Fitzgerald, aged 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald, crashed into an automobile driven by Rt. M. Mintyre, Reeve of Thurlow, on Saturday night.

Nelson received the more serious injuries, requiring five stitches in his head to close a bad wound, besides getting a severe shaking up and some bad bruises. The younger boy was only slightly bruised about the head and body, receiving a injured arm. Speaking to the Intelligencer today Mrs. Fitzgerald stated that the accident was purely accidental, neither party being to blame. "The children were just going to the store to buy a picket's worth of corn", stated Mrs. Fitzgerald. "This was the first time they had been allowed out at night for a long time. Communists

BELLEVILLE BOYS NARROW ESCAPE

Matthews Transportation Truck Turns Turtle At Port Hope

Port Hope, Dec. 19.—With pavements coated with a glaze of ice Saturday morning, the operation of cars in Port Hope and district was a dangerous practice and not a few came to grief.

Perhaps the most spectacular of the mishaps took place about 7 o'clock at Mill and Peter streets when a large truck, the property of the Matthews Haulage Company of Belleville turned completely upside down.

The truck was driven by Garfield Matthews who was accompanied by his brother, Donald Matthews. At the time the highway was almost solid ice. The truck was coming down Peter street, commonly known as the Cobourg road and the driver made attempt to turn on to Mill street. As soon as he turned, the truck started to slide sideways on the icy pavement. In an attempt to avoid an accident Matthews tried to change his course and continue under the C.P.R. viaduct by way of Peter street but the big truck turned around sideways striking the curb, turning completely upside down.

The cab of the vehicle was demolished and the escape of the two occupants, particularly of Donald, is miraculous. Neither man was injured in any way beyond a shaking up. From the condition of the cab they must have had some difficulty in extricating themselves from the wreckage. The load of merchandise on the truck was not hurt by the crash but part of it may be spoiled by the rain.

Canton, Dec. 19.—Six hundred Chinese suspected of being Communists have been executed in one group it was learned today, apparently determined to crush Bolshevist activities by throwing a scare into the population and causing a general anti-Soviet sentiment, the anti-red authorities are continuing the suppression of Soviet activities and execution of Chinese

PLUCKY SAILORS' FATHERS TO COMB SHORE FOR BODIES

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 19.—The fathers of the two men who lost their lives attempting to swim from the wrecked steamer Lambton on Parisienne Island have arrived at Sault on their way to Coulee Bay from where they will commence a search along the shore line for the bodies. They are John Moon, Owen Sound, father of Ivan C. Moon, wheelsman of the Lambton, and M. Baird, Wiarton, father of Elmer Baird, oiler. The two members of the crew jumped from the vessel in an ill-fated attempt to swim to shore and get aid for their comrades. The two parents left here today for Goulais Bay and on their arrival will secure services of Indian Guides to help them search the vicinity where the remainder of the crew and the captain of the Lambton landed in a small boat.

Heavy Seas Hamper Rescue Work By Navy Coast Guard

SLOWLY SUFFOCATE

Newspaper Reporters Attempt To Reach Scene But Turn Back

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 19.—Rescue operations at the scene of the sinking of the submarine S-4 virtually at a standstill this morning as a 45-mile northwest gale whipped the harbor into a rough sea. The temperature was twenty degrees above zero. It was reported that naval tugs Saginaw and Juka bringing pontoons from the Brooklyn navy yard were hove-to in Buzzard's Bay but this could not be confirmed. Their delay in reaching here will seriously handicap efforts to effect the release of the six men known to be alive aboard the submarine and a determination of the fate of 34 others aboard.

Provincetown, Mass—Atlantic coast resources of the United States Navy concentrated here today in a herculean effort to wrest from death six of the forty entombed men aboard the submarine S-4 who were known to be alive. For 34 others on the ill-fated craft Saturday's rescue coast guard destroyer Paulding sent it hurtling to the bottom, there was hope that none might survive, but that hope was dim.

It was a fight against time today, in which every minute was precious and odds were admittedly against the slow by suffocating survivors in an almost impossible ratio.

Desperate Struggle

In the race of every officer and man of the rescue fleet from Rear Admiral down to the rawest recruit, tang a desperate cry of the unfortunate men, laboriously pounded out by hammer in metallic dots and dashes of morse code to the diver alongside of the sandy bot tom, "Hope they will get you in now," and then "Please hurry!"

The message that told the fleet that the men still lived in the S-4 came from the torpedo room, but from other compartments there was no encouraging word.

Two determined attempts by newspapermen to reach the rescue flotilla were frustrated when heavy seas broke over their launches and drenched the reporters. One boat succeeded in reaching the outer harbor but was forced to turn back to avoid being

Y. M. C. A. ASKED TO AID SEARCH

Officials Requested To Watch For Missing Major Lean

Mr. Shortt Secretary of the local Y.M.C.A received a communication this morning from the Western Assurance Company of Toronto, asking assistance in tracing the whereabouts of Major Osborne Lean, a member of the staff of that Company. Major Lean has been missing from Toronto since Tuesday evening the 29th of November and his wife and friends are very anxious as they have no information what ever to help them in tracing his where abouts. No excuse can be advanced other than loss of memory due to war wounds. Major Lean saw service in the German West African Campaign and on the Western Front and is also a veteran of the South African war. Description—Age 52 years, 6 feet, about 200 lbs, dark hair and complexion, clean shaven, but may have grown a beard, has slight scar across lower part of nose, second finger off left hand, bald all over top of head, carries a walking stick and walks with a decided limp. He wore a dark grey suit, dark blue overcoat, fawn brown fedora hat. He has his name on the inside of the hat and also under the collar of his coat. Any information that will lead to the discovery of Major Lean will be appreciated by the local Y.M. C.A. and by his friends and relatives in Toronto.

ENGAGEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

Recent Canadi an Visitors

The engagement is announced and the marriage will take place shortly in England of Lady Burrell and Mr. Richard Hennon, late of the Coldstream Guards, of Nearn Castle, Northern Ireland. Lady Burrell and her daughter were in Canada this fall, and were guests of the governor-general and the Viscountess Willingdon in Ottawa, and of Sir William Mulock in Toronto. Mrs. W. D. Ross, wife of Ontario's lieutenant-governor, entertained for Lady Burrell. Lady Burrell is shown with her daughter.

STIRLING STATION IS ALMOST DEMOLISHED BY FREIGHT CARS

OLD FASHIONED CHRISTMAS

London, Dec. 19—The British Isles today were in the grip of one of the frostiest spells that they have experienced in decades and with more snow in the offing prospects of an old-fashioned Christmas of the London order were declared quite favorable.

Wheel Breaks And Cars Topple On Frame Depot

Stirling Canadian National Station was practically demolished yesterday morning shortly after six o'clock when six freight cars left the track spilling the contents along the right-of-way and tearing up the road bed for a considerable distance. A broken wheel is given as the cause of the latest wreck by railway officials.

The train which was bound from Peterboro to Belleville was loaded with grain and when one of the wheels on a car mid-way between the engine and the caboose shattered the car left the track carrying with it five other loaded box cars. The latter toppled over directly on the top of the station and the frame building was of match-wood before the heavy mass of wood and steel. The little depot presents a sad appearance today with debris strewn all over the vicinity. It will practically have to be rebuilt. Fortunately it was Sunday and no passenger trains were running on the line. The station was deserted at the time and no one was injured. The wrecking crews from Belleville and Peterboro were called to remove the wreckage. There was a fire in the stove at the time but the live coals did not spread over the floor, otherwise more serious damage might possibly have resulted.

The chief cargo in the box cars thrown off the track was grain in transit to Montreal for shipment.

FARMER EXPIRES ON HUNTING TRIP

Herbert Eggleton, a retired farmer at Stirling, dropped dead suddenly on Saturday while out walking on the road south of the village. Death was due to heart-failure and Coroner Dafoe has decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mr. Eggleton who was well past middle age left his home prepared for a few hours' hunting in the woods near the Lake and while walking toward his destination alone he expired suddenly. He was found by farmers in the vicinity and the body taken to an undertaker. After the body had been viewed Dr. Alger deemed an inquest unnecessary.

The late Mr. Eggleton had resided in the Township of Huntingdon practically all his life but some years ago disposed of his farm and moved to Foxboro and five years ago he went to live at Stirling. He leaves a wife and two daughters.

BENNETT DENIES REPORT OF TRAVELLING INCOGNITO

Montreal, Dec. 19.—"It is an entirely manufactured report. There was a man named R. B. Parker on the steamship Ausonia but he went on to New York and I came to Montreal on the regular steamship special from Halifax. I travelled all the way under the name with my own baggage plainly marked R. B. Bennett. It was another unfortunate error that my name was put on the list of first class passengers and I did not appear on the passenger list.

R. B. Parker on the list and jumped to conclusions." This was the statement made by Hon. R. B. Bennett, M.P., Federal Leader of the Conservative party of Canada to the Canadian press here in absolute contradiction of the widely published report that he had arrived at Halifax yesterday travelling under incognito. Mr. Bennett caught the steamer in England at the last minute and his name

DOUBLE HANGING

Possible Chance Sentence May Be Commuted To Life In Prison

Valleyfield, Que., Dec. 19.—George "Crossey" McDonald and his wife, Doris, are guilty of the murder of Adelard Boucher, Lachine taxi driver who was brained, shot and left to die, in a ditch on the Malone Highway, on July 31 last. Friday, March 23, is set for the double hanging, if doubts it should be—for the jury recommended clemency for the girl.

Agog for weeks over the prisoners' "chances" this town and the country roundabout, now are retelling the story of the last woman to be hanged in Quebec. That execution was in 1900, when Cordelia Viau, went to the scaffold amid disorder and disgrace, ful scenes that banned the wide-open hanging fureway from this province.

People are inclined to believe Doris will not hang. One chance to escape comes with the appeal from the jury verdict, whether defence counsel are considering for both of the condemned. They held Mr. Justice Wade committed illegalities yesterday in his address to the jurors, beside which the fierce attack of the Crown prosecutor paled.

Doris, while sitting in a cell in Montreal awaiting her trial here, has been knitting little garments for baby. Her chances for commutation to life imprisonment are good.

KING BEN IS DEAD

Followers Refuse To Summon Undertaker; Believe He Will Rise

Benton Harbor, Mich., Dec. 19.—Benjamin Purnell, "King of Heaven" of David's dead, Benjamin died at 11.30 last Friday morning and early today, more than sixty hours after his death, the body still lay in the bed where he had died, the belief that Benjamin will rise again after three days has kept the colony officials from summoning an undertaker or making any announcement of his death.

ALAN SPRAGUE IS POPULAR CHOICE

Defeated Clarke Kinnear In Close Race For Boys' Parliament

Alan Sprague, a pupil at the Belleville High School and a member of Bridge Street United Sunday School will represent the city at the annual sitting of Boys' Parliament at Queen's Park, Toronto, during the week of December 26th. Mr. Sprague defeated Clarke Kinnear in the elections which were held at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday and Saturday of last week. When the ballots were counted by Returning Officer Newton Thompson and Scrutineers Cyril Mott and Orville Pinkston, on Saturday night it was announced that Alan Sprague had annexed a total of 333 votes as compared with 71 for his opponent Clarke Kinnear. More than ten was shown in the election for the local representatives of the Boys' Parliament than for several years and by two hundred and eighty who were eligible to exercise the franchise will over two hundred cast their ballots.

Mr. Alan Sprague as the popular choice of the electorate is sure to fill the position most acceptably and is a worthy representative of the boys of Belleville. He recently took part in an oratorical contest in Toronto and made a most creditable showing, being the second choice of the judges. Clarke Kinnear was making his initial appearance as a candidate for the Boys' parliament and his showing was an excellent one.

The Belleville Boys' Work Board with Douglas Marshall as President supervised the election and the officers are to be congratulated on the manner in which it was carried out.

The representatives in the meeting at Toronto will discuss the various angles of boys' work. Tunis Squires, Trail Rangers, etc. The finances are raised through a local committee interested in the camp at Moira Lake where the campers of the city are given an annual outing.

CHILDREN HURT WHILE COASTING

Coasting down the North Front Street hill on a bob-sleigh, little Reginald Fitzgerald, age 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald, crashed into an automobile driven by E. M. Mitchell, Fleeve of Thurlow, on Saturday night.

Young Fitzgerald received minor scratches, requiring five stitches in his head to close a bad wound, besides getting a severe shaking up and some bad bruises. The younger boy was only severely bruised about the head and body, receiving a injured arm. Speaking to the Intelligencer today Mrs. Fitzgerald stated that the accident was purely accidental, neither party being to blame. Children were just going down to the store to buy a nickel's worth of cum", stated Mrs. Fitzgerald. "This was the first time that they had been allowed out at night for a long time.

BELLEVILLE BOYS NARROW ESCAPE

Matthews Transportation Truck Turns Turtle At Port Hope

Port Hope, Dec. 19—With parements coated with a glaze of ice Saturday morning, the operation of cars in Port Hope and district was a dangerous practice and not a few came to grief.

Perhaps the most spectacular of the mishaps took place about 7 o'clock at Mill and Peter streets when a large truck, the property of the Matthews Haulage Company of Belleville turned completely upside down.

The truck was driven by Garfield Matthews who was accompanied by his brother, Donald Matthews. At the time the highway was almost solid ice. The truck was coming down Peter street, commonly known as the Toronto road and the driver attempted to turn on to Mill street. As soon as he turned, the truck started to slide sideways on the icy pavement. In an attempt to avoid an accident Matthews tried to change his course and swerved under the wheel. It was then by way of Peter street but the big truck turned around sideways striking the curb, turning completely upside down.

The cab of the vehicle was demolished and the escape of the two occupants, particularly the driver, is miraculous. Neither man was injured in any way beyond a shaking up. From information received the driver could have had some difficulty in extricating themselves from the wreckage. The load of merchandise on the truck was not hurt by the crash but part of it may be spoiled by the rain.

Heavy Seas Hamper Rescue Work By Navy Coast Guard

SLOWLY SUFFOCATE

Newspaper Reporters Attempt To Reach Scene But Turn Back

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 19.—Rescue operations at the scene of the sinking of the submarine S-4 virtually at a standstill this morning as a 48-mile northwest gale whipped the harbor into a rough sea. The temperature was twenty degrees above zero. It was reported that naval tugs flagmore and John Irbinging pontoons from the Brooklyn navy yard were here-by in Boustard's Bay but this could not be confirmed. Their delay in reaching here will seriously handicap efforts to effect the release of the six men known to be alive aboard the submarine and a determination of the fate of 34 others aboard.

Provincetown, Mass—Atlantic coast resources of the United States Navy were mobilized today in a herculean effort to wrest from death six of the forty entombed men aboard the submarine S-4 who were known to be alive. For 36 others on the ill-fated craft, Saturday when coal guard destroyer Paulding sent it hurtling to the bottom, there was hope that some might survive, but that hope was dim.

It was a fight against time today, in which every minute was precious and odds were admittedly against the slow by suffocating survivors in an almost impossible ratio.

Desperate Measures

In the case of every officer and man of the rescue fleet from Rear Admiral down to the rawest recruit, rang a dee termination to make every effort to rescue the unfortunate men, laboriously pounded out by hammer in metallic code and dashes of morse code to the diver alongside of the sandy bottom. "How long will you be now," and "We Hear You" were typical.

The message that told the fleet that the men still lived on the S-4 came from the torpedo room, but from other compartments there was no encouraging word.

Two determined attempts by newspapermen to reach the Provincetown Basin were frustrated when heavy seas broke over their launches and drenched the reporters. One boat succeeded in reaching the outer harbor but was forced to turn back in the rising

Officials Requested To Watch For Missing Major Leach

Mr. Shortt Secretary of the local Y.M.C.A. received a communication this morning from the Western Association of the Y.M.C.A. requesting assistance in tracing the whereabouts of Major Osborne Leach, a member of the staff of that Company. Major Leach has been missing from Toronto since Tuesday evening the 29th of November and his wife and friends are very anxious as they have no information what ever to help them in tracing his where abouts. No ecrue can be advanced except that he has loss of memory due to war wounds. Major Leach saw service in the German West African Campaign and on the western front and is also a veteran of the South African war. Description—Age about 50 years, 6 feet, about 200 lbs. dark hair and complexion, clean shaven, but may have grown a beard, has slight scar across lower part of nose, second finger off left hand, bald all over top of head, carries a walking stick and walks with a decided limp. He wore a dark grey suit, dark blue overcoat, fawn brown fedora hat. He has his name on the inside of the hat and also under the collar of his coat. Any information that will lead to the discovery of Major Leach will be appreciated by the local Y.M.C.A. and by his friends and relatives in Toronto.

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

If we desire to judge justly, we must persuade ourselves that none of us is without sin.—Seneca.

HELPING EMIGRANTS

The British government cannot be accused of lack of interest in the problem of Empire migration. It has formulated definite schemes for transferring its surplus population to the dominions and offered to finance the movement to the amount of fifteen million dollars a year. For some reason or other, the offer has not been taken up. The payments are contingent upon the dominion governments contributing an equal amount to that put up by the Mother Country, and the dominions have shown themselves reluctant to do this. Very generous arrangements have been made, however, for the transportation of certain classes of emigrants, but even this has not led to a large-scale movement from congested areas to parts of the Empire which are comparatively empty. At the same time, over a million unemployed are registered in Britain, and there are very many more outside the registered trades. This situation naturally exercises the economists. It seems ridiculous that over a million men and women should be eking out an existence on the dole when they could find a much more satisfactory living under the British flag. In countries which are in urgent need of population and which present such attractive fields for profitable development.

Commander Locker-Lampson points out the anomaly with considerable force in the London Daily Mirror. He makes a suggestion which, on the face of it, appears to have merit. He estimates that if unemployment conditions should last another eight years—as it is thought they may do—the total cost of maintaining each recipient of out-of-work pay will amount to at least $1,500. Actually, at the present time, about five million dollars a week is handed out in unemployment. Commander Locker-Lampson's plan is to not only pay the full fare of the emigrant to the dominion of his choice, but to continue to send out to him for, say, a period of ten years the weekly payments he would have received had he stayed in the Mother Country and remained unemployed. This would give him a chance to establish himself and would be a strong inducement for him to make the experiment. It is the first thought that they are cutting themselves off from such assistance which prevents any large movement of emigrants to the dominions, and it is the fear that they might become a burden on the country that accounts for the lack of enthusiasm on the part of dominion governments. These two impediments would be removed by the adoption of the plan suggested, and it would mean the continuation of the grant for only two years, as against eight. There are obvious objections however, from both the standpoint of the British government and the dominions concerned. To pour into a country large numbers of unemployed men with the promise that, for a definite period, they will be taken care of might prove an acceptable remedy of a temporary nature, if wise selection is made, but what would happen in the dominions when the ten years had expired? Given an energetic development scheme, with binding contracts, the thing might be done to mutual advantage, but the plan would require a lot of very careful preparation and continuous supervision when once put into force.

THE DARK SIDE

The Moderation League, Inc., an organization dedicated to "The Restoration of Temperance" in the United States—to be achieved by abolition of the prohibition law—has issued its third annual survey of conditions in that country. It finds much cause for alarm and little for hope. Drunkenness is increasing, according to the voluminous statistics quoted, there are more "drunken children" than ever before, and the distinguished gentlemen who comprise the League's executive are driven to conclusion "there seems to be no hope that the Volstead Act, in its present drastic form, can ever accomplish its purpose."

The report thus sums up the League's faith and convictions:

"We believe that a greater degree of temperance can be attained by a wise restrictive law than by a bone-dry law which does not command the respect of a large part of the public.

"We are also of the firm conviction that such a policy of wise restriction would have the incidental advantage of eliminating almost entirely the scandalous corruption and bribery of public officials, would stop the growth of the bootlegging industry, would check disregard for law, and would in addition produce a handsome national revenue."

The League reports that arrests for drunkenness in 1926 in 602 places reporting reached a total of 711,807, showing a substantial increase over other Volstead years. In 403 places reporting from 1914 to 1926, arrests for drunkenness in 1926 were higher than in any previous year excepting only "the war-boom peak" of 1914 and were only 5,000 lower than in that proper ous period. Conditions in former "dry" states—that is, states which previously had restrictive laws—are much worse today as compared with 1914 than in the former "wet" areas it is declared, and again statistics are quoted freely.

A special chapter is devoted to "the increase in drinking among boys and girls and young people generally" which is called "by far the most distressing result of the Volstead Act." In Washington, D.C., for instance, arrest of minors for drunkenness in 1926 had increased 622 per cent. over the average of 1910 to 1917, but in the absence of information on the population increase in the last two decades the figures have little significance.

The Moderation League seriously has no expectation of securing repeal of the Volstead Act at any early date, but in its campaign of education the present report is useful material. Not in the month ago that country participated with Britain and Japan in a naval limitation conference which failed because the countries could not agree on the technical details of the form the limitation should take. All three countries claimed to be sincere in their desire to reduce naval armaments, but events since then have given some inkling as to how sincere they were.

In the case of Great Britain, the sincerity has been proven by action. A program for the building of three cruisers had been adopted by Britain before the naval conference. In spite of its failure, that program was scrapped, and only one of the three cruisers is being built. There was a concrete example of naval limitation, undertaken without any pretense that it was being done because of an international agreement.

Washington's hand has now been shown, and it discloses a monster naval building program, which will, in the next five years, mean the expenditure of one billion dollars, the largest ever undertaken by the United States. The program includes twenty-six cruisers, three aeroplane carriers, five fleet submarines and eighteen destroyers, as well as four new battleships. Truly this is a stupendous program, for which no other country in the world has such available finances to match, and it leads one to wonder if the United States ever wanted disarmament. How useless it is for President Coolidge to speak of a desire to abolish war when he approves of a program for the building of war machines unprecedented in the history of his country.

Three aeroplane carriers, three aero x

A REAL RECORD

A statement presented at the annual U. F. A. meeting in the constituency of Acadia, Alberta, shows that the election expenses of Mr. Robert Gardiner, the successful candidate in the last Federal election, amounted to $278.50.

In these days when it is a common thing for candidates or their organizations to spend up in the thousands, this figure from the west seems very low; in fact, as far as we can recall, it looks like a record for a low-priced election.

There must have been more willing workers in that riding than the average candidate encounters. In this part of the country it is now taken for granted that all the workers shall be paid.

There was a time when scrutineers and drivers of rigs turned out willingly on election day because they were interested in a certain candidate and wanted to see him elected.

There may still be the interest in elections, but workers don't go about their business on the same basis as they do in that western riding where an election was fought and won for, $278.50.

Upon some never-ending quest.

The pale moon edges o'er the hill;
The pine and tamarac take their stand

Defiant guardians of the land.

The north winds sweep from out the gloom
And fill the wood with whispered sighs,
The earth is like a silenced room
In which some weary loved-one dies.

Until the moon, above the trees,
Startles the shadow in the wood,

FREAK ZOO GREW UP IN BRIDGEPORT

Bridgeport, Conn., (By The Canadian Press).—Bridgeport, mourns the passing of its hey-day as a circus city, for ever since the late P. T. Barnum assembled the "greatest show on earth", the city of parks has prided itself upon being the winter home of the show. The decision of John Ringling to winter his circus in Florida has brought no slight consolation however, to the city fathers.

While the circus wintered here there grew up in Barnum Park a little zoo, made up largely of circus discards. But its generosity of the show owners had its accompanying drawbacks. Money for a zoo was scarce, and after accumulating among other freaks the "laziest kangaroo" and a camel so lethargic that its trainers gave it up in despair and it had to be trucked to the park, it became necessary to put an end to the collecting of what promised to become the greatest freak menagerie in captivity.

THE HONORABLE LOUIS ALEXANDRE TASCHEREAU JOINS NORTH AMERICAN LIFE BOARD

The North American Life Assurance Company announces the appointment of the Hon. Louis Alexandre Taschereau, LL.B., LL.L., M.P.P., to its Board of Directors. Mr. Taschereau is a man of much practical experience and will be a valuable addition to the Board.

The late name Taschereau has occupied a most prominent place in the Province of Quebec since 1723 when Pierre Taschereau arrived there. The founder of the Canadian branch of the family himself became prominent in political affairs of the Province. Included in the distinguished line of descendants were, Jean Thomas Taschereau, Judge of the Supreme Court, Eminent Cardinal Elzear Alexandre Taschereau, Archbishop of Quebec, Judge Jean Taschereau, Sir Henry Taschereau, Chief Justice of the Court of Appeal, and many others.

The Honorable Mr. Taschereau is a son of the late Jean Thomas Taschereau and while he was admitted to Law, the greater part of his career has been engaged in political affairs. While engaged in active practice of the Law, he took part in many cases of importance, including the Gaynor-Greene Extradition case.

Elected in 1900 to the Quebec Legislature for the Constituency of Montmagny, he soon made his presence felt and in 1907 was sworn in as Minister of Public Works and Labour. In 1919 he was appointed Attorney-General. Upon the resignation of the Premiership of Sir Lomer Gouin in 1920 he was called upon by the Lieut. Governor to form a Government, which he did, retaining the portfolio of Attorney General in addition to the Premiership.

90 PERCENT. WORLD'S NICKEL AT SUDBURY

Toronto, (By C.P.)—Canada produces from the Sudbury area about 90 percent of the world's nickel, according to T.W. Gibson, Deputy Minister of Mines for the Province of Ontario, in a recent address here. The other 10 per cent. Mr. Gibson said, comes from the Island of New Caledonia, a French penal colony in the Southern Pacific.

In a review of the history of the metal-mining in Ontario since the first discovery in 1846, when copper was found in the province, Mr. Gibson dealt with the discoveries in Northern Ontario, Cobalt, etc., and said that one of the greatest romances was the way in which the nickel producers of Canada had conquered a market lost to them when battleships became unpopular. The armoring of battleships with their nickel-steel armour, had cut the nickel market in half, but through advertising and educational campaigns the industry is now marketing more nickel than it did during the war.

Mr. Gibson declared that Canadians were just mining on the fringe of the great Precambrian shield which formed the main part of Northern Ontario.

As he told, Mr. Gibson told of the wonderful "Golden Staircase," one of the finest showings of high-grade gold ore in the world, a section of which had been on view in the Ontario Parliament Buildings for many years.

Look for raw Cobalts, new Kirkland Lakes and Porcupines, perhaps not in my time, but in the near future as far as the history of the world is concerned," Mr. Gibson said.

Oshawa, Dec 19.—The Rev C W Demille, pastor of King Street United Church, Oshawa, has accepted a call to become minister of Central United Church, Stratford, on July 1. PATROLLING FAR NORTH

Covering a district about four hundred miles square during a two years' investigation of the migrations of the caribou in the sub-Arctic regions of the Northwest Territories, Canada, an explorer of the Department of the Interior discovered the route of the main migration. He reports that the now formerly the caribou wintered east of Great Slave lake and spent the summer on Victoria and other islands of the Arctic archipelago, now they turn eastward before reaching the coast and summer in the country west of Backs river.

The discovery that rubber would ever be produced in Canada was made about the time of the American revolution.

Mainly About People You Know

RADBOW NOTICED

An unusual sight was presented today about 10:30 when a rainbow was observed. The bow was quite plain, and the colours beautiful, being observed in the south sky.

BROKE RIBS

Damon Wells, of Bloomfield, while working on a Hydro pole on Saturday fell to the ground and broke three ribs. This morning he was reported as doing well. Wells's grip slipped and he crashed onto the hard road in Picton, where he was working.

INQUEST TO-NIGHT

To-night the inquest into the death of little Hilda Reid, who met so tragic an end as the result of an accident on December 5th, when her father crashed into an automobile driven by Mr. John Elliott, local Bank Manager, opens to-night at the City Hall at eight o'clock.

MEETING TONIGHT

The committee appointed to deal with the baseball situation for next year will meet in the Chamber of Commerce building at eight o'clock to-night when some important matters will be discussed. Port Hope, Kingston, Oshawa and Peterboro are all aimed for Senior ball and it is almost a certainty that Belleville will be included in the reorganization of the old Senior Central Ontario baseball circuit.. The Committee have been working diligently and with no time to be lost between now and January 1st. Ernie Rowsome and his staff have overlooked nothing in their efforts to provide Belleville with a first-class ball team in 1928. Executives approached have been generous in assisting in the financial drive.

TO PLAY IN STIRLING

The Intelligencer hockey team have arranged to play the Stirling Hockey Club at the latter's arena next Monday night December 26th. The newspaper boys who are members of Belleville's City League are lining up a strong team and hope to give the Stirling boys a real battle. The latter Club is a member of the Trent Valley Hockey League and Manager Bill Whitty has most of last year's players intact along with a few new ones. The Intelligencer team known as the Black Hawks expect to hold practice every night of Wednesday night of this week providing Gic. Armet has a sheet of ice ready by that time. The locals are arranging other exhibition games prior to the opening of the regular City League schedule.

AN EXCELLENT SHEET

Gar Armet, manager of the local Arena, has an excellent sheet of ice today following the cold weather over the week-end, and there is a strong possibility that the rink may be thrown open to the general public on Wednesday night. Eddie Thomas will likely be issuing a call for candidates for the Junior and intermediate O. H. A. teams one of these days, and it is expected that Belleville will be represented by junior teams in both groups. The old guard have all promised to turn out again this year. With the opening game on Friday, Dec. 30th with Cornwall here, no time is to be lost in getting the boys in shape. Skating enthusiasts are assured of an excellent sheet of ice for the annual frolic on Christmas afternoon.

UNIQUE VISITORS DISCOVERED HERE

Evening Grosbeaks Unusual In This Section Of Canada

Two unique visitors were guests of Belleville today in the persons of a flock of evening grosbeaks, birds that breed in Alberta and Western Canada, wandering east in the winter as far as eastern Canada and New England. They appear suddenly and are gone just as quickly, visiting ash trees and other bearers of wild fruit and may remain away for a few number of years.

These two birds were noticed just outside the Intelligencer window today, They are beautiful in color and present a striking appearance and are a rare sight. They are as large as a robin with the tail and beak shorter, black tail, yellow body, black and white wings and a cap with a yellow streak over the eye. The bird is very tame in character, but few have ever been observed near the nest. The evening grosbeak is a cousin to the pine grosbeak which was noticed in Belleville last year.

Miss Gordon, of the Ontario School for the Deaf is also respectful seeing birds that announces the snow birds. She observed a large flock of them, here from the arctic circle every year. Mrs. Wallace Havelock Robb has asked that anyone noticing any strange or interesting birds about, report the matter to him.

JUSTICE WRIGHT WEDS FORMER TRENTON GIRL

Toronto, Ont., December 19.—It has been announced that Mr. Ivan Rae Wright, Toronto, lawyer, and daughter of Mrs. Willmot Allen Gerow, of that place, was married to Hon. Mr. Justice Henry Hague Wright, of Toronto, in this city last Wednesday. Mr. Justice Wright is one of the judges of the Ontario Supreme Court, and was formerly member of a well known Gerow bound bar here. The couple are spending their honeymoon in Atlantic City, and on their return will reside at 24 Park Road, Toronto.

Mr. Justice Maslen is temporarily taking over the duties of Mr. Justice Wright.

Hon. Mr. Justice Wright was on the bench at the non-jury sittings in Belleville two weeks ago and his manner was a surprise to the local legal fraternity. He was formerly a barrister at the Quinte while in the city. Miss Gerow was prominent in society circles while in Trenton.

swamped her waves. Communication from the fleet to shore was attempted and as far as could be observed all there was accomplished was a lot of activity aboard the craft there. It was generally believed that until she was subsided the work of rescue would be held up indefinitely.

Wednesday At Latest

Washington, Dec. 19.—Chances of rescuing alive the entire crew of the officers of the wrecked submarine S-4 known to be alive are "exceedingly slim" in the opinion of navy officials here, submarine expert of navy, Lieut. Momsen expressed the belief today that under most favorable conditions the men could last only until early Wednesday morning before being overcome by carbon dioxide gas.

Boston, Dec. 19.—Dumping of the air into the useless submarine S-4 was stopped and rescue work at the scene was at a standstill today, Rear Admiral Frank Brumby reported today upon arrival at Charlestown navy yard on board the minesweeper Falcon.

Boston, Dec. 19.—Messages from men trapped on the submarine S-4 was received by minesweeper Falcon early today, on the arrival of the Falcon here from the scene of the rescue operations. Lieut. Commander Ellsberg said that a message tapped out in morse code asked if the rescuers could send oxygen and emergency food supplies to the six men still alive in the submarine.

CENTRE ST. MISSION RE-OPENING SERVICE

Most interesting and inspiring reopening services were conducted yesterday in Centre St. United Church. Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker officiated at the morning gospel sermon in the morning basing his remarks upon the parable of the talents in which he stressed the tremendous value of a talent the opportunity of a lifetime. Rev. Mr. Baker the same in Christian service, especially on the part of one talented people who compose the congregation of Centre St. Church.

Mr. Bixley contributed two delightful vocalist gospel songs. An interesting class of twelve persons was welcomed into the congregation membership with the church. The financial statement shows that repairs amounting to $220 had been completed upon the church and paid for in cash.

In the evening service Rev. Mr. Baker's topical sermon was delivered by the pastor, the Rev. J. S. McMullen from

TODAYS MARKETS

Chicago, Dec. 19.—With the government final crop report due from Washington this afternoon wheat opened an early advance today. It was generally expected the official estimate of 1927 wheat yield would show a reduction of 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels from the December estimate of 860,000,000 bushels. Wheat later showed moderate upturn all around, corn, oats and provisions likewise developed firmness. Corn opened unchanged to 1-4c off and subsequently making slight gains.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

Alex. Hladin, a native of Russia and an employee of the Deloro Smelting Company was drowned in the Belleville General Hospital on Saturday afternoon following a sudden seizure from heart trouble. Mr. Hladin died a few hours after entering the institution and an inquest was held by Dr. Chant and Dr. Morgan which showed that death was the result of heart trouble.

The deceased was a member of the Greek Catholic Church and was about forty-five years old. He had no friends in this country. The interment was made at Belleville Cemetery this morning.

The funeral of the late Mrs. James Ashton was held from the home of her father, Mr. Samuel Dean, yesterday afternoon to Victoria Cemetery where the interment was made.

At the house and graveside in the presence of a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends an impressive service was conducted by Rev. E. Farncomb, of Canadian United Church. During the service at the home Bethany United Church Choir rendered appropriate music. A wealth of flowers also expressed silent sympathy from friends and relatives.

The bearers were Messrs. C. Casey, A. Latin, F. Strain, A. Ireland, C. Clapp and J. Allen.

JOHN RONAN

John Ronan died at his late home, 31 Alexander Street, early this morning following an illness of some duration.

The late Mr. Ronan was born in Dungannon 76 years ago and came to Belleville for the past 70 years where he was employed in blacksmithing. The deceased was a member of St. Michael's Church. Survivors are one sister, Miss Mary Ronan, and one brother Patrick Ronan, both of Belleville.

MRS. GEORGE JOHNSTON

The funeral of the late Mrs. George Johnston took place this morning from her home, Herkimer Avenue, to St. Michael's Church where a solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Killeen in the presence of a large number of sorrowful relatives and friends.

The interment was made in the family plot, St. James Cemetery with Rev. Father Killeen officiating at the committal at the graveside.

The bearers were: Messrs F. P. Carney, John McMullin, Peter O'Neil, D. Cotter, R. Arnott and William Donald.

The spiritual and floral offerings were:

VERY YOUNG PUPILS REQUIRE MOTHERING

By LOUIS E. BISCH

The question is often raised whether boys should be taught by women. It is thought that men teachers should take care of the boys and women teach the girls.

That, however, is not sound reasoning, based upon what we know of the development of the two sexes in the earlier years.

There can be no doubt whatever that women understand children, at least up to the eighth year, better than men.

A man in charge of a kindergarten is an absurdity on the face of it. And the truth of the matter is that teaching by men for the next few years is equally absurd.

Young children must be dealt with very gently and kindly and a woman's sympathy and motherhood attributes are essential. A woman understands a small tot's wants and point of view much better than a man. Being more practical than a man, a woman can more readily render the necessary petting and assistance that young children require.

A man is also likely to be too harsh in his attitude. His emotions are not as fluid as woman's. He lives by standards and precepts. His personality makes the child fearful of him.

When men teach young children—and the happiest occasionally—the children are always well behaved, but they are also very retiring and shutin. This is distinctly bad for all children as all ages.

We don't want repressed children. Repression makes for deceit and lying. What we particularly want are children who are not afraid to express themselves emotionally.

We want them to romp and play and have a good time even if their mischief at times is annoying. Children have a right to their childhood.

Men have no place in the class-room of the little ones. After eight, however, children change markedly. They become critical and fault-finding. They are given to "sass" remarks. They try to trip up their elders with a new fact learned at school.

It is the critical, pre-adolescent stage during which they are already beginning to break away from the parental stem to find a place for themselves in the world.

Men teachers help to steady boys a lot during this period of their lives.

They should not have men teachers exclusively. Teachers of both sexes are desirable.

The women teachers are more understanding and willing to make allowances, while the men are more influential in preserving standards of self-assurance which the boys so sorely need as guides for conduct.

During the high school period the same mixture of instruction is best and for the same reasons.

The adolescent boy is still a child at heart even if his voice cracks and the down begins to grow on his upper lip.

We think of these boys from fourteen to seventeen as men. They are men in embryo; that is all. They need men to inculcate the stern lessons of life, to instill self-discipline, to show them that life is a serious affair. They also need women for their refining and cultural effects.

When adolescents associate too much with men they become rough and rowdy. When too much with women they become soft and sentimental.

The ideal high school percentage would be about two male teachers to every woman teacher.

This matter of who should teach our children is really a serious one.

We lack neither. There is a pity that the teaching profession does not attract more men.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

Cream when whipped should be cold at the start or the whipping process, and better results will follow if the bowl and whipper are cooled with cold water previous to use. Too much whipping is just as bad as too little, and care should be exercised to stop at the point where the cream has reached a good degree of stiffness. Under ideal conditions, this will be within two minutes. When cream is properly whipped it will remain unchanged for several days except possibly in flavor, if kept in the refrigerator.

Rusty knives can be renewed by being plunged up to the handles in garden soil, left for an hour or so, rubbed well with a damp flannel dipped in ash es, then cleaned and polished in the ordinary way.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

HER SELF-CONFIDENT HUSBAND

On the following Afternoon, when Herbert left his office, he went to his club, instead of returning home, as had been his custom since his marriage.

He was annoyed with Lila; he wanted to think out the many perplexing things that had arisen to complicate his life, and he wanted to think them out clearly, safe from contact with her disturbing loveliness. Though he was far from admitting it to himself, he knew subconsciously that Lila beguiled him out of every particle of firmness; she could make him forget to be cross, to be suspicious, or to be disapproving. It hurt Herbert's pride to think of how weak he had been.

In the matter of the previous evening, there was that incident of the broken cup and the spilled coffee.

Lila had apologized prettily for her awkwardness; but it was not like Lila to be awkward. Herbert was comforted that the episode argued nerves, and he detested nervous women. And why should Lila be nervous?

But more serious was the new light on the episode of the ring. While Herbert had discussed his forthcoming business deal with Varney—a deal considerably concerned with his new manager, Gilroy Holmes—he continued to think of that casual statement of Varney's that his wife had—been here abroad.

And after Dorothy Caine's pathetic story of the tragic foreign romance!

Hardly had the door closed behind Varney, when Herbert turned upon Lila.

"That story of Dorothy Caine's about Mrs. Varney's love-affair with a French marquis—that was all a lie, wasn't it?"

Lila had had time to prepare for this onslaught. She yawned prettily.

"Oh, dear, I'm weary tonight! What was it you were saying, darling, about May Varney?"

"I believe you heard me the first time," said Herbert firmly. "According to her husband, Mrs. Varney has never been in Europe."

"Are you sure he knows?" countered Lila calmly.

Herbert flushed angrily.

"Your code and mine must be very different, Lila. I can see no excuse for secrets between husband and wife."

"They are sometimes very handy!" thought Lila inwardly. Aloud, she said:

"I don't believe I understand just what you're trying to say."

He made an impatient gesture.

Hadn't Dorothy told me that the ring you claim belongs to Mrs. Varney was her betrothal gift from a French marquis?"

Lila nodded, wide-eyed.

"And didn't Varney himself just say that his wife had never been abroad?" demanded Herbert triumphantly.

Lila was innocence itself.

"But—did Dorothy say she had? One can have a love-affair with a Zulu, for that matter, without ever going to the South Seas."

Herbert hadn't the best memory in the world. He racked his brain to remember whether Dorothy had said that May Varney had met the French chap abroad or in America. The distinction was significant, and, fortunately for Lila, it completely escaped him.

The incident ended in apparent victory for Lila. But the following day found Herbert still disturbed. Lila with Lila seemed to be taking on too many these sharp clashes, and he always seemed to come off second best. Herbert felt that Lila hadn't told the truth. Moreover, he was enjoying none of the peace he fervently he had expected to find in matrimony, once the anxieties of court ship were over. He loved Lila jealous and tender—he resented being upset about her. To suspect her, to suffer, to make a scene, only to discover that his mistake, he forced to make overtures of peace, every twenty-four hours was too much.

For a long time, Herbert sat in the library at his club pretending to read the evening paper, but the problem with all the deliberation that he would have given to an important business matter. He finally came to the conclusion that there must be no more of this sort of thing; it was up to him to put a stop to it.

He reminded himself that Lila was younger than he, moderless, practically fatherless, for all the attention her paternal parent had bestowed on her, and frightfully spoiled. He, Herbert, must firm, though kind; not too indulgent, but not too exacting.

This resolution reached, and congratulating himself that he had the head to analyze matrimony and steer away from the rocks of discord, Herbert meth odically folded his newspaper and prepared to betake himself homeward.

He was on his way to his waiting car when a page stopped him with a letter "This has just come in the last delivery, sir."

Herbert glanced at the letter-head on the long envelop. It bore the name and address of a well-known war chief ity.

He opened the envelope and his eyes nearly popped from his head.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Crystal is difficult, unless one has a white Rain and a look of being distinctly clear"cut and well groomed—after which the type of one's coloring doesn't matter much.

The latest modes have a distinct leaning to those of the 90's in the princess gown, the bouquet, the dolman and the overskirt.

New coat dresses in Paris have finely pleated linen vestees brought up close to the neck and little frocks sometimes have pleated frills for collars.

Women are reading more and more, while men readers tend to fall asleep over anything outside the sports page says the most prominent publisher in Paris.

The flounce and the ruffle are stressed in the latest Paris modes to mark the return of feminity which is destin ed to be the keynote of next season's styles.

Umbrella handles have increased considerably in length and even the crooked handle has come back, and so have the ten and twelve-ribbed frames, which give more protection than the long-popular sixteen rib types.

High-color satin slippers are much favored with the fashionable black lace chiffon or velvet evening gowns and when worn the jewelry is of a matching shade, and emerald green satin slippers and green jewelry appear with a gown of black chiffon, and a smart woman wearing a black velvet dress had satin slippers and jewelry of bright red touched up with gold.

The princess gown of this season is very popular in black chiffon combined with lace and is made with a long straight bodice or "body" as it was called in the old days, and a skirt trimmed with rows or very full narrow ruffles.

Black leads attire in Paris where belice continues as the second color and holds considerable importance in collegiate types in Rodier's beautiful "Kashabeau," collared with beaver and belted with suede, of which a number were seen at the races worn by young girls.

At the Ritz at tea recently in Paris nearly every hat was adorned with a pin of brilliants, while one of the most interesting exceptions was that of a huge silver loop caught in the felt bow at the side of a close hat which gave the impression of Oriental earrings.

Fuller skirts have definitely come to stay, and the question is only how the fullness is to be inserted, whether in straight pleats or in circular flares; while there is an indication that sloping pleats are to be popular, and there also a sign of flares, and, when skirts flare, waists are almost invariably nipped in.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

ADVICE TO GIRLS

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens. I go with a nice young man who is five years older than I am. We are very fond of each other. But my father objects to my going with him. Would you advise me to keep going with him?

ROXIE.

ROXIE: I would suggest that you have a talk with your father and learn what his objection is to your going with this boy. Then be has your welfare at heart I am sure that he must have some excellent reason for his prejudice against this boy and I would advise you to be guided by his advice. If you find that your father is mistaken, ask him to give the boy a chance to prove himself. Your father is concern ed chiefly for your happiness and I must urge you to respect his wishes and do as he thinks best.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I met a fellow and fell in love with him at first sight. He told some friends that he liked me. He has met me a few times and walked home with me, but has never asked me to go out. I would like to know what to do.

BROWN EYES.

BROWN EYES: You might ask this boy to visit you at your home some time. If he is really interested in you he will welcome your invitation and will himself suggest future dates.

Distillers' Sales Tax Discussed At Length—Other Points

The Regent Theatre yesterday afternoon was well filled to hear the present Temperance situation discussed in most orderly fashion. Community singing of widely known Christian hymns was directed by Rev. Roy Rickard, of Albert College in his usual masterly style while Mr. Allan Gordon graciously presided at the piano. Mr. Fred H. Bruny ably acted as chairman of the programme in the absence of Rev. Dr. McCrimh who was obliged to be in Ottawa by the day. Kenneth Munnings with his fine boy soprano voice accompanied by his sister, Miss Daisy Munnings, rendered two solos entitled "Away with the Bowl" and "Would you come and help us?" Rev. E. McCutch eon of the Tabernacle Church as a new man on the local Temperance platform led in fervent devotional exercises.

New Organization

The meeting was under the auspices of the Canadian Prohibition Bureau of which Professor J. Gibson Hume, of Toronto, is president and whose stated object is to contribute to the development of an informed and virile public opinion in favour of abstinence and prohibition that will express itself in the enactment observance and enforcement of well framed laws. The methods adopted are: 1. The securing of scientific and statistical information regarding alcoholism and all means to combat it. 2. To give wider publicity to facts obtained. The valley of the Bureau is privately educational. Its aim is truth. It endeavours to be non-partisan and non-sectarian; maintaining strict neutrality in all matters of public policy not related to the traffic in or use of alcoholic beverages.

Liquor Control Act

That the present temperance measure was a liquor selling act was a contention of Rev. Ben H. Spence, managing director of the Bureau. "The importance of public sentiment behind moral reforms is essential in a large measure to its success and many people who voted for what they considered would curtain bootleggers now realize that they were fooled by the disappointed realization of their hopes."

"From newspaper articles and other sources it is evident that conditions existing in bygone days are returning," said Mr. Spense. "Drunken carousals at parties take place. There is evidence of lack of personal control on our streets and our jails are once more becoming overcrowded. If the same punch had been put into the enforcement of the O.T.A. by the government it would have served better. The recent Royal Commission of the Customs Probe also revealed that the Brewers and distillers had deprived the country of millions of dollars in the withholding of sales taxes and at the same time they contributed several thousands of dollars to party campaign funds to influence the last provincial election here for what was acknowledged under oath to be a wet sales promotion scheme. Much of the liquor exported to Mexico and Cuba was found easier to be relanded on Canadian shores than running the risk of strict American regulations. The bootlegger evidently had as it is does not cause results in all the damages that prohibiting faculties can provide. Our strong man and his board have cut on the Quebec rates, here at a cost price is out at the Breweries figure but as a handler of their products."

Many Ministers

Many ministers in attendance yesterday greeted this commencement of former days. His impassioned appeal and self-effacing personnage for the evening gripped attentive hearers and elicited splendid financial contributions in the way of plate collections and pledges for the year and periodic terms. Mr. John Buchanan, secretary of the Bureau and who is besides Dominion councillor of the Royal Templars of Temperance spoke briefly and to the delighted earnest Temperance workers before departing from the city with his confrere, Donald.

PORT HOPE BALL CLUB REORGANIZE

Possibility Of Lake Shore Town Entering Senior Ranks

Port Hope, Dec. 19.—Whether or not the class of baseball to be provided for Port Hope and district fans next year will be senior or intermediate is still in the air. The question is receiving the consideration of those who have charge of providing the baseball menu and it was discussed at length at the meeting of the Port Hope Baseball Club. The executive and the other boosters present left the matter open for further consideration and consultation with the fans.

The meeting received reports of the work done last year which were very satisfactory all round.

The election of officers for 1928 resulted as follows:

Honorary Presidents—S. L. Curtis, J. Holland, F. E. Eaton, L. T. Sylvester, C. Swigert, F. Keeley, A. Kean, A. Gordon and W. Rankin.

President—Ross Burnham.

First Vice-President—M. Hewson.

Second Vice-President—A. J. Christie.

Secretary-Treasurer—H. Storr.

Executive—E. Kean, A. Rawden, W. H. Wakelin, S. Sneyd and A. G. McDonald.

BELLEVILLE IN THE SEVENTIES IS REVIEWED IN INDUSTRIAL SURVEY

Interesting Booklet Uncovered In Front Street Store

Albert E. Wonnacott, well-known Front street tobacconist recently ran across an interesting journal while perusing a number of old papers in his store. The old journal, yellow with age, contains many interesting points to old Belleville. It is "Commercial Review", which was published in Montreal, was devoted to the advancement of Canadian industries and the copy which Mr. Wonnacott has in his possession is dated September 16th, 1876.

Following Belleville's incorporation as a city, a representative of the paper was sent to the city to make a survey of the industries and a sketch of the leading commercial establishments.

The population at this time was 12,000 and the writer painted a picture of untold possibilities for the "Prettiest city of the Dominion." In the latter point it is doubtful if the writer and the Review writer will be disputed as Belleville, situated on the shores of the Bay of Quinte with its broad and beautiful avenues with picturesque Prince Edward County in the offing, is still regarded as one of the prettiest cities of the Dominion.

Front street, as it is now, was the chief thoroughfare although at the time had a street railway traversing the principal streets, but this has since passed out of existence.

The geographical position of Belleville places it in the centre of one of the richest agricultural tracts of the country, and the rural country whose wealth does it owe in a great measure its past success and for which it must look for much of its future, says The Review.

Among the chief of the wholesale houses of that day was "Pitcairly & Kelso," who carried on an extensive trade in groceries, teas, tobaccos, wines and liquors. The store was located on Bridge street.

E. F. Smith's store, where wines, liquors and cigars were sold, was located on Front street opposite the city hall and will be remembered by many old timers.

Mill in Business

Lewis &c Company was one of the leading manufacturing firms of the day and this firm is still going strong. Twenty-five men were then employed in the furniture factory owned and conducted by G. S. Tickell which was then situated on Coleman street. The firm carried on both a wholesale and retail business.

Flouring and agricultural products were manufactured by G. and J. Brown, one of the members of the firm can be remembered as the proprietor for West Hastings to which he was returned three times with overwhelming majorities.

The manufacture of rules was one of the specialties carried on by Samuels and Mr. E. Burrel gained a wide reputation for his leading plant manufacturers in the Dominion. This product was in demand in Great Britain as well as in Canada.

John Lesler, proprietor of the Belleville Woollen Mills, which factory was situated on the River Moira, turned out each year a great output of high-class goods.

Among other firms of that time mentioned in the Review and flourishing in 1876, were C. McDonald, tobacconist and Lake & Jenkins, Livery and Sales Stables.

The Queen's Hotel was the stopping place of many commercial men and Mr. A. P. Farrell, well known proprietor, was popular with the travelling public.

Mr. Albert L. Oren, successor to Robin Holden, conducted one of the city's leading drug trades. Mr. Oren is still in business and despite his years, is at his desk each day of the week.

The Mechanics Institute was founded in 1876 but had a membership of well over four hundred. The officers were Thomas Ritchie, J. M. Walker, James Smith, David Price, John Bell, Q.C., Mackenzie Howell, M. P., James Brown, M.P., Rev. M. W. McLean, Alex Morrice, Wm. Hope and W. Allen. The library contained 877 volumes.

J. H. Hambly conducted one of the city's leading drug establishments in what was known as the "Metropolitan Block." The new store had been recently completed and the staff engaged on the work were carpenter Thompson, painter, Taylor & Co., frescoing, ornamental, W. Hutchinson; plumbing, W. Philippe, and frescoing W. Richardson.

Other Business Men

C. F. Mackenzie had his tinware business at 338 Front street, Parliament Hill was the possessor of the city's finest merchant tailoring establishment, P. H. Hambly was the leading baker and built up a special reputation along these lines. Holmes & Locker carried on a farm implement business and shoes in the city of Belleville, while a branch store was located in Trenton. The James A. Roy Breweries were flourishing and the ale produced was classed as the finest in Canada. The Thomas Ritchie Company was the leading dry goods firm and catered to the surrounding country. This store was founded in 1855.

Conger Brothers, wholesale and retail grocers, were prominently mentioned in the Commercial Review's story.

Flint & Jellett were regarded as the leading local firm of the day and were readily consulted on all important matters both by individual as well as combined firms.

The Flint & Holton lumber mills occupied an advantageous points at the junction of the Bay of Quinte and the Moira River where the logs were floated down.

Mr. E. H. Laroche enjoyed the repect of a large circle of citizens in the insurance business as the representative of two of the world's leading institutions. He is still in business.

The Alma Mills as well as the Distillery at Deseronto were under the management of Harry Corby. It was here that the best brands of whiskeys were manufactured.

J. A. Brock conducted one of the most up-to-date photographic galleries in the Dominion at 279 Front St. Mr. A. E. Fish was at the head of one of the finest grain furnishing stores in this part of the Province.

PRAISES WOMAN ON XMAS. SHOPPING

Vancouver (By The Canadian Press) —A paean of praise for the woman shopper at Christmas time, written by a mere man, "P.C.E.," in the 'Province' will make some of us green eat wings, and other say "Wish it was me!"

"No man will ever wholly appreciate the genius of a woman in the matter of Making Out a List, for instance. All he knows is that somehow she does it. There is the list of names, the things to be given, the shop to buy it in, the price to be paid. All the dreadful uncertainties, the wretched procrastinations, the agonies of the mind—all the intolerable anxieties of the male human as he tries to put away from him the thought of Christmas shopping, are resolved and conquered by the woman who has Made Out Her List." It is a splendid ritual which woman has made of this business. She knows because she has troubled to know, what would be useful for Clara's children, and she has troubled to know that because, above all the vanities and the snobberies of her world, and beyond the measure of man's achievement, the heart of a woman is wonderful in compassion.

"They manage to do it some or other, no matter that they are poor themselves—these women creatures manage to invest their Christmas shopping with a gesture that is beauty, a wisdom that is helpfulness, an aptitude that is the soul of friendship."

Good Used Car buys are being found in every day at Belleville Motors, and these must be sold to make room for the new models. You can buy one now away below actual value. Act quickly.

MILITARY CADETS CAPTURE OPENER

Local Basketeers Nosed Out In Close Game At R. M. C.

Failure to hit their stride in the opening period of their game with R.M.C. at the gymnasium of the latter on Saturday night, cost the local Y.M.C.A. Intermediates the game. The final score of 34-28 is a fair indication of the game except in the last period, when Weir & Co. carried the play to the cadets. The latter paraded a smart team of players who are in the "Pink" of condition and the brand of ball they play show the results of some real work on the part of their coach.

Although the Y boys had hoped to win their opening game they are not worrying over the temporary setback between now and the 11th of January when they will strk hard to clue up the week spots and improve their play so as to finally meet the R.M.C. team on equal terms there will be a different story to relate.

As events transpired, R. M. C. did not have it all their own way as they were compelled to take second place in the volley ball contest staged between the first team of R. M. C. and the local Y Business Men's Team. The latter were successful in winning three of the four games played.

BUSY ON RUBBER REPAIRS

"While business seems to be good with plenty of money in circulation these days, yet people aren't throwing away any, at that," said George Deline of the Quinte Vulcanizing Company, Front Street.

Mr. Deline had reference specially to the growing numbers of people these days who are taking advantages of the opportunity offered them of having rubber goods, galoshes, boots etc., vulcanized and repaired, after wearing them a season or so. "It is a matter of fact," continued Mr. Deline, "it is possible with equipment and help we have to re-sole and repair galoshes, rubber boots and overshoes of all sizes, and make them practically as good as new once more and all this for comparatively little money; no difference between the cost of having their version re-soled and the price of a new pair represents a real money saving on the part of the owners."

The Quinte Vulcanizing reports a large business in galosh repairing work, and its equipment enables this firm to turn out excellent work during this line

REGENT THEATRE

"Something new under the sun" is exactly what Douglas MacLean is offering today at the Regent Theatre in his refreshing novel Paramount comedy, "Soft Cushions."

Abandoning the formula developed by several screen generations of comedians, MacLean succeeds admirably in a brand new field with this story from the pen of the late George Randolph Chester.

Against the pictorially beautiful background of the Orient, MacLean, in the role of a romantic young "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" plays a laugh-a-second succession of equal quantities of romance, thrills, guffaws, chuckles and good old-fashioned laughs.

The picture abounds in the confusions of characters that has marred previous attempts to stage the farcical combining and Director Eddie Cline, who piloted MacLean in "Let It Rain" has surmounted the task in a manner demanded of present-day comedy.

Sylvia Ashton, the Chicago Beauty MacLean discovered and placed under a long term contract, heads a notable cast which includes Richard Cash, well known musical comedy star; Albert Gran, Wade Boteler, Maxwell Steuel, Frank Leigh, Nigel de Brulier, Albert Prison, Boris Karloff, Fred Kelsey and others.

BELLE THEATRE

Bob Cook and William Demerest, the comedy team who furnished many a laugh in "Simple Sis," are doing the same in "The Bush Leaguer," Monte Blue's latest starring vehicle for Warner Bros. showing at the Belle Theatre today.

Monte Blue, who is himself second to none as a merrymaker, portrays a bespectacled young inventor and sandlot baseball player who finds himself in professional baseball that he can hardly take it seriously. A romance appears as the hard-boiled manager of the team who despairs of ever making a ball player out of the big bear" and Clyde Cook enacts a veteran catcher who is to the pitching squad what a tough topsergeant is to a company.

Leila Hyams, who appeared as Monte's leal in "The Brute," supplies the romantic interest, and Richard Tucker, the menace. Her father has left her the ball club left her by her attorney, resolves to marry her or it he's not possible, demand her of the club. A romance begins between her and Monte and when he discovers the danger, he begins to really play ball.

"The Bush League" comes to the Belle Theatre today for a run of three days.

APPEAL TO AID PIONEER CHURCH

Petition Signed By Five Former Governors From Overseas

London, Eng., (By C.P.)—An appeal in behalf of the work of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel to raise £200,000 among the British people to assist churches in pioneer settlements overseas has been signed by five former governors-general as follows: Dominion Rev. Dr. Gore, Canada; Lord Dufferin, South Africa; Lord Jellicoe, New Zealand; Lord Willingdon, India, and Lord Foster, Australia.

The appeal is as follows:

"The needs of our people overseas have lately been brought before the public in such considerable amounts through the presentation of the Fifth World Call Report of the Church Assembly. We desire to bear out testimony to the urgency of these needs. Settlers in the Dominions overseas, the maintenance of "Bush brothers" and another pioneering clergymen; and when mention was put to the Archbishop of Canterbury of the urgency of presenting such a case he replied that it was finally discovered that the sons belonged to her family, and only members of that family might sing it.

INDIAN NOT A TACITURN PERSON

Toronto, Onl.—"The Indian is not a taciturn person at all," said Prof. T. W. McIlwraith in his lecture at Convocation Hall, continuing his statement by a slide showing two women of the Bella Coola tribe, dressed in Columbia, wearing the broadest of smiles.

The lecturer told of Potlatch (or giving of presents at which a dog had been made a "chief"—and one who could not be injured. So when the Professor was bitten, and complained, there was no redress. At one ceiebration a young man was killed. After he had finished, an old woman arose and poured forth a tirade by which it was finally discovered that the sons belonged to her family, and only members of that family might sing it.

SPORTSMAN IS 95 YEARS OLD

Oldest In This Country—Recently Celebrated Birthday

Ottawa, Ont. (By The Canadian Press).—Canada's oldest sportsman and one of the most ardent sport fans in the capital, recently celebrated his 95th birthday. He is Emmanuel Hyman Benjamin, a native of New Orleans, but a resident of Canada since babyhood. He is hale, hearty and still enjoys sports of all kind.

His favorite sport is cricket, because as he states, it is one of the few games where there is no wrangling among the players or fault-finding with the umpire or referee. His chief hobby is game fowl and beside keeping a collection of these he is noted as a judge of this type of bird.

"Ben" as he is familiarly known to thousands in the capital, was always fond of sport from the time that he was old enough to play the games of the period. While his favorite sport has always been cricket, he played baseball in his younger days and became a noted homer.

Many years ago he became connected with the Ottawa Cricket Club. He was scorer in the match played here by the first English eleven that visited Canada. The famous cricketer, W. G. Grace, was the great attraction then, carrying his bay. as Ben says, for a whole day. Ben was also an umpire in the match played by the first American cricket team to play in Canada.

"Ben's" parents moved to Canada when he was only three to four weeks old. They made what is now Toronto their home for a short time, before going east to Belleville, where the father founded the Belleville Intelligencer, which was later owned and edited by Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

Mr. Benjamin's memory of early events in his life is still clear. He well remembers going to a school kept by a Miss Rankins in Belleville in the thirties, and then went to a school conducted by a Mr. Burdon. Following this he attended Upper Canada College when Mr. Barron was principal.

In 1867 he received an appointment in the Federal Post Office Department under Hon. Robert Spence, who was then Postmaster-General. He retired during Sir William Mulock's regime as Postmaster-General.

A Japanese scientist has asserted that out of every 1,000 persons killed in the Messina-Reggio earthquake in 1908 906 were the victims of faulty construction of buildings.

SportOgramS

By "The Observer"

Some worth-while points developed from a discussion yesterday between two well-known citizens who have always manifested a keen interest in sport, with the Observer a casual listener. After touching on the "good old days of sport in Belleville," the conversation gradually drifted around to the attitude of the youth toward sport today.

"When I was a boy," said one of the parties, "we thought nothing of spending our hard-earned nickels for our baseball gloves, hockey sticks and parapherialia, while nowadays when a youngster is approached in regard to lining-up with any sport organization, the first question he asks is, "Well how much is it worth for my services?"

There appears on the surface to be more truth than poetry in this assertion. Boys of years ago did the chores and then slid out the back door to evade the watchful eye of mother, bent on a game of ball or hockey. "In the present day when a youth becomes at all outstanding in any particular line of sport, he immediately begins to cast around in an effort to find a spot where he can commercialize his prowess.

What is the cause of the change? Many lay the blame at the feet of the managers who have petted the boys along and given them every advantage to play with no cost whatever to themselves.

When Jack Connel, "Shorty" Brown, Wilder, O'Connor, Joyce Brennan, Freddy Goyer, Walter Gerow and a host of others were names to conjure with in the local sport field, the interest was if any thing more marked than it is today. These boys asked nothing for their services and were "tickled pink" with a trip to Kingston, Niagara or Port Hope. The contests were equally as spirited as they are today and old-time fans will tell you that the games drew the real dyed-in-the-wool fan who sacrificed his time and money in order to follow the team around the circuit. Nowadays when any particular play or shows adeptness above his fellows there is a score of scouts for professional teams camped on his trail. In the old days, so say the veterans, the game was played by the love of it and not for the commercial value.

Indulgence in liquor was also decried. In this connection Dr. Ghostley referred in a general way to the results as he had observed them. He felt satisfied that the of liquor by girls and women was largely due to the influence of men. He had been told by girls that if they did not drink the liquor brought in flasks by their escorts, they spoiled the party. It is startling how much drinking is going on among girls, he said. These things lead up to other problems pertaining to morals and the public health, which are not being handled satisfactorily. Very little effort is being made to cope with particular problems.

'JAZZ FOOD' IS NOW CONDEMNED

By Western Doctor Taking To Council Of Women

Edmonton, Alta.—What Dr. Ghostley of this city calls "Jazz Food" was denounced by him when addressing the Local Council of Women. He said that it was a common practice for girls lunching down town to satisfy their appetites with pastry, ice cream and such food. "It weakens the body and leads to a desire for whiskey and for the "jazz life." People must learn to use simple, more natural foods. Sugar is the gasoline of the body. It produces nervous force, but does not build up the body. Girls who indulge in "jazz foods" become subject to tuberculosis, inertiacy and nervous trouble.

He quoted an Austrian doctor to the effect that smoking among the women of Europe had become such a problem in the deterioration of the European races that, unless the country can take steps to put a stop to it, it will be the greatest factor in race suicide. The use of tobacco, he pointed out, produced sterility.

TRAVELLING SCHOOL CREATED INTEREST

Ottawa, Ont.—The experiment of taking a school house to children in the northern part of the Province of Ontario where the population is sparse, as recently entered into by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and the Ontario Government has created considerable interest in the older sections of the province, as well as in the newer districts. The Journal in an editorial thus describes the school car system of education:

"To furnish this pioneer service, the C.P.R. has transformed a railway car into a schoolhouse, and further undertakes its movement from place to place, while the Ontario Department of Education co-operates to the extent of paying the teacher's salary and providing and maintaining the scholastic equipment.

"The car constitiites a veritable little country school in every respect. The actual schoolroom, which occupies the greatest space, is complete for its functions in all particulars, with twelve desks and seats of varying sizes, blackboards, roller maps, globe, and well-filled book-cases. There is a full kindergarten equipment, a small victrola, and first-aid kit. Adjoining the schoolroom is the teacher's bedroom, for he travels continually with the train, and beyond that is the kitchen. This latter is equipped with everything from a refrigerator to the regulation cook stove of a dining car.

"The teacher is bilingual, speaking fluently, and has been specially selected for English and French with equal facility of the province. His pupils are the children of families in this rugged section which could not be otherwise discovered.

"The school-car moves from place to place, spending a certain number of days at each, or moving to pick up scholars. It ought to do good work, and the C.P.R. is to be commended for the experiment."

The chemical element hafnium got its name from Hafnia, the Dutch name for Copenhagen, where the element was discovered — prospectors, lumbermen, trappers, etc.

Plan now to give your family a new Orthophonic Victrola. Select and reserve your Christmas instrument. At His Master's Voice Dealers only
Here is a family gift which repays not merely in the joy of giving, but in the enjoyment you receive from it forever after. It is not too early to begin planning for one of these wonderful musical instruments. Today, His Master's Voice dealers have complete selections of models, but no one dares predict for how long. Your instrument reserved,—is your instrument assured.
People often wonder why the new Orthophonic Victrola is "so much alone" in its musical superiority. The secret lies in the practical application of the principle of "matched impedance" as scientists call it,—or, in simpler words "smooth flow of sound". The patents are Victor-controlled. You will find them in no other instrument.
With Victor music at home, you can turn on the flow of entertainment as the mood impels. When a record finishes playing—don't rush to get up—it stops itself. Electrical drive, if you wish—at slight additional cost—eliminates winding. Seven beautiful models to choose from, from $790 down to as low as $115, all obtainable on convenient terms from His Master's Voice dealers.

WEST HUNTINGDON

Mrs. Melville Donnan spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sharpe, Mt. Pleasant.

We are sorry to report Miss Mary Haggerty ill. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Shooting matches are the order of the day.

School re-opened on Tuesday.

Mr. Fred Murray had his appendix removed on Wednesday evening at home. Dr. Stobie, Dr. Carleton and Miss Mary Stiles in charge.

Mr. Garfield Ashley had the misfortune to break the two bones in his right arm while cranking a car.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex McInroy spent the week end with their daughter, Mrs. Roy McGee, of Campbellford.

SUNBURY

The United Church was re-opened on Sunday after having been closed for 12 weeks; being re-decorated. A new velour curtain around the choir added much to the appearance of the church. There were two services, Rev. Principal Kent, of Queen's Theological College, took the morning service which was very much enjoyed by all present. The pastor, Rev. Mullin, had charge of the evening service. The choir had special music which they rendered in splendid style. There were large congregations at both services. Rev. and Mrs. Mullin sang a delightful duet in the evening.

The annual meeting of the United Church Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Wilfrid Cooper on Wednesday. The election of officers took place at the conclusion of the business. The new officers are as follows: President, Miss Iva Cooper; re-elected; vice-president; Mrs. Nora Shannon (re-elected); secretary, Mrs. Wilfrid Cooper; treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Makin (acclamation).

The Presbyterian Ladies' Auxiliary held a very successful bazaar in St. Andrew's Hall, Kingston, on Wednesday. The Women's Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. William Cooper on Tuesday, December 27.

A number of ladies from Sunbury attended the Latimer Ladies' Aid meeting at the home of Mrs. Richard Arthurs on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Quarry Shannon intend spending the week-end in Gannon use at the home of the former's uncle, Mr. Henry Lynn.

All are glad to see Mr. Thomas Ritchie able to be around again after having been ill with an abscess under his arm for the past four weeks.

CHAPMAN'S CORNERS

We have been having nicer weather the last few days it seems nice to see the birds again.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clare, of Moira, spent Sunday the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. Collier.

The Missionary women held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Alex Wright on Friday, Dec. 16.

Mr. Clayton Fisher's little son had the misfortune of getting badly scalded one day last week, but we are glad to report he is improving nicely.

We still hear the sound of the threshing machine in our neighborhood.

A lawyer's fee is due to the other chap's ignorance of the law.

A Christmas Story With a Pleasant Moral

It's Christmas morning in the Johnson household. And Sister Sue, as usual, is the first one awake to welcome the great day. She takes a swift, admiring look at the beautiful white world outside her window, then slips into a kimono and tiptoes softly downstairs across the hall and into the living-room. There stands the heavily-laden Christmas tree. Sue simply can't wait for the others, but turns on the colored lights, and stands with clasped hands, gazing at its beauty. She sees the presents she has done up herself and wonders if Bill will like his scarf and Mother the kimono that she saved up so long to buy. In a few minutes the whole family are upon her, with cries of "Merry Christmas!" Dad assumes his jolly role of Santa Claus and the fascinating business of unwrapping the gifts is on. Let's listen in—

SISTER SUE—(with a little squeal of delight)—"Oh, Dad, how lovely! How ever did you know I wanted that very purse?"

MOTHER—(to Sue)—"But, my dear child, you shouldn't have given me such a wonderful present." Smoothing the folds of her new black satin robe,—"It's the most glorious thing—and what I've always longed for!"

BROTHER BILL—"Hurrah for you, Sis. I'll say you're a snappy taste in scarfs. I'll bet I make a hit with this new white one. What's it made of? Crepe-de-what? It's swell, anyhow."

AUNT JOAN—"Well, none of the rest of you have better taste than Bill when it comes to Aunties. This lamp is just the most perfect! And the rose painted shade is the kind I've dreamed of, Bill."

DAD—"I hardly know how to express myself-folks. When a fellow gets a handsome house coat like this, and a classy new shirt, and some of his favorite cashmere sox, to say nothing of this smoker's set—I've been admiring that very set in the window of the Canadian Department-Store. Say, that's where I did my shopping, too."

SUE—"So did I, Dad. They had such a splendid variety this year. And, Bill, I do believe these lovely silk stockings you've given me are the very shade I was raving about at the CDSL hosiery counter the other day."

BILL—"Well, that's where they came from, Sue. I thought they looked mighty nice, and the saleswoman said that shade was the one."

MOTHER—"I think CDSL has done a lot to make our Christmas merry, don't you?"

OLD RECIPE OF SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR

You can turn gray faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. It costs only 75 cents. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it restores the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

That is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

GOING TO ENGLAND

Picton, Dec. 16—On Wednesday night a number of school girl friends gathered at the home of Miss Gladys Haddock, Lake street, to bid her farewell on the eve of her departure for England. A jolly time was spent in games and merry chat. Gladys was the recipient of a lovely box of stationery and a bottle of perfume.

BLAZE IN BOILER ROOM

Oshawa, Dec. 16—Sparks from the furnace igniting some waste paper caused a small blaze in the temporary boiler room of the Alger Press, located in the basement of the burned block on King street east. The fire brigade arrived on the scene before any damage was done.

EXAMS START THURSDAY

Kingston, Dec. 16—Thursday the Christmas examinations commenced at Queen's University and will continue until December 22nd when practically all the students will quit the college halls until after New Year's. Members of the hockey and basketball teams will however, remain in the city until they start on their Christmas tours.

HARD JOB

Oshawa, Dec. 16—The choosing of a council for Oshawa is proving by no means an easy task, as there are 33 applications for the responsible position. Last night the Fire Protection Committee sat for about two hours considering the various letters sent in, and reviewed the list to about six by a process of elimination. The men on the list will be interviewed at a later date. When it is expected the final decision will be made.

BARNS BURNED

Hastings, Dec. 19.—On Thursday evening about 10 o'clock the barns of Mrs. Edward Wilcox and James Stenson, Bridge Street, were completely gutted by fire. The fire started in the upper part of Mrs. Wilcox's barn of unknown origin. It was no time until all was a mass of flames. Adjoining this was Mr. Stenson's barn which was also completely destroyed. A car was in the former barn and also some chickens, but these were saved. In the latter barn was a horse and cow, which were also got out in time. The easterly winds were blowing directly from the fire against Walter Powell's barn, but through the efforts of a colon beer bucket brigade, it was saved from destruction. The building was on fire many times, and Mr. Bowlds' herd of cattle, horses and hogs were turned out, with the thought that there was no saving the barns. The fire brigade remained on duty until about 4 a.m. Friday. The burned buildings were partially covered by insurance.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

Hastings, December 19.—A meeting of the Hastings curling club was held in George Stevenson's office on Tuesday night, when the following officers were elected for the season:

Hon. President—Wr. R. Lesmouth.
Sec.—George D. Stevenson.
Vice-Pres.— James F. McCarthy.
Sec.-Treas.— A. G. Bailey.
Executive—R. Johnston, L. E. Kellogg, M. J. Baker, C. P. Doughty, T. A. Coughlin.

Official referee—William Wellman.

They decided to offer prizes for the winners of the schedule and also for the runners up. These prizes will be displayed in one of the store windows in town in the near future.

Mr. Wellman intimated that he would run a free taxi service for members only from the office of the president to the rink at 7-15 each evening if curling.

ARREST OF GIRL'S SLAYER EXPECTED WITHIN FEW HOURS

No One to Blame For Hilda Reid's Death--Desperate Efforts to Free Seamen--Mellor to Appear

YOUNG BANK CLERK SOUGHT IN CONNECTION WITH CHILD OUTRAGE

Revenge Pointed Out As Likely Motive For Brutal Killing

TRAILED CLOSELY

Edward Hickman's Discharge Was Supported By Victim's Father

Los Angeles, Dec. 20.—William Edward Hickman, sought as the murderer of Marian Parker, was reported to have been identified in flight here early today by a garage attendant who said him five gallons of gasoline. The police declared they were hot on the fugitive's trail.

Los Angeles, Dec. 20.—William Edward Hickman, a former employee of the Los Angeles First National Trust and Savings Bank was declared by the chief of detectives Herman Cline today to have been "absolutely identified" as the murderer of Marion Parker, 13 year old daughter of Perry Parker, one of the bank's officers.

Discharged From Bank

The motive of the atrocious crime, police declared, apparently was vengeance. Perry M. Parker, assistant cashier of the bank, was the only official who opposed the youthful plea for probation after he had pleaded guilty some time ago to charges of forging cheques. The arrest on that charge was responsible for his discharge from the bank and Parker had urged that Hickman should be given prison or a jail term. Hickman, now 20 years, was paroled to his mother, then living in Alhambra, Calif.

The announcement that Hickman had been identified both by finger prints and photograph as the kidnapper and the slayer of the child was made by the police after it had been determined that he was not at his Alhambra address. Neighbors said the family moved a month ago to Kansas City, Mo.

Three thousand police officers and deputy sheriffs were engaged in the hunt for Hickman this morning.

Finger Prints

Hickman's finger prints, on the file with police identification bureau as a result of his previous arrest, checked with those found on the rear window of the car he used by the slayer when he delivered the child's torso to her father and also with the prints found on the modern letters, police said. Police photograph was identified by the school teacher as the man who left little Marian away.

Assisted Hickman

Los Angeles, Dec. 20.—Police today revealed they had arrested a man whose name they would not divulge but who is believed to have been an intermediary in the negotiations between the slayer of Marian Parker and family of girl.

The man in custody came here from Kansas City, Mo., several weeks ago and is known to have been a friend of both the Parker family and Hickman who was discharged from the bank at which Marian's father is personnel officer, he is said to be an aviation enthusiast.

Detectives intend to the slayers use of the aviation term "looie" in ransom notes as bit of proof that the arrested

POET PROVES A MODEST PAUPER

Elmer Cooney of Frankford Remanded By Magistrate Mikel

It is not often that the Crown Attorney and Police Magistrate disagree, but this morning Mr. Bryson Dunnan claimed that a prisoner was a mouth confidence man and the Magistrate retorted by saying the accused was a poet. Whether he was a mouth confidence man or whether he was a poet, Elmer Cooney, of Frankford, appeared in court in a disgraced pair of old overalls, his hair was standing on end and his general appearance denoted a rough-looking citizen which no doubt called down the sarcastic remarks of the Crown and Magistrate.

Elmer, it is alleged, had cashed two cheques, both for $25, on the 8th of October last, and as he did not have the necessary funds in the bank to meet these cheques, the recipients put up a fuss. One cheque was made out to Harry Burke for some goods received in Burke's store, and the other was made payable to one of the city's department stores. Cooney pleaded guilty to both charges of obtaining goods by false pretences and was remanded until tomorrow morning for sentence.

FARMER IS ATTACKED BY FURIOUS MADDENED DEER

Prescott, Dec. 20.—Details of a fierce battle between a farmer and a maddened deer back of Prescott were received here Monday. The farmer was going to the barn when the giant buck attacked him. As the animal bumped him with his horns the farmer noted that one of the animal's eyes was missing. The farmer drew a knife, grasped the buck by the horns and cut its throat. As there is a law against hunting deer in Grenville county at present the farmer notified a game warden who visited the farm, inspected and exonerated the farmer. There were no bullet wounds and the same protector gave it as his opinion that the buck, which weighed more than 200 pounds, had been worried by a dog which had chewed the animal's eye. He said it was the first case in his experience that he had known of a buck to attack a man in the open hunting for in Grenville county at present without provocation.

PARKING HAZARD ON MURNEY HILL

Jury Found No One To Blame For Tragic Happening

UNAVOIDABLE

Suggestion Made To Lay Sand On Incline In Slippery Weather

We the Jury empanelled to inquire into the death of little Miss Hilda Reid, find:

That the deceased died on the morning of December 7th in the Belleville General Hospital from shock and injuries received in a collision at the corner of Cedar and Bridge Street on Dec. 5th.

From the evidence given it would appear that the collision was unavoidable and that no blame was attached to anybody, in the opinion of this Jury it is inadvisable to park cars between James Street and Highland Avenue on Bridge Street West.

Above was the verdict rendered by the Jury at the inquest held into the death of Hilda Reid who died from injuries received when she was thrown from a car driven by her father on Dec. 5th.

The inquiry was heard in the police court room last night before Coroner Dr. Tennant. Bryson C. Donnan acted for the Crown and Sergt. Truskett as Coroner's Constable.

Willard Reid, father of the little girl and driver of the car was the first witness. He said "When I was coming down the hill I saw a car parked on the south side of the road and I swerved out to avoid it. As I did the hind end of my car struck it."

Mr. Donnan—"Did you apply the brakes?"

Yes, I did afterwards."

Mr. Reid said he was travelling about 12 miles an hour at the time.

The witness then described the collision with Mr. John Pillar's car.

"Did you observe the other car approaching."

"Yes."

I was thrown out through the door and I heard my daughter scream. She was picked up by people who came there.

"Are you started to swerve did you put your car in neutral gear?"

"I don't know."

"Was the other car moving at the actual time of the collision?"

"I don't remember."

"We you paying strict attention to your own car?"

"Yes."

ADJOURN MELLOR TRIAL AT PICTON

Accused's Counsel, F. L. Ward, May Again Apply For Bail

Joseph J. Mellor, deposed United Church minister of Picton, who is charged with a serious offense against a young girl. Bertha Houck who was a member of his church choir, appears before Judge McLean at Brockville this morning. The case will no doubt have to be enlarged as the principal witness, the girl, is unable to attend and Mellor's Attorney will possibly ask for bail.

Mr. F. L. Ward, Mellor's Attorney, left Picton today on business, so the Intelligencer was not able to make absolutely certain that the case would proceed. Colonel Keller Mc-Kay, Prosecutor, is expected to arrive in Picton tomorrow.

Exceptionally keen interest has been aroused in Mellor's case, for this is the second time that he will stand his trial. Justice, not satisfied with the first conviction sentence, suspended one, ordered a retrial on a slightly different charge, and a special Crown Prosecutor was appointed. Picton is agog with excitement as the delayed day of trial comes closer, but will no doubt suffer disappointment tomorrow.

It will be remembered that Mellor fled to the United States some months ago and on his immediate return was served by Jason Lovelace, High Constable of Prince Edward.

Mellor appeared pale and wan at the preliminary hearing before Magistrate Mikel and ill-health may be advanced as a means of ending his interim incarceration in Picton jail.

CREW LOST WHEN VESSEL HITS ROCKS

London, Eng., Dec. 20.—Exchange Telegraph Company reports that an un identified steamer went on the rocks near the old head of Kinsale, Ireland last night. Cries of the crew could be heard and some of them were seen in the rigging when the rockets lit the scene. The ship, which was thought to be a Collier, vanished and it is feared the crew were lost. The wreckage later drifted ashore

24 BODIES STILL AMONG MISSING

Quebec, Dec. 20.—With twenty-four bodies still missing as a result of the tragedy at Hospice St. Charles last Wednesday night, efforts to find them were pushed with all the resources that are being continued with much vigor. Fifty men are working on the ruins but for the past few days progress has been hindered by a storm and a large fall of snow. With the prospect of milder weather it is expected that searching among the debris will be facilitated and the bodies of the remaining children are expected to be found within the next day or two.

FOLLOWERS WAIT IN VAIN FOR KING'S RESURRECTION

Benton Harbor, Mich., Dec. 20—Disciples of Benjamin Purnell to-day awaited the performance of the miracle with faithful ardor that to all outward appearance had not been dampened by the possibilities of disillusionment. Today was the last day of the period set for the resurrection of the dead leader of the House of David cult. Purnell died Friday and after his demise the cult members faithfully awaited his resurrection on the third day, when the third day passed yesterday without any sign of returning life, colonists besieged officials to hold up the interment in the belief that he would arise today. Authorities, however, health officials have notified the members, they will proceed with the embalming of the body for burial tomorrow in accordance with the state law.

Survivors Make Vain Efforts To Transmit Code Messages

SMALL HOPE

Mny Attempt To Pierce Shell Of Sunken Vessel

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 20.—Faint sounds were heard from within the sunken submarine S 4 at eleven o'clock today but these were not signals, officers of the submarine S 4, the sister ship of the ill fated craft, said, it appeared to those on the surface that the survivors of the S 4 were making vain efforts in their own behalf. In meantime, weather conditions continued to render rescue attempts impossible, the wind and sea at that hour were much worse than at any time the submarine has rammed by the coast guard destroyer Paulding off this harbor last Saturday. As the mirage grew impatiently awaited better sea conditions to renew diving operations, Capt. Ernest King, in charge of this department of the work said there was but little hope that any of the imprisoned men would be taken out alive.

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 20.—Faint signs of life were still apparent this morning on the sunken submarine S 4. Oscillator of the water-ship of the ill-fated craft, which in is a position near the wreck, indicated that those from the submerged vessel at 3.15 o'clock. Tapping heard early today carried no code messages. It was believed that six men who have been imprisoned in the torpedo room of the S 4 since Saturday were now too weak to rap out on the side of the vessel orderly messages to indicate life. A later

"Let there be harmony in things essential—Liberty in things not essential—Charity in all."

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

True charity is spontaneous and finds its own occasion; it is never the offspring of importunity, nor of emulation.—Hoers Ballou.

THE QUEBEC TRAGEDY

Stories to wring every heart come out of the latest fire tragedy. This time it is an orphanage in Quebec with the loss of at least 34 lives. Just recently it was an Indian school in Northern Saskatchewan which burned with the loss of 20 young lives, and before that a moving picture theatre in Montreal in which 78 children were killed. All these were within a year. And there were others in the unfortunate succession of similar tragedies in the past five years.

Always the stories are the same in one respect. Heroic efforts on the part of those in charge save many, but the buildings burn quickly and all that the elders can do does not prevent the snuffing out in smoke and flame of the lives of little children.

In the Quebec fire those in charge rose to the supreme heights of self-sacrifice. Again and again they went into the burning building, daring falling walls and collapsing floors to carry out the children they could find. That the loss of life was not very much greater was due to their fearless efforts. But in spite of it all, 34 young lives were rendered up.

As we mourn, and mourn we must, let one fact stand out clearly. Heroism is no substitute for fireproof construction or efficient modern fire protection. Brave men and women may make the supreme sacrifice in the hour of peril to those in their charge. But a sprinkler system previously installed would make all such sacrifice unnecessary.

In the reports of Quebec fire, the most poignant fact is that of all the children in the new and fireproof section of the building, not one was lost or even injured. Those who died were in a section of the building constructed one hundred years ago, and apparently not adequately equipped with modern devices of fire protection.

Surely we have had, in the last five years, sufficient illustration of the dangers of housing little children in institutional buildings of this character. The work carried on in these institutions is beyond all praise, but the authorities must see to it that the buildings are modernized and rendered reasonably safe. Or must our hearts be wrung again, and yet again, before we provide the protection so clearly needed?

OUR OWN HOUR

A day or two ago we read an article on the almost limitless possibilities of self-development through the full use of time. Allowing the necessary periods for sleep, recreation, etc., it was shown that any human being of ordinary intelligence could, in the course of a life of the average span, become a perfect prodigy of knowledge and skill if he only made proper use of the fleeting moments. Now, we have no intention of reproducing any of our young readers to plan their lives so systematically that every minute is accounted for. That would be a very strenuous and unsatisfactory sort of existence. No, there must be times for play, for amusement, for doing nothing in particular. But making all due allowances for these relaxations, it is certainly a fact that there is still plenty of time remaining for self-improvement. Who could not reserve, let us say, one hour a day for himself, to do just what he likes in? There is always something which each one of us takes a special pleasure in; we will call that our hobby. It may be either work of the mind or work of the hand; but, whatever it may be, provided it is useful, it is a splendid idea to devote a definite amount of time daily to it. Regular application of our energies day after day to the accomplishment of a certain object inevitably leads to the attainment of the goal.

Steady, persistent effort always succeeds. It is idle to regret that we are not so clever as somebody else; that it makes greater demands on us to do a thing than on our smarter companions. The old fable of the tortoise and the hare reminds us that the race is not always to the swift. Cleverness sometimes even a disadvantage. When things come too easy, they are usually not done well. The slower, but more thorough worker turns out a better piece of work for the conscientious labor he puts into it. So do not be discouraged because progress is not so quick as you may desire. When one is practising a hobby, the pleasure comes in the progress itself, be it slow or fast: To know that there is a real advance, that day by day we are moving forward in our congenial task, that is where the real sense of satisfaction comes in. This hour a day—or whatever time we may decide to devote entirely to ourselves—will prove itself to be the happiest of the twenty-four and we shall be agreeably surprised at our progress.

JOY OF THE MORNING

I hear you, little bird,
Shouting aswing above the broken wall
Shout louder yet; no song can tell it all.

Sing to my soul in the deep still wood;
'Tis wonderful beyond the wildest word:

I'd tell it, too, if I could.

Oft when the white, still dawn
Lifted, the skies and pushed the night apart,
I've felt it like a glory in my heart—
(The world's mysterious stir).
But had no throat like yours, my bird,
Nor such a listener.

THE PASSING YEARS

(From "The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

The horse attached to the Quinte Laundry sleigh ran away this morning but did no damage. It scampered over the lower bridge and to the livery barn where it is kept.

In this day's issue Mayor Johnson formerly announces that he is a candidate for re-election.

The spacious residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Northrup was the scene of a brilliant function on Saturday evening when Varsity Glee Club was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Northrup assisted by several of Belleville's most prominent ladies. The club rendered several choruses and dancing and cards were indulged in by those inclined. Dainty refreshments were served and the gathering broke up about 11.30.

Mr. John Doyle, son of Ald. Doyle, returned home from Queen's College on Saturday evening to spend the Christmas holidays.

Large shipments of cattle are still being made from this district to the U. S.

Cadet Gordon E. Johnson, of the Royal Military College, is expected home tomorrow afternoon.

TRADE DEPRESSION HITS FOOTBALL

London.—Trade depression has seriously "hit" several League football clubs in the North and in Scotland, and in more than one quarted financial crisis faces the directors. Durham City, the League III. Northern Section club, were helped out of their difficulties by the higher powers, and so enabled to fulfil an out-of-town engagement.

There has since been a consultation with the Football League, and the Club is to make a big effort to carry on.

A sensation has been caused in Scottish football circles by the announcement that the Clydebank Club, members of the Second Division of the Scottish League, has sold its ground to a greyhound racing syndicate. The acute state of Clydebank's finances may be realised by the fact that the gate of their game played recently amounted to only £35.

Following the game a deputation of London and Glasgow business men went over the pitch, and the deal was completed later for the sale of the ground at £12,000. Alterations will be made immediately, so that racing may commence in the New York.

Mrs.—Well, you'll have to wait. It's supposed to look that way.

Infuriated Motorist — "Madam what do you mean by coming on the wrong side?"

Lady Motorist—"Well, you are on the same side, aren't you?"

A smart young chap out motoring with his best girl was observed by a motor cop to have his arm around her against safety regulations. "Hey, young fellow," he shouted, "use both hands."

Whereupon the youth shouted back: "But officer, who's going to drive?"

Old Dancing Partner—"Come, let's dance."

Young Gold Digger—"Oh, I'm so tired. Let's eat it out."

First Bright Young Thing (on a set day)—"I'm fed up. We simply must do something."

Second Bright-Young Thing—"Right-o! Let's order the car and go out and skid!"

Mother—Why aren't you as polite and considerate and well-behaved as little Johnnie Jackson?

Small Son—"Well, he was brought up in some street where the other boys were all bigger than him."

Might in attempting to make right frequently bungles the job.

MAKE PRESENTATION

A surprise party and presentation was tendered Mr. James Varley, Capt. of the Third Belleville Troop of Boys Scouts, at St. George Church, Station Street last evening. Mr. Varley was the recipient of a dressing gown and slippers from the Mothers' Auxiliary of the troops. A social evening was spent afterwards and refreshments served. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rowsome were responsible for the affair.

NEW OFFICE READY

Mr. S. J. Fisher who last week was appointed Division Court Clerk to succeed Mr. P. E. Clarke who resigned from that office has fitted up a private office in the same premises where he now carries on his insurance business at 305 Front Street and will be ready to assume his new duties time to-morrow.

CHRISTMAS STORY

KIWANIS CHRISTMAS TREE.

At six-thirty this evening the Kiwan is will have as their guests at the Queen's Hotel ,the children who are in mates of the local Children's Shelter On the Christmas Tree which will be in the dining-room there will be a pre sent for each child from a member of the Club.

NEW BUS ARRIVES.

The new bus recently purchased by Frank Smith, taximan, Bursham St., has arrived and has been placed in service between Belleville and Picton. The new conveyance which is the property of the Reo Motor Car Company, is the last word in modern and up-to-the minute made for travel. It is almost similar to "Miss Belleville," owned by Frank Hawken. Mr. Smith plans to run the bus on a recent trip to Rice Brunswick. Beautifully upholstered with all the conveniences, it is an object of admiration on the city streets. Mr. Smith takes pride the bdy of the bus between depots and hotels for the convenience of travelling men as the old bus has almost outlived its usefulness.

FAMOUS WINDOW FOR NEW BAPTIST CHURCH

Toronto, Ont. —(By The Canadian Press).—One of the millions of the conservatory windows of York Minster the famous mediaeval Church of England Cathedral at York, England, has been given to the new Baptist Church in Toronto known as York Minster, now nearing completion. The stone will be placed in a prominent spot in the new edifice with a plate telling of its origin. The stone was received by the building committee of the York Minster Baptist Church this week. It came originally from the magnesian limestone quarries near Tadcaster, Yorkshire, and was a part of the ancient cathedral in York for at least five centuries.

The gift of the stone to the Toronto church is from the dean of minster York Minster and is unofficial. "I hope that the bond which has been formed between your new church and York Minster will be strengthened later by the pilgrimage to York of members of your congregation," the dean wrote in connection with the gift.

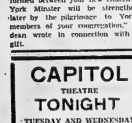

HYDROCYCLE RACES BIG POSSIBILITY

Calais, France, (By C. P.).—Hydrocycle fans anticipate regular rivalry when they compete with train-automobile aeroplane combinations, for the choice among sport lovers between one or more is limits on the water and not it.

Lieut. Henry St. Cyr-Schreiber who piloted his watercycle from Calais to Dover, has announced that he will enter the Grand Prix de la Mer next year.

Several other owners have also declared their intention of competing for the Grand Prix de la Mer, which is a 6 hour and 100 kilometre race from Dieppe to Deauville. The performance of sailor to his decision which the watercycles turn to propel the hydrocycle is very strong and big mimics are called on to do their utmost, as the competition for the medals will be three days before tackling the Channel.

CLINIC OPENED FOR LITTLE STUTTERERS

Montreal, Que.,—A clinic for the treatment of children who stutter or have other speech defects has been opened by the Mental Hygiene Committee of Montreal.

The need for such a clinic has become increasingly evident in the committee, who find that children with speech defects grow up with a feeling of inferiority which usually leads to stunted unhappiness and failure in life, and which, not infrequently, results in the development of nervous and mental disorders.

The case of one child who has been treated for some weeks was cited as showing the importance of early treatment. The child was sent from one of the schools, where, because of his speech defect, the other children frequently made fun of him, with the result that he was becoming morbid, extremely sensitive, and had to play with his companions. An experienced nurse of boys was then appointed the child's difficulties, and this procedure, already, is showing an improvement. It is considered to be definitely established that a very large number of children are suffering from some sort of speech defect.

Starring Sally O'Neil and - Gwen Moore. 2000 people in this great production, and some of the most lavish scenes ever filmed. Comedy melodrama and great specs. combined. Truly a wonderful picture.

No Vaudeville Tonight, Tuesday or Wednesday.

BOY SCOUTS IN JOINT BANQUET

Troop Committee Entertain "Court Of Honor" At Queen's

Last evening was a gala one in the annals of local boy-scoutdom when the leaders of the 1st Belleville troop together with the troop committee met in conclave at a joint meeting in the Queen's hotel. The occasion was a recommendation of the troop for a renewal of its platent of the troop's appointment of the Scoutmasters and their assistants for the ensuing year. The 1st Belleville troop of Bridge Street church has grown into such proportions that it is now advisable to split and form another troop. It was recommended by the troop committee that a charter be asked for the 7th Belleville troop.

Reconstructors recommended were, Dr. F. E. Malott, Dr. Roy Anderson, Cubmaster Hersin Todd and assistant Scoutmaster Ronald Blakely. During the supper toasts were drunk to the King and Mayor-elect M.P.Duff.

Dr. Malott scoutmaster was surprised by the scouts with a presentation in the form of a Parker gold mounted pencil. The presentation was made by Troop Clarwyn Countryman who in a neat speech voiced the appreciation of the troop for the work done by Dr. Malott in the past five years.

Bruce Latimer and Archie Boyd expressed in the name of the scouts the troop committee for the supper. Short addresses were followed and Mayor-elect M.P. Duff, Dr. Mowers, Aldermen Russel Wolfen and Charles Hollingsworth, Inspector Ellis and Rev. Harry Ackerman. All expressed the appreciation of work being done among the scout lads in the city and the special reference to the 1st Belleville troop.

The troop committee consists of the following men—Dr. W. C. Mercer, Chairman; E. W. Mowers, Secretary; Mayor-elect M. P. Duff, Aldermen Russel Wolfen and Charles Hollingsworth, Fred Houston, Wm. Finkle, Sherriff J. H. Shire, Fred S. Deacon, Harry W. Ackerman, Inspector Ellis, and Messrs. Geo. Collier, 124 Chatham street.

GAS STATIONS CLOSED SUNDAY

Toronto, Dec. 20.—Motorists in Ontario will require more gasoline and kerosene after the Christmas week-end should make sure to secure their supplies on Saturday next, declares Rev. A. Terryberry, Secretary of the Ontario Branch of the Lord's Day Alliance announced to the Canadian Press today, that, in response to complaints that the large number of service station men throughout the province should be enabled to spend Christmas Sunday with their families the Alliance had taken the matter up with the various oil companies and that six of the largest of them had arranged to close the stations from 9 o'clock on Saturday, December 25th.

3 STRADIVARIUS' IN ONE DISTRICT

Ottawa, Ont., (By C.P.).—Three genuine Stradivarius violins have been located in the district. In most cases they fell into the possession of their present owners when their fathers purchased "for a song." Mr. E. Jamieson purchased a violin six years ago from an old practitioner for $10. This violin Mr. Jamieson purchased a violin six years ago from an old practitioner for $10. This violin "Antonius Stradivarius Cremonensis Faciebat Anno 1716" are inscribed on the inside of the instrument which she purchased for her son to practise on. W. J. Wooster of Manotick made the purchase of the violin, which he claims Inglis is a Stradivarius, 18 years ago in New Orleans from a Russian who was in straightened circumstances. It bears the same inscription as the violin owned by Mr. Jamieson but is dated 1726.

The third violin is in the possession of John Purtell of Lansdowne Park. His violin has been pronounced genuine by experts. He values the instrument at $15,000 and has refused $10,000 for it.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 20. Buried by the mass that her son, William Edward Hickman had been identified as the kidnapper and slayer of little Marion Parker in Los Angeles, Mrs. Nellie Hickman said here today, "It was a terrible mistake. I won't believe it until I have positive proof. I know my son's good heart," she said tearfully.

"He's in Chicago, Police could find him there." Mrs. Hickman declared that she had heard from her son was a letter he sent from Chicago last October.

The white-haired mother could not comprehend such a crime by her son. "I know my boy could not be guilty of such an unspeakable crime. He is the soul of kindness, my boy is a good, clean boy, he could not have done it. There is a mistake somewhere."

PARKING HAZARD

"When I saw the car was knocked completely off the other car."

"I had previously observed it."

Mr. Reid said he was driving within the lines at the time.

Mr. Reid said he parked car at the time of the collision?"

"I don't know."

Mr. Reid said he had turned out quite a distance previous to reaching the accident scene.

Harold Woolley said he was riding in the corner of James street when the accident occurred.

"What did you find?"

The witness described the position of the cars and said the road-bed was very slippery at the time.

Jane Smith, 31 Dundas Street stated that he was walking down the hill on the north side.

The car ahead sideswiped near Ridley Street on it was proceeding down the hill and remained in the gutter for quite until the crash."

Mr. Reid said the witness said that Mr. Elliott had to take to the right as the other car approached."

Mr. Reid stated that a car as he could make out the Elliott car was stationary when the accident occurred.

"The Reid car was proceeding at a moderate rate of speed slightly down the hill." He said the witness appeared to be desirous in the opposite direction.

Were the lights of the car approaching you from the East at the time?"

"Yes."

Mr. John Elliott, local Mercury of 30 Sidney Road said the car Mr. Reid was in was rapidly coming down the hill and he could not get out of the way. "When I came up the hill," he declared, "I noticed that the other car approaching and I thought he could get out of my way, but he just kept on coming."

Mr. Elliott said that he was struck with a terrific impact such as to drive his car almost to the middle of the road. "I was struck from the rear by another car."

"Were there anything that could have been done to avoid the accident," he said in answer to another, and I thought under the circumstances, Mr. Reid was helpless."

"Anything might be done to prevent such an accident," he declared.

WOMAN'S INTUITION SOUND IN GENERAL

The mind of woman presents certain mental qualities that must be considered essentially feminine. Intuition stands foremost among these.

Intuition is a kind of genius. It guides its possessor along the paths of the unknown, but how it is done, or why, remains a mystery.

Reason has nothing to do with intuition. As soon as reason is employed intuition is gone.

Nor is intuition logical. The intuitive faculty may even contradict itself at times. It cares nothing for precedent, sequence, or consistency.

Intuition has been called "the eye of the feminine brain." Women have written poems, novels, planned houses, solved abstruse problems in chemistry and mathematics and philosophy, have engaged in successful business ventures, have liked or disliked personalities. Women have done all sorts of wonderful things through intuition.

Is intuition a mere guess? That can scarcely be since woman's intuition is more often right than wrong.

In fact, when a woman forsakes her intuition and depends upon her logic and reasoning, as a man always does, she usually makes her greatest blunders.

Practically everything that women understand is intuitive. What she is unable to understand via intuition she will never understand.

Intuition is essentially an emotional guide. It is the best guide for affairs of the heart even in men.

Man is not absolutely devoid of intuition. In him, however, it is not well developed nor does he call upon it often for help.

Nevertheless, if man were to use his intuition more, even that little which he possesses, in all cases where love is the issue, he would most surely score higher than he now does with his labored, step-by-step reasoning.

Some people have an ear for music and by means of it they can distinguish, without effort or will, fine shades of sound differences that wholly escape others whose ear for music is less proficient.

This is unconscious. Just as soon as they think about the various sounds and try to exercise conscious control, their unusual discriminating ability is lost.

It's the same with intuition. If a woman begins to think about the promptings for her intuitive sense it is gone. Intuition is an instinct. Woman is born with it.

Although all women possess intuition they do not all possess it to the same degree. Some approach the masculine ernment services.

in this respect. Conscious intellectual processes are more developed than intuition. They are exceptional, however.

Women are also highly introspective. This helps the faculty of intuition.

Women know more about the state of their own feelings, even when young than men ever can possibly know despite their age or experience.

Women, therefore, tend to find in others emotional states that they, themselves, have experienced. If something be true of themselves—suffering or pity or courage or what not—they conclude that the same state of feeling must also be true of everyone else.

That is why women who have gone through a certain sort of experience—motherhood for example—will quickly show great interest in all mothers, will wonder why all women do not want to be mothers, etc.

That is also why women reason from the particular to the general instead of from the general to the particular, which is man's way.

Women's naturally keen powers of observation are likewise essentially feminine. They too, are linked with intuition.

To be able at a glance to take in the greatest amount of detail about dress, facial expression, deportment and personality, provided one is even-ready store observers, is a woman's gift.

Women, therefore, like to see as much as possible, to move about from place to place, to observe other people under as many different circumstances and in as many different surroundings as possible.

Since woman depends so much upon herself for intuitive judgments, she must, of necessity, make her memory storehouse as rich as can be.

Intuition is of tremendous advantage. But it requires very little mental labor and can quickly be drawn upon. Women should not hesitate to admit how much the course of their lives depends upon it.

CHAPTER 18.

THE TOO-LAVISH GHOST

Lila was giving a tea when Herbert reached home with fire in his eye. He was considerably surprised to find her surrounded by a chattering throng of smartly gowned women, and a sprinkling of nondescript males.

He forced himself to chat amiably with the guests, but his thoughts were on the letter he had received at his club; it fairly burned through the breast pocket of his coat. Inwardly he fumed, because the tea postponed the moment when he could flaunt it in Lila's face and demand an explanation.

It angered him that Lila, sweet and lovely and flushed, in Nattier blue velvet, flung him a smile from across the wide drawing-room. Such duplicity seemed to him inexcusable. He couldn't believe it of her; he was confident that all this came of her association with Dorothy Calne.

He saw Dorothy, looking very pretty perched in a corner by an importunate young man who talked rapidly and gesticulated. Herbert knew him as a lonely-fashionable poet and a frightful bore. Dorothy, apparently listening with flattering attention, also found time to smile at Herbert. That made him angrier than ever. He thought Dorothy deliberately brazen.

It seemed to him that the guests would never leave, and he grew more and more impatient for an interview with Lila. But finally, they began going, and the orchestra ceased playing. Herbert was fuming, for fear Dorothy would stay behind, but she soon left, murmuring to him, as she said good-bye, "I'll see you at the perfect bosters? You have fairly to kick people out of her house."

Herbert replied sarcastically, "I'm glad she has perfection in some respect." He didn't mean it at all; he thought her divine, really, even if provoking, but anger and hurt pride lashed him.

Dorothy's pretty eyes opened very wide. She gave him a swift glance and passed on.

When the last guest had departed, Lila flung herself into Herbert's arms, forgetful of the lurking Siddons. Or else she knew that Herbert loved her. Herbert's arms and found, to her disgust, that they were closed against her. In fact, they were folded across Herbert's chest.

"Darling, what's happened?" demanded Lila, getting panicky.

For answer, he drew a letter from his pocket, unfolded it, and held it out with an absurdly dramatic gesture.

"Read that! And explain it, if you can."

Lila read without the lips. Lila glanced at it hastily:

"Why, it's addressed to me, and Siddons—"

"I opened it. It was sent to my club in error. In fact, I didn't even notice until your name was on it."

Lila, with a sinking heart, read: "My dear Mr. Ware:

"In behalf of our executive board, I am instructed to thank you for your most generous gift of $10,000 to our work for the relief of disabled war veterans.

"When you called at our headquarters with your donation, some weeks ago, you failed to leave your address, and, since we do not find it listed in the telephone or city directory, we are taking the liberty of sending our acknowledgment to your husband's club!"

"A. M. Dewitt, Chairman.

"Committee on Contributions."

Lila, during this time, had managed to look up from the letter in her icy hands; she wondered if Herbert noticed that she was trembling.

His eyes were blazing when she, at last, looked into them, but his voice was dull. "Well?"

Lila made a helpless little gesture. "Isn't it obvious?"

"You made this donation!" thundered Herbert.

Lashed back on the whole situation, Lila wondered why some imp of perversity suddenly prompted her in the wrong direction. When the truth would had served, she chose evasion — and vice versa. In either case, the result was the same, and she was constantly in her water.

At this particular time, it would have been so easy to say: "Oh, no, Dorothy made the donation. I put—instead, she answered Herbert's irate question by nodding dumbly.

Herbert fairly snorted.

"You expect me to believe that you had ten thousand dollars to give away?"

She nodded again, wide-eyed.

"Where did you get it?" demanded Herbert ominously. He bent on her a cold, accusing look.

"I—" Lila opened her mouth slowly, still fighting for time. "In a way, I inherited it."

"From whom?" asked Herbert. "Not from your mother!"

"No," Lila shook her head. "Not my mother."

"Then from whom!" Herbert's voice shook with impatience. "None of relations died recently."

"No, no. He's not dead," said Lila hesitantly, beginning to understand how lawyers can put suggestions in,? the minds of witnesses and fairly force them to say what they will.

"He! He!" Herbert pounced on the pronoun. "Ah, then, there's a man in it. I knew it. I knew it."

He looked so furious that Lila became each more frightened. She researched about desperately for a male relative.

"Uncle Dan!" she gasped.

"Who," Herbert demanded more politely, "is Uncle Dan."

"My mothers' brother. He went out to South America before I was born," explained Lila cagerly, happy to be once more on safe ground.

"And he gave you this money?"

"He's not dead."

"Then why—? Herbert's voice rose with irritation.

Lila took a wild plunge.

"He's not dead, either. He's made a bequest to me."

"Bequest!"

CHURCHILL HAS HAD NOTED LIFE

Celebrates 53rd Birthday; Started Military Career In 1889

London, — (By Mail) — Winston Churchill, British soldier-statesman and financier, celebrated his fifty-third birthday a few days ago.

Although the fact is not generally well-known, the man who, as Chancellor of the Exchequer, has been responsible for conducting the tax-raising campaigns of the British Government since 1924, has also served as an army officer in numerous military campaigns.

Churchill's military career began in 1895, when he served with the Spanish forces in Cuba. Later he served with the Malakand Field Force, Tirah Expeditionary Force and others including the Nile Expeditionary Force in 1898, when he was among those present at the famous battle of Khartoum.

As Lieutenant Churchill of the South African Light Horse, the Chancellor participated in several battles during the Boer war. Later he became a war correspondent for a South African newspaper.

The Chancellor's political activities began when he became a member of Parliament for Oldham in 1900.

Since then, he has occupied numerous important Governmental posts including that of Home Secretary, First Lord of the Admiralty and, during the war, Minister of Munitions.

He became Chancellor of the Exchequer in 1924. A wave of "Churchill antagonism" swept part of the country upon the inauguration of the Chancellor's famous betting tax.

This tax was greeted with delight by Churchill supporters because it brought in much needed revenue without the need for an additional tax on the wealth of the country. But the only occasion of the "tea and the street" and Churchill's political opponents was the indignation which resulted among the poor and many of the middle class throughout the country.

To improve the flavor of currants and raisins in puddings and cakes, place them in a bowl, pouring boiling water over the fruit and leave to soak over night. Drain and dry in the oven before adding to other ingredients.

BUILDING MATERIAL

CATHEDRAL STAIRS MAY BE ONLY ONE

London, — (By Mail) — Embodied in the dome of St. Paul's Cathedral is a staircase designed by Wren to make easier the ascent to the golden ball.

In the words of one of the Cathedral guides, it has enabled elderly persons to climb it. It has enabled elderly persons to climb it. It has enabled elderly persons eat points of the cathedral and to see the mysteries hidden beneath the out er dome and the inner cone, whereas they would not otherwise have been able to get above the stone gallery.

It actually contains 259 stairways, built together but the level of the tread of the one is as far as or above that of the other. The left foot makes use of the left stairway and the right foot of the right portion. In this way one foot has only to rise above the other by half the height of a step instead of the full height.

It is thought that the stairs were designed to meet a special need which arose in view of the method employed in building St. Paul's. The guides have certainly never met another stair case like it and believe that superior though it is to the ordinary type for use in constricted spaces, it may be the only one of its kind in the world.

STARVING THEIR CLERGY, HE SAYS

So Claims The Bishop Of London In Church Assembly

London, (By The Canadian Press) — The Bishop of London, in the Church Assembly, quoted what he described as "an East End Idyll" to support his assertion that the Church of England is starving its clergy.

"There was a curate in the East End who, as not infrequently, was courting his vicar's daughter. I called them Jacob and Rachel because for seven years this man waited for this girl. It was a very happy day for me when I could offer a living of £400 and a house to these people. I married them and baptised their first child.

"On Sunday I saw a baby trundled along. As bachelors can never resist looking at babies, I looked, and then saw that the mother was Rachel. She was looking five years older than when I married her two years ago. I had a talk, and then asked her to send me her balance-sheet. This was her expenditure out of an income of £410 with a large house:—

Rates	35	0	0
Water	3	0	0
Coal	30	0	0
Coal and Coke	10	0	0
Electricity	13	0	0
Income Tax	14	0	0
Milk	40	0	0
Cook	26	0	0
Nursemaid	26	0	0
Life insurance, repairs, etc.	8	0	0
Total	£224	0	0

"That leaves £186 to provide food for four people and a baby, and clothes and all necessaries of life for the family."

KIWANIS OFFICERS

St. Thomas, Dec. 20.—The following yesterday were elected officers of the Kiwanis club for the ensuing year: President, Harvey W. Searff; Vice-President, Mayor Jack Handford; District Trustee, Inspector J. C. Smith; Treasurer, Cecil Norris; Secretary, E. H. Caughell.

DIFFICULTY WAS FINDING A BULL

Duke Of Buccleugh Therefore Collects Forfeit Of Wroth Silver

London (By Mail).—Before the eve of St. Martin, one more or Buccleugh takes steps to collect his "Wroth Silver" before sunrise from the Hundred of Knightlow, near Coventry, over which he is lord of the manor.

A wild white bull with red ears and red nose is due to His Grace under ancient charter, but not a varlet, lallyman nor errand boy in the 25 parishes fo the Hundred succeeded in tacking one down for His Lordship, and the Dun Cow Tavern, over which Mr. Alf Tew presides, is seething with excitement.

The postmistress confided to all and sundry that she did not think there was one in the neighborhood, and if there was one not even the income tax man would have it.

So the "Wroth Silver" is to be paid in forfeit. Last year the duke pocketed exactly £2.25.

This tax is laid by representatives of all the different parishes in the Hundred on an old Saxon scheme, which forms the base of the wayside Preying Cross on Knightlow Hill.

A crowd, numbering several hundreds, trudged out in the cold dawn and ascended near by trees about 6.30 a.m., as all the money has to be paid over to the duke's agent before the sun gets up.

From Alley and Radford Semele, from Bishop's Itchington and Harbury and Claverdon the villagers come, and when the final village contribution has been handed over to the agent everybody goes back with satisfaction to the Dun Cow where they are invited by the duke to breakfast, the menu of which includes rum and milk.

The tax was originally to pay for right of way and grazing of cattle, and there was a herd of wild white cattle for dun cows as they were called), from which to catch a wild white bull for breakfast.

It is recorded that Guy, Earl of Warwick, flew one close to the village one occasion, but the parishes have been mostly out of luck since. The modern man does not make a hobby of catching wild white bulls before breakfast.

WILL USE HUGE MASKS IN FETES

London. — (By Mail.) — Masked balls with real masks, quaint effigies covering the heads of the dancers, are to be the vogue this winter.

Artists who specialize in this kind of work are already inundated with commissions.

The masks will be beautiful in some cases, in other cases grotesque. The little-remembered fashion of providing animal heads for members of the orchestra which was all the rage in the Swedish London of Gustavus' day, is to be revived, though it will not suit the acrobatic "stunts" of the superjazz dance band style.

"Some of the masks I am making are very elaborate," said Mr. Oliver Messel, who specializes in making them.

"Here, for example, is one in which the intricate design of the hair is decorated with a number of very fine moonstones.

"The effect is striking, but expensive."

Semi-precious stones, such as beryl, garnet, lapis lazuli, amber, carnelian and opal are likely to be in great demand to satisfy the more eclectic emphasis of the new fashion.

TORONTO BOXER GIVEN DECISION

Frenchy Belanger Awarded Crown In Titular Battle

Toronto, Dec. 20.—Flyweight champion of the world is the proud title to which Albert ("Frenchy") Belanger, youthful Toronto boxer, may now lay claim. The decision in the Queen City battler won the right last night when he earned the decision of Referee Marsh and Judges W. A. Hewitt and Elwood Hughes in his twelve-round titular bout with Ernie Jarvis of England. Jarvis made a valiant effort to snatch the crown that once fitted so firmly on the brow of the famous Jimmy Wilde, but victory was not for him.

And so, at 21 years of age, and with only three years of experience as a professional boxer, Belanger reigns supreme in his particular class of the profession which gives him his nickname—and fame. Climaxing a brilliant campaign for the title, Belanger's effort last night proved that he is a boxer, a puncher and an courageous a lad as ever drew on a glove.

Exciting Bout

The bout was productive of action such as thrilled the huge crowd that packed the spacious Coliseum. There knockdowns added to the excitement, two scored by Belanger early in the bout and one by the Englishman.

The knockdowns occurred in the first, third and eleventh rounds. Jarvis was on the floor as the first ended, Referee Marsh had counted two when the song sounded. The English contender took a "nine" count at the beginning of the third round, and himself scored a clean knockdown in the eleventh. Belanger refused to take a count, but was forced to assimilate some heavy punishment before the head cleared. He finished the round strongly, however.

Decision Close

It was a close decision. Belanger had enough of an advantage to gain him the verdict beyond any doubt, but Jarvis hurt the Toronto boy perhaps more than any other bout has done. It was close enough that Jarvis may well demand a return bout when Belanger has fulfilled his agreement to meet Frank Genaro.

Both boxers were in wonderful condition. Jarvis was able to come back strongly after the two early knockdowns, while Belanger, after taking a beating in the eleventh round, finished the bout with a furious assault that was evidence of the remarkable recuperative powers of the Queen City lad.

Belanger weighed in two pounds below the flyweight limit. He looked rather fine, although his boxing was not at all sluggish. He deserves a rest from training now that the title is his. For over a year he has been almost in steady training. Jarvis' weight was 113½ pounds.

Jarvis lined up to his reputation as a two-handed "mixer." He has for taken the upstanding English style for an aggressive, crouching attack, using the head-weaving method of defense to a great extent. He proved an easy target for Belanger in the first three rounds, but thereafter looked like an entirely different boxer. He was willing to meet Belanger at the give-and-take game, but at this the Toronto boy nearly always made his opponents give ground.

Belanger commenced the bout confidently; Jarvis cautiously. After Toronto's "Frenchy" had opened hostilities wit his left to the head, they met in several clinches, in which they appeared to be teasing one another. Finally, near the end of the round Belanger cut loose with his heavy prillery and, with a left and right, both to the jaw, sent Jarvis down. The bell rang as the referee counted two.

ENGLISH COUNTY TO HAVE HUGE HALL

Manchester, Eng., (By C.P.)—Lancashire county is to have the largest athletics hall in the world, a building that would contain any English cathedral twice over. This is being made possible by reconstruction of the immense cattle market that has been given up by the city of Salford. The new hall will be within one mile of Manchester and will be used for exhibition purposes.

The dimensions of the Main Hall will be 350 feet by 220 feet, and with its subsidiary halls and offices will have a total area of 192,250 square feet, or more than four acres. Whereas the great hall at Olympia has a total area of 193,560 square feet, of which 67,750 feet square feet is clear of pillars and columns, the new building will have no less than 147,250 square feet, all a tear of obstructions, and a height of over 100 feet to the arched roof.

Robert Atkinson and Sir Owen Williams, the architect and engineer respectively, are responsible an interesting practice in the construction of the practice in the construction of the main hall, which will result in a public building having the largest single span roof in the world, the span being no less than 250 feet.

FINAL GAME OF HOUSE LEAGUE

Cole's Team Beats Arm-strong In Close Tilt On "Y" Floor

The Y.M.C.A. House League in Basketball for the senior members is drawing to a close in fact Wednesday night will see the final game when Arm-Weir and his team mates take on Johnny Kerr and his helpers in what will be the deciding game for the championship of the House League. This game promises action extraordinary and basketball fans would do well to drop in at the Y and see these two smart teams in action. The game commences at nine o'clock sharp and as the rail bird need be is walk up and grab off the odd seat, there being no admission charge.

Although last night's game between Coles and Armstrongs teams had no bearing on the final result of the league the boys were right in it and stayed the game but as if the championship depended upon it. In fact from the standpoint of play it was one of the best fixtures of the while league and this notwithstanding that both teams were forced to play with only four men aside, other members of their teams not being available. Neither of the Captains were able to be present but their lieutenants, Walters and Faulkner carried on in efficient manner.

Cole's Team — Forwards, Evoy 6, Faulkner 26; Centre, Hall 2; Defence, Marshall, total 33.

Armstrong's Team— Forwards, Chadwick 7, Centre R. Mills 2, Defense, E. Walters 4; total 21.

WANTS TO MAKE IT SAFER FOR WALKERS

Toronto, Ont.—In his charge to the Grand Jury at the opening of the General Sessions of the Peace here this week, Judge Coatsworth commented particularly upon the prevalence of motor accident in Toronto and expressed the hope that no means would be left untried to reach a method by which the streets of the city would be made safer for citizens. Referring to the four cases of alleged criminal negligence on the docket, His Honor said: "This is a type of offence which the auto has brought in. The time was when the pedestrian had practically greater rights on the road than anyone else. While he has just as much right now, it would be awkward to argue the matter with the auto, so if he is wise he dodges. The auto has come to stay, and we must learn to accommodate it to the new pedestrian and driver, so that the number of accidents may be reduced.

RECREATION BOWLING

The Junior League are on their last week for the Pak schedule, the same last night being between the Class and the Star Motors, the former team winning all four points. Maher for the Motors was high three string man with 323 and for the Class Liberty was high with 576.

Star Motors—P. Le 629; Corrigan 607; Hopping 477; Maher 562. White 564. Total 2649.

Class—Darvell 480; Boyle 509; Brandon 535; Munnings 539; Liberty 576. Total 2639.

To-night is going to be a big night at the Recreation Alleys when the Belleville Hardware, senior bowlers and winners of the Pal League, will tackle an all star bowling team, losers to pay for the eats. The Hardware have been rather good at the nosed out the Wolves for first place in the standings, and will have a great chance to play any five bowlers on the alleys for the supper which was accepted, the game to take place at 9 o'clock. There will be two official scorers which will be included in the game in fact this is the team thinks that the Hardware bit, or more than they can chew, but all comments will be settled tonight and may the best team win.

Senior League Averages

The following will be of vital interest to all senior league bowlers at the Recreation Alleys when all the play ers' average is given and the number of games that all players played. For the second consecutive year O. Anderson of the Hardware team is leading the league with a grand average score of 221 in 27 games played.

The Hardware are leading on the team average with 2927 in their nine games played. Although the W. C. of stood fourth in the league standing they are second on the scoring list with 2962, only 15 pins down on the leaders; the Ponies were third in the standing and also third on the average with 2835. The Wolves finished last league in second place and were fourth in the average with 2903, followed by the C.N.R. with 2630 and the Rovers with 2618.

The following are the players' number of games and average:

CHRISTMAS

Though it is contrary to what most people will expect a Christmas spent at the birthplace of Christ is really the greatest disappointment imaginable. Bethlehem is the one place in the whole world where the feelings is commercialized in a setting of threatening crowds and armed guards.

The Church of the Nativity, by common consent admitted to be the authentic site of Christ's birth, looks more like a formidable retreat than a Christian Church. The dark, massive walls with small heavily barred windows standing in a roughly paved square suggests durance vile rather than religious peace. The only covering to a small hole in the great thickness of the wall, so low that one has to stoop to pass through. There is no altar or fonc; only an ugly looking bell, badly neglecting from medieval masonry which looks incapable of ringing out glad tidings.

On Christmas Eve great crowds come from Jerusalem and the surrounding villages to attend the midnight mass in the Church. The Latin part of the Church, the rest of the building be ing reserved for the Greeks and Armenians who hold their Christmas on a different date.

The interior of the church which with great pillars and huge flagstones rather resembles an enclosed market presents a cold and cheerless scene. A surging Eastern mob besieges the building, pushing and fighting for places while the aisles are guarded by police with gleaming bayonets to prevent disorder between the rival religious factions.

Religious antagonism is so bitter that should a Greek or Armenian priest set foot on a carpet belonging to the Latins, or vice versa, it is enough to cause a most appalling ending in bloodshed. So jealous is each church of its particular carpet that the border line the wall hangings are even pinned back to prevent them getting over their neighbors.

At midnight there is a procession to the chapel of the Manger, where, down a small flight of steps in a small lamp-lit crypt is the famous "Star of Bethlehem" marking the actual spot where Christ is said to have been born. This is in a small recess of th hall over which stands another altar by all three churches, each controlled by its own set of dimly burning lamps. Here in the holiest spot of all Christ endom a sentry stands day day and night to guard the sacred peace.

Close by is a small ledge on which the manger is said to have rested but the manger itself is now locked up in the church of Santa Maria Maggiore in Rome. It is only on the Christmas hillside of Judea where dwells the

"BILL" SMITH HAS AN HONOURABLE RECORD

Toronto, Ont. (By C.P.)—The Honorable "Bill" Smith is eighty years young! Who is he? Ask any farmer, or anyone else for that matter, in the County of Ontario, and they will tell you that the chap with the high-sounding name is just their own "Bill" William Smith, for nigh a score of years M.P. for South Ontario.

The Son of Scottish parents, who settled in the wilderness of Ontario in the 40's of the last century, "Bill" saw the light at Columbus on November 16, 1847, and for 63 years of the elapsed time since he has been one of the leaders in agriculture and especially in live stock breeding. He was president of the Clydesdale Association for 4 years a director of the Shorthorn Association, president of the Ontario Horse Breeders' Association, and was chairman of the Canadian National Live Stock Record Board for 25 years.

When first elected to the House of Commons in 1887 he soon made friends. He played cricket on the lawn with the Prem Cabinet ers; he sang a good song at singing time; and was so popular on both sides of the House that when in 1921 Sir Robert Borden called him to the Privy Council of Canada, with the title of "Honorable" he got from the latter the bitterest of "Grits" approval.

"Bill" doesn't look a day older than he did twenty years ago, and still rra ains his penchants for horses, even if Ontario county is the seat of a large section of Canada's motor industry.

peaceful aberphet with his flocks that the true atmosphere of the first Christmas is to be found.

BELLE THEATRE

"The Bush Leaguer" is a wholesome amusing and wonderfully human picture of Monte Brice, who has endeared himself to so many millions, as every sort of red blooded hero, outdoor even himself, in this new role.

Clyde Cook and William DeMarest are a team of comedians to remember chucklingly and Leila Hyams who appeared with Morgi Blue in "The Brute," is extremely good to look at. Howard Brethertan has directed with sure insight. The photography is of the most modern type.

"The Bush Leaguer" is sincere and authentic bit of roughneck life that no one should miss seeing. It is tonic, hilarious, you'll root for it. At Belle today.

REGENT THEATRE

Discarding all the old rules of screen comedy making wonderfully humorous one of winning laughs, Douglas MacLean in "Soft Cushions" now at the Regent Theatre, has produced that most welcome article . . . an entirely different comedy.

Novelty is the keynote from start to finish. The setting of the story is a city of the Far East. MacLean plays a young thief who introduces modern technique into the field of art of winning fame, fortune and a beautiful girl by curi wits.

Although the settings are original the action and titles are entirely Amerlean. By judiciously combining Arabian Nights atmosphere with down-to-the minute- wise-cracking gags and titles "Soft Cushions" achieves laughs and thrills by sheer contrast and the broad comedy action is made doubly funny by the unique costuming and pictorially lavish back-grounds.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR IN BELLEVILLE SPORT FIELD; BETTER PROSPECTS

Baseball and Hockey Flourished In Belleville During 1927

With old 1927 gradually sinking into oblivion one momentarily stops to ponder on the successes and failures of Belleville's sporting organizations during the past twelve months.

In consideration of several things it has really been a success and although no championship crowns have come to rest in the Quinte city since old father time turned another wheel, the present year has been a notable one in the annals of sport. In every line the city has been well represented and every club meeting outside organizations has given a good account of itself. Increased interest is marked in several lines of sport while in others the interest has been lagging but profiting by the results of past seasons prospects are brighter for 1928, better than ever before. One player has joined the professional ranks this season and from the accounts given, Lawrence Goyer is upholding the honors of the Bay City.

But above all one seldom hears a word of the poor sportsmanship of Belleville fans or players. Honorable both on and off and field Belleville boys and girls are well thought of by enthusiasts of surrounding towns. A reputation has been built up by the Belleville representatives for fairness in all branches and what better recommend could one desire. A good percentage of the population of the city is interested in at least one form of sport and a healthy robust family has resulted. While a good many turn to the less strenuous forms they are never theless themed as athletes and are aid ing to uphold the grand old reputation built up in the last score of years. Let us skip rapidly through the record of the sport field since the last survey was made.

Hockey

Belleville did not hang up any brilliant record in the Intermediate ranks but nevertheless the team threw a scare into the Cornwall squad and fans have not forgotten that memorable game at Kingston when the Flying Frenchmen came on with a rush in the last period to win the game and the group title. Queen's had spilled the beans a week previous and taken the Belleville squad into camp. Then he Cornwall team into camp thus giving Belleville another chance but the daroons saw the honors go a-glimmering in those last few hectic minutes. The Cornwall team however, met defeat in the next round at the hands of the Cataws club. The Juniors failed to get out of the group as Trenton presented one of the strongest line-ups of recent years, they in turn fell before the fast and clever Brockville Juniors. Some good material was uncovered which will be valuable this year. The Juniors are not given enough encouragement by the fans of Belleville, and as a result little interest is shown in their welfare. Belleville always sent a smart team on the ice in the days of "Toots" Holway, Stan Hagerman, Weir, "Gunner" Arnott, Green, and a host of others and Toronto teams have been given a real battle on more than one occasion but of late years seldom over fifty people turn out for these games which never fail to provide plenty of action.

Besides the Intermediate and Junior teams the City League teams provided some nice competition and the final wind-up between the T's Men and the Bell Telephone was a real battle. Eight teams composed the City League last season while four other clubs operated in the Industrial group. From present indications this year's group will be even better than last year as ten teams are already signed up.

Basketball

Delore proved a stumbling block in the path of the local ball club and after a hectic series the Smelters walked off with the honors. The club after seven successful seasons in the Central Ontario League went back into Intermediate Company but results were not satisfactory and as a result a movement is on foot to re-organize the old league. At the present time Kingston Peterboro and Oshawa are keen for the proposition and with a real live ex ecutive the local organization is functioning rapidly. There may be some in the next few weeks. The Belleville I nithe next few weeks. The Belleville City League basethall league was the means of developing some first-class players and the games were all keenly contested. The Alemite team composed chiefly of young players won the laurels after a series with the Moose and they are the proud possessors of the Rowesone Cup until next Autumn.

Basket-Ball

The local Intermediate basket-ball team won their group and advanced in to the semi-finals with the Elizabeth team of Toronto but the Queen City cagers proved too fast and Belleville was defeated in two straight games The League has already got away in a nice start this year and although the local team was forced to accept defeat at the hands of the R. M. C. team they will make things lively for the others before the schedule is completed With one or two new players to assist the old guard they should go a long way in the quest of the Ontario title.

Soft-Ball

Napanee girls were the class of the Bay of Quinte League last season and the Belleville Beavers although they placed a strong team on the field could not measure up to Ross Paul's snappy bunch.

Owing to the differences the Ontarios who created a sensation on the previous year did not enter and as a result the league lost an excellent attraction. It is to be hoped that they will reconsider their decision next season. A giant group embracing Belleville, Kingston and Brockville is being mooted for next year.

The city league which operated in the armouries in the spring was most successfully handled chiefly due to the efforts of the President Kenneth J. Colling. After some clever games the Police team who have held such a record in soft-ball circles again managed to capture the silverware. The Ontarios were the class of the girls' league and were awarded the cup.

Curling

With the Curlers last season was one of most successful in the club's history and under the guidance of President Ed. Gartley the club emerged with a substantial balance. Only recently Joe Imlah was handed the reigns for the ensuing year and he will no doubt make an able chief executive. Some new blood has been added to the ranks of the devotees of the Roarin' game, and the members look for more interest than ever.

Golf

Both the Bay of Quinte and the Belleville Golf Club are closing successful seasons. The Belleville Club added some improvements to the course and the club will find a new lay-out when the clubs are taken out in the Spring. The first and third hole will be longer and the fairways will be improved. The Club's membership increased rapidly under the leadership of Major B. C. Donnan who was given some able assistance by Al. Lequain and others. "Archie" Ketcheson was the best of the competitors and won the mens' singles At the Bay of Quinte Country Club the class of golf improved under the tutelage of Mr. Mitchel, professional teacher who assisted the players in correcting their individual styles.

R. M. C.

When summarizing the situation one must not overlook the splendid results achieved at the Belleville High School in every line of sport. Probably the football team hung up the most enviable record giving into the semi-finals for the Ontario title, being beaten by the fast Oakwood team of Toronto. They disposed of the others in the group but not until the players had been extended to the limit. Desertion provided gaps of consequence but in two muddy sessions they emerged victorious. Oakwood were conceded a big edge but the locals did well under the circumstances. Hockey at Belleville High School advanced by leaps and bounds and the student body stood solidly behind the efforts of the puckists to bring the title to Belleville. Desertion was the big menace here and the black, bellstripe and scarlet squad was obliged to allow the honors to go east. They hope to redeem themselves with practically the same boys in the line-up in the coming campaign. The basket-ball team did exceptionally well and the girls' baseball team were declared champions of the Hastings County League. All in all it has been a fine season and with the completion of the new school with it's gymnasium athletics will no doubt go ahead rapidly. The gymnasium will allow the students greater facilities to train for the various contests.

Track and field sports were featured in the program and teams were sent to the Toronto Exhibition and to the School meet at Kingston and in both instances the representatives distinguished themselves. Among the prominent young athletes who have shown rare promise is "Bud" Calway who was given a fine reception at the Toronto Exhibition meet.

The Intelligencer sport editor wishes to convey his thanks to those who have assisted in furnishing the latest sport news during the past year and looks for the same co-operation during the New Year.

PRINTERS PLAY STIRLING TEAM

Intelligencer Pucksters Will Hold Initial Practice Soon

On Monday evening the Intelligencer (Black Hawks) will open the hockey season with an exhibition game at Stirling. Yesterday word was received from Manager Bill Whitty that he would like the newspapermen to come to his town and play the opening game which was accepted by the printers.

Gar Arnott manager of the local Arena has promised a sheet of ice for tomorrow night and the Intelligencer boys will have their initial workout from six to seven o'clock. They will have to make every minute count as this will be their first on skates this season and all the boys have signified their eagerness to get on the blades on Monday night to try and down the fast Stirling team.

The Intelligencer will likely take ten players along to Stirling, and the team have to date signed eleven players for the city league which is to start soon.

The players that will make up the party will likely be Sam Curry, goal; defence, Bill Cook, Bill Hopping and Jack Arnott, the forward line will be picked from Bernie Brown, Cene Doyle Gerald O'Brien, Sid Hopping. Jack Smith and L. Cook, it is also probable that Jimmy Hunter will go along. The latter mentioned player is again home and has expressed his desire to play with the printers, but is undecided as to if he will remain in the city after the holiday.

Dan O'Donohue will likely be the only absentee from the printers ranks on Monday as he is leaving this week-end for his home in Brantford over the holiday.

The printers are much stronger than last season with the addition of Bill Cook, the Hopping brothers and Gerald O'Brien. Bill Cook and Bill Hopping should form a strong defence and with the veteran Jack Smith on the front line to steady the younger players the intelligencers look like a million dollars on paper.

News and Views of the Quinte District

HASTINGS, PRINCE EDWARD, NORTHUMBERLAND, PETERBOROUGH, LENNOX AND ADDINGTON

NAPANEE

Rev. C. W. DeMille, for the past four years pastor of King Street United Church, Oshawa, has received an unanimous invitation to the pastorate of Central United Church, Stratford and will assume his new duties on July 1st, of next year. Mr. De Mille, who is president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, is a former pastor of Trinity United Church, having spent four years in Napanee, his pastorate here being a most successful one. He is also well known throughout this district having held the pastorate on the Newburgh Robbin and Bay Circuits.

; On leaving Napanee he was appointed secretary of the Saskatchewan Religious Education Council, latter accepting the general secretaryship of the Ontario Religious Education Council. He was also a member of the larger body, The Canadian Religious Education Council and still retains connection with that body, being chairman of the Adult Division of the work.

He has been sent by the Canadian Council as its representative to many international conferences and is recognized as an authority on Adult Religious Education in the Sunday School, having written many papers on the subject which are considered authoritative.

He has a host of friends in Napanee and throughout this district who will be pleased to learn of the important pastorate to which he will assume in the near future.

Mr. F. W. Knapp attended the Commencement Exercises held in Naylors Theatre, Deseronto, on Friday evening, Premier Ferguson being the special speaker for the occasion.

The funeral of the late Mr. Edward Milling who passed away on Wednesday after a brief illness, was held at the family residence on Saturday afternoon. The service was in charge of Rev. Barry Pawson, of Trinity United Church, who was assisted by Rev. James Ralstone, of Selby and Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, of Newburgh, the latter being a former pastor of the Selby Circuit, the deceased having been a faithful member of Empey Hill Church, which is part of this circuit. The ceremony in which the late Mr. Milling was held in the community was evidenced by the large concourse of friends present, particularly from the township of Richmond, where he had lived and labored for many years. Brief eulogues touching upon the fine Christian character of the deceased was referred to by the ministers and at the conclusion of the service the funeral cortege proceeded to Riverside Cemetery where interment took place.

PICTON

The usual Christmas service and distribution of joyful articles, oranges and candies was held at the House of Refuge on Friday afternoon by the rector and members of St. Mary Magdalene Church choir. Practically all of the inmates assembled in the hall for the brief service, which consisted of Christmas hymns and an address by the rector of the parish, Rev. Cecil Winter. At the conclusion of this, each inmate was presented with a Christmas gift. These gifts of socks, gloves, handkerchiefs, perfume and tobacco were kindly donated by the residents of the town who generously willingly respond to appeals of a charitable nature. Mrs. Robert Sayers, Mrs. Charles A. Wright and Mrs. H. B. Grover assisted with the singing and Mrs. Cecil Winter presided at the organ. The superintendent of the home, Mr. Owen Jones, and Mrs. Jones expressed thanks to the party for their kindness in bringing a word of cheer to the inmates.

INDECENT ASSAULT

Cobourg, Dec. 20.—Rather sordid evidence of an alleged indecent assault was heard during the morning sittings on the December General Sessions of the Peace and County Court before Judge R. C. H. Bourke at Cobourg this morning in a civil action in which Frank Hill and Rose Hill, Cobourg, are seeking damages amounting to $1,000 from Alfred Farrow, a railway employee.

TRAYMORE IN OSHAWA

Oshawa, Dec. 20.—The Traymore Cafeteria Limited will occupy the great part of the Alger building, which is now being rebuilt following the fire of last October, which entailed a loss of more than $100,000. The Traymore people are well known in Montreal having a large number of cafeterias. The firm also operates one in Toronto. The building and the equipment will be the most modern between Toronto and Montreal. The Daily Times was informed.

COMPANY STRANDED

Campbellford, Dec. 20.—Stranded by the alleged failure of the show to provide funds to meet hotel bills and expenses of the company, six show people of Al Winters "Broadway Revue" were forced to borrow money from friends to enable them to return to Toronto after the close of a final performance at the Regent Theatre, Campbellford, Saturday night.

SECOND APPEAL

Cobourg, Dec. 20.—Charles A. Beaupre, who was recently convicted in County Court at Cobourg at a re-trial on a charge of conspiracy to defraud, and who was sentenced to three years at Kingston Penitentiary, has entered a second appeal before the Appellate Division at Osgoode Hall. Beaupre is confined at the Counties Jail at Cobourg at the present time, having declined to sign the official waiver for his removal to the penitentiary pending his appeal.

THREE ENTRIES

Oshawa, Dec. 20.—The principal topic of conversation these days in Oshawa is the question of who is to be mayor of the city for 1928. Three strong men are likely to enter the list for the highest municipal honor that the citizens can bestow, these being, Mayor Bob Preston, Alderman Swanson, and Alderman Marks. There is some talk this forenoon as to the likelihood of ex-Mayor John Storey attending a "comeback" but it is safe to assume that there is no real foundation in the rumour as Mr. Storey informed Peverell of the Williams Piano Co. and Dr. A. W. Hardin will run as Aldermen.

MILK GOOD

Kingston, Dec. 20.—At the final meeting of the year of the Board of Health held on Friday afternoon, Dr. W. J. Morgan milk inspector, reported that he had visited the herds and plants of the producers and had found all of them in a fairly good condition, and complying with the conditions of the city by-law. The inspector also stated that he had made dirt tests of milk from all the producers and vendors and found them clean and free from any objectionable matter.

New Directors For Chamber Of Commerce--Ex-Pastor's Trial is Set For January 14th

MELLOR WILL SPEND CHRISTMAS IN PICTON JAIL AWAITING TRIAL

Hearing Fixed For January 14th When Case Will Go On

NO BAIL ASKED

Expected Request For Liberty Not Made—In Falling Health

Rev. Joseph J. Mellor, former pastor of Picton United Church who ill facing serious charges for offences against Bertha Houde, a former young local girl appeared this morning before Judge McLean.

Crown prosecutor Kellier MacKay, of Windsor, presented affidavits from Dr. Craig, of Ottawa, stating that a child was born to the young girl in an Ottawa Maternity Hospital on December 1st. On the strength of the affidavit the Crown asked for a further adjournment of the case and January 14th was set as the trial date.

It is expected that Mr. Fred L. Ward would make another application for bail on behalf of Jhe, client but this subject was not mentioned and Mellor will remain in jail despite the fact that he had hoped to have the trial take place before Christmas.

Mellor appeared to be failing under the continuous confinement in Picton jail and was only a shell of his former self when he took his place at the side of his attorney this morning. He has already spent three months in the jail at Picton.

Both the Crown and Mr. Ward stated that the case was almost certain to proceed on January 14th, the date of the adjournment. The hearing lasted but half an hour.

CHRIST CHURCH CHRISTMAS TREE

Older Children Make Their Gifts To Poor Families Of City

The City Hall was filled to overflowing last evening for the annual Christ Church Christmas Tree. The entire program was given by the pupils of the Sunday School classes assisted by Baxter's Six piece orchestra.

An unique feature of the event was that the older classes instead of exchanging presents made contributions for poor families of the church: The members of the younger classes each received remembrances.

Mr. George Watkins, Superintendent of the Sunday School acted as the chairman for the program which was as follows:

NO WORD YET OF THE "KAMLOOPS"

Port Arthur, Ont., Dec. 21.—No word has been received as yet from the tug, "James Whalen" which left Monday night on a combined mission to bring in the light keepers of the district and look about Isle Royal for the missing lake freighter, "Kamloops." Had the tug found any trace of the Kamloops it was expected to return last night but otherwise the plan was to go on to Battle Island, ninety-four miles along the north shore, and up the light keepers there and then return.

THREE BURNED TO DEATH IN BEDS

Rochester, Dec. 21.—Three persons were burned to death in their beds when fire swept their home early today. The dead are Lucy Dicenzi, 55, mother of five children, Elvira Dicenzi, 11, and Joseph Chouna, 30.

KIWANIANS GIVE KIDDIES A TREAT

Santa Claus Visited Children's Aid Society Everyone Happy

Wards of the Children's Shelter were the guests of honor at the annual Christmas Tree given by the Kiwanis Club in the Shelter Scene Hood last evening when the dining room was filled to overflowing with members of the Club, kiddies and friends. The youngsters were sent on their way rejoicing laden with presents, candy and nuts and with their little hearts glad dened by the kindliness of the local service Club.

Mr. Fred Smythe acted as Santa Claus and distributed the gifts to the youngsters. Mr. Smythe made a perfect old St. Nick and understanding broke loose among the kiddies when he entered the dining hall with his bag of toys.

Jack McIntosh, President of the Kiwanis Club, was chairman of the evening and introduced the various speakers.

Community-one kiddies gave recitations and sang songs under the direction of Miss Harris, matron. The children had prepared their skits carefully.

All Get Gifts

Three gifts were presented to each child, in the form of clothing, bobsleds, skates and toys. Following the distribution of the gifts by Santa Claus, James Bankier lead in the community singing in which everyone joined in lustily. Alderman Russel Wotten presided at the piano.

Brief remarks on behalf of the Shelter were made by Mr. W. H. Merry, President of the Children's Aid Society, Mrs. Merry, Capt. Thos. Ruston, C.A.S., Inspector, Miss Harris Matron and Miss Shore, of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

The Kiwanis Club were compliment ed for the excellent dinner and for the interest they had shown in the children of the Shelter.

Farewell to Miss Shore

Miss Shore, who is leaving for Brantford shortly, was presented, by the Kiwanis Club who originally sponsored the Order in Belleville. The Secretary of the Provincial Board gave a report of the progress made by the Picton Club which is known as the "Baby Club" of the Province, having been only recently sponsored by the Belleville Club.

A great deal of sentiment was created when Santa Claus presented gifts to the members of the Club in the form of toys and trinkets. They were made to open and display them to Please Turn to Page Three

INTERRUPTED FUNERAL TO RESUSCITATE THE CORPSE

Luray, Va., Dec. 21.—Having listened to the funeral service preached over the coffin in which she spent the night unable to signal those who believed her dead, Miss Fannie Broyle is alive today. Her brother, who stood about the casket with the other mourning relatives, noticed a twitching of his sister's eyelid and the funeral services were halted and resuscitation efforts began. In a short time the girl was able to talk. She said she was aware of all that occurred around her casket, but was stunned from a blow on the head from a tree limb that fell upon her, was unable to move or speak.

AFTER 30 YEARS

Killed By Wounded Elephant While Son Battles For His Life

Nairobi, British East Africa, Dec. 21.—William Judd, African sportsman, known through the big game world for his prowess in the hunting field, has finally fallen a victim to the dangers of his favorite sport after having them successfully for thirty years.

While hunting yesterday, he was charged by an infuriated wounded elephant which mangled him so that he was hurried today in an ambulance. Young Judd finally killed the enraged beast but the valiant hunter was dead when his son reached his side.

ALL SEVEN DEAD BEFORE RESCUED

Miners Trapped By Gas Explosion In Coal Mine Perished

Johnston City, Ill., Dec. 21.—The bodies of seven miners, killed last night in an explosion of gas at the Sheritta Coal Mine near here, were brought to the surface early after all efforts to work by three mine rescue teams.

Seven Trapped

Johnston City, Ill., Dec. 21.—Rescue crew drilled at top speed today to pierce the rock-walled vault in which seven miners were entombed an explosion in the Sheritta Coal Mine here, last night. Whether the men are alive is not known. Twenty-three other members of the night crew of thirty made their escape by the elevator but seven were trapped when the only exit was blocked. Ignition of gas was believed to have caused the explosion.

FILLED VACANCIES IN UPPER HOUSE

Quebec, Dec. 21.—Three vacancies in the Quebec Legislative Council, the upper house of the Provincial Legislature were filled today, it was announced by Premier Taschereau. New members are, Louy Letourneau, member of Legislative assembly for Quebec East, Rosaire Grothe, Montreal and Hon. J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture in the Taschereau Government.

ROAD FOREMAN FACING CHARGES

Welland, Dec. 21.—Charged with embezzlement of $2,000 of Crowland Township funds, William Peter, Waterworks Superintendent and Road Foreman at that municipality, is now being sought by the authorities, a warrant for his arrest having been issued. The exact extent of Peter's defalcations is not known. A special audit of the books of the township has ber ordered by the Council.

The absconding of Peiton is but one of a series of similar happenings in Ontario during the past year. The Township Clerk of Charles Avery was discharged by a legal instantation to duty. Road Superintendent C. M. Moody was next discharged for alleged inattention, but was re-arranged later; and recently, Amaer Lapointe, Treasurer of a port of 12 years, to which, it is held, he was not entitled. The municipal has not yet been settled, the Council having instructed the Solicitor to collect the alleged illegal emoluments from the Treasurer, and, if he, failed to return the money, to institute legal steps to recover the amount.

CHAMBER ELECTS A STRONG BOARD

Four Of Retiring Members Chosen Again For Two Year Term

CAMERON NEW H. Ackerman Has Served On Directorate Since Its Inception

The final election for five directors of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce which was concluded yesterday afternoon resulted in the return of Messrs. H. W. Ackerman, C. A. Cameron, R. J. G. Graham, Mackenzie Robertson and E. W. Worth.

Mr. Cameron comes to the board as an entirely new member. The other four were re-elected. They will hold office for a two-year period.

The Directorate is composed of nine members, five being elected one year and four the succeeding year.

The directorate will next meet on Thursday and from their number will elect a president, two vice-presidents and a treasurer.

The elections for Chamber of Commerce directors are usually rather partisan-mentary office. The candidates prefer to take what comes their way without direct interference on their part with a free expression of the wishes of the members.

The ten men who were such friendly rivals in yesterday's contest are among our foremost citizens. They are all prominent in their own occupation and several have held the highest positions in our civic life. Any or all of them would have made most acceptable members of the directors' body.

Mr. H. W. Ackerman who was re-elected yesterday is the only member who has served continuously on the board of directors since the Chamber of Commerce was first organized in 1919. Mr. Ackerman has served as president and has also been mayor of Belleville. He is easily one of Belleville's most public-spirited citizens.

New Director

Mr. Chas. A. Cameron who now becomes a director for the first time, is a comparative new-comer to our city. He took over the law practice of the late F. D. Kerr and has not merely maintained the favorable position occupied by the old firm but has attracted greatly increased patronage. He will make a valuable addition to the board.

Col. H. J. E. Graham is, like Mr. Ackerman, a former mayor and has also held other distinction of being the youngest man ever elected to that office. He was also, perhaps the mayor term the youngest chief magistrate in the province of Ontario. He retired from municipal politics a year ago and was later appointed city Please Turn to Page Three

E. B. Eddy Company Dispose Of Match Plant To English Firm

Ottawa, Dec. 21.—Match business of E. B. Eddy Co. Ltd., of Hull, Que., is to be taken over by a new company under the presidency of George W. Paton, of London, England, chairman and managing director of Bryant and May, British match manufacturers. This announcement was made today by George H. Millen, President of the E. B. Eddy Co., Ltd.

FAKED CHEQUES, GETS A MONTH

Will Do a Little Better For His Mother When He Comes Out

Yesterday described as a poet by the Magistrate and a slick confidence man by the Crown Attorney, today appearing for sentence, Elmer Cooney, of Frankford, received his final appellation from Mr. Denman when he was described as an ambassador from Mars. "Your Honour," stated the Crown attorney when entered the box. "the Ambassador from Mars has appeared for judgment.

Cooney was arrested a short time ago for issuing two worthless cheques, the first for $20 and the other for $10, one to Quick & Robertson. He appeared in Court yesterday and was remanded until today for judgment. The accused's appearance was so judicious that (he has no kind of the funny kind), that various appellations were heaped upon his black-coopred head. For passing the two cheques Cooney must spend the next month in the County Jail, and when he gets out he has promised to support his widowed mother, a little matter neglected up to now.

SHELTER WARD BADLY BEATEN

Former Belleville Officer Tramps Into Wilds For Culprit

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 21.—Provincial Constables Kerr and Maguire today made a tedious trip over the snow-drifted roads to Goulais River and recovered Frank McCaughan of that place with a summons to appear in Police Court on Friday upon a charge of assault and occasioning bodily harm to Eino Kuusela, the 19-year-old ward of the Children's Shelter, who fled from McCaughan's home last October, and has since been living a hermit life in a small cave of his own making in the dense bush near the McCaughan farm. The charge is laid by Superintendent J. P. Reed of the Children's Aid Society, under Section 245 of the Criminal Code. Quite a number of witnesses have also been summoned from the Goulais Bay area.

Since being brought to the Soo, the boy has shown signs of illness in his body which, he says, were caused by assaults on him by McCaughan, who used switches and pieces of harness in beating him.

KILLED WHEN LOADING SAND

Toronto, December 21.—Struck by a falling timber as hopper into which he was loading sand, Samuel Brush was killed at Leaside, north of here, early today. No one witnessed the fatality, but it is believed Brush fell into the machine and was suffocated. He was 32 years of age, and a laborer engaged on sewer construction work.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 21.—Remaining firm in her contention that her son did not kidnap Marian Parker of Los Angeles, Mrs. Eva Hickman today reconsidered her announced desire "to disown him if it's true" and declared she "Couldn't do that."

"But if he was guilty. Oh, that couldn't be, but if he was, why naturally no mother' would want to own him if she was bad, and "if he's guilty I want him punished."

Then as she seemed to realize the meaning of her statement, she added, "No, of course I would not disown him. No, of course, I could not do that but you know how I feel.

"When you have raised five children you learn not to expect too much of them; they have their interests. They think they are busier than they are. Perhaps that is why he does not write."

HOPE FADES FOR RESCUE OF ANY VICTIMS FROM LOST SUBMARINE

Rescue Ships Moved Away From Spot Where Disaster Occurred

SIGNALS CEASED

Making One More Attempt To Get Air Into Sunken Hull

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 21.—The submarine S-8 moved today from her poss beside the S-4. The S-8 had been under orders to remain in position as long as there was any hope of communicating with her sister ship. Any action in moving away was interpreted as meaning that there was no longer a possibility that life remained on board the S-4 and that no more signals might be looked for. Two other submarines the S-5 and S-3 were at anchor in harbor a mile and a half from the scene of the disaster.

When the Associated Press boat pulled alongside of the "Palmer" diver Tom Eadie re-arranged to it that an attempt would be made to send a diver down as soon as the Falcon was lined up with the submarine-tender "Bushnell" and the minesweeper, "Lark." The minesweeper "Swasey" which had taken part in previous operations was not in the line.

Eadie, who was the first diver to go down to the S-4 Sunday, said recently that there was a list of 5 in the hull of the submarines torpedo room and was on an air line. This will require the use of underwater floodlights such as were used in the S-51 salvaging operations. It will be necessary to weld a tapping machine to the hull. This machine is so constructed that when the bolt is positioned and the drill, withdrawn, the valve automatically closed. An air line is then screwed on and air forced in.

The sea off Woodend this morning was flat but as the hours passed it grew choppy and threatened once more to hold up all diving operations. The operations, according to Eadie, he said, required the best water conditions.

The Compressed Air

Boston, Dec. 21.—Boston navy yard today announced that the engineer officers there now under way for the scene of the sinking of the submarine S-4, carried apparatus with which an attempt might be made to calm the troubled seas by compressed air. The use of compressed air was suggested by Phillip Brasseur, Princeton University, who recently set forth the idea that ships anchored in mid-ocean might afford a landing for planes by releasing oil, calming the water around them in a similar way.

Steamer Delayed

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 21. — Improved weather conditions early today encouraged the continuation of salvage operations on the sunken submarine S-4 which had been suspended for two days because of a northwest gale. During the night the wind veered to southeast, but by 7 o'clock fleet, the north and the sea off Woodend shifts to northeast. Within a few minutes since Sunday night, converged early today on the spot where the S-4 lies in 110 feet of water a mile and a half from Provincetown. The submarine tender "Bushnell" with the diver Eadie on the harbor moved out to join the fleet.

Signals Have Ceased

New London, Conn., Dec. 21. — No further signals have been received from the submarine S-4, Rear Admiral Frank Brumby, Commander of the Atlantic Fleet, announced in a report was picked up here today. He announced that rescue ships were standing by, in position to resume diving operations.

GOING BY PLANE TO BE WITH SON

Tulsa, Okla, Dec. 21.— Tri-motor monoplane carrying Mrs. Evangeline Murdaugh and her son Lee Medlock City where she plans to spend Christmas with her son, Col. Charles Lindbergh, hopped off from Tulsa airport at 1.45 this morning, for Dallas, Texas. The party will have here luncheon at San Antonio.

THE WEATHER

AIRPLANES USED TO LOCATE MEN

Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 21.—Balked in their efforts to locate by aeroplane two fishermen believed to be marooned on Ironbound West Sister Island in Lake Erie near here, efforts by coast guards and others to bring them to the mainland went forward today.

Two aeroplanes tried yesterday to establish communication with the men, Lewis Hanke and William Myers, but without success. One ship was disabled in landing but the other crossed the length of the island without sighting the men. Franke and Myers left their nets. Watchers reported they not been seen since last Friday when they put out into the lake to raise their nets. Watchers reported they apparently were having difficulty with their boat and were drifting toward the island.

Father Is Convinced That Hickman Was Man Who Telephoned

Los Angeles, Dec. 21.—Further substantiation of the theory that William Hickman had aid in the kidnapping and slaying of Marian Parker, was discussed with the announcement by the police today that two persons had seen Hickman and another man carry several bundles from the apartment where Miss Parker lived and place them in an automobile.

MAY LAY MORE SERIOUS CHARGE

Windsor, Dec. 21.—Doubting if sufficient evidence had been produced to warrant committal for trial on charges of conspiracy to pass forged United States bank notes, Magistrate W. A. Smith, at Sandwich, reserved his judgment in the case of Eric Hugi of Western, Ont., and Harry Richardson, Detroit banker.

Several witnesses identified Hugi and Richardson as the men who had passed raised bank notes in various parts of Essex County, soon after the Howard Avenue robbery, the last failure of the Crown witnesses to identify the men as having operated together caused the doubt in the Magistrate's mind as to whether or not a conspiracy charge might be sustained.

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

Every evil in the bud is easily crushed, as it grows older it becomes stronger.—Cicero.

WAS IT MURDER?

George McDonald and his wife Doris on trial last week at Valleyfield, Que. on the charge of murdering Adelard Bouchard, taxi-driver, last July, were found guilty and sentenced to be hanged on March 22. The pair are Americans who were touring Canada last summer, the woman a beautiful young vaudeville actress. They engaged Bouchard to drive them over the border, and in a lonely spot they shot him, left his body by the wayside, took possession of his car and crossed the border. They were captured in a western American city.

Appeal will be made against the verdict; and some remarks by Judge Walsh in his charge to the jury appear to afford some ground for the appeal. The Judge said he would grant that the couple did not intend to kill Bouchard, but that the evidence made it clear that they had planned to knock him out and seize his car. It is true that the law holds a criminal guilty of murder if he kills while committing another crime. But of late years there has been a growing disposition to take the lenient view that . the accused should not be held guilty of murder unless deliberate intent is proved. Judge Walsh's admission that there was no deliberate intent in this case affords the McDonalds some ground for hope that the appeal court will either grant a new trial or find the prisoners guilty of manslaughter.

That these two joy-riders will escape punishment is not to be supposed. They are guilty of a brutal crime and are technically guilty of murder even if they had no intent to kill. Life imprisonment would not be too severe a sentence for them.

"SCARFACE AL"

Mayor William Hale Thompson, who has won himself a lot of notoriety in the last few months, isn't really the chief executive of Chicago at all, you know—just the man the people elected to be second fiddle to Chicago's real boss—a "go-getter" young man who wears the euphonious name of "Scarface Al" Capone. Capone is best known as chief of Chicago's underworld, but as metropolitan cities of the United States are operated nowadays, the chief gunman is boss of the entire rout. Capone and his thugs elect politicians or break them. Instead of taking orders from the police, they issue edicts to the lords of law. Not long ago, there was a revolution in Chicago. The leader of a rival gang aspired to take over the reins and the perquisites of the office of boss of the underworld. While the war lasted, motor cars equipped with machine guns cruised the streets, spitting fire and decimating the ranks of rival gangs. Capone, who for years has never ventured forth without an armed bodyguard, apparently reasoned that a trip out of the city would improve his health and he sped across the continent to Los Angeles. There he was invited to pack up his extensive luggage and move on again. There was no haven for him, he learned, outside of Chicago, and to the Windy City he has returned. In his absence a truce was patched up by the rival gangs and "Scarface Al" went back to receive the acclaim of his fellow subjects to take up where he left off—to crack the whip at police and politicians again, and smile as he watched them jump to his bidding. If that be democracy, do you want any of it?

CHRISTMAS

The Christmas spirit is just as vital as ever it was; it has lost none of its religious significance. There are cynics it is true, who sneer at this annual demonstration of "sentimentality," and though they would not go so far as to do away with the gerrous impulses it gives birth to, they do advocate the rationalization of the celebration. In their zeal for calling a spade a spade, they would deprive the anniversary of its more emotional manifestations. It would be a "safe and sane" Christmas, dull and prosy, with all the picturesqueness and imagination missing. The charm of Christmas consists in the very things these critics deplore. The innocent little make-beliefs which children are encouraged to accept at this time, the sentiments which their elders indulge in—these things make Christmas, and without them the season would lose its glad significance.

The birth of the Christ child is as momentous a fact to the world to-day as ever it was, and the magic message which accompanied that birth is needed even more than ever. When one contemplates the distractions of international politics, and the religious disputes among Christian organizations, one is seized with feelings almost of despair. The great work of love and charity which has been going on for nearly two thousand years seems very far from attaining its goal. But appearances may be deceptive. The action of the British house of commons in rejecting the compromise measures proposed by the ecclesiastical heads of the Church of England, for instance, is not a sign of indifference, however regretable the effect of the vote may be. Men's souls are deeply stirred by spiritual challenge; the great truths of their faiths remain sacrosanct to them. Christmas is, for young and old, first and foremost, a religious festival and in that fact lies the explanation for its undiminished power for good.

SOUTHPORT SANDS

Dear yellow sands—far out to sea,
Where, as a boy, I often played
And listened, with a childish glee
To nigger minstrel troupe, Ah! me!
Long gone my little pail and spade.

Sand castles I built daily there,
Which cruel waves would soon destroy
Like all my dreams that seemed so fair,
Like later wild ambitions rare—
All vanished now—so is the boy.

Long disappeared — those castles vain;
The lad grown old and grey; but he Still loves that yellow sandy plain,
In memory sees it once again,
And the long pier—far out to sea.

—Kilbee Gordon.

THE PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Mr. Jas. Wilson, Murney St., who fractured his shoulder recently is progressing favorably.

General Booth of the Salvation Army will visit Belleville the latter part of January or the first of February.

The Rev. S. E. Marshall, B.A.D.D. a former Professor in Albert College, has declined the principalship of the Columbian Methodist College, New Westminster, B.C.

A quiet wedding took place at 10 o'clock this morning at the residence of Capt. John Bonar, 20 Porin St., when his only daughter, Eliza M. became the bride of Mr. J. R. Herdman, Secy. of the Y. M. C. A.

Rev. T. J. Thompson, performed the ceremony. The happy couple left on the noon train for Cobourg, Toronto and Peterboro. The bride is one of Belleville's best known young women, and the groom though only residing in Belleville a little over a year, has made a host of friends.

When the clerks came down this morning to open the Oak Hall at 7.30 they were surprised to find the front door unlocked and a bent wire nail hanging in the lock. Upon examination they found that a burglar had been inside and taken $3.55 from the till in the office. So far nothing but the money has been missed.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

"If I were your father, I would not let you smoke."

"Why? It doesn't do any harm."

"I know but you're too young to play with matches."

"What makes Joe Limp? Was he hurt in the football game?"

"No, he wore his raccoon coat out in the country and got caught in a trap."

Newspaper Editor: Yesterday, for the first time in years, there wasn't a single hold-up, love-nest orgy, gang-fight or even a plain, old-fashioned witch-murder that could possibly have justified an extra.

"What did you do to celebrate the occasion?"

"We put out an extra."

"My husband's so jealous."

"Isn't that embarrassing."

"Yes. Isn't yours jealous?"

"Not a bit."

"Isn't that humiliating?"

Jos. Lowe, resident of this city, was arrested for drunkenness last night and this morning appeared before the Magistrate for judgment. He was assessed the usual $15 and $7 costs.

SLOT MACHINES AGAIN

The four men, Sam Pappas, Mike Marsahas, "Eddie" Thomas and Frank McKechnie, charged with "keeping a common gaming house" or to be more explicit, mixed up in the case of the now-famous "slot machines" appeared again before Magistrate Mikel in police court this morning and were once more laid over for a week, with the probability that the case will be laid over another week even then. The local authorities are trying to decide whether the machines constitute a game of chance or one of skill.

SALVATION ARMY CHRISTMAS TREE

Over seventy children besides a large number of adults were in attendance last evening at the Salvation Army Station School Christmas tree. Each member of the Sunday School besides many who are not members were the recipients of presents made possible by the generosity of the Belleville merchants. Adjutant Boulton acted as chairman for the program which consisted of dialogues, songs, readings, drills and duets. The surprise of the evening came when Santa Claus stepped out of the large plum pudding on the stage and completely astonished the presents, amazed distributing the generously. Next Wednesday, December 28th, the Station Street Christmas tree and concert in connection with the Salvation Army will be held in the Pinnacle Street citadel.

HIGH SALESMAN

During August, September and October the Chevrolet Motor Co. of Canada, Ltd., held a car selling competition among their dealers and salesmen throughout Canada. This competition has been known as the Canadian Chevrolet Jubilee Derby. In the December 13th, 1927, issue of "The Derby News" the following announcement appeared; "Belleville Man First Member"

O. D. Clapp qualifies

O. D. Clapp, of Belleville, a salesman for J. T. Warren, of that city has the honor of being the first member of the Canadian Chevrolet 72 Car Club.

During the Derby Mr. Clapp sold and delivered new and S1 used cars for a total of 73 points. He was also the high salesman for the district, selling his quota more than twice over."

In finishing this period Mr. Clapp also sold and delivered nine new Oakland cars.

CAR DAMAGED

The front wheels and radiator of a car driven by Miss Shore of the Victorian Order Nurses, were jammed last evening in a collision at the corner of McAnnany and Front Streets. The driver of the car was not badly hurt. It was towed to a garage for repairs.

ST. GEORGE'S TREE

The annual Christmas tree of St. George's Anglican Church will take place tonight at the Church on Station Street. Rev. C. E. Clarke, of Christ Church will act as chairman. Over two hundred youngsters are expected to attend. A program has been prepared.

JOHN STREET ENTERTAINMENT

John Street United Church Sunday School held their annual Christmas concert last evening which was largely attended. Instead of the scholars exchanging gifts they made contributions to the good basket for needy city families. The program consisted of songs, dialogues, drills and duets. An unusual feature of the program was given by the C. O. I. T. girls under the direction of Miss Bobbie Templeton. These girls were dressed in the costumes of various countries and they each told how Christmas was observed in their respective country such as Italy, Poland, Ukraina, Hungary, French Canada and North America Indian.

solicitor. This is his second term on the directorate of the Chamber of Commerce and this last year he served as vice-president.

Mr. Wm. Neale Robertson, head of the most extensive butter-making industry in eastern Ontario, the Belleville Creameries Limited, was elected to the directorate of the Chamber of Commerce at the first organization and later became president. He is one of Belleville's most usful and enterprising citizens and brings to all his various tasks the resources of a keen mind and balanced judgment.

A Strong Staff

Mr. E. W. Worth is one of Belleville's newest citizens and also one of the most popular. He came to Canada and to Belleville five years ago to take charge of the establishment here of the American Optical Company, an organization that has since become one of our foremost industries. Mr. Worth was elected a director of the Chamber of Commerce two years ago and at the end of his first year of office received the unusual tribute of being elected to the presidency. He has been one of the most capable chief executives the Chamber of Commerce has yet had.

The other four directors of the Chamber of Commerce who were elected a year ago and still have a year to serve are Messrs. Jamieson Bone, A. B. Collins, W. B. Deacon and C. E. Hanna.

In the election just concluded, Mr. L. L. Moore, principal of Belleville Business College, Mr. E. P. Frederick, city treasurer and Mr. Chris. Cook, head of the speller factory service station, acted as scrutineers and election committee and discharged their duties most acceptably.

TODAYS MARKETS

Shotby and Irregular
New York, Dec. 21.—Renewal shifts of speculative sentiment imparted a widespread irregularity to today's stock market. An opening outburst of strength was featured by heavy accumulation of copper shares, mostly a dozen of which attained their high est prices in years. Several of the la ggarner and motor shares jumped five to fifteen points. Marking up of call money rate from 4 to 4 1-2 percent, coincident with the calling in of about $25,000,000 in loans, started a broad selling movement led by the metals, which kipped out many of the earlier gains and set a number of losers reaching two to eleven points below their earlier high levels. Stiffening of money and activity in the usual heavy withdrawals of currency in pay period ex holidays.

ely early afternoon the market started upward again under leadership of oils, buying of which was influenced by an unusually large decrease in crude oil production last week. Substantial increase in steel mill operations also had a cheerful effect on sentiment but a sharp drop in British car loadings in week ending December 10 compared with the corresponded two weeks of the two preceding years aroused some misgivings as to actual trend of general business.

Losses in one to two points were opened over broad list of industrials, but specialties in Belleville by the Field Secretary of the National Sanitarium Association:

Losses in one to two points were opened over broad list of industrials, but specialties in United States Steel, General Motors, New York Central and Anaconda.

LIVERPOOL PRICES DOWN

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Unexpected buoyancy of Liverpool led to an early decline today in wheat market here. Arrivals were also reported to be offering wheat freely abroad and there was a lack of aggressive support here. Closed unsettled.

Opening unchanged to 5-8c off, Chicago wheat prices soon showed a substantial setback all around. Corn, oats and provisions displayed weakness too, even starting unchanged to 5-8c down and subsequently undergoing a general drop.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Winnipeg Grain

Winnipeg, Dec. 21.—Wheat Dec. 1-4 to 3-8 lower at 130 1-2 to 5-8, May 1-4 to 3-8 lower at 133 3-8 to 1-2, July lower at 133 1-8 to 3-8. Dec. 1-8 higher at 62 1-8. May 1-8 to 1-4 lower at 64 1-4, to 3-8. July 1-4 higher at 63 and even spectacular in some places Apparently the January market to much spoken of is commencing now. The most active stocks were Federal Kirkland around 70c, Granada up 6c Howey up 4 to $1.54, and Jacknon Minpon selling up to 86c. International nickel sold at 59¾ and Mahatic 20 1-2. Wright Hargreaves sold up to 86.99 when profit taking came in end ing it down to 86.50 again. There seem to be ups and downs now till the holidays are over but generally the market looks a lot firmer.

ONLY THE WEAK RELY UPON PROFANITY

Profanity is becoming more and more common. I believe one hears it more frequently on the streets than in former years. One certainly hears it more among women in the drawing-room and in the home.

Profanity is really such a senseless form of emotional expression. Of course, it indicates defiance. It's a safety valve. It is supposed to imply that you do not care a rap for anybody or anything.

But it's all bluff at best.

As a matter of fact, cowards swear a lot, and the use of profanity in general means psychologically that the user is doing it to keep up his courage.

You need never be afraid of a man who habitually uses bad language. He talks big and he makes a loud noise, but that's about all there is to his threats and damns.

The bully always swears. The person with inferiority feelings invariably resorts to it. All the ExCart Alecks do it. Young boys indulge in it to appear manly.

The vulgar swear in public and you may be sure they are equally vulgar when not on public exhibition.

To be sure, there are degrees of profanity. It runs all the way from the mildest kind of invective to the foulest and filthiest kind of language imaginable.

Women, as a rule, do not indulge themselves to the extent that men do, nor do they fall addicts to the worst expressions.

Any sort of profanity, however, soon becomes habit and that of itself should make it taboo.

All tricks of speech, the habit of say the same words over and over again, are distinctly bad.

To say "chestnuts" or "rats", or even the seemingly innocuous "dear me" all the time robs your language of any charm it may possess while at the same time blurring your thinking.

It may seem hard to believe, but it is a fact nevertheless, that originality of thinking is greatly hampered by frequent repetition of the same speech habits, whether they be profane or not.

Furthermore, frequently in lose one's temper, which is indicated when swearing is resorted to, weakens the conscious inhibitory forces that all of us possess by virtue of our training and bringing-up.

Lack of inhibition means not only lack of self-control but also a lowering of cultural standards.

And there can be no question that self-control means a heightening of personality, charm and greater efficiency. Profanity kills personality.

It undermines character. The individual who swears—man, woman or child—admits the deficient command he has of the language.

Note how often people swear when they cannot find the proper word, when they are unable to express themselves.

Furthermore, nothing will so quickly destroy a fine and admirable language ability as profanity.

Profanity is, of course, easy to acquire and that is the reason why many paragraphers learn swear words before any others. They, too, lack languages sufficient and make up for their deficiencies.

Be careful about acquiring the profanity habit. It's so much easier to acquire than to overcome.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

After the outside fall painting is completed, we frequently find the pains has spattered some unsightly spots on the front steps or pavement. Make a strong solution of potash and wash the steps, leaving the solution to sink in. When the paint becomes dry wash it off with soap and water. Rinse finally with cold water.

The only way to prevent crackers and cakes from getting moisture and becoming soggy is to keep them in airtight boxes, wrapped in paraffin paper.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

"Lila, darling, prepare yourself for a shock. A cable from France arrived for you this afternoon. When I couldn't get in touch with you, I opened it, fearing bad news. Lila, Jack Farquahar is alive! He's coming home! He's sailing tomorrow."

For the first time in her life, Lila fainted dead away.

The Hour of Reckoning

It was Herbert himself who found Lila in a dead faint on the library floor when he entered the house shortly after five o'clock. The telephone was lying under the reading table, but Herbert was too distracted to notice this.

He thought, at first, that Lila was dead; she lay so white and still.

In an agony of fear, he took her in his arms and kissed her pallid face.

"My darling, my darling, come back to me!" he moaned.

Later he was a little ashamed of his k of composure and found time to be thankful that there had been no witnesses. At the moment, he was merely panic-stricken.

He bore Lila up to her dressing-room calling for the servants as he went. Her maid hurried in with water and smelling salts; Siddons brought a rug; Herbert chafed her chill little hands and forced brandy between her pale lips.

Then, at length, after what seemed to Herbert an agonizingly long time, a tinge of color crept into her cheeks, and she began to breathe deeply and regularly. He dismissed the servants then and sat beside her, holding her hands.

Finally she stirred and her eyes opened. She looked up at him with a vague, blank stare. After a moment it gave way to a look of fear.

He gathered her close.

"It's all right, sweetheart. You were out for a moment but you're all to feel better soon."

"I——fainted," said Lila weakly. "I never did that before in my life."

"Of course not, dearest." Herbert said soothingly. "You were taken sick, dizzy ill. I quite understand."

"Yes, I suppose so," murmured Lila wryly, thinking desperately to herself "If he only knew!"

Aloud she said:

"Darling, will you send for Dorothy? I want to see her."

Herbert frowned. He couldn't understand why Lila wanted Dorothy, just now, but he felt that, all things considered, he ought to humor her.

He left her lying on the couch in her dressing-room, looking very pale and lovely and strangely thoughtful, while he went down to the library to telephone Dot. It was then that he saw the instrument on the floor. He rang for Siddons.

"How did this happen, Siddons?" The butler bowed.

"Madame dropped it when she fell. She was telephoning when she fainted."

Herbert was too perturbed to notice the smirk on the face of the butler. He dismissed him and sat down at the library table to think over this new development.

He Lila had been telephoning when she lost consciousness; she had been sitting quietly in a chair, under no exertion whatever, and simply toppled over.

Herbert's mind that argued only one thing: the message she had received had given her a shock that had been unconscious. Lila wasn't the fainting sort; she'd driven an ambulance through war-torn France. Therefore, the message, or the person giving it, must have terrified her.

Who then had Lila been telephoning when she had fainted?

He went back to her dressin-room. She was lying where he had left her, staring with inscrutable eyes at the opposite wall.

"Whom were you talking to over the telephone when you became ill?" he dmeanded.

Lila started at that strangely and "Was I telephoning? Everything moistened her dry lips.

"Why, I—I know. It was Dot. I'd Just called her—and then the whole world went black."

That was the truth, she thought wearily. Her life was in chaos. Her marriage wrecked.

What was it Dorothy had said?

Jack Farquahar was alive; he was coming home; he was sailing tomorrow, Jack Farquahar, with whom she had made that marriage, was alive in France, so long ago, was coming back to hold her to her promise.

She heard herself saying, over and over again, to Herbert, during the past semiitte:

"No, darling, there has never been any one but you,"——and believing it.

"And now I'm going to be found out," she said to herself. "Dear Heaven, what am I going to do?"

She turned her face to the wall and began to weep bitterly.

CHAPTER 21.

Dorothy walked in, just as Herbert terrified by Lila's attack of weeping, was going to the telephone, for the second time, to call her.

She was looking pale and anxious; she wore a coat over her smock; her hair was disheveled.

"Has anything happened?" she asked breathlessly. "I was talking to Lila when——"

Herbert looked intensely relieved.

"So it was you? I wondered who the person was who could have given Lila such a shock."

Dorothy's gaze darted to his face. She seemed perplexed by what she saw.

"What do you mean by 'shock'? she asked anxiously.

"Could you know? Lila fainted while she was talking to you."

Dorothy made for the stairs.

"Where is she? In her room?"

Herbert didn't follow her. He stood in the hall, looking up at the foot of the stairf, frowning thoughtfully.

Was Dorothy telling the truth, he wondered, when she claimed that she had been talking to Lila; or was she merely trying to shield Lila? What could Dorothy Cain have said to send his wife into a dead faint?

Dorothy, meantime, had found Lila, pale and listless, on her dressing-room couch. She locked the door, walked over to the couch, and knelt down, taking Lila's hands in hers.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Topaz jewelry, good in the daytime if simple in design, lovely with the honey-beiges at night if more formally set, should in general not be chosen by the blonde; but this is a stone for the olive-skinned brunette and for some types with auburn hair—not the red-haired blonde, but the woman whose hair is dark red and whose eyes are brown.

The jeweled brooches and pins which are an important note of fashion at present are practical as well as pretty, as Paris uses them, for they form the fastening as well as the decoration of some of the newest dresses, and Jessy uses them to hold together one of those frocks which open all the way up the front over a foundation, and she places a pin at the neck, another at the waist, and a third just above the knees.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my late teens. I love a boy a few years older than I am. He has spoken to me twice. Will you please tell me how I can win his love, or overcome my love for him?

LOVES-ME-NOT.

LOVES-ME-NOT: Since you hardly know this boy, I doubt very much if you love him, my dear, and am inclined to suspect that you are rather in love with love. Why not casually invite him to come to see you when next you meet and if he is interested in you he will make all the advances necessary to develop your friendship. I would advise you not to be seriously concerned about him and put aside these thoughts of love. Enlarge your circle of friends and do not try to force or hasten the love that will come to you some day.

RED PEPPERS END AGONY OF RHEUMATISM

Red Pepper Rub takes the "ouch" from sore, stiff, aching joints. It can not hurt you and it certainly stops that old rheumatism torture at once.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have relief quicker than lief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness is gone.

Ask any good druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

FINAL GAME OF CAGE LG. TONIGHT

Weir's Team Hook Up With Johnny Kerr For Group Laurels

The final game of the Y.M.C.A. House Basketball League will be played tonight at nine o'clock with Johnny Kerr's peppery squad lining up against the team captained by Vern Weir. Up to date neither of the teams has suffered defeat having three straight wins chalked up and the winner of tonight's game will tote home the turkey. It appears like a case of youth and viger lining up against older and probably a trifle more experienced ballcasters as Weir himself has had oodles of experience and his chief running mate Jimmy Alexander has been playing for the last decade. Kerr has some smart basketball laddies on his roster and every one of them will bear watching. They have simply walked through every team in the league and on the dope they should take Mr. Weir's aggregation into camp. The latter may be minus the services of Milt Davidson smart scoring centre man who is laid up with injuries. "Doc" Faulkner of McGill Seniors will referee the game.

The Intermediates held a stiff workout on the "Y" floor last night to keep in trim for the campaign after the ball day. They were defeated by R.M.C. on Saturday night but the boys are all confident that they can turn the tables on the cadets in the return engagement.

Plans are in the making for the annual "Old Boys" game on New Year's Day. Ralph Morden, Physical Director, is planning a swim meet some night in the near future.

Newsy Neighborhood Notes

INJURED IN FALL

Kingston, Dec. 21.—Mr. R. J. Reid met with an unfortunate accident on Princess street on Saturday night about eleven o'clock. He had been late at his store and when between Montreal and Bagot streets he slipped on some ice and was thrown heavily to the walk. Mr. Reid was assisted to his feet, and a doctor, who was driving past, took him to his home on Lower Union St. It was found that Mr. Reid had sustained the fracture of two ribs, and he will be confined to his home for a few days.

WATCH YOUR POULTRY

Kingston, Dec. 21. —Purchasers of poultry on the market are advised to watch the liver carefully. White spots on the liver indicate that the fowl is tubercular and unfit for food. A citizen purchased a chicken on the market and when it was being dressed the liver looked suspicious. It was submitted to Mr. Wilson, the market inspector, and pronounced tubercular. This is the second case of the kind that has been discovered recently.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Cobourg, Dec. 21.—Colin Athouse, Seymour Township, was committed for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction in County Police Court at Cobourg Monday afternoon before Magistrate W. H. Floyd, when he was charged with seducing a young girl between the ages of 16 and 18. The case, which lasted throughout the forenoon and part of the afternoon, was held in camera, only witnesses and those directly interested in the case being permitted to enter the court room.

GIVEN FREEDOM

Cobourg, Dec. 21.—Because the prisoner had no previous police court record and was of rather tender years to send to prison to associate with hardened criminals, Judge R. C. H. Hayden permitted Lorne Kenneth Wicke his freedom in County Judge's Criminal Court at Cobourg this morning when the young man came for sentence. Wicke was tried and convicted recently before Judge Hayden and Jury of attempting to break and enter the Couch, Johnston and Cryderman departmental store at Bowmanville.

NO DRUNKENESS

Oshawa, Dec. 21.—So far no case of drunkenness has occurred in Oshawa to mar the city's splendid record for sobriety since the establishment of a Government Liquor Store and beer warehouse a week ago. Chief of Police Friend is more than pleased with the new condition which it appears to have brought about. This morning there was not one case of any kind on the police book, and no court was held.

ACQUITTED OF PERJURY

Whitby, Dec. 21.—W. E. Widner, of the Gladstone Garage, Toronto, was acquitted on a charge of perjury in court here yesterday before Police Magistrate A. J. Hand, of Oshawa. The case was dismissed through lack of evidence. It arose out of a motor car accident which also resulted in a civil court action.

BOWLING

HARDWARE SET A NEW ALLEY RECORD

The Hardware gave the All Stars a decisive beating in their game last night at the Recreation Alleys and not only won the supper but smashed all alley records when they rolled a total score of 3396, the previous high score of 3342 was hung up nearly three years ago. The Hardware got away in a fine start by rolling 1264 against the All Stars 1234 and in the second they rolled 1188 and the All Stars 1091. In the last string the All Stars made a gallant effort to pull the fat out of the fire and managed to win the last game by 167 pins but fell short 161 pins the final score being, Hardware 3396, All Stars 3235. C. Anderson for the Hardware sure helped his team mates to win the game by rolling 356 for the highest single score and 628 for his three strings. C. Cornell for the All Stars was next in line with 789.

In a Junior League game the Alerts counted three points and the Stevens-Adamson Shops won one, the down the second line of defence and if this pair continue to show last year's form it will take a Morenz and a couple of Joliats to coast through.

The wing positions will be taken care of by Hagerman and Whalen unless some of these new ones show something unusual. This pair have been playing hockey since they were knee high to a grasshopper and the funny part of the whole thing is that like good wines they seem to im prove with age.

"If that's not all there's some new ones who have yet to be seen and who knows but what a Clancy or a Shore may not be hidden some's in the deck, just waiting for the chance to make good.

Morgan Jarvis of Auliville and Doyle of Picton will turn out and both hear excellent reps as past mas ters at the art of wielding the hickory.

POLICE RECRUITS WILL BE CHECKED

Toronto, Ont.—As a result of three men having been discovered in the ranks of the Toronto police force in the past two years with previous criminal records, Chief of Police Dickson has decided that henceforth all recruits for the police force must be both photographed and finger printed. He issued an order to this effect this week.

The finger-print records will, besides being filed for reference at detective headquarters, be sent on to the Dominion Bureau at Ottawa, and to the United States Bureau of Identification at Washington, D.C., so that if any suspicion is felt against an applicant for a position in the force, the matter can be settled without delay and with satisfaction.

B.A. Shops taking the second game by 10 pins while the Alemite won the first and third game and the total. The Junior race is sure very close this year if the Moose can win their four points in their last game they will have the Junior League cinched, but if they win less than four it is going to cause two or more ties.

Alemite—Darrah 594; Belnap 572; Kerr 680; Palmer 457; Flagler 590. Total 2893.

B. A. Shops—E. Ehler 660; C. Cornell 504; A. Ehler 576; P. Cornell 561; O. Doyle 430. Total 2531.

The C.N.R. Shops had their own turkey roll at the Recreation Alleys last night with the following results. Armstrong got first prize with 622, with Amo second, 585, and Daynard third, 502. This competition was open only to the new bowlers.

DONATIONS TO THE CHILDREN'S AID SOC.

The Children's Aid Society makes the following grateful acknowledgment of donations to their work for little children: •

Dear Sir:—

On behalf of the Management Committee of the Children's Shelter. We gratefully acknowledge the following donations to help us to clear of the liability.

We need Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1,500). Will you, kind reader, help us. Every donation either large or small, is fully appreciated. It helps us to help those who need helping. Poor helpless little ones.

We have today in our Shelter thirty-two (32) dear little children. Happy and content because somebody cared, someone thought of them. Others are needing a helping hand. Will you be the one to throw out the life line to them by contributing to this most needful cause?

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year

Ja see Lou Marsh's all star lineup in the Toronto Star. Everyone has agreed with Lou's choices with the exception of Eddie Wright of Peterboro who said that a couple of substitutes be added.

Mickey the office boy sez they's going to be one swell Christmas pre sent for the fans this year with that Cornwall squad breezing into town next week. What more could the sport fan wish for than to open his stocking and find the Cornwall Flying Frenchmen billed for Carl Arnott's ice emporium on the 30th of December.

The Cornwall team still have one or two of the real good stiff skills ling around for whom the big money had little enticement.

By "The Observer"

However the three shining lights, Tilton the brilliant centre man Cliffe the flying cloud on the defence and Art Coutant the pudgy little pugnacious wing man are among the missing this year and Manager Johnnie Dennenay will have some sweet job to fill their shoes.

The Kingston Whig-Standard has been making merry at the expence of Belleville's ice palace and the worn-out veterans who will represent the city in the O. H. A. The scribe says that with Ollie Cooper having bled himself to others parts the Quinte City ice sit much is counted out of the race but we can't forget how absolutely putrid the Frontenacs looked on at least one occasion last winter. You can safely wager that cubby box of Havanas that Aunt Mary gave you, that the Maroons will at least be as far up the ladder at the end of February as the Tombstoners are.

Manager Eddie Thomas is seldom caught napping and the locals have been a fine account of themselves in past seasons and they will not be the under-dogs this year.

It won't be long now.

Following closely on the heels of the Cornwall game will see the Brockville team here on January 2nd. If the Maroons can salt these two fracases away they will be all-time pretty. But....

Well Eddie Thomas says there's nothing to it so that settles it.

Car Arnott proprietor of the Turnbull Street refrigerator claims he'll have a sheet of ice ready for tonight and there's a possibility that the boys may step out to iron the kinks out.

Jack Rooney is going to be a hard man to keep off the regulars this year and the boy who slings cash, net hash, down the street has been getting in some useful practice with the badminton racket and that's the fastest game in the world, at 165. those who play the game say it is. Jack says he can step sixty minutes right now in any old hockey game already he has been out on the pond etc. on the blades and is about the first to get down to business. It wouldn't hurt some of the others to do the same.

That young cock robin Johnny Hibbert is another youngster who's apt to take the wind out of the sails of some of these older and wiser heads. The little secret-spy was a dilly in his day with the juniors and with his hornet tactics around centre will create a merry season when he steps out on the blades.

Bohan has the goal position, nailed down, lock stock and barrel unless John Ross Roach's twin brother steps into town. Bohan is as brown as a nut after a strenuous season on the lakes and if he measures up to last year's form the fans will be well satisfied. The jumping-jack made them all sit up and take notice around the circuit last year and he was just about the best in the Eastern district.

FIRST NEWS CAME TWO YEARS AFTER

Wrangel Island, Polar Sea, (By The Canadian Press)—The first news of the outside world settlers of this far-away spot had had in more than two years was brought when Captain Kosh chiff, Soviet Russian pilot, came in his aeroplane.

Wrangel Island has a governor, a teacher, a doctor, their wives and a handful of settlers, all having been here since 1925, when the Soviet flag was hoisted in the name of the Moscow Government.

Knoblieff came here from Kamtchatka. Upon departing from the island the flier made straight for the northern coast of Siberia, following the course of the Lena River, making occasional stops in remote villages to demonstrate the aeroplane for the benefit of primitive Mongol tribes.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Also Take a Little Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean the way nature intended. Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. The famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

In the distance, the Limited tearing down the tracks at full speed—as the train approaches, the fleeting figure rises to the girl's poise himself for an instant, and makes a flying jump for the platform of the rear car—missing by a hair's breadth being ground under the wheels of the overhanging monster. The man darts into the first compartment avail able and there comes face to face with a beautiful creature in a bewitching negligee.

All of this chain of circumstances there is born a romantic action-drama, which promises surging, throbbing excitement, appealing sentiment and delightful humor.

It is "Driftin' Thru," the first of a series of special Westerns being made by the beloved cowboy, Harry Carey, for release by Pathe and showing tomorrow at the Regent Theatre.

ORIGINAL DOCUMENT HAS BEEN FOUND

Richmond, Va., (By C.P.)—A copy of the original document conveying the "Northwest Territory" from Virginia to the United States and signed by Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe has been discovered in the Virginia archives by Colonel John W. Williams, clerk of the Virginia House of Delegates.

The deed, handwritten and yellow with age, was brought to light from an old volume of state papers, one of many which Colonel Williams has spent ten years in indexing. The document, apparently made in triplicate, is in excellent condition and bears the date of May 3, 1784. It is signed by Thomas Jefferson, S. Hardy, Arthur Lee, and James Monroe, delegates in congress from Virginia.

This territory, northwest of the Ohio River, to which it applies has now approximate population of 20,000,000 persons today and is made up of the states of Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan.

NATURAL CAUSES JURY'S VERDICT

Alex. Hladin, Russian From Deloro Died Of Pericarditis

The Jury empanelled to enquire into the death of Alex Hladin, 45, a Russian employed by the Deloro Smelting Company, who died in the Belleville General Hospital last Saturday evening, found that his demise was due to natural causes.

Coroner Dr. Tennant at the police court

The hearing was held before Coroner Dr. Tennant at the police court. He was also present on behalf of the Crown.

The two physicians, Drs. Finnigan and Chamberlain who attended the deceased were the only witnesses summoned. They stated that death was due to pericarditis, which was the outcome of the post-mortem examination.

Hladin, who had been an employee of the Deloro mines for the past four months, was taken ill some time ago and was being taken care of at the company's hospital when his condition grew worse and his removal to the local institution was ordered.

The remains were interred in the Belleville Cemetery, the funeral having taken place from Tickell's Undertaking parlors. He had no relatives in Canada.

Changed $20 Bill In Seattle From Parker Ransom Money

ELUDED CORDON

All Night Search Of City Fruitless—Believed Gone North

Vancouver, Dec. 22.—Greater Vancouver police officers at the international boundary and constables in every town and hamlet on the lower mainland of British Columbia joined in extensive man hunt for William Edward Hickman, alleged kidnapper-slayer of Los Angeles, were word was flashed last night that he had made his appearance in Seattle.

City police headquarters was notified of Hickman's appearance and all forces on the lower mainland were immediately warned by telephone or telegraph. Throughout the night roads from the south were kept under surveillance in the event that Hickman attempted to cross Canada on his headlong flight from the south. A report yesterday that Hickman had been seen in Vancouver was discounted by the police.

Search Fruitless

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 22.—Police that William Edward Hickman accused abductor and slayer of Marion Parker, 12, of Los Angeles, had eluded the nation-wide dragnet of police officers here and had headed for Canada was admitted by officers here today after a night of search for the youthful fugitive.

Downtown cafes, hotels, apartments, hotels and rooming houses were searched without avail while deputy sheriffs and state patrolmen guarded all high ways leading from the city. This morning the search admittedly had been failure and officials directed it believed that Hickman was headed for the north.

Recognized at Portland

Los Angeles, Dec. 22.—William Hickman accused kidnapper-slayer held up by Lyle Jones, Portland Sunday night taking his green sedan which was seen yesterday by two Portland, Oregon boys, who identified Hickman as the driver, it became known today.

Changed $20 Note

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 22.—A hot trail, believed to be that of William Hickman was followed by six hundred Seattle officers today after a youth resembling the suspected kidnapper and slayer of Marion Parker, left one of the gold notes received as ransom from her father in a cafe here.

The search for the fleeing man, regulated the little daughter of Parry Parker, Los Angeles police officer and dumped the torn body almost at the feet of the distracted father after receiving $1,500, switched from California to the state of Washington with electrical suddenness last night when an excited bystander shouted the police a twenty dollar bill identified as one of those which Parker had given the kidnapper. The number on the bill which the store proprietor received from the customer was B 60016729. The numbers on the bills which Parker gave were K59916234 to K60016729 inclusive.

When notified of this clue detective Chief Herman Oliver, Los Angeles said "search in my opinion is near the end. The payment of the $20 identified bills just about clinches the case, I think."

TRAPPER KILLED IN HIS OWN TRAP

Kenora, Dec. 22.—A trap which he set for animals, cost Jack Presley, veteran Kenora trapper, his life, Provincial police investigating the tragedy stated today. Presley so arranged a trap that an animal stood trip over a copper wire and discharge it. He trap and over the wire himself and was shot instantly.

ATLANTIC TELEPHONE IS NOT MUCH OF A SUCCESS

London, Dec. 22.—The Atlantic calls a day on the average." But that was the high point. From June 21 to November 14, the average was 2.29 calls today, averaging four and one-half calls.

THE WEATHER

Moderate north winds fair today and Friday, not much change in temperature.

THE ILL-FATED SUBMARINE "S-4"

Just Another Tragedy of the Sea

submarine S-4 kept up their pathetic signals. The last coherent message picked up by the oscillators of the sister-ship S-8 was the tragic query: "Is there any hope?" A jumble of sounds was construed as an acknowledgment from Lieut. Graham Newell Rich of a message from his wife and mother were praying for him. Picture shows the "S-4" during recent naval manoeuvers.

ASK REMOVAL OF FIFTY CENT TAX

Cheaper Wine For Ontario If Government Takes Off Impost

Toronto, Dec. 22.—Cheaper wine is in prospect for the Ontario public if the winery concerns of the province are successful in the application which they pressed yesterday before Hon. Dr. J. D. Monteith, Provincial Treasurer, and Hon. W. H. Price, K.C., Attorney-General. Visiting the Parliament Buildings as a deputation, the winery proprietors asked that they be relieved of the 50 cent per gallon tax which the province imposes upon their product. They argued that the tax had been a luxury measure imposed upon wines, beers and carbonated beverages and subsequently removed from everything except wines. Their request was that they be placed upon the same basis as the beer and carbonated beverage manufacturers. The 50 cent per gallon tax, it was declared, prevented the manufacturers from giving the Liquor Control Board as favorable a price as they would desire, and so created as a discrimination in favor of imported wines.

Hon. Dr. Monteith heard the representations of the deputation and asked its members to file a statement of their case with him. He would then give it consideration, he promised, when he should come to prepare his budget.

PRINCE'S CHRISTMAS GIFTS

London, Dec. 22.—The Prince of Wales is giving shagreen and ivory cigarette boxes to his friends as gifts this Christmas At the side is a little knob which when pressed slides out two trays of cigarettes automatically. The Prince's gift to the Queen will be a diamond pin and that to the little daughter of the Duchess of York will be a farmyard of jewelry animals.

ADMIT 180 MORE BRITISH TO U. S.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Dec. 22.—Latest ruling of the United States government on immigration laws governing the admittance of British born immigrants to his country, will allow the entrance of 18 additional British born immigrants at this port after January 1 G. C. D. Fuller, acting United States Consul at Niagara Falls, Ontario, said today. Consul staff is busy compiling notices to those on the waiting list. They will be asked to present themselves for examination and entry papers will be presented to the first 180 on this waiting list. About 250 are on the list.

AVIATORS NEAR NEW YORK IN LONG FLIGHT

Lopez, Belbeck, Dec. 22.—Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Le Brix were almost a thousand miles closer to New York today, having reached here from Santiago, Chili after twelve hours, 22 minutes of the non-stop flying over the most mountainous territory.

ADDED CHARGES FOR A. T. STONE

Stock Salesman At Madoc Has Bail Reduced To $10,000

Arthur T. Stone who was arrested at Madoc some weeks ago and taken to St. Thomas to face several charges appeared yesterday afternoon on a fourth charge of obtaining money under false pretences. Stone, who styled himself manager of the Art Stone Company of Belleville, is now charged with embezzling $200.00 from Ernest Exley of St. Thomas on June 7th. He was remanded on all four charges pending arrest him and his bail was reduced from $20,000 to $10,000 on the consent of the Crown. Stone made a statement in court to the effect that the amount of stock he is alleged to have sold in St. Thomas was greatly exaggerated, also on the face of the sales receipts was written "money will be returned on demand." Mr. Stone said no person had demanded a return of the money yet he was arrested on a charge of fraud. The Art Stone Company is described as a company for the manufacture of stone products. Nothing is known of the concern here.

SEEK HER SLAYER

Marion Parker

Aroused by the brutal murder and mutilation of a 12-year-old Los Angeles girl, police throughout the country are conducting an intensive search for Edward Hickman, 19-year-old former bank clerk, who has been positively identified by the police as the perpetrator of the most hideous crime in California's history. Police say Hickman was seeking revenge for a supposed wrong. Here is shown Marion Parker, whose mutilated body was found out of an automobile at the feet of her father, Perry M. Parker, who had come to an appointed street corner in the northwest section of the city, carrying $1,500 in ransom money demanded.

NO INCREASE IN BUILDING PLANS

British Government Will Not Enlarge Its Naval Program

London, Dec. 22.—Declaration that the British Government has no intention of embarking upon an increase in its naval building programme despite the "temporary failure" of the Geneva Naval Conference to reach an agreement was contained in the speech from the throne at Prorogation of Parliament today.

The section of the speech dealing with the allied war debts emphasized that the policy of the government was to limit it's claims on the allies to such amount as, together with reparations, would cover the government's own war debts obligations. It was brought out that war debt funding arrangements had been signed by Great Britain with all the countries concerned except Russia.

After brief clippings of both houses to impose of certain outstanding bills and the reading of the King's speech parliament was prorogued until February 2.

BARRIE ACCLAIMS ACTOR'S DAUGHTER

London, Dec. 22.—Jean Forbes-Robertson, 23-year-old daughter of Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, was acclaimed by Sir James M. Barrie as the greatest Peter Pan ever, after the annual opening of his classic. Barrie occupied a box with a lot of children and heard the revival at first hand. Miss Wendy was played by Mary Casson, 18-year-old daughter of Sybil Thorndike. Miss Forbes-Robertson has hitherto been noted for tragic roles.

NEED NOT LOOK FOR STILLS NOW

Pawtuxket, Rhode Island, Dec. 22.—President David Daly of Blackstone Valley Gas and Electric Company today revoked his order, issued last week directing meter readers and other employees to report the existence of stills and other apparatus that may indicate a violation of prohibition laws.

When the order was issued Mr. Daly made public a statement saying he was retiring under direction of "United States District attorneys". Since then, John J. Murdock, United States District Attorney for Rhode Island has declined directing any such order.

ROYAL FAMILY TO GATHER AT SANDRINGHAM HOUSE

London, (Canadian Press Cable), Dec. 22.—King and Queen left London today in accordance with their usual custom to spend the Christmas season at Sandringham, a country which has been followed by King George and his father ever since King Edward Seventh., then Prince of Wales, acquired Sandringham estate in the early "seventies."

However, this will be King George's second Christmas actually at Sandringham House, for during the life time of Queen Alexandra he used to occupy the neighboring York House. A good many changes have been made for their majesties' comfort and convenience but none to disturb the pleasant memories of Queen Alexandra. The King and Queen expect to be joined at Sandringham during the Christmas week-end by the Prince of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York and Princess Elizabeth and other members of the Royal Family.

CERTAIN NOW THAT ALL ENTOMBED MEN HAVE PERISHED IN THE 'S-4'

Admiral In Charge Convinced That They Could Not Survive

SIGNALS UNANSWERED

Line Attached And Foul Air Is Pumped Out Of Hull

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 22.—Rear Admiral Frank Brumby, in charge at the salvage operations at the sunken submarine "S-4" admitted at eleven o'clock today that there was no longer hope that life existed on board the submarine. "I have not the slightest doubt that there is no life on the S-4," the admiral said.

Air Is Less Foul

Boston, Mass., Dec. 22.—A message received by the navy yard from Provincetown today stated that air pumped from the wrecked S-4 was markedly less foul and that no signals in response to hammer taps of divers had been heard. The message follows:

"Alternate blowing and venting of air lines to the torpedo compartment has been continuing and vented air is now markedly less foul. The air line was attached and put into use shortly after midnight. Divers have examined the bows of the submarine on both sides and find the upper torpedo tube shutters closed. Lower torpedo tube shutters are closed but a plaster of mud is over them.

"Weather continued good and the 'Falcon' has some lee as the wind had shifted to the northward. Examination of hull and other parts of the work is in progress."

"Listening has been continued but no signals are heard and no response to the divers' hammer taps."

Resume Operations

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 22.—Diving operations at the sunken submarine "S-4" were resumed at 8.15 this morning, divers being instructed to survey the position of the wreck previatory to an attempt to raise it to the surface. No messages had been heard from the torpedo room at that hour. When work was resumed today after a five-hour suspension, the air compressor of the "Falcon" had been forced air into the torpedo room for more than ten hours.

No Answer To Signals

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 22.—No indications of life could be discovered in the torpedo room of the sunken submarine "S-4" at three o'clock this morning, after air had been pumped into the compartment for five hours. At that hour diving operations were suspended by the wrecking ships until seven o'clock.

Six divers went down to the sunken vessel after three others had searched for the wreck, which lost its marking buoys in the gales of Saturday and Tuesday. The last diver to go down was C. Scott, who submerged at 2.10 and was down for fifty minutes. Fifteen minute intervals throughout the night the oscillator of the "Falcon's" "phone", flag ship of the salvage fleet, sent signals to the S-4 but not a sound came from the torpedo room in which six men had been imprisoned since Saturday afternoon.

JUST TWO STAND FOR MAYORALTY

Toronto, Dec. 22.—Mayoralty campaign was narrowed down today to a contest between Mayor T. Foster and Samuel McBride. Controller Albert Hacker announced on Wednesday he will campaign for re-election to the Board of Control.

BACK TO GOLD

Italy Re-Establishes Her Currency On Stabilized Basis

London, Eng., Dec. 22.—Return of Italy to the gold standard today left France and Spain as the two principal European countries which have not stabilized their currencies since the war. Great Britain, India, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Sweden and Poland have gold standards although in Sweden it is only on a dollar basis. Countries which have not come into line yet are France, Norway, Spain, Denmark, Greece, Turkey and Bulgaria, although Bulgaria is partly on and working toward a gold basis.

COMB TERRITORY FOR CAR THIEVES

Resisted Police And Made Escape Over Twelve Miles Of Swamp

Authorities are combing the territory near Campbellford in the hopes of apprehending two young men of the district who recently attacked Chief of Police Ligat. They were tracked over twelve miles of swampland yesterday but the armed posse failed to get any trace of the culprits. Sunday night a car owned by Walter Fox was stolen from near Grace Church, Trenton. Chief Ligat of Campbellford was notified to be on the look-out for the automobile and he noticed the car parked in that town a few hours later with three men in it. Percy Schell, a young man in the district, was arrested but his two companions escaped on foot.

Another young boy was also in the car but he was held by the police. Schell was remanded when he appeared in Trenton police court yesterday.

Resisted Officers

Chief Ligat yesterday notified Chief Bain of Trenton that he had found two men in a shack near Campbellford and Chief Bain and Officer David Sylvester of the local Provincial Police responded and met with difficulty as they visited the place. One of the men flung a bottle at Chief Ligat and the other upset the store pipes at the officers. They slipped away into the swamp and he help of citizens was enlisted to run down the men. The pursuers lost the trail twelve miles from the shack at Murdy's Station and they have not been heard of since. A relentless search is being maintained.

GRAPHIC STORY OF FISHERMEN

Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 22.—How they battled death for seven hours, bailing water from their sinking boat with their hats in near-zero weather, was described today by two fishermen rescued by coastguards from West Sister Island, 21 miles out in Lake Erie, where they had been marooned since last Thursday.

The fishermen, Louis Prancke and W. M. Meyers, of Erie, Mich., still were suffering from exposure when landed here and were taken to a hospital.

They probably owe their lives to George Gampher, 45, lighthouse keeper, who found them last Friday morning unconscious in the small dory in which they had drifted to the island.

Prancke and Meyers bailed with their hats until they became unconscious from the cold. When they awoke they were in the lighthouse on West Sister Island, and Mrs. Mary Gampher, 64, mother of the keeper, was administering to them.

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

Words are like leaves; and where they most abound,
Much fruit of sense beneath is rarely found.

POPE.

THE BRITISH WAY

The report of the Imperial Airways of Great Britain for the past two years shows the effectiveness of the British way of doing things. In the United States there has been a tendency to place aviation on a spectacular plane, to attempt almost impossible feats, thus causing considerable loss of life. The past year has been a disastrous one for aviation on this continent, and in contrast, the report of the British concern is interesting.

Since January 1, 1925, the Imperial Airways have carried 15,000 passengers, a total of over twenty-one million miles without a single accident. That is a remarkable record. And on top of it comes the further announcement that the concern has a surplus of $5,000 as the result of its last year's operations. There has been nothing spectacular about the operations of the company. It has attempted nothing of a freak nature, and nothing of great hazard. Instead, it has gone about the business of furnishing aerial transportation in a business-like way, which is the typical British way. Therefore it is not surprising to find that the venture has been crowned with success as well as operated with one hundred per cent. of safety.

A LITTLE PRAISE

Nobody has ever explained satisfactorily why every human being is susceptible to the laudatory recognition of his or her work. Praise has no material value yet "how we love it." There is probably nothing that inspires us to better work than commendation to our ability and efforts.

Did you ever see a restaurateur and his chef gleaming at the diners heartily devouring a good meal. The approval of their food gives the restaurateur and the cook more satisfaction than the money they receive for their labors. Eat as though you like the food and your host enjoys the meal better than you possibly could.

Observe your bootblack some morning. Have you noticed how he makes the shine cloth snap and sing? How he rubs and rubs until he can see his own shiny nose mirrored on the toe of your shoe? He isn't working now for that nickle up. He wants your stamp of approval on his ability as a shiner-of-shoes. Watch his pearly teeth gleam and the whites of his eyes sparkle when you remark "That's some shine!"

Your local merchants depend for a living upon pleasing you but it is not only because of business reasons that they smile broadly when you tell them about the tasty cakes, the durable shoes, the lovely dress, the excellent suit or whatnot you purchased from them. Try it once and see if they won't try to please you even better with your next purchase. They will—for unlike stage folk who can't "do their stuff" without applause. It seems foolish but it is extremely human.

But while you are passing around your praises and encomiums don't ever look those at home. It will help the children to do better work in school and to be more obedient at home. It will make the housework less a drudgery for the woman folks and a little praise now and then makes the serious business of making a comfortable living for the wife and children a little easier and more pleasurable for the man of the house.

CHARACTER

After the recent floods in Vermont which caused much commercial disaster as well as considerable loss of life and great distress, a number of Massachusettes bankers agreed to lend money to business men, farmers and others without security, except as to character. This is helping a lot of good men.

It recalls what John Pierpont Morgan used to say, that character was the first collateral he wanted. He loaned millions on that, and is said never to have lost any of it.

Moral for the boy entering business life—be straight. Straight with money straight in decency and thoughtfulness and kindness with family and friends, straight in doing an honest day's work straight in every duty a man should recognize.

NAVAL PROGRAM

The United States seems decided to embark on a program of naval construction calculated to cost from $725,000,000 up. That figure is the new administration recommendation, and added to what is already authorized would involve expenditure of at least $1,000,000,000 in the next five years—possibly a half more. There are to be 71 new war vessels.

Seems a large order. The statement is made however that this does not contemplate anything more than is permitted under the Washington Arms Treaty with Great Britain and Japan.

Maybe the people think the United States needs 71 new war ships to protect its coasts and keep a grip on Porto Rico, the Panama Canal, the Philippines and Hawaii, but nobody looks to us to be threatening much.

What between building new war ships and staying out of the League of Nations, Uncle Sam's ideas do not seem to have benefited much by the Volstead Act.

THE NATIVITY

When Christ was born of Mary free
In Bethlehem, in that fair city,
Angels sungen with mirth and glee,
"In excelsis gloria!"

Herdman beheld these angels bright,
To them appeared with great light,
And said: "God's Son is born this night—
"In excelsis gloria!"

This King is come to give His kind,
As in-Scripture we may find;
Therefore, this song have we in mind,
In excelsis gloria!

Then, Lord, for Thy great grace,
Grant us the bliss to see Thy face,
Where we may sing to Thee solace,
In excelsis!

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

Politeness has already become one of the lost arts, and it yields bigger dividends than almost anything else, with the possible exception of honesty.—Brantford Expositor.

A modern commandment might run: Thou shalt not live beyond thy neighbor's means.—Montreal Star.

We may not think the pietographer does us justice but what a good many of us need at his hands is mercy.—Sault Daily Star.

There is truth in Vincent Massey's statement that one of the evils of the present time is standardization of character, which is a drag on the development of individuality. It is an evil which is almost rife in the United States, and we Canadians should do all in our power to combat it and protect this country from American standardization. It should be our aim to be different.—Hamilton Herald.

The Rhodes scholarship in Illinois has been awarded to a Chicago student, and we hate to think what Mayor Thompson will say if he meets the young man.—Buffalo Courier-Express.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

"So, this baby is a girl?" beamed the rector, as he walked round the baby show.

The proud father assented.

"And this other one—is it of the contrary sex?"

His wife's eyes were on him but with no thought of the wrath to come he replied, blithely. "Yes, she's a girl, too."

Returned Native: "What's happened to old Mack's beard and hair?" Has he been in prison?"

Villager: "No: but since 'e opened a barber's shop 'e 'asn't been able to resist 'aving a free shave and haircut each day."

Minister (who has dropped in unexpectedly): "What a delightful thing it is to see the young folks filled with Christmas cheer. All so gay, so animated!

Host: Er—I dont suppose you touch the stuff yourself, sir?

"Yes, madam, I am an official of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; what can I do for you?"

"I wish to call your attention to the inhuman practice of scratchin' race horses. My husband, who is by, no means a kind-hearted man, is much disturbed about it too."

Jane—"An, just because I sauced 'er she threatens to sack me wivout a character."

Annie—"An' wat did you say?"

Jane—"Told 'er I didn't want no character seein' I was goin' ter be married."

Lady (apologetically) — "Excuse me smiling, but really you look just like the tramps they draw in the comic papers."

Tramp—"Well, Lady, I 'ope I ain't expected to be as blinkin' smart at backchat as some of them blokes."

"Has he a profession?"
"No, I understand he works."

THE PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Patrick Murphy, ex-Reeve of Hungerford, Township, had an narrow escape from drowning on Monday when he attempted to drive across Stocco Lake, and the ice broke through. The horse was saved but Mr. Murphy lost a satchel containing a sum of money and important papers.

Marion Ketcheson, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Ketcheson, Pos tor Ave., had a narrow escape from a horrible death yesterday. The child got hold of some matches and while playing with them her dress caught fire. Her clothes were all burned to cinders, her hair was singed and her eyebrows scorched, but no other injuries resulted.

Mr. Wm. H. Schakel, Physical Director of Albert College, is spending his holidays in Hamilton.

Miss Pearl Fanning, who has been visiting her sister in Cornwall for some months, has returned to the City.

After an illness of ten days, Napoleon Lalonde died this morning at his residence, Brassey St. The deceased who was 41 years of age, was born near Montreal but had lived in Belleville for several years, being an employee of the G. T. R. shops. His wife and seven young children survive him.

Dr. Moran of Trenton was in the City to-day.

"Quality higher than Price"

DEMAND FOR WAR TOYS

London, December 21.— After ten peaceful Christmases there will be war in English nurseries this year. Toy makers report that not since before the war has there been such a demand for toy cannons, submarines, battleships, armored cars and airplanes. Manufacturers explained that the boom in war toys was due to recent productions of war films and the fact that the wounds left by the Great War have more or less healed.

THE BULLETIN BOARD
Mainly About People You Know

FIRST TIME

For the first time this week there was no Police Court this morning, not one drunk or traffic violator appearing before the Magistrate. Police report that despite the treacherously slippery roads few, is any, accidents have occurred in the city. Several cars have skidded into parked automobiles but no damage was done.

TREACHEROUS DRIVING

A local citizen, returning from Toronto by automobile reported that he had seen at least fourteen cars in the ditch between Toronto and Belleville. The driver reported that the worst place for driving was the hill that is struck just as the cars leave Port Hope. He stated that there were six cars by the side of the road near this hill.

CHRISTMAS DUTY

Several priests from neighbouring parishes are assisting Rev. Father Killeen and his assistant, Rev. Father Nolan, at St. Michael's Church today and tomorrow in hearing the Christmas confessions and giving Communion. Several masses will be said Friday and this today morning at convenient hours so that the parishioners may have an opportunity of receiving Holy Communion.

DOINGS AT BRIDGE ST.

These are great days for children. The Christmas season is for children particularly one of the big times of the year and the great oasis of young lives. Bridge St. United Church S.S. scholars are now receiving more annual attention by their elders. Last Sunday afternoon the junior Salvation Army Band dispersed to them a treat of music. The inspiration of young artists proved to be a great impetus to the rising generation. Monday from 4.30 p.m. to 7.20 o'clock the primary pupils numbering around 75, were entertained by their teachers to games and supper in the Sunday school rooms, and how they let loose their expectant feelings at this season of the year!

NO SMOKING RULE

Oshawa Hockey Club have displayed large conspicuous signs requesting the fans at the games to refrain from smoking and as the exhibition till between Port Hope and Peterboro the spectators acceded to the request. It might not be a bad idea to post similar signs in the local arena. Undoubtedly, the players benefit by the "No Smoking" request and the fans enjoy the games much better. Checks could be looked between the periods for those who wish to go outside the rink and thus the clouds of smoke would not be objectionable to the non-smokers who attend the games.

MOOSE EUCHRE

Despite the rush of Christmas shopping a large crowd turned out for the Moose Euchre and dance in the auditorium last evening. The prizes were won as follows: Ladies' 1st, Mrs. St. Louis; 2nd, Mrs. Clapp; 3rd, Mrs. W. McKenna. Gents' 1st, Mr. Phil Harrison; 2nd, Mr. Chas. Coleman; 3rd Mr. S. T. Gill.

Refreshments were served and the music was furnished by the Bon Ton orchestra.

MAILS CLOSE EARLIER

Going to the heavy Christmas rush at the local post office all outgoing mails tomorrow night will close at eleven o'clock and all collections from the street letter boxes will be made one half hour earlier than advertised on the boxes situated in the different parts of the city.

Postmaster A. Gillen and staff of the local Post Office are working overtime with additional help and are despatching the mail with as little delay as possible. As is usual around Christmas the mail again this year is very heavy and with both the outgoing and incoming mail and the exchanging of Christmas cards between local citizens a great deal of time is taken in routing the mail for the various destinations.

STAFF GETS BONUS

Members of the staff of the local Homer L. Gibson Company Office were presented with Christmas bonuses on Christmas gifts this morning. The manager, Mr. Jamieson Bone, was presented with a smoking set by his co-workers.

London, Eng., Dec. 22.—Parliament was prorogued today by The King, in his speech of prorogation His Majesty declared that Great Britain would continue to base its policy on loyal cooperation with the League of Nations.

WIGHT—CLEAVE

A quiet wedding took place at the parsonage of Holloway Street Church yesterday at high noon when Miss Eva May Cleave became the bride of William E. Wight. Both the bride and the groom are residents of Wellington. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. S. Wight, pastor of Holloway Street Church, uncle of the groom, in the presence of only immediate relatives A wedding dinner was served at the parsonage following the pretty affair. The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wight of Hillier. The gift to the bride was a necklace of pearls, to the groom was a set of cuff links and to the bridesmaid, a pin. The bride wore a beautiful costume of rosewood crepe with sand trimming with shoes and stockings to match. The happy couple left for Ottawa for a short honeymoon and on their return they will reside in Wellington.

TODAYS MARKETS

Stocks Hold Gains

New York, Dec. 22.—Desultory profile efforts of bear traders to bring about a reaction, the stock market continued to point upward today on heavy buying for both speculative and investment accounts. Sensational gains took place in a few of the insurance company shares, which are reported to have had the best years in their history .

Peels were again active in a wide assortment of specialties but amusement, copper, merchandising and steel shares gave the best demonstrations of group strength.

Marking up of call money renewal rate to 4 1-2 percent, was regarded as temporary, due to heavy seasonal demands for currency. Dreadnoes developed in some quarters over the volume of brokers' loans which will be reported by Federal Reserve Banc after the close of the market. Because of unusually heavy volume of new financing this week and the advance in stock prices, a substantial increase is looked for in many quarters.

Prices Tend Lower

Chicago, Dec. 22.—Wheat prices appeared lower early today, reflecting bearish figures. The government report as to acreage and condition of the domestic winter crop and increasing shipment of wheat from Argentine were also given notice. Starting at 1-4c to 1-4c decline wheat later held near to the initial range. Corn and oats were firm, corn opening unchang ed to 1-4c higher and subsequently showing slight general gains. Provisions tended to sag.

EXCHANGE RATES

New York, Dec. 22.—Foreign exchanges steady, demand rates in cents. Great Britain 487 7-8. Canadian uniform 5-32 of one per cent discount.

WINNIPEG WHEAT

Winnipeg, Dec. 22.—Wheat, Dec. unchanged to 1-4c lower at 131 to 130 3-4. May unchanged to 1-4c lower at 136 to 135 7-8. July unchanged at 135 1-8. Oats, May, unchanged at 64 1-2.

CLOSING QUOTATIONS

STANDARD MINING EXCHANGE

Quotations supplied by Homer L. Gibson & Co., per Jamieson Bone, local manager.

The market was quite lively today with very little in the way of profit. The announcement that Amulet goes ex rights Jan. 31st did not cause any flurry. Apparently there is nothing approachable a corner in International Nickel. This closed at 61 yesterday and sold up to 59 00 today.

Bidgood was off 10c, Capitol Royn, Granada and Crown Reserve very active, Hollinger and Trek moderately active, Noranda freely bought at $23-50 to $24.00. Some good buying in Fed eral Kirkland and Pawnee Kirkland and Wright Hargreaves around $6.50. Windfall Roupn recently listed sold up from 25c yesterday to 30c today. Hovey and Jackson Mainton were strong.

WEDDING WAS A BRILLIANT ONE

Wedding One Of Sea-Guinness And Plunket son's Events

London.—The name of Guinness has been well to the fore for the marriage of Miss Aileen Guinness and Mr. Brinsley Plunket was an important event, and took place the day before Mrs. Benjamin Guinness' wonderfully successful Russian Ballet Ball. Mr. Plunket and his bride were lucky in their wedding-day weather, and everything went off perfectly. No doubt Miss Aileen Guinness will go down in social history as the Bride of the Long Golden Plaits, due to the individuality of her coiffure. It suited the bride exceedingly well to have her tresses singly hanging in plaits, and emphasized the fact that she is the only member of her family with long hair. The wedding gown had the unusual feature of literally trailing on the ground at the back—though it was not cut with a long train. Its gleaming white panne duchess was just lightly embroidered in crystal and diamante on the lower portion of the skirt, and there was a fetching spray of embroidery across the bodice from shoulder to waist. The beautiful Brussels lace veil was most attractively arranged so that the point of the lace came on the forehead just under the orange-blossom headdress. Altogether, the whole effect was most happy, including the bridesmaids in their parchment velvet dresses, with drooping skirts and effective headdresses of gold lace entwined with deep-red and white pearls. They carried the vanity-bags of gold brocade dotted with pearls which were the gift of the bridegroom.

The vieux-rose ball-room at 17 Grosvenor Place, where the reception took place, was soon crowded with friends and relatives eager to view the handiwods of presents, and the jewelry, which was truly gorgeous.

The ruby-and-diamond bracelet with its three-diamond-button mock fasten ing had pride of place among the many lovely things given by the bride's parents. The bridegroom's gifts to his bride included a diamond wrist-watch on a silver ribbon, as well as a diamond and-emerald cluster; while Lady Victoria Brabtwelle gave a large diamond shamrock brooch studded with pearls. The bride's sisters, the Misses Conagh and Maureen Guinness, gave two brace lets—one of fire-opals, and the other of square-cut rubies; and Mrs. Guinness' many presents included a solid gold sky coat, a diamond-and-sapphire brooch, and two sternity rings. Miss Guinness gave her bridegroom a gold cigarette-case inscribed in a facsimile of her writing: "Every success to my love"—"I" being his way of abbreviating her Christian name. Mrs. Corrigan, faithful to her leaning for wedding gifts, sent an elaborate elderdown of quilted rose taffeta.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING

The bowling tournament at the Y Alleys got off to a fine start for the first night and during this week there is a prize for the high three string and a hidden number. Great rivalry exists and at the close of the night Mrs. Belsaap had the high three string for the Ladies with 623 and Bert Adams the three string for the Men with 695. The hidden number was captured by Miss Ross with 291. The elimination series will get under way the first of next week as most of the players are working this week at nights. There is a large entry in the set entries will be received up till Friday night.

Why does a Scotchman like a high-ball on retiring? To make him sleep tight.

For the Christmas Dinner

Merry Christmas!" with laughter and good wishes and gasps at the wonder of the Christmas Tree and delighted openings of gifts and then—and then the festive Christmas dinner, which is more than a dinner, which is a feast of happiness and a splendor to the eye and a revelation of the pleasant foods of the earth! Scatter your table with ferns and red berries; hang mistletoe where it will give you encouragement. And then seat yourself and prepare for a memorable feast selected from the following recipes. Don't, however, eat the first. It is merely decoration!

Christmas Table Decoration

"Holly in Jelly—Pour liquid jelly into a plain wet mold to make a thin layer. Very carefully arrange holly leaves and berries on this when it has stiffened, remembering that the mold will be upside down when unmolded and the more attractive side must be chosen. Allow the remaining jelly to stiffen slightly and carefully place about the body by spoonfuls, and fill mold in large pieces(this, natural or artificial) and a few sprays of mistletoe may be arranged effectively with the holly.

Fruit Cocktail

1 tablespoonful Knox Sparkling Gelatine
½ cup cold water
½ cup boiling water
1 cup canned or cherry juice
1 tablespoonful lemon juice
½ cup sugar

Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Dissolve in boiling water and add sugar and salt. Add fruit juice and pulp, stirring until it begins to thicken, stir, and turn into wet molds. When firm, unmold and garnish with cheese balls and water cress. Cheese balls should be highly seasoned and mixed with chopped pimentoes Serve with French Dressing.

Jellied Turkey
(Using the left-overs)

1 tablespoonful Knox Sparkling Gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2 cups stock or gravy
Few sprigs parsley
1 onion
2 stalks celery
Dressing
Salt, pepper
Roast turkey, chopped or sliced

Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Place leftover gravy or stock, sliced vegetables and seasonings for raw or left-over stock and any left-over dressing in saucepan (add a little water to make the 2 cups stock if necessary.) Simmer gently one-half hour. Remove bones and add soaked gelatine. Strain, and when mixture begins to stiffen, stir in chopped turkey and additional seasonings. Pour into a wet mold and chill. Serve garnished with sprigs of cranberry jelly and celery tips.

A few books of Christmas recipes suitable for all occasions will be sent upon request to the Home Education Bureau, 730 Broadway, New York City. Send a self-addressed envelope and enough stamps to cover postage.

PARLIAMENTARIANS AND ACTORS ENJOY DINNER--MUCH BANTER

When Press And Actors Meet For Annual Banquet

London.—There is always some good speaking at the dinner of the Stage Golfing Society. George Grossmith was in very good form on Sunday night at the Park Lane hotel. He spent allotted philosophically on the reason why the actor-lad never shone in the larger arts of citizenship, and concluded that it was because the public having known him on the stage, would never take him seriously off it. He then spoke on the nobility of man in applause, and told of an old timer who whenever he heard a clap of thunder always said, "Encore, encore, encore!" Fond of a political peroration containing a tilt at the Socialists, Gee Gee concluded with a passage containing these two pieces of advice to the proles ariat: "Don't pull down the House of Lords, you may want to sit in it one day.....Don't tear the spats off the aristocrat, you may expose the holes in your socks."

Lord Birkenhead was the other star speaker. He got on famously so long as he kept up that splendidly insolent banter of which he is a master. Then he puzzled his hearers, who were waiting for some more "comic stuff," by diverging into a serious review of the dramatic gianth of the past, not excluding those of Athens. These names clearly fell on some ears that had not heard them before. As to giants of the present, Lord Birkenhead said nothing. Perhaps he has not come across any—not even in the Stage Golfing Society.

Burly Oscar Asche also made a speech, and a very neat, good-tempered one, despite the fact that Leslie Henson had, a moment before, called him a "flat piece of ham in the club sandwich." He made everybody laugh by saying that he had got rid of all his greyhounds, and, therefore, had given up hopes of winning the Waterloo Cup but he was trying to link up with the Turf by getting a job as the Ascot "pot."

The entertainment which follows these dinners usually has a smoking-room touch, but what amused the actors most was an old-fashioned "slap-stick" turn by Clowan, who presented to be a ventriloquist getting badly mixed up with his props. The point of the joke of the evening, however, was not made by an actor at all, but, unconsciously, by Sir Alfred Butt, who, when Clowan announced, "there are two staircases to the Queen's Hall, one on the left and one on the left. You are requested to use them both."

Prospectors of the North rush to the newest strike at "Pat." Building by Gordon Murrow find at Burnt-wood River started the rush.

CONDITION THE THING NEEDED

So Says Woman Football Coach In The United States

Atlanta, Ga.—(CP)—"A player who keeps training and does what he should, doesn't get knocked out," is the dogmatic theory laid down by Miss Mary Colvin, Atlanta's woman coach of a high school football team, when she reports that a disloged finger nail is the most serious injury with which her charges have had to contend.

Miss Colvin coaches the smaller boys of O'Keefe Junior High School in three major sports, football, baseball and basketball. Miss Colvin's interest in athletics began at the University of Georgia, where she played basketball.

Her charges, some of them, sell pea nuts and soft drinks at Grand Field where Georgia Tech's games are played and thereby pick up many points she says. "They remember the plays they see," she said, "and we get most of our other formations from the 'Great Play' diagrams printed in the papers. We also have no profanity and no kicking on decisions!"

Miss Colvin announced one other rule—she is known as Miss Colvin, not Coach Colvin. For she wants the boys to remember she is their history teacher, as well.

TWO HEROES

The hero of a recent motor-cycling race was a man who rode the whole two hundred miles with a wasp inside his collar, stinging him without intermission, says "Beachcomber," of the Daily Express. This is undoubtedly a record, and proves not only the endurance of the man, but also that of the wasp. It must have been a close thing which of the two would get sick of it first, and after the first hundred miles neither of them can have had much fun out of his particular job.

BELIEVE 'JINX' IS THE CAUSE

Superstitious Fishermen Think It Has Pursued Race Contenders

Gloucster, Mass., (By C.P.)—Superstitious fishermen of this old seaport city are more than ever convinced that a "jinx" has pursued the contenders in the fishermen's races since their inception in 1920, as a result of the failure of the Columbia, fastest schooner in the Cape Ann fishing fleet, to return to port.

The Columbia, carrying a crew of 20 under command of Captain Lewis Wharton, sailed for the fishing banks last July, but it was not until this fall that her owners finally abandoned hope for her, after an unsuccessful search by coast guard cutters and hitters dories washed ashore at Cable Island had indicated that she had gone down in the terrible storm that lashed the North Atlantic on August 24.

The loss of the Columbia was the worst disaster in the long series of misfortunes which have been the Gloucester as well as the Canadian contenders in the fishermen's races since 1920, when the International Fishermen's Cup was given. During the eliminations series at Halifax that year to choose the Canadian cup contender, the captain of one of the competing schooners fell overboard and was drowned. During the first international races at Halifax in October 1920, one of the owners of the Canadian competitor, the Delawana, died suddenly.

In June, 1921, the Gloucester schooner Esperanto, which had defeated the Delawana to win the international cup, went to her doom in the treacherous reef of Sable Island. It was the schooner Fiale, destined to be the defender of the trophy, that first reached the wrecked Esperanto and took off her crew. Misfortune then befell the Fiale in the next international race series, sailed at Halifax in the fall of 1921. During the second race, while the Fiale was making her best showing, her foremast was carried away.

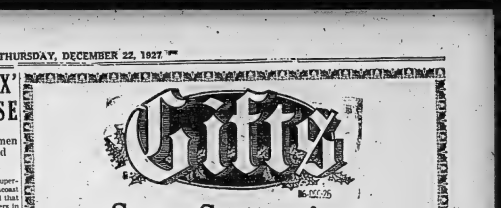

Gloucester, then then built the Puritan as their next contender, but before she was even launched seers of the waterfront knew that she would never race. Her doom was sealed by an old superstitution of the sea when one of her hatches overturned. She left the harbor in May 1922 and three months later was in the "graveyard of the Atlantic," having struck on the northwest bar of Sable Island, almost on the spot where the Esperanto was wrecked.

But disaster failed to discourage the Gloucester fishermen. The Henry Ford was launched an hour after she launched had grounded on a sandbar at the mouth of the Essex River where her hull pounded for a week before she was hauled off, repaired and made ready for fishing. Entered in the 1923 series, the Ford won the first two races only to lose one disallowed by the judges, and then lost the next two and her chances for the trophy to the Canadian schooner, Bluenose. In the last race the Ford was crippled by the loss of her foremast. Trapped then turned on the winner, and the night before the Bluenose was to sail for home one of her crew fell from a dock and was drowned.

In the 1922 elimination races, the Elizabeth Howard, one of the prettiest of all the schooners thatfigured in the fishermen's contests, lost her topmast in one race and barely escaped a collision. Then a destroyer, another year later, in November, 1923, the Elizabeth Howard was lost off Porter's Island, Nova Scotia.

NIGHBOR TWELVE YEARS IN 'PRO'

Famous Poke Check Artist Going Good After Long Career

Ottawa, Dec. 22.—Frank Nighbor, centre ice star of the Senators and the peer in that position in Big Time hockey today rounds out twelve years of active service with the Ottawa hockey team. It was on the night of Wednesday, December 22, 1915, that Frank stepped over the rail at the old Dey Arena on Laurier avenue and played his first game in a red, white and black sweater. The Toronto Shamrocks were Ottawa' opponents that night. Ottawa won handsomely by a score of 7 to 1 Nighbor holding down left wing scored two goals, while the late Jack Darragh playing centre, registered a brace, and Art Ross, Eddie Gerard and Angus Debard each accounted for one goal. Alf Smith, then coach of the Ottawas, assigned Nighbor to defence centre ice patrol on January 8, 1916, and 'Dutch' has since held down this position.

With practically no variation, the comments published in the Ottawa press of December 23, 1915, could quite easily have been reproduced on the sport pages on the morning of December 19, 1927, in connection with Nighbor's stellar performance in the Ottawa-Montreal Mirrors game. One of these sport comments ran: "Frank Nighbor made his first appearance on the season's schedule and dazzling hockey, particularly toward the close, Nighbor scored two of Ottawa's goals and incidentally won his way into the hearts of the crowd." Referee Riley Hem afterwards stated that the popular Pembroke man should prove of great help to Ottawas.

FASHION HISTORY NOT FORGOTTEN

London, Eng. (By The Canadian Press).—Fashions in the papers of the Tunica Literary Supplement may seem unnecessary, but in running up a book: "Modes and Manners of the Nineteenth Century" the reviewer evidently was fascinated. "Fashion book history is not to be despised," he says. And then he tells of the 1799 period when "A slim gentleman whose curled whiskers are lost in the folds of a cravat that smothers his mouth, rubies the hand of a shawled and bonnet lady daintily tripping up a flight of steps; by 1826 they have separated, the gentleman no doubt to fly the Atlantic, while the lady in sports-kit slip along through a Swiss landscape.

"In between these two periods men grow curlier, and narrower in the waist; they cleak and cockade, they are bewigged, powdered, corseted, and gradually reduced to their present plainness; but the women wearing too much or too little are creatures of fantasy, supremely ignoring comfort or reason till, with the suddenness of a drunken man falling into a cold bathe, they awake completely to both. It is true that their discomfort moderates as the century grows older, but we can still think the long tight skirts and wind-catching hats of the pre-war are ideal. Not that women have made comfort in clothing an ideal; but, accident having made it universal, it seems unlikely that it will now ever be abandoned.

"Earlier fashions were, of course, much more beautiful than the present straightness nad legginess, which do not lend themselves to dignity, or grace as the crinoline and the shawl lent them to those most in need of support and dispute. Sweeping drap-eries and elaborate hair-dressing, deep poke bonnets from which float laces and streamers, pillow muffs, fur-ribboned sandals, absurd little parasols enchant the eye and make all these elegant females look adorable. Adorable flattened thus into pictures; but possibly less adorable to those engaged in the struggle to get them into those paddyboys and pelorines, these complicated evening frocks with tiny boned waists and an entire flower-garden pulled down from shoulder to hem, these furred coats in which they totter on curly skates, clinging to the arm of a sentimental male who looks feeble indeed."

FORT ANNE NATIONAL PARK

Impressed by the great historical importance of the ruins of Fort Anne, at Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, not only to Canadians but to the descendants of the early colonists along the Atlantic coast of North America, the Canadian Government in 1917 set aside the military works and about twenty acres surrounding them as a national park. Many parts of the fortifications have been restored and other features have been added so that the park is one of the most interesting spots in the East. Thousands visit it each season and the numbers are grow ing every year.

Illustration of the new hotel and station being erected at Halifax, N.S., by the Canadian National Railways. This is taken from the architect's drawing and in its lines that the group when completed will form a fitting Atlantic gateway to the Dominion. The terminal will be connected with the deep water pier at which Trans-Atlantic passengers will arrive and depart. The hotel will be one of the most modern in its line for dealing with passengers and all classes and special provision has been made for the reception and comfort of new settlers. These latter will be able to proceed from ship to train under shelter and in comfort.

ENTERTAINMENT AT BRIDGE ST.

Was Huge Success—Fine Programme Presented By Sunday School

A happy time was enjoyed by all and sundry at Bridge Street United Church last night and a splendid programme was presented by the scholars and teachers of the Sunday School. Santa Claus arrived in due time and dispensed a bag of candy, nuts and popcorn to each juvenile. He told the Belleville people how up north his legions were endeavouring to hold back the snow and cold in order that the new collegiate here might be completed, with a roof for winter work.

CRAFT CAME HOME WITH BIG CARGO

Portland, Maine, (By C.P.)—A green-eyed shark and a whale of a lobster—a twenty-pounder—came into port here recently when Captain Charles Train of the Nester Palace brought his craft home with a catch hauled aboard off Nor Leige, 40 miles from Portland Lightship.

The shark, according to Captain Train, was a regular scraping traffic beacon the way he was flashing green and ferocious eye when he flopped out of the net. Long after the shark was dead the phosphorescent green eyes glared at the fishermen.

Walter H. Rich, Maine agent of the United States Bureau of Fisheries, and local fishermen were unable to identify the species and a description will be sent to Washington for identification by experts there. The fish, 46 inches long, was brownish-red in color. The lobster was 36 inches long.

TO SEEK MUMMIES OF MONGOLIANS

New York, N.Y., (By C. P.)—Mummies of the Mongolians, who are believed to have been the first inhabitants of North America, will be sought next year by a Siberian Arctic expedition working for the American Museum of Natural History.

The Mongolian mummies, older than those of the Egyptians, were reported to be in existence several years ago by the late Dr. William H. Dall, of the Smithsonian Institution. The mummies were said to have been created by atmospheric conditions in caves where they were left thousands of years ago, possibly since the post-glacial period, when the North American continent is believed to have been first visited by human beings.

The expedition, headed by Harold McCracken, Arctic explorer, and backed by Charles H. Stoll, a director of the Museum and a big game hunter, plans to leave Seattle on the steamer Morrisey about April 1. The ship will be commanded by Robt. A. Bartlett, who was captain of the Roosevelt in 1909 when Admiral Peary reached the North Pole. Mrs. Stoll will accompany the explorers.

Oceanographic experiments will be conducted by Captain Bartlett during the voyage, and a stop will be made for economic study of Kamchatka, which is rich in mineral resources. Hunting will also occupy the party.

The mummy hunt will take place on the Aleutian Islands, where Dr. Dall reported he had seen the mummies. In some of the caves, Dr. Dall said, the bodies were desiccated and preserved in a natural state similar to petrification. The natives, it was said, had not molested the mummies because of the legend that death would strike anyone who touched one of them.

CONTROVERSY IN MINOR LEAGUES?

Five Ordered To Discontinue Modified Draft Pact With Majors

(By Dallas, Tex., Dec. 1.— Possibility that baseball might see another controversy such as that which shook the game before the present major-minor league accord was reached, was seen here tonight when the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs ordered five of its members to discontinue their modified draft agreements with the major leagues.

The American Association, the International League, the Pacific Coast League, the Three I League and the Western League were ordered to discontinue the modified draft immediately. Fourteen leagues voting aye on the resolution and five no. Those which voted against the resolution were the Pacific Coast League, the Three I League, the Western League, the Texas Association and the Mississippi Valley League.

By its action the association automatically put the American Association, the International League, the Pacific Coast League, the Three I League and the Western League in a strictly non-draft classification.

When the major-minor agreement governing relations between the upper and lower strata of baseball was adopted in 1921, it was accepted only with the consent of all parties. At that time all minor league clubs were given the option of accepting the draft or definitely rejecting it.

The American Association, International, Coast, Western Leagues and Three I League at that time refused to accept the draft, while other minors agreed to it. Later, however, John Conway Toole, president of the International League, charged pressure was brought to bear on these clubs through the refusal of major league clubs to send them players or allow them to obtain players from the other minors.

As a compromise the five non-draft leagues finally accepted what is known as the modified draft, under which they can obtain players from the major leagues with the understanding that such players can be drafted back to the majors. Players belonging to the leagues who have not come to terms with the majors, however, are not subject to the draft.

Under this system, representatives of the other minor leagues charge, the majors have scoured every college, sand lot and industrial team, signed a majority of the new crop of players every year, and then clung to them while the five leagues under the modified draft, knowing that they can reclaim them through the draft. Smaller leagues complain that the practice has made it difficult for them to obtain promising youngsters at reasonable salaries and also claim that it enables the major leagues to sell a man for a large sum in the spring and then reclaim him for the standard draft price, in the fall.

NEW DAY FOR THE LITTLE NIPPONESE

New York, N.Y., (By C.P.)—The first general election on the basis of universal manhood suffrage next year will usher in a new day in Japanese politics, Yusuke Tsurumi, son-in-law of Viscount Shimpei Goto, former Japanese Foreign Minister, stated in an interview here.

"Japan in the past has been considered more or less as a country where a few people' only are governed," said Tsurumi speaking of the new election law which will increase Japanese voters from 13,000,000 to 13,000,000. "But with this stupendous increase of voters, coupled with the changing psychology among the voters, Japan as a political unit is getting more and more like Great Britain, the United States and France."

Here and There

Work on the erection of the Mines Basic Pulp and Paper Company's plant at Hamspeet has begun, together with work on the railway siding connecting the plant with the main line of the Dominion Atlantic.

The value of the Western Canadian grain crop this year is figured at $1,000,000,000 according to reports making a survey of conditions at Winnipeg. Wheat is put at $600,804,725; oats at $166,429,250; barley at $62,587,000; rye at $18,000,581, and flax at $11,235,312. Hay and other grains are included in the grand total.

The Eastern International Dog Sled Derby will be held this year at Quebec City, February 20, 21 and 22, according to information given out by the tourist department of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The leading drivers from all parts of the Province will take part. The race is over a 120-mile course with an average of 40 miles a day.

Montana farmers are hauling grain to stations on the Canadian Pacific Railway lines just south of the International boundary line in Southwestern Saskatchewan. Over 50,000 bushels are on the move there on sale to the C.P.R. itself. It is remarkable that the Montana farmers are paying the duty and freezing about $5 per load more than if they sold to the elevators located along the Montana route.

"The tourist crop is the next best crop to that of wheat in Dr. Canadian West," said C. B. Foster, passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, visiting Winnipeg recently. "Canadians are now capitalizing our splendid winters," he added. "We used to be out-doors to decry them, but we have since learned their appeal to the stranger as well as ourselves and are making by it."

Quebec City is preparing for a record winter sports season, according to Jack Strathdee, newly appointed tourist traffic agent for the Chateau Frontenac. Mr. Strathdee is now in the city of Quebec at activity with a wealth of experience, having handled outdoor sports at the Algonquin Lake region and more recently at the Prince Rupert Fur Carnival Camps of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Saskatchewan leads the provinces of Canada in growth of revenue from tourist traffic, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, dealing with the current year 1927. The gain over the previous year was $1,000,000, while Alberta, Saskatchewan the only other province with a revenue increase of more than 25 per cent. The tourist business for the whole of Canada has risen from $83,333,700 in 1926 to $103,671,450 last year. It is estimated to contribute $100,000,000 to Canada's favorable balance of trade.

Of Canada's four great sources of wealth — field, forest, mine and stream — the forest has been the most pushed forward until it now holds first place, particularly in the exports from the Dominion. For the 12 months ended September 30th last, grain and grain products exported abroad at $197,000,000; metals $160,000,000 and newsprint $130,000,000, to which should be added, to show the whole exported wealth of the forests, manufactured and unmanufactured wood valued at $60,000,000, making the forest aggregate $280,000,000.

ALTERATIONS ON CITY'S SKYLINE

N. Y. Skyscrapers Undergoing Extensive Alterations; Costs $100,000

New York, (By C. P.)—The skyline of this city's financial district is undergoing million dollar alterations.

Six skyscraper buildings, now under construction, five of them in or near Wall Street and the sixth on Lower Broadway, will before spring send new and higher towers piercing the blue.

In round sums $100,000,000 or more is being expended on these structures. The land on which they stand alone is valued at millions; so costly, in fact, that it probably is worth more as real estate than as mining property, even were the world's richest subterranean treasure chests hidden beneath it.

The three tallest of the new skyscrapers each have 38 stories. The Chase National Bank, now under construction on the 15,000,000 acre at Nassau, Pine and Cedar streets, will rear its record tower above the old United States Sub-Treasury. The Equitable Trust Company building, whose squared tower rises above Wall Street at Exchange Place, will cast its shadow upon the comparatively low structure housing J. P. Morgan & Company. At 29 Broadway the Harriman building will stand in lonely magnificence, virtually unchallenged as the highest peak in the lower reaches of the famous thoroughfare.

Each will house the population of a small city, 12,000 persons being employed in one building alone.

BELLE THEATRE

Tom Mix, celebrated Western actor has one of the most stirring roles of his long screen career in "The Circus Ace," a fast-moving drama of the West, which begins a three-day run at the Belle Theatre today. Tom and Tony, catapulted into the very heart of circus life, find thrills without number when the star determines to rescue a beautiful performer from the schemes of Big Top workers who seek to dominate her. This is a picture for every member of the family, for Tom not only is perfectly at home in the tent scenes, but puts Tony through some strenuous stunts in a whirlwind campaign against the plotters. Natalie Joyce, a beautiful girl of the old South plays opposite Tom.

REGENT THEATRE

Marvelous horsemanship, thrilling rescues, hair-breath escapes, popping bullets, red-blooded action, beautiful photography of exquisite vistas, deft humor and an undercurrent of appealing romance—such are the elements of high-pressured entertainment in "Driftin' Thru," the latest offering of that popular interpreter of the eternal West, Harry Carey, which opened today at the Regent Theatre.

The production abounds in that type of stirring action for which Carey has gained ascendancy among Western stars, and sets a new standard for fast moving, attention-riveting drama.

A' daring leap from the back of a galloping horse to the platform of a speeding train; a dimp hurdle through the air from that train to another rushing in the opposite direction, and a mad scuffle with his unscrupulous adversary on top of the swaying train, are some of the nerve-tingling thrills.

WINTER TRADES IN BIG LEAGUES

Joe McCarthy Hopes To Grab National Pennant Next Season

New York, Dec. 22.—Bucky Harris, of Washington, hasn't been able to dispose of Joe Judge yet. Cleveland vanied him, but they weren't willing to part with Joe Shaute, pitcher, and $10,000 to get him.

The Athletics have let Zach Wheat and Ty Cobb go, but have obtained a brilliant youngster in Carle Orwall, pitcher-outfielder, from Minneapolis.

The Boston Red Sox bought Ken Williams one-time home-run king of the American League, from the Browns.

The Chicago White Sox haven't strengthened any. They paid $123,000 for Chalmer Cissell, the Portland Ace, when they already had three short stops, Hunnefield, Fhaianger and Johnny Mann, a flash from the Texas League. The Sox also have two first basemen, Clancy and Sheely. Schalk is willing to trade Sheely. Johnny Mostil is expected to be in White this spring and make a bid to win his old job back from Alex. Metzler, who was the best young outfielder in the league.

The Chicago Cubs have added reinforcements and are going to kick up a lot of dust in the National League race next season. Cuyler added to Stephenson, Webb, Wilson and Hemsley and the Cubs just about the best outfield in the league. Maguire, a second baseman from Toledo, and Johnny Butler, Brooklyn, short stop, have been added to Cub infield.

Pittsburgh Pirates plugged the gap at second by the acquisition of Sunky Adams and are again strong.

Brooklyn Robins will have a new infield of Blankenship, recalled from Buffalo of the International League; Riconda, formerly with the Boston Braves; Bancroft, bought from Boston for $10,000, and Friberg, former Chicago Cub, caught in the draft.

New York Giants' only important catch was Lefty O'Doul, slugging outfielder from the Coast League.

St. Louis Cards acquired Mokan outfielder; Cooney, infielder, and Claude Jonnard, catcher, from the Phillies and bought Phelps, Boston catcher, from the Boston Braves but none of these is the prospective regulars.

Phillies got Jimmy Ring, pitcher and John Schulie, catcher, from St. Louis Cards.

New York Yankees have not strengthened any and do not need to. In fact the other teams would welcome anything of the kind. They would like a young pitcher though.

Experts believe Dan. Howley skipped a last one over on Detroit when he got Blue and Mamuch for Rice and Van Gilder.

The big shift of course, was Stiger to Washington from St. Louis and Ken. Williams from St. Louis to Boston.

BARING TO SELL HIS NUBIA HOUSE

If the walker means — I Dh—p London, — The news that Sir Godfrey Baring is selling Nubia House at Cowes will be heard with keen disappointment by yachting folk. For many years it has been a mecca for hospitality during Cowes Week, first in the reign of Sir Godfrey's parents, General and Mrs. Baring, and now in his own. This year it was let for the first time, and Sir Godfrey and Lady Baring were greatly missed. Apart from the yachting world, they have both been so closely identified with that of Wight interests—Sir Godfrey, for instance, is chairman of the Island County Council, and Lady Baring is president of an important committee of the Isle of Wight Guardians—that here again they will be sorely missed. Once upon a time Sir Godfrey was member for the Isle, Lady Baring being the daughter of Margaret Countess of Yarborough, who died recently, by her first marriage.

Cowes, too, will miss Sir Godfrey's elder daughter, the popular Lady Poltimore Baring, whose real name is Analea.

SHAWKEY SIGNS WITH MONTREAL

Toronto Leafs Will Next Get Catcher "Al" Devormer

The Toronto Leafs may be expected, ing players from the Giants, but two of McGraw's men they will not get are Catcher Al Devormer and Pitcher Harold Ooney. Devormer, who was with Louisville in 1926 and sold to New York before the season closed, and did not play in the series between Dan Howley's clubs and the Colonels for the minor league championship, is going back to the American Association, but this time to the Toledo Mudhens.

The departure of Devormer will leave Zack Taylor, Cincinnati, Barrett, the latter from Knox with a record of 39 home runs, and Spohrer. Taylor is said to be a good mechanical backstop, but nobody ever patsied him on the back and called him Muddy Rool. Gabby Hartnett, Luke Sewell or Bob O'Farrell. The Leafs might get Barrett to hit home runs whenever Alexander doesn't.

Roney, who was with Newark last season, is just one of the many new performers the International champions will have. Bill Clymer expects to get two more players from Brooklyn, in addition to Pete and Barrett, already turned over to his Bisons.

Two players were added to the Chicago White Sox roster and three were released. The new men are First Baseman, Henry Schmidt, of the Western State Teachers' College in Kalamazoo, Mich., and Shortstop Frank Cook, a semi-pro of Camden, N.J. Those released were Outfielder Art Veltman, Pitcher Frank Stewart and Infielder Bobby Way to the Springfield Three-Eye League club. Stewart and Way were sent out on option, while Veltman was released outright.

Bob Shawkey, veteran pitcher, who was given permission by Miller Huggins to sign for the best terms offered by any team or return to the Yankees as a pitching coach, has signed a contract to pitch for Montreal International.

Inspection of the New Model Ford has brought a great number of orders in to Belleville Motors, and with them a number of the really good bargains. So you can buy a really dependable closed car over there this week at a great saving for the used car stock must be cleared out.

SportOgrams

By "The Observer"

Rail birds, take notice, the intermediates open their practices on skates tomorrow from seven to eight o'clock. Be on hand early if you desire to see the aspirants go through their paces.

For the first few nights Eddie Thomas will send the lads through light drills to get their pedal extremities in working order but next week will see them go at it, in real earnest.

Frank Adams who has charge of the training for the past several seasons will again have charge of that department. Frank knows the art of getting the lads in condition down to a science and they are sure to be in perfect shape when they trot out against the Cornwall team.

Platic followers from Belleville who witnessed the Belanger scrap are strong for the young Frenchman and when he locks horns with Frankie Genaro at the Coliseum in a few weeks there will likely be a big delegation present.

Some fine basket-ball was dished up in the wind-up of the House League at the Y. M. C. A. last night The youngsters went at it with a vengeance and gave an excellent exhibition.

"Doc" Faulkner is a wonderfully improved basket-ball man since attending McGill University where he was under the best of coaching. Faulkner possessed all of the characteristics that go to make up a fast player and he is well-thought of by McGill coaches, having been given a prominent place on their first team. The red and white have play all three games to date and won them all. Faulkner was one of the stars of the local High school teams

Bowlers are lining up for the annual turkey contests which are in full swing at both the Recreation parlors and the "Y" alleys. The bowlers are exerting every effort to annex some of the choice birds.

Canadian Department Stores recently challenged the Barbers to a game of hockey with little old-ist but the tonsorial artists turned the proposition down on the grounds that they are too old for a powerful man's game. Seems a pity when lads like "Pete" Belnap "Trout" Wonnacott and "Reg." Arnott consider themselves too antiquated to don the blades for a friendly encounter. The Department Store gang claim that they can beat their weight in wild-eats. Wonder if the barbers aren't just a little afraid of a darn good trimming. That seems the most plausible reason for their refusal.

Two great rugby catches may be among the missing when the season rolls around. For the thirtieth time "Shag" Shaughnessy has announced his retirement while "Mike" Rodden who brought the Memphis through to the championship finals may be in Ottawa where Coach McGee has decided to quit the game after a most honorable record.

Peterboro Senior took the ice the other night for the first time and managed to slip a win over the Oshawa Intermediate team. The Sirit-lockers were practically wrecked following inroads by the professional forces but Eddie Wright refuses to leave the ship and as a result Peterboro will be again represented in the higher-up series.

"Red" Logan erstwhile Queen's and Peterboro player has hooked up again, this time with the Varsity Arts team. From all accounts he is sure of a berth.

Weather permitting, the Intelligencer, "Black Hawks" will hold their initial work-out this evening from six to seven o'clock, in preparation for their exhibition game in Shrine on Monday evening next. Bill Cook and Jack Arnott are unable to make the trip on Monday night and Henry Canning and Morgan Jarvis will fill their shoes. The latter is an old stand-by for the Intermediates, while Canning is well-known.

If this man Ernie Rowsome isn't a go-getter, well then they ain't no such animals. He may accept a little extra avoirdupois but when it comes to lining up a job, well he's a humdinger. The ball team was down in the dumps, there was little interest and things were looking pretty gloomy. To start off there was a meeting and despite the fact that the contrary he was given the task of starting the fire-works. Well by the next night he had a bundle of kale promised to start the ball rolling and now comes with the news he sounded the clarion and called another meeting and told the lads there was going to be baseball.

The boys around the city may not realize it but there's been a lively time in baseball circles in the last two weeks and a smart team will trot out when the umps call "em next Spring." It looks like a real old fashioned revival with Belleville Kingston and Oshawa coming back into the fold.

Fans are reminded that all the hockey is not going to be played in the Intermediate and Junior ranks this season. There's ten city league teams waiting for the barrier to rise when they can step out on their way. The ladies having been the pest of the house in the last two weeks enquiring about that old jersey or that pair of pads—then they know darn well they gave mother permission to hand them over to the last rummage sale committee.

The two-buck boys who took in the Belanger-Jarvis fisteuffs go, at the Coliseum say there was more excitement than the Dempsey-Tunney fight. But with one accord they claim this young Belanger has more socks left than Santa Claus ever saw. Lou Marsh holds the long distance record for picking teams and individuals coming out first at the wrong end but Lou picked the winner on Monday night and there wasn't a chirp from the vast assemblage. Jarvis showed the fans what a good sport he was when he admitted that the best man had won.

The city is well represented in every line of sport with exception of girls' hockey and it's a pity that the damsels have to be content with watching their big brothers do their stuff when they might be out doing themselves. Fanny Rosenfeldt in a recent communication says both Kingston and Peterboro are forming up a strong team and with Belleville situated between the two we should have a team to compete in the L. O. H. A. Let's hear from some of those interested.

BOWLING

Two C.N.R. League games were played at the Recreation Alleys last night with the following results. In one game Team No. 5 won four points from No. 2, Symons and Collyer rolling the highest scores for their respective teams.

In the second game Team No. 4 counted three points and Team No. 4 counted one, the latter team winning the second game by 19 pins. High bowlers were Walsh and Randle.

C.N.R. Shops League

Team No. 4—Baldree 471; Taylor 438; MacRae 419; Schender 448; Walsh 624; total 2391.

Team No. 5.—Revell 391; Armstrong 469; Randle 567; Smith 421; Batty 522; total 2361.

Team No. 2.—Collyer 491; Beare 396; Knott 457; Deacon 312; McKenna 485; total 2131.

Team No. 5.—Symons 566; Elliott 510; Grant 445; Graham 522; Lloyd 413; total 2457.

An Error

In the report last night of the bowling match between the Hardware and All Stars it gave the previous record of 2242 which should have been 2569 and was rolled by the Ponies in 1926.

TORONTO PITCHER TO AMERICAN LEAGUE

Manager George Moriarity of the Detroit American League team includes the name of Pitcher Victor Sorrell of the Toronto team in the list of twirlers counted upon to be Tiger regulars next season. Sorrell's great work with the Leafs of 1926, when he consisted very largely to the winning of the pennant, caused him to be described as the most promising youngster in Class A. The South Carolina collegian, now in the 22nd year of his age, had no professional experience until he joined the Toronto club, where he was quickly developed by Dan Howley.

Last winter he underwent a surgical operation and contracted influenza on the training trip before he had fully recovered from the previous illness. As a consequence he did not regain his best form until near the close of last season.

HUGGINS SEEKS TO BUILD TEAM

Little Napoleon Not Satisfied With Array Of Stars

New York, Dec. 22.—Apparently not content with a team that no doubt will be a heavy favorite to win another American League pennant, the New York Yankees are taking of trades to strengthen their lineup.

Miller Huggins, crafty and careful manager of the team that made a runaway of the 1927 pennant race and the world's series, admits that he is after another right-hand pitcher. Huggins never has enough pitchers to suit him.

He confessed that he has his eyes on George Uhle, one of the best pitchers in baseball in 1926, but one of the lowliest performers of last season.

"Sure Huggins wants Uhle," Billy Evans, general manager of the Cleveland club, said when he was here recently. "He also wants two other players on our club, but all he wanted to get us were some second-string and worn-out socks."

It is also intimated that Uhle was not on the bargain counter and that he would not be used in a trade unless it would be of a great big advantage to the Indians.

"Uhle and Lewen are two of our biggest hopes," he said.

Evans told managers of the major league clubs that they could talk business with him about any player on the Cleveland club excepting the two Sewells, Hudlin and Uhle. He indicated a disposition to part with Miller and was willing to listen to offers for Shaute. The Indians are offered him Morehart, Wera or Cazella, but he wasn't interested.

NEW GYMNASIUM AT QUEEN'S UNIV.

While nothing definite has as yet been done, it is probable that the Athletic Board of Control, at Queen's University will shortly be considering ways and means of having a new gymnasium erected at the university.

With the opening of the new Students' Union shortly, Queen's University will have facilities for students and athletics, though a new gymnasium has been badly needed for several years. Naturally the requirements would be heavy, but it is felt by most of the members of the board that the necessary funds can be secured, and the new gymnasium realized.

It is very likely that a meeting will be held shortly when the entire matter will be discussed from all angles.

EXCITING GAME FOR CITY HONORS

Weir's Team Emerge Victors By One Point Over Opponents

The final game in the Basketball House League which took place at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night between the two teams captained by Vernon Weir and Johnny Kerr was a "rare old battle." There was not an idle moment throughout the whole fixture and the members of both teams gave everything they had in the endeavor to check up a win.

At no time was either team in the lead by more than a point. In fact the score kept see-sawing back and forth throughout the whole game with first one team in the lead then the other. At the half way mark the score stood 25-22 in favor of Kerr & Co. but they were not long in the lead after the second half had gotten under way. However, no sooner would Weir, Hurley or Davison put their team back in the lead than Kerr or Brown would come through with necessary basket to reverse the order. It so happened that a total of eight registered by Kerr & Co. won the game as at the time the teams were deadlocked.

Personal fouls were called freely by referee George Faulkner of the McGill intermediate team. George was forced to chase two players because of the fourth offence and four other play ers had a very narrow escape. In all 28 personal and 16% technical fouls were called. Weir's team counting 15 personal and no technical while Kerr and Co. were charged up with thirteen personals. The only shooting was the one department that both teams were weak in, scoring considerably under fifty per cent. on freethrows.

Two games preceded the House League fixture. In the opening game of its evening Bridge St. defeated Christ Church Juniors 14-4 in a rather fought tussle. The winners had a more finished combination play and were some what better marksmen.

Christ Church Intermediates were administered a rather severe drubbing by St. Andrews. The Presbyterians were dialectized to be charitable and allowed one score to past the lads' mark whereas their less fortunate opponents were only able to collect two points on five throws. Fifty-six to two was the final count.

A Real Game of Patience

Have you ever played a game called "Patience"? It whiles away an idle hour, and if you are sick, of course, you can throw down the cards and that beats patience.

But there is a game where you can't throw down the cards and where patience is not whiled away but used to do the kindly nurses and doctors who are helping him.

Wouldn't you like to help in this kind of work through your subscription to "Health"?

TRANS-OCEANIC FLIGHTS PLANNED

Giant Airship Being Built To Carry One Hundred Passengers

London, England, (By C. P.)—The most wonderful skeleton in the world—the metal framework of the airship R. 100—has been shown at Howden, in Yorkshire says the London Daily Mail. The Mail says:

The R 100 is to be finished in April. It will carry 100 passengers, 35 of them first class, and 10 tons of mail or other freight. You will be able to travel in her from London to New York or Montreal in 48 hours for a fare of £100. An all-in first-class liner fare is about £125. Those are among the claims made for R 100 by Commander C. D. Burney, M. P., the managing director of the Airship Guarantee Company Limited who are building her to the order of the air ministry.

"This ship", said Commander Burney, "is entirely for commercial purposes—useless in war time—and she will be made as a commercial production job. Her total cost will be £450,000.

The dining room, with its 5-ply wood floor will be 36 feet by 20 feet. It will seat 50 people, or, cleared providing dancing space for an equal number. The music will be provided by wireless. There will also be 30 bunks in two and four-berth cabins and two promenades on this floor. The floor above is a lounge, from the centre of which you look over a balcony into the dining room. Surrounding this lounge are 60 more berths. Below the dining room are the kitchen quarters, connected by service elevators.

LORD SHAW HAS WRITTEN BOOK

London, Eng. — Lord Shaw of Dunfermline, whose "Letters to Isabel" and "The Law of the Kinsmen" received the warmest welcome all over the English-speaking world, has follow ed up the former with a companion volume, "The Other Bundle," which is now published by Hutchinson. The new book has the same cordiality distinctive style which characterized "The Letters", from memories of his school days Lord Shaw passes famous trials in which he has taken a part, to personal experiences in party politics, to his journey through Canada with "Isabel," and to his work upon the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

"The nearest approach which I think can be made to perfect beauty upon earth is probably at Lake Louise that jewel in Canada's rocky crown," writes Lord Shaw, who does not attempt to conceal his pleasure that the address he delivered to the Canadian Bar Association at Vancouver was, on the initiative of Chief Justice Lemieux of Quebec, translated and distributed among the Bench, Bar, Clergy and newspapers of Quebec.

Lord Shaw furnishes a little of a single day's work on the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. People, unistructed, says his Lordship, are quick to mark what in their opinion are soft and easy jobs.

"On Tuesday, December 15th, 1925, a judgment had to be delivered from one part of the world, and a case heard from another. The judgment was in a case of Alberta; the case to be argued was from Madras.

"But between these two things eight petitions for leave to appeal against judgments were disposed of, and a simple survey of the list shows how the old and famous Roman appeal to Caesar was, as compared with the task of the Privy Council, but a trivial affair.

"The first case was from Quebec.

"The second was from the High Court of Australia.

"The third was a question of education in Ontario.

"The fourth was as to the construction of certain land transfers in New South Wales.

"The fifth was a case of copyright from the Straits Settlements.

"The sixth was as to the delimitation of the Port of Montreal.

"The seventh was from the Central Provinces of India.

"The last was from Cuba."

DEPUTATION TO PRESBYTERY

Port Hope, Dec. 22.—A deputation of members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Cobourg, has been appointed to attend the special Presbytery meeting at Guelph on Friday when their call to Rev. C. Harper, Preston, will come up for consideration. Rev. Mr. Harper has been very successful and popular with his congregation in Preston and efforts have been made to prevail upon him to remain at his present charge. However, the members of St. Andrew's Church are hoping that the call to the Cobourg pastorate will be accepted.

PROBE BOY'S DEATH

Peterboro, Dec. 22.—An inquest has been ordered into the circumstances attending the death of Cervisa Keith Blewett, the 16-year-old Peterboro boy who succumbed to gunshot wounds last Wednesday. The boy had been hunting with two companions along the Peterboro-Buckhorn road when he received a charge of shot as he and his companions fired at a rabbit. The inquest opened last night in Peterboro.

FACES SERIOUS CHARGE

Oshawa, Dec. 22.—Charged with an attempted serious offence against a married woman, Mrs. Catherine Mitchell, Charles Starr of Oshawa, was given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Hind in Oshawa Police Court this morning. The accused, a married man of middle age, was defended by T. K. Creighton. According to Mrs. Mitchell's evidence, the alleged offence took place in the car of the accused on December 6. She stated that she had accepted the offer of a drive from Starr, who was unknown to her, and that he had driven her out of the city, driving her home after attempting to commit the alleged offense.

STRUCK FENCE

Bowmanville, Dec. 22.—A Whippet tourer, the property of Louis Parnell, Canadian Pacific section foreman, reeling at Newcastle, was almost totally destroyed last night after striking the guard rail on a bridge a short distance east of Bowmanville. Parnell had a miraculous escape from death, and while he lost considerable blood in the crash he received, he has made his way back to his home where a medical examination showed today that his injuries were not serious.

GREETINGS RECEIVED

Kingston, Dec. 22—Christmas greetings were received at Queen's Athletic Board of Control on Tuesday, from D. A. "Snag" Skelton, former snap of Queen's rugby team, who is a student at University College, Oxford, England. In a short note accompanying the greetings, "Snag" mentioned that athletics form a big part of life at Oxford, and pointed out that the athletic fee there is $75, with everything else extra.

A PICTURESQUE NAME

One of the most picturesque geographic names is Qu'Appelle, the appellation of the river which flows in an easterly direction through Saskatchewan some mile north of the cities of Moose Jaw and Regina to join the Assiniboine river in Manitoba. The name was originally "qui appelle" or "river that calls," and like many names in Western Canada dates back to the days when the French-speaking explorers and fur traders from what is now Eastern Canada penetrated into the heart of the West.

DISAPPEARAN C E IS TALKED OF

Still Subject Of Conjecture In All Circles Is The Mystery

Toronto, Ont. (By The Canadian Press).—With the Grand Opera House in the hands of the wreckers, the strange and complete disappearance eight years ago this December of Ambrose J. Small, proprietor of this play-house and well known in Canadian and United States theatrical circles, is vividly recalled here. Small walked out of his theatre in the evening of December 2, 1919, and has not been heard of since. Thousands of dollars were spent and detectives sent across the continent on various clues but to no avail. The court have declared Small dead. There are those who say that the dismantling of the modest wall of the Grand Opera House may uncover some information that will bear upon the cause and direction of the one-time owner's unexplained departure from mortal ken.

The Toronto Mail and Empire comments on the Ambrose Small mystery as follows:

"There are many people well satisfied in their own minds that he was murdered and that they know the murderer, but no scrap of evidence sufficient to justify an arrest has come to light in all that period despite the fact that there is a reward of $50,000 still standing for his recovery if alive, and $15,000 to reward any one who can show how he came to his death.

"It is believed that in his office in the old Grand Opera House, about to be dismantled, some evidence did exist for a short period after the disappearance, but that either through negligence or cunning it was destroyed.

"Nobody now supposes that the former theatre magnate is living. The imagination could hardly offer a theory that would explain his long absence. There were few cities upon this continent upon whose streets Ambrose Small could have appeared at any time in the past seven years without meeting an acquaintance. He knew thousands of stage people who are always travelling about. He knew hundreds of jockeys, racing men and other sports, and from New Orleans to Nome there is hardly a city where he could have spent a week unrecognized unless he went into hiding.

"Small's private affairs have been roundly abused for their failure to solve the Small mystery, but we have no doubt that they dropped all the industry of which they were capable, and failed through no defect that are not common and Filberts ..... lb. 27c posed that the missing man had absented himself for a period, as was not infrequent, and it was only after this period had been unduly prolonged that there was any alarm.

"The police were then working on a cold trail. Later they followed a clew that led them to the former secretary of Small, who was found guilty of stealing bonds from him. But contrary to expectations, the solution of the missing bond mystery helped in no respect to solve the missing man mystery. The police had to make a new start. One detective did hardly anything else for long months but grapple with the problem. That his failure to produce results was not because of his own inefficiency may be gauged from the fact that later he was made an inspector of police. The Small mystery remains a challenge to all investigators, official and private, and a refutation of the old superstition that murder will out."

HAND LOOM CRAFT BEING REVIVED

London, Eng.—(CP)—Hand loom craft is being revived in Winthelsea, Sussex, by the wife of Rigden Read, well known artist.

This is one of the oldest village in dustries in England. In Mrs. Read's studio is a hand loom exactly like those in use before the introduction of machinery, and on this she weaves from Sussex wool stout cloth which will stand harder wear than factory made material. She is one of the Romney Marsh weavers, who from their headquarters near Peasmarsh have done so much to teach the villagers the lost arts of spinning and weaving.

The wool comes from local flocks, and is spun into yarn by cottage fire sides on old-fashioned spinning wheels It is then washed and dyed, both vegetable and modern synthetic dyes being used. The permanence of the col or is ensured by careful tests. The hand loom on which the cloth is woven is constructed on the same principles as those discovered by primitive peoples in the dawn of history.

Mrs. Read has adopted the patterns invented by early settlers in Canada and the other Dominions. These have names such as "Honeysuckle," "Wind flower," "Old Irish Quilt." Such was the quality of the work of the settlers that they made beautiful bed-spreads which were handed down as heirlooms from generation to generation.

Silk is also woven by Mrs. Read into scarves, jumpers, evening wraps, and dresses. The pure silk is spun by machine, and some is bought ready dyed, but special shades Mrs. Read dyes herself. The articles are in great demand and command high prices.

BLACKHEADS

Don't squeeze blackheads—dissolve them. Get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store and rub with hot, wet cloth briskly over the blackheads. They simply dissolve and disappear by this safe and sure method.

Say It With Flowers

CHRISTMAS FLORAL DECORATIONS are here now in profusion. Wishing to please everybody, we have laid in a bigger and finer stock than ever before. There are holly wreaths, of course, as well as mistletoe, poinsettia, and all the other yuletide offerings. But big as our stock is, the demand will be equally big, and, therefore, we advise early selection.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

"I'm fearfully sorry to have given you such a shock, but it had to be. I was frantic when you didn't answer, after I'd heard that terrific crash and knew that the connection was broken. I came rushing down here as fast as I could get my car through the traffic. Lila, how much does Herbert know?"

"Nothing," said Lila wanly, "yet."

There was a long and thoughtful silence. Dorothy's pretty brows were frowning.

"How—what did the cable say? asked Lila finally, in a low voice.

Dorothy, her voice equally low, answered briefly:

"It was addressed to Miss Lila Latham and was sent from Paris. It said: 'Have practically risen from the dead. Am sailing tomorrow for home and you. Jack.' "

Tears began to roll down Lila's cheeks.

"Oh, Dot, what am I to do?" Dorothy stroked her hands comfortingly.

"We'll find a way out, somehow."

"And I love Herbert so!" wailed Lila. "This is my punishment for being too happy. I had no right to be happy when Jack was dead, as I thought. Even if I didn't really love him, I should have been loyal to his memory. I should have kept that pledge we made."

Dorothy, sitting on the foot of the couch in the gathering twilight, rested her chin thoughtfully on one hand. After a silence, she said:

"What about Herbert? You think you wouldn't dare confess?"

"No, oh, no! Dot you can't imagine what Herbert would be like, if after I'd ever been engaged before. He'd leave me instantly. You've no idea how jealous he is. I adore it, of course; it makes me certain that he loves me. But, if he ever knew, there'd been another man—"

She broke off, sailed a moment, and added passionately;

"I'd die. If I lost Herbert."

"Well, then, what about Jack Farquahar?" suggested Dorothy practically.

"You mean, would he understand and not bother me?"

"He may have changed, you know, after all these years and the experiences he must have had."

Lila shook her head.

"I don't mean to sound frightfully conceited, but I don't think Jack is the sort who would change. He was very like Herbert, in certain ways; that is, he was jealous and sure of himself. If he wanted something, he'd get it. And I happened to be what he wanted. The very fact that he's coming home to me proves that he still loves me."

"Yes, it would seem so," murmured Dorothy absently.

"Dot, how on earth do you suppose he happened to come to life?" persisted Lila feverishly. "After all these years, it's perfectly incredible. And Dot," she added, stricken by another terrible thought, "there's that insurance. I'll have to give it back to the government, somehow, and I haven't any earthly way of finding ten thousand dollars." She sighed, despairingly. "And it's only three days since the whole horrible business got me into hot water with Herbert."

But you explained it satisfactorily. Of course, Herbert leaped to a satisfactory conclusion."

Lila made a wry face.

"Fortunately, yes. But it would be awful, if Uncle Dan should turn up some day. Oh, why did that stupid committee have to recognize me and write to me at Herbert's club?"

"But naturally your new home isn't listed yet," said Dorothy. "They found Herbert's name in the Social Register."

"Oh, Dot, if you keep on being sensible and explanatory, I'll have hysterics again!" cried Lila. "Think, think, what I'm up against!"

"You know just what you are up against?" asked Dorothy, with sympathetic tolerance.

Lila gave her a pitying glance.

"Isn't it obvious? Here I am, married to a man I adore, a man madly jealous, who has asked me a hundred times if there'd ever been any one else in my life, and I've sworn there wasn't. And now the other man appears, expecting me to keep a pledge from which I thought his death had released me. And he'll hold me to it. If I know Jack Farquahar—and I rather think I do, worse luck!"

"Of course, there's just a chance that he hasn't," consoled Dorothy.

"Dear Heaven!" murmured Lila. After a moment she said suddenly: "Dot, did he say what ship he was sailing on?"

"The Coronia."

"Then you'll have to meet him, Dot. He mustn't be allowed to rush around town, trying to locate me."

Dorothy rose from the couch. Her face turned away, a faint white blur in the dusk.

"I'm sorry, Lila," she said quietly. "I'd do almost anything to make you happy. But—I won't meet your Captain Farquahar. I—I never want to see him."

She was gone, leaving Lila staring after her in amazement.

CHAPTER 22

THE VERY NARROW SQUEAK

Following the cable announcing the imminent arrival of Jack Farquarhar, Lila wanted nothing so much as to stay in bed, away from everything, to think out some solution to her problem.

But she didn't dare take refuge in her accustomary indisposition: it was too dangerous to seek security and allow Heaven-knew-what to happen under cover, without her resourceful presence there to contrive some distraction.

So she dragged herself through her round of social duties, thankful, in a way, that they kept her from too much miserable introspection and overtaxing time. When May Varney called up and asked the Waters to dinner, Lila accepted, though May explained:

"It'll just be a small, informal party for a few friends, so, if anything special turns up later, don't hesitate to break the date. I shan't be a bit offended."

Lila and Herbert were the last people to arrive, a fact that greatly perturbed Herbert, especially since Lila's tardiness was due to an afternoon session with Dorothy. The truth was that Lila had spent three hours in an effort to persuade Dorothy to meet Jack Farquhar at the pier. Dorothy, for once, was adamantly smiling, sweet, but firm.

As Lila and Herbert passed through the Varney's hall on their way upstairs, Lila caught a glimpse of a group in the drawing-room.

A good-looking young man was bending over May Varney's hand. His face was toward Lila, but he did not see her. Lila gave a gasp and hastened up the stairs. Her knees were unsteady.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Fisch color is the newest rival of white in Paris.

To make the most of a Spanish shawl it should never be worn twice in the same way.

They call them period dresses because they come to a full stop at the knee in front.

Little jackets of lace-jersey or light woolen material, fastened at the neck and reaching just below the hips, are a smart and new note in sports wear, and Rodier calls them "lace-jersey," while sometimes too, these lace jerseys are used for the jumper blouse and sometimes for the skirt, but smartest are they in the new jackets.

RESTORE GRAY OR FADED HAIR

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color and Gloss With Sage Tea

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use for only 75 cents. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeths Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

PSYCHOLOGY AN AID TO "SAFETY FIRST"

By LOUIS E. BISCH

Each year thousands of lives are lost through accidents. We are warned about it. We are cautioned to be careful. "Safety First" signs are posted everywhere.

Still the useless, senseless, and terrible slaughter of humans goes on. Automobile accidents alone are increasing by the hundreds each year.

What is the matter with people that they allow themselves to be maimed and killed this way?

Carelessness, you say?

But what makes us careless? Why are we so unmindful of our physical well-being? What makes us fly in the face of danger when we actually know better? Why do we take such awful risks?

First and foremost, we must look to man's ego for an explanation.

We are proud; vain, self-assured. We harbor the notion that we are different from others and that that difference carries with it a more or less charmed life.

Test yourself out on this point. You read a notice in a railway car, let us say, in which it states that you are taking your life in your hands if you alight when the train is still in motion. You understand what you read, of course. You also agree with the admonition as being safe, sane and sensible.

But do you apply the notice to your self? Do you actually ask yourself there and then whether you, yourself, are in the habit of jumping off moving trains, cars and automobiles?

No. You read such a notice with passing interest only. You read it as though it referred to other people and not to you.

You may even go so far as to think—If you really are in the habit of jumping off trains—that nothing can possibly happe nto you because you know how to jump better than other folks.

And so your thoughts drift to other things and by the time you have reached your destination you have forgotten all about the notice.

Then what happens? he train approaches the? station. You get up and stand in the aisle at least five minutes ahead of time. You are not in any special hurry. You do it out of habit. You also do it because you see others preparing to leave and standing in the aisle. You don't like them to get ahead of you.

Somebody jumps off before the train stops. You follow. You do it automatically, without thinking. Perhaps you fall and are injured. If you are, you feel awkward. You accuse your self for having failed.

If you escape injury, but somebody else does not, you are likely to think of the sign you read in the train and wonder why people do not take such warnings to heart.

Yes, strange as it may seem, ego has more to do with accidents than any other single cause.

Suggestibility is also a factor, this imitation of others and for no better reason on than that we want to surpass them.

It is ego that prompts this foolish risk-taking. Ego makes us want to enter into competition whether it be in business or love or landing at a station.

his continual hurrying likewise has a bd. to do with accidents. It likewise is linked with the ego. We hurry when it is absolutely unnecessary.

However, to hurry makes us feel important. It augments our sense of responsibility.

Running for cars or across the street centres attention upon our actions. It implies or out. It enhances the ego.

Then again, to deliberately be careless of danger makes many persons seem heroic in their own eyes. They behave as though they said: "Look how brave and daring I am! I'm not afraid!"

Instead of telling people not to jay-walk, or run in front of automobiles, or otherwise warning them of the danger of accident, if such notices added them to introspect and observe the vainglorious behavior of their egoes, I am inclined to think that people would at last wake up to a realization of their own follies.

Pines, imprisonments, and bodily injury do not seem to make us sit up and take notice.

Maybe psychology will!

Advice to Girls
By Anne Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am sixteen years of age and I have the best mother in the world, but she believes in severe discipline for disobedience. I mean a good sound spanking.

The other night I had permission to go to a dance, but she insisted that I get home at 12 o'clock sharp.

It happened that I did not get home until a little after one o'clock. She asked why I was late. I tried to make an excuse, but she said it didn't hold water. She put me across her knee and paddled me good with a spanking paddle. Don't you think I'm too old for that?

Now, my mother allows me to go to any show or any other place as long as she knows, but she sets an hour for getting home, and she won't take any excuse if we are late. Don't you think that's a little too strict for a big girl like me?

SWEET SIXTEEN.

SWEET SIXTEEN: Live and learn! I never heard of a "spanking paddle," but I have felt many times as though I should like something of the sort. I see, you only tell me your side of the story, and from what you say I think your mother is justified. When she is good enough and kind enough to give you the privileges she does, you should certainly show your appreciation by trying to abide by her wishes. And you know the law doesn't consider she when it is judging minors. Age is what counts, and sixteen is a few years within the law as far as parental rule is concerned. Wouldn't it be a lot easier for you to do your mother as asks you instead of defying her and thus losing yourself in the "good die"? I think, wire I in your place, I should try a bit of obedience and see what results work out. You will be happier in the end, and I'm sure your mother will be, too.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my early teens. This summer during my vacation I met a boy a few years my senior. He asked to be my friend, I consented and he seemed to like me very much. He wrote me several times. I answered, but he has not written in quite a while. Shall I write to him again?

BROWN EYES.

BROWN EYES: No, my dear, I would not advise you to write again before you hear from him. It is quite that your friend was merely delayed in writing; it is also possible that a correspondence to expect it to run on schedule. I would advise you not to be alarmed over this irregularity, but be patient and wait; if he is still interested in you he will undoubtedly write as soon as he can.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and am in love with a boy several years my senior. I have been out with him a few times. Lately he has been going out with a girl who has a bad reputation. He is from a very good family and as a friend I would like to know how I can induce him to keep better company.

NAN.

NAN: I am afraid you are somewhat handicapped, Nan, as it is not really your privilege to critize this youth's choice of friends. You might try in a subtle and tactful way to influence him so that he himself sees the undesirability of continuing his friendship with this other girl. I must caution you to be extremely tactful, as it is probable that if he realizes what you are attempting he may resent your interference.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

When the boys come to see me they call about twice and then for no reason under the sun they never call again. They always speak to me when we meet. I could never figure the matter out for myself so I thought perhaps you could help me.

BROWNIE.

BROWNIE: If the boys are interested to call twice I cannot see why they should not care to call again unless you are somewhere at fault. Why not take stock of yourself and correct your faults? Try to make yourself more charming; read a lot and take an interest in the activities around you. If you are intelligent and congenial I am sure you will be able to keep your friends.

Men are never so happy or so wreich ed as they say they are. If we must magnify, let us exaggerate our joys and minimize our miseries.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

A few drops of ammonia in the water when washing very greasy dishes will help matters in every direction, even giving the housewife a cleaner odor to inhale during the process.

If the wash curtains are inclined to hang unevenly after being laundered, run a curtain rod through the bottom hem and let dangle for several days. This will straighten them.

Long Vertical Lines Set Off by a Dainty Bow

This trick here is to combine fruit fantasticly with the simple, serviceable kind of apparel which a girl in business demands and the mode of the minute so lavishly supplies. Miss Lorraine has the making of allurement and grace in this charming frock, but she can slip into it and know that it will work during a long day and is as fresh at ten-time as it was at nine o'clock. The tailored treatment at the front shirt which is cut to form a belt fastening over box pleats is effective by the deep V opening of the collarless blouse, disclosing a soft vestee finished with a bow at the fabric. The three button fastening of the belt is repeated as trimming on the pointed cuffs. Light weight or sheer wool with a vestee of a harmonizing color; or crepe de chine, satin or silk crepe with georgette or crepe de chine for the vestee make this practical and becoming dress. They Laugh—as Health Comes Back

Rose and Valeria are sisters. Their chairs say they are 13 and 18 years of age, respectively, but to look at them you would think they were 18 and 25. Rose is the younger of the two, and she is the one who bear the laughter and chatter of these two—for they are reading aloud from a hospital gazette—you feel sure they must be the life of it.

Yes, the girls both very slight, but the wonder is they are here at all, for just a few months ago they were admitted, victims of the ravages of consumption. They are happy now because they have regained health and strength again, and you, who have never lost your health, can hardly understand what a wonderful difference that means to people who never expected to get well. Rose and Valeria are in the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, and it is being carried on for over three hundred patients each day throughout the year.

Rose and Valeria are a farmer's girls, and there are seven in the family, seven children, and they say they are learning all about the disease so they will do their best to see that no other members of the family walk the same path that has led them to consumption.

Would you not like to contribute to this splendid work? It depends largely upon subscriptions.

MOND CRITICISES COAL RESEARCH

Nickel Magnate Calls Fuel Interests "Over The Coals"

London, England, Dec. 19 (By The Canadian Press).—Pungent criticism of British methods of using coal, and of British backwardness in fuel research, expressed by Rt. Hon. Sir Alfred Mond, M.P., former Minister of Health, President of the Mond Nickel Company which has mines and a smelter at Coniston, near Sudbury, Ontario, at a meeting of the Institute of Fuel here recently. He declared that while at one end of the scale they saw the most advanced methods of using fuels in this country, they were at the other end the most crude and out-of-date practices, more worthy of the beginning of the nineteenth century than the first quarter of the twentieth.

Sir Alfred referred to the inquiries of the National Fuel and Power Committee, of which he is chairman, and stated that he was impressed with the evidence of the need for handling coal with much greater care in every stage of production and transport. "When you see it in the mine or on the railway," he said, "still more when it is being loaded on to the ship, it seems that a fiendish delight is taken in lifting it up to a great height and throwing it down." He commended a new plant designed by the chief engineer of the Manchester Ship Canal and described it as a great advance in the method of placing coal in the holds of ships.

Sir Alfred said that there was urgent need for replacing small and adequate cooking plants in this country by installation similar to those in the United States and Germany. There was still greater need for co-ordination in research work. "If," he said, "we consider the research work in Germany set up before the war and continued ever since, and compare it with the efforts in this country, it will really make us blush.

"The ideas in this country as to the amount which should be spent on research work are entirely fantastic. Sir Alfred said. "In Germany enormous results had been obtained by mass research—not by putting two people on to one problem, but by putting 100 people on to it. They get through the work in a fiftieth of the time.

Continuing Sir Alfred said: "I do not think the German people are better or more brilliant than ourselves or that they work harder, but they organize much more systematically and they are prepared to spend a great deal of money on the chance of something coming out of it.

"The industries of this country, unless they are going to tackle these problems on a scale and with seriousness which many of them do not yet realize is necessary, will find themselves in time displaced in the industries of the world, and rightly displaced, simply by higher technical efficiency and better scientific work."

"BALLYHOOING" IS BECOMING SERIOUS

Chicago, Ills. (By C.P.)— Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank believes that "professional ballyhooing" by radicals and others has become sufficiently serious in Chicago to be met by a counter offensive of organized business men.

"These organizations hammer away at everything—capitalism, modern business methods, and what not," he told 500 business leaders at the opening of the newly formed Economic Club. "It is high time the business men came out and answered their charges by presentations of economic facts."

"Chicago," he added, "probably has more organizations for the dissemination of misinformation than any other city in the country."

ENGLAND WILL HAVE TWO DAYS

Two Holidays After Christmas Which Falls On Sunday

London, (By C.P.)—England and Wales and Northern Ireland are to have two holidays this year immediately after Christmas, which falls on Sunday, the usual Boxing Day and an extra Bank Holiday on Tuesday, Dec. 27.—A proclamation to this effect was recently issued from Buckingham Palace by the King. In 1921 Christmas Day fell on a Sunday and the day after Boxing Day was proclaimed a Bank Holiday, as has been done this year.

Following is the King's proclamation:

"For appointing Tuesday, Dec. 27, 1927, a Bank Holiday and a Public Holiday in England and Wales and in Northern, Ireland.—GEORGE R. I.

"We, considering that it is desirable that Tuesday, the 27th day of December next, should be observed as a Bank Holiday and as a Public Holiday in England and Wales and in Northern Ireland, and in pursuance of the provisions of The Bank Holidays Act 1871, and the Holidays Extension Act, 1875, and The Customs Consolidation Act, 1876.

"Do hereby, by and with the advice of our Privy Council, and in exercise of the powers conferred by the Acts aforesaid, appoint Tuesday, the 27th day of December next, as a special day to be observed as a Bank Holiday and as a Public Holiday in England and Wales and in Northern Ireland, under and in accordance with the said Acts.

"And we do, by this our Royal Proclamation, command the said day to be so observed, an I all our loving subjects to order themselves accordingly.

"Given at Our Court at Buckingham Palace, this "third day of November, in the year of Our Lord One thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven, and in the Eighteenth year of our Reign.

TWO EDITORIALS CAUSE COMMENT

Toronto, Ont.—The Editor of "Varsity" has two editorials of interest to women. In speaking of hazing and the ban enforced by authorities he says there is not much objection by students themselves. The coming of the co-eds has brought stress—and as men turn daily more and more to less and less the memory fades away of the "he-men" of old and their joy and cup of fun in breaking up a show with vegetables and rotten eggs on Hallowe'en.

The other item deals with the coming out of women's sports by social engagements and conflicting organizations. In fact, if is a question whether women's sports are being recognized" by the great majority. In some colleges players have to be coaxed, yes, almost dragged out to the practices by those few who are keen, while positions on the team are no longer gained by competition, but would seem to constitute an endurance award for practice-attendance.

This Fall, at a great effort and some expense, a Women's Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament was inaugurated, to which players came from Queen's and Western. The splendid courts of the Toronto Tenis Club were secured, and —a handful of supporters turned out to cheer. Anyone passing might have thought it a dr-adian's tea party, instead of a live and interesting college contest. Why carry on the farce?

Can existence of women's sport, as it stands at the present time, and as it tends to become, be justified by the thinking woman undergraduate? The making of schedules, arranging for games, and the appointment of coaches are now in the hands of the students, but, if it is able to survive at all, women's sports is travelling in the right direction toward supervision, and complete control.

Woman's work is never done if she is trying to reform some man.

HICKMAN CLAIMS HE DID NOT KILL PARKER CHILD

Actual Murder Was Done By Stranger Who Hid Little Girl While Waiting Ransom, He Says

SUNKEN HULL TO LIE STILL SPRING

Salvage Work On "S-4" Will Proceed While Possible

WEATHER DICTATES

Bodies Will Not Be Taken Out Before Vessel Is Raised

Boston, Mass., Dec. 23.— Salvage operations upon S 4 will be continued as long as it is possible to do so unless the work would "involve sacrifice of human life to continue" Admiral Pratt, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet told Admiral Andrews, commandant of the first naval district, in a telephone conversation today.

"I do not know what any one got the idea we were going to give up salvage of S-4" Admiral Hughes was quoted as saying. Ali Christmas leave was held back. Cops for officers and men at the navy yard and aboard ships have been called off.

Air within the torpedo room of the sunken submarine now is pure and every tests conducted on the mine-sweeper "Falcon", flagship of the rescue fleet indicated today.

Although Admiral Brumby in charge of salvage operations announced earlier day that there was no longer doubt that all men on board the wreck were dead, the forcing of air into the torpedo room was continued Early today a test of the air returned through the air hose to the "Falcon" showed that it contained only one half of one percent of carbon dioxide.

Left Far Spring

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 23.—The sunken submarine S-4, which lies in 17 fathoms of water off this harbor, propably will not be raised until next spring.

Rear-Admiral Frank H. Brumby, directing salvage operations, said that the work would go on while weather conditions remained favorable, but said that as soon as normal whaler weather sets in it would be suspended.

"We are going ahead with this work as fast as we can until the weather halts it or the Navy Department calls operations off," he said. "Then we will cease until spring "Just the work that is being done now will not have to be repeated."

The statement was made after a day of activity, during which ten divers descended to the sunken submarine and Commander Edward Ehlberg, in charge of diving operations, almost lost his life when he became tangled in the mud on the ocean floor.

From it ended yesterday forenoon, when Admiral Brumby announced that there was no longer possibility that life remained in the torpedo room of the S-4, where six men had been imprisoned. S-4, where six men had been imprisoned. S-4 where six men had been imprisoned grew that rescue efforts had changed to a routine salvage operation, and that this would not be completed in the winter months.

It was pointed out by several officers after a conference attended by Admiral Brumby, Commander Ehlberg and Captain Ernest P. King, associated in the salvage work, that if the extraordinary weather of the past two days continued the submarine could be salvaged probably within a week.

Danger Is Lives

The Navy Department ordered that the salvaging should be done "as soon as possible," it was said, this being interpreted to mean as soon as the work could be done without endangering the lives of the divers.

Inasmuch as the officers and men on the S-4 are dead, those in charge of salvage work said, it would be foolhardy to risk the lives of divers to recover their bodies. The salvage work might be completed before spring, they said, if those directing it were willing to sacrifice the lives of several divers in the effort.

"The bodies on the S-4 will not be removed," one officer said. "To remove them it would be necessary to cut a hole in the hull of one room to recover even the air, and entering such a hole would endanger the lives of the divers. If we recovered the bodies of the six men this month, what would the families of the other 39 victims do?"

Champion Tattood Man Marries a Ziegfield Follies Girl

Kingston, Dec. 23 — Relatives here of Joseph Simmons, known to thousands of circus patrons as "Sailor Joe" and claiming to be the most tattooed man in the world, learned that he married Josephine Haggard, of Minneapolis on December 19-at Hot Springs Ark. The bride was formerly a chorus girl with Ziegfeld's Follies and George White's Scandals. The couple will remain at Saranga, Florida awaiting the spring opening of the circus touring season. The bride will also appear as a circus performer.

EXECUTED LEADERS OF RED REVOLT

Hankow, China, Dec. 23.—Four Chinese Communists were executed here last night. One was said to have been the leader of the recent Red outbreak near here a fortnight ago. In that uprising he captured the city and established a People's Government, killing numerous Tungshan gentry and merchants.

NAVY RECEIVED COPIOUS ADVICE

Provincetown, Mass. Dec. 23.—At least 250 persons throughout the country think they know how the crew of the S 4 could have been rescued. Telegrams and letters from that number of people were sent the mine-sweeper "Falcon" suggesting use of almost every thing from mascots to rowboats. One woman advised the navy to use a mascot and an anonymous adviser told the rescue workers to force flowers plants through the bodies inboard. Others in the plants would help to the divers' nerves. One writer said a letter brought over Tom Edison to Provincetown a religious leader to attach to the S4. "It may be of great help, who knows" the writer said. Radio interference was the failure to the Connecticut tower so that it would be the first thing out of the water when the stack was brought to the surface.

FATHER THINKS HICKMAN SHOULD DIE IF GUILTY

Pendleton, Oregon, Dec. 23.—Jacob Bill Merrill, aged 59 and 60 respectively of Garfield, Washington, said today they had the supreme thrill of their lives, being occupants of Hickman's car when it was captured near here yesterday.

"We had no idea that we were riding with William Edward Hickman" Jack said when he visited the police station. He and his brother immediately traveled to various points on top of the car. Then Hickman was taken in, terrified

Hickman's father, in El Paso, Texas said that if he is guilty he should suffer the death penalty. He sent a message today asking William to let him know "On your word of honor if you are implicated. If you were, the God forgive you and have mercy on the souls of your father, mother and brothers and sisters."

After regarding Gene Edward's practice, now in Kansas City, Hickman's parents will be called for when ready. Phone 535.

HICKMAN'S CONFESSION BLAMES A 'MYSTERY' MAN FOR THE MURDER

Police Searching Now For Cramer Who Is Given As Accomplice

POLICE INCREDULOUS

Describe Prisoner As Accomplished Liar—Story Of Arrest

Pendleton, Oregon, Dec. 23.—William Edward Hickman, admitted kidnapper of Marian Parker, school girl slain in Los Angeles, today had not weakened in his story that an accomplice was responsible for the killing and mutilation of the child. After an untroubled night of sleep in the city jail here, the prisoner was permitted to elaborate briefly this morning on his confession in which he named the mysterious "Andrew Cramer" as the actual slayer. Chief of Police Tom Gurdane maintained a strict guard over Hickman's cell and permitted newspaper men and a few residents of Pendleton only a few minutes visit with the prisoner.

Disbelieve His Story

Los Angeles, Dec. 23.—With William E. Hickman under indictment here on charges of murder and kidnapping, search got under way today for the two persons he accompanied when he the confessed abductor of little Marian Parker. The search for the accomplices was ordered despite the belief of police that these confederates existed only in the imagination of the youth as named new Pendleton, Oregon.

Working at top speed to register the alleged accomplices, "Andrew Cramer" and "June Dunning," police and sheriff officers searched all their records. Numerous "Cramers" were found but the officers declared none of them apparently fitted. Of "June Dunning" they found no trace whatever.

Police suspicions of Hickman's story were based on what they declared was their experience with him at the time of his arrest last summer on the Portland charge which resulted in his discharge from the bank of which Perry Parker, Marian's father, was assistant cashier in charge of the payments.

"Hickman is one of the most plausible liars we have ever met," Chief Deputy District Attorney Buron Fitts declared today. "He is a cold-blooded killer and a clever liar."

Mrs. Grayson Plans Trans-Atlantic Flight As Gift To Herself

New York, Dec. 23—Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson to-day hoped to make herself a Christmas present of a start on her long projected transAtlantic flight. With Oskar Omdal, Lieutenant in the Norwegian navy, Mrs. Grayson planned to take off at dusk to-night in her seaplane amphibian pone "Dawn," for Harbor Grace Newfoundland, there to await favorable weather conditions for a flight to Croydon, England.

SHORT TALE OF A LOST DINNER

But The Goose Came Back And All Are Again Happy

Putting a plump goose and two chickens in the rear of his car while he did a little shopping, a local citizen discovered to his dismay that the Christmas dinner had vanished by the time he had returned. After searching all the automobiles frantically the owner of the fowl decided to enlist the services of the police, but all to no avail. The police could find out and decidedly little victim searched for over an hour for the missing birds.

During the exhaustive inquiry the man's wife returned to the automobile and asked "what was in the air". Upon being informed she laughed and said that she had taken the birds herself now left them in a store for safekeeping.

Shell Gas Purchase Property At Corner Of Coleman Street

MODERN PLANT

Plan To Erect Up-To-Date Building To Serve Motorists

The Shell Gasoline Company of Canada have recently closed a deal for the purchase of the large brick building at the south-west corner of Bridge and Coleman streets now owned by Miss Adah Hamell. The building is at present occupied by The James Text on the ground floor, while Miss Hamell's apartments are situated on the second storey. The purchase price of the property was not announced.

The Shell Company, it was learned, will commence operations to demolish the building within a few weeks. They plan to erect one of the most up-to-date filling stations in Eastern Ontario on the property. Situated as it is on one of the main thoroughfares of the city with the highway traffic passing the point, it is considered an ideal site for such a business. It is understood that the transaction has been pending for some time but the final deal was closed only recently.

The Shell Company plan to use every inch of available space on the corner and traffic coming from both Bridge and Coleman streets will be taken care of.

For many years Diamond & Son, grocers occupied the building, but some five years ago partnership was dissolved and Mr. C. M. James has since conducted a business there.

HELD UP SALOON TO BUY GIFTS

New York Policeman Shot In Attempting To Foil Bandits

New York, Dec. 23.—Clear headed bravery of a dying policeman today brought two hold up men into the police line-up charged with murder and robbery. Shot four times when he tried to foil the robbery of saloon at Long Island City, Detective John Kramer abandoned his efforts to draw his own gun, ripped a scrap of wrapping paper from the roll on the bar and scribbled the license number of the auto in which the pair had seen outside the place. A few minutes later, he was describing the robbers to the bar at the point of death. Shortly afterwards the automobile was spotted and the robbers arrested. Frank Jerome Hilton who said he had turned hold-up man to buy Christmas presents for children and George Appel, former Chicago gunman. Kenmer, who was off duty at the time, had left home a short time previous after decorating the Christmas tree for his children.

MRS. WILMOT TO VISIT IN EUROPE

Plans To Leave For Extended Tour Shortly After New Year

Mrs. Charles Wilmot and daughter, Miss Gwendolyn Wilmot, mother and sister of Mayor Eardley Wilmot are sailing from St. John, January 7th for Scotland where they will visit Mrs. Wilmot's daughter, Mrs. (Major) J. A. Coates. While away they will spend some time at Cannes and other points of interest on the continent.

Since Mrs. Coates' marriage to Major Coates in Belleville about ten years ago when he was an aviation instructor in this country, Miss Wilmot has spent much of her time with her sister in Scotland and only returned to Belleville last spring to visit her mother, Mrs. Wilmot will not be returning home until the late spring or early summer.

CAR IS WRECKED DRIVER ESCAPES

Karl Kennedy, Local Man, Uninjured As Auto Turns Turtle

SLIPPERY ROADS

Glaring Head-Lights Partly To Blame For Highway Accident

Karl Kennedy, Foster avenue, miraculously escaped death at about three o'clock this morning when his automobile turned over just east of Bayside. Mr. Kennedy was driving to Belleville from Toronto. When he reached Bay side he drove through at a moderate rate of speed but upon striking the open highway again he speeded up his car and had only proceeded a short distance from this village when he saw a car approaching from the other direction with glaring headlights. Mr. Kennedy promptly jammed on his brakes with disastrous results. His car, a touring model, skidded and head ing for the ditch, overturned three times, smashing the car beyond repair but not injuring Mr. Kennedy in any way, otherwise than breaking the stone in a ring which he wears.

Speaking to The Intelligencer today Mr. Kennedy said that he was not driving at a fast rate of speed when the accident occurred.

"It was due to the glaring headlights which I saw approaching which caused the accident. I tried to get my automobile out of the way of the car bearing down upon me and jammed on by brakes trying to turn off. My car then started to skid and it made three complete revolutions before it came to a full stop. Luckily I was not injured in any way, but if anybody had been in the car with me they would no doubt have been killed. I had a narrow time trying to get out of the wrecked car as the radiator was smashed in, the doors jammed and the top was pinned down."

The smashed car was picked up by a Trenton garageman and brought to Belleville this morning.

Considering the car was badly wreck ed last summer near the same spot.

OFFICERS SEIZE STILL AND MASH AT VERONA

Kingston Dec. 22—Seizure of a still with gallons of mash, was made by provincial officers and Provincial Constable G. V. Clubbe, at Verona yesterday. An information was sworn out against Sydney Lee, of Verona. The still was rather an elaborate affair and 50 gals. was found. The apparatus was destroyed.

EXPLOSIONS STARTLE NEW YORK ITALIANS

New York, Dec. 22.—A series of explosions that terrified Brooklyn's Italian colony and set thousands of windows screens were blown fifty feet in the air, injuring one man and damaging a total of $100,000 in property, were called out to calm thousands who poured from tenements believed explosions had been caused by bombs.

PLEADED GUILTY ASSAULTING BOY

Farmer Given Suspended Sentence By Sault Magistrate

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 23.—A sentence of two years less a twelve-year-old Finnish boy, Einno Kuusela, living in a cave at Goulais Bay, came in to police court here today when Frank McGaughan, Goulais Bay farmer, pleaded guilty to the charge of assaulting the boy and Magistrate Elliot suspended sentence on the condition that McGaughan pay all costs in connection with the search for the lad.

The boy was missing for ten weeks and when found earlier this week, he charged that McGaughan, on whose farm he had been placed by the Children's Aid Society, had beaten him so ran away. He was found in a cave close to the farm after a widespread search, living on such food as he could get by himself and companion of the wolves and bears seen occasionally in the district.

DOLAN THE DRUGGIST

HICKMAN'S CONFESSION BLAMES A 'MYSTERY' MAN FOR THE MURDER

ible liars in the world," said the police detective who handled that case. But even though the confession of the former Bunday School youth was correct, and that "Andrew Cramer" was the actual slayer of the girl, the district attorney's officers, pointed out, Hickman's own story still would be sufficient for the imposition of the death penalty in case of conviction. California law provides that when two or more persons enter into an unlawful act resulting in the death of another person, each may be found equally guilty of the murder.

In one hour and two minutes last night the county grand jury indicted Hickman on charges of murder and kidnapping with intent to extort money. He was ordered held without bail and indictment and other papers necessary for extradition were dispatched to Governor Young at Sacramento.

Police Know Cramer

Los Angeles, Dec. 23.—The Sheriff's office revealed tonight that its records listed an Oliver Andrew Cramer as a criminal arrested here several times on various charges of grand larceny and possessing narcotics and robbery and assault with a deadly weapon. His criminal record dated back as far as 1920, and he was last arrested April 27, 1927, for burglary.

William Hickman, arrested kidnapper of Marian Parker, named Andrew Cramer as the child's murderer.

The records showed that Cramer was released on bond last April, following his arrest on the burglary charge, and that he had fled the board. He was described as being 5 feet 3 3-4 inches tall, age 22, weight 105, fair brown, and as a drug addict. The man's height and age did not tally with those given Cramer by Hickman, but the Sheriff's office said that further check-up on the man was being made.

No "Hotel Harris"

San Francisco, Dec. 23.—Investigation at the Hotel Harrison in San Francisco revealed no trace of Andrew Cramer, named by William F. Hickman as an accomplice in the murder of 12-year-old Marian Parker in Los Angeles.

Hickman told police in Pendleton he was to meet Cramer at the "Hotel Harris" here, but there is no Hotel Harris either here or in Oakland. Records disclose no signature by Cramer on the Hotel Harrison's register.

Police Achieve "Fame"

Pendleton, Oregon, Dec. 23. — Cecil Lieuallen, state traffic officer seventy-five miles from traffic officer seventy-and Tom Gurdane, chief of police, today found themselves suddenly thrust into an unfamiliar role for the half of fame because of their thrilling capture of William Hickman. Four offers of handsome salaries to appear on the theatrical stages have already reached the three two men, the best offer, to date guarantees five thousand dollars a week for six months and stipulates that the officers give "theatrical lectures" on the capture of Hickman.

Whether William Hickman is the clever resourceful fox, that his ransom letters indicated or whether he is only a deluded, but decently motivated saint, the columns of news he has made in engineering the Marian Parker kidnaping still remains a matter of question today.

Vain of Publicity

"So you think that I will get as much publicity by Leopold and Loeb," he was quoted as asking his captors. He was represented as having been boastful of escaping "another conviction" of the big cities and having thought it unusual that "small town officers ever get a big capture, but described it as "the will of God."

Thus far his words and actions have evoked neither pity nor scorn. But his captors took nothing for granted. They have been told that he talked himself out of a prison sentence in the Los Angeles county case, leading the court to believe he was under the prison age limit when he really was old enough to be placed on probation. The jail bristled with guns and guards. Hickman was stripped and given every clothing to forestall any possibility that he might have been carrying weapons or narcotics in his regular apparel.

Story of Arrest

Pendleton, Ore., December 23.—William Edward Hickman, sought as kidnapper and slayer of Marian Parker, 12-year-old girl of Los Angeles, was captured near Echo, Ore., yesterday after a spectacular automobile race along the Columbia River.

In a confession to the police, Hickman stated the girl was killed Friday and that the deed was the work of a fiend whom his confession did not identify. He stated that an anaesthetic was used during the dissection of her body. She was strangled by a wire in the hands of the murderer, He declared that the murder was not committed in the Bellevue apartment house in Los Angeles.

Hickman declared he wanted the money to go to college and thought the kidnapping was an easy way out.

The officers, following a news report on Hickman's flight in the Associated Press set out west from here and at a sharp turn in the highway, east of Echo, they stopped to light their cigars, when Chief Gurdan noticed a green car approaching with switched plates. They hailed the driver and then gave chase, drawing up alongside, where he was covered and ordered to stop.

A gun was on the seat between his legs and, when he alighted, the weapon a sawed-off shotgun, dropped to the running board.

He was brought to Pendleton and searched, and the money taken from Perry Parker, father of the murdered victim, was found on his person.

Confessed to Police

A detailed confession was then obtained from him. Hickman at first laughed hysterically at accusations that he was the buried murderer, but later broke down and confessed his identity. He was given a change of clothing by the officers at the jail.

The crowd gathered about the jail seemed more curious than governed by any malice toward the prisoner.

Chief of Police Tom Gurdan, of Pendleton, and Buck Lieuallen, state officer, captured the youth for whom a reward of $100,000 had been offered.

The arrest was made a few miles east of Echo, which is 20 miles west of Pendleton, on the old Oregon Trail.

For you who have been putting off that Christmas shopping until the last minute, here's a suggestion; one of the reliable used cars Belleville Motors have in stock right now will solve the matter admirably They're all being cleaned now to make room for the new model cars, so you can get specially good value this week.

Dear Editor—

Permit us to acknowledge the following donations to the "If No-Body Cared Fund, and to extend our sincere thanks. But we are like Oliver Twist—we ask for more. Will you, kind reader, help us to reach our objective, $1500. What is it among so many? An astonishing amount of the work of the Children's Aid is done in connection with children who have never seen the inside of its walls. For instance, a father deserted four children. The mother and children were cared for and the home held together. Won't you help us to carry on this needful work.

Yours sincerely,

NO COURT AGAIN

Once again this morning was there no police court. Despite the season of the year, Christmastide, the police report that they have had no trouble with "drunks". Several of the police constables state that they have had considerable less trouble under Government control than they had the same time last year.

CAPITOL THEATRE

A good turnout at the Capitol last evening was treated to an all round good bill. On the screen the feature "See You In Jail" starring Jack Mulhall, Alice Day and Mack Swain proved to be another side splitting comedy, and a genuine entertainer. It's a fast moving story with all kinds of thrills, action and laughs.

On the stage, two first-class acts complete an all round good performance. Jimmy Taylor in acrobatic and comedy is real good as is also a youthful singing and musical wonder —a very young lady, who by her clever work was a great favorite with last night's audience.

Don't miss this show; both vaudeville acts and the screen feature will be there again tonight and Saturday.

Starring Jack Mulhall, Alice Day and Mack Swain.

NO WANT IN BELLEVILLE.

There are few families in actual want in the city of Belleville, the authorities state, and it will be only the occasional home where a Happy Christmas will not be spent. There is no need for a Campaign fund like those that are started in larger centres of Canada and the United States.

ALEMITE STAFF DINNER GUESTS

General Manager, W. E. Rowsome, Recipient Of Handsome Gift

The employees of the Alemite Products Company were surprised yesterday afternoon when it was announced that the afternoon activities would be suspended and the afternoon was free. The floors were cleared for action and the first item on the program was a tug-of-war between the married men and the single men. After the single men had shown their superiority different forms of games were played under the supervision of Messrs. Young, Rayfield, Seymour and Varley. The afternoon was pleasantly spent with various contests.

At 5.30 a sumptuous turkey dinner was served in the basement of the new building by the girls of the office staff and the factory. Songs were sung and speeches made by the department heads and foremen. The affair lasted until well into the evening. It was one of the most enjoyable parties ever arranged by the Alemite Company. The dinner was especially prepared by a well-known hostelry and the rooms were beautifully decorated by the staff, with colored streamers synonymous with the Christmas season.

Mr. W. E. Rowsome General Manager was the recipient of a handsome present from the employees Mr. Rowsome although taken by surprise made a suitable reply. Messrs. Young, Rayfield and Arbuthnot also received tokens of good-will from the same source. Mr. Rowsome announced to the employees that free Insurance policies had already been issued to those who have served with the Alemite Products Company for the past three months. These will be presented in the course of a few days.

SPANISH LOTTERY WINNER

London, Dec. 23.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Madrid says that the winner of the first prize in the Spanish Christmas lottery, valued at 15,000,000 pesetas, approximately $2,400,000, distributed the prizes among poor families in the crowded populated quarters of Madrid.

The winners of the Spanish lottery which is held annually were announced today.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

MISS LILLA STOCKER

The body of the late Miss Lilla Stocker whose death occurred in Toronto on Saturday of this week arrived here on the noon train today accompanied by her brothers and was taken to the family plot, Belleville Cemetery where the interment was made. The committal service at the graveside was conducted by Rev. L. S. Wight, Minister of Holloway Street United Church, and Rev. Dr. F. E. Malott, Minister of Bridge Street United Church. The bearers were immediate friends.

The sorrow caused by the death of the deceased young lady and the sympathy felt for the bereaved relatives were mutely expressed by the wealth of floral tributes and the large number of friends and relatives at the station to meet the remains.

ROBERT C. WILLS

The funeral of the late Robert C. Wills, a former well known Belleville man is being held in Montreal today where the late Mr. Wills has been engaged in business for the past forty years.

The deceased was born in Belleville about 83 years ago and is a brother of Mr. Casper Wills, of this city. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. A. Adams, of Montreal. The deceased was a member of the Anglican Church.

Mrs. Hoyle, Ann Street, this city is a niece.

WATER-POWER AND INDUSTRY

One can sense a quickening that foretells the vigorous life of a new industry in the district surrounding the new town of Arvida in the Saguenay region, Quebec, where one of the world's greatest aluminium refineries is approaching completion. The location of this industry at Chute a Chuna was determined by the possibilities of this remarkable power site, at which it is intended to instal 800,000 horse-power, and it is estimated that in ten years Arvida will have a population of 30,000.

Many of the most troublesome things in life spring from wrong inferences.

WOMAN GETS TWO YEARS FOR FORGERY

Kingston, Dec. 23.—Pleading guilty in the police court this morning to a charge of having forged a cheque for $63.50 on the local branch of the Standard Bank, Sarah Kennedy, married, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Crown-Attorney T. J. Rigney, pointed out that in July 1925, the accused had been convicted of a similar offence here and that in Renfrew, last May, she also been convicted of passing forged cheques. The accused admitted that this was true, but had no statement whatever to make to the court for her sentence, and when sentence was passed on her, appeared to take it as a matter of course.

CONFIRMS STATEMENT

Hamilton, Ont., Dec. 23.—Sir Henry Thornton, in a letter to Mayor Treleaven today, confirmed the statement of C.N.R. engineers that an early start would be made on a new station at Hamilton. The head of the National lines stated that it was the intention to start work on the building and bridges as soon as possible and hoped that the city would cooperate in the coming negotiations as to land, closing of streets, etc.

WOMEN CHOOSE 'EM AS TO THEIR COST

London (By The Canadian Press)—In connection with an action in the King's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice for the recovery of money alleged to have been paid for a Canadian mink coat by which a Russian mink coat had been substituted, Justice McKinnon asked: "Does what principle do ladies choose fur coats? Is the first point that it should be expensive?"

"Not always," was the reply of an expert farrier who was giving evidence in the case.

"But very often it is so," suggested the judge. "A woman would not have a useful and cheap and beautiful coat if she could get a more expensive one, even though it is less beautiful?"

"That is quite so," agreed the farrier.

The judge decided that there had been breach of contract. Canadian

TODAYS MARKETS

Liverpool Firmer

Chicago, Dec. 23.—Selling on the part of houses with connection northwest tended to ease wheat values today in early dealings here. The relative firmness of the Liverpool wheat quotations however, despite enlarged shipments from Argentina acted as something of an offset. Starting unchanged to 3-8 lower, Chicago wheat held near to initial range, corn, oats and provisions were also easier, corn opening unchanged to 3-8c off and provisions showing moderate gen eral setback.

Christmas Slows Market

New York, Dec. 23.Stock prices continued to work higher in today's market on Christmas holiday. Call bet but trading turned dull on approach money was marked up to 5 percent. due to heavy seasonal withdrawals of currency, but there was comparatively little calling of loans. Acute weakness cropped out in several of insurance shares which had recorded sensational gains earlier in the month.'

Bullish activities were confined largely to experts and select groups of other industrials, including United States Steel Common, oldmigenery Wood, National Biscuit, Curtis Aero plane and Underwood Typewriter. General Motors and Pittsburgh Coal which were sluggish in early trading, rallied briskly in early afternoon. Rails were rather quiet although steady accumulation was noted in Atcheson, Rock Island, New York Central and Frisco common.

Newsy Neighborhood Notes

REFUSES POSITION

Oshawa, Dec. 23.—R. P. Dey, of Pembroke, who was appointed chief of the Oshawa Fire department at Monday evening's meeting of the city council, has intimated his refusal to accept the position. A telegram to this effect was received from him by the fire protection committee in which he states that he will send on a letter setting forth his reasons for not accepting the post. Steps are being taken to have some of the other applicants interviewed, and it is understood that there is very small likelihood of a local man being appointed, as the committee seems determined to secure one from outside the city.

Elect Officers

Kingston, Dec. 23.—At the annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Supper Club held on Tuesday evening at the Y.M. C.A., Thomas Berry, who for the past year has been secretary of the club, was elected to the presidency. The other officers elected were: Vice-president, Alec. McGlashan; Secretary, L. G. Rice, and Treasurer, C. C. Wyatt.

R. M. C. At Practice

Kingston, Dec. 23.—R.M.C. hockeyists got on the ice at the Jack Harty Arena on Wednesday afternoon, with over twenty players under charge of the coach, Prof. F. P. Gelley. The Cadets are enthusiastic over the coming season, and expect to cut a figure in the intermediate O.H.A., as well as in the junior and intermediate intercol legiate series.

OFFICE CROWDED

Port Hope, Dec. 23.—Although the postmaster at Port Hope requested that if possible all mailing be done early in the week the post office is as crowded as ever at this time of the year.

Before and after each mail as well as all day, long eager looking crowds throng the office and just as eagerly send their gifts or notes of cheer as receive them. An extra man has been taken on but does not seem to be able to cope with the huge mail. The mail is not thought to be any heavier than last year but even at that considerable work must be put on sorting it.

CHILD POPULATION

Cobourg, Dec. 23.—Of a total population of 5,443, in the Town of Cobourg, there are 1,129 children of ages ranging between 5 and 16, according to an official census made by Assessor Hugh Cameron, who returned his report to Town Clerk A. W. Young. The assessment shows 277 children of ages between 5 and 8; 548 between the ages of 8 and 12; 151 of the ages 13 and 15, and 153 between 16 and 18.

GROWTH OF NEWSPRINT EXPORTS

Great as has been the advance in the manufacture of wood pulp in Canada it has been exceeded by the increase in production of newsprint paper as export figures establish. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics states that in 1890 Canada's total exports of paper were valued at only $122, whereas for the calendar year 1926 they had increased in quantity to 2,462,971,800 pounds with a value of $114,000,505.

BELLE THEATRE

The best, jolliest circus seen in this vicinity in many years, and it came yesterday afternoon to the Belle for a 3 day showing. It was produced by Fox Films with Tom Mix in the stellar role and is a combination of a wild west show and circus with all the thrills and excitement of both.

WWe refer to "The Circus Ace," the best Tom Mix we have yet seen, contains as it does every element which has made the Ace of Westerner's picture a world wide attraction. For here we have not only a fascinating story of romance and adventure, taken against a back-ground of the beautiful California hills, but a whole menagerie of wild animals, real shows, the thrills and excitement of the big top, including trapeze performers, balloon ascensions and parachute drops.

To say there is not a dull moment in it is to understate by a wide margin. There is barely a moment when yesterday's audience was not gripping its seats or shouting with laughter.

TODAY AND SATURDAY
TOM MIX and TONY in
"THE CIRCUS ACE"
A colorful romance of a beautiful circus performer and a daredevil rider of the plains. Excitement, suspense of a Western Rodeo.

Also Animal Comedy and Fox News.

Coming Dec. 28—"7th Heaven"—The best picture this year or any other year.

REGENT

TODAY and SATURDAY
HARRY CAREY in
"DRIFTIN' THRU"
A Real Western
Also "On Guard" and Fables.

REGENT THEATRE

"Driftin' Thru," which opened yesterday at the Regent Theatre with Harry Carey in the leading role, begins a new series of pictures which Charles H. Rogers is producing with the cowboy hero for Pathe. It is promised that these offerings are to be more pretentious than Carey's past pictures. To those who have followed the successes of this popular star, this will be regarded as a rather ambitious order to fill, but last night's entertainment gave evidence that it is an assurance not lightly made.

CHRISTMAS TREE JOYOUS AFFAIR

Ciaco Club's Annual Yuletide Entertainment Fine Success

Members of the staff of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol plant at Gravenhurst and their families spent a gala time at the Moose auditorium last evening at the annual Christmas tree and dance. The hall was jammed almost to it's full est capacity by the happy, merry throng and there was not a dull moment during the entire night. That the Ciaco Club is one of the city's livest organizations was indicated with the enthusiasm evident at the get-together. After a splendid program the decks were cleared and dancing commenced with the music furnished by the Ciaco orchestra. Refreshments were later served. There was smoke accordingly tion for everyone and a jovial Christmas spirit was prevalent.

Mr. Wilfred Smith acted as chairman and he filled the position most acceptably. Mr. Smith is President of the Ciaco Club and an able executive, he is.

The arrival of San'ta Claus from parts unknown was one of the chief events of the evening and his entrance was greeted with cheers by the youngest generation. Mr. Eddie George with his well-rounded out figure portrays old Nic Nicholas to perfection. Every member of the Ciaco Club handed a list of the kiddies in the family to the committee and each of them was the recipient of a present from Santa.

Among those assisting in the presentation of the gifts were: James Boyle, John Boyle, Thomas Cavanagh, David Sword, and James Lille.

A fine program consisting of songs and dances was arranged. A skit by Misses Stella Prain and Thelma Lawrence was especially good. Two novelty dances by Misses Rushworth and Marsh were well applauded. The com plete program was as follows:

Drummond and Munnings Bros., Musical Number; Eddie George, Song; F. Elliott, Step Dance; Fred Sprague, Song; Lennox Bros., Musical Number; the regular price.

FAREWELLS SAID TO AL STILLWELL

Y's Men's Club Make Donation To Kiddies Of Local Shelter,

Y's Men's Club held their annual Christmas tree last evening when each member contributed a gift to the collection. The presents were distributed by Chairman "Army" Armstrong and the usual fun was created as the gifts were opened for inspection. The toys will be presented to the children of the Shelter and a collection was taken as well the fund in order to provide them with the happiest Christmas possible.

The election of the Directors for the ensuing year had just closed and the following were honored; A. W. Armstrong, Geo. Pauley, Vernon Weir, Edward Lally, Mel Blanchard, Harry Forte, R. L. Brown and Steve Licence. From among these will be chosen the officers for next year.

Prospects for the hockey team were discussed and Roy Grier and Vernon Weir were delegated to look after the team. It was announced that new jerseys for the Club's colors have already been ordered. The Club will undertake the redecorating of the Intelligencer rooms directly after Christmas.

Farewells were said to "Al" Stillwell who is leaving to accept a position on the staff of Humberside Collegiate, Toronto. "Al" has taken a deep interest in the affairs of the club and his absence will be felt. He has served as Vice-President during the last semester. Mr. Stillwell expressed his regrets at leaving Belleville and the Y's Men's Club and said he would not soon forget the splendid fellowship he had enjoyed as a member of the organization.

It was announced that the hand-ball tournament would start soon with a beautiful trophy going to the winner.

Next week's meeting will be held on Thursday. Jack Andrew's men are still in the lead for the Turkey dinner with the best attendance. This Club's stock is also with individual prizes for attendance.

CLOSING EXERCISES AT QUEEN ALEXANDRA

Yesterday in his address at Queen Alexandra School, Rev. C. E. Clarke, emphasized the Christmas Spirit as a Saviour born to fill the need of the world. Youth today ought to choose a life work that will develop the highest individual service and not simply gratify mercenary ambition. "Get the best possible training urged the Rector of Christ Church.

Mrs. Rev. Dr. Baker in presenting W. C. T. U. prizes to this school for another succeeding year, stressed the importance of good health as an asset in modern times.

Prof. V. P. Hunt as musical instructor gets results. The pupils young in the second classes a marvelous training is accomplished. The solo balance in school choirs is indeed sweet. Individual prizes to his classes are a great competitive stimulus.

Dr. J. O. Herrity sounded the value of carefulness in his Safety League presentation.

For satisfying the disposition of juveniles, Mr. R. W. Ackerman shines as a snappy chairman.

Principal M. W. Mott announced to the assembled visitors present the distribution of gifts brought by the scholars themselves for the Yuletide entertainment of Children's Shelter and Home for the Aged. These voluntary provisions of fruits and vegetables will taste all the more appetizing.

BUILDING A LIBRARY OF YOUR VERY OWN

Public libraries are fine things and the more we have of them the better. But nothing can give a book quite the value that actual ownership of that book affords.

When you own a book you may not take better care of it than when it has been loaned to you. But you do appreciate it more, and that very respect which you give it makes you get just that much more out of it.

Cultivate the habit of buying books. The number you buy is not so important! Study your tastes and wishes before you make the purchase. Browse about in the bookshops.. Be careful what you buy.

Then, and then only, does that particular book of your choice take on a value that no free book possibly can yield. Then, too, when you read it, the pride of possession will make you drink in its contents, and give you a kind of thrill that almost amounts to intoxication.

Don't think that books are to be read once and then put aside for good and all. If you enjoy a book read it again and again. It doesn't matter what it is—novel, biography, history, philosophy, drama, science, poetry, or a detective yarn. If you like it, if it gives you pleasure, devour every line.

Many persons fuss too much about their reading. They don't like to be caught reading a novel, for instance. One assumes that the reading of such a novel, ephemeral though it be, makes them happy.

Then why hide the fact? Books are for learning, but they are also for pleasure. Indeed, if we were to think of reading in that light way we would not be so shy and afraid of books.

Many of us suffer a hangover from school days regarding our attitude toward books. We remember books as hard work, disagreeable work. When we were children we wished we might be through with books forever and ever. We felt we never wanted to open another, let alone buy another.

That such an attitude about books is prevalent cannot be denied. It is very fortunate. It is unfortunate because the pure joy to be derived from books is so tremendous, so satisfying, so enlightening, so restful.

If you feel that way about books try, for a change, to read just for the fun of it.

If you like the theatre, try a few plays or a book about actors, or perhaps dramatic criticism. You won't regret it. You will like the theatre better for it. It will enrich your knowledge while interesting and amusing you.

Read what you like. That is the main point. Then after you have discovered the sort of literature you like best, get into the habit of buying such a volume now and then.

You will find that owning the book will make you refer to it often. Soon you have a shelfful. They will be the ones which inspire you most and suit your character best.

Don't buy or read Shakespeare if you don't like him. Don't buy or read anything you don't like. Get back your taste for books or develop a new taste for them, by allowing your fancy to dictate your choice.

Soon you will become expert in selecting as you learn better your own inclinations. Soon also you will have a library, no matter how small, to be proud of.

In your own bookshelves you will see your own personality reflected and you will be glad to be in such select company.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in love with a young man who has asked me to marry him but Lam also in love with another man. What should I do?

UNDECIDED.

UNDECIDED: It is obvious, my dear, that you are in love with love and not with either of these men! Since I suspect that you are too young to be considering marriage, I would advise you to continue your friendships with both these young men and wait until you are a bit older before you consider a proposal from either of them.

DEAR ANNIE LOURIE:

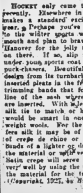

I am a girl in my teens and I met a young man a few years ago I fell in love with him. He told me that he loved me. Some girls have told me he said he didn't care for me. Should I believe the girls or believe him?

BRUNETTE.

BRUNETTE: Surely you can determine by his actions whether or not your friend is sincere, my dear, and should be able to judge for yourself whether or not this boy really cares for you. I am inclined to think that you are too young to be concerned about love and would advise you to content yourself with this boy's friendship and let that suffice. Be careful lest you lose his friendship by your willingness to believe groundless rumors about him!

It has just developed that women in Switzerland were wearing knee-length skirts four centuries ago, just before the Reformation.

This Can Be Worn As Well As Stylish

HONEST only came to New York recently. Elsewhere in the north it makes a standard ensemble every year. Perhaps you've been invited to the winter sports week at Dartmouth and plan to leave the cold of Hanover for the jolly time that goes on there. If so, slip this frock on under your sports coat to watch the puck-chasers. Beautifully tailored in design from its turnback collar to the inverted pleats in the front skirt. Wide trimming bands that follow the outline of the neck appear where these pleats are inserted. With it either belt and silk tie to match or harmonize that would be smart in one of the light weight wools. For the girl who prefers silk it may be of all one shade of crepe de chine or trimmed with bands of a lighter or darker shade of the material or with velvet to match. Satin crepe will serve this treatment very well by using the reverse side of the material for the trimming.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

Herbert asked solicitously: "What is it, dearest? Do you feel faint again?"

Lila's thoughts were in chaos, but she grasped at the straw he offered.

"I—I'd like to lie down a bit. Do you think May would mind?"

Herbert stared at her anxiously, she did look pale.

"Have the maid fix you comfortably, I'll tell Mrs. Varney." I'm sure she'll understand."

Lila sank on a divan in May Varney's with frightened eyes, at her own reflection in the mirror.

"What am I going to do?" she wondered. "I daren't meet Cilroy Holmes face to face, especially since Jack is coming home and they're sure to run across each other."

She thought desperately of ruining away, as she had done that day in Vanderpool's shop, but there was May Varney to consider. And Herbert would be horrified.

She heard light footsteps on the stairs and hastily lay down on the divan and closed her eyes. May Varney hurried into the room.

"You poor child! Herbert tells me you're all but fainting. Can I do something.

Lila opened one eye and regarded Mrs. Varney speculatively.

"Would you mind awfully, May, if I didn't come down to dinner? Would it spoil your party?"

"Not a bit," May assured her. I told Jerry it was an informal affair—just a few friends. But you'll be hungry; don't you think you'll feel like coming down, after I've had you a cocktail and some hot bouillon?"

"I'll try," she said. It was obvious that a mere moment of faintness wouldn't account for her absence from the dinner. And she simply had to be absent.

She resolved to trust May.

"I—listen, May, the truth is that I'm not a bit faint, really. But there's a man down-stairs whom I don't want to meet."

May stared.

"But there's only the Don Stewarts and the Granges—you're the best of friends."

"There's one other," said Lila hastily.

"You mean—Mr. Holmes, the new man with Herbert and Jack?"

Lila nodded.

"I—knew him in France."

"Oh!" May stared knowingly. "So that's it? Well, what rotten luck to have your own husband give him a job!"

"Isn't it," murmured Lila bitterly. "Anyway, I simply cannot not see him. Do you mind my bolting?"

"Certainly not. But how will I explain it?"

"Wait till I've gone," said Lila, "and then tell Herbert and say that I didn't want to spoil the party by being ill." May chuckled.

"It must be thrilling to have an European past! Fancy its pursuing you like this!"

Lila thought resentfully: "If she only knew the truth!"

With May's help she slipped out through the tradesmen's entrance, while May kept the servants out of the way. At the corner she found a taxi and was driven home.

Fifteen minutes later, when Herbert called up, Lila's maid told him that Madame had gone to bed. She had, she lay staring into the darkness, awaiting Herbert's return and wondering what new misadventure was in befall her.

CHAPTER 21.

THE RETURNED LOVER.

Lila awoke next morning, after a night of fitful sleep, and her first thought was: "this is the day that Jack Parquahar returns."

One moment she was glad that this man whom once she had thought she loved, was alive instead of lying in some obscure French cemetery. But the next, with a keen instinct for self-preservation, she admitted frankly that it was difficult—to be glad that he was returning.

Herbert, believing that she was still asleep and not wishing to disturb her after her supposed indisposition of the previous evening, went away without coming to kiss her good-by. She was glad of that, because she felt so miserably disloyal to him.

If he knew that she was going, that very morning, to meet a man to whom she had once been pledged in marriage!

For Lila knew that she would have to go to meet Jack Parquahar, if it would be dangerous not to go. Otherwise, he would try to locate her at her father's house, and the whole wretched business would have to come out.

She wondered why her memory of him, once so dim, had become so vivid. She wondered why he had almost risen fear of this man who had, to all intents and purposes, risen from the dead. He had become an ugly, menacing fact, threatening her happiness and Herbert's.

While she bathed and breakfasted and dressed she tried to settle her thoughts, upon the coming interview. What should she tell him? Did she dare risk the full truth? That seemed the best and simplest course; and yet it was too cruel, in the face of that pledge made on the eve of their wedding.

In the end, she decided to make no definite plans for the moment—to let Jack Parquahar set the pace. Perhaps after all, he had changed, as Dorothy had suggested. Perhaps he was coming home to ask her to release him from his pledge to her.

When she was dressed, she stared at her reflection in the mirror, trying to see herself as she would look to Jack Parquahar. In the slim, chic woman in her soft gray furs, with her bright hair almost hidden by a toque of dull blue and the faintest pink of excitement tinging her fair skin, there was little trace of the girl in a mud-stained uniform, pale and tired, who had stood with her hand in Parquahar's and made a marriage pledge.

She took a taxi to the pier and stood on the edge of the crowd, while the big liner slid into her berth. She hoped devoutly that she wouldn't have the bad luck to run into an acquaintance. To have to explain to Jack Parquahar on the spur of the moment would be difficult, and there was always the chance that Herbert might learn of their meeting.

She watched the Passengers came down the gang-plank, encountered friends and relatives, kissed, laughed, and hastened away.

Lila began to wonder if she would recognize Parquahar when she saw him. She saw a man—at the thought that they might have passed each other, and that he might, even now, be on his way to the Lathams' house.

But, just when she had decided that she had missed him, he came.

"Lila!"

Her hand was in his. He was looking down at her and his gray eyes were devouring her.

"Jack!" she said then, to her horror, he swept her into a swift embrace and kissed her.

She struggled to free herself.

"Oh, Jack, you mustn't! People—" He laughed exultantly.

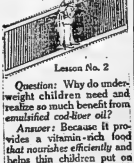

"There's no one in the world for me at this moment but you!"

Her heart sank. This didn't sound as though he'd changed.

She said hastily: "It's wonderful that you're alive and well, after all that time when I—we—thought—"

"Well you've got that!" he command ed boyishly. "Tell me youre happy!"

"Why, of course, Jack!" She pressed his arm with her gloved hand and smiled up at him.

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

O Truth is easy, and the light shines clear
In hearts kept open, honest and sincere!

E. OLES.

MARITIME UNION

The co-operation which has been shown in the Maritime Provinces in the movement for securing a recognition of Maritime rights has brought up once more the question of Maritime union. If we are to believe the Halifax Herald, the three provinces are closer to union to-day than ever in their history. To show what economies in political machinery could be effected by the formation of one Province out of the three Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, our contemporary quotes figures showing that these Provinces, with a combined population of much less than half that of Quebec or Ontario, have nearly twice as many members of the Legislature and nearly three times as many government ministers.

But while it is easy on economic grounds to build up a case for union, there are many difficulties in the way. For instance, the Premier of Canada, Mackenzie, Royal says: "It is entirely probable that the people of Prince Edward Island and of New Brunswick might not care to be under the dominance of Nova Scotia as the greater element in the trio. It is possible that Nova Scotians might not seek to share their ancestral and proudly held rights and prestige with the minor two of the three old Provinces. The fact that Rhode Island and other smaller States of the American Union have never had cause for complaint because of their smallness shows that proper treatment of the units (however small) in a federation is not impracticable in a manner to assure content and loyalty. And there is no reason why our Provinces should remain small in population. The spectator, having at the time being since 1882, is a bit suspicious of schemes evolved at Ottawa for the benefit of the land of fish and lighthouses; they have not always proved wholly philanthropic. If there is to be any real movement for Maritime Union the thing to do is to let it emanate from within. Let there be a meeting of delegates from all over the three Provinces at some such place as Annapolis Royal to talk it over seriously and evolve a platform."

From this it will be seen that the idea of union is regarded as a scheme on the part of Ottawa for "putting something over" the Maritimes for some dark purpose and that alone is sufficient to kill it. If ever a Maritime Union does come, it will have to come from within and not from without, as the spectator says. With the rise of the Western Provinces, and the consequent relative decline of federal representation of the Maritime Provinces these latter may yet be forced into union as a matter of self-defence.

"MINING" FORESTS

The reckless destruction of the timber resources of the country is causing much anxiety to the authorities. It is asserted that, in spite of conservation measures, the supply will be all used up within a relatively short space of time, if the present rate of cutting continues. Hon. William Finlayson, provincial minister of lands and forests, recently reminded the public that timber is not capital, but a crop. It is as great a crime to destroy a crop of timber as it is to destroy a crop of corn. A United States' expert, Mr. David T. Mason, of Portland, Oregon, estimates that at the present rate of consumption the softwood available in the United States will be gone in thirty-seven years. He does not think the forests of Eastern Canada will be able continuously to maintain the supply demanded by the pulp and paper industries, and declares that British Columbia is likewise denuding her forests. The Vancouver Province recalls the opinion expressed in the British Columbia legislature, to the effect that the virgin stands of Douglas fir in that province would be exhausted in fifty years, and asks, "What will the end be?" "It is not a pleasant outlook any way you take it—a continent once heavily forested nearing the end of its forest resources and still rushing on with a mad recklessness, mining its timber, cutting and selling at ruinous prices, paying little or no attention to considered cropping, replacement and sustained yield."

NEW PROBLEMS

The automobile has brought more than one problem that has not yet been solved. Somebody remarked that "the automobile is the most astonishing development or phenomenon in our mechanical history." This is a mild statement.

Not only is the automobile the most astonishing phenomenon in mechanical history, but we may include also our industrial, economical and social life and history. The automobile has brought problems in all these fields that are so staggering in their terrible proportions that no serious attempt has been made to soberly study them, let alone to solve them. Yet they must be solved. Some day it may be necessary for us to wake up and make some calculation as to just what shape we are in on this subject. There are two phases of the automobile problem that must be met now.

One of these phases is to get enough space in roads and streets to operate all the cars, and another is where all the money to build and rebuild all the roads and streets is to come from.

With over 25,000,000 cars in North America demanding roadway, the problem changes from wonder over their rapid increase to wonder how they'll find enough space in roads and streets to operate. Already in many regions the roads are inadequate to the demands, yet cars increase in number.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

The grandfather who used to pluck arrows out of his hide as he stoically trudged through the snowdrifts now has a grandson who grits his teeth and smiles bravely when he pinches his finger in the folding leg of a bridge table.—Border Cities' Star.

Man's inhumanity to man makes thousands hesitate at the curb.—Montreal Herald.

During the past couple of years there has been a tremendous increase in immigration from Central Europe and a decrease from the British Isles. It has called forth a protest and a promise from Hon. Robert Forke, minister of immigration, of a change in policy. Canada does not want to bar all-aliens, but it does feel that the majority of our immigrants should be people of Anglo-Saxon stock, who understand something of British laws and British institutions.—London Free Pres.

Johnny's grandma lived with the family, and it was her constant complaint that the house was too cold for her. All father's stoking efforts were fruitless, so Johnny turned to heaven for aid. "God bless mamma and papa," he prayed, "and make me a good boy and oh, dear Lord, make it hot for grandma."

Ole Olesen, track-walker, was supposed to be testifying after a bad head on collision.

"You say," thundered the attorney, "at ten that night you were walking up toward Seven-Mile Crossing and saw Number 8 coming down the track at 60 miles an hour?"

"Yah," said Ole.

"Well, what did you do then?"

"Aye got off the track."

"Well, but then what did you do?"

"Vell, aye say to mineself, 'Dis bane a—l of a way to run a railroad.'"

Judge: "And you plead guilty to shooting your husband?"

Fair Lady: "Yes, Your Honour."

Judge: "Well, I will give you a suspended sentence of six days, and if you shoot your next one you'll have to serve it."

THE PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

The water has risen so high in the harbor the last few days that several boat houses were flooded.

The triennial election of chiefs was held yesterday at the Council House on the Tyendinaga Reserve, with the following results. Samson Green Head Chief, Solomon Loft, Stephen Maracle Daniel Marsale, Jacob Brant, Chiefs.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of Mr. Lawrence Walsh, Mary Street, when his eldest daughter Pramkle was married to Charles Frederick of Foxboro. The bride who was attended by her sister Miss Addie Walsh looked charming in a travelling dress of green cloth trimmed with mauve. The groom's maid was Mr. John Cook. Rev. C. S. McIntyre officiated.

Mrs. Archibald Ponton has gone to Toronto to spend a few days with friends.

UNWRITTEN POEMS

Fair spirits of the breeze—
Frailer nothing is than these.
Fancies born we know not where—
In the heart or in the air.
Wandering echoes blown unsought—
From the crystal peaks of thought;
Shadows, facing at the dawn,
Ghosts of feeling dead and gone:
Alas! Are all fair things that live
Still lovely and still fugitive?

WALES TO MOVE INTO NEW HOUSE

Alterations Nearly Completed At Marlborough House

London.—The many alterations at Marlborough House are practically completed, and the Prince of Wales will be moving in there shortly from York House, much to his regret, if all one hears is true. The changes at Marlborough House have only been those of decoration, as no structural changes were considered necessary, and but for redecorating the house is practically the same as when it was remodelled fifty-six years ago for King Edward as Prince of Wales.

The ground floor and staircase are practically the only part of the house that have remained unchanged since the days of the redoubtable Sarah Duchess of Marlborough, for whom it was built by Wren. From her time date the frescoes by Louis Laguerre in the salon and on the staircase of the great Duke of Marlborough's victories at Blenheim, Malplaquet, and Ramillies. They had grown very dark and indistinct with years of fogs, but have been admirably restored and cleaned.

The silk panels in the State rooms, which are all on the ground floor— the salon, the State dining-room, and the Red and Green drawing-rooms—have been renewed, wall sconces have been replaced by those more in keeping with Wren's scheme of architecture. But silk and modern mantelpieces have been fitted rooms with one exception. King Edward kept all his Indian trophies in the Green drawing-room, and the ceiling of this room was designed to be in keeping with their Oriental splendor. This has been removed, and in its place is a ceiling copied from one of the time of George II. Beyond this and the removal of a conservatory on the garden front, there has been no work for the builders.

The Prince will have his private apartments, his business room, his private secretaries' and equerries' rooms all on the first floor, and so arranged that a minimum of time will be lost in communication. Actually, it is a clever combination of a private abode and a business establishment, each entirely distinct, but yet in close touch.

The Princes bedroom which has white walls and white-painted window casements, overlooks St. James' Palace and the Mall, with a view over St. James' Park. Close by the room Queen Alexander aroused as a boudoir. This will be the Prince's dressing-room. This private suite consists of only six rooms, and is so arranged that the Prince can go straight from his bedroom to his office without passing through the main portion of the house. It is so long since anything has been done to the interior of Marlborough House that it had become distinctly gloomy and not a little shabby. Now, under the Queen's supervision, it has become all brightness and light.

Britain's Youngest Earl

The new Earl Cathcart is only eight years old, but he is not the youngest peer of his rank. Lord Willies, who's father died recently in London, is six, and there is yet a younger earl, namely, Lord Calmsborough, who succeeded his father in August last year at the age of three years and nine months. Another baby peer is Lord Foley, who is just over four.

Weather—About the same.

Tomorrow will see the wind-up of the Christmas shopping and judging from the expressions on the faces of most of the clerks, they will welcome a rest from the toils and cares that have infested each day for the last two weeks.

The burning question—When do the tireless army of neck tie dispensers and handkerchief vendors find an opening to do a little loose shopping for themselves?

Things that it is unpleasant to lose, are:—(1) A job. (2) A streetcar (3) A personal letter, (4) A life, (5) A chance of a drink, 6 A fight, (7) A bet, (8) A hockey game, (9) A friend.

The oasis down Bridge street way seems to be a favorite shopping centre and nin etime out of ten the recipient will be more pleased with Santa's contribution than an Eskimo would with a coon-skin coat.

Howard Ferguson appears to be the real old-fashioned kind of Santa Claus, this year.

When you're doing your last minute shopping, don't forget Tom Rustoh's fund for those poor little kiddies down Dundas street way, who although they do not realize it, are depending on the generosity of the citizens of Belleville for their bundle of Christmas cheer. The Kiwanis have started the ball rolling, so let's not neglect the fund in the rush and hurry to attain our own ends.

The "Y" have planned an extensive program for the holiday season with a series of backet-ball, volley ball and hockey tournaments. FELDSPAR PRODUCTION IN CANADA

The entire production of Canadian feldspar comes from the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. The chief producing localities being in the vicinity of Sudbury in Sudbury district, Verona in Frontenac county, Perth in Lanark county, and Hybla in Hastings county Ontario; and in the vicinity of Buckingham, in Hull county, Quebec. There is a small production from the Parry Sound district in Ontario and a deposit at Quetachu bay on the River St. Lawrence river in Quebec was developed to some extent in 1922.

FLYING CLOUD CAR MAKES NEW SPEED RECORD

Covers 959 Hard Miles In Less Than Nineteen Hours

With two non-professional drivers alternating behind the wheel, a stock Flying Cloud brougham re cently set up a mark of 20 hours, 58 minutes elapsed time over a 959.5 mile route which takes in ten counties of Southern California, and which covers high mountain passes, desert wastes, rutted detours and crowded highways.

The actual running time of the Flying Cloud for 959 miles of road was only 18 hours, 47 minutes—an average of 51.09 miles per hour while traveling, and of 45.7 miles per hour including all stops.

Actual Road Conditions

The object of the trip was to demonstrate how the Flying Cloud performs under actual road conditions.

Gene Hickman and William Elliott, both employes of the Reo Motor Car Company of California, were the Flying Cloud's pilots on the trip. Neither has ever been a professional driver.

The Flying Cloud in its record-setting run encountered practically every variety of road and traffic condition to be met with anywhere. There were opaque banks of fog and chilly winds along the coast; through the Imperial Valley there was intense heat; and on the Mojave desert the sand was blowing in a gale. Mountains were climbed—the Flying Cloud went 4,233 feet above sea level and 200 feet below it—while sharp curves, many detours, chuck holes and washed-out bridges were representative of the many things that hinder sustained speed on city and country streets and roads. The entire trip was made without a single mechanical adjustment.

Drivers Congratulated

Herbert E. Woodward, president of the Reo Motor Car Company of California, was among the first to congratulate the drivers upon the completion of the run. He was greatly pleased at the car's performance, and in discussing the achievement, said:

"For two drivers who know no more about automobiles than the average well-informed owner, to establish such a record in a strictly stock car, gives the public a better idea of what they can expect in the new Reos than any other test we could devise."

International Commission Gives Decision On Glozel Finds

Paris, Dec. 24.--In scientific, judicial language the International Commission of Anthropologists, charged in the autumn with the task of deciding whether or not the discoveries of prehistoric remains at Glozel, in the centre of France, were genuine, today issued its report which in substance declares that the whole Glozel find was a fake, that the majority of the inscriptions and other objects found there, are not ancient, and that some of those which it considers ancient were probably "salted" into the ground.

Eight scientific chiefs for the International Institute of Anthropology to make the investigation refrain from making any accusations against anyone having planted the wonderful collection of "prehistoric" remains. They exonerate delicately those scientists who were deceived by the mixing of the genuine with the false into believing that Glozel was the greatest discovery of pre-historic remains ever made in Europe. But their conclusion is definite "that the ground in which the objects were found," and the objects themselves, do not justify a belief in their genuineness. Glozel is neither palaeolithic nor neolithic nor bestiolithic.

It is simply the modern invention of someone who had wit enough to place some genuine axe heads and implements with others of bone and pottery, which he had carefully and patiently fashioned himself."

The Commission does not say that the whole place was salted. It only "does not entirely the hypothesis of the introduction into the ground of ancient objects."

QUEBEC BANKER RECOMMENDS THE ONT. BUS. SCHOOL

A letter was received on Wednesday at Ontario Business College from a Bank Manager known in the Eastern Townships of Quebec, of which the following is part:--

"One of our customers desires to send his son to a good business college. We spoke of you and he asked us to write you on his behalf.

"Our customer is operating three factories in this vicinity and ships his output to the United States. To date he has kept his books himself, but he now desires to turn this work over to his son. The boy is nineteen years of age and has a fair education. He would be required to make a payroll every two weeks, keep a record of freight and duty on U.S. shipments, labor costs, etc., and not profits of business. What is the cost of your course, and board in Belleville? We have recommended that the boy should have your course."

A large lumber company in Three Rivers, Que., wrote to O.B.C. a few days ago with reference to two young men on their office staff, as follows:--

"We will advise you of the duty Mr. Lebeuf, the young man we wish to send to your College, will arrive in Belleville in January."

"Mr. Martin is writing along nicely with his work and certainly does not regret having attended Ontario Business College last winter."

The President of this lumber company is a graduate of O.B.C.

CHRISTMAS

The Christmas Spirit! 'Tis a wondrous thing.
It finds the sordid streets with mystic glow
It makes the bells their gleeful carols ring,
And makes goodwill thro' every heart to flow.

The Christmas Spirit! 'Tis a kindly thing.
It gives to heavy hearts a taste of joy.
It teaches silent lips a song to sing;
It brings the eager child a longed-for toy.

The Christmas Spirit! 'Tis a lovely thing.
It lights dull eyes, illumes the sombre face.
How many wanderers does it homeward bring!
How many fancied wrongs forc'er erase!

The Christmas Spirit! 'Tis a holy thing.
The Blessed Babe is in our midst today.
The'ir fit we bring, the praises that we sing,
Not half our adoration can convey.

FOUR-DAY PLANE SERVICE WILL BE OPERATED TO MINING AREAS

Final Terms Of Contract Being Drawn Up To Carry Mail

Ottawa, December 24.—H. A. Oakes, head of the Western Canada Airways, Limited, was in conference this morning with officials of the Post Office Department, negotiating the final terms of an air mail contract for Red Lake mining area.

The contract will call for an air service at least once every four days, in regular the day-to-day service now in operation. Mail will be carried by air plane from Hudson, Ont., to the mining area.

P. J. Coolican, general superintendent of the Post Office Department, state that this was the only air mail service in the central part of Canada contemplated at the present time. The department has been investigating the possibilities of tapping the United States Transcontinental Air Mail Service in Eastern and Western Canada as a means of giving rapid mail service. Koching has been decided on as yet, but it is possible that a mail service by air from Montreal south to New York will be inaugurated in the coming year.

The north is looking to this air service through the United States to St. Paul, and carrying it north by air to Winnipeg, Mr. Coolican said that this also was being inquired into, but that nothing would be done in 1928. The present mail is to send mail by train from Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto, and west from Toronto, to Buffalo, where the through all mail service would be established. The mail would by carried to St. Paul where the Canadian postal authorities would provide an air service to Winnipeg. In this way something more than 18 hours could be cut off the present transcontinental service. However, it has been decided to go slowly in the immediate future, confining the plans to such districts as the Red Lake district and the northern section of Alberta.

Immediate developments are taking place on the St. Lawrence Gulf and Labrador routes, where the air mail service will advance receipt of British mails to Quebec, Ontario and the western provinces from 24 to 28 hours. All the Dominion benefits from these air services.

THE WEATHER

BANDITS USED CHILDREN AS SCREEN TO HOLD UP

Cleve. Texas. December 24.—Using children as a screen from bullets, five bandits today held up the National Exchange bank of Cleo today, but in the attempt to escape one of the men was killed and the other four were believed surrounded by a posse of peace officers and citizens.

Rushing from the bank to two waiting automobiles, the men herded seven children before them as a screen from bullets. Two of the children were killed in a car by one of the men. More than a hundred shots were fired.

GRAYSON PLANE BELIEVED LOST ON EAST COAST

Last Reports Showed The "Dawn" Passed Orleans, Mass.

SHARP LOOK-OUT

Weather Clear Along New England Shores—Fliers Overdue

Boston, Mass., Dec. 24.—"Dawn" Mich. Frances Wilson Grayson's amphibian plane which left Roosevelt Field, N.Y. at 5.07 p.m., yesterday for Harbor Grace, Nfld., on its last hop passed over the French Cable telegraph company's station at Orleans, Mass., at 5.30 a.m. today.

Radio stations along the New England coast and in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland kept a sharp watch for signals from the Dawns wireless apparatus but heard nothing. The weather was clear over the entire course with brisk northwest wind along New England shore.

In Boston it was the coldest morning of winter. Apparently it was warmer in Newfoundland, as an early morning despatch from Harbor Grace said that it was "Not freezing" and that wind was very light. The plane had been expected to reach Harbor Grace soon after sunrise.

Halifax, Dec. 24.—Up to 9.15 o'clock this morning, Atlantic Standard time, nothing had been heard here of Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson amphibian plane, "Dawn", which left Roosevelt Field New York early after five o'clock last night for Harbor Grace, Nfld., where the hop was to be made before attempting trans-Atlantic flight to Croydon, England. At 9.15, the Dawn was two hours and fifteen minutes overdue at Harbor Grace.

CHRISTMAS TRAFFIC HEAVIEST IN YEARS

Toronto, Dec. 24.—Heavy traffic to Western Ontario, particularly London and Windsor, and to New York state, is a feature of the biggest Christmas holiday traffic in Toronto's history, now in full swing.

Officials of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways state that indications are the outward rush of persons, which started last night, will be the heaviest they have ever known.

It is asserted that the traffic to Montreal is much lighter than previously.

SMALL MARKET GREETED BUYERS

An exceptionally small market was held in the old Square this morning with a few rigs being drawn up to their assigned places. Noticeable was the complete absence of fowl, no turkeys having made their appearance by 11 o'clock this morning. The vegetable prices had not changed an iota from those of last week, and few eggs looking apples were displayed. A pail fusion of Christmas tree of every size were on display and sold from the price upwards. Quite a number having one of the biggest stalls on this square stated that it was due to the exceptionally cold weather that the market was so small this morning.

THREE TEAMS TO PLAY GRADS SOME EVENING

Ottawa, Dec. 24 Something new it the way of hockey entertainment will be presented to customers next Thursday when the Varsity Grads who will represent Canada at the Olympic. No "All Star" team will be picked from local city teams, instead the New Edinburgh champions, Shamrocks and Lasalle, the three leaders of the league, will take the Grads on, each team playing one period. If the Grads can lick all three in one night, they will establish a record.

RECALL IS ASKED

L. Medina Baron

Mexican consul-general in Toronto, whose recall is demanded by many Roman Catholics throughout the dominion, in consequence of his recent criticism of the Catholic church's activities in his native land. Baron declines to answer or to discuss the charge that he violated the privileges of his position by joining in such a controversy.

FINE PROGRAMME AT ST. ANDREW'S

Children Send Gifts To Galician Settlement In Manitoba

A large turnout attended the Christmas concert of St. Andrew's Church Sunday School last evening. Mr. L. L. Moore, Superintendent of the School, acted as Chairman.

Rev. R. G. Stewart, Minister of the Church, explained to the gathering that no presents were being given the children. The reason for this was that two weeks ago a box weighing about four hundred pounds, containing toys, books and clothes were shipped to Prasewood, Manitoba, for the Galician children, who also enjoyed their first Christmas tree. A box was also sent to the local Children's Shelter and to the Old People's Home.

Each scholar of St. Andrew's Sunday School received a box of candy last evening.

HICKMAN'S CAPTORS MAY OCCUPY CALCIUM GLARE

Pendleton, Ore., December 24.—Cecil Jeuallen, the state traffic officer—every one calls him "Buck" in these parts—and Tom Gurdane, the chief of police, today found themselves suddenly thrust forward as candidates for the fall of Fame because of their thrilling capture of William E. Hickman.

Four offers of handsome salaries to appear on theatrical stages have already reached the two men. The best offer, to date, guarantees $3,000 a week for six months, and stipulates that the officers give "theatrical lectures" on the capture of Hickman.

When asked his disposition in reference to the proposals, Jeuallen muttered essentially that "Tom and I are listening to the propositions but have made no decisions."

Jeuallen has lived in eastern Oregon for many years. He has been a cowboy and is an excellent rider.

Tom Gurdane, the chief of police, is one of the smallmen, a 90-year-old veteran, is one of the best-known police officers in Oregon. His father, a retired lawman, was one of the first sheriffs of Umatilla county.

Buck and Tom will go to Los Angeles if they said upon invitation to receive their reward, in a theatre. The total of the rewards offered stands at $25,000.

CRAMER, ALLEGED ACCOMPLICE OF KIDNAPPER, IN LOS ANGELES JAIL

Hickman Shows Signs Of Breaking Under Intense Strain

LITTLE SYMPATHY

Advises Young Men To Tread "Straight Path"—Still Denies Killing

Pendleton, Oregon, Dec. 24.—The turning of the tide in the criminal course of William Edward Hickman became so take effect today on the kidnapper of little Marian Parker, as he fought in his cell for peace of mind by a frenzied struggle again and again that he abducted but did not murder the twelve year old girl. He lost the appearance of the bravado which supported him through his capture on Saturday and the ensuing ordeal in which he confessed his participation in one of the most remarkable crimes in the history of west.

The torture of bearing the cell of the evil genius whom Jacks has all but cast him beyond the realm of sympathy began to rise when his dark eyes met their lustre. He issued a statement warning young men to "Go straight", He winned as he assured himself about that he did not kill the girl, he kidnapped. He tried to assure himself that he was "decent" that he did not drink nor disrepute, and that he did not associate with women.

GREET SANTA AT CANADIAN LEGION

Kiddies Of Returned Men Have Gala Time At Christmas Tree

Over three hundred kiddies, the families of returned men in Belleville packed the Canadian Legion Hall yesterday afternoon to welcome Santa Claus and spend a jolly time as the guests of the Canadian Legion and Ladies' Auxiliary. It was one of the most successful Christmas tree affairs attempted by the Legion and nothing was left undone to provide the youngsters with the very best time possible. Excitement reigned from the minute the proceedings were started and the happy merry crowd of boys and girls joined in the singing with the same zest as the older ones. Bedlam broke loose on the arrival of old Santa who had a bit disposal a present for every child in the hall as well as a bag of peanuts and candy for each. The committee of ladies from the Auxiliary were especially active in making the arrangements.

A pretty sight presented itself on entrance to the hall. The long tables were laden with sandwiches, cake and delicacies of all kinds, while pretty little favors filled with candy for each child were set beside the plates. Many of the parents provided and were given seats in the hall.

The entertainment was one of the events looked forward to by the kiddies of returned men and the funds are supplied by various organizations and private citizens. President Col. E. D. O'Flynn of the Legion acted as Chairman and filled the position in his usual fine style. Chaplain Rev. A. L. Geen opened the affair with grace. This was followed by the serving of a most delicious repast which was served by the ladies.

Santa Claus announced that he was on his way—and, children waited in keen expectation. Comrade Bert Hall who acted in the capacity of Santa attire with the long flowing whiskers captured the hearts of the youngsters and he distributed gifts from the tree. No one was forgotten by Old Nick and the kiddies were sent on their way rejoicing. During the course of the dinner an entertainment was provided by several well-known artists. Piano solos were given by Mrs. W. H. Harvey, Mr. Fairbairn and Mrs. Chamberlain, while Mr. W. H. Harvey gave a fine violin solo. Comrade Willie Bennett rendered one of his comic songs much to the delight of the boys and girls.

Mr. J. W. Day was general chairman of the affair and he was ably assisted. Messrs. Bert Knight, Chas. Jack, William Harvey, Jack Tyrell and Mrs. Lawes, Mrs. Bradford, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Jeffs, Mrs. Mayhew and Mrs. Jack.

Mrs. Bumpstead as President of the Auxiliary and Mrs. Batchelor as Vice-President assisted in the affair.

FESTIVE DOINGS AT ST. THOMAS'

Joint Christmas Tree With St. Paul's Draws Capacity Crowd

Joint Christmas trees for St. Thomas' and St. Paul's Sunday Schools were held in St. Thomas Parish Hall last night at 8 o'clock, with the Rev. John Lyons acting as chairman and the Sun Boy School orchestra furnishing the music for this joyous and festive occasion. A glorious time was the verdict of all present, in fact they were about the best Christmas trees ever held in St. Thomas Church.

Presentations Made

Numerous presentations were made last night.

Mr. Cornell, Organist at St. Paul's Church, Mr. Stewart, Supt. St. Paul's, S.S.; Mr. Samuel Henn and Charles Knight acted as the Misses Phyllis Davis and Alice Potter of S.S. of St. Thomas by their teacher, Mrs. Carey, for proficiency in Bible Knowledge. Two prizes by the Vicar for proficiency in Knowledge of Church Catechism and for assistance rendered in S.S. work in general; Prizes by the various S.S. classes for regular and punctual repetitive teachers: To Mr. J. Bryant, Mr. Knight, Mr. Thomas S.S., all these were the recipients of presentations.

By the time Santa Claus arrived and distributed presents to all the children. The following is the program:

"Let there be harmony in things essential—Liberty in things not essential—Charity in all."

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

Just stand aside and watch yourself go by,
Think of yourself as he instead of I.
Back to your walled tenement you'll go,
With tolerance to all who live below.
The faults of others then will dwarf, and shrink,
Love's claim grows stronger by one might link.
When you, with he as substitute for I,
Have stood aside and watched yourself go by.

HOME INSTINCT

Few men and fewer women begin life without ambition to own a home of their own. A place which in mind at least is to be almost sacred. A castle protected by the law of the land safe from intrusion. Where the family is to be reared; to be adorned and beautified during the vigorous years of life and then truly a haven of refuge in the declining years.

Men and women are the same today as yesterday. Instincts are the same. Inherent qualities are not controlled by changed conditions. Modern life may suggest subterfuges for a home, may make the realization of the desire for a home difficult, but therein the subterfuge demands and the desire fail, the instinct thought stifled is as strong as ever.

There are those who regret that the modern idea suggests placing the home secondary in importance in life—that a seatle,' when theatres, dances, card parties and amusements in public places must be attended every night in the week? Too many consider the home with family prayers, family gatherings and a place which is considered habitable several evenings during the week, one which is presided over by some old fogey. The pendulum has swung forward and will swing back. There will come the time when the home owning and home loving instinct will prevail and the home be rein stated.

SCIENCE WINS

In the relative security from disease which characterizes the twentieth century it is all but impossible for one to comprehend the extreme distress, fear and suffering that held sway in the days of ignorance and pestilence. We have come an immense distance since those dark ages, but it has been a battle every inch of the way—a battle against germs, filth, ignorance, superstition, vice, disease, suffering and death the arch enemies of the human race. Nor is the battle done.

It may well be supposed that in the days before the development of modern medical science there were abundant opportunities to observe at first hand the ravages of germ disease. The Great Plague, the Black Death, leprosy tuberculosis, typhus, typhoid, malaria and a dozen other ailments almost annually decimated the population and kept nations in a nightmare of fear and apprehension. Superstitions were common, the people believing plagues and diseases were due to black magic, sorcery or the "hand of Providence."

Those days are gone. The science of bacteriology has largely supplanted superstition and a tremendous conflict is being waged against the real causes of disease. We no longer look to the stars for guidance; instead scientists take cultures of the blood, drinking water, milk or whatever might be the source of disease.

Under the leadership of men who have won the right to direct such efforts humanity at this moment is engaged in the greatest warfare of all time—the battle of man against microbe. Gradually at first, but by leaps and bounds in recent years, the hosts of disease are being pushed back.

The efforts of these modern crusaders have been so successful that humanity is soon to have the pleasure of seeing out some of the most dreaded scourges that mankind has suffered under.

FREE STATE LINES

In a recent speech in Dublin Mr. De Valera said that there were lots of Irishmen still willing to die for a Republic. They may be willing to die for it, but, according to a document that has fallen into the hands of the Irish Times, they are not willing to pay for it. This document shows that of the £200,000 subscribed for De Valera's party during the past year, only £3,500 was subscribed in Ireland. Either they know De Valera too well in Ireland, or value their lives less than their cash.

In the meantime Mr. Cosgrave's Free State Loan has all been taken up—$15,000,000 in the United States. In New York the whole $15,000,000 was taken up inside of a few hours.

There may be a few ink-pot revolutionaries left in New York who are willing to send hard-earned dollars promoting De Valera's ambitions; but the vast bulk of the Irish people both at home and abroad seem to have settled down contentedly to the Free State settlement.

LOW THRICE WELCOME, CHRISTMAS

Now thrice welcome, Christmas,
Which brings us good cheer,
Mince pies and plum porridge
Good ale and strong beer;
With pig, goose and capon,
The best that can be,
So evil doth the weather
And our stomachs agree.

Observe how the chimneys
Do smoke all about,
The cooks are providing
For dinner, no doubt;
But those on whose tables
No victuals appear,
O may they keep Lent
All the rest of the year!

With holly and ivy
So green and so gay,
We deck up our houses
As fresh as the day,
With bays and rosemary,
And laurel complete;
And everyone now
Is a King in concert,
Poor Robin's Almanac, 1695.

Eve had the best husband in world—at that time.

A youthful under-secretary of state went to his chief fuming with rage at inaccuracies which had been made in a report of one of his speeches. "I intend to take action against the paper!" he declared hotly.

"Por Heaven's sake, don't do that!" exclaimed the older man. "They may take to reporting you accurately!"

CANADA'S WINTER SPORTS

Canada has always been noted for its winter sports. From the earliest times skating, tobogganing, and snowshoeing have had their devotees, and, with the increase in the urban population and the greater need for outdoor exercise to offset the strain of the city application to indoor pursuits, these forms of sport have been supplemented by skiing, curling, ice-boating and hockey.

PHOTOGRAPHING CANADA

During 1926 a total area of over 58,000 square miles was photographed for mapping purposes in Canada by the Royal Canadian Air Force and by co-operation with the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior. To date 152,531 square miles are approximately four per cent of Canada's total area has been photographed either vertically or obliquely by the R.C.A.F.

A CANCER CASE THAT WAS CURED

Remarkable Case of Almost Hopeless Cancerous Condition

New York—A case is reported of a veritable cancer cure, on the authority of Dr. George Soper, managing director of the American Society for Control of Cancer, the activities of which are creating unprecedented interest in the treatment of that disease here and elsewhere.

It was the treatment of Swan Ad amson upon whom the disease had a developed grip, but not too much developed for treatment with success. I is shown that two years ago Adamson was suffering from cancer of the stomach and was saved through an operation and a rare display of courage on his part. So much so, that he was able to earn money in his convalescence by exhibiting himself at medical clinics. He now asserts that he owes his recovery to x-rays, surgery and a stubborn unwillingness to give up.

The Case of Adamson

"This man seems to have a positive chance of recovery," Dr. Soper explained, "but now he spends 12 hours a day at his tool sharpening shop. Cancer of the stomach accounts for about 28 percent of all cancer deaths of the United States according to the latest government statistics, the doctor added. His most recognizable symptom is persistent and unaccountable indigestion with loss of weight."

Here is Abramson's own statement: "Cancer is a disease which can never be conquered as long as men and women refuse to face the fact. Many of the ideas which people hold about cancer seem to have been handed down from the dark ages.

Folks should learn the danger signals and get the best medical attention procurable the first signs that the disease or indications of it are present. Many can be cured if they act promptly and thus meet the doctors halfway. Nobody should give up hope."

Against Quack Remedies

As a result of the last 10 years' work that there has been sent out a call for a meeting of all anti-cancer agencies engaged in the fight in New York City. At the gathering will be outlined a year-round educational program. Then plans will be made to take action against quack doctors preying upon cancer patients. This call was jointly agreed upon by the City Health Department of New York City and the New York City Committee of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

The co-operation of civic authority and the committee's aims, heretofore lacking, will have an appreciable effect.

Joint Program Outlined

Here is the program for the permanent year in and year out combat against cancer:

To take means of arming intelligent laymen with knowledge of how to judge the merits of any new treatment for cancer and especially how to guard against quackery.

To study the facilities available for diagnosis and treatment of cancer in New York City.

The provision of suitable facilities for the care of the incurable patients.

The extensive instruction of the public in methods of prevention of cancer, in the recognition of early signs of it and the necessity for seeking competent medical advice immediately upon the appearance of such symptoms.

Increased emphasis upon the cancer prevention aspects of the health examination.

Specific matters of co-operation between the Health Department and the cancer-fighting organizations of the city which may arise in relation to the present campaign.

"An attitude of constant alertness that will not conduce to worry is the one we want to instill into the public mind in relation to cancer," said Civic Health Commissioner Harris.

Dr. Nieto Quirks Attitudes

"We don't want to stimulate an abnormal mental state about cancer, or create a cancer phobia. But there has been too much of the ostrich attitude about cancer on the part of the public. Cancer is a disease which must not be ignored. Those approaching the age when cancer becomes one of the principal enemies of mankind should be medically examined at regular periodical intervals by competent diagnosticians."

American Cancer Bulletin

A further bulletin deals with the inefficaciousness of home treatments.

"Patients are seldom positively diagnose their case or determine the proper form of treatment to be used. There are questions which must be answered by capable physicians.

"In many instances the combined skill of a well-trained team of pathologists, surgeons and radiologists is demanded, together with resources in equipment rarely seen outside of hospital or cancer institute.

"Except in cancer of the skin, which is not so difficult to make sure of, is far safer that the easier it is to diag nose a case the harder it is to cure it

Here and There

British Columbia's forest rangers and patrolmen report a reduction in forest fire costs of practically 50 per cent., compared with 1926. The total loss this year was about $74,000.

An air line between Halifax and New York city for freight, express and mail, is being considered by Halifax business interests, according to a report made to the United States Department of Commerce by Consul Eric W. Magnuson.

The Canadian Pacific Express Company has extended its service into the new gold field of northwestern Quebec, reaching Rouyn over the recently completed extension of the Nipissing Central Railway. This extension provides a new and short route into the rapidly developing mining area.

Turkey raising is a coming industry in Alberta as a number of successes at various fairs would indicate. A recent report in this connection is the formation of the Alberta Bronze Turkey Breeders' Association, which is now active in promoting and extending the turkey breeding industry.

According to Dr. J. B. MacDougall, Assistant Chief Inspector of the Ontario Provincial Department of Education, the operation of the Canadian Pacific school car in northern Ontario has proved a more successful venture than the Department had ever expected. He stated that the progress of the pupils during the year of operation has been remarkable.

The Western Canada Grain Pool contemplates spending $3,000,000 during the coming year in extensions to facilities in country elevators and terminals in Western Canada, according to George H. McIver, General Sales Manager of the Pool, on a visit to Toronto recently. The building programme includes 100 or 150 country elevator in Alberta; 150 in Saskatchewan and 40 in Manitoba. At present there are 160 in Alberta, 730 in Saskatchewan and 50 in Manitoba.

Close on 400 miles of branch line construction in Saskatchewan and Alberta have been virtually completed up to December 1 by the Canadian Pacific Railway, according to a report from the headquarters of the C.P.R. This construction grain from the country year's harvest is being moved out, and while work is closed down at this date on most of them, there are still some on which bridge and other construction work is being proceeded with.

About 200 carloads of Christmas trees will be shipped from the trade from the Province of Quebec from the end of November onward, according to indications of traffic received at the Canadian Railway headquarters. This will mean about $500,000 trees of a value of about $150,000 to the farmers of this province. The average size of the trees for the New York and Boston markets is from 6 to 8 feet. They are mostly white spruce and balsam. The "seed trees" among which is of prolific growth and little commercial value.

"Thousands of lives have been sacrificed by applying home remedies in the hope that the trouble would disappear," says them valuable time has been lost. Many years ago people appeared to have cancer by magic and to this day useless remedies founded entirely on superstition are sometimes employed by those who do not know better.

Be examined for cancer at a hospital or by the family doctor. Don't allow advertising 'cancer specialists and 'quack doctors' to treat you."

PRINTERS READY FOR EXHIBITION

Intelligencer Hockeyists To Open Season At Stirling

The Intelligencer (Black Hawks) will journey to Stirling on Monday evening next and will engage the local town in an exhibition game of hockey.

The printers had a work out on Thursday night and for the first time out this season the boys were burning up the ice in fine style. Bill Hopping the rugged defence man of the printers showed mid-season form and was the best man on the ice. Sid his brother was also in good form and especially in the nets, he played in the nets for a time in place of Curray who was laid up with a sore ankle, and the little fellow was turning them aside like a John Ross Roach. - Dan O'Donohue found his sea legs and was also going in good style, Bernie Brown, Doyle, Bill Cook, L. Cook were all up and going and with the addition of Henry Canning and Morgan Jarvis on Monday night should give the northerners a great battle.

The players that will go down will be Goal Sam Curry; Defence Bill Hopping, Morgan Jarvis. Gerald O'Brien; Centre Henry Canning Wings Bernie Brown, Jack Smith Gene Doyle Sid Hopping and L. Cook. The team will leave by car from the Intelligencer Office about 6.30 Monday evening.

RECREATION BOWLING

The final game was played in the Junior League at the Recreation Alleys last night between the Quinte Dy's and the Hydro the former team winning three points and the latter one, the low ties the Moose. Alemite and Quinte B's for first place with the Moose having a slight edge by having a tie to play with the Star Motors. H. Lee was high bowler for the winners with 312 and for the Hydro Keegan was high.

Hydro— Gilbert 600; Keegan 601; Blaker 543; Kennedy 429; Doe 450; total 2208.

Quinte D's— Barrett 591; O'Brien 551; Kiser 522; Lee 712; Holdener 603; total 2979

In the turkey roll at the Recreation Alleys the following are the ten highest bowlers who will play off at 8 o'clock tonight for the turkey and second prize a pair of ducks. Anderson, Rossetti, C. Cornell, Yerex, A. Lepault, Darrah, Harris, Whalen, Collyer and J. Lepault. The men are next in line in case some of the above bowlers do not show up. F. Austin and D. Doran.

In the ladies class they fell down somewhat and neither are they in line for a turkey and a pair of ducks. Mesdames Wheeler, Curry, Lynch, Hobson and Mrs. Felnap.

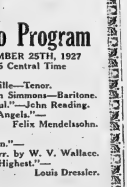

Mr. H. J. Holland of Windsor is spending the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holland, 282 Charles Street.

Y.M.C.A. NEWS

On Tuesday morning all public school children over ten years of age are invited to come to the Y.M.C.A. between ten and eleven o'clock for basketball, swimming, etc. On Wednesday morning between the same hours all members are asked to attend the boys' key tournament to be held at Simpson's Rink.

Three Feathers And A Shirred Skirt

Very youthful and fresh with its merry shirred skirt and its slender simple bodice and very modern indeed with its accessories is this evening frock an expert's idea from the shops, that took it as spy and said to it even Miss H20 could wish for if this style is becoming it need not go a main shorted away at night for the dress may be omitted and behold the Sun & charming evening frock. Featherweight taffeta, gay as chintz, soft satin, satin crepe or velvet are suitable with three feathers in a same darling color or of the frock material. The pattern is simple, the materials and accessories are good, but the effect is one that makes everybody look their finest any bit of metallic trim. (Copyright, 1927, by Butterick Publishing Co.)

New Hunting Hounds.

Sir Edward and Lady Hyde-Hoed have bought Mr. Horace Crapshoo's fine private estate near Newbury, as the pure civilized Putteridge Priory, near Luton, which they have had some time. Putteridge Bury is famed for 1st shooting, and King George has been a regular visitor when there is about, as he is a friend Barn Brooks, where this week he is shooting once more with Lord Burnham. The Putteridge Bury estate belongs to Capt. T. B. Chamberlain, who is selling it.

McGILL STUDENTS GET EMPLOYMENT

To Help Pay Way Through University—In Dept. Stores

Montreal, Que. (By C.P.)—A large number of McGill University students have secured employment for the Christmas and New Year holidays, in this way supplementing their funds in order to be able to continue their courses at the university. The positions have been obtained through the McGill Bureau of Appointments.

McGill students are serving as clerks during the Christmas rush, there being a fair still a number of young men on the list at the bureau looking for work during Christmas week, while others want part time employment throughout the college session. During the Christmas season McGill orchestras have been much in demand to furnish music for tea dances and other social affairs, while individual students have been desired as pianists.

More women students are registered at present in the bureau list than has been the case in previous years during the same period of time. Among the part-time descriptions of employment undertaken by co-eds is the charge of children.

Several men students are acting as waiters in exchange for meals, while others are attending furnaces and shovelling snow for room lodging to help along their college expenses.

During a recent Santa Claus parade McGill men filled the roles of caterpillars and animals as well as impersonating characters of legendary lore, and many time to time in the past when theatrical companies visited Montreal have demanded the services of "extras" McGill students have appeared before the footlights in this capacity.

MANY HOMES ARE OPEN 'FOR HIRE'

In London; Doesn't Mean Popularity Is On Wane

London.—There are quite a lot of homes "for sale or hire" just now, and this is by no means a sign that the popularity of this country is on the wane. It may rather be taken to indicate a natural desire to take the title of the top. In the Sodbury country, Doddington is to let; Stanshawes Court and Lilliput—formerly Mr. Herbert Neill's residence—are for sale; and Hewelen Manor has been purchased from Mrs. St. Maur by Mrs. Cyril Ward, whose three daughters are hunting here again this winter. By the way, Mr. Ward has just succeeded Chrimmins' old farm he has owned for years—Yate Rocks—into a snug "bachelor" hunting-box. Captain and Mrs. Canman have bought Stanton Court, so, after several years away, the country in various retired lodges, become permanent "Beaufortites" and are daily blue-coated. Cyril and Mrs. T. Estcourt have let Estcourt for a long term to the Peter Lloyds, who will move in early next year. Probably, and now want to sell their own most attractive house at Tetbury Upton, which is now perfectly decorated, and has every modern luxury tucked on to an Elizabethan exterior. Somerford Manor is in the market, owing to Colonel Miller's death. In the Hamilton days it was a centre of entertaining. It is a place noted for its wonderful cellars, and has an "upside" route to boot. Colonel and Mrs. Denis Bingham have leased Halesmade, at Malmesbury; Colonel Bingham is well known here, from his soldiering spell at Tidworth, and as a brother of Mrs. Herbert Dixon. A newcomer is Captain Lionel Lambart, from the B.V., who will have his horses at Didmarton this season. He is, of course, a brother of Lord Cavan. Ladywood is let from December to a brace of bachelors—Major Rex Benson and Captain Eddie Grant, formerly in the 11th Hussars. The Lord of Ladywood is shortly very going to Shanghai, accompanied by dozens of fancy hacks, having the enterprising intention of initiating the Chinks into the delights of our latest equestrian craze. Mrs. Duncan Campbell is leaving from home until her tenants are off, and has Miss Sybil Portman whose leases attract many green bay glances—with her for a time. Lord and Lady Westmorland are back at Lyegrove, where their extensions and improvements are not quite finished yet. Lady Westmorland was not Saturday, for the first time for over a year, her small son was very ill—measles in the most, which his half-sisters attended on their spy power.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

MISS JESSIE CARR McRAE

The funeral of the late Miss Jessie Carr McRae, a former well known Belleville teacher, whose death occurred in Montreal this week, was held yesterday afternoon from the home of her sister, 92 East Bridge Street to the family plot, Belleville Cemetery, where the interment.

At the house in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends an impressive funeral service was conducted by Rev. H. G. Stewart who also officiated at the committal at the grave.

The large attendance at the funeral together with the wealth of flowers all testify testified to the esteem created by the death of the deceased and the sympathy felt for the bereaved relatives.

The bearers were Messrs. W. McDonnell, Picton; Harney Thompson, H. J. Clarke, Arthur McGie, W. J. Thompson and F. D. Diamond.

Among those from out of town at the obsequies was the brother of the deceased who holds a prominent position with the Canadian National Railway at Montreal and several other officials of that system who came in a private car.

DON'T HIBERNATE IN THE WINTER

This Is Advice Of Appel, Secretary Of Health In Pennsylvania

Harrisburg, Pa.—(CP)—"Don't hibernate during the winter." This is the advice of Theodoret B. Appel, secretary of health in a warning issued against hibernating during the winter months.

"Bears go into caves and remain inactive during the winter season because they are built that way, but human beings are quite different," he said.

"While there are many things that cause animals do that could well be emulated by the human race, the habit of freeing from the rigors of the winter and going of sleep until spring certainly is not one of them. Yet, in effect, that is what thousands of people do. Sulking for the conclusion of winter, looking forward to spending and taking one's exercise in a closed automobile are not exactly what nature intended us to do during dormancy.

"Many tired business men being deprived of their weekly golf are consequently now sitting in over-stuffed chairs with over-stuffed stomachs, and over-stuffed as not, with over-stuffed minds. And they expect nature to keep them young, happy and healthy while they remain physically inactive, hoping for better days.

"And what is true of men is equally true of many women. Winter means sons. The cold breezes and the spark a full aecial calendar and an empty lung atmosphere are full of life and exercise program. It is scarcely to be breath. But in some acquainted with the salutary powers of winter wandered at then that people who lead a lazy physical life during the winter time manage to find time to take part in most of the fun and the joy of this period."

ALL MINDS GUARDED BY PSYCHIC CENSOR

By LOUIS E. BISCH

Have you ever wondered how it happens that disturbing thoughts, which you finally manage to force out of your mind, remain forgotten?

Did you ever notice that only now and again do ideas and desires which you were taught to hold in check, come to the surface?

Has your curiosity ever been aroused concerning the origin of the peculiar pictures you dream about?

The Psychic Censor is responsible for all of it. It is a mechanism of the mind the function of which it is to keep suppressed all thoughts that tend to upset he peace and serenity of the conscious.

The psychic censor is a figurative affair, of course. It is supposed to stand guard between those two minds of ours, the conscious and the unconscious.

Just as the nurse of a convalescent person withholds letters, let us say containing bad or exciting news, and delivers to the patient only those which are pleasurable and will not disturb, so the mental psychic censor tries its best not to let upsetting thoughts escape from that underneath mind for fear they will worry and annoy us.

Were it not for the psychic censor, it is probable that we never could forget anything that we are ashamed of, nor could we forget disagreeable experiences.

Without this policeman of the mind being on duty we might at any time be harassed by a vivid recalling of tormenting ideas that originally we fought so hard to overcome.

Again, were it not for the psychic censor our dreams would invariably awaken us in and keep us awake.

Dreams, you must know, are disguised desires which we have been unable to gratify during our waking hours.

If we dream of them—that is, re-experience them—in exactly the same way that we pushed them out of our minds, then we would feel the safes' identical disagreement which we went through at the time our wishes were thwarted.

You may dream about water, perhaps. Water, however, stands for something else, some thwarted wish that has been repressed by the conscious mind into the unconscious. Water has become a dream symbol through the work of the psychic censor. What it usually signifies is a thwarted birth wish, maybe a desire for motherhood, a child's desire to have a little sister or brother, etc.

Dream symbols as well as all other mechanisms of the psychic censor are complicated and often difficult to understand.

But naturally, all mental processes are very complicated. It stands to reason, however, that the mind must of necessity have some sort of orderly arrangement about it. Especially would one expect this in reference to thoughts that might be disturbing and upsetting.

Some psychologists question the theories relating to the existence of the psychic censor.

It is a convenient one nevertheless of understanding and explaining what used to be quite baffling before.

Why is it that selfish and other animal urges are held in check by us? We may feel like stealing but we don't. We may feel resentful toward another and yet not let ourselves go to the extent of actually inflicting harm.

It is the psychic censor, they say, that takes care of much passions for us.

The psychic censor tries always to keep us as socialized and refined as possible.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am nineteen and have been keeping company for two months with a man who is eight years my senior. I love him and wish I could continue going with him. He says he loves me, but he is afraid to believe me because he has had so many girls tell him the same thing. What can I do to prove to him that I do love him? Do you think there is too much difference in our ages?

BRIGHT EYES.

BRIGHT EYES: Be patient, my dear, and remember if this man really loves you he will in time overcome his doubts and fears. It is possible that he has fancied himself in love before and he's slow to trust his emotions again.. I am sure if you give him time and do not betray any impatience, he will realize the depth of his feeling for you. Make no demands upon him and do not reveal your emotions at all; there is no necessity for you to prove your love for him until he declares himself. I must caution you against having too obvious an attitude. Bright Eyes, and remember that a bit of uncertainty is a fascinating attraction. I should not think the difference in your ages would in any way affect your relationship if you have sufficient interest in common.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

It takes 45 to 60 minutes to bake a fruit cake and 15 to 20 minutes to bake a layer cake. Test at the end of stated time with a clean toothpick. If it comes out clean the cake is baked.

Burde shoes will not get shabby any more quickly than any other variety if they are brushed thoroughly with a stiff brush upon removal.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUP

He tucked her hand under his arm.

"Come! We are going to celebrate with an enormous luncheon, and you shall tell me everything, and I shall tell you everything."

When they were in a cab, he said: "Where's the smart place to lunch, nowadays? I dare say restaurants have come and gone, since my time."

She considered, a bit panicky. It would never do to take him to a place where Herbert, or any of his friends, might be lunching!

So she said: "Oh, the small foreign places are the fad now."

He made a wry face.

"Thanks, but I'm saturated with the foreign stuff. I'd like something one hundred per cent. American. If you don't mind."

She smiled understandingly and suggested an up-town hotel that was remote from the beaten track of luncheons She experienced a swift stab of regret, chance, because the quiet, discreet, rather dim restaurant of this hotel was especially popular with people, who, like herself, preferred not to be seen in their own haunts with their luncheon companions. But, she reflected, Farquahar couldn't know this, and she really didn't dare take a chance.

"We can talk here," she said, as they were seated in a corner of the cushioned room, where the occupants of the adjoining tables seemed scarcely more than murmuring shadows.

"It suits me!" declared Farquahar, "except that I'd like more light. I could continue going with him. He says he loves me, but he is afraid to believe me because he has had so many girls tell him the same thing. What can I do to prove to him that I do love him? Do you think there is too much difference in our ages?

BRIGHT EYES.

BRIGHT EYES: Be patient, my dear, and remember if this man really loves you he will in time overcome his doubts and fears. It is possible that he has fancied himself in love before and he's slow to trust his emotions again.. I am sure if you give him time and do not betray any impatience, he will realize the depth of his feeling for you. Make no demands upon him and do not reveal your emotions at all; there is no necessity for you to prove your love for him until he declares himself. I must caution you against having too obvious an attitude. Bright Eyes, and remember that a bit of uncertainty is a fascinating attraction. I should not think the difference in your ages would in any way affect your relationship if you have sufficient interest in common.

"Jack, are you sure you still care for me?" she faltered, in spite herself, her eyes answered her, and his hands that clasped hers across the table.

"Five years is a long time," went on Lila rather weakly. "I must have changed quite a bit. In appearance."

"You are more beautiful than ever," he told her. "I had forgotten that you were so lovely."

"Oh, dear!" thought Lila. "This is terrible! I have no right to listen. It's disloyal to Herbert to allow Jack to say such things."

Aloud, she said: "But you, Jack, you have been through so much. How can you be sure that you still care for me? You must have known a great deal of suffering. Won't you tell me all that has happened to you?"

He nodded slowly.

"Yes, though I rather hoped we'd take that up later. There were so many other things I wanted to say to you."

"Oh, but do tell me now," urged Lila, thankful for a respite.

"You mean that you want to know how I came to be alive, after having been given up for lost? Well, I'll give you a brief idea; the details can wait until we're married and have long afternoons to spend together. Isn't that so?" He smiled at her whimsically.

Lila said vaguely: "You would like that, Jack?"

"Would I?" he breathed softly. Then with a sigh, he went on: "I'll tell you how I came to return, and, after that, we'll have done with the past and talk about the glorious future, eh, Lila?"

His gray eyes were very tender; he'd felt before his ardent glance.

He made his story brief, slighting the hardship and suffering, as she had always known him to do. Three days after he had entered the trenches, he'd three days after the night when they had made their pledge—he had been wounded and taken a chance that had carried him far into enemy territory. When he had regained consciousness he was a German prisoner. His uniform and his identification tags were gone. Some German spy was profiting.

Wounded though he was, he managed to escape, making for his own lines, though he had no knowledge of where they might be. He thought that two days and nights must have passed. And then the enemy detected again and he was brought back to the prison camp. Now he was too weak to attempt to escape. He became desperately ill and lost all idea of time. Then, gradually, his wounds healed, but the hardship of a prisoner's life had taken their toll. Long after the armistice was signed and the last exchange of prisoners made, he remained in a German military hospital. There was no record to reveal his identity; no one to intercede for him.

"I don't want to think of that time, Lila," he said. "I don't want to recall the wasted months of my life. But even less do I want to remember the day when I was finally set free, only to learn that I had become tubercular. I was told that I had less than a year to live."

At Lila's exclamation, he smiled, hers. He had strong, lean hands; looked much had once been very sweet to Lila.

"Can you imagine what that meant to me, Lila? Knowing that I'd lost you forever! How could I come back to you, a wreck? I wanted to see you again, to spend with me in the last few months of my wretched existence. But, thank Heaven, I had the strength to conquer my desires. For, you see, my sweetheart, I knew your generous, loving nature. I knew you'd sacrifice yourself for me. You'd marry the poor wreck that I was, because your love had compassion, and I couldn't have allowed you to offer such sacrifice."

Lila's eyes were lowered. She knew the keenest shame she had ever experienced. It seemed to her that Jack Farquahar had stabbed her and was turning the knife in the wound.

"So I disappeared," he went on. "Except for you, there was no one who cared what I went. I went to the south of France, because it seemed to me that I couldn't get enough of sunshine all I had on that prison camp. I had no expectation of being cured; I simply went there with the blind instinct to find my self a little comfort I could. With the loss of you I'd lost all hope of desire to live. Then," He paused, smiled whimsically, and shrugged. "But Fate apparently hadn't done with me. Without realizing it, I began to improve. A day came when I dared hope; but again I slipped back. Then I began again hope. Oh, Lila, if you knew what that hope meant! How I longed to let you know that there was a chance of my returning, and how I fought the impulse, for the chance seemed so frail! And then, quite suddenly, the miracle happened. Hope became a certainty. Even then, I waited to be sure, and it was not until the greatest specialist in France had pronounced me permanently cured that I sent you that cable."

Lila's words: "Oh, Jack, I am so glad for your sake!" brought a light of joy into his eyes.

His fingers gripped hers more tightly.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Jet embroidered lace is a Paris vogue.

The handkerchief square is smart for all tailored costumes and gives her bared or pleated surahs of manish type are popular, likewise bordered and pointed squares of heavy crepe.

The breath of the shirts remains moderate although they give the impression of being longer owing to the irregular hem lines.

Fashion pronouncelexators are wondering if short hair will be the vogue. A Paris saleswoman in Paris styles, for while on recent coats and dresses the English sleeve has long been standard for those who prefer it, now the sleeve in this salon is the bloose is appearing on attrpioon dresses and frocks of semi-formal line.

A traveller writes that the Rue St. Honore, in the heart of Paris, is an avenue of attractive little shops, each displaying dainty specialties, which are typically Parisian, but the clever visitor will windowshop with a French Mamselle and then be free to be sure will pay her for this service will belong, for the dire dollars a day that are paved many times over again in the dickering.

LEGEND OF THE THORN

Legend tells that on christmas morn
Blossoms the Glastonbury Thorn.

The tree that grew—in a bygone year—
From the staff of Joseph of Arimathea,

Which quickened, and budded, and broke into flower,
Like Aaron's rod, by miraculous power

And the people go, in the starry light
Of the dawn to gather its blossoms white.

On the sacred altar its flowerets frail
They place by the side of the Holy Grail,

Where they shine in the rays of the stained glass,
And the candles lighted for morn's
High Mass.

For the worship of Christ on Christmas morn
Blossoms the Glastonbury Thorn.

OLD ENGLISH YULETIDE WASSAIL SONG

Wassail, Wassail, all over the town,
Our bread it is white and our ale it is brown,
Our bowl it is made of the green maple tree,
In the wassail bowl we'll drink unto thee.

Here's health to the ceand to his right eye,
Pray God send our master a good
Christmas pie,
A good Christmas pie as e'er I did see
In the wassail bowl we'll drink unto thee.

Here's health to the ox and to his right
horn,
Pray God send our master a good crop
of corn,
A good crop of corn as e'er I did see,
In the wassail bowl we'll drink unto
thee.

Here's health to the ox and to his long tail,
Pray God send our master a good cask
of ale,
A good cask of ale as e'er I did see,
In the wassail bowl we'll drink unto
thee.

Come, butler, come fill us a bowl of the best,
Then I pray that your soul in heaven
may rest;
But if you do bring us a bowl of the small,
May the devil tak butler, bowl and all!

Then here's to the maid in the lily-
white smock,
Who tripped to the door and slipped back the lock,
Who tripped to the door and pulled back the pin
For to let these jolly wassailers walk in.

JUST IN PASSING

I like to think that every house
Is full of cheer to-night;
That everywhere on every hearth—
Warm fires are burning bright.
God give our homes the gift of cheer,
For no one ought to grieve
On such a happy night as this—
On Christmas Eve.

A CHRISTMAS CUSTOM in Finland and Scandinavia is to place a sheaf of corn upon the roof, so that the wild birds may share in the festival.

G.P.O. CHRISTMAS GREETING

A form of christmas card which the public never sees is that which passes the compliments of the season between the General Post Offices of various friendly nations. Nearly every colony as well as most countries print these cards, specimens of all of which reach St. Martin's le Grand towards the end of December. Not only European countries like France, Belgium, and Italy exchange these cards. Even Japan sends one. As Christmas is not a festival of the Japanese nation, the greeting takes the form of a New Year's card. Cards are received from places as far apart as Santiago, Para-maribo in Dutch Guiana, Caracas, Havana, and Sofia. In most cases the language employed is French, and the cards are, as a rule, quite plain, simply-worded affairs.

CHRISTMAS BOXES

The following interesting account of the origin of Christmas Boxes, which is generally accepted as explaining the name, is given by Brand, in his "Popular Antiquities," "The Romish priests," he writes, "had masses sold for almost everything: if a ship went out to the Indies, the priest had a box in her, under the protection of some saint, and for masses the people must put something into this box, which is not to be opened until the ship returns. The mass at that time was called Christ Mass, the box, Christmas Box—and from this it came about that servants had the liberty to get Boxmoney, upon a festival-day, that they too, might be enabled to pay the priest for his mass." In Yorkshire boys and girls used to carry round—and may do so still—what was known as the "Wesselling" or "Wesley Box," and this is almost certainly a corruption of the word "Wes-hael" or "Wassail," the old Christmas salutation of "All Hail!" of our heathen ancestors.

The Carpenter of Galilee
Comes down life street again.
In every land, in every age,
He still is building men.
On Christmas Eve we hear Him knock—
He goes from door to door:
"Are any workmen out of work?
The Carpenter needs more."

THE CHRISTMAS LARDER

Last Moment Considerations

The wisehousewife will have in read iness all that is possible before Christmas Day arrives enough good things and every-day necessities to last over the holidays.

Eggs are one of the best safeguards against possible running short of provisions. They can be served and used in so many ways. But eggs, then, even if they are expensive, are either vegetables to make simple, but not uninteresting gobbles.

Tomatoes, onions and potatoes may all be stuffed with any trimmings of meat or poultry, and with an entree which helps out what might appear a meagre "luncheon or dinner. Remember to take sufficient milk for the day in the morning, allowing a little over in case you need it for emergency soups or puddings, or in the event of an accident.

A plentiful supply of flour, baking powder, carbonate of soda, cream of tartar should be at hand with which to make scones. Should the bread supply run short, baking powder and soda bread are delicious and very quickly made.

Another good idea is to have a stock of savoury and sweet dishes prepared in advance. Rough puff, flaky, or puff pastry will keep uncooked for a few days if wrapped in grease-proof paper and kept in a cold place. Mince pies and pastry and tartlet cases, also flans, will keep in a tin with a well-fitting lid, ready to be filled when required.

There should be a good supply of cereals, such as rice, macaroni, sago, tapioca, barley, cornflour, semolina, etc., and arrowroot. Jelly packets and gelatine are very useful and a tin of custard powder may be stocked in case of emergency. Have in the house also tinned fruits a sponge cake, meringue cases, and a jar of cream. With these pretty sweet dishes can be made in a few minutes if extra guests arrive.

A good substitute for cream is unsweetened condensed milk, but this will not whip unless a few sheets of gelatine are melted in a little water and added to it. When cold whisk until it sets. It is more solid than cream, but if sweetened and flavored is by no means to be despised in an emergency.

It is well to have a bottle each of olives, anchovies and glace in hand. A bottle of super jelly is also useful, and meat extracts should not be forgotten, as they are a great help for entrees, gravy dishes and soups. A good supply of stock should be made the day before Christmas Eve.

Tinned fruit makes excellent salad mixed with arrowroot, cooked pears and bananas. Stale cake, cut into rounds, and coated with jam, sprinkled with chopped nuts, and browned under a griller, makes a good emergency pudding. Preserved ginger should also be at hand, as it makes a delicious sweet served with whipped cream and sponge fingers.

HOME-MADE DAINTIES

For the Christmas Festivities

In preparing for the coming festive season, the thrifty care for children's parties must not be overlooked. Many mothers prefer to make their Christmas cakes at home and to earn the thanks of their children they may prove very useful.

Peppermint Creams—Stir into the whites of two new-laid eggs enough icing sugar to form a stiff paste; add a few drops of peppermint essence, and roll out thin. Roll out to half-inch thickness, cut out into rounds with a silver thimble set.

Marzipan.—Take one pound of ground almonds, one pound of fine sugar, mix together and stir in slowly the whipped whites of two eggs. Continue the stirring until a stiff paste is formed. Cut into colonns and place in a slow oven until they become a pale brown.

Fudge.—Required: Half a pound of sugar, two ounces of chocolate, one teaspoonful of vanilla, half a cupful of condensed milk, half a cupful of water. Grate the chocolate, mix with sugar, water, and milk; let it boil slowly, with a wooden spoon stirring. Add the vanilla when cold water will form a soft ball. Add vanilla, then allow it to cool slightly, turn it into a shallow tin and mark into dices. When half-filled jars and cut in

THE GAMBLE
Life is like a game of cards.
When you're in love, it's diamonds.
When you're married, it's clubs.
When you're dead, it's spades.

"The Christmas spirit is abroad in the land." So it is, judging by the saggy faces occasionally emerging from the Liquor Store!

YULETIDE VALUES
The present may not be
Just what one desired
Perhaps, but that can not
Make it the less admired—
It's not the gift that counts
But giving's own sweet sake;
The Christmas spirit should
Be one of give and take!

MUNIFICENCE
A party of Scotsmen were travelling North from Euston for a holiday, and a small army of porters was assisting them to stow away their numerous suit cases. When the work was finished they hung round the carriage door expectantly, but nothing happened. At last one of the porters said, "Ain't you goin' to give us something, gentlemen?" "Certainly," said one of the Scotsmen as he turned to his friends: "let's give them three cheers, lads!"

Poems Old And New

A CHRISTMAS LULLABY
By Beatrice Shand

All warmly wrapped from Winter's chill,
A little Baby slumbering lies.
While angels with their music fill
With heavenly glory all the skies,
And shepherds with their woolly sheep,
Quite standing, kneel upon the floor
Where now, my dearest one,
Lullaby, my little son,
From large and small men bring
With gifts of gold and perfumes
rare,
And, in the stable, bend the knee
Before the Babe a-sleeping there.
"Go to sleep, my dearest one,
Hush-a-by, my little son."

Then with the shepherds and the Kings
Let us in adoration kneel,
While every heart with gladness sings
The love that every heart doth feel.
Sleep, sleep, my dearest one,
Lullaby, my little son.

NOEL
By A. M. Robinson

It is an old, old story
Of long ago to-day,
O Mary led by Joseph
Their trivulne tax to pay;
Of self-sacrificing kindness
Where Mary, meek and mild,
Lays in a manger-manger,
Her little Jesus-child.

It is a wondrous story,
By ages oft retold,
Of shepherds, heavenly angels,
And wise men growing bold.

Their hearts agloe to find Him
To whom in faith they bring
The gold of deep devotion,
With gifts and worshipping.

It is an old, old story,
Oh, ring it forth to-night;
How Jesus chose a manger
In which to set His Light;
A Light to save His people,
Love's quick abiding flame;
O come, ye chanters, hasten,
We'll magnify His Name!

THE CHRISTMAS CAROL
By Alix Thorn

I, too, would join in singing
A carol old and merry
And pause before some doorway
Which faced a splendid street,
And up to windows curtained,
Whose lights were sad and low
I'd raise my voice triumphant
In strains of long ago.

And those who sat in shadow,
Whose eyes were dim with tears,
Would listen to the story
Which glorifies the years.
So wonderful, so simple,
The feel of earth above,
About a child, who, coming
A winter night, brought love.

Fruit Diamonds.—The juice of a lemon is squeezed into a bowl, the shelled and chopped kernels and rind of orange juice, and one square unsweetened chocolate. Toss the mixture into a hot oven, and when the shaped cut diamonds, spread thinly with melted chocolate, and decorate with pieces of almond.

Let Me Tell You

Pastry should be mixed as quickly as possible.

Patent leather shoes should be slightly warmed before putting them on.

A milk pudding will not boil over if a small piece of water is left standing in the bottom of the oven.

An excellent floor polish can be made by mixing equal quantities of linseed oil, turpentine, and vinegar.

When washing enamels leather shoes add half a teaspoonful of salad oil to soapy water (not too hot); the oil keeps them soft.

New stockings should be washed in warm water, to which a little ammonia has been added, before wearing.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Drink Water Freely and Often If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region. Sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's poisonous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

TAME SKUNKS A POPULAR PET?

Ottawa.—The fact that skunks can be tamed to walk around the house without doing damage to persons or property was illustrated here recently when Norman Criddle of the Entomological Division of the Department of Agriculture, Manitoba, delivered an address before the annual meeting of the Ottawa Field Naturalists' Club at the lecture hall of the National Museum.

Mr. Criddle, who in the winter here writes his reports on the entomological situation of Manitoba, spoke on wild life in Manitoba with especial reference to birds and mammals. He told of his success in taming quite a variety of animals which he kept around the house, evening including young coyotes in his list.

The lecture, which was illustrated by lantern slides, proved quite a revelation to a number of people in the audience.

In an earthquake of 742 A.D., more than 500 towns in Palestine and Asia were destroyed.

Here and There

Work on the erection of the Minas Basin Pulp and Paper Company's plant at Hantsport, Nova Scotia, is proceeding with work on the railway siding connecting the plant with the main line of the Dominion Atlantic Railway.

The value of the Western Canadian grain yield this year is figured at $1,500,000,000 by a financial firm making a survey of conditions from Winnipeg. Wheat is put at $563,804,720; oats at $160,416,000; barley at $62,587,013; rye at $16,628,281, and flax at $1,200,000. Hay and other grains are included in the grand total.

The Eastern International Dog Sled Derby will be held this year at Quebec City, February 21 and 22, according to information given out by the secretary-manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The leading drivers from all parts of the Continent will take part. The race is over a 120-mile course with an average of 40 miles a day.

Montana farmers are hauling grain to market on the Great Northern Pacific Railway lines just north of the International boundary from the South-western Saskatchewan. Some 50,000 bushels are on the move there on sale to the Wheat Pool. It is remarkable that the Montana farmers are paying the duty and receiving about $5 per load more than if delivered to the elevators located along the Montana fence.

The 1927 crop is the next best crop to that of wheat in the Canadian West," said C. B. Foster, general traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, visiting Winnipeg recently. "Canadians are now capitalizing our splendid country's wealth and it used to be our custom to decry them, but we have now learned their appeal to the stranger as well as ourselves and are profiting by it."

Quebec City is preparing for a record winter sports season, according to Jack Strachan, newly appointed winter sports director at the Chateau Frontenac. Mr. Strachan comes to his new field of activity with a wealth of experience having promoted outdoor sports in the Muskoka Lakes region and more recently at the French River Bungalow Camps of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Saskatchewan heads the provinces of Canada in growth of revenue from tourist traffic, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, dealing with the calendar year 1926. The gain over the previous year was over 100 per cent., while Manitoba was the only other province with a revenue increase of more than 50 per cent. In the latter province it is the whole of Canada has risen from $5,733,750 in 1925 to $10,614,140 last year. It is thought to contribute $100,000,000 to Canada's favorable balance of trade.

Of Canada's four great sources of wealth — fish, forest, mine and stream — the forest has steadily pushed forward until it now holds second place, particularly in the exports from the Dominion. For the 12 months ended September 30th last, grain and grain products of forests have valued at $164,000,000; metals $160,000,000 and everything $120,050,050, to which should be added, to show the whole extent of wealth of the forests, manufactured and unmanufactured products valued $10,000,000, making the forest aggregate $280,000,000.

QUEEN'S VISIT ADDS BRILLIANCE

Queen of Spain and Daughter Guests In Old London

London—The visit of the Queen of Spain and her daughters has added brilliance to London's pre-Christmas season, and Her Majesty has been at a number of important gatherings. Queen Ena'sney's presence adds extra zest to any party which she honors, not only because of her exalted position but on account of her real beauty. She looked supremely lovely at the Austrian Minister's musicale in the other evening and her jade-green frock suited her fair coloring to perfection. The dress was made of gossamer, the bodice being practically covered with a small lattice design in beads of the same tone; and Her Majesty's long diamond ear-rings had enormous pear-shaped aquamarine drops which nearly touched her should ers.

The Infanta Beatrice accompanied her mother. She resembles her very much, though her fair hair is evenly changed, in contrast to the Queen's abundant tresses. The Spanish Ambassador and the Marquise de Merry del Val were both present, of course. The latter wore a very attractive frock of royal blue, embroidered in small circles of silver ballions, and had a scarf of blue tulle over her shoulders—a form of wrap also adopted by Mme de Pinedaa, though hers was of cream-colored tulle.

Lady Cunard, Lady Curzon (the Vicereine) and Mrs. Ruby Lindsay were in a group together, and formed a marvellously contrasted trio so far as looks are concerned, and Lady Worthington-Evans and Mrs. Benjamin Guinness were to be seen in the distance. Frau Elizabeth Schumann, the famous vocalist, wore white and silver paillettes, and looked delighted when the Austrian Minister presented her with a monster bouquet of white roses tied with a big bow like sane Schubert's "Wohin," followed by "the Powelle," that pathetic song about the poor little trout. Works by Strauss, Mozart and Brahms as well as by Clemens Pranchenstein, the composer brother of the host, were also included in the admirable program.

Mrs. Emile Mond was one of the many music-lovers among the audience, and also Col. and Mrs. McGrath; the latter in a dress of jade-green, and carrying a huge fan to match; Mrs. Charles Marshall, who wore a tinsel head-band; and Mme. Adila Fachiri, the distinguished violinist.

REGENT THEATRE

Absolutely unparalleled in the entire history of motion pictures—true—authentic and faithful in every detail—a masterly effort culminating in the greatest and most astounding climax ever presented in any picture—the celebrated battle of the Little Big Horn—Where the dashing Gen. Custer and his command, the Seventh U.S. Cavalry, were led into ambush by Thousands of bloodthirsty Indians under sitting bull and slain to the last man. This mighty thriller commemorates the 50th anniversary of that tragic disaster—an event that is written down in history as the very pinnacle of sublime, heroic effort in the face of impending doom. Let nothing prevent your witnessing this beautiful love drama and mightiest thriller of all time. On Monday at Regent Theatre.

BELLE THEATRE

George Sidney, famous for his Hebrew characterizations on stage and screen, is featured with Vera Gordon and Louise Fazenda in the Warner Bros. production, "Millionaires," which comes to the Belle Theatre Monday. Sidney plays the part of Meyers Rosenberg, a poor struggling tailor on Ten Eyck's stylist stater, whose lavish display of wealth is the scene of much merriment. Reviewers report high comedy when the Reubens become insanely wealthy overnight through "dubious oil investments" and strive strenuously for social prominence.

A stellar supporting cast includes Helene Costello, Jane Winton, Nat Carr, Arthur Lubin, William Strauss and Otto Hoffman. The story was suggested by E. Phillips Oppenheim's "The Inevitable Millionaires" and was written for the screen by Raymond Schrock. C. Graham Baker and Edward Clark wrote the scenario. Herman Raymaker, who is responsible for numerous comedy successes, directed "Millionaires."

HASTINGS, PRINCE EDWARD, NORTHUMBERLAND, PETERBOROUGH, LENNOX AND ADDINGTON

WOOLER

The members of the finance committee of the United Church met at the parsonage on Monday night to close he special work for the year ending December 31.

On Sunday morning at the United Church, the choir sang "O Give Thanks Unto the Lord." The pastor, the Rev. H. B. Neal, read responsively the twenty-fourth Psalm. He told the young people the story of the loved physician, Dr. Grenfell, working around Labrador, and seeking to go forward and serve others with the message.

The Rev. Mr. Neal gave the message from St. Luke, the sixteenth chapter and second verse, Stewardship being the topic.

The Woman's Institute met at the home of Mrs. W. A. McColl, which was inviting and cheerful with many blooming narcissus, making it appear as spring-time. The President, Mrs. William Arnis, presided. The business was a report from the committee in charge of the lighting system of the village. Another item of interest was the ordering of hand-books, egg-candling circulars, and mothers' books. The meeting was given over to the convener, Frances Terrill and Stella Nelson for the following program:

Canada, the House Beautiful—was given by Mrs. Ornia. Away down by the sea are the Maritime Provinces. These form the Imperial Arch and a fine entrance porch to the house beautiful. Passing from the porch, one enters the imposing drawing-room. Quebec, with its historic pictures on its walls, its bronzes on its mantle-shelf, and the crucifix over its door-way.

Leaving the drawing-room, one comes into Ontario with its restful rugs upon the floors, and its comfortable furniture, vistas of trees, shady and fruitful orchards and vineyards may be seen.

MELROSE

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robinson were recent callers of Mr. Denville's last week.

The Melrose School concert was held on Tuesday, Dec. 20.

Mrs. Gordon Snider spent a couple of days with her mother, Mrs. William Embury.

Mr. John Taylor is improving after a spell of sickness.

Mr. Will English has returned home from Belleville hospital and is progressing favorably.

Many of the young people attended the dance at Collins.

Will Callaghan and Alex. McLean tipped two cars of cattle and hogs on Saturday.

Mr. Andy Reid is improving very nicely in the Belleville General Hospital.

F. D. Pringle unloaded a carload of wheat last week.

Many of the little tots went to Belleville on Saturday to see Santa Claus.

The W.M.S. held an open meeting in the United Church on Wednesday evening which was well attended. A splendid program was given and at the close of the meeting refreshments were served. A pleasant and profitable event. The collection amounted to $12 while evening was enjoyed by all present.

Rev. H. P. Seymour spent the month hour on Sunday at the home of Mrs. W. Smith.

The Misses Marjorie and Bernice Sherman of Belleville were week-end guests of Miss Mabel McLaren.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Davis and Mr. H Davis were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Pringle.

Mrs. Jeffrey is on the sick list.

CHATTERTON

The annual Christmas entertainment was held at Marsh Hill Church Tuesday evening, Dec. 20, 1927. A large crowd were in attendance, Rev. I. Snell, pastor of the church officiated as chairman. The program consisted of an address by chairman, duets by Dorothy and Doris Wood, Eileen and Dorothy Mitz, Alison and Margaret Vandervaeter, Mr. Ellarby and Mr. Campbell, solos by Mrs. R. Vandervaeter, Mr. Ellarby, Mr. J. Robinson, Margaret Vandervaeter, Don Bleecker, Ressie Bleecker, Miss Cummings, Miss M. Ward; Chorus by Messrs. C. Finkle, R. Goudge, W. Lough, V. Curry, K. Belcher and A. Briten; Recitations by Leonard Marvin, Douglas Lancaster, Norman Curry, Gordon Demill, Gladys Coulter, Harry Coulter, Miss I. Jeffries; Readings by Miss D. Ellarby; Drill by School children also Good Night Drill by primary class. Dialogues by the young people entitled "An Evening With the Hookworms", "Aunt Jamiana's Visit" and "Dr. Curefast." After the program Mr. Mitz moved that a vote of thanks be given Miss H. Rodgers and others who had helped to make the concert a success. This was seconded by Mr. N. Bird and responded to by claphes of the hands. Mr. Bird also mentioned his regret at the absence of Mrs. B. Finkle who at this takes an active part in these affairs, on account of illness. God Save the King was next sung by all, after which the presents were handed out off the tree.

Miss Helena Carleton, of Belleville, attended the concert Tuesday evening.

Mrs. H. Henderson, of Madoc is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Rodgers.

Mrs. Ida Hudson visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lancaster recently.

UNITED FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

WHAT SERIAL MATURITIES MEAN

United First Mortgage Bonds being issued to mature serially, present to the investor two distinct advantages.

First, they enable him to buy a security maturing in anything from 2 to 12 years, whatever period is most convenient to him

Second, some of the bonds maturing each year necessitates an annual sinking fund, annually wiped out as the principal payments are met. There is no risk such as might attach to the investment of a long term sinking fund.

SMILE THE WHILE YOU TRAVEL

The "Vancouver Express" is by no means a joke, but you cannot help smiling when its porters hand your baggage down because the smile has become a habit. It may be that the smile is infectious and you caught it from the porter when he showed you to your berth, but one thing certain is that having travelled on the "Vancouver Express" nothing has happened to take the smile away. The service, the cuisine, the equipment, the road-bed, the gentle-handling of this million-dollar train have all contributed to your happiness—that is if you have acquired the habit of travelling Canadian Pacific between Toronto and Vancouver

The "Vancouver Express," the continent's standard of Railway efficiency leaves Union Station at 9.00 p.m. to night and every night of the week.

DEER PLENTIFUL IN YE OLD DAYS

Recall Story of Irate Man And Twelve Dead Deer

The story from Espanola, Ont., of a man who killed two deer with one shot is to the Toronto Star the experience attributed to a pioneer settler who had the reputation of being an exceedingly expert marksman.

There was a big fallen tree near his cabin and one morning at breakfast he saw a deer calmly crossing over the trunk of it. Reaching for his gun (they kept 'em close at hand in those days), he shot through the open window without bothering to rise. "Get him," he said triumphantly, as the head disappeared.

But a moment later the head appeared once more in almost exactly the same position. Again the woodsman fired. Once more the head went down out of sight. "Well that's funny," said the pioneer.

A moment or two afterwards he heard a giggle from his young wife. Wives had that trick even then. And on looking up from what he was doing (fried pine needles, probably) there was Mr. Deer again, regarding him over the tree-trunk in the most quizzical fashion. That got his dander up. Taking a long and careful aim, he shot once more. And the deer disappeared. "Serves me right for not being particular like the rest of he grumbled, eyeing his better half fiercely as though she dared to say more. Husbands had that trick even then.

But instead of replying she fairly shook with laughter. He was about to say something really snubbing (the same old stuff that's supposed to be crushing nowadays) when he saw that she was convulsed by something that was happening outside. And, following her eyes, he saw for the fourth time, the head above the fallen tree trunk. "If some people would quit their silly laughing I could see the size of that critter," he roared. Then his gun roared too. "And now," he said, a bit shame faced over his temper, "will some please give me another helping of those fried pine needles?"

But anyone can imagine what a state he was in by the time the thing had happened 11 times. Seven times he thought he had done for that deer, and after each gunshot there had been a re-appearance. He had said a lot of nasty things to his wife and had threatened to punish each of the three children, but when a head show ed up for a twelfth time he just sneaked out the cabin door with his rifle and took a shot in the open air. Hardly did the head disappear than the pioneer was over that tree trunk.

He landed in the result of 12 good deer. He was a crack shot and deer were plentiful around Toronto in those days.

Tradition says his wife claimed she knew what was happening all the time. But that's nothing. The reader of this yarn will doubtless claim the same thing.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Cobourg, Dec. 24.—In addition to their regular Christmas concert and party, which took place last Friday, the children of St. Michael's School, Cobourg, were presented with other gifts on Thursday before closing for the holidays. Santa Claus sent each one of the children a toy and candy and fruit.

FURTHER INVESTIGATION

Port Hope, Dec. 24.—Further investigations are being conducted into the $100,000 Alger building fire of last October. Inspectors from the Fire Marshal's Department have interviewed members of the fire department and others who gave evidence at the preliminary investigation' which led to the arrest of S. F. Kinney, 31-year-old Chinaman, night manager of the Biltmore Cafe, on a charge of arson. The Daily Times was told by authoritative source that the fire did not start under the steps of the Biltmore Cafe as it was first believed to have started but originated from an entirely different source.

ONLY ONE CASE

Oshawa, Dec. 24.—Only one case was heard before Magistrate Hind in this morning's police court, William Bishop the second man to be convicted of intoxication since the Liquor Store opened in Oshawa, paid a penalty of $30 and costs.

HOME STATISTICS

Oshawa, Dec. 24.—Out of 4,669 house holders in Oshawa, 1,297 own their own homes, according to figures being compiled by Assessor R. H. James. This figures out at about 60 per cent. which is considered a very high ratio. Stores total 279, while there are 19 factories, 18 churches, 10 schools, and two hotels. This is the first report of this kind ever prepared by the Assessor's department.

PORT HOPE COMMENCEMENT

Port Hope, Dec. 24.—The Port Hope High School was en fete last night when for the first time since the new building was completed, the annual commencement exercises were held in the splendid auditorium. The stage was hung with the school colors of blue and white, as was the platform on the north side where Dr. Thompson sat with Mr. S. B. Parsons, the chairman, and members of the board, etc. Many parents and friends of the school were present as well as the large body of students and the audience was an enthusiastic one.

DIRIGIBLE JOINS DESTROYERS IN SEARCH FOR THE MISSING 'DAWN'

ANOTHER R. C. FIRE OCCURS IN QUEBEC

Quebec, Dec. 27.—Following a survey of the damage caused by fire which swept a Quebec Seminary building in Malaverts yesterday it was announced was estimated between $15,000 and the Seminary authorities that the loss $20,000. It was also made known that the Seminary authorities intend to the building at once. The building at the time of the fire was unoccupied with the exception of a caretaker and his family, all of whom escaped.

ACCLAMATION S IN MANY PLACES

Col. Vanderwater Re-Elected Reeve In Sidney Without a Fight

Residents of the County of Hastings turned out yesterday for the annual nominations of reeve and municipal councils in the various municipalities. Acclamations in most of the townships were the order and a good majority of the reeve ts-elatives were honored by the electors without contest.

One of the most important centres was Tweed village where Mr. Stan Bell-line who is chief for the Wardenship next year will have some stiem opposition. Mr. Rollins has served for many years in the County Council. Mr. Hollins has served for many years in the County Council as the representative will likely be honored at Shire Hall if returned.

In the neighboring township of Sidney, Reeve Colonel Roscoe Vanderwater was returned by acclamation and his lieutenant Arthur Burke was also returned in the sea. The old Council were all elected by acclamation.

Reeve Fred Curry, of Madoc village, was nominated but did not qualify. Three others were nominated and if all should run it shapes up as a close race. In most of the municipalities the meetings were exceedingly quiet due to the fact that many of the electors were celebrating the Christmas season and had little time to think about election. The Intelligencer has not yet received a full report of the nominations but in Please Turn to Page Three

NEW YEAR DANCE A PRETTY EVENT

The Willowcraft Club's Holiday Party Was Well Attended

Never has the Moose Auditorium showed up to better advantage than it did last evening when the officers and members of the Willowcraft Club held their annual assistance dance. Evergreens coupled with red and green crepe paper formed the decorative scheme and the platform for the orchestra was banked with ferns presenting a very pretty appearance. Over two hundred guests enjoyed dancing during the evening. The very fine music was supplied by the Bon Ton Orchestra and during the evening novelty dances, during which Christmas favors were passed around, were interspersed with the regulation fox-trots and waltzes of the program. Shortly after midnight lunch was served by the members of the Club and festivities continued till about half-past two when the playing of the National Anthem declared the jollification at an end.

The Patronesses for the evening were Mrs. A. B. Collins, Mrs. T. J. Hurley, Mrs. B. J. Black, Mrs. L. M. Howe, Mrs. W. J. Doyle, Mrs. F. C. Lee, Mrs. W. M. Belair and Mrs. C. T. Dolan. The Stewards were Messrs. P. Cushing, H. Hurley, A. E. Donohue, A. Black, H. J. Fahey, E. B. Lally, J. Mollligan J. Trusiach, J. Lafferty and T. Bowler.

SEA IS SMOOTH

Naval Craft Racing For Sable Island—May Have Landed

Aboard the U.S. Destroyer Sturtevant. The search for Mrs. Pranner Wilson's husband and his companions aboard the missing airplane Dawn was being concentrated today in northern waters for this destroyer and her companion ship U. S. S. "Jackson," as they sped towards Sable Island on which the plane was believed to have come down. The Sturtevant was making seventy knots an hour and was headed for Halifax, while the Mahan was doing twenty knots and was laying a course directly for Sable Island.

Sea Is Smooth

Washington, Dec. 27.—Dirigible "Los Angeles" informed the Navy department at 1:05 a.m. today that she had reached Emerald Bank, midway between Cape Sable and Sable Island and had changed her course for Cape Cod in search of the Dawn. She reported visibility excellent and the sea smooth.

Fruitless Search

Halifax, Dec. 27.—No sign of the missing plane Dawn or her pilot, Captain W. Grayson and her crew of three had been seen by the United States destroyer "Sturtevant" up to eight o'clock this morning, it was revealed in a wireless message from the vessel intercepted here. The destroyer "Mahan" was a short distance away from the Sturtevant. Both vessels, which left port yesterday for the purpose of searching the seas between Cape Cod, where the Dawn was last sighted and Sable Island reported to search the vicinity of the Island before dark today.

Picked Up Calls .

Halifax, Dec. 27.—H. Mason, in charge of the Government wireless station at Sable Island, has furnished additional details of the circumstances under which he states he picked up "The Dawn" late Saturday night. He says that the letters "N C E" were also received in addition to the words "something gone wrong" and explains that they are apparently the last letters of last word in the message.

At the time the message from "the Dawn" came through the wireless station at Chatham, which is called the Grayson plane. Call sign of the aeroplane, "N C E" was of no significance to him he states, because it was not registered either at Sable Island or Chatham. Mr. Brenner Thomas was told him, after several inquiries that the letters "N C E" were the call signals of the Grayson plane.

SOLD PLANE TO MEXICAN GOV'T

Washington, Dec. 27—Deciding upon "distinct relaxation" of aircraft or war munitions embargo against Mexico the state department today granted a license to the Mexican Government to purchase ten 91-mindane pursuit plane in which Mrs. Evangeline Lindburgh flew from Detroit to Mexico City.

Permission was given to Mexico to buy this plane was the first step taken under the new policy announced to-day. It was said at the department that while there was no present intention to sell out the embargo entirely—a such application for the purchase of arms, or other war munitions in the United States would be considered and acted upon individually.

GARAGE FIRE DAMAGES CARS

Truro, N.S., Dec. 27.—A fire estimated at between $15,000 and $20,000 was caused early this morning by fire which broke out in Blaikie's Garage, badly damaging the building and twenty automobiles, ten of which were recovered from the garage after the blaze was discovered.

ENGLAND HAS 12 FEET OF SNOW DURING CHRISTMAS

London, Eng., Dec. 27.—London is buried in snow. The storm over Christmas was without parallel is the southeastern English country since the blizzard of 1881. In valleys and railway cuts as far west as December, drifts in some instances are from twelve to fourteen feet deep. People of the British Isles are still busily engaged in digging themselves out.

It has been one of the worst snow blockades in decades. Most of the main railway lines have been cleared but trains on a number of branch roads are still fairly bedged in in the huge snow drifts.

SUDDEN PASSING OF H. MIDDLEMISS

Well Known Young Business Man Died On Christmas Holiday

With startling suddenness, Mr. Hugh Middlemiss, assistant manager of the J. and J. Cash Company here, died last night while attending a small house party at the home of some friends in Toronto. Mr. Middlemiss had been spending Christmas with his people in Brantford and on his way back to Belleville stopped over to attend the party. Feeling a slight pain in his heart he had gone upstairs alone about one o'clock and was discovered by his friend, Mr. F. E. Crompshire, dead on the floor of the bathroom about half an hour later. Death had apparently been instantaneous.

Earlier in the evening Mr. Middlemiss had spoken of a pain in his heart but had attached no particular importance to it. He had not suffered from heart trouble but had recently been told by his physician that there was a slight murmur in one of the valves but that it was not at all serious.

Hugh Middlemiss was a native of Brantford, having been born there twenty-seven years ago. He joined the staff of the J. and J. Cash Company during the time when the Canadian branch was established in this city, moving to Belleville when the Company located here about five years ago.

Since coming to Belleville, Mr. Middlemiss has made a host of friends. He was active in Kiwanis work and was a valued member of the Bridge Street United Church choir. Fitting reference was made to the regret of the Club members at the death of a valued comrade, a period of silence being held and all singing commenced except the toast to the King at today's Kiwanis luncheon.

Mr. Middlemiss had a bright future ahead of him with the Cash Company. Mr. T. M. Webster, the local manager, spoke feelingly of his value to the Company and of the personal sense of loss which he felt at his death. The Executive of the Cash Company at South Norwalk, Conn., had marked out young Mr. Middlemiss as a coming man and recently he had been on an extended trip for them through Rochester, Detroit and Chicago.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. R. C. Middlemiss, of Brantford, one brother, Keith, living at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Green of Toronto, and one at home. His father predeceased him a few years ago, dying of heart trouble in much the same way as the Son.

GOLDEN WEDDING HELD CHRISTMAS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alexander Are Still Enjoying Life

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alexander, Bleecker Avenue celebrated their golden wedding on Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Naylor. The couple who were married at Shannonville fifty years ago are still enjoying life in the fullest extent and expect to spend many more years of happy married life. Mr. Naylor's home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with holly and floral wreaths. Every one of the family were present at the re-union and anniversary.

Four sons and two daughters survive Mrs. George Darragh and Mrs. Arthur Naylor and W. J. Alexander, Marysville and Thomas Alexander all of Belleville. Eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren were also present at the ceremonies. The dining room was beautifully done in gold synonymous with the wedding anniversary.

Telegrams of good wishes were received from many friends in different parts of the country besides many words-while gifts. During the afternoon, Mr. W. J. Alexander presented the couple with a purse of gold from the family. A similar gift was received from friends.

Mr. Alexander was for many years a track foreman in the employ of the Grand Trunk Railway and was well known in railroad circles. He resided during the greater part of his life at Shannonville but thirteen years ago the couple came to Belleville to live with their daughter. Mr. Alexander was pensioned by the railway some years ago.

In the afternoon Dr. Blaikie who for many years has acted as the family physician paid the aged couple a visit and on behalf of Mrs. Blaikie and himself presented them with a lovely bouquet of roses. Rev. and Mrs. McCutcheon had dinner with the couple last night.

Congratulations were heaped on Mr. and Mrs. Alexander and they were the recipients of many good wishes.

GREENLEAF NEW KIWANIAN HEAD

Club Elects Officers At To-day's Luncheon For Coming Year

The officers to guide the destinies of the Kiwanis Club through the year of 1928 were elected at the weekly luncheon of the Club, held in the Queen's hotel today. Mr. Harry Greenleaf is the new president. Mr. George Lee, vice president; Mr. Russell Wells, District Trustee and Mr. George Griffin, Secretary. The directors are composed of Messrs George Boniface, George Cole, Bernard Collins, Rev. F. E. Mabell, F. C. McLaurin and Joseph Welsh.

A special committee was appointed to look after the funeral arrangements of the late Mr. High Middlemiss who died in Toronto last night. The luncheon was not the usual peppy, snappy affair that the Kiwanis luncheon usually are, a minutes' silence being observed in honour of Mr. Middlemiss and all songs being cut off the programme. Plans for the Kiwanis trip to Picton were discussed at today's luncheon.

HER DENTAL WORK IDENTIFIED HER

Lorain, Ohio, Dec. (C.P.)—As a result of the description of her teeth in a national detail magazine, the body of a woman found in a lake here last October 3 was identified as that of Miss Elizabeth Sparacci, 41 of New York city. Announcement of the identification by Coroner M. E. Perry, in charge of the case, ended a search in the country to learn the woman's name.

FOUR MILLION ARE FACING A FAMINE

Pekin, China, Dec. 27—At least four million in the province of Shantung and part of Chihli are facing extreme famine, which must be expected to become more severe as winter progresses, the committee of observers reported today.

Thousands in Shantung were found to be already dead, scattered on the banks of trees, chaff and grass. While the Chinese Famine Relief blamed the drought and locusts, the committee thought that civil war, banitry and exorbitant taxation were also equally to blame for Shantung's plight.

RESIGNED TO DEATH HICKMAN IS ADMITTING WHOLE GHASTLY CRIME

Mother Engages Attorney To Defend Her Son At His Trial

NO SPIRIT LEFT

Prisoner Safely Locked In Los Angeles Jail—No Demonstrations

Los Angeles, Dec. 27.—William E. Hickman, confessed slayer of Marion Parker was locked in his cell here at 10.15 o'clock this morning.

Resigned to Death

Aboard Hickman prison car Sankis Okiibo, Calif., Dec. 27 — Although crowds gathered at all stops points for the train bearing William Edward Hickman toward Los Angeles, no disorders had been encountered up to this morning when the prisoner and official party were carried on the last lap of the trip to the Southern California City Hickman, was said to have told Kerpy that he would be willing to plead guilty to the murder and kidnapping and would accept the imposition of the death penalty without delay.

He seemingly had adopted an attitude of indifference after unburdening himself under the withering fire of questions from detectives. The youth showed no spirit as he was led out to face the crowds and cameras, shackled to a big detective. He was a broken as the journey neared its end that he could not hold up his head.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 27.—Carrying a letter to William Edward Hickman assuring him that his family would stand by him to the end," Jerome Walsh, 25, attorney and younger member of the State Legislative to-day was ready to defend the confessed slayer of Marion Parker. Announcement of the retention of Mr. Walsh as chief of the accused was made by Mrs. Eva Hickman, mother of Edward after a conference at her home here attended by three sons and a daughter. Mrs. Hickman telegraphed Los Angeles authorities that Mr. Walsh would arrive Thursday and asked that "All my son's legal rights be preserved, pending Mr. Walsh's arrival."

Confessed Whole Crime

Cascade-Limited, Oakland, Cal., Dec. 26.—William E. Hickman to-day confessed that he alone killed 12-year-old Marion Parker of Los Angeles the day after he kidnapped her single-handed.

In a confession amazing for its unemotional detail of the murder the 19-year-old youth said he strangled the child to death with a silken cord and cut her body into pieces in the bathtub of his Bellevue apartment in Los Angeles.

Wanted Ransom Money

After the strangling, Hickman said, he realized that he must have the body to produce to the girl's father, Perry M. Parker, from whom he hoped or he could not collect ransom. So he devised the scheme of ripping her over his wife were to prop her head to make it appear as if she were alive when he received the body to collect the $1,500.

The confession completely eliminated the mythical accomplice, one Andrew Cramer, for whom the police have been searching since the youth made his first confession after his capture near Pendleton, Ore., where he sought to throw the blame on an accomplice.

Last Shield Gone

The confession to-day removed the last shield upon which Hickman relied to save him from the gallows. When he enters the Superior Court in Los Angeles to-morrow he will go through the formality of entering a plea to murder and kidnapping based on his signed confessions to both.

The mask of mystery which Hickman sought to throw over the killing of the child was torn away in the course of a grilling he underwent on the special car upon which he was taken on to Los Angeles was nearing San Francisco.

THIRTY-SIX DAY FIGHT TO SAVE YOUNG GIRL'S LIFE

Oconto, Nebraska, Dec. 27.—The stubborn fight to save the life of Alma Overgard, sixteen year old high school girl, who has lived for 36 days through the aid of artificial respiration, ended today. The girl died this morning resisting conscious to the end.

For 36 days and nights since she was stricken with paralysis, friends and relatives have unceasingly assisted in artificial respiration, alternately pressing the girl's body and rilling and, lowering her arms.

GLASGOW XMAS. RUINED BY FIRE

Glasgow (Scotland), Dec. 27. (A.P.) "Santa Claus is scratching matches," cried a five-year-old boy in a tenement house last night and he heard the crackle of flames and saw tongues of fire spurt upward. This exclamation gave warning of a fire which destroyed a huge fire storey warehouse in the congested district of Glasgow and killed four firemen under falling walls. In bitter Christmas eve cold, 60 families were forced by the flames to abandon their homes.

INSPIRING ADDRESS

It was fortunate that the speech of Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservative party, delivered to the Commercial Travelers' Association, Toronto, was broadcast over the radio. Thousands were thus enabled to hear his inspiring address and to benefit from the imperial sentiments of the speaker. Mr. Bennett has just returned from a visit to the Old Country and spoke feelingly and admiringly of the splendid and successful fight the people are putting up, under extremely trying circumstances. Their success, however, depends to an important degree upon the intelligent co-operation of the dominions. That was the point brought out by the Conservative leader. Our Empire might be self-contained, but that object cannot be attained if Canada and other dominions fail to do their proper share in developing the trade within the Empire. Canada is apt to look to a foreign state to supply her needs, shipping out her raw materials there and receiving in exchange large quantities of goods made out of those same materials, instead of herself with native workers completing the process on her own soil. "Find the markets for the vast resources of Canada within the Empire," advised Mr. Bennett, "and buy from those markets what is required by this growing country of ours." British markets should have the preference over all others in the world.

Mr. Bennett appealed to Canadians "of all types and kinds and of all shades of political opinion." In a quotation he gave his conception of Conservatism—"that man's a true Conservative that lops the moldered branch away." It is evident that the policies of the new leader are not to be merely the holding tenaciously to tradition and precedent. He is for change, if change means progress. What may seem a sound policy today, he remarked, may seem ridiculous tomorrow, and for this reason, also, it is not wise to do anything which would tie the hands of posterity. A young, undeveloped country like ours should call in the aid of men of science, and give power to the men of vision. So long as it is possible to continue to take from the soil the rich stores of mineral and agricultural wealth which Canada is fortunate enough to possess, prosperity will be enjoyed; but there is something more required. Citizens must have their minds on the future as well as on the present. "The true destiny of this great Dominion," declared Mr. Bennett, "is indissolubly linked up with the destiny of the British Empire." The enthusiastic applause with which this observation was received shows there is little danger of the important truth being forgotten. Yet our enthusiasm must take a practical form. The welfare of the Empire depends, in the final analysis, on the action of the individual citizen.

VAUDEVILLE

Cecil Lyndhall, Chief of Police Curdane of Pendleton, Oregon, were at the side of the road when they saw a green automobile coming along. They halted the car, took the driver into custody and found that they had William Hickman, kidnapper and alleged slayer, for whom the police all over the western states had been looking.

There were no shots fired; there was no fighting; there was none of this "looking into the barrel of an automatic." Just a simple operation, which might have been regarded as part of the day's work. In the ordinary course of events they would have taken the man to the station, made an entry in the books and locked him up.

But today these two men are famous. They have been made offers running up to $5000 a week for six months to appear on the stage and "give lectures on how they caught William Hickman."

No one is going to blame these two officers if they take the chance to make more money than they ever dreamed of; they can do what they like about that part of it.

But it does look as though the people in that country are going crazy over crime, criminals and criminal catchers about as fast as the trip can be made.

Where does the slow, but sure-moving idea of justice fit into the picture? A crime has been done, a sordid thing, too awful to speak about. The first thing is to catch the criminal. That part is attended to, but it is only the first step. There remains the trial and the securing and presenting of evidence before a jury, and the giving of a sentence, then the carrying out of that sentence. The whole thing should be a decent and an impressive piece of business.

And yet right at the first step some rattle-brained grabber who itches to play in a vaudeville circuit and the side way in which he has looked after their affairs. On behalf of the organization Mr. W. B. Ring presented Mr. Fenn with a hand-carved quarter-cut oak Morris chair.

Mr. F. E. O'Flynn met with a serious accident on Christmas morning. He was thrown from his cutter and alighted on his shoulder, dislocating it. Drs. Dolan, MacColl and Yeoman's attended him, and he is doing nicely but it will be several weeks before he is able to use his arm.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell celebrates his seventy-fourth birthday today.

WOMEN TO DRINK IN OWN ROOMS

To Have Separate Beer Parlours In Province Of Alberta

Edmonton, Alta.—Hotelmen of Alberta, in agreement with the Government Liquor Control Board, are to be given the right to operate in connection with the sale of beer to women in beer parlors. At least five hotels in Edmonton, and the same number in Calgary, will provide a separate beer room for women only, and rooms will not be served after the providing of this accommodation, in the general section of beer parlors, but will have to patronize those places where such separate room is provided.

No new regulation forbidding the sale of beer to women, except in separate accommodation set apart for them, has been made by the Liquor Control Board, says Mr. Dinning. The arrangement is merely an agreement between the hoteliers and the board.

The experiment will go into effect as soon as the various hotels wishing to install separate rooms have done so, and for many hotels as care to do so may put in such accommodation though it is expected for the present it will be limited, as stated to five hotels each, in Edmonton and Calgary.

NOVEL MEANS TO NOTE DISTANCE

"Popular Mechanics" Tells Of Use Of Kite For Measurement

Tests which were originated by the United Southern Power Experimental Station and carried out in co-operation with forestry officials of British Columbia, so that the result could be applied on both sides of the international line, disclosed the fact that a single tree left standing could distribute its seed as far as 2,500 feet away in a twenty-three mile wind.

The apparatus used, as described in Popular Mechanics, included a batwinged kite-like capable of lifting fifty pounds in a fairly strong wind. The kite was let out from a reel of fine steel piano wire, and carried aloft. A[illegible] attached to its tail was a hacksmade wire-frame to show the wind direction, and a wind-gauge to record its speed. An enamel carton, hung upside down beneath the kite, carried seeds, the cover being fastened with fine thread. A stout fishing line was arranged to break the thread and release the seed, the line being played out from an ordinary fisherman's reel. Besides the seed, the box contained a lead weight, attached to a cloth streamer, so that it would drop to the ground directly under the box at the moment the seeds were released, and furnished a base from which to measure the distance to the seeds.

In operation, the kite was let out, and the faithful, marked with tabs as corresponding intervals, was let out at the same time. When the tabs indicated the reel was 250 feet above ground, the height of an average tree, the reel brake was applied, the taut line broke the light thread on the box cover, and the seeds were whisked away by the wind.

Seed counts were made every hundred feet down wind from the point of release, all the seeds counted in the space included in a four-foot-square frame being counted. The tests revealed that the shape of the seed had more influence than either size or weight. Light western hemlock seed and the comparatively heavy western white pine seeds made the best distance records, about 4,000 feet. Besides these two varieties, seeds of the western red cedar, Douglas fir, western yellow pine and the noble fir were used—six different varieties in all.

At the start of the tests, the forestry experts believed the wind might blow the seed from 600 to 700 feet. In a six-and-a-half-mile wind, however, seeds were found as far as 1,200 feet away. None of the seed fell within 150 feet of the point of release, but it was discovered that the number that came down at the 150-foot mark, dropping out of the reel at the start, was about the same as the number that flew 2,500 feet. Another peculiarity found in the course of considerable, two million feet of ties will be shipped Dec. 27. Already considerable shipments have been made to Egypt and large quantities for British railways.

TIMBER FOR SUDAN RAILWAY

New Westminster, B.C., Dec. 22.—Destined for the Sudan Railway, now in course of construction, two million feet of ties will be shipped Dec. 27. Already considerable shipments have been made to Egypt and large quantities for British railways.

By Alix Thorn

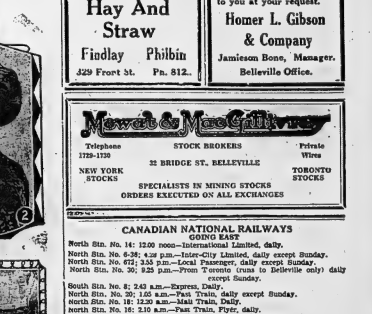

Joy I can wish you, joy the New Year filling,
Hope that can smile along a rugged way,
Cheer that is like a kindly hand outstretching,
Blessing, somehow, each humble task and play.

Courage that oft inspires to high endeavor,
Service that treads the darkest ways among,
But, oh, my friend, this little wish I'm adding,
That you may keep a heart that's ever young.

Four New Liners for Canadian Pacific

1. Painting of new "Duchess of Atholl" by Norman Wilkinson. 2. The Grace The Duchess of Atholl.

3. Vessel just after being launched on the Clyde. 4. The "Duchess of Bedford" on her trial trip.

Featuring the 1928 St. Lawrence sailing schedule of the Canadian Pacific Steamships is the incorporation of two of the four new 20,000 ton "Duchess" class liners now under construction for the Company in the Old Country. The development of the St. Lawrence route to England and the Continent has prompted the Canadian Pacific to augment their present trans-Atlantic passenger fleet to this extent.

The first of the four huge liners, the "Duchess of Atholl" was launched recently on the Clyde, Scotland, and christened by Her Grace the Duchess of Atholl, M.P. The ceremony was attended by a large gathering of Canadian Pacific and ship-building officials.

Her Grace in receiving a silver model of a steering wheel and bunnacle as a souvenir of the occasion stated that she knew something of the joy with which the huge order from the Canadian Pacific had been received on the Clyde. The Canadian Pacific she said had entered its Atlantic service early in the month had already spent $1,000,000 in British shipbuilding yards. No person, she added, could visit Canada and not be impressed with the tremendous activities of the Canadian Pacific and what that Company has meant in building up the Dominion.

With the launching of this vessel, there remaining a total of 77,000 tons have been launched for the Canadian Pacific during the months of October and November. This is regarded as a record for a private company. The four new liners will be of 20,000 tons gross register. In addition to this passenger liner the total tonnage for the two months is made up by five cargo carriers, two of the "Beaver" class, a combination passenger and cargo vessel of 10,000 ton coastal steamer for the Pacific Coast service of the Company.

The vessels of the "Duchess" class, which will include the Duchesses of Atholl, Bedford, Richmond and Rossland, will represent four of the finest passenger ships afloat. They will be the largest ships to operate the St. Lawrence as far as Montreal on regular runs, the exact measurements being: length 570 feet, breadth, 75 feet with a load draft of 27 feet. The "Duchess of Atholl" as well as her sister ships will be luxuriously appointed throughout. Oil, hydraulic, electric, white and red birch teak, systems and Marconi stowy are some of the fine woods being used in the interior finishings. The ships will be cabin class liners and will have accommodation for about 1600 passengers each.

The "Duchess of Bedford", sister ship of the "Duchess of Atholl", is scheduled to be launched in January and the remaining two in the spring of 1928. The new vessels will have a speed of 17½ to 19½ knots at sea.

upper depots: Taximen report a thriving business over the week-end.

In Every Home

Few cases of unemployment have been noted in Belleville and seldom was there a home where Santa failed to pay a visit. Postmen struggled on their rounds yesterday morning with their bags of mail and in some cases it was well into the afternoon before they delivered the last of his cargo. Expressmen labored ceaselessly before the cards of Christmas parcels but they managed to get the most of it in the various city homes in ample time to do justice to their own turkeys. Both the postal and the express departments had increased the staffs in preparation for the annual Christmas rush and the service given by both left nothing to be desired.

The Salvation Army band serenaded the city yesterday playing Christmas carols in the principal city streets. It was a treat for those who found it impossible to attend any of the city churches in all of which special musical programs were rendered. Mr. H. W. Brown who acted as Santa Claus was attired in the last word and made new young friends as he passed from door to door. The Salvation Army makes it an annual custom on Christmas morning to dispense a sumptuous dinner to the poor. Invitations to the local music numbers from the truck and the lassies who called at each home left a most generous response to the appeal. Radio listeners heard beautiful Christmas hymns and programs from the principal stations.

Christmas Eve

Merchants at an early hour on Saturday evening and it was near midnight before the last customer was served for the holiday. The conditions of the city may be well-judged from the fact that a man who claim they experienced one of the best seasons of recent years. Trinket stalls and gift stores were packed on Saturday night and one found difficulty in getting a peak at the goods on display.

Special services marked the Christmas season in the city churches and beautiful music was given under the direction of the choir leaders. At Bridge Street Mr. A. E. Stillman and Mrs. Dr. Bolster were the soloists in the morning while in the evening a quartet service was held with thirty of the Junior choir assisting. They were ably trained by Professor V. P. Hunt. Mr. S. Stobie, Mrs. Houston, Richard Arnott and Harold Howard contributed special numbers at the evening service.

At Victoria Avenue Baptist Church Mrs. W. Elgie, Mrs. F. Furness and Miss B. Doolittle assisted in the special program under the direction of Miss Ora Lawer.

At John Street

Dr. Chas. Bishop, of Albert College and Rev. J. P. Wilson preached at John Street United Church in the absence of the pastor, C. C. Ramsay. In the morning Mr. Bliss, Mrs. Hill, Mr. Hawker and Mr. Burke and Miss Helen Luscombe render a beautiful quintette "Little Town of Bethlehem". A combined choir of two parts, Mrs. Kinnear and choir was one of the features.

The music at St. Andrew's Arnold Thomson, Mrs. Farlow, Mrs. Nicholson, Dr. Haffner and Mr. Moorman were the chief soloists. The male quartette rendered a number at the evening service.

The music at the city services in St. Thomas was highly commendable, the choir giving evidence of their careful preparation under Professor Hunt and Director, R. H. Morgan.

Mrs. Wilmot sang the solo in "The Angels Beat" at the midnight service, and "O Holy Night" at the recital after sermons on Christmas Day and were especial numbers at the evening. Drama-reve "Let the Bright Seraphs" at the midnight service and sang John Ireland per really well. A noticeable feature at the Sunday evening recital was the singing of two solos by the choir boys. The solo part in "See Amid the Winter's Snow" was given by Arthur Thompson who has a voice of really good quality.

Alfred Evans and Bob Taylor sang the verse part of "Hark, What Mean Those Holy Voices" as a duet, their voices blending splendidly. The "Hallelujah" train being sung by all the boys. The train was sung during the offertory. The solo part in "See Amid the Winter's Snow" was given by Arthur Thompson who has a voice of really good quality.

Alfred Evans and Bob Taylor sang the verse part of "Hark, What Mean Those Holy Voices" as a duet, their voices blending splendidly. The "Hallelujah" train being sung by all the boys. The train was sung during the offertory. Their effective singing throughout also deserve thanks are due to them for their loyalty and punctuality.

St. Andrews Church

The Christmas music was marked at St. Andrews Presbyterian Church by special music at both services, the choir under the direction of Mrs. Wheatley always give an excellent musical service and upon this occasion certainly lived up to its reputation. During the morning the service opened with a brass selection rendered by the "Bugle of Bruges," followed by the Carol "Ring Out the Bells" by the full choir. Miss Peggy Pratt sang "Sweet Story of Christmas Morn" with excellent tone and much expression her duet joining in the final choruses. The "Hallelujah Chorus" and "For Unto Us a Child is Born" brought the service to a close.

In the evening another programme of Christmas music was presented. Opening with the Carol "Hark the Herald Angels" sung in Procession followed by an anthem "Heart of Night-ing mas effectively by Mrs. A. Bell. Another Carol "Holy Night" was rendered by a Quartette consisting of Mrs. Moodie, Mrs. A. Bell Mr. W. Bells and Mr. R. H. Morgan. This was a very taking number and the tone and ensemble was excellent. The special anthem was "For Unto us a Child is Born" and was sung withe the shading and tone colour which made the selection being especially effective. Miss Marjorie Bird sang in her pleasing manner "Behold the Lamb of God" from "Holy King." Professor Wheatley arrangement of the organ and which also rendered the several beautiful solos in addition to his usual masterly manner.

Fifty Xmas cards were shared at St. Michael's Church Christmas morning. They were at eight, nine, nine-thirty and eleven o'clock. At the last Mass the singing was supplied by the children's choir and a very pleasing effect. "Holy Night" was rendered by Masters Billie Finkle and Billy Dunnie. At 10.30 Grand Choir Mass was sung.

The population of Marchmria is only 61 persons, a square mile as compared with 200 in Japan and 391 in Korea.

SEEING AND READING WORTH-WHILE PLAYS

By LOUIS E. BISCH

Each season we get a new crop of plays. Whether we live in large cities where such plays appear, or whether we live in smaller towns or in the country where access to the theatre is difficult, there still persists a great interest in these new productions and the question of which are worth while is pertinent.

Besides, there has been an increasing number of plays published in recent years.

Although a play is supposed to be enacted before an audience, and it loses something—a certain vitality and convincing quality—when read instead of seen and heard, a play in book form is a thousand times better than no play at all.

Before we answer the question as to which plays deserve our attention, let us consider the matter of plays in general—what they are, what they should be, what good they can yield us.

In the first place a play, whether it be straight drama, a tragedy, a comedy, a farce, or a melodrama, should have the power of entertaining us. By entertaining I do not mean the ability to make us laugh. Any play, of course without some comedy relief, is likely to be lonesome.

But a play, above everything else, must hold the interest. This is achieved chiefly through the story the play tells.

Next, the story must be so arranged that it has a plot. That is, the characters about whom the story is told must come into conflict with each other. Lastly, the play should have a beginning, a middle and an end. In other words when the play is finished it should leave a unified impression upon the mind.

Plays can be about any subject connected with life—its struggles, its trials and tribulations, its successes and heartaches, its humorous twists and un expected surprises.

Always, however, to be good plays they must be about life and, what is more important still, they must not be about life. As soon as a play or whatever kind tells untruths about life the characters are that the characters in the play are dead, stuffed puppets that do not hold our interest.

I have told you what a play ought to be if it is to be classed as a play at all. Now as to what current plays really are!

Unfortunately, most of the plays that get a stage hearing year after year violate one or more or most of the psychological rules of play interest that I have noted.

Plays are stilted, mechanical, lifeless, false in representation of life. They too often set out to do something striking or startling with the result that they stress the wrong values and the play becomes a sort of stuffed shirt.

That is the chief reason why most plays fail." If plays would only stick to the truths of life they would be more likely to succeed even if their structure were faulty.

Most of the plays are not worth seeing. It's a waste of time to sit through two or three hours of bunco. To read them is equally disappointing. But with the worthwhile play you are dealing with a different proposition. Of these you should see and read all you possibly can.

If you have no way of judging a good play—reading the current newspaper reviews should not be slighted, however at any rate read plays that have been written by such authors as Ibson, Shakespeare, Moliere, Bernard Shaw, Checkov, Galsworthy, and our own Eugene O'Neill.

You will find that authors of this calibre do not lie about life. They tell the truth about their inner struggles. That is why they plays fascinate.

In a good play you see yourself reflected. In some manner you are like one of the characters.

At any rate, you can readily picture yourself in a situation similar to the one in the play and whatever your emotions are roused and stimulated.

Nothing, in fact, can thrill like a worth-while play. It pays you up whether the play makes you laugh or weep.

Plays we all need. They review the lessons or life for us, but in a way that is not preachy or pedantic. We really learn while belw entertained. often you can get as much out of a play as you would out of years of actual living.

A play a week is none too many for anybody!

The Jabot Makes Its Bow To Refresh The Season

OF CHARM and modernity all respect, this dressy and stylish afternoon dress is one to merit your real admiration. You might be stepping out of the Cr'lline or Clarisse's in Paris, or sitting on an upholstered divan in the justly famous and popular Lady's Fur at the Ritz, when you love it on. Very feminine are the circular flounces that run diagonally across the front of the skirt. The jabot relieves the simplicity of the waist and the round neck has been revived this year. However the neck should always be cut in the way most becoming to the wearer. This is particularly good for soft light weight velvet but would be equally lovely in satin crepe, crepe de chine or georgette. The jabot may be of the frock material. (Copyright, 1927

By MILDRED BARBOUR

"There is no danger now. All that is past. I am strong and fit again. I have enough to keep us, if you're willing to sacrifice a little, and my old job is waiting; I found that out by cable. So there's nothing to keep us apart any longer, Lila. It's like the ending of a fairy-story, isn't it?" he asked, his voice thrilling with joy. "We'll be married and live happily ever afterward."

It was only then that he noticed that Lila was crying quietly.

CHAPTER 23.

"THE OLD, OLD STORY

"Lila, sweetheart, why are you crying?" Farquhar implored.

Lila's only answer was to weep more bitterly. They were no false tears; she wasn't thinking of herself now, as she had been ever since the arrival of Farquahar's cable. She was thinking, instead, of the immensity of the disaster for Farquahar, for Herbert, for everybody.

Somebody had to be hurt, find desperately." Which one of them should it be?

For a moment she felt that Farquahar, after all his agony, should be spared. But her heart cried to her to spare Herbert. Or was it to spare herself, because she couldn't live without his love?

Even while she wept, she was reviewing the tangled situation, wondering how to cope with it. She couldn't marry Farquahar anyway, since she was already married to Herbert, so it was Farquahar who must be sacrificed.

She would have to tell him, have to destroy with her own words that dream he had worshipped through all his trouble and suffering.

She opened her mouth to speak, her tears checked now.

But Farquahar, whose hands were again reaching out for hers, said suddenly, sharply:

"Why—what's your ring?"

She flushed crimson, thinking, for a moment, that he had caught sight of the ring she had slipped from her finger under the shelter of the tablecloth.

"Why—I—"

"You don't wear it any longer?" His smile had vanished. He looked very stern.

"Yog—not since——" she stammered and stopped.

Here was the time to speak. But Farquahar said:

"Please get it and put it on. We will need it this afternoon. I want it to be your wedding-ring, as I first intended."

Something in his voice frightened Lila. She saw him again as the determined young man who had wooed her so impetuously in those early days of the war, sweeping her off her feet by the very strength of his will.

She lauched a trifle shakily.

"How stern you sound! You almost make me afraid of you, Jack."

His face softened.

"You need never fear me, Lila, as long as you love only me and never give a thought to another man."

"Isn't that—isn't that rather threatening?" she faltered, trying to smile.

"Perhaps," he shrugged, "but it's the truth. I'd kill the man who tried to take you from me."

"Jack! You frighten me horribly."

"Do I, sweetheart? But it only goes to prove how much I love you."

Lila's head was bending suffocatingly. She tried to laugh, as she clasped her hands together tightly, so that their trembling wouldn't be so evident.

"You're a splendid lover, Jack," she managed to say banteringly. "You always know how to say what a woman likes to hear."

After a minute, she added hesitatingly:

"But what would you have done, if you had returned and found me married to some one else?"

Her heart almost stopped, while she waited for his answer.

"Done?" he echoed. "Why, simply have shot the cheap and made off with you."

Her cry of horror made him smile.

"You've forgotten what a savage I am, haven't you, sweetheart?"

"Yes," said Lila, faintly. She had, indeed. She stared at him, wondering how she had ever dared to love so ruthless a flying man. Or was it his very ruthlessness that had attracted her? Was that why she had forgotten him, when she was no longer under the spell of his presence?

"It's getting late, Lila," Farquahar rejoinded her. "Can you forego coffee this once—in favor of matrimony?"

Lila drew a quick breath.

"I can't marry you today, Jack."

It was out! She waited, tense.

There was a long minute of silence, then:

"Why not?" asked Farquahar quietly.

"Because—because there are reasons why it—it would be better to wait," she stammered helplessly.

"What reasons?"

"Oh," thought Lila desperately, "if only I dared say 'because I am already married,' and have done with it!"

But she knew she couldn't.

It was well for Lila that her wits had been working overtime in the past few months, for, quite suddenly, she had her excuse.

"Jack, dear," she said, in her most pleading tone, "you must listen to me and try to understand ' and not be angry. When you were given up for dead, I was really free again, in a way wasn't I?"

His gray eyes narrowed dangerously

"There was our pledge, made in the darkness of our comrade," he recalled her grimly.

"I know," she nodded, "but there are circumstances——My father—well, he brought pressure to bear upon me, because he was in business difficulties. There was a man who could help him, a very wealthy man——"

She stopped, terrified at Farquahar's expression as he leaned forward. But he only said quietly: "Go on!"

"I—I had to become engaged to this man, or he would not have come to my father's rescue," she faltered.

"Yes, and then?" questioned Farquahar between his teeth.

Lila abandoned any further effort. "That is all," she said, with a helpless little gesture.

"It's quite enough," remarked Farquahar grimly. "I will, of course, end this engagement at once?"

"But I can't!" cried Lila feverishly, "My father is under financial obligations to my—to this man. He could ruin my father in a moment, if he wished."

"Then your father must take the consequences," announced Farquahar determinedly.

"But," protested Lila, searching desperately for another excuse—and, luckily, finding one, "I—I'll never ill. Any shock might be fatal. Oh, Jack, don't make me do something I'd regret all my life."

Her voice was so poignantly appealingly and her eyes so beseeching that Jack Farquahar relented a trifle.

"I don't want to make you unhappy Lila, so I hold never to bring you anything but joy, because I love you. But isn't it a bit unfair to ask me to wait longer, after all these wasted years?"

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in love with a fellow of my age. He used to come to see me every night, but he doesn't any more. I love him very much. Would it be all right for me to call him up and ask him to come to see me?

LONESOME

LONESOME: I must caution you to change your attitude, my dear, before you make yourself unhappy by such unnecessary things such as you suggest. If this boy has plainly shown you that he is no longer interested in you, I should think your pride would prevent your from making any further efforts to win him back to you. By no means should you call him up, since this man is obviously indifferent to you, he will surely not respond if you continue to pursue him. Try to put him out of your mind, my dear, and seek the companionship of other friends. In the diversion that they afford you, I am sure you will have no difficulty in forgetting.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

New York reports that colored velvet slippers are exceptionally popular for evening wear.

A beautiful and popular Argentine woman who is shortly going from Rio Janl is taking a traveling coat of lion's skin lined with lamb.

Prints of every kind in small floral patterns and checks appear in new foulards and marocains in Paris for daytime and in chiffon for evening, while the figured foulards and "chines" often trim radk-toned daytime models.

Small collars and cuffs in cream-colored fur are used on new light wool Paris coats, as in brize or bois pink, while a coat of grey velvet is lined with painted silk to match the frock.

In the new Paris models the street frock with moderate coatee is interesting, as are tulle bows and rosettes on afternoon frocks, thin little yokes which become scarfs and tie in the back, gold nailhead studded navy grosgrete in three-quarter coats, todier or tunics, and taffeta and chantoclere chiffon in wide-scalloped evening gowns.

New York women of fashion are now echoing the Paris vogue for turquoise blue which is being used for evening gowns of sheer velvet, satin and even chiffon.

Gray is an important shade for early spring, as are also all the colors that may be worn with it, particularly tones of hydrangea and another combination cited is buttercup yellow with gray and these tones are used extensive ly for the three - piece, fancy knit woolen sports wear and traveling ensembles that have become an important part of the wardrobe of the smartly frocked woman.

THE ROMANCE OF FLIN FLON MINE

Story of Canada's Latest Frontier Mining Development

Ottawa.—(CP)—A chronicle of trial and error, perserverance and failure and a large amount of luck makes up the story of Canada's latest frontier mining development. Flin Flon has been an obscure pin-point high up on the map of North America. To be exact it is about 400 miles northwest of Winnipeg and 90 miles from the nearest railroad point which is The Pas. It is a lake and timber country known only to trappers and only partially mapped. But its name will appear in bigger type in the maps of the immediate future for $30,000,000 will be spent in the Flin Flon area and it is destined to take its place with Cobalt, Timmins Rouyn, Sudbury and the other great mining communities of the Dominion.

The new community is said to contain 18,000,000 tons of copper-zinc-gold-silver ore which the prospector of a generation ago would have passed by as being of too low a grade. But it is modern scientific methods that have made the Flin Flon possible. The Canadian National Railways management has shown its complete confidence in the future of the Flin Flon by building a 90-mile spur line into the district. The present owners—Mr. Harry Payne Whitney interests of New York City—are starting at once to build a huge smelter for the reduction of the low grade ores of the district and to take advantage of the water power of the area. A great new frontier community is being created but it is the story of the finding of the Flin Flon that is the most romantic part of all.

Four prospectors in 1915 were broke. They were known as the Four Musketeers for their loyalty. It took them most of the winter to find a "grub stake" which two Toronto men finally provided. The party pushed into the wilderness of Northeastern Saskatchewan and began to work some old claims. Vague rumors reached them from trappers and stray prospectors of a find on the shores of Lake Flin Flon and one of the party went further east to the Manitoba boundary and brought back samples. These entered the element of error for these samples from Flin Flon were wrongly assayed and the ore was said to produce $34.00 to the ton. Soon claims extending half a mile back from the lake had been staked and then a true survey was made which revealed a real value of about $7 per ton. Operations stopped

EARL FOND OF UNITED STATES

London, (By C.P.)—The Earl of Portsmouth, the ninth, Earl who succeeded his brother in the title 3 years ago, and prefers to be known as Oliver Henry Wallop, his family name, recently arrived at Barton Manor, the family seat in the parish of Morthard Bishop, Devon. He owns a ranch of 3,000 acres near the Big Horn mountain in Wyoming, U.S. From the first he had no intention of giving up his ranch and mapped out a programme to go to the United States at the end of April each year and stay there until the end of October.

"I have plenty to do there," he said in an interview, "and I feel I have done duty in that part of the world. I just love that work, I have made the place out of a wilderness, and I can say I know everybody for hundreds of miles right away to the coast. I started out there 40 years ago in Montana."

Lord Portsmouth has just returned from his annual visit. He intends when qualified to take his seat in the House of Lords, but being an American citizen, he has to be in this country for five years to qualify for naturalization. Unlike the late Earl, who was a Liberal, Lord Portsmouth is a Conservative. He is 65 years of age.

After nearly $350,000 had been spent.

An American firm about this time became interested and after taking an option in 1919 jet the proposition drop in 1920 the Mining Corporation of Canada appeared on the scene and commenced work. His was the beginning of the Flin Flon great undertaking which led to the purchase this year by the Whitney interests. The future now appears to be assured and an expenditure of $30,000,000 is to be made by the effort to secure new-found wealth of the hinterland.

Unusual interest in the undertaking is being taken in Canada on account of the comparatively close proximity of the Hudson Bay Railway which is being built by Canada northeast from the Pas. The new Flin Flon spur will reach northwest and the two make a great Y into the north country. Western Canada is building great hopes for the future in these two lines, one to take grain by a short route to the Hudson Bay seaboard and the other to bring minerals and pulpwood out to the north.

FRENCH BUDGET PASSED

Paris, Dec. 27.—The Chamber of Deputies presented Premier Poincare with the 1928 budget as a Christmas gift this morning after an all-night sitting.

The voluminous document had to be taken back and forth between the Chamber and Senate six times before it was finally approved.

PUTS UP PLEA FOR OUR HOMES

Mrs. John Garvin Says Don't Destroy Before Time

Montreal, Que.—There ought to be legislation against canadians destroying the precious things of the country, Mrs. John Garvin said when she spoke before the Montreal branch of the Canadian Authors' Association. Taking as her subject, "Canadian Houses of Romance," one of her books written under her pen name of Katherine Hale, Mrs. Garvin spoke of the need for action in this matter.

"There ought to be legislation against our ruthlessly destroying our precious things," she said. "Surely houses are closer to anybody's heart than other buildings except churches, and I don't think we have the feeling here for churches that they have in Europe. Why should houses' light be shut out before their time?"

Continuing, she pointed out that because of the rapid changes in Canada—he discoveries, pioneer growth and development—the country has not yet become sophisticated. "We have not yet been touched by sophistication but it is coming now. Our romance was the first romance," she said. "With us it was pure spirit which laid the foundation of Canada. If myth mingles with our tradition, so much the better for Canada."

FIRE THREATENS OIL PLANT IN TIENTSIN

Tientsin, China, Dec. 24.—Tientsin plant of the Standard Oil Co. of New York caught fire today. It was feared that plant largest in northern China could be a total loss. The plant with stocks of oil on hand has estimated value of five million dollars; it is situated across the narrow river from the foreign settlement. It includes sixty-three million gallon tanks. Fear was expressed that these might explode and cause widespread destruction. The cause of the fire was not determined.

GIRL WAS SUFFOCATED

Radcliffe, Sask., Dec. 27.—Jennie Hanson, four-year-old girl of Benjamin Hanson, died today from suffocation here when fire destroyed a house while a Christmas party she was attend ing was in progress.

One of the other young girls at the party is dangerously ill from the effects of the smoke and gas.

A NEW YEAR'S party is welcomed with great joy by growing boys and girls because it is sure to have a rollicking good time. It is welcomed by the hostess too, because it is an easy sort of a party to plan—there are so many things that provide fun at this time of year.

To break the ice, select a game that will include all of the guests, a "baseball game" relay furnishes a good start. Appoint two captains who will choose teams. Line up the teams on two sides of the room, the captain at the head, with the members of his team one after another behind him and all facing the same way. Give the captains each an immense snowball made of cotton batting. At the signal, the captains start passing the ball over their heads and back, down the line. When it reaches the end man, he rushes up front and starts the passing again, continuing until the captain is the last man in line. Whichever team finishes first, of course, receives the honors. The losing team members all get dunce caps which they wear until they can find someone who will answer "Yes" to their question, "Are you a bigger dunce than I am?" This is easier than it sounds, for, according to the rules of the game each person only has to ask the question once—and then repeat it any time during the evening to get a victim to say "Yes." It is surprising to everyone avoiding the fatal word —all evening.

A bell contest is a quiet game to sandwich in between two more active ones. Give each guest a pencil and a sheet of paper cut out in the shape of a bell and containing the following questions. Each question must be answered by a word containing "bell" or "bell." A time limit to the contest is necessary, to keep it from being boresome.

What bell is noisy? —Bellow
What bell is so Irish City?—Belfast
What bell is in a church? —Belfry.
What bell is a flower? —Blue Bell.
What bell is a girl's name? —Nella.
What bell is a medicine? —Belladonna.
What bell is welcome at camp? —Dinner Bell.
What bell is worn around the waist? —Belt.
What bell is a citizen of a foreign country? —Belgian.

An adaptation of the old favorite blindfold stunt is always useful. A large paper face painted on a piece of white cardboard is fastened to the wall. The hour hand is missing. Each guest is given a paper hand with his or her name on it. In turn the guests are blindfolded and given a chance to pin the hand in its proper place.

A hunt for favors is also good fun. Fasten a favor at the end of a long string, using a different color for each string. Wind the strings in and out and all about the house. To reach the favor, the strings have to be followed to the end. The favors for this party should be all wrapped up and the guests warned not to open them until the clock strikes. When they are opened they are found to contain horns, drums, mouth organs, whistles, bells, etc. A procession is immediately formed with all of the noise-making instruments going at once. It winds around the house to end up in the dining room where lunch is served.

For table decorations, use balloons of all colors. Fasten some of the strings to the centerpiece and to this case may be a bound of cotton snowballs glittering with artificial snow, or perhaps an inverted cake pan frosted to look like a real cake, with a clock face, the hands pointed to midnight, painted on the chocolate. Fasten other balloon strings to the glasses and to the plates. Favors may be suspended easily by a bit of adhesive tape. For lunch something substantial is appreciated by growing boys and girls.

Tomato Harebit
2 tablespoons Crisco
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
¼ cup strained tomato juice or tomato soup
2 cups grated cheese
¼ teaspoon soda
Salt
Pepper

Melt Crisco. Blend in flour. Stir in the milk gradually. Cook until thick. Add the tomato juice in which the soda has been thoroughly dissolved. Stir in the and slightly beaten egg. Continue cooking for a few minutes. Season to taste. Serve on toast or crisp crackers.

Latticed Potatoes

Wash and pare potatoes. Slice, using a vegetable slicer which comes for the purpose. Put a stand in a bowl of cold water two hours. Drain and dry between towels. Fry in deep Crisco heated to 350-370° F. Drain on paper and sprinkle with salt.

Cream Puffs

Puffs
6 tablespoons Crisco
1 cup boiling water
1 cup sifted flour
4 eggs
Salt

Filling
1 cup milk
2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
Flavoring

Puffs

Bring water to a boil in sauce pan and add Crisco; stir until melted. Then add flour slowly, stirring vigorously all the time. Boil until it forms a paste which pulls away from sides. Turn into a mixing bowl and when cool add eggs one at a time, beating each in thoroughly before adding next. After last egg is added beat vigorously about 5 minutes. Then drop by spoonfuls on Crisco-greased pans about 2½ inches apart. Bake in slow oven (300° F. for 15 minutes, then reduce gradually to 300°. In all bake 45 minutes.

Filling

Heat milk in double boiler. Dissolve cornstarch in an extra tablespoon of milk. Stir in milk and cook for 3 minutes, stirring all the time. Beat eggs until light, add yolks with sugar and salt. Stir into hot mixture. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. When cold, make a little slit in side of puff, and fill with a teaspoon. Dust top with powdered sugar.

A new 80 page cook book will be sent free to readers of this newspaper upon receipt of a two cent stamp to cover postage. Address: The National Research Bureau, 243 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

NEW AGENT GENERAL DISTINGUISHED MAN

London, Eng.—Sir George Fuller, whose appointment as New South Wales Agent-General for New South Wales was recently announced, is one of the most distinguished of public men in Australia. He is an M.A. of Sydney University, a barrister, and a considerable land owner. His appointment follows naturally the victory of the Labor party in the recent General Election, and the defeat of the State Labor Party during whose tenure of power Lord Sir George Warburton Fuller was Premier of New South Wales from 1923 to 1925 and he has been a member of the Legislature since 1915. He was Chief Secretary and Minister of New South Wales from 1916 to 1920.

MET WELL-KNOWN NOVELIST THERE

Winnipeg, Man.—Ruth Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Walker, while in Italy this summer met Grazia Deledda, the Italian novelist who won the Nobel Prize for Literature. She writes of her very interesting visit in the Free Press:

She was born 52 years ago in one of the most remote provinces of Italy, on the Island of Sardinia. She attended only the elementary school and at the age of 17 she wrote and published "Amore Regale" (Royal Love), her first volume of short stories and sketches, followed the next year by "Fior di Sardegna" (Flower of Sardinia), her first novel.

Herself a flower of Sardinia, living in a tiny provincial town where life unclouded by a metropolitan civilization, had changed little since the Middle Ages, Grazia Deledda wrote stories of the people and the country she knew so well. It was considered strange that after Grazia Deledda married and went to live in Cosmopolitan Rome, she still wrote of the peasants and provincials in her native island. Sardinia holds very little interest for the world in general. It is not in artistic treasures as is most of Italy. Sardinia's charm, perhaps, is that it is a primitive civilization as yet dulled or cut in down to its standardized pattern. The people have still very many traditional costumes, vivid with color. Songs that were sung in Spain and Italy by the Troubadours and are now forgotten in those countries, may still be heard at Sardinia festas.

EVENING COURT FOR JUVENILES

Montreal, Que. (By C.P.)— Two night sessions per week of the Juvenile Court may be held when the new court buildings on St. Joseph Boulevard is completed. The innovation is proposed with a view to obtaining the evidence of fathers of boys charged with delinquency—the first time most of them it being necessary that the fathers should testify—without submitting the fathers to loss of time from their work and consequent loss of pay.

Judge J. C. Leprohon, who presides over the Juvenile Court here, says that while he has not enforced the presence of fathers at court sessions because he thinks this would be too drastic, a great deal of trouble and inconvenience has been occasioned by their not being present. "The heads of families," he says "for whom are the usual wages have repeatedly asked for night sessions. He is in favor of the proposal.

The question of night sittings of the Juvenile Court is one for the City Council to decide. The mayor may come before that body shortly.

REGENT THEATRE

Now for the first time in the history of motion pictures, you can see the one supreme super-special of the colorful glories of the old-time West. A blazing and colorful drama—a tenser love story—real life as the drove men and women of the pioneer days—swift action, breath-taking suspense, thrills, tears, life and laughter—culminating in the astounding climax of Custer's Last Stand. Thousands of Indians—U. S. Cavalrymen— Scouts— Plainsmen— Pioneers—the finest entertainment of the year. We urge you to see this great picture. You'll never regret or forget it. Today and Wednesday at the Regent.

BELLE THEATRE

An entertaining story, perfect cast and skillful direction combine to make for "Millionaires," the Warner Bros. production which opened yesterday at the Belle Theatre, a picture worthy of the entire family's taking the evening off to see.

The story, suggested by the E Phillipps Oppenheim novel, "The Invisible Millionaires," tells the amusing tale of an East Side tailor's adventures, with his family, in the social sphere of Park and Fifth Avenue, when they become millionaires overnight.

George Sidney, Louise Fazenda, Vera Gordon and Lucien Littlefield are featured in the cast, which also includes Helene Costello, Pat Carr, Arthur Lubin and Jane Winton, all giving excellent performances.

Herman Raymaker directed this entertaining comedy-drama with unusual sympathy and understanding, and as a result "Millionaires" makes a decidedly worth-while film.

Because ancient articles like the cart, plow and potter's wheel are found throughout a region stretching from China to the Mediterranean, it seems likely that ancient China was not cut off from the western world.

EXHIBITION GAME WON BY STIRLING

Intelligencer Black Hawks Gave Northerners Strong Argument

Stellar goal-keeping on the part of "Chuck" Hulin, Stirling's midget netminder robbed the Intelligencer team of the opening hockey game of the season at the village last evening. The score was 4-0 for the home-brews but that does not really indicate the merit of the play, as the newspaper lads walked in on Hulin at least seven times in the opening chukker leaving him almost helpless but he went down to make marvellous saves. He was equal by good in the second and third periods.

It was a real fast game considering the fact that some of the boys were out on skates for the first time and no practises had been held this year. In this respect the winners had the advantage as they had been on the blades for two work-outs. There was a fine crowd out for the game and they enjoyed it immensely. There was little lagging except in the final frame when the boys were weeping down under the pace. The Black Hawks were strengthened by one or two outside players but for the most part they compose the team that will represent the newspaper in the city hockey league which will get under way at the arena next week.

The Stirling team trotted out practically the same bunch as will represent the club in the Trent Valley League. Some of the High School boys were given an opportunity and showed up favorable coaching of Billy Whitty an old-time hockey mentor they will come along.

Hulin was the one big block in the path of the local attacking division although the winners played a strong offensive game at times. Gordon Ireland one of the leads of the red shirts and his numerous allies down in the Hawks' territory left room for very little worry. Another boy who stood out in the play by the homesters was Reginald Scott who learned his hockey in Belleville. He has improved wonderfully in the past season and teams up well on the wing. Ackers also turned in a smart performance and accounted for one goal. He is one of the main cogs in the northerner's machine.

Wallace, the burly defence man, appears a trifle clumsy but he gets results and will get going better with in the season. He possesses a pretty shot and manages to pick off the corner of the net nicely.

None of the locals were outstanding but Johnny Canning was probably the pick of the lot. The youngster was going good at all times and gave Hulin plenty to worry about. Canning on the defence was rushing and blocking well until he was forced to retire with an injured knee that came back in the last period and gave some ado sistance.

Young Bernie Brown was another of the lads who bore a heap of watching and will come along with a little more practice. Gene Doyle, the Hopping brothers and Cook all turned in nice games and the Hawks should be right in the race for the city league this year. Bill Scott who recently returned from the States was on skates for the first time in three years and he will round out in form within a few weeks. Bill has also signed to play with the Printers in the City League.

Ackers opened the tallying when he coaxed around the defence to sink the first one in the twine behind Curry. It was the only scoring of the chukker and came from a pass from Raymond Scott. Harry Ingram got the prettiest goal of the evening in the second frame when he soloed through the whole Belleville team to stick-handle his way to the goal-mouth. It was a pretty effort. The Stirling team came along with a new lease of life in the next period and gave the visitors a busy time. Wallace got a soft goal from a mix-up in front of the net. The same boy bolged the twine a few minutes later when he sifted a lovely shot in from the wing. That ended the scoring, and the Black Hawks although they tried hard, could not solve the stubborn Hulin. Clarence (Pick) Arnott handled the ball to the satisfaction of both teams.

The printers are offering no excuse but even Bill Whitty the manager of the Stirling team admitted that that the Intelligencer boys should have had at least three goals in the first period and they also had most of the play.

Jarvis and Bill Hopping on the defence turned in nice games also the latter named played the whole sixty minutes without being relieved and before the City League season is over Bill should develop into a fine player.

Two casualties resulted and all fell to the Belleville boys Jarvis as has been said before getting a knock on the knee. Gene Doyle a cut upper lip. Manager Bill Whitty was very much delighted in his his team's training and also was loud in his praise for the locals for their fine exhibition and has invited the printers back again at a later date.

HOCKEYISTS OUT AT RINK TONIGHT

Intermediates Will Disport Selves At Arena At 7 O'Clock

Eddie Thomas will trot out his intermediates for the initial work-out of the season at Oar Arnott's arena on Turnbull Street tonight. The progress will be sent through their paces from seven until eight o'clock. The ice was in excellent condition yesterday and should be fast for the practise tonight. The Cornwall team will be here on Friday evening for the opener which leaves only three practise sessions at the outside. The boys will need to go at it hammer and tongs in order to give the Flying Frenchmen a real battle. The Easterners will be slightly weakened from last year but there are plenty of capable players down around the St. Lawrence and Manager John Donnelly will bring up a fast bunch. Eddie Thomas has his eye on the group championship this year and the local hope to go out and grab the first tilt. Mohan will guard the twine and he will be here tonight. This boy was one of the best last year and if he is in the same form there will be little to worry about in that direction. Stan Hagerman will probably go back on defence this season along with Frank Coyer. It is reported that Bill Green has announced his retirement and will not don the blades with the Intermediates. In that case, Whalen will likely hold down one wing and Jack Rooney the other. Centre position is left open and there are several likely to be out for the pivot position. The first practice will probably see some dark horses out. Among the newcomers are Jarvis, Boyle and one or two others. It appears as though the Queen's team will be hard to beat and Eddie Thomas is hoping to slip over a win on Friday night in order to get a start on the right foot.

Agricultural co-operative societies for buying and selling are organized on a large scale in Holland. There are now 9,000 in that country.

LARGE CROWDS OPEN LOCAL SPORT SEASON

Many skaters took advantage of the weather yesterday to enjoy some of the other form of sport. The usual Christmas crowd attended the opening of the arena. The Irish Argyle band was in attendance and rendered excellent music for the throngs. Manager Oar Arnott provided a fine sheet of ice for the opening. He will have band at the arena on Wednesday and Saturday nights of this week. The local hockey team will commence practice at the arena tonight between seven and eight o'clock. Several hockey games have already been arranged this week between th various city teams.

Simpson's outdoor rink was the mecca for many skaters yesterday afternoon and Saturday evening. The curlers opened the season at the rink on George Street and many devotees of the rearin' game were on hand with ice stones and brooms. The regular club matches will start soon.

CAN NOW REPAIR LADY'S SILK HOSE

Toronto, Ont.—There is not a girl in Toronto who does not breathe a sigh of relief since she has learned where her silk hose can be repaired. The long-suffering modern women can have the runs in the delicate silk and chiffon stockings knitted up by a unique machine which some kindly soul has invented. Only a few months ago the process was introduced into Toronto, and the orders are coming in so quick by all the repair departments of the stores that the clerks, say: "Yes, we can repair that, madam, but you will not receive it for 10 days at the earliest." Then the clerk explains that over 100 silk hose are being brought in each day to have a short run, a long run, or a wide one knitted up in the repair department.

DEAN NOT SUPERSTITIOUS

London, Eng. — Dean Inge rather likes to have a black cat cross his path. He does not touch wood as a protection against supposed bad luck. In fact the gloomy dean ooesn't mind sitting at a table with twelve others, any time, if there is a good meal in sight. The Dean has denounced those taboos and minor rituals as popular superstition. He commends the study of science as a deliverer from this "mumbo-jumbo."

GREAT CRICKET PLAYER PASSES

George Giffen, Best Ever In Australia, Now Dead

Adelaide, Australia—George Giffen, probably the greatest cricketer Australia ever produced, died here recently in the ayr of 68 after a lingering illness.

As a batsman Giffen possessed a wonderfully line defense. He stooped a little but had a great variety of strokes with great freedom in his use of the bat, and was exceptionally strong in driving. He bowled right-hand, rather below medium-pace, with considerable spin and well-concealed change of flight and pace. He used to send down with much effect a slow ball, very high-toned which, seeming to be coming well up to the batsman, pitched short, and resulted in many "c-ought and bowled."

Among Giffen's best performances in Australia were his 203 at Adelaide in 1887, for South Australia against G. F. Vernon's team; 272, and 12 wickets for 192, for South Australia v. Victoria at Melbourne in 1891, and in the following season an innings of 271 and 16 wickets for 18 runs for South Australia against Victoria. He made 45 runt of a total of 166) and 205 for South Australia v. New South Wales at Adelaide in 1893. Most remarkable of all, perhaps, was his all-round performance in scoring 161 out of a total of 586, and 41 in a total of 166 for Australia v. Stoddart's English team at Sydney in December 1894, as in that match he also took eight wickets, and yet was on the losing side. The bowling of Peel and Briggs on a ruined pitch won the match for England by 10 runs in the winter of 1883, at Sydney, for the fourth Australian team against the Rest of Australia. Giffen took all 10 wickets in an innings for 66 runs. Two years later, at Adelaide, for South Australia against Victoria, he scored 29 and 22 and took 17 wickets.

Giffen first visited England in 1882 as a member of the team which beat England at the Oval by seven runs and so vindicated Australian cricket. He had a brilliant success against the Gentlemen of England at the Oval, where he took 11 wicket's for less than 10 runs each—eight in the first innings for 49 runs—and contributed largely to a memorable triumph.

He was a member of three Australian teams which visited England, but though he accomplished some remarkable feats in county matches he was not so successful in the "tests".

Giffen's highest score in England was 180 v. Gloucestershire, at Bristol, in 1893. He had his greatest success as a bowler in England during the season of 1886, when 18 Derbyshire wickets fell to him for 101 runs, and in five consecutive innings he dismissed 46 batsmen at a cost of 222 runs. He did the "hat trick" three times — for South Australia, against G. F. Vernon's team, at Adelaide, in 1885; against Lancashire at Manchester, in 1894; and against an Eowland eleven at Wembley Park, in 1896.

Altogether in first-class matches, Giffen scored 12,561 runs, at an average of 29, and took 1,109 wickets at a cost of 21 runs each. In matches between Australia and England he made 1,238 runs, and took 103 wickets.

WOMEN ARE POOR GRAMMARIANS

Toronto, Ont.—At the High School Editors' Convention held here recently the editor of a women's paper complained of the difficulty of getting women graduates who could observe the common rules of grammar and spelling such as the apostrophe in the boy's book.

"There is not exactly illiteracy among the students," remarked Professor H. J. Davis, M.A., of University College, anent this "but there is a great deal of poor grammar and poor spelling, especially in the past two years. We have a lot of pure 'school work' to do in our English classes here, and we must do it. Of course," he continued, "there is the occasional person to whom the art of spelling is psychologically impossible, and it is true some people graduate from the University who never ought to have come at all."

CONVICTS GET XMAS GIFTS

HOCKEY LEAGUE MEETING TONIGHT

One Berth Remains In City League — Important Announcements

A general meeting of the Managers of the City Hockey League teams has been called for tonight at the Y.M. C.A. at eight o'clock for the purpose of drawing up a schedule. The dates have been alloted by the arena management and it is expected that the clubs will get under way next week. Nine teams have signed up and there is still a berth for one more but the representative must be on hand tonight in order that no delay may be made in drawing the schedule up. With so many teams it is desirable to get away as early as possible. The question of Junior O.H.A. boys playing in the City League will likely be discussed and it is possible that each re-opened and it is possible that each manager may be allowed to sign one Junior player. In this way each team would benefit equally and no one team would be stronger than the other.

Managers are urged to have their entrance fee of $5.00 with the club treasurer tonight along with the list of twelve players whom they intend to play in the City League. Should another team desire to enter in order to round out the ten team circuit a representative must be present tonight as the schedule will be drawn up. From present indication it looks like a great year for City Hockey League with two games at the most each night scheduled nights. President Ken Colling will be in the chair tonight.

BOOTLEG CANOUFLAGE

Boston—Prohibition agents have uncovered a new bootleg camouflage. No content with pasting foreign brand labels on their distinctly domestic wares, liquor purveyors have taken to rolling bottles in sea sand. A thin glue helps retain the sand and the purchaser feels certain he has "smuggled stuff". A box of eight and a bottle of glue seized in a Lawrence raid revealed the trick.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HOCKEY MEETING

Officers Will Be Chosen At Y.M.C.A. Tomorrow Night

A meeting of the Sunday-School Hockey Association will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday evening at 7.30 for the purpose of re-organizing for the 1928 season. All Sunday School teams entered in previous years and any new clubs desiring to enter are requested to have reprsntatives at this meeting. In previous years the group has been divided with the Junior class 14 and under and the Intermediates 17 and under. Players not having reached these ages by January 1st are eligible.

Last year's officers were Pres. Harry, Rink Manager, Secy. Vern Weir and Treas. Albert Armstrong.

Some fast hockey was furnished in this league in past season and it is expected that some equally fast hockey will be in vogue this year. It is here that the players are developed for the higher ranks.

It is to be hoped that every Sunday School in the city will have a representative at this meeting as there is believed to be plenty of material for some real fast teams. Officers will be chosen for the ensuing year and general business transacted.

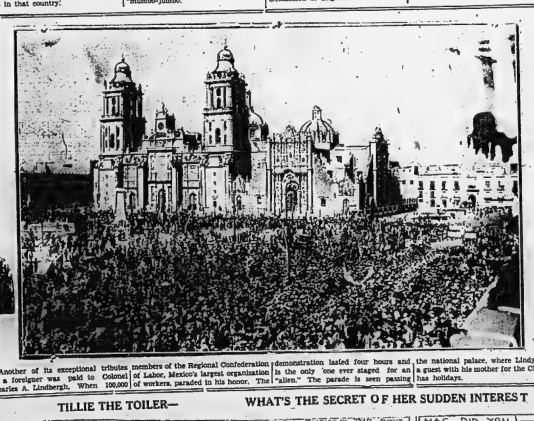

These games will be played in the outdoor rinks which have already been flooded and in fact the West Belleville rink has already been opened. The games will possibly start next week and it is desirable that the entries should be in as soon as possible.

A good turn-out is looked for tomorrow evening.

CATS TOP DOGS IN WILL CONTEST

Bath, N.Y., Dec. 27. (C.P.)— Contest of the will of Mrs. Emma Bennett, of Presqo, in which a part of her estate of $15,000 was set aside for the care of her cats, has ended in victory for the cats. Under the settlement, relatives of Mrs. Bennett's husband to whom a portion of the estate was bequeathed, agreed upon conclusion whereby a viteable fund is created for care of the pets.

New "Queen" Dresses

That have just come in

These distinctive black dresses for afternoon wear show many of the new style touches. Materials are: rich black crepe satin of a particularly heavy quality, Crepe Naidi, georgette and flat crepe. Clever draperies falling below the skirt at side or centre front lend dignity, and there is some effective piping in light colors. A note of magnificence is added by beautiful rhinestone buckles, and by the transparent velvet, which is used in combination. Some of the skirts show the new front flare, and several frocks are two-piece. In sizes from 16 years to 42.

OPEN NOSTRILS AND A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! - Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, and relief is instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

Itching Piles

Instantly relieved and soothed by application of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Itching, Bleeding, Protruding Piles, Eczema, Tetter, Tender Feet and Injuries yield to the very first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Relief is instant. Cures are lasting. Dr. Chase's Ointment is sold by dealers everywhere at 60 cents a box, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, will send it on receipt of price if your dealer does not have it in stock. Be sure to get Dr. Chase's Ointment. Refuse substitutes. 60

THROUGH A MONOCLE

To Make Bow Next Season

London.—Already there is talk of next year's debutantes, and an important one is Miss Oonagh Guinness, who was one of the bridesmaids at her sister Alison's wedding last week. Miss Oonagh Guinness is 18, and has been "finishing" in Paris. She is the young est of the Hon. Ernest Guinness' three daughters.

Veiled Ladies at the Altar

The wearing of white mantillas by the ladies at the wedding of the Duke Celle Puglie and Princess Anne of France at Naples is described as a "Spanish custom." Most women wear the mantilla in Spain, but that hid nothing to do with the royal marriage in Italy. On the invitations to the wedding it was expressly stated that the men should be in evening dress and the ladies in dresses reaching to the ground and with long sleeves, and that they should wear mantillas.

This was in urger accordance with the rules recently laid down by the Roman Catholic authorities as to the dress women should wear in churches. The mantillas, or veils, were ordered because women may not have uncovered heads in church. Hats would have been out of the question.

Although described as mantillas, the veils worn, for the most part, were exactly like those worn by ladies when they are received by the pope at certain papal functions, only they were white instead of black.

NOTED SINGER DEAD

Kingston-on-Thames, England, Dec. 20.—Charles Courtice Pounds, noted English singer and actor, who for many years was associated with Gilbert and Sullivan Operas, died at his home here today after several weeks' illness. He was 65 years old.

To avoid scraping carrots, wash them well and put them on to boil for about 10 minutes. Then remove from the fire, peel and resume cooking as usual.

GREAT LOSSES IN FOREST BLAZES

Golf is a form of work made expensive enough for a rich man to enjoy it. It is physical and mental exertion made attractive by the fact you have to dress for it in a $200,000 club house.

Golf is what letter-carrying, ditch-digging and carpet-beating would be if those three tasks had to be performed on the same afternoon in short pants and colored socks by gouty looking gentlemen who require a different implement for every mood.

Golf is the simplest looking game in the world when you decide to take it up, and the toughest looking after you've been at it ten or twelve years.

It is probably the only known game a man can play as long as a quarter of a century and then discover that it was too deep for him in the first place.

The game is played on carefully selected grass with little white balls and as many clubs as the player can afford. These balls cost from 75c to $2.50 and it is possible to support a family of ten people (all adults) for five months on the money represented by the balls lost by some golfers in a single afternoon.

A golf course has 18 holes, 17 of which are unnecessary and put in to make the game harder. A "hole" is a tin cup in the center of a "green," which is a small parcel of grass costing about $1.98 a blade and usually situated between a brook, a couple of apple trees and a lot of "unfinished excavations."

The idea is to get the golf ball from a given point into each of the 18 cups in the fewest strokes and the greatest number of words.

The ball must not be thrown, pushed or carried. It must be propelled entirely by about $200 worth of curious looking implements especially designed to provoke the owner.

Each implement has a scientific purpose and ultimately some golfers get to know what that purpose is. They are the exceptions.

After each hole has been completed, the golfer counts his strokes. Then he subtracts 6 and says, "made that in 5." "That's one above par," "shall we play for 50c on the next hole too?"

After the final, or 18th hole, the golfer adds up his score and stops when he has reached 87. He then has a swim, a pint of gin, sings "Sweet Adeline" with 6 or 8 other men, and calls it the end of a perfect day.

The fishermen had put out into the lake to take their nets. Some distance out they encountered heavy seas which crunched their fishing boat and broke it in two. Taking to the dory, they tried to row ashore. A gale ripped the oars from their hands and churned up waves that soon began to fill the small craft.

RUB PAIN OUT OF LAME BACK

Back hurts you? Can't straighten up without sudden pain, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica, or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating 8L Jacobs Oil. Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back, and get comes the pain. It is harmless, and doesn't burn the skin.

Limber up—Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle for old, honest 8L Jacobs Oil from any drug store, and after using it just once you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt, or cause any more misery. It never disappoints, and has been recommended for 60 years.

ALWAYS USE SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musty mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides, beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

After the final, or 18th hole, the golfer adds up his score and stops when he has reached 87. He then has a swim, a pint of gin, sings "Sweet Adeline" with 6 of his best pals, and calls it the end of a perfect day.

The fishermen had just cut into the lake to raise their nets. Some distance out they encountered heavy ice which crunched their fishing boat and broke it in two. Taking to the oars, they tried to row ashore. A gale ripped the oars from their hands and churned up waves that soon began to fill the small craft.

RUB PAIN OUT OF LAME BACK

Back hurts you? Can't straighten up without sudden pain, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica, or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating St. Jacobs Oil. Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back, and out comes the pain. It is harmless, and doesn't burn the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle for 25c, at any drug store, and after using it just once you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt, or cause you more misery. It never disappoints, and has been recommended for 60 years.

ALWAYS USE SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy stewing at home. All drug-stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

COUNCIL CLOSES YEAR OF OFFICE

Mayor Wilmot Bids Farewell To Colleagues And Reviews Work

YEAR OF PROGRESS

'Aldermen Pass Resolution Of Appreciation To Chief Magistrate

Pleasant times spent around the Council table in 1927 were reviewed as the books to rthe year were closed by the city fathers last evening.

Mayor Fardley Wilmot presided over the city body at its closing session and keen regrets were voiced on the fact that one of Belleville's youngest, chief magistrates is vacating the chair.

Following a short business session farewells were said to the four departing Aldermen and to Mayor Wilmot. The latter has been popular with his colleagues, city officials and staff with whom he came in contact in the transaction of his civic duties.

Results accomplished during the year were discussed and officials of the city were present and enjoyed the lime during the ceremonies.

The results achieved by Mayor Wil mot during his term of office were the subject of much favorable comment and his popularity was easily exemplified.

The four Aldermen who are leaving the Council after having served faithfully and well, were highly spoken of by those with whom they dealt this year as well as in 1926.

A Pleasant Year

Alderman Bernard Collins voiced the opinion of the other members of the civic body when he stated that it had been a pleasant year with little friction between the Aldermen and Mayor "We now come to the serious side when we must part with old friends to meet new ones," said the Chairman of the Gas Committee.

Mayor-Elect Morley P. Duff was then tendered the gavel and he mount ed the throne which he will occupy as the choice of the electorate of the city of Belleville during the ensuing year. Mayor-Elect Duff eulogized the work of the departing Mayor and said it had been a pleasure to serve under him. "I extend to you my sincere appreciation of the help and assistance given and congratulate you Mr. Mayor on the fine manner in which the Council sessions have been carried on."

It was moved by Alderman Collins and seconded by Alderman Wotten, that "The Aldermen of the City of Belleville desire to express their appreciation of the service given by Mayor Wilmot. His attention to the duties pertaining to his honorable office, his courtesy as presiding officer, his leadership in all civic matters and his unswerving devotion to the interests of the city, make it all the more regrettable that the demands of his business have forced him to retire. As the guiding hand of our Council, he has always been affable, approachable

RAPID PROGRESS ON NEW SCHOOL

Roof Of New Collegiate Will Be On Within Two Weeks

"Work is progressing finely on the new Collegiate," stated Mr. J. Arnold Thomson to The Intelligencer today. "We expect to have the roof on in within two weeks. All the roofing material is on the ground now and we are going to insulate it right away. We expect the lathing of week from today and hope to have the building roofed within two weeks."

Workmen were idle during the recent holiday but owing to the fine condition of the weather as pleasant the work can now progress at top speed. The steps to the building cannot, of course, be put in place before the old High School is torn down.

PARENTS ARE POOR

Wanted The Cash To Ease Lot Of Family At Home

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—Aurele Giroux, seventeen-year-old teller of the Eastview branch of the Bangor Canadienne Nationale was sentenced to a term of from one to two years in the Ontario Reformatory at Burwash, by Magistrate Cummings in police court today. Giroux charged the gang of Eastview which is a suburb of Ottawa, with a story yesterday that while he was alone of the bank he had been struck over the head with an ebony ruler by a stranger man and three hundred dollars in ten dollar bills had been stolen. Last night he confessed that his story was untrue; that he had stolen the money.

Police report he told them that when he went home for Christmas he realized that his parents were very poor. They live in Cornwall, where his father is a machinist and there are three other children. It was to get money to send to his mother that he planned to steal three hundred dollars from the bank.

ROYAL BANK HAS RECORD REPORT

Montreal, Dec. 28.—The annual statement of the Royal Bank of Canada issued today, constitutes a record in Canadian banking. Total assets, total deposits and capital and reserve, including undivided profits, are the highest ever recorded by any bank in Canada. Likewise profits for the year also set a record for Canada, being shown at $5,370,145 compared with $4,516,229 at the close of the fiscal year in 1926.

A satisfactory feature of the balance is the large gain of deposits which now stand at the high figure of upwards of $410,000,000 during the period.

DIRIGIBLE GIVES SEARCH AS VAIN

Naval Craft Continue Comb ing Waters Around Sable Island

Aboard the U.S. Destroyer Sturtevant, off Sable Island, N.S., Dec. 28.— Naval and coast guard vessels engaged in an intensive search had found no trace of the missing plane "Dawn" up to 8 o'clock this morning. Destroyers Sturtevant and Mahan began at daybreak a careful combing of the waters in the southwest quadrant of a circle of 75 mile radius with Sable Island light as the centre, while three coast guard destroyers were covering the southeast quadrant. The naval dirigible "Los Angeles" returned to her hangar at Lakehurst, N.J., after a 31 hour cruising which "24,000 square "miles of waters were scanned in a vain effort to locate the missing plane.

Reported Hear ing Plane

St. Johns, Nfld.—Following reports last night that the sound of an aeroplane motor, believed to be that of the missing plane "Dawn," had been heard in vicinity of Hearts Content and Carbonear, on Bay de Verde peninsula, Trinity bay, a search was started today that several persons at Hearts Over, west of Hearts Content, were positive that they heard an aeroplane at 9.20 Sunday morning. It appears that the machine is in a easterly direction but thick fog prevented a sight of the plane.

ENGLAND ENJOYS REAL SNOW FALL

Many Villages Have Not Yet Dug Themselves Out Of Drifts

London, Eng. Dec. 28.—(Canadian Press Cable) — Strange stories of the sufferings of the big snow storm still come to hand. Snowdrifts have completely buried a number of bungalows in North Wilages and one family of nine persons, imprisoned by the snow but with enough food to last them four days, cheerfully had people laboriously passing along the roadway several hundred feet above their heads. Numerous villages are isolated and there are snow drifts twenty feet deep in Derbyshire. A number of roads in Cornwall are blocked with snow.

At Canterbury, Kent, the river is overflowing and three hundred families have been rendered homeless. Major Barrett, has succeeded in getting away from his house, in a boat. Practically all the northern section of the city is submerged with water from three to six feet deep and the streets resemble swiftly flowing rivers.

Mrs. Lindbergh Watches Start And Then Returns By Plane

Flash—Lindbergh arrived at Guatemala.

Mexico City, Dec. 28.—Just as dawn lightened the flying field, Col. Charles Lindbergh hopped off at 6.25 a.m. today for Guatemala City, the first stop of his Central American good-will flights.

The take off was made in almost perfect weather conditions. There was no wind and the slight veil of mist near the ground was not enough to interfere with visibility. The fliery aviator, who had not seen her son take off on his New York to Paris or Washington to Mexico City flights, was at the field to bid him good-bye on this his latest venture.

When Lindbergh came to the field he was dressed in a dark business suit. He put his flying suit on over this just before entering the plane. He shook hands with Dwight Morrow, United States ambassador, Mrs. Morrow, members of the Embassy staff and a group of Mexican army aviators. Smiling he said "Good-Bye," to each one o fthem. Mrs. Lindbergh, who embassy party and Mexican officials stood on the field exactly watching "The pirit of St. Louis" until it disappeared. Then Mrs. Lindbergh and Mrs. W. Stou en tered the cabin o fthe north bound plane which took off for Detroit almost immediately.

WAS MAIL SACK LOST OR STOLEN?

Toronto Paper Prints Story Of $13,000 Parcel Disappearing

Toronto, Dec. 28.—It became known today, according to the Toronto Telegram, that a mail bag, said to have contained $13,000 was lost or stolen from between Kingston and the local office at Mimico Beach to Toronto, on December 13. The story was conveyed from the post office to Mimico Station in an open truck driven by a resident of Mimico but it was not until the mail delivered to the train reached Toronto that the loss was discovered.

The telegram continued that T. A. Gibson, Chief District Inspector of the Post Office Department would not admit that a sack of mail had been lost. It was quite possible, he is report ed to have said, that a sack of mail might get off its course and go to the wrong destination.

ABOLISH SLAVERY

An interesting despatch came from London a few days ago. It was, in effect, that on the 31st day of January 300,000 slaves held in bondage in an African protectorate controlled by the state of Sierra Leone will be free from their shackles. Then, no longer, it went on to say, can the refrain be levelled that serfdom still exists under the Union Jack. It has been a unique situation—a paradoxical one. This slavery has taken place in a country the capital of which is Freetown and the holders of the slaves are themselves negro chieftains. Further, chief opponents of the release of the slaves from bondage have been educated Christian negroes, themselves descendants of negroes who were held in slavery on the American continent. The despatch sets forth that the white men who rule this British colony and its protectorate of some 40,000 square miles of African territory on the western coast have long known of this slavery and have long opposed it, being mindful of the proud boast that whenever the British flag flies it waves over free men. On the establishment of the protectorate, they at once put in motion steps to stop slave raiding and slave trading and passed ordinances the object of which was the abolition of slavery. The last of these, adopted in March, 1926, provided that no person should be brought into the protectorate for the purpose of enslavement; that the children of slaves should be free, and that any slave escaping into the colony of Sierra Leone or elsewhere should be regarded as free. Two slave owners in disregard of ordinances, deliberately organized the recapture of runaway slaves, were convicted and succeeded in having the convictions quashed, upon appeal being taken. This brought matters to a head. Official pressure intervened itself and the British government brought pressure to bear upon Sierra Leone, with the result that on September 22 last the Sierra Leone legislative council passed a law freeing all slaves in the protectorate on January 1, 1928. Negro citizens of Freetown who opposed the abolition of slavery offered a novel brief. The form of slavery was not a cruel one, they insisted. Rather, they said, slaves had privileges of which freedom would deprive them. That it was a hollow argument was proven by the epidemic of escapes when the ordinance granting escaped slaves immunity from prosecution in Sierra Leone was passed. It isn't human nature to run away from kindness. Sierra Leone, it is interesting to recall, was founded in 1788 as a home for emancipated slaves from America.

HARD JUSTICE

George Bernard Shaw, whose specialty is attack, nevertheless comes valiantly to the defence of a sixty-year-old London postman who, according to a cable despatch has lost "his job", his pension, his state insurance and his wife because of his theft of ten shillings from a letter." His wife died from shock when she learned of her husband's crime; and the magistrate dismissed the postman, as a first offender, stating he had been punished enough.

Shaw characterizes the postman's offence as "one of those cases of senile pilfering" but for the Government, in its assumed intention to "confiscate" the man's insurance, he has strong words of condemnation—words such as "infamy" and "monstrous outrage" and "appalling." With biting sarcasm he asks:

"When eminent financiers, criminally negligent company, directors, fraudulent trustees, income tax evaders and other gentlemanly culprits pass through the dock to penal servitude, are their insurances confiscated? I have never heard of such practice.

"What I want to know is why after this confiscation has been abolished and forgotten in the case of the propertied classes it is still calmly continued without a word of protest, as if it were the most natural thing and obvious course on earth, in the case of poor men charwomen, police constables and weekly wage earners generally?"

It is Shaw at his best, wielding his trenchant pen in the cause of justice for an humble and erring fellow, and we may be permitted to hope his appeal will not be unavailing.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

An old kirk elder, on reaching home, appeared very disconsolate, and his wife asked what was wrong.

"Oh, he replied, "I've telt a lee."

"Well," she remarked, "that needna bother ye. Ye've tell a lee mony a time."

"Aye," he said, "but I've been found out this time."

Do you know, dear, there has been a wretched man following us for nearly an hour?

Oh, if it's a small man with parcels, it's my husband. We were out shopping together before I met you.

An elderly clergyman, who was a sufferer from rheumatism, was experiencing some difficulty in getting up from a deck chair in a park. A very small child came to his aid. "Shall I help you, sir," she asked. "That's very kind of you, my dear," said the clergyman, both touched and amused, "but I am afraid you are not strong enough." "Oh, yes, I am," replied the child readily, "I have often helped my daddy when he was much drunker than you are."

MELANCHOLIA

In the cold starlight, on the barren beach,
Where to the stones the rest scatresses clave,
I heard the long-hiss of the backward wave
Down the steep shingle, and the hollow breach
Of ancient silence. None were with me, save
Thoughts that were neither glad, nor sweet, nor brave,
But restless comrades, each the a foe of each.
And I beheld the waters in their might
Writhe as a dragon by some great spell curbed
And foiled; and one lone sail, and over me
The august, inhospitable, unman night,
Glittering magnificently unperturbed.

—William Watson.

THE PASSING YEARS

(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

The Christmas entertainment at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb was, as usual, highly successful, as well as pleasing.

Mr. and Mrs. George McCune met with an accident yesterday afternoon While driving past the station the horse got frightened and bolted, throwing both of the occupants violently to the ground. Mrs. McCune got a severe cut on the head. The horse dragged Mr. McCune for several yards but he did not get hurt. The cutter was considerably damaged.

PLAN BUILDING OF NEW CRAFT

Canadian Navy To Have Two Up-To-Date Destroyers Constructed

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—Government will seek authority at the coming session of Parliament for the building of two new modern destroyers to be delivered within three years. The new destroyers will replace "Patrick" and "Patriclan" which are to be paid off out of commission immediately and will be sold out of the Canadian navy.

Construction of the new destroyers is to be commenced at once if Parliamentary authority is secured. In the meantime arrangements have been made with the Admiralty to obtain two destroyers to carry on with until the new craft are ready. These are H.M.S. Torbay and Torador and the Canadian Government has authorized the commencing of work forthwith at Portsmouth to recondition the vessels and bring them forward for Canadian service. It is expected that they will arrive in Canada towards the end of March.

CHRISTMAS TREE AT ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Patients at the Isolation Hospital were treated to a wonderful Christmas through the efforts of Medical Health Officer Dr. Cronx and Hope McGinnis, Sanitary Inspector, and city officials.

The city officials subscribed an amount to purchase a Christmas tree and presents for the inmates of the hospital who were unable to enjoy the day as many others did. Dr. H. B. Stock city auditor and Hope McGinnis collected an amount of money and after purchasing a tree and presents took them to the City Hall where the girls in the offices prepared the gifts for the patients at the hospital. As far as it is known it was the first time in the history of the institution that this procedure was carried out and the inmates were more than pleased

THE BULLETIN BOARD

Mainly About People You Know

SLOT MACHINES

The slot machine cases appeared before Magistrate Mills in Police court again this morning, but once more were held over. The cases will appear a week from today, January 4th.

NO INTOXICANTS

For one week now no "drunks" have appeared in the local police court before Magistrate Mikel. This is a record for the season of Christmastide, and if New Year's is passed over without any inebriates being hailed before the magistrate another record will be made.

COUNTRY CLUB DANCE

To-morrow, Thursday, December 29th, the biggest and best dance of the season will be held in the Country Club. The Bay of Quinte Country Club holds it annual New Year's celebration (slightly in advance owing to New Year's falling on a Sunday.) And it has been a party in any criterion of the one to be held this year, every success will attend the Club's efforts. The secretary, Mr. William Parker, Manager of the Royal Bank stated to the Intelligencer today that the invites had been selling well, and that a huge crowd of invited guests was expected to attend tomorrow evening.

OPEN AIR RINKS

Due to the recent cold snap the open air rinks of the city are now running full blast. The rink on Foster avenue, especially, is crowded throughout the day, the hockey portion jammed with prospective star players and in the after noon the other part of the rink, for pleasure skating is crowded with children.

SIX MORE DAYS

Six more days of unalloyed joy are allowed the school children of Belleville, for on Tuesday, January 3rd, studies commence again. "The vacation is a little shorter this year", Mr. McLaurin told the Intelligencer today. "Only a few of the Commercial subjects have been graduated, and we expect quite a number of new students after the holidays, but I could not say how many."

LIBRARY GETS FURNITURE

In the will of the late Miss Emma B. Demille who died some months ago she has bequeathed two large pictures to the Corby Public Library. One is a steel engraving of Shakespeare and his friends and the other an oil painting.

Y. M. C. A. NEWS

Between ten and twelve o'clock tomorrow the public school girls are invited to the Y. M. C. A., where they will be the guests of that institution. On Friday evening the public are invited to attend a swimming meet of the "Y" members.

MOVES INTO NEW HOUSE

Mr. Harry Reynolds has rented the house on Foster Avenue recently occupied by Mr. A. L. Sillwell who has been appointed to the Hendrickle Collegiate at Toronto. Mr. Chalk's duties as assessor at the Belleville Collegiate Institute has taken Mr. Cecil Agar Apartment of Charles Street, being vacated by Mr. Reynolds.

LIBRARY BOARD MEET

The Corby Public Library Board are meeting to-night to consider the appointment of a successor to Mrs. Gilman Walker who was married on Monday of this week to Mr. W. B. Deacon. Owing to the new regulations it is understood that none but a university librarian can be appointed to the position and that the board have an out-of-town man in view. Miss Mabel West, the assistant librarian has had a course in librarian work at the University of Toronto.

DRUG STORES CLOSING

During the months of January, February and March the Drug Stores of Belleville will close each evening except Saturday at 6.15 with the exception of two, which will be open for the convenience of the public, daily announcement of which will be made in this paper. The co-operation of the citizens of Belleville and surrounding district is asked in order to carry out the above.

NURSES' DANCE

Nurses at the Belleville General Hospital entertained their friends at an informal dance in the residence last evening. The corridors and hall were especially decorated for the occasion and a jolly time was spent. The High School Orchestra furnished the music for the occasion; a luncheon was served near the close of the affair.

The attendants were Mr. W. P. Lusk, of Belleville; and Miss Lillian Pugh, sister of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Tuck left on the noon train for Toronto and on their return will reside in Belleville.

Words can but feebly convey our gratitudes to you. You were always solicitous regarding all that concerned our welfare, you spared neither time nor labour in your efforts to lead us on in the path of righteousness by word and example you have encouraged us in the practice of those qualities that would make us the good and dutiful children you wished us to be.

By your patience, kindness and loving manner towards us, you created such a bond of love and friendship between pupils and teacher as it can be truly said you ruled us rather by love than fear.

Not only shall we pupils regret your departure — but also a large circle of friends who have been drawn during short time you were with us. For by your amiable disposition you have won the friendship of all with whom you have come in contact.

Big-at us hope, as your home is not too remote, that you will often re-visit us our home and the pleasant entertainments where you will always be so welcomed.

And, now, dear teacher, we ask you accept this effort as a token of our remembrance of the pupils who will always carry a loving remembrance of you in their hearts.

CHRISTMAS TREE AT HOLLOWAY ST.

Program Well Done By School—Cantata a Feature

One of the finest programs on record was given last night in Holloway Street Sunday School on the occasion of the annual Christmas tree and entertainment. The Sunday School room was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the brilliant lighting effect was particularly well-done. An improvised fire-place was arranged at the rear of the room which was garlanded with streamers and colored lights. The fireplace with it's realistic color design resembled an old fashioned hearth. The program was divided in two parts with the choruses recitations and the pantomime in the evening half and the cantata entitled "Santa Claus and the Star Queen" closing the program.

The arrangements and training of the children were in charge of Mrs. A. Jordan and Mrs. L. S. Wight. Their efforts were well rewarded as was demonstrated by the excellent manner in which the children portrayed the various parts. Mr. H. C. Woodley, Supt. of the School acted as chairman.

The Sunday School orchestra was in attendance and rendered a fine program of music during the course of the evening.

Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Wight received boxes of candy from Santa Claus as well as small tokens of remembrance, the gift of the kiddies of the Sunday School were also given a present.

GIFT PRESENTED SCHOOL TEACHER

Miss Helen Koen Recipient Of Present From Marysville Pupils

Miss Helen Koen who recently resigned as teacher from School section Number 14 was the recipient of a handsome present from the pupils of the school at the closing exercises prior to the Christmas vacation. Miss Koen has been popular both with the students at the school as well as the residents of the neighborhood and her departure is regretted by all. The gift was taken by surprise on the presentation but made a reply to the gift expressing her thanks to the pupils. The following address was read:

Miss Helen Koen,

Dearly beloved teacher:

We the pupils of S. S. No. 18, Tyendinaga take this opportunity of expressing to your our regret of your resignation as our teacher also our appreciation of all you have done for us during the past year.

Words can but feebly convey our gratitudes to you. You were always solicitous regarding all that concerned our welfare, you spared neither time nor labour in your efforts to lead us on in the path of righteousness by word and example you have encouraged us in the practice of those qualities that would make us the good and dutiful children you wished us to be.

By your patience, kindness and loving manner towards us, you created such a bond of love and friendship between pupils and teacher as it can be truly said you ruled us rather by love than fear.

Not only shall we pupils regret your departure — but also a large circle of friends who have been drawn during short time you were with us. For by your amiable disposition you have won the friendship of all with whom you have come in contact.

Big-at us hope, as your home, is not too remote, that you will often re-visit us our home and the pleasant entertainments where you will always be so welcomed.

And, now, dear teacher, we ask you accept this effort as a token of our remembrance of the pupils who will always carry a loving remembrance of you in their hearts.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

MRS. JOHN R. BOWERS

The funeral of the late Mrs. John R. Bowers was held yesterday afternoon from the funeral parlors of Messrs. Tickell and Sons to Salem Church, Thurlow township, where an impressive funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Belleville who also officiated at the committal at the graveside, Salem Cemetery.

The many in attendance at the obsequies silently testified to the sorrow caused by the death of the deceased and the sympathy felt for the bereaved husband.

The bearers were Messrs. R. Cruickshank, F. Zufelt, H. Bovay, M. Carrington, E. Blakley and M. E. Humphrey.

CHILDREN HAPPY AT THE SHELTER

Santa Has Presents For The Whole Thirty Little Ones

Thirty bright-eyed, eager little children were visited by good old St. Nicholas at the Children's Shelter last night. The little children received everything that their hearts could desire and more, for all of the good things were loaded down with presents, goodies, candies and fruits. If everybody could have seen what joy Santa brought into thirty souls last night, the Children's Shelter would never be without its make lonely little hearts happier.

The dining room was cleared of tables, the entire downstairs hung with Christmas decorations, and a huge tree, brilliantly lighted with multi-shaded little lamps and gramophone with horns, chimes, toys, games, in fact every conceivable kind of present, filled one corner of the refectory. At one end of the room the children were seated in four rows, impatiently awaiting the arrival of Santa Claus. Before the guests of the Shelter's were seated down the centre and sides of the room. Previous to Santa Claus' arrival a fine programme was presented by the visitors, ably assisted by the little ones of the Shelter who sang hymns and songs. Mr. and Mrs. Larue and Mr. Weyers of Belleville rendered a trio on the violins, and with recitations and songs the evening passed pleasantly away. Mrs. Superintendent of the Shelter, was Chairman of the programme and gave a short address to the children, as did Reverend R. G. Stewart. Another high spot of the evening's entertainment was a letter handed to the wards, by Mrs. Merry. Inspector T. D. Ruston was another guest honor in the course of the evening.

And then came 8.45! With a clash, ring of bells and a few prancing steps, Santa Claus, personated by Mr. B. W. Flindall, of the Bay of Quinte Shirt, children rose en masse with loud cries of "Santa, Santa, hello," and "don't you see Santa" and were greeted by him with everybody, his grey whiskers nearly reaching to his waist, his cheeks his red and white uniform glowing under the electric lights—what a picture for the children! Gathered under the tree Santa immediately began putting down the presents, and soon eager little hands and delight were heard from all sides. Each and every child received at least three gifts and one girl getting two dollars. After the distribution of presents, Santa and his staff of helpers passed out to the wards. Shortly after, tired but happy, the children were tucked in their beds, and the wonderful St. Nicholas and the gorgeous Christmastide.

Among other visitors to the Shelter last night were the Rev. R. G. Stewart, Rev. L. S. Wight, Rev. McCutcheon and the Rev. Hillyard Jones, Mr. and Mrs. McBride, Mrs. Thomas Schuster, Mr. and Mrs. Merry and many others were guests at the Shelter last night.

Today will begin the same old life for those little children, with the same happenings and the same dreary meals a day, but no one can take away from them the light of Christmas eve and joy, and we are sure that nobody wants to!

VALUED CARDS

Among many beautiful Christmas cards received by Colonel W. N. Ponton from all parts of the world, including S. Africa, Australia, the Philippines, France and New Zealand, are two especially valued, the handiwork and artistry of former Belleville citizens. The original work of Major Frank Lynn of Bromley, India, and a beautiful one by Gardner from her studio in New York. Major Frank Lynn is a noted musician and identified with the great Imperial Military Band in the Sudan.

FELDSPAR MINED SINCE 1898

Feldspar has been mined in Canada since 1890, the greater part of the output being exported to the United States where it is used chiefly in the potteries of New Jersey and Ohio, and in the manufacture of glass.

GRAIN PRICE RECOVER

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Influenced by the sharp recessions of Liverpool wheat quotations and by unfavorable weather in the corn belt, grain prices trended upward today. Further, however, was chiefly of scattering character, opening at 1-8c to 1-2c higher, with later prices some additional gains. Corn started unchanged to 1-2c up and subsequently made quite a general advance. Oats were firmer, provisions inclined to sag.

CLOSING QUOTATIONS

STANDARD MINING EXCHANGE

Quotations supplied by Homer L. Dawson & Co., 26 Jamieson Block, local manager.

The market was inclined to be quiet to-day, with few price changes. Ahana sold off sharply from $4.00 to $2.50, Chapais Hughes got a run up to 20c but was unable to hold the gain. Howey, Kirkland Lake, and Jackson remained quite active. Millerest among the silvers was active and high on the strength of reports and the reports about finding a silver vein in the shaft. The market held up well however in spite of the general quietness. Quotations at 3 p.m. were as follows:

COUNCIL CLOSES YEAR OF OFFICE

and conciliatory, making it a pleasure to serve under him.

"Mayor Wilmot vacates the Mayor's chair after a strenuous year in which much has been accomplished. He leaves the City of Belleville with the best wishes of all of his colleagues, for his future success and happiness."

"I appreciate your kindness and courtesy and it is only natural that I should feel the motion knowing that I have been with you I can enjoy the friendship," said the Mayor, in reply.

"Everything has run smoothly and harmoniously, council has been loyal and I appreciate the spirit that has been shown by the citizens of Belleville in returning so many of you men to the Council."

Mayor Wilmot said his tributes to the civic officials for the co-operation given and he wished them, as well as the citizens, the greatest of success in the coming year, both in the discharge of their duties as servants of the city, and in their own private endeavors.

City Clerk Wilfred Holmes said he voiced the feelings of the officials when he said he had yet they were losing a true friend.

Mayor Wilmot said that in his two years as a member of the Council he had learned that the city could never go wrong if with such competent set of officials, as he had met.

Alderman Cherry expressed regret at the loss of Mayor Wilmot from the retiring. "The present body has spent two splendid years and I don't believe that you will find a Council anywhere who has exercised better judgment than the present body."

It was moved by Alderman Cherry and seconded by Alderman Hyde, that "In the retirement of Alderman Gorman, Goudy, Proctor and Sinclair, Belleville loses four men who in the Labor Market property, Labor, Industries and Water departments all of whom have faithfully served the city for the past two years, Belleville loses the services of four diligent, capable, conscientious workmen and all who have had the honor to sit in the Council with them will wish members desire to place on record regrets at their retirement.

Alderman Sinclair said he was sorry to leave the Council after having enjoyed two years with the present body. "Only business reasons prevented my making another run," said the Chairman of the Water Department.

Alderman Hyde Gorman assured the members that it was with regret that he was leaving. He said he had been given co-operation to the fullest degree in every line.

Alderman Goudy and Dr. A. D. Proctor, the two remaining members who have decided to retire, expressed their compliments of the session and stated that they were sorry to leave. Cheers were given for the four members who are leaving.

Santa Claus had apparently not forgotten to visit the City Hall where he left a quota for the Mayor and retiring Aldermen as well as some of the City officials. "Dad" Gorman, the silver-tongued orator of the body presented to the Mayor a "handsome" gift and on behalf of the 1927 council congratulated His Worship on the success of the year.

Much merriment was created as a search was started for the "gifts" which were finally located beneath the throne. In his usual flow of language Alderman "Dad" made the presentation to Mayor Wilmot. The latter said he would remember it as one of the most pleasant years of his life in the City Hall.

Other members of the Council and city officials were also recipients of similar "presents."

It was recommended that the police department be instructed to bring to the attention of the residents their duty as to sanding sidewalks during such time as same are slippery from effects of snow and ice; and enforce the by-law governing the cleaning of sidewalks.

It was recommended that the public works department be instructed to proceed with the construction of a sanitary sewer on Bridge Street from Bridge street northerly for which purpose has been presented and bylaw passed.

The indigent committee of the W. C. A. will be given a grant of $200 for the month of December.

The City Engineer and Treasurer have been instructed to compile and bill the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company for sewer charges for payments for the cost of their share of the pavement constructed between Belleville and Trenton from the payments now entering the years 1925-26-27 as covered by agreement.

Recommended that the Grenairie property, Pinnacle street, be purchased from Mrs. Grenairie and deed of the same to the City Solicitor of Dec. 12th be received and that he be instructed to accept deed in accordance with said letter.

A letter was received by the Council in regard to Moira River flooding from the solicitors department of the Canadian National Railways, as follows: "Instructions have been issued by the local officials to take the necessary steps to see that the ditches and openings west of Moira River, along the south side of the Canadian National Railway track be properly cleaned out so that there will be no obstruction to the flow of water in case of a spring flood."

It was pointed out that the refuse has been dumped in the ditch south of the tracks taking the flow southerly from the Bay Bridge. Ald. Chas. Campbell, City Engineer, reported that any refuse that may be in the ditches to-day during 1927 was cleaned out and the ditch was left clear throughout the year in order that the water might flow freely.

Women's News and Views

COMPETITION WHETS TONGUE OF CRITICISM

By LOUIS E. BISCH

Women are in the habit of speaking slightingly of each other so much that it has become proverbial.

Seldom does one hear a woman praise another, and when one does, there is always some string attached to it. some little digging remark that quite nullifies the praise given.

The chief reason for this almost universal feminine trait is that woman, in considering the merits or demerits of another woman, invariably places herself in a position of competition with that woman.

A woman will say: "Mrs. Jones certainly runs her house well—but—no wonder, she has three servants."

Again one hears something like this: "How young Evelyn keeps herself! She must spend at least ten dollars a week at the hair dresser's."

Or in this wise does a woman unburdished in so many ways. Funny she can't get a husband!"

Or in her feelings: "Mary is so accomplished in so many ways. Funny she can't get a husband!"

Always there is a "but" attached to the praise.

Always the woman, although granting an asset or a virtue in the other, sees to it that the woman's other faults or aids are emphasized.

Now a man does not praise like that. If he believes another man deserves credit he gives it to him unstintingly and without reservation.

That does not mean that a man does not place himself in a position of rivalry with men. He does, but in a sense different from the way a woman views such rivalry.

If a man sees another achieving in a creditable way he feels a wish that he, himself, had been as successful. But it does not make him jealous and envious. It does not lead him to make cutting, sarcastic remarks.

What the man always feels like doing under such circumstances is to knuckle down to business and attempt through work and merit to outstrip the other.

A woman, you see, has no definite and absolute standards to go by. A man lives by the standards that the world at large have built up and accepts. To those standards he readily subscribes.

The woman, on the other hand, makes her own standards. And the standards which she, herself, invents are the ones by which she judges all other women.

For example, suppose a woman marries and has a lovely home an adoring husband and beautiful children. For her, motherhood at once becomes the standard of excellence.

A spinster, however, will live by a standard that may be quite opposite.

The mother will tend to belittle all achievements made by a spinster, while the spinster will tend to dispar age the achievements of motherhood and will hold sacrifice to a father or mother, or devotion to a social service cause or perhaps to politics, as being the finest and highest ideals for which a woman can live.

Then, again, sex rivalry has a great deal to do with the catchiness of some women. From the very beginning these women want to be desired. If not desired they will not be chosen for marriage, which carries with it the idea of propagation of the species.

This urge is instinctive, fundamental and necessary. And, therefore, if a woman realizes that another woman is more desirable in some particular—personal attractiveness, excellence in housekeeping or whatever—she at once tries to justify her own particular desirability by belittling the desirability of the other woman and by enlarging upon her own good qualities.

It's a sort of squaring 'of accounts. Always, however, the woman must somehow justify herself and come out on top.

Of course, there are exceptions to this rule of feminine conduct the same as there are exceptions to all rules. There are women who reason more like men.—Who realize that certain standards can be made better for women than others, and who try to subscribe to those standards by them.

In the end, these women are the happiest. The woman who is always trying to disparage the other woman is always upset.

Would that more and more women could see the folly of not being fair-minded.

Would that women, as a class, could learn the advantages to themselves of gaining non-personal perspective both of the good and the bad qualities of their sisters!

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Can you help me to get some men friends? I am a girl of 17.

All of the girls I know boy friends. I have are from two to four years younger than I.

Will you please advise me how to meet friends my own age?

BROWN EYES.

BROWN EYES: I would suggest that you join some club or the Y. W. C. A., where you are sure to meet girls of your own age. Take an interest in their affairs. Attend there also, I am sure you will be placed in the company of people your own age or older, among whom you may make many friends.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young girl in my teens. A few months ago I fell in love with a young man four years my senior. He told me he was very fond of me but had to come a long distance to see me. He hasn't come lately, as he promised. I heard he has been going with another girl for five years. Will you give me advice as to what to say when we meet him by from this other girl?

INNOCENCE.

INNOCENCE: If this boy is engaged to this girl I cannot approve of your desire to win him away from her. In fact, if this is the case, I must advise you to keep your hands off and also courage him from coming to see you. If, however, he is not engaged, and has merely enjoyed your friendship of this other girl, I would advise you to let matters take their own course. Build up your friendship with him and develop interests parallel to his, so that he will enjoy the companionship you offer and let the love problem solve itself.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

"Tes. But, Jack, how could I help it? How could I guess that you were alive?"

"That's quite true," he conceded. "And, after all, this thing was not of your choosing." He failed to notice that Lila winced. "It was to save your father. Quite the splendid thing that any one would guess you would want to do."

Lila turned her head away. She felt like a worm.

"What do you propose to do about it?" Farquahar asked, after a moment. "I'm not going to give you up to this chap. You may be quite sure of that."

"Give me a little time," Lila pleaded. "When Dad is better, perhaps—I can free myself."

"Perhaps!" echoed Farquahar, grimly. "You're darn well right you will. I'll see to that. I promise you."

"But you won't do anything rash now?" pleaded Lila. "You will give me time?"

What she would do with time in this ghastly situation she had no idea. But anything was better postponed until the morrow. Dorothy could help her, somehow.

"I'll give you a very little time, sweetheart." Farquahar told her. "Don't expect me to be too patient. But, in view of the circumstances, I'll try to be fair. Only——" he must let me see you every day. I can't do without that. And, all this darkened suddenly, "does he kiss you?"

"W-what?" faltered Lila.

"Your man, of course."

"H-no."

"That's better not," was Farquahar's grim reply.

CHAPTER 26

. . . . An Exacting "Fiance"

Farquahar refused to listen to Lila's leaving him directly after luncheon.

"You owe it to me—after five years of separation," he reproached her.

He hired a car, and they drove into the country for tea at a roadside inn. He held her hand and told her all the things that a woman adore's hearing from a man she loves, but finds wearisome when her thoughts are all elsewhere.

Lila was thinking only of Herbert. She wanted to run to him and take refuge in his arms and confess everything. She wanted to implore him to hold her and keep her safe from this masterful young man with the lean handsome face and the brilliant gray eyes.

But she reminded herself dismally that Herbert's arms would be closed forever against her, if he had the slightest inkling of the truth.

When Farquahar spoke of plans for the evening, she demurred quickly.

"I can't, Jack. Honestly, I can't. You must understand my position. It would never do for my fiance to suspect the truth."

"Don't call him that!" commanded Farquahar bitterly. "By Heaven, isn't it bad enough for me to know that the thought exists without your reminding me of him, from time to time!"

"I'm sorry," murmured Lila wearily. Inwardly, Farquahar swept her into his arms. She yielded, because there was nothing else to do, but she exude a quick resolve to be care ful in future not to be alone with him. It would be difficult to manage, but it must be done.

She sighed with weariness at the thought of what she was letting herself in for.

As soon as she decently could, she persuaded Farquahar to drop her at Dorothy's studio.

"I have a friend here whom I must see this afternoon," she told him.

He looked at her suspiciously.

"A man?"

There was an hysterical note in Jack's laugh. He had sounded so much like Herbert.

"No, Jack. A girl, a very old friend" He let her go, finally, after extracting a promise that she would lunch with him on the following day.

Lila dashed upstairs to Dorothy, who was just dismissing a model. She sat as her drawing-board, putting the finishing touches to a sketch. She looked cool and composed.

Lila flung herself into a chair.

"I'm all in!" she groaned.

Dorothy laid down her pencil.

"He has come?" she asked.

"Has he!" echoed Lila. "Oh, Dot, I'm in the most frightful mess."

"He hasn't changed, then?"

"Heavens, no! He's worse than ever! He wanted to be married this very afternoon."

Dorothy uttered an exclamation.

"How did you get out of it?"

"I told him the most awful rigmarole. I'll tell you about it later," for the story of the hard-hearted fiance who held her father's life in his hands.

Dorothy smiled in spite of herself.

"It's an ingenious part!"

"But what am I to do?" groaned Lila. "I've probably only made matters worse. And, Dot, he expects me to be fair. Only——" of course. How can I do that, without Herbert's finding out?"

"I'll help where I can—at least, to stall off Herbert."

Lila left her face in her hands.

"I feel like the lowest worm! I'm a liar and a cheat! I'm probably the most disloyal wife in the world, and the fact that it's to save Herbert's happiness and not my own hardly excuses." She looked up at Dorothy hopefully.

"Dot, I want you to meet Jack? He might even fall in love with you."

To her surprise, Dorothy flooded Dorothy's face. She turned abruptly to her drawing-board.

"No dance!" she said lightly, over her shoulder. "Once a man falls in love with me, there's no help for him."

"I'm afraid that doesn't apply to Herbert," said Lila ruefully "He'd never forgive me, if he found out about Jack. Dot, why is it that the men we adore can forget us overnight and the one's we don't care about remain ever sadly faithful?"

Dorothy laughed, picked up a pal-ette and walked over to the easel.

"I believe that riddle was proposed ed to the Sphinx in the year 2001 B.C." Lila rose with a sigh.

"Will you call me up tonight, while Herbert is at home, and make some sort of date, so Herbert won't be suspicious when I say I'm lunching out tomorrow?"

Dorothy promised, and Lila hastened home.

To her dismay, she found Herbert pacing the library floor, his face like thunder clouds.

"Where have you been all day?" he demanded, without preliminary greeting.

"I've just come from Dot's," faltered Lila, thankful that, for once, she could say the truth—with reservations.

"Indeed?" sneered Herbert. "All day. That's quite a visit. Isn't it curious, that I rang the studio-building a little while ago and got at the janitor's wife told me that she'd seen you coming in around five o'clock?"

Lila was momentarily speechless. But, while she sought for an adequate explanation, Herbert went on:

"We'll discuss the discrepancy for a minute. Please do me the favor of getting ready for dinner. Our new manager, Gilroy Holmes, is dining with us!"

CEREMONY TAKES PLACE YEARLY

Niagara-on-the-Lake.— An interesting ceremony takes place every year in St. Mark's church hyard, the old historic church made memorable early in the history of Upper Canada by the first rector, Rev. Robert Addison, when the Newark chapter, Daughters of the Empire, placed a wreath of flowers on the boulder known as "Brock's Seat," in rit bute to the hero of Queenston Heights. "It is 100s of doing this," writes Mrs. Archer, who is regent of the chapter "was suggested to us by William Kirby's nonnee from his Canadian Idylls." A doubly interesting thing about this stone is the part William Kirby played in its resale from oblivion, which he accomplished by months of patient and persistent effort, finally paying for its removal himself, from «the bench to which it had fallen from the crumbling once-proud cliff where it had been the seat of the aggreal Canadian legend, to St. Mark's, where hero-worshippers may view it today.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

Chicken fat may be used for all kinds of cooking in which the finest quality of butter would be ordinarily used.

When making a nut cake, add the whites of eggs and nut meats last.

Wax fills up the pores in linoleum and builds up a smooth dust-resistant surface.

A block of paper in the kitchen, on which to jot down needed household articles, is a great help.

A few drops of vinegar added to plaster of paries when preparing it to fill cracks in walls will prevent its hardening too quickly.

To give pie crust a rich brown glaze mix one egg yolk with one teaspoonful of cold water. Brush this over the top of the crust just before putting the pie in the oven.

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

When the Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys, as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which nearly everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in fighting the correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

HOCKEY SOUD TO WORK

Manager Thomas Enthusiastic Over Season's Prospects

In preparation for the opening game of the season, Eddie Thomas sent the aspirants for the Intermediate team through their first work-out at the arena last night. It was a fair practice and the Maroons should cut a wide swath in the race for the honors in group Number 1 this year. The ice was a bit soft and it was a trifle hard going but it was a good conditioner for some of the lads who donned the skates for the first time. The gymsmuch to the ice in some stick and combination play was difficult at times. Workouts will be held at the rink each night this week and the squad have been ordered out for another brisk practice tonight. It was a little early to make any predictions but Manager Thomas is enthusiastic over the gang that answered the call last night.

Bill Green was the only regular absentee but he may possibly come out tonight and there is a possibility that he may be used up on the forward line on the centre position.

Benny Bohan was kicking and batting them out in great style and few fowls left were able to get behind him. Bohan is just as dead as ever. Frank Dorrell and Jack Rodger teamed up on the defence and both boys looked nice last night. The latter has been on the "sick" list for times and gym work and badminton have helped materially to put him in shape for the grind. Goyer has lost little flesh and is still as big as a freight train. He will be one of the big bulwarks of the defence. Hagerman and Dew Whalen were tearing up and down the ice in mid-season style and appear to be ready for a strenuous season. Johnny Hibbard looks much better than last year and should find a place for himself on the team. He still possesses the unhappy faculty of "hogging" the puck and hard does not seem to be willing to let the puck but better results might follow if he was a trifle more liberal. Jimmy Hibbard called around on the side to see how things were coming along and he will no doubt be given an opportunity on Friday night against the Flying Frenchmen.

Boyle, formerly of the Picton Juniors, was on hand and turned in some useful work and may round out into shape with a little more practice.

COMMON MISTAKES IN THE APIARY
(Experimental Farms Note)

Beekeeping is a business of details; to neglect them is to flirt with disaster. One of the most common mistakes in an apiary is to neglect requeening the bees at the proper time; it results in poor honey crops and possible death of the same, excessive swarming and reduced crops. All poor and failing queens should be replaced as soon as detected and all colonies should be headed by good prolific queens during the spring and fall. Disastrous mistakes are also too often made in preparing bees for the winter and many colonies are either lost or weakened through lack of strength, on the one hand, improvisions food or inadequate protection. It is better to give too much than too little, and wise to give every colony fifteen to twenty pounds of sugar syrup, even though they have enough honey stored for the winter. Good protection conserves the stores of honey from the cold weather and also reduces the amount of stores required by them. Early spring feeding is a mistake; it should be done in the fall when feeding for the winter. A colony that has an abundance of stores will start brood-rearing long before the weather is suitable for an examination and will also build up much more rapidly than one short of food. Colonies should be fed in spring during the fall to carry it through until the late spring, when they are often fed. Later in the early part of the season by not having enough room for the queen to expand her brood nest to the maximum. Hives smaller than the Jumbo should be given an extra super before a queen excluder, as soon as they show the least sign of congestion Much honey is lost through faulty supering during the honey flow and through natural swarming. The nature of the bees should control the number of supers given and natural swarming can be prevented.

C. B. GOODERHAM,
Dominion Apiarist.

REGENT THEATRE

A desert romance that struggles through a blinding sand storm is a highlight in the theme of "Desert Valley," Fox Films latest production starring Buck Jones. Virginia Brown Faire plays the feminine lead. It will click at the Regent Theatre from tomorrow to Saturday.

BELLE THEATRE

Director Frank Borzage has achieved another masterpiece in the film version of "7th Heaven," which comes to the Belle Theatre tomorrow, according to all reports. In fact, he is said to have set new picture standards for future productions with this picture.

This Fox production, based on the play by Austin Strong, tells one of the most remarkable love stories, and one of the most beautiful that has ever been written. The plot, running as it does around two seemingly mediocre characters brings them literally from the gutters to the great heights of love and self-sacrifice through a doctrine of courage and faith.

"Chico," who according to his own valuation is "a very remarkable fellow, and an athelet," is a worker in the new era of Paris. But his soul soars above his work, as he shows when he selects his home seven flights up above the street, as close to the stars as he can get, and overlooking the roof-tops of Paris. And his ambitions are high for one of his class, for he aspires to be a member of the hose corps who wash the streets of Paris, and are considered among the elite of the Montmartre.

"Diane" is nothing more than a dispirited wail of Paris, whose life is done instead by her sister, Nana, an absinthe drinker. In spite of the fact that her antecendents are superior to those of Chico, whose parentage is one of the mysteries of the section, she has sunk because of her lack of courage to face and defy her sister to the lowest depths.

"Dress-Up" Times Are Many

During the busy weeks of gift-choosing, ones' own wardrobe is apt to be neglected, with the result that the season which de mands so many nice clothes often finds us with "nothing to wear." So we know you'll be interested in these—

Pretty Evening Frocks

For Youthful Merrymakers

Taffeta in clear light shades of water green, peach, jewel blue, etc., makes many of these lovely frocks for party wear. They have full skirts—some "petalled" with a contrasting shade underneath—— and beautiful large flowers at shoulder and hip. There are also some straight slim frocks in black cut velvet and crepe. All very moderately priced.

Chiffon Silk Stockings

Just the right shade in sheer hosiery is so important—you'll find at our Hosiery Counter the exact tone to match, or harm onize. Here are all the new "silver" tones that seem such happy complements to frocks of many different colors, flesh tints, lovely beige shades—all the new colors—at $2.00 to $3.95 pr.

New "Queen" Dresses

That have just come in

These distinctive black dresses for after noon wear show many of the new style touches. Materials are: rich black crepe satin of a particularly heavy quality, Crepe Naidi, georgette and flat crepe. Clever draperies falling below the skirt at side or centre front lend dignity, and there is some effective piping in light colors. A note of magnificence is added by beautiful rhinestone buckles, and by the transparent velvet, which is used in combination. Some of the skirts show the new front flare, and several frocks are two-piece. In sizes from 16 years to 42.

Clothes for the Well-Dressed Man

HOCKEY LOOP TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

Juniors May Play In City League—Divided In Two Groups

City League hockey will start next week when two double-headers will be played at the arena, on Wednesday and Friday nights. Another enthusi lastic meeting was held in the Y.M.C. A. with eight of the nine teams repre sented. President Kenneth Pooling was in the chair and some important matters were discussed.

One of the most vital steps was the ruling handed down that Juniors may play in the city league. Each team will be allowed one Junior O.H.A. play er and Managers are already on the trail of some fast boys. The allowing of the Junior players to take part will help to speed up the hockey in the city loop. It was felt that under the pre sent system it was advisable to include the Juniors as several of the youngsters are employed by firms enlisted in the city loop. It was decided to divide the league into two groups one of five and the other composed of four teams. The teams finishing first and second in each group will play off for the champion ship and the the winners will meet in the finals. Group A is composed of: Intelligencer, Quinte Electricans, Ai mite, and Ciaco Club. Group "B", Y's Men's Club, Canada Cement, Tigers, Moose and Imperial Oil.

Referees will be chosen for the open ing game by President K. J. Colling.

Schedule for opening games are as follows:

Wed. January 4.—Ciaco vs Intelligen cer 8-9.

Wed. January 4.—Moose vs Tigers, 9-10.

Friday, January 6.—Imperial Oil vs Y's Men's Club 8-9.

Friday, January 6.—Aimite vs Quinte Electricans 9-10.

Tea managers are urged to hand their entrance fee of $5.00 to the Treasurer as early as possible. The list of twelve players must be in the secretary's hands before the opening game.

Henry Canning who intended to quit the Junior ranks and play City League with the Quinte Electricans will now since the league decided to al low a Junior on each city league team play with the Intelligencer Black Hawks and has already signed up with the printers.

NOTICE BOWLERS

A $20.00 suit of clothes will be given away at the Recreation Alleys starting Monday Jan. 2nd., until Saturday Jan. 7th. for the three highest strings, any three games to count. Entry fee $1.00 which will enable a bowler to play at any time.

HICKMAN CONFESSES COMMITTING A SERIES OF CRIMES

C. N. R. Enjoyed Good Year, 1927 Net Earnings Are More Than Enough To Pay Interest Charges

CONFESSES TO A SECOND MURDER

Hickman Tells Of Shooting Of Dying Clerk In Hold-Up

SERIES OF CRIMES

First Hearing On This Afternoon For Slaying Marian Parker

Los Angeles, Dec. 29.—His confession to two murders in addition to scores of other crimes, today found William Edward Hickman linked with Welby Hunt, Alhambra, Calif., youth, in the slaying of a druggist in a holdup a year ago. Hickman, the nineteen-year-old "Fox" who admitted kidnapping and murdering Marian Parker wrenched before relenting questioning and late last night confessed he shot and killed Ivy Thoma, Eurekhin, Calif., druggist.

Hunt, implicated by Hickman in the shooting of Thoma last December was arrested and made a confession which corroborated that of Hickman. Hunt denied however that it was he who fired the shot which killed Thoma as the youths attempted to rob his store. A string of other crimes was revealed in Hickman's newest confession.

May Have Been Hickman

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 29.—The possibility that Hickman, confessed slayer of Marian Parker in Los Angeles, may have been involved in the somewhat similar slaying near here last October of seventeen-years old Lillian Graef, was receiving careful police consideration today.

The Graef girl was strangled to death after she had accepted "a blind date" with a man known to her only as "Jack."

Police have asked Los Angeles authorities to check with Hickman his movements on that date, which was about the time he was living in Chicago.

Died From Fright

Los Angeles, Dec. 29.—Conjecture as to whether Hickman would plead guilty or not guilty to murder was overshadowed today by a controversy which arose between District Attorney Keyes and County Autopsy Surgeon Dr. A. F. Wagner as to what caused the schoolgirl's death.

Dr. Wagner's report that he believed death was due to fright and exhaustion rather than from the blows which Hickman confessed he dire tightly around the girl's neck to strangle her was met by a retort from Keyes that the report meant nothing to him. The District Attorney was convinced, he said, that the girl had been choked to death, but whether she was or not, he would, "attribute the death penalty for the confessed kidnapper.

The autopsy surgeon's report was based principally on the fact that the conditions usually present after asphyxiation were entirely absent and that, since no poison was found in the stomach, death probably was due to heart failure induced by fright.

Misled By Friendship

Keyes said that Wagner's friendship for the Parker girl misled him in his conclusions. The surgeon was the next-door neighbor of the Parker family.

Hickman is to be arraigned today at 3 p. m. by that time Jerome Walsh, an attorney engaged by Hickman's mother at Kansas City, is expected to be in court representing the youthful defendant. Though Hickman reiterated today that he would enter a plea of guilty in view of his "complete confession," rumors were current that he probably would decide to take his chances in a jury trial.

Any move for delay on the part of Hickman's counsel would be opposed vigorously, Keyes said. "Hickman will get a fair trial," the District Attorney added, "but there is going to be no delay."

Fred Kochler, an expert of the Wright Engine Company, was the fourth member of the crew on the apparently ill-fated flight.

INVESTIGATIONS INTO 9 DEATHS

Police Attempt To Discover Source Of The Poison Liquor

Winnipeg, Dec. 29.—Two separate inquiries were being pushed today in an effort to fix responsibility for the death of nine men whose lives were snuffed out here as the result of a poison alcohol carousal in a Winnipeg downtown apartment on Tuesday. Police authorities who disregarded at the scene of the "party", a number of bottles and tins which had contained the death dealing poison were endeavoring to locate the source of the poisonous concoctions. Civic officials also were contemplating action which would tighten restrictions dealing with the sale of wood alcohol, "canned heat", methylated spirits and other alcoholic poisons.

KILLED BY TRUCK

Bicyclist Struck Down By Truck On Way To Belleville

Oshawa, Dec. 29.—Walter H. Gumme, Burlea Vista Avenue, was was almost instantly killed today, when the bicycle he was riding was hit by a truck on King Street West. The truck, which is owned by the Quinte Transport Company of Trenton, was in charge of Morley Smith, who was going to Belleville from Toronto. Gumme leaves a wife and three children.

PLANE REFUSED TO CARRY LOAD

Start Of Endurance Record Flight Delayed For a Day.

Dayton, Beach, Fla., Dec. 29.—William S. Brock and Edward P. Schlee, world fliers made a start in their attempted endurance flight here today but their motor of the "Pride of Detroit" failed to develop sufficient power to keep the heavily loaded craft in the air.

After rolling smoothly down the beach for more than a mile, the monoplane, carrying 950 gallons of gasoline and weighing approximately three tons, rose about ten feet in the air and began wobbling perceptibly.

The fliers quickly dumped their main gasoline tank of 180 gallons and brought the wheels safely back on the sands. They attributed the failure of the motor to develop sufficient power to the use of a wooden propeller and said a metal propeller would be substituted and another attempt made tomorrow.

SUIT SEQUEL TO MOTOR ACCIDENT

Bedford Claims $400 For Damages And Wife's Injuries

The civil action of Bedford vs McVey opened this morning before His Honor Judge Deroche in the County Court. The case arose out of an automobile accident nine miles north of Portland on the Smith's Falls Road. Bedford was proceeding north on the highway and McVey in a southerly direction. Bedford who is a resident of Prince Edward County claims that McVey pass him in another car driven by one Jessop and after driving along the edge of the road suddenly shot across the road and struck Bedford's car broad-side. He claims a trunk on the side of the car was damaged. His wife was injured in the collision which incapacitated her for some months. Bedford claims that the injuries sustained by his wife together with having to hire help amounted to $400.

He said his car was sold for scrap. McVey resides near Brockville.

Mr. T. Y. Wills acted for the defendant and Mr. E. J. Butler appeared for the plaintiff. Mr. Chas. Cameron was present on behalf of the third party Jessop.

Wellingbrough, Eng., Dec. 29 — Crashing from a high trapeze while swinging over the audience in a circus here Fred Abermahgh, aerial gymnast, dressed as an "ape man" plunged into the lap of a girl sitting in the fourth row. The gymnast's neck was broken and he died almost immediately. The girl suffered a fractured thigh. Many women fainted.

FIVE POUND LOBSTERS ARE WASHED UP BY BIG GALES

Dorl, England, Dec. 29.—Thousands of lobsters and perhaps millions of star fish have been washed ashore here by the gale which has been sweeping the English channel for the past four days. Villagers and country folk are coming miles to take advantage of the prospective great feast which this illwind is bringing to them. Many Dorchester people today to Kingsdown like jolly scavenged with star fish while lob signs that it might abate soon.

C. N. R. EARNINGS ABOVE INTEREST

Net Is Above $45,500,000 For 1927 Says Thornton

GROSS $260,000,000

Railway Plays Important Part In Developing The Country

Montreal, Dec. 29. — "Based on the experience of 11 months, it is estimated that the gross earnings of the National System for 1927 will be approximately $260,000,000, this figure excluding earnings on lines east of Levis and Diamond Junction, Que., which are now separated under the provisions of the Maritime Freight Rates Act, 1927. On this basis the net earnings for 1927 have been placed at $45,500,000, or more than enough to again meet the interest on the funded debt in the hands of the public."

The foregoing statement was made during the course of an address prepared by Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman and President, and read through the microphone at CNRM the Montreal broadcasting station of the system Radio Department. CNRM was connected by wire to CNRQ, Quebec, CNRO, Ottawa, CNRT, Toronto, and CNRW, Winnipeg.

"Courage and Hope"

During the course of Sir Henry's address the President reviewed the experiences of the year, and declared: "Happily as an examination of our position brings to us not only a feeling of thankfulness, but courage and hope for the future."

PRINCE BRAVES ICY ROADS IN ENGLAND

Bircham, Eng., Dec. 29.—Dressed in hunting costumes, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York had a hair-raising motor ride over snow-bound Norfolk roads last night to the annual Hunt Ball. The Duchess of York gathered in cream coloured evening frock, was in the automobile which plunged through the drifts and skidded over ice covered stretches threatening at any moment to plunge into the ditch. A number of the guests at the ball made a detour of 30 miles to avoid the great piles of snow, resulting in the roads almost impassible. Others, snowbound, never arrived at the party.

TENTH VICTIM IS FOUND IN HOTEL

Winnipeg Had Orgy Of Poison Liquor Drinking On Holiday

Winnipeg, Dec. 29. — Winnipeg's death list, following the holiday orgy of poison alcohol drinking parties, mounted to ten today. A tenth man could not be fully identified by the police was found dead in a room in a small hotel today. Examination showed that he had imbibed freely of some poisoning beverage. A bottle believed to have contained wood alcohol was found in the room.

This, the tenth victim registered under a name which was not legible. Authorities, however found papers with his clothing bearing the name McFayden. He is thought to be a native of Port Arthur, Ont. Investigation proved that he was not a member of the China town, "Death Party" which already has claimed nine lives.

HAD NOT PAID!

So Hamilton's Fire Brigade Refused To Put Out The Blaze

Hamilton, Dec. 29—Because Ancaster Township had not paid for the services of the Hamilton Fire Department some months ago, the local brigade refused to answer an emergency call to the village of West Hamilton last night. The building which was on fire was destroyed with a loss of eighteen thousand dollars. "The city council had warned Ancaster that they would refuse help until the bill was paid.

SCANT HOPE OF SAVING AVIATORS

Destroyers Search Coves And Inlets Of Nova Scotia Coast

New York, Dec. 29.—Hundreds of lit le coves and inlets along the coast of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland were believed today to offer the only possibility that Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson and her three companions in the "Dawn" still survive.

Five destroyers, which yesterday combed 4500 square miles south of Sable Island today started to cover a new area to the south and to patrol the south side of Long Island from east to west.

Commander R. Stewart, directing the destroyers, believed that today's search will eliminate the last of area from which might be sent word of the fliers, and which the wireless station on Sable Island heard Sunday night and believed came from the "Dawn."

STEP-FATHER OF DE VALERA IS DEAD

Rochester, Dec. 29 — The little home at 18 Brighton Street brightened over Christmas Day by the visit of Eamon Valera, first president of the Irish Free public with his mother, Mrs. Catharine Wheelwright, was in mourning to-day. Valera were held in the home of his step-father of De Valera, died last night.

ITALIAN LINER OF A NEW TYPE

Profile Of Saturnia Follows Trend In Latest Ships

Boston, December 29.—The Cunliffe Line, Italian liner Saturnia, Castelli, 131 State street, is the New England general agent, announces the sailing from Boston on February 24 of its new liner, the Saturnia, the largest ship ever to enter Boston harbor, 23,000 tons gross ton. The motor vessel Saturnia, like her sister ship, Vulcania, has a gross tonnage of 24,000, a displacement of 35,500, and a length 631 feet. Both ships were built in the Cantieri yards at Monfalcone, Italy.

The profile of the vessel is distinctively in line with the new trend of motor vessels. The single short stack, the clear mast and the gradually ascending superstructure give it an original aspect, which many say represents the appearance of the ships of duty.

The Diesel engines, the most powerful in the new Fiat type motor now and fine features, prominent among these, of course, are the self-starter and the reversible six-cylinder engine. The emergency brake is placed far away from the gear shift, on the left hand side of the bridge, so that it can be reached. The horn, an electric one, is placed over the sitting distance, being placed on the top of the steering

HOT SEARCH FOR SECOND KIDNAPPER IS GOING ON

San Bernardino, Calif., Dec. 29. — With eleven-year-old Evelyn Smith of Oakland, victim of California's second kidnapping within the last two weeks safe in the hands of county officers here to-day, a search was under way for her accused abductor, Ernest Ola Cleiland, paroled convict. Discovery of the girl at the home of Mrs. E. Spence at Redlands near here last night was the result of a telephone

BANDITS STOLE $23,000 IN BANK

Police Court Hearing Brings Out Facts That Loot Was Larger

ALL RECOVERED

Pleads Not Guilty And Elects To Be Tried By a Jury

Hamilton, Dec. 29.—A statement was made by police officials here today that the sum of money stolen by bandits on December 21 from the Bank of Commerce at Sandford Avenue Branch was not $3,100 as stated, but $23,000. The total was not made public as the bank had not been able to check carefully that was taken. It has been found that the bandits actually had $23,000 in their possession, every dollar of which was recovered.

In police court today Reginald Johnston was charged "that 7th did on Dec 27th rob the Canadian Bank of Commerce of $23,000 while armed with offensive weapons. He pleaded "not guilty" and elected to go to a higher court. The crown asked for a preliminary journment of seven days which was granted without any evidence being taken.

NEW FORD DOES SIXTY AN HOUR

Reporter Gets a Thrill Or Two in a Private Demonstration

If anybody should tell you, reader, that the new Ford car will not travel at 60 miles an hour, you can refer him to a representative from the Intelligencer who was given a demonstration of Henry's new baby this morning. From a drawing five miles per hour in low gear, to a tearing sixty per in high gear, all accomplished on an icy highway in a distance of approximately a hundred and fifty yards. Never a tremor in the steering-wheel, for the new model absorbers are any nonsense of that type, and no trembling of the body whatsoever are two vitally important factors of this new car. And then the demonstration on rough roads! Over ruts and bumps in worse fifty yards of roadway than that leading onto the Bay Bridge they will have to travel to reach it for it. But this almost perfect small, light, new car speeded over the ruts and bumps at forty-five miles an hour and neither driver nor newspaperman was bounced off the seat once. Another feature in favour of the new shock absorbers!

This new car, a Ford roadster, resplendent with its nickle-plated headlights and radiator shell, arrived in Belleville last night, to be used as a demonstrator. Smart, steel-spoked wheels, with balloon tires mounted in the rear leaves ample room for luggage storage. In wet or cold weather side curtains and glass are easy to make the interior warm and cosy and in the weather when they may be taken down. Large numbers of people were visiting the Belleville Motors all day to get a glimpse of the new demonstrator.

Many Features

The new Ford has many new and fine features, prominent among these, of course, are the self-starter and the reversible six-cylinder engine. The emergency brake is placed far away from the gear shift, on the left hand side of the bridge, so that it can be reached. The horn, an electric one, is placed over the sitting distance, being placed on the top of the steering

LABOR PARTY NOW IS SOCIALISTIC ENOUGH

London, Dec. 29—Because he feels that the need for an independent labor party as a purely socialistic wing of the labor movement, no longer exists, Phillips Snowden, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, has resigned from the party.

Snowden, who has been a member of the party for 34 years, said that since the labor party permitted individual membership and accepted a definite socialistic basis it adequately fulfills all the purposes for which the independent labor party originally existed.

VIRGIL.

A REVISED YEAR

Some time ago the Dominion Government was asked by the League of Nations to consider a plan it had endorsed for revising the calendar by dividing the year into thirteen equal months instead of the present twelve.

The plan has merits, for among the objections to the present calendar is the difficulty of comparing one period of a year with the similar period of another year in business operations and of explaining any fluctuations which may occur. For example figures may be presented to show sales for the month of $5,918 this year and $5,910 last year. At first glance business apparently has increased but on examination it may be found that this year the month had 27 working days against only 2 last year, so that this year's daily average is an actual drop over the whole month.

This objection and the objection to the plan of a thirteen month year is overcome by another plan put forward by Mr. E. K. Eason, in the Dublin Chamber of Commerce Journal, the official monthly organ of the Chambers of Commerce in the Irish Free State.

In his treatment of the 365th day, Mr. Eason divides the year into 52 weeks, calls the extra day "New Christmas Day" with the designation of December 31, and in leap years the second additional day "Leap Day" with the designation of June 31.

In order that "Leap Day" may fall on the solar day between Saturday, June 30, and Sunday, July 1, it is necessary to make a slight alteration in the numerical calendar, and for this purpose the numerical designation 31st August shall be dropped and in its place the numerical designation 29th February shall be added. Also, in order that each quarter may end on the 30th of a month, the numerical designation 31st March shall be dropped and the numerical designation 30th February shall be added. Further, in order that the first month of each quarter may have 31 days and the second and third months 30 days each, the numerical designation 31st May shall be dropped and the numerical designation 31st April shall be added.

By making these changes, Mr. Eason produces a calendar in which each quarter of the year is alike; each month contains 26 working days; the first month of each quarter contains 5 Sundays, 5 Mondays and 5 Tuesdays; the second month of each quarter 5 Wednesdays and 5 Thursdays, and the last month of each quarter, 5 Fridays and 5 Saturdays. He thinks that the change would be unnoticed by the mass of the people in every country. The problem of a Dictator is independent of the changes and could be dealt with separately. It took Ireland exactly 300 years to adopt the new style calendar of Pope Gregory, but Mr. Eason has hopes that the Irish Free State will be the first to adopt his calendar.

NOT INTERESTED

William Hickman, from his cell issued an appeal to young men of the United States to take a warning from his experience.

The warning itself was very well written, but the source from which it came discounts its use.

Universal Cleaner
Non - Inflammable. Don't Take Chances, Cleans Dirt, Grease, etc., from Clothing 50c can
McKeown's

It was probably penned with the idea that it would arouse a certain amount of sentiment or sympathy for the young man who had run his course and found that the arm of the law was a little bit quicker and a trifle longer than he had estimated.

Rightly or wrongly, the world has not been much impressed in the past by the letters and appeals of men who are tremendously pulled up with bravado while outside a jail, but who lose that trait when they are tucked away in a prison cell.

Hickman is hitched up to such a heinous crime that the world is not in that state of mind where it cares to listen to a discourse by him on what young men should or should not do.

KNOWING CANADA

The Canadian government has undertaken a praiseworthy effort towards the education of the people of this country in knowing the beauties of Canada. Announcement has been made that a series of films, "Know Your Canada" has been released by the government for showing in the principal motion picture houses throughout the country, with the idea of placing before Canadians something of the beauty spots of their own land.

Patrons of motion picture theatres have become accustomed to the travel films which are shown in nearly every theatre, but which usually deal with scenes in other countries. These are highly entertaining and educational, and are greatly enjoyed. The Canadian travel films are apparently intended to perform a similar purpose, with the added objective of helping theatre goers to realize that in their own country there are scenes which are as great as can be found in any other. The government is to be commended in taking this means of advertising Canada's attractions, and the theatre managers will find an appreciative public will take kindly to the innovation.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

A Cambridge University professor discoursing to a class of men and women on life on a remote island in the Pacific, mentioned that it was over populated with men. "Even the Newmanites could get married there," he remarked maliciously.

Against which unkind remark the

MOOD

I am weary of the world's ways
And weary of my own,
I will go and seek the valleys
Where dime is overthrown
I will scale the windy passes
And lie down among the grasses
And forget the lads and lasses
Who will know what I have known.

To the silver pipes of morning
I shall dance upon the hill.
In the hush of starry midnights
I shall listen and lie still.
From the forest I shall borrow
Scorn or yesterday and morrow,
Scorn of ecstacy and sorrow,
Scorn of wisdom and of will.

From the murmur of green branches
Is a music known of old,
Like hands they will caress me,
Like wings they will enfold
And the years flow by and leave me,
And the days forget to grieve me,
And the nights no more bereave me
Until the tale is told.

—Shaemus O'Sheil in the Commonweal.

Newsmakers present protested by rising to walk out in a body.

"There's no hurry," the lecturer called them with a reassuring smile. "The boat doesn't leave till Friday."—London Observer.

After every great war there is a period of almost complete safety, when the nations are too crippled and too weary to fight again. During that period—and we are living in such a period now—every rational experiment in building up a new machinery of peace ought to be tried. If the experiments fail and new generations arise not adverse from war, then it will clearly be necessary for the nation to defend itself on the old terms and in the old way.—London Spectator.

COLD WAVE DESCENDS ON PRAIRIE COUNTRY

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 29.—The coldest wave of winter is rapidly descending upon Western Canada from the icy regions of the Arctic and according to the official weather bureau. The bulletin issued Friday extreme sub-zero dips are in store with the ushering of the New Year. A cold wave was working its way today along the Mackenzie River Valley, the rigor of its severity being felt at Dawson City during the night where the lowest point touched was fifty-two below zero.

PRESBYTERIA N'S GAIN STRENGTH

Rev. Dr. A. S. Grant Has Visited Forty-Two Presbyteries

Toronto, Dec. 29.—"The outlook is bright and hopeful for Presbyterians and otherwise we are in a stronger position than ever," stated Rev. Dr. A. S. Grant, Secretary of the General Board of Home and Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in Canada—who has just returned from a Dominion-wide tour of Presbyterian churches — to The Globe yesterday.

Dr. Grant left Toronto on Sept. 19, and returned on Christmas Day. In the interval he crossed from Halifax to Victoria, and from the north to the south of Canada, visiting the forty-two Presbyteries of the Presbyterian Church, and, indirectly, getting in touch with 1,200 congregations and churches.

Presbyterians Organized

"We are nearly back to normal in the matter of machinery, Church courts and Presbytery examinations," stated Dr. Grant. "The forty-two Presbyteries are now fully organized, with all their various committees in the different departments. Moreover, in the congregations within the bounds of these Presbyteries they have Boards of Management and Missionary Committees well organized.

"Financially also our congregations are in a very hopeful position," he continued. "They are making improvement in their properties, paying off old debts, and lessening their over-head for the local church. The prospects for raising the full budget for 1927 is most encouraging." Forty-two Presbyteries of the Presbyterian Church are now unanimous in adopting the recommendations of the General Assembly bearing on the budget of the Church.

While actual figures as to the number of Presbyterian churches built since Union are not yet available, Dr. Grant expressed himself amazed at the amount of church building which is going on throughout the country, as well as the quality and equipment of the buildings.

One of the finest examples of church architecture in Canada, he contends, is the recently completed First Church in Winnipeg, which is of pure Gothic art design, beautiful in form, symmetry and finish.

Flood of Requests

Speaking of the growth and development of Presbyterianism throughout Canada, and the outlook for the future Dr. Grant remarked: "The requests that are coming into our board to open up work in all centres across the Dominion, and especially in the West, are such that, if we had $10 for every single dollar, and ten missionaries for every available one, we would not meet the demand that is being made upon us.

Nor is the activity confined to older church members—the rising generation is equally enthusiastic, according to his findings. "It is surprising the number of Sunday schools where they are holding meetings in private houses," he added, "and this condition is more pronounced in the city than in rural districts."

JOHN ST., ST. ANDREWS WIN IN CHURCH LG.

Although three games were scheduled in the Church Basketball League only two of these were played. Due to the fact that the intermediate of Christ Church were unable to muster a team this game was awarded to Bridge St. by default.

The opening game of the evening brought together Holloway St. Junior and St. Andrew's Junior. The latter were quite too strong for their less experienced opponents and had no difficulty in winning by the extremely lopsided score of 36-4. For St. Andrew's, James, Lionel Dobson and the Keer brothers showed to advantage while Lancaster and Aveline were in the limelight on the less fortunate team.

The John St.-St. Andrew's game proved to be the best feature in this section to date. Because of very close checking the score was very low, the official records showing 13-12 for the Armstrong coached quintette. Elmer Walters of the Y Intermediate Team acted as referee and had the game well in hand at all times. Although referee Walters called thirteen personal fouls all the players escaped the "four foul" penalty although several had a very close call. Both teams showed a weakness in shooting their free throws, scoring only eight points on thirteen attempts. Modern basketball places considerable emphasis on the development of the game and local players will need to become much more proficient in free throwing if they are to make any headway in the great indoor pastime.

The line-up:

St. Andrew's—Forwards, B. Moffat; R. Richter; E. Adams; Centre, T. Byrne, 6; Guards, R. Chadwick, 6; R. Chadwick.—12.

John St.—Forwards, N. Clarke, 5; O. Pinkson, 4; W. Farrell; Centre, A. Bryant; Guards, G. Miles, 4; V. White.—13.

Referee Ivre is blind, but is manages to find his way to the ministers.

TODAYS MARKETS

Wheat Is Higher

Chicago, Ills., Dec. 29.—Unexpected cheerful news by Liverpool wheat quotations did a good deal to make wheat market here average higher early today. Spreading operations, however, between wheat and corn had tendency to render price changes in both grains irregular. Opening at 3-8c decline to 1-8c advance wheat later held most of initial limits. Corn started unchanged to 1-4c up and subsequently showed material setback. Oats were relatively firm.

Winnipeg Grains

Winnipeg, Dec. 29.—Wheat Dec. 1-2c to 5-8c higher at 130 3-4 to 7-8, May 3-8c to 3-4 higher at 136 3-8 to 1-2, July 3-8c to 3-4 higher at 135 1-2 to 7-8, Oats Dec. 1-8c higher at 65 3-4 bid, May 1-4 higher at 64 July 1-8c higher at 62 5-8.

Mixed Market

New York, Dec. 29.—Heavy buying of railroad equipment issues, based on reports of large locomotive and freight car orders, featured the mixed price movements in today's stock market. Resumption of selling pressure at the opening carried many issues down one to five points but market turned upward in the early afternoon under leadership of United States Steel common and General Motors which quickly advanced two and one point. Fluctuations above yesterday's final quotations.

NEW FORD

wheel as are also the lights. Four specially designed hydraulic shock absorbers combine with low centre of gravity and strong flexible transverse springs to insure a remarkable degree of riding comfort under all road conditions, as well as making the car practically unliftable. The chassis lubrication is made simple and effective by the Alemite-Zerk pressure system. The satin nickel instrument panel which includes speedometer, ammeter, gasoline gauge, dash lamp and ignition switch carryinn a coincidental theft-proof lock, is in full view of the driver. The combined choke and carburetor adjustor fits well under the dash, within easy reach of the driver. Fyr, reader, she is one looking beauty.

Delivery of these new, handsome Fords cannot be guaranteed until Spring.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

HUGH MIDDLEMISS

At three o'clock this afternoon Mr. Hugh Middlemiss, late Assistant Manager of the J. and J. Cash Company was laid at rest at Bradford Cemetery. Mr. T. M. Wright, Manager of the Cash Company represented the Firm at the funeral and Mr. F. E. O'Donohoe of the "Daily Intelligencer" acted as a pall bearer and represented the local Kiwanis Club.

Wreaths were sent by the Kiwanis Club, the J. and J. Cash Company, the Intelligencer staff and by many of his friends in Belleville.

DUNCAN McHEATH

Madoc, Dec. 29.—There passed away at his late residence at Madoc, Ont., one of the oldest and most highly respected residents in the person of Duncan McHeath, who succumbed to pneumonia after an illness of only twenty-four hours. Born 84 years ago, he resided all his life here. He was the only son of William McHeath and Katherine Henderson. His grandparents, Roderick and Anne McHeath, came to Canada from Rosshire, Scotland, in 1817, and were among the first pioneer families in this district. His wife, who was Margaret Allan, predeceased him only eighteen months ago. He is survived by four daughters and one son: Mrs. Hiley; Mrs. D. D. Armstrong, of Durham, Mrs. J. C. Wills, of Toronto; Mrs. I. W. C. Soliosay, of Toronto, and William and Mary at home. In religion he was a staunch Presbyterian.

WILLIAM HENRY BONE

William Henry Bone died yesterday at his home, Herchimer Avenue.

The late Mr. Bone was born Deptember 23 years ago and was a stone cutter by occupation. He had been a resident of Belleville for the past 38 years. The deceased was a member of Christ Church.

Surviving, besides the sorrowing widow, are three daughters, Mrs. H. Black, Toronto; Miss A. Bone, Coleman and Mrs. R. Bedner, Bellville; four sons, William, Toronto; Herbry, Galt; Charles, Montreal, and Harold of Belleville; two sisters in England and one brother, Richard Bone, of Belleville.

MRS. WILLIAM R. MacDONALD

All that was mortal of the late Mrs. William R. MacDonald, Point-Anne, was laid to rest in the family plot, in Belleville Cemetery yesterday afternoon following an impressive service at Point Anne. United Church, conducted by Rev. L. M. Sharpe, who also officiated at the committal at the graveside.

The many in attendance at the obsequies together with the wealth of flowers testified to the sorrow caused by the death of the deceased and the sympathy felt for the bereaved relatives.

The bearers were Messrs. John Mosher, John Bell, Albert Baxter, Herbert Vanorder, A. Bone and John Darlington.

Chicago Grains

Chicago, Dec. 29.—Wheat Dec. 126 7-8, March 128 3-8, May Dec. 81 3-4 March 56 1-2. Oats Dec. 51 1-2, March 54.

A MILLION DOLLAR SALE

WHICH BEGINS SAT. DECEMBER 31st.

CANADA'S GREATEST MERCHANDISE EVENT.-

A "MILLION DOLLAR" SALE

An Opportunity Without a Parallel

The Canadian Department Stores (22 Big Stores) have decided on a reorganization Policy effective in February. Definite instructions have been issued to every local manager. The magnificent combined stocks amounting to over Four Million Dollars must be reduced

BY ONE MILLION DOLLARS BEFORE FEB. 1st. THE BELLEVILLE STORE AIMS TO SELL

$50,000.00

To accomplish this in January we propose to offer you the finest merchandise at the most drastic reductions for VOLUME, VARIETY and VALUE. This will be the greatest sale in the History of this Store.

SALE COMMENCES SAT. DEC. 31st at 9 p. m. Store Closed Friday To Completely Re-price Stock

In order to adequately prepare for this huge Sale we have decided to close our Store for one whole day—tomorrow. Goods must be re-marked and rearranged. The staff will be busy all day getting everything ready to begin this great event when our doors open again sharp at 9 o'clock on Saturday. And —take our advice—BE HERE EARLY!

Please Note The Following--

1. Every article in the Store will be sold at a reduced price during this Sale.
2. A deposit of half the amount wil hold any article for ten days.
3. Positively no goods will be sent on approval during the Sale.
4. We cannot guarantee to repeat any article when the quantity offered is sold.
5. If you are dissatisfied with a purchase after you get it home, you may return it and have your money back if the goods are returned within three days.

MAROONS READY FOR CORNWALL

Flying Frenchmen Open Hockey Season Here Tomorrow Night

Another good practice went on under the watchful eye of Eddie Thomas at the arena last night. All of the boys with the exception of Harris were on and were through their paces. The mild weather made the ice soft but at least the boys rejoiced their sea-legs. Today's rain should provide the needed change in the weather for a fine sheet of ice for tomorrow night in the opening game of the season. The Easterners are coming to Belleville chock full of confidence for taking a fall out of the Maroons in their own bailiwick. Bowers guarded the twine, Rooney and Goyer were in front of him and Whalen, Hibbard, Hagerman, Boyle, Hunter and Green worked up on the forward line. The squad will probably line up something like that when the locals drop over the boards tomorrow evening. Clair Devlin of Napanee will referee and he is regarded as a competent official. The new senators are expected to arrive in time for the initial battle. The jerseys are of the Maroon color, similar to those of last year and the trimmings will be the same.

Cornwall is not being underestimated and Manager Thomas will give all of the lads a chance to make good. The final sporting off process will take place at the arena tonight.

The Juniors will be called out on Saturday night, to start practice for the campaign which opens next week. Belleville is grouped with Picton and Trenton. Henry and Johnny Canning are still eligible and should be the king-pins of the local outfit this year.

Trainer "Pick" Arnott has been putting the players in the best possible shape with a brisk rub after the practice session. There are rumors of a fast game providing the weather man does the needy. The game will be called at 8.15.

PLANS MATURE FOR BALL CLUB

Delegation Will Represent Belleville At Port Hope On Saturday

Belleville baseball players, fans and supporters gathered in the Y.M.C.A. last evening for a talk-fest and general meeting to discuss the season's prospects. The Quinte City will be represented by one of the fastest teams of recent years when the campaign opens in the Spring. Things started on the move some weeks ago and since that time wonders have been accomplished and fans will be handed some surprises within a few days. It was felt that in order to prepare for a successful season an early organization was necessary and the representatives at the first meeting made no mistake when they appointed Mr. W. E. Rowsome of the Alemite Company as General Chairman. "Ernie" started the ball rolling and surrounded by committees that have functioned from the start, he has agre ium-out has been one of the main features of every meeting and the interest in Belleville's baseball future is running high.

A meeting will be held in Port Hope on Saturday afternoon of this week when representatives from Port Hope, Peterboro, Kingston, Oshawa and Belleville will discuss the possibilities of reorganizing the old Quinte League and the following Committee was appointed to represent Belleville at the meeting: Messrs. Harrow, Robt. Collins, Stanley Hagerman, Newton Thompson, Harry Greenleaf, W. E. Rowsome, Allan Graham A. B. Collins and Sam Curry. The gathering will be held in the Queen's Hotel, Port Hope, on Saturday at 2.30. It is almost assured that Belleville will be back in Senior ball this coming year and the locals will make any of the teams in this locality step to win.

The organization will be known as the Belleville Amateur Baseball Association and will control the ball teams playing in the O.B.A.A. series whether it be the Intermediate, Junior or Senior series. Each team may choose their own name and it is probable that the Senior entry will be known as in the past as the Canadian Nationals. An intermediate team will be placed in the field and will be entered in the Bay of Quinte loop along with Deloro and Point Anne. In this way some of the boys who have not reached Senior calibre will line up with the Intermediates and the possibility that a Junior team may also enter the O.B.A.A. series.

Another public meeting will be held at 8 o.m. to be announced later when every fan who has the interest of the ball team at heart is urged to attend. The press will announce the date and place within a few days. The preliminary work has been done but the full co-operation of public will be needed in order to put the project over.

The Kiwanis Club have already donated the sum of $50 toward the purchase of new equipment and uniforms for next year. Other organizations are planning to lend a hand in the same direction.

Among those players and fans present last night were; W. E. Rowsome, Frank Reynolds, Harry Greenleaf, Walter Cerow, K. J. Colling, Past President Cyril McBride, O. A. C. Weir, Robt. Colling, Joe Shortt, Major Pratt, Alan Meagher, Alderman Collins, Sergt. Clarke, Twig Woodley, Tom Hall, Chas. Jeffery, Dr. Fahey, Vern Weir, Messrs. Darragh, Kerr, Burley, Scott, Cornell, Murphy and others.

IN MEMORIAM

GRANT—In memory of Willie Grant who died December 29th, 1926.
Two little hands crossed over the breast
Two little feet laid down to rest,
Two little eyes in slumber closed.
How our hearts bleed none but God knows.
One little voice that prattled in love,
Sweet song is now making in heaven above.
And an angel is watching and waiting for me
Till I shall cross the dark, rolling sea.

BELLE THEATRE

A new star, probably the most brilliant that has yet appeared on the cinema firmament, was discovered with the showing of Frank Borzage's version of Austin Strong's "Th Heaven" for Fox Films, which had its local premier at the Belle this afternoon. And that star is Janet Gaynor. So unexpected is her grace and wistful loveliness, and with such sympathy and understanding does she play the role of Diane, the Paris street waif, that she completely captivates the hearts of her audience with almost her first appearance in the picture. Sweetly demure, fearfully defiant or glorious happy through the tears, in each and every mood she is equally beautiful and loveable as perhaps no other screen actress is.

But not only Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, too, is a new star who comes into prominence under production. He is Chico, that "very remarkable fellow" he sang himself into fame from the dark waif from the streets to the "7th Heaven."

And with these in the leading roles is a cast which includes Ben Bard, David Butler, Albert Gran, Gladys Brockwell, Emile Chautard and George Stone, all of whom reach their greatest achievement in "7th Heaven." This is the verdict of the blase reviewers of New York, and that was the verdict which every member of the premier audience at the Belle this afternoon felt to be the case.

"IT PAYS TO BE GOOD" GIRLS' BEST LESSON

By LOUIS E. BISCH

The problem girl is not necessarily the girl of abnormal mentality. A girl whose mind does not function like the average, who is suffering from defect of the brain, cannot, of course, be expected to think and behave in accordance with accepted social and moral standards.

A mentally defective girl, in other words, may be an irresponsible liar, she may steal, she may be wayward. But the point is that a girl may lie, steal and commit other transgressions and still be mentally normal.

It is a mistake, I believe, to consider all "problem" girls mentally defective By so doing, a mentally normal girl is stigmatized beyond redemption. She is hereby placed in a class from which no return can be expected.

If a girl's immorality, or criminality is caused by mental deficiencies, then her behavior will lever improve. Hundreds of "problem" girls, however, have no mental defects. Various psychological tests, invented for that purpose, fail to reveal anything that might be construed as permanent brain damage.

In such girls very frequently are found only emotional maladjustments, not even emotional difficulties that might be called pyreasthic.

The emotional maladjustments are caused largely and primarily by lack of emotional training.

It must be remembered that adolescence, the time when most of the problem cases develop, is a time when all sorts of emotional upheavals may occur.

The girl feels and reasons differently than she did during the child years just past. Nor does she yet have the experience, the knowledge, or the perspective on life that adult years afford. She finds herself more or less between the proverbial "devil and the deep sea."

Impulses never before noted, and brought about through physiological and physical changes within her body lead her to yearn for the companionship of the opposite sex. She finds that she is stirred readily by anything that is forbidden and socially taboo.

She wants to be a "good sport" and go around with the rest, for such conduct appears to her as the badge of being grown up.

On the other hand, and pulling her in an opposite direction are all the precepts of right living and moral conduct taught her by her parents and teachers for years past.

The world says: "Don't repress. Let yourself go and have a good time!"

Her training says: "Hold yourself in check."

Now then, if the girl has an understanding mother or older friend to confide in, the chances are that she will discuss her difficulties and in a measure will allow herself to be directed.

But if she has no one to go to, or if she is afraid of being scolded or misunderstood, she will undoubtedly tend to follow the lines of least resistance and go the pace.

What the intellectually normal "problem" girl needs, as she needs bread, is sympathetic guidance.

The girl must be taught gradually and tactfully that every human being has bad in him as well as good, and she is no exception to the general rule

She must also be taught that self-censorship pays in the long run and why. Her supervision must not be too close. It must be reasonable

Many a girl falls into the hands of the courts, the reformatories, social service agencies, or lands in a maternity hospital, who might have been "saved" had a little common sense prevention such as I have outlined been practised by those who brought her up.

Youth is inherently good not bad or vicious. That is the principle one should start with. On that basis much can be accomplished.

Make a "problem" girl feel always that you have faith in her. Let her know that your trust is not altogether gone. Never censure her of being sinfully abnormal.

Just take it easy and prove, in due course, that it pays to be good.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR-ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young girl of eighteen and have a boy friend a few years my senior. I care a lot for him, but am not sure of his love. He told me once that I was rather independent. I have tried to master this independence lately and he didn't seem to change at all. Is it proper for me to tell him wherever I go and whatever I do? We are not engaged and he has not mentioned it yet. Please advise me.

FUTURE THINKER.

FUTURE THINKER: I advise you to hold on to your independence, my friend, until such a time as you are acsply justified in giving it up. I can see no necessity for your telling him that everything you do and every place you go to; it seems to me that he demands too much. I would suggest that you content yourself with his friendship for the while and let matters work out by themselves. If he loves you, he will be done and tell you so, and until he does I think you'would be wise to refuse to change your attitude. Do not be so willing to give up your independence upon such slight provocation, my dear; and do not give up your other friends.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am going with a boy two years younger than myself. We went together about eight months. He seemed to be fond of me and still speaks well of me. But he got the opinion I was running after him. How could I get him back without letting him know I want him?

LONESOME PAL.

LONESOME PAL: My dear, since this man had the idea that you were running after him, any step you would now make to win him back would only convince him that his impression was right. I would advise you to cease to be concerned about him. Go out with other friends and enjoy their companionship. If he cares he is sincerely interested in you, your apparent indifference may cause him to come back to you. I would not place too much importance on that last possibility, however.

WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

New York reports that the beige of the season is losing its pinkish cast.

Paiou believes that evening gowns either in all white or all black are most effective.

New York reports a growing vogue for the brown velvet ensemble adorned with brown fur, and a smart one done with mink had a long shawl collar, bor der down front of coat and banding on sleeves just above the elbow.

New York notes that tweeds appear as perfectly at ease at smart luncheon plates this season as they do for sports wear, and knitted silk jersey is interesting for sweaters and coats.

Prints figure largely in the new Paris collections, and Lucien Lelong is sponsoring printed georgette dresses with unlined, wide-sleeved georgette coats of same pattern, in three-quarters or seven-eights length; while several houses are favoring the printed chiffon dress, accompanied by a coat of the same design made up in crepe de chine, and printed crepes with coat linings of the same material, are sure to be good this spring.

A SUITOR TOO MANY
By MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER IT.
WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF THE RAIN

Lila's thoughts were in a whirl as she dressed that night. Her deft, quick fingers were all thumbs; she couldn't even fasten the clasp of her necklace.

"Madame is nervous," her maid remarked sympathetically.

Lila tried to smile.

"It is nothing," she said, trying to speak lightly, but, when the woman had gone away, she sat staring into the mirror with sick, frightened eyes.

Gilroy Holmes was coming to dinner. As hostess, she couldn't avoid him. There would be that awful moment when Herbert would present him; when Holmes would look into her face and his eyes would light with recognition; when he would exclaim, involuntarily: "Why, it's Lila Lathrop!"

After that—the deluge!

Perhaps he had already seen Jack, or, at least, had learned that the latter was alive.

Lila shuddered.

She dragged herself down to the library. Siddons was already bringing in the cocktails, and Herbert was impatiently consulting his watch.

"Holmes is late," he remarked. "I don't like that. It's bad enough for an ordinary guest, but, for a man in my employ, it's inexcusable."

"Perhaps he couldn't get a taxi," murmured Lila absently. "It's begun to rain, you know."

"He should have taken that into account," frowned Herbert. "If he's lax in social obligations, I doubt's argue any too well for his business habits."

Lila was blessing the delay. Anything to put off the dreaded moment.

Why waited, the telephone rang. It was Dorothy.

"Hello, Lila," she said casually. "Hope I'm not disturbing your dinner, but I forgot to ask you, when you were at the studio today, if you'd mind very much giving me an hour of your time tomorrow. I simply want a goodect suitable for the drawing I've promised to do for a very special order."

"Of course, I'll be glad to," assented Lila eagerly. She turned to Herbert. "It's Dot,—She wants me to pose for her tomorrow. You don't mind, do you?"

"If it won't interfere with our funching together. I give my consent," said Herbert firmly.

Lila paled.

"Yes—yes—I didn't know we had an engagement."

Herbert's brows lifted.

"You know it now," he remarked stiffly.

Lila spoke into the receiver.

"I'm sorry, Dot, but Herbert wants me to lunch with him," she faltered. "I—you wanted me around lunchtime, didn't you?" she asked significantly.

At her end of the line, Dorothy said guardedly: " Do you want me to try to force it?"

Lila's murmur was an assent.

"Then let me speak to Herbert, please."

"Dorothy wants to talk to you herself," Lila said. Herbert picked up the receiver, frowning.

Dorothy's voice, sweet, coaxing, cheerily pleasant, came over the wire.

"Herbert do be a dear and let Lila off this once. I need her frightfully. As a favor to me—please!"

Herbert replied stiffly: "I fail to see why some other hour will not serve quite as well."

"But the light is at its best in my studio then," said Dorothy.

"Why," asked Herbert suspiciously, "couldn't you have made your sketch while Lila was there today? I understand from her that she was at your studio all day."

Dorothy laughed lightly.

"How suspicious you sound, Herbert! Quite like the husband in a French farce. Of course, Lila was at my studio. Do you want me to give you the exact hour of her arrival and departure?" she asked, with a tinge of irony.

Herbert resented her tone.

"Certainly not," he answered shortly.

"And as for not making the sketch today," Dorothy went on, "I didn't know, when Lila was here, that I couldn't get a suitable model tomorrow."

Herbert was mollified. In fact, he felt a trifle foolish. Dorothy always gave him the impression that she was laughing at him.

"Very well, I give my consent," he announced, to Lila's ineffable relief.

It was scarcely five minutes later that the telephone rang again. Gilroy Holmes was calling up. He begged to be excused from dinner; his taxi had skidded and he had been cut by flying glass.

"I had to go to a doctor for a couple of stitches and I'm not a pretty sight," he told Herbert. "I'm afraid I'd give Mrs. Ware rather a shock."

When Herbert turned from the telephone, after announcing the news to Lila, he found his wife all in a flutter. The respite seemed too incredible to be true.

But, to her horror, Herbert interpreted her manner according to his lights. He gripped her shoulder fiercely.

"Lila, tell me this instant—what is Holmes to you?"

Lila fairly gaped at him. Was it possible that he suspected?

DARKENS HAIR SO NATURALLY NO ONE KNOWS

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, grey hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is musty and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients to suit modern use, and can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning after the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes dark and glossy.

USE SULPHUR TO CLEAR SKIN

The First Application Makes Skin Cool and Comfortable

If you are suffering from eczema or some other torturing, embarrassing skin trouble you may quickly be rid of it by using Mentho-Sulphur; declares a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, because of its germ destroying properties, seldom fails to quickly subdue itching, even of fiery eczema. The first application makes the skin cool and comfortable. Rash and blotches are healed right up. Rowles Mentho-Sulphur is perfectly harmless. You can obtain a small jar from any good druggist.

Stop your suffering—use PAZO OINTMENT
Prepared in one bottle. Soothes, heals and relieves Piles. Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding. Try PAZO. You'll be glad you did. At all druggists. Manufactured only by The Pazo Chemical Co., Inc., Buffalo, N.Y.

HILLIER

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church Parsonage, Simpson Ave. Toronto, Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock when Bernice, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Thompson of Hillier was united in marriage to Mr. W. J. Stringer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Stringer of Pape Ave. Toronto. The attendants were Miss Marjorie Thompson, sister of the bride, and Mr. Earl Brillinger of Toronto. The groom's gifts to the bride was a rope of pearls.

Miss Thompson had very efficiently held offices of trust in the city for a number of years and the esteem in which she is held was evidenced by a gift of a fifty dollar cheque from Mr. McKinnon, managing officer of her present position. At a dinner given in her honour by Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon, the girls of the office staff gathered in the evening and gave the bride-to-be an aluminum shower.

Miss Thompson is a valued teacher in Simpson Ave. S.S., a member of the Bakerfield team and various other church organizations. At the home of one of her S.S. pupils, Bernice was again a guest of honour. The rooms were beautifully decorated and under a huge white bell in the guest room was suspended a daintily - trimmed basket in bridal colors, filled to capacity with rut glass, silver, china and other articles dear to the heart of a prospective bride. This was a complete surprise from the young ladies of the differen church societies of which she is a member. The boys of the office staff also presented her with a beautiful tea-wagon.

Mr. Stringer is private secretary to Mr. Moore, lately appointed General President of the Managing System of the Bank of Nova Scotia, who gave him a present of a very substantial cheque.

ANNUAL BALL IS A MERRY PARTY

Bay Of Quinte Country Club's Second New Year Event

SUCCESS ASSURED

Splendid Music, Good Attendance And Special Features

Held for the second time the Bay of Quinte Country Club's annual New Year's Ball takes its place as the outstanding event of the social season. About two hundred and fifty attended last night at the Quinte Hotel, making the function fully equal to the premiere of last year and assuring its permanency.

Owing to the fact that it was impossible to hold the function that year on New Year's Eve the directors of the Club felt a little trepidation as to its success but the merry crowd of dancers quickly dispelled any fear on this point. The Hotel was beautifully decorated forming a fitting background for the colorful gowns of the ladies and the New Year spirit of gayety add ed zest.

During the evening favors were passed around including paper hats and all manner of noise making devices. Serpentine paper was thrown among the dancers and the ball room at all times presented a picture of life and color. The Bon Ton Orchestra furnished splendid music for the occasion and in spite of their declaration to give but one encore to each dance, two and three were sometimes found necessary

About midnight supper was served in the Hotel dining room. After the supper dancing continued till about three-thirty when the playing of the Maxwell Anthem declared the party at an end

Complete Re-Organization Plans Effective Early In New Year

Canadian Department-Stores, Limited, which was organized a year ago, and which comprises the destinies of twenty-two old Canadian business establishments, is now in process of re-organization.

Mr. C. M. Reid, manager of the local store and a director of the company, when asked some time ago for a statement regarding it, expressed himself as being busy with the Christmas merchandising to pay much attention to the rumors that were abroad on the street, and in the newspapers. However, Mr. Reid now informs us that the difficulties that the company has been experiencing were the result of a failure on the part of the purchasers of the merger to supply the management with sufficient working capital.

There are periods in the year when every merchant requires additional capital to provide extra merchandise for the busy months, and as this was not forthcoming from the promised source, it put the company in difficulties to meet bills coming due. There was an abundance of merchandise but a shortage of ready money. The directors met and decided that the first thing to do was to turn a million dollars' worth of the merchandise in the stores into ready cash by putting on a big sale at prices that would be sure to attract the public. This would

BUILDING PERMITS FOR DECEMBER MAKE RECORD FOR LOCAL HISTORY

Collegiate And Nurses' Home Swell Totals For Year 1927

Building permits for the year of 1927 exceeded by far any of the previous five years. In the past twelve months 161 permits were issued, totalling $670,000.00, while in 1926 the permits totalled $395,610.00, only about half of this year's amount. 198 permits were issued last year. The building of the Collegiate Institute, the Nurses' Home and a new garage for J. B. Boyce helped to "boump" the figures up for 1927. Last year the only really expensive building construction was that of the new Albert College.

The following are the building permits for the month of December, 1927, totalling more than the other eleven months added together.

Board of Education, erection of new Collegiate, $475,000; Hospital Board, Nurses' Residence, $40,000; "J. B. Boyce, Garage and Salesroom, $10,000; Shell Company, Service Station, $3,000; Ivor Butler, Verandah, $400; Mrs. DeMarsh, Verandah, $150.

Past Five Years

The year 1922, with 31 permits issued, totalling $215,825, comes next in order to 1926, 113 permits were issued in 1925, totalling $194,725, while in 1924 only 60 permits were issued with a sum total of $125,000.

BODY OF YOUNG GIRL IS FOUND

Wilkinston, Pa., Dec. 30.—The hall raked body of Thelma Young, aged seventeen of Washington, with a deep cut in the forehead over the right eye, was found in a field at the city limits today. Blood, spattered over radius of fifty feet, indicated that the girl had struggled with her assailant.

It was believed that she was killed with a brick, found nearby. Clothing had been ripped from her body, which bore many scratches and bruises. Fred Drew, seventeen, a negro, was later arrested as a suspect in the case. He was found hiding under a bed in his home near the field where the body was discovered.

FORTUNE PASSES TO HER CHILDREN

Mrs. Ida Leavens of Bloomfield Left $100,000 By Brother

DIED IN NOVEMBER

Dr. W. Stewart Brown, Old P. E. Boy, Achieved Success

When Dr. Willet Stewart Brown, of New York City, but formerly of Prince Edward County, died last March he left to his sister, Mrs. Ida Leavens, of Bloomfield $100,000. Last month Mrs. Leavens died before the estate was settled up so that her share of the fortune will now be divided equally between her son and daughter, Mr. Howard Leavens, a fruit farmer near Bloomfield and Miss Edith Leavens, of New York.

Died In November

Mrs. Ida Leavens, who inherited the fortune, died last month at her home in Bloomfield and it is understood that the money was bequeathed by her to Howard Leavens, a lad who conducts a large fruit orchard five miles from Picton on the Belleville highway and his sister, Miss Edith Leavens who resides in New York City. They will likely share the one hundred thousand dollars equally between them, being the only remaining members of the Leavens family who are eligible for the fortune.

Miss Bertha Brown of New York City and Mrs. Ida Leavens, Bloomfield, relatives of the benefactor, Dr. Willet Stewart Brown, shared in the legacy and both were left large sums.

Dr. Brown who is said to have been one of the leading medical authorities in New York City lived in Prince Edward County but left after acquiring his early education. He built up an enviable reputation in the United States and was consulted in many important surgical cases. As a result of his labors he amassed a fortune and upon his death last March his relatives were left the bulk of the money. He also left a considerable amount to charity.

DEATH DUE SOLELY TO NATURAL CAUSES

Death due to natural causes was the edict of the verdict returned by the jury empanelled to inquire into the death of Ernest Benjamin at an adjourned inquest held in the police station last night. It will be remembered that Benjamin was a conductor on the Canadian National Railway died suddenly on duty on Saturday, December 24th, near Napanee.

The inquest was of short duration, only three witnesses being called to give evidence. The jury was composed of Wm. Gibson, foreman; W. Dole, J. Thompson, Egbert Brown, John Penny, Walter Brown, John Bowerman, George Giffen, Gerland Counties. Detective Sergeant Truesdell was in charge of the jury.

STORM CAUSED THE COLLAPSE OF CHURCH

Naples, Dec. 30.—One child was killed and the Mother Superior of the Orphanage at Bara was seriously injured today when a wall of the church there collapsed during mass to-day. Prompt aid by firemen, militia and police resulted in the rescue of the remaining orphans. The church has been strongly buffeted by the storm which has prevailed here for the past few days.

FATHERS ASKING A SQUARE DEAL

Neither Hickman's Nor Hunt's Parents Will Go To Los Angeles

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 30.—George L. Hunt, father of Weldy Hunt, was here to-day to enlist the aid of an attorney in defeat his son, who was implicated by William Edward Hickman in the robbery and slaying of a California druggist. Hunt and the mother, like Hickman's parents, separated several years ago. Members of both youths live in Kansas City. The elder Hickman is a crane operator at El Paso, Texas, and his wife is a resident at Seminole, Okla.

The fathers both declared they only wanted a square deal for their sons, and that if they were guilty they should be punished. Neither planned to go to Los Angeles.

Renamed In Tuesday

Los Angeles, Dec. 30.—William E. Hickman, confessed slayer of a child he had kidnapped and of a man he attempted to rob, was formerly arraigned yesterday afternoon, and declared a second continuance until next Tuesday to enter his plea for the murder of 12-year-old Marian Parker.

Young Hickman was hailed into court through corridors bristling with guards to keep back the throngs only a few hours after he had admitted taking part in an attempted robbery which ended in the killing of Ivy Thomas, a druggist. His confessed accomplice in the robbery, Henry Hunt, also was held in the county jail last night.

TWO LOCAL MEN HELD BY POLICE

Expected That Truck Driver And Companion Will Be Released

Morley Smith, 14 Geddes Street and Clare Kennedy, 50 Flint Holts Street are being held by Pc Coleman Police following the death of W. H. Comme, a married man residing on Buena Vista Street, Oshawa, who died of injuries received after being struck by a motor transport truck driven by Smith. The truck was owned by the Quinte Transport Company of Trenton.

Comme who was an employee of the General Motors was driving to work on a bicycle when the rear wheel was hit by the huge transport proceeding east on King Street. The accident occurred at seven o'clock and Comme died but a few minutes following the crash.

Comme was picked up unconscious by Smith and his companion Clare Kennedy and was rushed to the hospital but he succumbed before reaching that institution. The body was taken to Luke's Undertaking Parlors where a preliminary inquest was held.

Comme has been employed in Oshawa for the past three years and leaves a wife and three children. The bicycle was a complete wreck being twisted and bent by the force of the impact.

The police commenced an investigation into the accident and Smith and Kennedy would both be released this afternoon.

SEND REMUS TO INSANE ASYLUM

Cincinnati, Ohio, Dec. 30.—George Remus, former "King of the Bootleggers" today was condemned to the State Hospital for Criminal Insane at Lima as "insane and dangerous person to be at large". A week ago, he cheated the electric chair when the jury found him not guilty of the murder of his wife on the sole ground of insanity.

The decision was handed down by Judge William Lueders of Probate court who spoke to the remarkable throng of friends of three alienists who sat with him in advisory capacities, that Remus is insane.

MAN ARRESTED IN TORONTO MAY BE WANTED HERE ON THE THOMAS JOB

Russell Harris, Formerly Of Belleville, Taken After Long Chase

CHECK UP RECORD

Connect Prisoner With $500 Robbery About Month Ago

Police are of the opinion that Russel Harris who was arrested in Toronto yesterday after an exciting chase is the man who robbed Walter Thomas' home here some weeks ago and also made an unsuccessful attempt to get away with several articles in the home of Crown Attorney Bryson C. Jeehan and William Lewis. It will be remembered that several articles of jewelry including watches and $500 in notes were the loot secured at Mr. Thomas' residence. The thief or thieves entered by a rear door and were finally mad by the alarm and rifled the drawers of the bureau and pockets of Mr. Thomas while the family was asleep.

Harris gave Belleville as his original home to the authorities but he has no criminal record here. The manner in which he carried out the latest robbery corresponds exactly with the way in which the jobs here were done. The local authorities are checking up on the loot taken here in the hopes that it may be uncovered at some of the hocking shops which Harris has frequented in Toronto.

Harris was captured by John Cooding on Dalhousie Street, after a chase through back alleys in which the captor wrestled with Harris and finally held him until the police arrived. He is charged with stealing $200 from Harvey Porter, formerly of Haliburton County. Porter befriended Harris last week and invited him when he was up against it. Then he awoke on Thursday morning to see a man going through his pockets. Harris ran up an alley placing the money beneath an ash-can where it was later found by the police. Local authorities are almost positive that Harris is the man connected with the Thomas robbery here.

DR. TAFT WILL SERVE HIS TERM

Dr. Victor L. Taft former physician of Mountain View, Prince Edward County, who was sentenced to serve seven days in Jail upon being found guilty of driving a car while intoxicated by Magistrate Mikel will commence his term in the County jail today.

Mr. Chas. Payne Counsel for Taft, appealed the case and it was to have been re-tried today before Judge Deroche but at the time the appeal was withdrawn and Taft elected to serve the term.

$2,000,000 FIRE DESTROYS SHIPS

Ocean Liner, Four Barges And Two Piers Prey To Flames

Hoboken, Dec. 30.—Flames roaring across two square blocks of water front wrecked two million dollars havoc here to-day. The liner hunted foot Otpic liner, Seneca valued at $2,000,000 was transformed into an inferno, her captain and first mate escaping by a hand rope and it is feared she was totally destroyed. Two 700 foot piers were also destroyed, four barges consumed and four others partly burned. The Hoboken fire department fought the fire on River Day Line was towed out to the river with her bow flaming. The flames were extinguished in mid-stream.

The fire started from explodin gasoline on one of the destroyed piers. All the Hoboken apparatus, a dozen rail-road fire boats, the New York city engines and volunteers about the docs fought the conflagration while tugboats pushed to the scene.

WINTERY BLASTS GRIP ALL WEST

Ten To Thirty Below Zero From Ontario To Pacific

Winnipeg, Dec. 30—The weather man has fully justified his forecast of bitter cold weather in Western Canada for the closing days of 1927. Frigid blasts, which swept out of the distant north yesterday, had brought an extreme drop in temperature to-day over an area extending from the Pacific coast to Western Ontario.

Edmonton felt the maximum sting of King Zero's assault; the mercury dropping to thirty below zero and during the night. Elsewhere on the Western Prairies dips ranging from 10 to 25 below zero were general.

Middle West Is Cold

Kansas City, Dec. 30.—With subzero temperature general in the northern Rocky Mountain States, the cold wave to-day moved into the middle west and south west. Six Park set a record for the district. Sharp slumps in temperatures were reported in Wyoming, Kansas and Missouri

ELEVEN PER CENT OF OUR GRADUATES PASS TO U. S.

Toronto, Dec. 30.—The exodus of Canadian university graduates to United States is dealt with by Sir Robert Falconer, President of the University of Toronto, in his annual report just issued. Sir Robert estimates that during the ten years, 1917-1926, approximately eleven percent of the graduates of the University of Toronto have permanently settled across the border.

"Though this number is not large in relation to the growth of our country," report continues, "it is, I believe, much greater, proportionately than in other walks of life. We get better returns the longer we keep our young people at home to educate them to meet the needs of our own society.

"But the exodus of our graduates to the United States has been so much greater than we would wish that every effort should be furthered by means of employment agencies and otherwise than will hold out to our graduates opportunities of our own but

TODAY'S THOUGHT

The enjoyments of this life are not equal to its evils, even in number; there is no joy which can be weighed against the smallest degree of grief.
PLINY.

SOMETHING MISSED

Doris McDonald, wife of George McDonald, is under sentence of death in Montreal for the murder of a taxicab driver. At present she is being cared for by the Religious of the Good Shepherd, who are in charge of the inmates of the Catholic female prison.

A good many writers who were in attendance at the trial commented upon the appearance of Doris McDonald, and the verdict seemed to be unanimous that the 30-year-old prisoner was of a very unusual type.

It appears that during her period of imprisonment she has received a measure of religious instruction and kindly care, and it seems to have been the first time in her life that such influences have been brought to bear on her character.

From reports of her career she was adopted when a child into the circle of a family where religious training or belief of any sort was an unknown quantity, and in that atmosphere she grew up. Good times, gay parties and wild nights were the centre and circumstance of her existence.

She eloped with her husband, travelled and lived with him for some time, and finally married him, but the rigs of wild parties appears to have become such an obsession that there was no change made, and it was on one of these expeditions that the murder of the taxidriver took place.

It was the first expedition of McDonald and his wife to Canada. Doris McDonald has found out that Canadian justice has a method of dealing in a very straight, unsentimental way with people who commit murder. Her sentence may stand, or again it may be changed to one of imprisonment.

But over and above all these things she is also learning for the first time in her life that there are those who devote their lives to religious effort, and who find therein something which she had never been able to extract from wild parties and so-called good times. Had this training been put into the first part of her twenty years she would not be where she is today.

USE THE LASH

A despatch from Kingston states that punishment of criminals by use of the lash is becoming so frequent that there is a demand at the Portsmouth penitentiary for the appointment of an official whipper. So far, it is stated, the guards take turns at the task, no one knowing who will be called upon until the order is issued.

This despatch is significant in that it shows the attitude which is being taken by many judges and magistrates in favor of the lash as a form of punishment. It has been proven that prison sentences in themselves have not been completely successful in curbing serious crimes of banditry and offences against women, and there is every justification for those who sit on the bench imposing penalties which call for whippings at stated intervals. It has become a established fact that the gunman and the man who attacks members of the weak sex is physically a coward, and the fear of the lash is looked upon as a restraining influence upon such crimes. Magistrates have often been criticized for allowing offenders in this way to escape too lightly the penalty of their crimes, but there is no record that any fault has been found with them in advocating whipping in cases where it would probably be an effective punishment.

COSMETICS

There has been a revolt in Paris, the very citadel of artificial charm, against the tyranny of the lipstick and the rouge pot, according to the London Daily Express. Women, it is said, will have none of these things; they will stand forth in their natural complexions.

Man's attitude to make-up is curiously hypocritical. He likes the effect if he need not know how it was produced. In this respect as always where woman is concerned, he is a timid idealist. Woman, however, seeks beauty with the frank disillusionment of the artist who has seen many models. By her art she will create what is lacking and cares not who witnesses the stages of the masterpiece.

When man has seen nature shadowed and woman has recovered from her temporary loathing to the primitive —a craze which attacks all painters— we shall be precisely where we are now.

EMPIRE TRADE

Decision of the Dominion Government to co-operate with the Empire Marketing Board in its exhibit of Empire foodstuffs to be held in London in February, is to be commended. The British Empire, after all, is Canada's greatest market. It is a much greater market than the United States. During the 18 months ending October 31, 1927, the United States sold Canada goods to the value of $707,000,000 and bought from us but $472,000,000 worth. The British nations on the other hand which sold us but $231,000,000 worth of goods, bought from us to the extent of $511,000,000.

The idea of a self-contained Empire making everything it buys and buying everything it makes, may be an unrealizable one. But there is everything to be said for trading as far as possible with your own kith and kin and every step towards that end deserves to be supported.

A CHILDS LOVE

Why do you clasp me round the waist
Impulsive little child?
Why do you tug? Say, why this haste
So passionate and wild?
Your wistful face illumined with love's light,
A lantern from the mists of yesternight.

The parting lips let drop their sweet
Unconscious music, slow,
Like some old song whose long lost beat
Sets memory's heart aglow.
"I do so love you!"—eyes flash with love's grace.
"I am so small, O let me love thy face!"

O child, those tight'ning arms of thine
Have lent me strength to say,
"I clasp thy waist, O Love Divine,
And just this once I pray,
That thou will stoop low down—
responsive Grace,
I am so small, O let me love thy
face!"

—Clarice M. Covell, in "The Three Boughs."

If you had the Prince of Wales as dance partner, what would you say to him?

It may be nearly bad manners to overhear remarks but in a crowded hall room one can't help it. At Lady Cromer's ball at Claridge's the other night, a student of the Academy of Dramatic Art, was saying, as she passed, to her partner, the Prince, "A stage life, sir, is a very hard one; it's all very well when you've made a name but—" And then they were gone.—London Sunday Pictorial.

For every gift that is made without a kindly thought, "a duty gift," there are a million that carry the heart with them. They have been planned with care, and very often they represent sacrifice and deprivation so that the giver might buy or make them, and for the most part they are quite suitable and acceptable.—Brantford Expositor.

LOOKED LIKE A FIGHT

The police ambulance was sent to Canniffton near midnight last night where it was stated that a man was seriously injured. On arrival the officers discovered that Dan Mason had tumbled part way down stairs at his home and was suffering from bruises to his back and arms. He was rushed to the city hospital in the ambulance and Dr. Baker was called to attend him. He was resting easily this morning. It was reported at first that Mason had been engaged in a fist fight with another party and that he was knocked down the stairs in a free -for-all.

AWARDED $450 IN DAMAGE SUIT

William Bedford and his wife Mary of Prince of Wales County were awarded a judgment for $450 in their damage suit against Mr. and Mr. McVey of Lonsdale when was heard before County Judge Deveche yesterday. The case was not concluded until a late hour last night. The defendant was also held liable for the costs in the case. The case against Mr. E. Jessop the third party was dismissed.

The suit arose out of an automobile accident on the highway leading to Smith's Falls last June when it was claimed that a car recklessly driven by McVey ploughed into the motor own ed by Mr. Bedford damaging it consid erably and causing injuries to his wife which incapacitated her for some months.

Mr. E. J. Butler acted for the plaintiff, T. F. White for the defendant and Mr. C. A. Cameron for the third party Jessop.

CHOIR HONORED PASTOR AND WIFE

Rev. And Mrs. Howard Seymour Recipients Of Gifts

The home of Mr. Fred Melbourne, President of the choir of Shannonville was the scene of a presentation and address last evening to the pastor of Shannonville United Church Rev. Howard P. L. Seymour and Mrs. Seymour, organist of the Church choir.

The pastor and his wife were honored for their untiring efforts and encouragement given in the various activities of the church work. The following address together with a silk rayon bed-spread and a gentleman's pearl were presented after which a suitable and appreciative response was made by the recipients. Following the presentation a lunch was served and a social evening enjoyed. The following is the text of the address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Seymour,—

We are gathered here this evening for a social time. Our meeting together in this way is a time of rejoicing, a time when our hearts are glad. It is pleasant for us to gather in this congenial way and to show our warm friendship and kindred interests. We also appreciate Mrs. Seymour, her devoted interest and time spent with us in the choir and she. Mr. Seymour's very untiring interest in the activities of the Church. We thought this an opportune time to show our appreciation and we ask you to accept these gifts as a small token of our esteem for you both and our hope is that they may serve as a reminder of the friendship and appreciation of the Shannonville choir.

Signed on behalf of the choir,

Mrs. Henry Murphy.
Mrs. Clifude Clarke.

LOCAL CLUB AT CHARTER NIGHT

Kiwanians Help Picton Organization At Presentation Ceremonies

Sixty representatives from the Belleville, Kingston, Hamilton and Napanee Kiwanis Clubs visited Picton last evening for the "Charter Night" of the Picton Club which proved to be one of the most successful events of it's kind in the Province.

President Jack McIntosh of the Belleville Club presided as toastmaster and with a masterful hand he kept the meeting moving in fine style. The local Kiwanis have experienced one of the most successful years of its existence and it is in no small measure due to the efforts of President Jack who the local organization is number among the finest in the Province. He has complimented by the District officers on the manner in which he handled the gavel and certainly the Belleville club realize that they are losing an ale and efficient executive which he vacates the chair. It was the last meeting which he will preside over and he closed the session of office with an eloquent address.

An address of welcome was delivered by Kiwanian Major Firth Fraser, of Picton who issued a warm reception to the delegates from the Hamilton and Governor Fleet W. Y. Mills, of King ston introduced the District Governor W. R. Cockburn who presented the Charter to the Picton Club. It was gratefully accepted by Dr. G. A. Fralick, President of the Picton club.

Presented Flag

Past President P. C. McLaurin of the Belleville Club presented the flag to the Picton Club and in a few words of congress Mr. McLaurin complimented the hosts on their excellent program, James Hepburn Vice-President of the Picton Club accepted the flag. The presentation of the gavel was made by W. Y. Mills on behalf of the Ontario and Quebec District and this was also accepted by Picton Kiwanian.

Kiwanian Fred Mallott, of Belleville, introduced Lieut.-Governor Andy Gaul, of Hamilton. The latter made the chief address of the evening on the work accomplished by Kiwanis Clubs in all parts o the County. He spoke in all parts of the County. He spoke was built and made reference to the splendid spirit of fellowship which was manifested in its inception.

Governor Cockburn congratulated the Belleville Club as sponsors of Picton Kiwanis and made appreciative reference to the work accomplished by George Vice District Trustee, through whose efforts the Picton Club was formed. He performed the Picton members that their club would no longer be known as the "baby Club" as Tamwins and Sarnia business men have organized themselves within the last few weeks. He stated that Kiwanis is the largest Service Club on the North American Continent embracing over one hundred thousand members and no less than 1064 Clubs which are scattered in all parts of the United States and Canada.

District Trustee George Vice spoke briefly stating that ti was due to the untired efforts of the Belleville Club that Picton was organized.

The following artists assisted on the musical: Mrs. Tac Iarvis, vocal duet; Mr. Fred Burke, Mr. Leo Hines, and Mrs. H. E. Hiatt and Fred Weldon, of Picton. Mr. Burke the one man band and Mr. Leo Hines, a new departure. Mr. Hines is a new departure. Mr. Hines is a new departure. Mr. Hines is

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

The entry list for the Annual Handball Championship Tournament is open at the office of the Y.M.C.A., and all senior members and older High School boys who wish to participate are requested to sign up at once. The system of play will be the "Round Robbin" schedule. That is, every member entered in the tournament plays every other member two out of three games and one point is awarded for each game won. Total points so acquired throughout the tournament will be recorded for each entry and the player obtaining the grand total will be declared champion for 1928.

Last year "Army" Armstrong was the winner of the handball trophy donated by Physical Director Manders. Just to show his appreciation and to stimulate further interest in the game Army is himself donating a trophy this year but he expects to be there himself to argue the point with every entry before he acknowledges there are better men in the field. In addition to the trophy given the winner, the Association is donating a fine pair of handball gloves to the player in second place while third place will also receive suitable recognition in the way of a pair of handballs.

Members who are considering entering will greatly facilitate an early starting of the tournament by signing up right away. Just as soon as the list is completed, the schedule will be posted and the hours available for play intimated.

FORMER NAPANEE MAN DIES IN TORONTO

Toronto. Dec. 29.—John Madill, head of the brokerage firm of Madill and Son, died today at the age of 76. The deceased was born in Peterboro and lived for many years in Napanee. Surviving are his widow and two sons, T. S. Madill, of Montreal, and Louis Madill, of Toronto.

BANK OF FRANCE REDUCES DISCOUNT

Paris, Dec. 29.—The Bank of France today reduced its discount rate from five per cent to four per cent.

The action of the bank in lowering the discount rate was due to abundance of money on the market caused by purchases of large amounts of foreign exchange by the bank, relieving the pinch in circulation. The bank is now taking care of all foreign exchange transactions keeping francs within the country.

Another reason for the decrease was said to be the desire of the Bank to bring it's own discount rate to other banks within the regular discount rate, figures which have been steadily decreasing for the past few months.

WINDSOR WANTS TO STAGE NEXT FIGHT

New York, Dec. 29.—Herald-Tribune published today the boast of Windsor, Ont., race track on the Canadian side of the Detroit river, opposite Detroit, that it has been selected for the distinction of being the site for Gene Tunney's next defence of his heavyweight championship title, it was learned yesterday."

MUST PAY TAX ON LIQUOR

Washington, Dec. 29.—Norman B. Richardson, hotel proprietor of Pittsburgh, today lost his appeal to obtain tax exemption on $6,000 worth of liquor which he distributed among his friends as gifts.

He claimed in his plea that he was forced to give it away since he is prohibited from selling it. In rejecting the appeal, the board of tax appeals said it found no authority for such a deduction.

KILLED THREE OF HIS BROTHERS

Bakersfield, Calif., December 28.—Albert Villard, 50, Delano rancher, shot and killed three of his brothers and wounded another on a ranch in the Woody district today and then escaped, it was reported here from the sheriff's office said.

Those slain were: August, Eugene and Theodore Villard, Joe Villard was wounded.

LURE OF NATIONAL PARKS

The unexplored regions of Canada's national parks are now more and more proving a lodstone to out-of-doors adventurers, explorers, and others lovers. Every season brings news of some newly-explored area, hitherto not on the beaten tracks of individuals, or parties seeking access to the hidden wonders of remote districts.

SEEDLESS LEMON NEW FRUIT VARIETY

Oroville, Cal.—C. W. Baker, of Penta, Cal., is the originator of a seedless lemon. At the Orange and Olive exposition here he exhibited the fruit and explained the development of it.

"Several years ago I budded stem seeding orange trees with a navel orange and an Eureka lemon. The fruit was partly orange and lemon. I noticed the lemons were seedless and pruned the trees down to the lemon branches. Since then I have since been of good quality and seedless."

Baker also has in his orchard a seedless orange tree which bears navals, seedless lemons, limes and grapefruit.

FINE SHOWING BY BRADING BREWERIES

Holders of the no-par-value Common Stock of the Brading Breweries, Ontario, will receive a further dividend of fifty cents a share.

The old established company is again making additions to its plant at Ontario, having in course of erection a new Racking Room, Chilling Building, Ale Storage and garage, and installing new brewing equipment.

The company's history since 1865 has been one of steady progress.

REGENT THEATRE

"Desert Valley," which opened a three day run at the Regent theatre, yesterday, proves one of the best, rip-roaring Western romances in which Buck Jones ever starred. It is an evening's perfect entertainment.

Many thrills relish from the humane action of Buck, in the role of Montgomery Wilson Fitzsmith, who breaks a desert water line to save a herd of cattle from perishing or thirst. Throughout the picture can be found comedy of the variety that produces near hysteria, counterbalanced by touches of pathos. Centering the interest is a romance that struggles through a bidding and storm on the desert to a happy conclusion.

BELLE THEATRE

The Belle Theatre have secured the first run in Belleville of "7th Heven." Fox Films epic picture version of the play by Austin Strong. This picture has been creating a sensation and playing to capacity houses all over the country and is considered one of the finest productions of the year. Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell are featured at the head of an all-star cast which includes Gladys Brockwell, Albert Conn, Daisy Belmore, Emile Chautard, Marie Mosquini, Ben Hard and Brandon Hurst. Don't miss it today.

EDUCATIONALIST DEAD AT AGE 84

St. Catharines, Ont., Dec. 29.—W. J. Robertson, noted educationalist, who co-authorized British and Canadian history books were used in the Public and High Schools of Ontario for many years, died today, aged 84 years. He was a teacher of advanced classes in St. Catharines Collegiate Institute for 25 years, and for the past few years had conducted a book store. He had been a member of the Public Library Board since its inception.

HOME LIFE AFFECTED BY SOARING RENTS

BY LOUIS E. BISCH

Nowadays it is not unusual for a man to have his own circle of friends and go about by himself, and for his wife to do likewise.

Men always had their clubs and in the old days the saloon often was the accepted masculine hang-out. Whether there are more men's clubs because the saloon was outlawed I am not prepared to say. It is certainly true, however, that women's clubs are becoming more and more the accepted thing.

Besides, neither men nor women seem to demand the companionship of each other as much as they did in former years. By this I do not mean that wives do not care whether their husbands spend their time with them or not, or vice versa. I mean that neither sex insists upon close, private companionship as before.

Men and women do not seem to get the enjoyment out of each other's company that they should. What can we hold responsible for these conditions? Who or what is to blame? The breaking up of the home is one factor, undoubtedly.

High rentals have forced people into tiny apartments. These small and often cramped quarters are not conducive to comfort nor to a home atmosphere which appeals to every human heart.

The kitchen and separate dining-room are gradually becoming memories. The luxuries of "them makes wives want to eat in restaurants so as to do away with the trouble and odor of cooking.

The so-called servant problem also has a bearing on the breaking up of the home. The average family cannot afford to pay, for a maid or cook and the young girls who marry these days don't want to bother with housework.

But besides what might be termed these physical changes regarding the marital state, something also has happened to the character make-up of men and women, themselves which makes them more self-satisfied and self-contained than ever.

This is a kind of selfishness which has gained special headway since the war. A good deal of our sentiment and many of our ideals went bang during that frightful holocaust. The materialism and sordidness of human nature came to the fore. We got used to hearing about killing.

The whole general result was a sort of "Everybody out for himself, John" attitude. The men got it first. The women later.

Women began to feel that sacrifice, devotion, love and tenderness were only empty phrases and practised by the unsophisticated. To be "wise" about men became a mark of smartness.

For men and women to be mutually dependent upon one another came to be regarded as a stale joke. So now we find men and women actually boasting that their respective wives and husbands each go their own way. Husbands often allow wives to go to tea with other men and the wives allow their husbands entertaining other women.

One often wonders why some couples married at all.

But does this mutual independence of men and women make them any happier? Certainly not.

The greatest kick in the relationship of the sexes is mutual companionship and mutual dependence. All joys and sorrows must be shared.

If a man does not believe of his wife that he cannot conceive of life apart from her, then he does not love her as he might. If a woman does not feel that her husband gratifies her deepest mental urges, then she has not surrendered her individuality to him according to her best interests.

This independence between the sexes and its resultant drifting apart is a passing phase, undoubtedly, and in due course it will right itself.

Nevertheless, in the meantime, those who subscribe to it are pursuing a most short-sighted policy.

If you always drift away and forever seek other fields for happiness you may get more variety into your life. You will, however, lose in depth and richness that is decidedly worth going after.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

To remove ink stains from handkerchiefs—Cut a raw tomato in half and rub it well into the stain.

To wash white feathers use castile soap just as you would in washing wool Rub the feather between the hands in suds and rinse, then rub, using a down stroke, with a towel. Take some starch and rub into the feather until it is dry then shake out the starch and it is ready to curl. To curl use a silver butter knife.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUP

"I—I don't know what you mean," "Isn't it obvious?" snapped Herbert. "You learn that he has been injured and it upsets you so that you're trembling like a leaf. Actually, you're shaking and white and——" he paused suddenly and a great light seemed to break. "You, and, by Jove, it's happened before! The night you learned he was in my office you dropped a cup and spilled coffee all over the rug. I remember very clearly. You——!"

She stared at him, wide-eyed and breathless, hoping devoutly that he wouldn't connect Holmes' presence with her sudden fainting fit at May Varney's party.

CHAPTER 28.

DANGEROUS GROUND

It was a very worried Lila who kept her luncheon appointment with Jack Farquahar the following day.

She was resolved that something must be done to avoid a daily engagement with Farquahar; it was far too risky with Herbert in his present suspicious state of mind.

She hadn't slept much, but the evening at home with Herbert had passed off fairly pleasantly. Fortunately he had not connected Holmes with her supposed fainting attack at May Varney's, but she felt uneasy, because she hadn't quite succeeded in allaying his suspicions that there was something else about her manner when she learned of Holme's accident.

Farquahar was waiting for her in the foyer of the restaurant she had appointed—another of those discreet places where Herbert was not likely to lunch. He looked very handsome and masterful. His smile of greeting faded to an expression of disappointment. "You didn't wear them!"

She wondered what he meant, as she smilingly slipped off her glove and exhibited the circlet of diamonds—the one that had caused such a trouble-some scene between herself and Herbert. In fact, she was rather congratulating herself on her cleverness in remembering to put it on, also it had cost her a pang, to take off the ring of the man she adored.

Farquahar's face softened at sight. "You do know, sweetheart? You do like buying those hideous white flowers!"

"Ah, I was afraid you had lost it. But why didn't you wear my flowers?" "Your flowers!" echoed Lila bewildered-ly.

"I sent you orchids this morning." "You sent me—Where did you send them?" asked Lila hollowly.

"To your home, of course," he answered puzzled. "Where should I send them?"

Lila knew a moment's panic. Had Herbert intercepted them? And what message had Jack written on his card?

"I believe I had the right address. No. 21 East Sixty-Fourth, isn't it?" Lila was weak with relief. Her father's house!

"You didn't receive them?"

"I—I left home early," 'evaded Lila "How did you find the address?"

"In the telephone-directory, of course I called you, too, but the telephone was busy."

"Thank Heaven!" murmured Lila to herself. Aloud she said: "Jack, you must promise never to telephone me or to come to my home. My—that man I spoke of yesterday is very real-ous. He keeps a very close watch on me. And nothing must happen to dis-turb Dad while he is——Ill."

"I see," he said, his dark brows contracted in a frown. "But why have you always been so mysterious about your address? Why did you tell me to send all my letters to some place far up-town?"

"Because my dearest friend has a studio there, and she tak-s the trouble to look after my mail and—er—forwards it, when I'm not in town. She's really a darling. She's——"

"I don't care to talk about her," broke in Farquahar abruptly. "I want to talk about you. Lila, will you give me your word that, as soon as your father is out of danger, you will break this infernal engagement and marry me?"

"Oh, Jack, why do you torment me?" she pleaded tearfully. "You know my hands are tied."

"You don't love me, yes. I admit that. But I won't promise to let you have your own way long. Why can't you talk with your father?"

"Oh, no, no, no!" cried Lila in panic "I tell you he must be kept perfectly quiet. The slightest excitement—"

"Oh, very well," sighed Farquahar. "But it's ridiculous waiting."

"Yes, yes, I know," murmured Lila consolingly.

He bent toward her.

"You do know, sweetheart? You do love me a little bit?"

"I want you to be happy, Jack," declared Lila evasively.

"You know the only thing that will give me happiness," he murmured bit terly.

Lila was distracted.

"Let's go for a walk in the Park after lunch," she suggested. Surely, she thought, that was safe enough. He wouldn't kiss her in public, and nobody she knew would be in the Park at that hour.

He gave a trifle sulkily. As they strolled along, Lila told him how his identification tags had been found on the body of a soldier. But he refused to be interested; he already knew about it.

"The spy who stole them got his shortly after, apparently," he remarked gloomily.

"And I gave it away Jack. I didn't need it, of course, so I gave it to a charity for disabled soldiers, in memory of you. Now, I suppose, it's got to be returned, and I—well, I daren't ask Dad."

"I'll return it," he said. "I have a——" little money that I was saving for our marriage. But it doesn't look as though I'd need it for a long time," he added bitterly.

Lila was infinitely relieved.

"I'm terribly sorry, Jack."

"It doesn't matter." Nothing matters but you. And it seems to me that you're acting very strangely Lila. I don't believe you're glad I'm back."

"Oh, Jack, dont say such unkind things' she begged.

"Then why do you give me so little of your time?" he demanded. "Why do you seem to want to avoid me? Why do you walk me around this infernal park, instead of receiving me at your home?"

"I've told you that my father—the man I'm engaged to——"

He whirled on her angrily.

"Do you have to see that fellow every evening?"

Lila nodded dumbly.

"And yet you try to tell me that he never kissed you?" he accused bitterly. "He's an old man," faltered Lila. "He doesn't really love me. It's only my position——"

Farquahar's gray eyes, brilliant with anger, were on her.

"Do you know what I think, Lila?" She shook her head.

"I think you're telling me untruths from start to finish! Don't drive me too far, Lila!"

CHAPTER 29

That Treacherous Radio

When Lila hurried home, after getting rid of a distinctly suspicious and sulky Jack Farquahar, she found Dorothy descending from her car in front of the house.

Dorothy looked relieved at the sight of Lila.

"You haven't seen Herbert, yet?" she asked quickly.

Lila shook her head, a premonition of disaster coming over her.

"I've just left Jack, and, Dot, r was terrible! I think he suspects some thing."

"Never mind Captain Farquahar. Listen to me. Herbert rang up my studio at noon sharp."

Lila's knees threatened to give way. "What did you say?"

"When he asked for you, I told him that I'd just posed you, and please not to ask me to make you break the pose, or I'd have to start my painting over again."

"Did he believe you?" breathed Lila. "Apparently—with reservations. But my telephone rang at intervals all the afternoon. I didn't answer it.. Probably it was he. I wanted him to think that we'd gone out together. That's why I drove down to warn you. We can pretend we've been a concert."

"It's awful, Dot, these lies!" moaned Lila.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I attended a very informal party one night and before going home I met a young man who seemed very refined. He asked me if he could take me home. I agreed, but he went beyond friendship's boundaries. I was furious, but I loved him. Should I see him again?

SARAH.

SARAH:—I must first reprimand you, my dear, for breaking one of the primary rules of etiquette! You should have left him gaily with the boy who escorted you! You were his guest in a sense and owed him that considera-tion. I am surprised that you can imagine yourself concerned about a boy who presumed so much on such slight provocation and I do not think his actions indicate that he is worthy of your friendship. If he calls you and wishes to see you, I would advise you to refuse unless he promises not to offend you again. I imagine you are too young to entertain any thoughts of love. Sarah, and would advise you to put aside such ideas until you are old enough to understand them. Accept this boy's friendship only if he offers it to you on a basis that is desirable and unquestionable.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a sixteen year old and am in love with a young boy about twenty. He has proposed to me but I don't know whether to marry him now or wait until I am older. Can you give me some advice?

M. B. O.

M. B. O.: You are much too young to even consider marriage and I advise you most sincerely to postpone any such decision until you are quite a bit older. Put aside all thoughts of love and concern yourself with this boy's friendship; explain to him that you are too young to consider his proposal but that you wish to keep him as a friend. Whvt do your parents say about this my dear? I am sure they think you too young to be seriously concerned about any boy.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Lace cascades on bodices and sleeves are smart on crepe and velvet frocks.

Oxford cloth ensembles with white satin blouses are being seen on smart New York women.

Washing satin is one of the most popular materials for lingerie at the moment, and white is once again enjoying a vogue, especially when it is trimmed with heavy bands of tinted lace.

Long evening frocks continue to have a vogue among New York's ultra hodden fashionable set.

The pinkish rose tones in transparent velvet satin and taffeta led all others at a big night at the Metropolitan Opera this week and green was undoubtedly second in choice of color, the tones worn ranging from the yellow-krva-krvens to the bright blue-greens.

ABLE EXECUTIVE

Local Representative Working Hard For Success In New Year

While baseball is far in the offing, local enthusiasts are losing no time in getting under way in preparation for the great summer pastime. A committee was chosen at Wednesday night's meeting to attend the general meeting in Port Hope tomorrow afternoon at the Queen's Hotel. It is assured that Belleville, Peterboro, Kingston and Oshawa will come back to the Senior grouping with Port Hope seriously considering the question of, re-entering the old Central League. Belleville will enter a strong team on the diamond when the umps call "play ball" in the Spring of 1928. The response from the supporters in the financial campaign is proof that they are solidly behind the efforts of "Ernie" Rowsome and his colleagues to put baseball back on the plant which it formerly enjoyed in Belleville.

Not only will a Senior team function but it is expected that an Intermediate squad will carry on as well. This latter team might first be found in the Bay of Quinte League. It is also desired to organize a Junior team, as this is the point where the youngsters get their start for higher company. Bob Collins coached the Junior team for many years and he is to a great degree responsible for the success attained on the diamond of many of the boys who have played under the Senior colors for the last seven years. The same boys who composed the team last year have promised to turn out in uniform when the call is issued next April. The idea of getting started early is an excellent one as the foundation can be laid for a first-class club and that is what the fans desire. The city of Belleville possesses one of the finest baseball diamonds in Eastern Ontario and with good competition between the cities in Central Ontario the old interest will be revived.

"Chuck" Jeffery, who was twirling some masterful ball in the Detroit City league for the past two years, is back in the city and can be depended upon for some games.

"Hoot" Gibson, who was the mainstay of the club last year will be much better with a little help and some big things are expected of him in the coming season.

Belleville was some years ago the hot-bed of baseball in the district, but for some unknown reason things have been going steadily down-hill until the last two or three weeks when it was felt that a move must be made to get things started. The leading baseball authorities in the surrounding cities were communicated with and as a result the meeting at Port Hope was arranged for Saturday afternoon. The delegates expect to come back with some important announcements for the fans in the city and district.

A general meeting will be called some time soon when every citizen who is behind the ball team will be asked to turn out. The time and place will be announced within a few days.

The local Maroons have already passed a New Year's resolution to open the season with a win over the Consent team here tonight. The boys are shaping up nicely and the Cornwall squad should taste defeat in the initial game.

Fred Medium, the good horse formerly owned by Mr. Herrington of Picton, is hanging up some records in the winter racing at Dufferin Park, Toronto. The Picton horse was recently purchased by a new owner and is making some money for him.

The High School team will likely be minus the services of their crack goal-tender Cleo Colling this season He may find it impossible to play owing to pressure of studies.

Bowen is a net-minder of the first degree and although he is not of the classy variety, results are what count and Bowen will take care of the shots from the sticks of the Flying Frenchmen.

The Easterners always bring a smart team to the city and Belleville fans always welcome their visit due to the fact that they are a colorful aggregation.

Gillie, the big defence man, is not likely to be found in the St. Lawrence town team tonight. He has shaken the dust of Cornwall from his feet and has settled in an Ottawa Valley town.

Ralph Tilton is another hometown product who is cavorting up around Windsor way. The shifty little centre man deserves the fourth substitute role in the Hornet's Can-Pro team.

This boy Jarvis should make a hit with the crowd tonight providing here is hard ice. He is fast on the blades and can keep up with the best o fthem. Jarvis hails from Aultsville, near Ottawa.

Stan Hagerman has lost none of his old-time cunning and should account for a few goals during the coming season. Hagerman keeps himself in excellent condition and is ready to go the sixty minutes right now.

Paul Hibbard has signed an imposing array for the Quinte Electricians in the City League. Most of the boys with the Coleman St. Five have seen service in the Intermediate or Junior ranks. John Canning, his older brother Bill, "Punch" Derry, formerly with Cobourg Intermediates, Ted Whalen and Paul Hibbard are among the lads who will trot out with the Electricians.

Intermediate basket ballers are working hard following their defeat at the hands of Royal Military College and hope to more than avenge themselves on the Napanee team on the 14th of January.

Coach Scott lads of the Central Y Seniors is teaching the boys a few tricks learned on the courts around Toronto.

HOCKEY SEASON OPENS TONIGHT

Cornwall Team Arrive With Strong Team For Big Battle

OPENING CEREMONIES

Maroons Confident Of Trimming Factory Town Squad

Belleville Maroons are all ready for the grand opening of the hockey season at Arnott's Arena on Turnbull St. tonight, when Cornwall team, under the leadership of Johnny Dennenay, brother of "Cy" and Corbett of professional fame, will lock horns with the locals. The old-time feud will be revived where it left off last year when in the memorable game at Cornwall, the Factory Town squad lowered the Belleville colors in a duel which took no equal in the group battle last year.

The season will be officially opened by Mayor Elect Morley E. Duff and that able official will drop the gymsun between the sticks of the two centre players and send the boys on their way. It's a long way to the group championship but the Maroons feel that this is Belleville's year and the pucksters are hoping to grab the verdict tonight.

Two of the most colorful players in the Cornwall line-up will be missing in the persons of Gillie, the big defenseman and Ralph Tilton, who played in Belleville last year. However, the Easterners may spring some surprises and Manager Dennigan has been keeping pretty quiet about his team. Some fast boys were developed in the Cornwall City League and some of these may be found in the line-up tonight.

Much is being expected of Jack Rooney this year and fans will keep their eyes trailed on the work of the ex-Cobourg lad. He is looking more in fast than ever and has been showing up exceptionally well in practice. Rooney nearly defeated the Cornwall team single handed in the game against the visitors at home last year when he accounted for two goals and he is out to add to that record tonight.

Another new-comer, Morgan Jarvis, is well-thought of by Manager Ed. Thomas and he will get a chance to display his wares tonight. Jarvis possesses plenty of speed and gives his best while on the ice. Boyle may be given a chance and the former Picton forward has been doing well in the practice sessions. Bowen, Whalen, Green, Hagerman and Hibbard need no introduction to Belleville fans as they are all seasoned veterans.

Manager Thomas has arranged for attendance of the 155th Argyl band who will render some lively airs between the periods. Claire Devlin, who is regarded as one of the foremost officials in Eastern Ontario, will handle the bell and with his experience in the O. H. A. and the League at King ston, the fans should have no complaint in this direction.

Fans are requested to adhere to the "no smoking" rule as myrh as possible as the cloud of smoke undoubtedly do not help the players and besides making it objectionable to many of the spectators. There are still some reserved seat tickets not yet sold and there will be plenty of room for everyone. The game will get under way at 8.15.

Do not try to find out too much about your friends if you would retain their friendship.

No Reduction In License Fees In Sight For Next Year

Toronto, Dec. 31.—No increase in the gasoline tax is contemplated for the coming year. Neither will there be any reduction in motor license fees. Announcements to this effect were made by Premier Ferguson yesterday evening at the close of a protracted meeting of the Ontario Cabinet.

The Legislative Dis-mast

The general legislative program for the coming session was discussed at the Cabinet Council meeting and matters relating to improvement and reorganization in various departments were under consideration.

Survey Being Ride

"The expenditures on roads are not met by the revenues from the traffic," said the Premier. "The department has been making a survey of the whole situation because we want to provide for the capital necessary in the issue of debentures for a period covering the life of the roads so as to take care of the replacement. By the exercise of very rigid economy this coring year we will try to get along without increasing any tax."

GENERAL MOTORS TAKE NEWSPAPER MEN TO OSHAWA TO SEE NEW CAR

1928 Chevrolet Shown Yesterday Will Be On Sale On Monday

Claimed by its sponsors to be the most distinctive low-priced automobile yet offered to the public, a new Chevrolet goes on display for the first time here. Two achievements of volume production almost as outstanding as the car itself are indicated in the news that it is to be offered at a reduction in price and that Chevrolet dealers everywhere are able to promise prompt delivery.

Between thirty and forty representative Canadian newspapermen were yesterday guests of the Campbell-Ewald Limited, Toronto and the General Motors of Canada at Oshawa. The party met the King Edward Hotel Toronto and were conveyed to Oshawa in busses where they were the luncheon guests of the company. Mr. Melvin W. Rossie, an old Oshawa boy, now ed itor of the London Advertiser, was among those present and was invited to a seat at the head table beside Mr. R. S. McLaughlin, Mr. Rowse and Mr. McLaughlin were refused much.

During luncheon Mr. R. S. McLaughlin gave a short talk in which he outlined the history of the General Motors Limited and stated that while as yet the Chevrolet car was 65 per cent. a Canadian product, the Pontiac 60 per cent, and the Buick less than that, "I'll be our aim to manufacture or buy in Canada as nearly 100 per cent. of our cars as possible." Mr. McLaughlin also so stated that a great deal has been said about the invasion of American Capital in Canada. "As a Canadian born with a native born father and

DEMANDS INVESTIGATION INTO THE "S 4" DISASTER

Washington, Dec. 31.—The Navy's congressional inquiry into the sinking of the ship.

"We both feel that the Navy Department has sacrificed our dear boy and his comrades and the cruel indifference which they have shown three poor boys who died in the service of their country is inhuman and without precedent," the letter said.

McClintic in making public the letter issued a statement declaring that it will be a "tragedy on justice" for Congress to refuse to create a special committee to investigate the disaster.

BOY SCOUTS TO BREAK WAY OUT

Trapped In Mountains With out Provisions By Snow Drifts

RESCUE ATTEMPTED

Twenty-Two Lads Average Twelve To Fifteen Years Of Age.

Modest, Calif., Dec. 31.—Twenty-two Stanislaus County boy scouts snowbound in a deserted lumber camp ten miles in the Sierras beyond Long Barn Calif., with less than their day's provisions, today faced a fight with drifts separating them from civilization. The boys, averaging from twelve to fourteen years, made ready to start out for Long Barn on foot while a rescue party with a caterpillar tractor attempted to crawl into the mountains to meet them.

The scouts went to their camp in the Sierras above Long Barn last week and expected to trek camp last Thursday. Heavy snows in the mountains cut off communications and when the boys, failed to arrive home a rescue party was organized.

LINDSAY WOULD BUY HYDRO ELECTRIC

Lindsay, Dec. 31.—At a special meeting of Town Council last night it was decided to submit a by-law to the ratepayers, on January 9, authorizing purchase of the entire distributing system of the Hydro-Electric Commission with all the boundaries of Lindsay. The purchase price will be $130,000.

Lindsay is a member of the Central Ontario Power Association. It is stated that the town objects to profits accruing from Lindsay being used in other parts of the system.

READY NOW FOR RAISING OF 'S-4'

Some Of Victims' Bodies May Be Removed During Operation

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 31 — Two more bodies from the "S 4" sunk off here in collision with a coast guard destroyer, divers from the salvage fleet got to the bottom today for the first time to enter the tomb of forty officers and men who went down with the submersible. Divers had completed the second and last tunnel under the boat's bow, which included inhabitants of small villages. The two organizations are collaborating on an extensive plan to distribute food and other necessaries by aeroplane to small places in Kent County and Hazebrouck counties which have been without means of communication with the outer world for some days.

It was thought possible that some of the bodies of the victims might be recovered in the course of to-day's operations.

BETTER SPIRIT

Premier Baldwin Believes Progress Has Been Made In 1927

London, Dec. 31.—Premier Baldwin, checking progress made this year toward the restoration of industrial prosperity in England, believes that a better spirit in industry has been shown and a greater desire on the part of capitalists and labor to co-operate with each other in the solution of the problems of their industries. The message from the Premier to the Primrose League, a Conservative organization of which he is Grand Master, contained the foregoing belief.

YOUTH TELLS OF THIRD MURDER

Implicates Hickman In Killing Of Aged Farmer In Kansas

Cottonwood Falls, Kansas, Dec. 31— Authorities to-day re-opened the investigation of the slaying of S. M. Rowley of Mason City, Iowa, whose body was found near here September 13 last. The sheriff, however, was inclined to scout the theory that Rowley was the man named in the alleged confession obtained by Detroit police from a youth who said he was James Ellsworth, aged 23 of New York.

Ellsworth told police officers that he shot an aged farmer near here last summer when he was travelling with two youths who introduced themselves as William Edward Hickman and Welby Hunt. Ellsworth insisted that the youth known as Hunt forced him to shoot the farmer so they could obtain his automobile to replace their car, which had broken down.

NEGROES DO NOT GET FAIR SHOW

Complain Of Discrimination By University Authorities In New York

New York, Dec. 31.—Complaint of alleged discrimination against negroes at New York university has been made by the National Association for Advancement of Colored People. James Weldon Johnson, secretary of the Association said the Society's attention had been called to at least four instances of discrimination within the last year and a half.

One student, he said had been refused a dormitory room after he had been assigned one by mail, while the other cases were negro students who were excluded from physical education courses because of their race. He said the Association was seeking a definite statement of policy from the university.

HUNT FOR TAXI DRIVER IN CASE

New York, Dec. 31.—Search for the slayer of Mrs. Mary Hannigan, wealthy white actress, centred to-day in a quest for the driver of a taxi-cab reported to have been seen before the upper west side apartment where she lived.

Neighbors of the murdered actress believed clubbed to death a week ago by a man who engaged her apartment of jewelry and furs, told the police a taxi had been parked for long intervals before the apartment for months preceding her death.

TRYING TO EMULATE DEED OF WILLIAM E. HICKMAN

Beverley, N.J., Dec. 31.—A bespectacled would-be kidnapper, who calls himself "Wolf" and has terrorized this neighborhood for three days, was being sought today by police throughout the state. Believed to have been prompted in his actions by a reading of the kidnapping and slaying of Marian Parker in Los Angles by William Hickman, who kidnapped himself "Fox", the man has made three appearances in this vicinity. Terror stricken mothers have been warned to keep their children indoors while fathers serve on the posses.

"The "Wolf's" latest appearance was late last night, when he attacked seventeen-year-old Reginald Duncan. It was his second attempt to carry off Duncan On Thursday night the boy escaped after a severe beating and last night he got away before his assailant could get hold of him.

TORONTO SHOWS STEADY GROWTH

Annual Review Of Ontario's Capital Reveals Healthy Condition

Toronto, Dec. 31.—Insocething the record of year ending today, Toronto found there had been an increase in the birth rate and in the number of marriages and much greater building activity. Customs duties are much higher and the population of city has increased by 13,238 double the usual annual increase. The population is set at 563,299 by the Assessment Department.

Fire losses are about the same as last year, police statistics show an increase in crime, the murder list being five and schools report a greatly increased attendance.

The increase in the birth rate was slight, from 21.3 to 21.7 per thousand, but it compared with an increase in last year's and was consequently satisfactory. Marriages increased from 11,677 last year to 12,070 this year. There was an extremely slight increase in deaths.

Building activities are probably the most remarkable of all the year's doings in Toronto. About $45,000,000 worth of building is actually going on or planned at the present time. Permits issued were in the vally, of $21,728,414, skyscraper office and newspaper structures and hotels are under way.

An unfortunate jump in the number of motor car fatalities is recorded, 85 as compared with 49 last year. The list of violent or sudden deaths however, 1,090, was slightly less than last year's mark. Of five murders in Toronto this year, only that of an infant found in the Don River has not been solved.

Fire losses were $1,470,082 compared with $1,296,078 last year, the largest a million dollar Canada Furniture Building fire and the destruction of Erskine Presbyterian Church, a loss of $100,000 being the largest fires.

"Hadn't you being bank $30,000 from Toronto; that was the amount of first prize wasn't it" he was asked

"Do you know how much I brought to Germany? Six thousand mark," replied Vierkoetter. "Too much expense, too much expense," he wailed.

LAWYER WILL PLEAD INSANITY IN EFFORT TO SAVE HICKMAN'S LIFE

Young Attorney, Employed By Mother Announces Plan Of Defence

TALKS WITH SLAYER

Killer Of Parker Girl Once Again Changes His Confession His

Los Angeles, Dec. 31.—Insanity will be the answer pleaded by William E. Hickman for his confessed abduction and murder of Marian Parker, it was announced by his attorney, Jerome Walsh, who was sent here by the mother of the 19-year-old youth to defend him.

After a study of the California penal code, the insanity defense was outlined by the attorney as the basis of his fight for Hickman, who today told officers that the $1,500 ransom obtained from the dead girl's father meant more to him than the child's right to live.

Confers With Slayer

Walsh, who arrived yesterday from Kansas City, Hickman's home town, spent the day closeted with Los Angeles officials and in Hickman's cell with the prisoner. He said that a slight examination of the Hickman penal code offered four possible avenues of plea. These are, he pointed out, "guilty," "insanity," "guilty and insane," or "not guilty and insane."

The last plea would require first a trial as to guilty of the charge of kidnapping and murder and later separate trial as to sanity before either the same or a different jury.

On New Section

The legal road open to a defense of Hickman on plea of insanity are founded on new sections of the penal code, legal authorities said, which have not been tested before the Supreme Court.

Walsh expressed his belief that Hickman had withheld information of the kidnapping and murder of the 12-year-old daughter of Perry M. Parker, police official. He said he was convinced that the crime had not been committed by one person alone.

The attorney also announced that Hickman's mother and sister might come to California for the trial.

Change In Story

In revealing that Hickman had said the $1,500 ransom money was more important to him than the right of Marian Parker to life, Chief of Detectives Herman Cline pointed out that Hickman had changed the story he told in his written confession. The killing of the girl first was attributed by Hickman to an unconquerable desire to kill, but later before him blindfolded and tied to a chair.

Hickman's new admission, as related by Cline was: "She was restless Saturday morning; I was afraid she would wake in the valley, and anyway, the $1,500 was more important to me than her right to live."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Hold faithfulness and sincerity as first principles. Have no friends not equal to yourself. When you have faults do not fear to abandon them.
CONFUCIUS.

1927-1928

While regret must tinge any retrospect of a dying year, Belleville has much to be optimistic about from the twelve months which end today. The population has shown a healthy normal growth; industry and trade have been uniformly good and there have been no disasters or failures to retard the growth of the city. Altogether we have added another solid stone to the building of a greater future.

Belleville is in the fortunate position of having no real poverty. True, there are families where care is necessary to make their finances equal the demands of daily life, but no man willing to work need not go to want. While our industries are not so extensive as we sometimes wish, they provide steady employment for our own people, and are growing steadily with the city and with the extending prosperity of Canada as a whole. This is not a city of booms, but neither is it a city where depression is likely to cause suffering.

Perhaps the outstanding event in the industrial life of the city in 1927 was the locating here of the Stephens-Adamson Company, a branch of a great United States industry, with headquarters at Aurora, Illinois. This industry has a big future in Canada, as they manufacture a line for which Canada offers an ample market. It is by no means a speculative business, doubtful of success, as their lines are well established in the States and known in Canada, and the Company has behind it ample resources. As their Canadian business grows, the firm will give employment and good wages to many scores of workmen and will add considerably to the prosperity of the city.

This acquisition to the industrial life in the city was only secured by quick, intelligent work on the part of Mayor Wilmot and Industrial Commissioner Owen Herity, backed by the support of the Chamber of Commerce and the city council, and this one success is enough to justify the existence of the Chamber of Commerce and answer its critics.

Building in the city has been unusually good; the year 1927 constituting a record for new constructions. Much of this, of course, is accounted for by the erection of the New Collegiate Institute which will prove to be a decided asset in many ways. This badly needed new building has been secured under such favorable conditions of Government aid that the net cost to the city's taxpayers will be no more than would have been necessary for a much smaller and inferior structure.

Not only will the new Collegiate provide facilities for a thorough and vocational training for our own young people, but will bring scores of the youth of the adjoining counties here for their education. Trained in Belleville, many of these young people will go into business here, and help in the future progress of Belleville.

* * *

While certain chronic grumblers have objected that our tax rate is high it is not unduly so. In 1930 certain consolidated debentures which were issued years ago to put the city's finances in proper shape, will be paid up, and this will give considerable relief. And while we think about taxes, we should also remember that we have splendid schools, fine streets and roads, good police and fire protection, and all the other luxuries and conveniences which only the larger cities previously offered. And, in addition, we live in most beautiful and healthy surroundings. In a very few minutes the Belleville citizens may, by car, reach some of the loveliest spots in Canada. .

* * *

For the past few years, at any rate, this city has enjoyed good civic government, largely due to an awakened public interest in the city's business. It is to be regretted that Mayor Wilmot is retiring from public life this year after one year in the Mayor's chair, but his successor Mayor-Elect Morley Duff, may be safely counted on to carry on the traditions of service established by the councils of the past few years. All of the aldermen who offered themselves for re-election secured the endorsation of the public, which was only a well-merited tribute to their usefulness and efficiency. It is safe to say that the Council for 1928 will measure up to its predecessors and that the city's business is in good hands.

* * *

Altogether Belleville has nothing particularly to worry about and much to be thankful for. It is conceded that the coming decade will see Canada take an outstanding place in the world's affairs, and that on the foundation worthily laid in the past, the Dominion will erect a structure of prosperity which will excite the admiration of the world. In this prosperity, there is nothing idle and every of the entire world, which can prevent Belleville having a due part. We are indeed fortunate dwellers in a fortunate city, and only absolute lack of energy and foresight can block the pathway of success which lies before us.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

Some anxiety is expressed about the effect of the new "Flapper" vote when 2,000,000 more women than men will have the vote in England. The women will have to turn out to vote better than they do in elections in this country before much effect will be felt.—Ottawa Journal.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

First Burglar (with Communistic tendencies)—It just shows yer, Fred, as there's something return in the capitalist system. All these 'ere people asleepin' round us an' me an' you still up workin'!

Fred—Well, what is wrong with your dear husband?

I think, doctor, he is worrying about money.

Ah! I think I can relieve him of that!

VOYAGE END

Once again
The clipper her her course, showing red lead,
Shattering the sea-tops into golden rain,
The waves bowed down before her like blown grain;
Onwards she thundered, on; her voyage was short,
Before the trier's bell rang her into port.
Cheerily they rang her in, those bealing bells,
The new-come beauty stately from the sea,
Whitening the blue heave of the drowsy swells,
Treading the bubbles down. With three times three
They cheered her moving beauty in, and she Came to her berth so noble, so superb;
Swayed like a queen, and answered to the curb.
Then in the sunset's flush they went aloft,
And unbent sails in that most lovely hour,
When the light gentles and the wind is soft,
And beauty in the heart breaks like a flower.
Working aloft they saw the mountain tower,
Snow to the peak; they heard the launchmen shout;
And bright along the bay the lights came out.
—John Masefield, in Dauber.

Doubling the Arguments for Saving
ALL that can be said in favor of opening a savings account in the Standard Bank may be repeated with greater emphasis as regards a joint savings account. Joint accounts are primarily for convenience of depositors, but where two people are bound together by common interests, the moral as well as the practical value of working together, plunging their financial betterment with the aid of a joint bank account is clearly evident. The Standard Bank solicits your joint savings account.

Royal Bank of Canada Makes New High Records For Canadian Banking

In Annual Report Total Assets, Total Deposits, Capital and Reserve Include Undivided Profits, and Earings Are the Highest Ever Recorded By Any Bank in Canada—Striking Increases Reported.

Banking history for Canada is made by the Royal Bank of Canada in its annual report for the fiscal year to November 30th. For a great many years the bank has been forging steadily ahead, but it has remained for the year 1927 to see it make not only its greatest forward movement, but also to establish in practically all departments the highest records ever recorded by any bank in Canada.

The shareholders of the Royal Bank have almost become accustomed to marked gains from year to year, but it is doubtful if any could have anticipated the growth indicated in the report now going forward to them.

Total assets at $894,053,961 are not only by far the largest ever reported by any Canadian Bank, but represent a gain for the year of over $128,000,000. As in natural with an institution which enjoys to such a marked degree the confidence of the Canadian people, the largest gain was in deposits, which now stand at $722,636,000, as compared with $617,802,259 a year ago, an increase of nearly $110,000,000.

Strong Liquid Position

While handling a very much larger volume of general business throughout the country, the bank has maintained its usual strong liquid position, by reportion liquid assets of $455,433,842 equivalent to 57.33 per cent. of liabilities to the public, as against $367,209,082 last year. Included in them is cash on hand and in banks amounting to $187,651,551, equal to 23.12 per cent. of public liabilities. All principal accounts in liquid assets show substantial increases for the year. Cash, including gold and Dominion notes, stands at $113,393,682; Dominion and Provincial Government securities amount to $73,307,380, up from $64,733,057; Canadian municipal securities and British, Foreign and Colonial public securities other than Canadian, $21,296,336 as compared with $20,820,632, while total call loans of $151,288,024 compare with $101,717,445.

The extent to which the bank is helping to finance the increased volume of trade and commerce throughout the country is reflected by commercial loans in Canada of $325,345,805, up from $197,759,220. The growth in commercial loans outside of Canada is by comparison, considerably smaller. Total commercial loans are $381,109,498 as compared with $338,727,092.

Larger Earning Power

The Profit and Loss Account also sets a record for Canada by reporting profits for the year of $5,370,145 as compared with $4,510,230 in the previous year. With the balance carried forward from the previous year the total available for distribution amounted to $6,779,320. This was appropriated as follows: Dividends and bonus $3,986,000; contributions to officers' pension fund, $100,000; reserve for bank premises, $400,000 and reserve for Dominion Government taxes, $485,000—leaving a balance at credit of Profit and Loss of $1,808,321, compared with $1,469,574.

During the year the paid-up capital was increased by $20,000,000. With the premium on new shares allotted to shareholders, the reserve and undivided profits now stand at $31,809,851.

The statement is one which is certain to be received with a great deal of satisfaction, not only by the shareholders of the bank, but by the people of Canada generally, as it indicates in a striking manner the active and prosperous conditions that have prevailed in the Dominion during the past year.

Principal accounts included in the statement compare with the previous year, as follows:—

PLAYED IN KINGSTON

The Bon Ton orchestra played at a private dance in Kingston last evening. The local musicians made a hit with the Kingston people who declare their playing was among the best heard in the Limestone city for some time. The Bon Tons will furnish the music at the Belleville Club dance tonight here.

Y MEMBERS PARTY

The older boys and young men members of the Y. M. C. A. will see the old year out and the New Year in at the Association building on Campbell St., tonight. A special program of games stunts and music is being arranged by the "Y" officials. Art Crozier will preside at the piano and Jack Andrews will lead the singing. The proceedings will start at ten o'clock and continue until midnight. Rev. McCutcheon of the Tabernacle Church will deliver a special address.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT ISSUED

The Financial Statement issued by the Canadian Legion Legion shows the total expenditure of $123.19, the receipts and expenditures balancing exactly. The Christmas tree committee desire to thank all the citizens who so kindly donated cake, sandwiches and etc. towards the Canadian Legion.

DISTRICT VISIT

Inspector Lougheed of the local Provincial Police has completed a tour of the North Country embracing his district. He finds conditions excellent and reports that police magistrates and constables report one of the quietest yuletides of recent years. Two motor cycles picked up in Cobourg for drunkenness, two in Peterboro, two at Lindsay and none in Haliburton County. This record speaks well for the new Government Control System.

SMALL MARKET

The inclement weather today had the effect of dwindling the attendance at the city market this morning. Few stalls were lined up at the outer market while the trade inside was small. Eggs sold at 55 and 60 cents dozen, butter retailed at 50 cents. Vegetables and produce remained about the same as last week.

MADE DIRECTOR

Mr. Fisher Wilmore, Manager of the Corbyville branch of the Canadian Industrial Acceptance Corporation has been elected that he has been made a director in the concern. Mr. Wilmore has been identified with the Company for some years and is regarded as one of the most capable of the officials.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS PARTY

Last evening Miss Blake Primm and her Sunday School Class, The Gleaners entertained in a very enjoyable social evening, the Busy Beavers class and their teacher Mrs.. J. Patteson, the 2. P. O. Class and their teacher Mrs. Horton ,the On We Go Boys class and their teacher, Mr. J. Patteson at Carmel Sunday School at her home in Carmel. About 40 guests were present The early part of the evening was spent in games. A delightful programme was put on by the following classes consisting of recitations, piano solos, recitations piano solos, piano duets and a contest. A very dainty lunch was served at mid-night by Mrs. Primm and her class. After a hearty clap for them fol the splendid entertainment the visiting class joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows." The gathering broke up by singing "God be With You Till We Meet Again," and each one expressed their way to their respective homes.

NEW YEAR'S DANCE

A New Year's dance in the Workman's Hall at Shannonville drew a large crowd last evening. An orchestra from Kingston supplied the music. Many from Belleville attended the function.

MRS. GULLIVER ENTERTAINS

The home of Mrs. Rufus Gulliver, 249 Ann Street was the scene of a social event last evening when a number of friends gathered for a social evening. Games were played and a supper served.

Social and Personals

Mr. Leo Barker, Rochester, is visiting his parents at Wellington Street.

Miss Edith Boyle nurse-in-training at Nicholl's Hospital Peterboro who has been visiting friends in the city for the past week left for Frankford yesterday where she will spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mastin.

MOYSE—JAY

A marriage of interest to Belleville people was celebrated at Christ Church last evening when Georgiana Tait became the wife of Charles Anon Moyse, also of Belleville with Rev. C. E. Clarke officiating. The marriage was performed by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McElrath.

The happy couple left on the mid-night train for Montreal where the honeymoon will be spent after which they will take up their residence in this city.

Moscow, December 31.—Eight women and one child perished when their sleigh was struck by a two - story wooden house near the Northern Railway Station to-day. A high wind and blinding snow cold severely handicapped the firemen.

QUINTE INSTITUTE DECEMBER MEETING

The Quinte Institute spent a very enjoyable afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. James Tarbutt for the December meeting.

There was a good attendance of about thirty members and three visitors present. After the opening ode and minutes read they all sang "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." Two very interesting papers were given one by Mrs. Geddes Bradshaw "How to Help Mothers to Have a Merry Christmas" the other by Mrs. Wm. Redner, "Doing Our Bit in Everyday Life". Mrs. F. Parrott and Mrs. G. Purtelle each favoured with a solo. The District President, Mrs. Beaty of Trenton gave a splendid address on the "Poultry Congress" which was held in Ottawa. A song was then given by Mrs. A. Clasie, Mrs. O. Purtelle, Mrs. C. Lyons and Mrs. F. Parrott. Mrs. G. Purtelle also favoured with an instrumental which was enjoyed. A short time was then spent in community singing.

The meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem after this the hostess served a dainty lunch.

ANNUAL MEETING GILEAD AUXILIARY

The annual meeting of the St. Andrews Gilead Missionary Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Wilmot Clare on Dec. 16th. There was a full attendance and the reports of the secretaries read to prevail. The society had no difficulty in meeting their allocation this year, though they are being left short one.

The following officers were elected for 1928.

Pres.—Mrs. Wilmot Clare.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. W. Hinds, Mrs. Rec. Sec.—Mrs. F. York.
Cor. Sec.—Mrs. J. McDougall.
Messenger Sec.—Mrs. G. Leavens.

SUCCESS OR FAILURE OF ADVERTISEMENTS

By LOUIS E. BISCH

Advertising has assumed proportions in America equaled nowhere else in the world.

Millions upon millions are spent in advertising yearly and so great is the power of the advertisement upon the American people that a new product can scarcely hope to compete in the open market unless it starts a big advertising campaign right at the start.

Science has been applied to the writing of ads and that is why it has made such tremendous headway. That science is psychology—the working of the human mind.

The advertisement that does not make an impression on the mind is just so much wasted paper ad printer's ink. Yet we do find many poorly written ads. We also find ads that use ungrammatical English.

There are ads that tend to offend good taste because they are too direct and personal.

There are also ads which, instead of winning you over develop in you a definite resistance.

The first and foremost requirement of an advertisement is appeal. The ad must have what is called "pulling power."

The next thing to be considered is how will the reader respond to the appeal. This usually is produced through the sense of sight and for this reason the advertisement, whether it be a card that is displayed or a newspaper insert or a sign on the highway, must catch the attention and hold it.

Coloring that is attractive or unusual picture that are different or inviting the size and position of the lettering—these and other factors are important in this connection.

It may be, of course, that an unsightly ad ugly ad will draw attention. It may even hold it.

The result, however, upon the emotions of the beholder are quite different from the result obtained from an ad that interests because it pleases the eye or pleases because of what is said.

In the former case the result may be one of definite displeasure. Then, to be sure, the reader will never buy the article advertised. He will undoubtedly keep away from the thing which by association, might displease him all over again. In order to gain attention, advertising writers sometimes go too far. Often they challenge you. Or they accuse you of neglect. Or they empanoise some intimacy about which you do not like to be reminded.

This combs of forgetting the principles of psychology that must, of necessity, make all appeals advertising or otherwise.

The modern business man would do well to study advertising as much as he studies the manufacture of his product.

The ad that tells about his goods is often the first introduction to the public.

What he wants is a friendly public. What he must avoid is such as possible is hostility. There is more advertising as well as the right kind. And the right kind demands careful study.

A SUITOR TOO MANY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

"Well, I never had much hope of seeing the Golden Gates anyway," said Dorothy, whimsically. "And a fib told in a good cause to help a friend—well, I don't know, Lila, I rather believe a just providence will make allowance. But, if you feel squeamish, we might go in and turn on the radio—the Baranov Orchestra is to broadcast this afternoon."

Laughing shakily, Lila led the way into the house. Siddons opened the door with a smirk.

"Mr. Ware telephoned several times this afternoon, Madame."

"What did I tell you?" Dorothy's eyes telegraphed to Lila.

The latter ordered tea, and, when it had come, Dorothy with a whimsical smile, turned on the radio. The sound of orchestra music filled the room."

"The Baranov Orchestra!" exclaimed Lila. "Well, I shan't feel quite such a fibber."

She began to tell Dorothy about her interview with Jack.

"And he even sent me flowers," she finished, "To Dad's house. Remind me to telephone over there later."

It was not long after the concert was finished that Herbert came in. His brows lifted at the sight of Dorothy.

"I telephoned your studio several times this afternoon," he was beginning when Lila cut him off.

"I know," she nodded. "But Dot and I were listening to the Baranov Orchestra."

She was congratulating herself that she had phrased her answer so that it was not a direct lie, when she became aware that Herbert was asking Lily:

"You know! How do you know, if you were not there?"

She looked helplessly at Dorothy, who responded promptly:

"Weren't you aware, Herbert, that I always keep in touch with my studio by telephone?"

"But I didn't leave my name with your switchboard operator."

Dorothy smiled negligently.

"Ah, you've no idea of the intelligence of that girl! She knows your voice, especially since you," she looked prettily apologetic, "made rather a fuss yesterday when you called to find out at what hour Lila had visited my studio."

Herberty flushed.

"I never fuss," he said stiffly.

Lila changed the conversation, unfortunately.

"Herbert, darling, you've no idea how wonderful the Baranov Orchestra is! You should have been there."

He looked at her literally.

"The Baranov Orchestra?" he said politely, and added, with a irony that chilled her, "I should like to have been there, indeed, my dear—if there had been a concert this afternoon. Unfortunately, it was cancelled at the last moment, due to the illness of the leader."

He exhibited the last edition of an evening paper, which carried a brief notice to that effect.

There was a horrible silence for a few moments. Lila's and Dorothy's eyes met, asking the mute question: What creature was it, then, that we heard over the radio?"

Then Dorothy began to laugh.

Herbert looked at her, outraged, but she only chuckled the more.

"It's no use being angry, Herbert. Lila and I admit we're caught, but you'll never get us to confess—not in a million years."

Herbert was very dignified.

"I think I am within my rights in wanting to know where my wife has been this afternoon."

Dorothy shook her head. She knew there was nothing to do but try to carry off the situation with a high hand.

"Old stuff, Herbert. You talk like an old married husband." It isn't done nowadays. If your wife's out with a girl friend, that's sufficient. Women have no secrets from men, you know."

"I believe," said Herbert stiffly, "that I scarcely need you to tell me how to conduct my married life."

"A little good advice never does any harm," remarked Dorothy cheerfully, quite unimpressed.

At that moment, Siddons knocked and entered the room.

Lila's heart sank, when she saw what he carried.

It was a florist's box, in mauve and gold, tied with gold gauze. By the size of it, any one could tell that it contained a corsage-bouquet.

He walked toward Lila and seemed about to speak.

CHAPTER 20

With Siddons holding out the florist's box containing Jack Farquahar's gift, Lila sat petrified, waiting for him to say the fatal words: "This was for wanted from Mr. Latham's house. Madame, where it was delivered by mistake."

But Siddons got only as far as "This—" when Dorothy, swiftly intuitive, leaped to her feet and snatched the box from his hands.

"Ah, at last!" she turned to Lila, "That stupid florist did keep his word, after all."

She untied the golden gauze, lifted the lid, and exhaled a hugely orange of bronze orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

"Aren't they exquisite?" She held them up for Herbert to see. "I've been waiting all an hour for them. Now I can go. You see," she explained to Herbert, "they're meant for a very particular person. I'm going to the Darlington ballroom tonight. By the way, you're going, aren't you?"

"I had intended to," said Herbert, looking at the flowers suspiciously. "They seem to be a hard in that box. Do you send yourself cards, as well as flowers?"

Dorothy took the envelop from the box and slipped it inside her glove. "Only the bill," she countered coolly. "Good-by, people. See you around ten o'clock. I dare say."

When she had gone, Herbert remarked to Lila.

"The more I see of Dorothy Caine, the less I like her. I believe she sent those flowers to herself to give in his presence that they were the gift of a man."

"Heaps of men are trying to court Dot," responded Lila, "but she doesn't seem to give a snap of her finger about any of them."

They went up-stairs in somewhat strained silence. Herbert was decidedly resentful, because Lila had refused to tell him where she and Dorothy had spent the afternoon.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

The newest feature of sowns at a recent big metropolitan night was the dipped hemline, which was sponsored by many of the smartest women present; one, of coral pink embossed velvet, had a pleated panel of matching chiffon, introduced low at the left side and flaring widely at the bottom; almost reaching the floor; the rest of the skirt was softened by a band of loosely pleated chiffon, and terminated just below the knees.

The spring colors include a cheerful tan brown, discretely used in combination with tan, beige and yellow; and there are tiger lilies of yellow—canary pale and a lemon shade; and while there are some "rose, yes the pinks are better represented by apricot and salmon, and an attractive tomato color, mauve, pale green and two shades of gray— one deep and warm, the other almost white—are also presented; and there is a nice turquoise and much navy blue, especially in plain, light-weight materials.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

To freshen up black clothes.—Mix one part of spirits of wine with three of water and sponge thoroughly on the right side, then iron on the wrong side with a warm iron.

Celery looks much more attractive on the table when fringed. To fringe celery cut it into two-inch lengths. Pringe each stock within a quarter of an inch from the centre. Put it into ice water in which a slice of lemon has been added and let stand until the ends are curled.

Advice to Girls

By Annte Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am seventeen years of age and my father objects to my having boy friends. Do you think I am too young to go with boys? There is one young man, a friend of the family, whom I like very much. I would like to win his friendship. My father and mother seem to like him a great deal and I believe they would consent to my keeping company with him. How should I go about winning his friendship?

GINGER.

GINGER: If your parents do not wish you to go out with boys yet, I must advise you to abide by their wishes. However, if you feel that they would approve of all this, why not ask them if you may have him call on you some time? Your effort to gain his friendship would be less obvious if you could arrange to have a small informal party and include him among your guests. Then if he is interested in you, he will suggest seeing you again. I advise you to talk this matter over fully with your parents and do as they think best.

Those STAINED OR SPOTTED GARMENTS SHOULD BE CLEANED IMMEDIATELY

After the Dance or the party, if your Dress or Suit has been stained, phone the Modern soon as possible, and a perfect cleaning job will be possible, with the original freshness of the garment restored. On the other hand, delay may make it difficult to remove the stains.

For that matter, you can best lengthen the life of your "party" clothes by having Modern—a quality service—clean and press them after use.

You'll like Modern Service — Just Phone 729.

CORNWALL DEFEATED BY MAROONS IN OPENING O. H. A. GAME BY 3-1

Whalen, Hagerman And Green Figure In Scoring Of Goals

With the same old characteristic dash and attack Belleville Maroons auspiciously opened the local hockey season by trouncing the Cornwall Flying Frenchmen to a 3-1 victory, before a crowd at Arnott's arena last evening by a score of 3-1. The climax was more suitable for water polo than the great winter pastime but to give the boys their just dues it was a fine exhibition in spite of the watery condition of the ice. Both teams were subjected to some acrobatic stunts and the little pools on top of the ice surface provided a soft place in which to land and more than one of the gladiators went skidding across into one of these miniature lakes much to the delight of the cash customers. The referee was in on the party and had to bang his garments out on the line to dry after the argument was completed. The presence had spell was anything but conducive towards manufacturing good ice but the arena management did exceptionally well under the circumstances and of the three hundred odd spectators none came back for a refund after the performance. It was a fine start and with one verdict tucked under their belts the locals are hoping to step out in front of the group by trouncing the Brockville team in the first engagement here on Monday evening.

It was feared that with the sub-zero ice surface there would naturally be cause a tendency to "scrap it up" but in this respect the old birds were disappointed because the boys deserted that a clean game can be played under adverse circumstances. Only a few minor penalties were passed out by referee Claire Devlin, of Kingston, and these were only for minor infractions and there was little intentional tripping or slashing.

As was expected the game was a battle from the drop of the puh as it always is between these two teams but the Fancy Town boys muzzled only a shed of the team that won the initial last year. Pillon, the crack goal keeper was numbered among the missing as was Gillie the brilliant and clever defense player besides Rabin Tilley always a favorite here. But dear these are don't be mislead the Cornwall team gave no weaklings by any means and they will be heard from before the season gets far underway. John Dennis, veteran player, has been given up hockey after several successful years and this is regarded as a Mr. Democrat was always a "square shooter" both as a manager and as a gentleman. Let's hope he'll still be with us for many years to come. Toward the close of the encounter Cantant was having behind and he showed a flash of real combination. But the Frenchmen have filled the ranks with some capable boys who will when they get underway create plenty of competition for the other teams in the group.

Goalie a Wizard

One of the most outstanding of the visitors was Wagoner their youthful goalie and although only a youngster he turned down at least a dozen right on the bottom. This lad a graduate of Junior ranks bears all the earmarks of becoming a smart net-minder and he went about his work in veteran-like style. He goes continually to the ice to save and this procedure is very apt to cost him a nasty cut with a skate or stick but he came through manfully last night and was one of the stars of the Cornwall team.

Every player who took the fans eyes was Spence, husky defence man who was probably the pick of the visitors. Spence knows the game and would undoubtedly have looked much better on hard ice. He is a new-comer to the Cornwall ranks but he fills the bill to a nicety. Spence is a fast skater can handle a stick well and uses his weight to advantage on the defence. He is the aggressive type of player and although classed as a veteran he would be a valuable acquisition to any team. The one other member of the visiting team who showed up to advantage was Lefave who has played with the Cornwall aggregation for the past two years.

The home was seldom in doubt from the start. By speedy play the Belleville with the losers showing a few spurts of speed at intervals which soon imbibed under the grilling pace. Despite the fact that the local team had been on the blades but twice this season their condition was better than their opponents and they carried the play to them continually.

Cornwall used the same kitty-bar-the-door system but it was not effective against the Belleville team and time after time they left the former literally bewildered in cr e ice. Kicking and batting the puck proved the best policy last night and at least one player introduced his g e action. Combination play was practically out of the question as little or none of the system performed all sorts of tricks but refused defiantly to lie flat on the ice. Passes went wild time after time and oftentimes the rubber seemed to resent the rough treatment and just naturally parked in one of the bogs which dotted the ice.

No Stars

The Belleville team went to work to erase that defeat handed them in the game at Kingston last year and although they bombarded Wagoner in the opening chukkers they failed to puhc the twine. The second period told a different story and in this frame the lark turned and three goals resulted which practically clinched the game for the Maroons. The best hockey of the evening was served up in this stanza and the fans were given a belated Christmas box in the form of three goals. Nine of the local boys claimed and all turned in a fine performance. If any bouquets are thrown they should be handed to "Dave" Whalen that little piece of fighting machinery that holds down the left wing position. Whalen accounted for the prettiest goal of the night, a beauty it was also, all executed in a manner completely baffled the whole Cornwall team including the goal-keeper. Combining the puck in mid-ice he started through not by a round-about-way but directly through the centre. Barging in through the defence he rifled a shot in the right hand corner that left the kid in the net helpless. A rest went up from the crowd as Whalen opened the scoring and the Maroons took the lead and they never were headed. Two minutes later Stan Hagerman secured John Hibbard's rebound, Spence and Whiford; Crister; Janes-2. It was unselfishness on the part of Hibbard that resulted in this counter and Stan was camped four feet out from the net waiting for the rubber. Bill Green managed to score the third and final Belleville goal and although the puck never left the ice it was a tricky shot which struck the mash and bounded out...

Jamieson saved the Easterners from a whitewash when he tallied a minute before time was up in the last period. It was a clever piece of work and he split the defence to waltz in alone on Bowen.

Benny turned in a nice game in the nets and although not kept as busy as Wagoner he did his work well and some brilliant saves drew a hand from the crowd. At least five shots particularly were well handled. Bowen clears fast and allows the puck carrier small chance of coming for the rebound. Frank Grover played a smart game on the defence and more than one of the visitors realized they struck a freight train when they hit his bulky form.

Stan Hagerman was the same old hard-worker he's up on the forward line and he was a thorn on the side of the Cornwall squad all evening. Hagerman was always lying in house-fire and his numerous dashes into enemy territory kept the defence on the worry. Rooney is due for a great season and his exhibition last night was such as to warrant that he will be one of the best of the lunch this year.

Capable Substitutes

Both Hibbard and Jarvis who were used as subs are a fine pair and do not weaken any of the positions when they step on the ice. Hibbard was working like trojan and his old familiar poke-check was very much in evidence. Jarvis will come along with a little more coaching and he showed the fans that he is made of the stuff that counts. He pesters opposites forwards to death and never stops trying from the first bell.

Manager Eddie Thomas was pleased with the result and is looking for the Maroons to repeat over the Brockville team on Monday night. The Island Town team will be strengthened by Sandercock who is coming back after a short absence and he should be a tower of help to them.

Mayor-Chief Duff opened the proceedings and he was assisted by Mayor-Elect Phillips, of Cornwall.

Constant took a penalty and Bowen filled the latter urned it aside to open the fracas. The play shifted to centre ice and then to Cornwall end. Wagoner was picking them out of the air in great style. Constant got the first penalty for throwing his stick. Cornwall came along with an additional spurt toward the close of the period. In the opening of the next round the visitors were kept bottled up in their own end and could do little against the fighting Maroons. Then Dan Whalen came along with his best goal which was followed by another chalked up by Hagerman. Green hooked in the third and as the period closed Belleville were on the attack. In the third period it was the same story Maroons turing but the play was mostly in the Cornwall end with the exception of the last ten minutes when the Frenchmen forgot their defence and sent near by everything up front. It was lineup up with several of the boys seeking the shelter of the penalty box to cool off.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING

Last night saw the elimination series at the Y' alleys in full swing and some more good bowlers took a beating and went away in good spirits. In the first game Salisbury and Kerr took a fall out of Lynch and Poole by 124 pins. In the second game Hopkins and Anderson won from Thomas and Salisbury by 162 pins. The third game saw a big game rolled by Ross and Yerex when they won from White and Shortt by 422 the former rolling 1604. In the last game Lee and Alexander lost to Bainbird and Jeffery by 11 pins after the former were leading in the first two games by 50 pins. In this game the last one to bowl had to make a strike end spare to win but fell down on the occasion.

AIR SERVICE FOR THE MAGDALENES

Moncton, N.B., December 30.—Air mail service between Moncton and the Magdalene Islands will commence on Friday of this week, Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General, said here today. The service will be a weekly one and the aeroplanes that will be used are expected to arrive here tomorrow. The Canadian Transcontinental Airways Limited, who have been given the contract by the federal Government, will carry mail only, the Postmaster-General said, and the machines will have a capacity of 1,500 pounds. The flights will be of a non-stop nature between here and the islands. An elevated location at Newton Heights, about two miles west of the city, has been selected as the starting point for the aeroplanes.

Hon. Mr. Veniot, speaking of the recently inaugurated air mail service between Quebec, Seven Islands and Anticosti, said that it had been entirely satisfactory and that on Christmas Day the plane on this route carried over 750 pounds of mail. The Postmaster-General left here later for St. John.

CLOVER SEED GROWN IN FARTHEST NORTH

Prince George, B.C., (By C.P.).—Clover seed production "north of Sixty" has become a reality this year, when abundant crops of timothy and clover hay, small patches of straight clover of red and alsike mixed were allowed to ripen and later on threshed. About eight farmers of the Prince George district and four of five in the Vanderhoof district followed this plan during the past season, most of them experimenting than anything else, and the results were satisfactory.

This is one of the most northerly, if not the most northerly districts on the continent, where clover seed is produced and growing in a climate which ranges from 100 degrees above zero in summer to 50 degrees below in winter.

LOBSTERS WASHED UP

Deal, England, December 30.—Thousands of lobsters and other inhabitants of star fish have been washed ashore here by a gale which has been sweeping the English Channel for the past few days.

Villagers and country folk are coming miles to take advantage of the prospects for a great feast which the wind blew in for hem.

REGENT THEATRE

Chosen "Miss New York" in the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant three years ago, a performer in several Broadway plays and now just finished enacting an important role in her first motion picture!

Such is the colorful life lived by one little girl, in addition to all this Joseph Cummings Chase chose her as his model when painting the typical American beauty. Match that record and Dorothy Hughes will have another rival.

D. W. Griffith selected Miss Hughes for a rub in his latest Paramount production, "Sorrows of Satan," which scenes of the Regent on Monday. Adolphe Menjou as Satan, Ricardo Cortez, Carol Dempster and Lya de Putti are the featured members of the cast.

BELLE THEATRE

Are Westerns popular—and if so, why?

Well, take a look at the average audience when a Western is being shown. Contrary to popular opinion, there are usually as many women as men present and as for the kids—they eat 'em up! From this we might well deduce the fact that men aren't alone in liking human nature.

A Western takes audiences out of their dull work-a-day world and transports them into such an adventurous clime as they might well like to believe exists. Their minds are transferred from dusty city streets and humdrum, sleepy towns to stretches of open country, of vast stretching plains and towering mountains. The gasp and spatter of automobiles are forgotten, to watching graceful animals go bounding along over fresh fields.

Their natural feelings take vent. Hates and loves come to the fore. Just how the twentieth century treats but the crude variety of former days, is pictured. The heroes are always tall, handsome, weather-tanned men; those who will fight and die for their women and the heroines are always sweet and pure and brave and beautiful.

Take, for example, Zane Grey's latest Western "Open Range" which reaches the Belle Theatre Monday. The manager says that its success is already assured because:—

Enacted by Betty Bronson, Lane Chandler and Fred Kohler, Just to mention a few members of the cast.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Belleville citizens will have the privilege, the first three days of the coming week of viewing the first presentation in Canada of Marion Davies' latest and greatest film success "Quality Street" which commence a three day run at the Capitol Theatre Monday. Beautiful Miss Davies, foremost among screen comediennes, comes this time in a great story of love and war—a comedy adopted from the play by James Barrie This production is acclaimed as Marion Davies' finest screen contribution, and promises to entertain capacity house, at the Capitol next week. Miss Davies is supported by Conrad Nagel; this picture is fresh from triumphs at the Embassy Theatre, New York City.

On the stage, a refined vaudeville act rounds out what promises to be a splendid New Year's attraction, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The BIGGER AND BETTER CHEVROLET

Bigger and Better

Ready for Prompt Delivery

THE crowning triumph of 13 years continuous progress . . . a great new automobile so arresting in appearance, performance and staunchness that it marks the opening of a new era of luxurious transportation at low cost . . . the New, Bigger and Better Chevrolet is here.

Built on a 107-inch wheelbase . . . 4 inches longer than before . . . . the Bigger and Better Chevrolet is impressively large, low and racy. From the massive new radiator, the lines of the car sweep back majestically to blend into the graceful contours of the new Fisher bodies. Rich new harmonies of Duco colors add to the striking appearance. Deep plush upholsteries and handsome appointments are evidences of the superb quality everywhere apparent in its construction.

The newly improved Chevrolet valve-in-head engine . . . the result of years of study in the General Motors Research Laboratories and millions of miles of testing on the General Motors Proving Grounds . . . gives the Bigger and Better Chevrolet a new, spectacular performance which will thrill and delight you. Countless new refinements have been made throughout. Every modern quality feature has been incorporated . . . new alloy "invar-strut" pistons, used here for the first time on any low-priced car . . . new crankcase breathing system . . . air cleaner and oil filter . . . vacuum fuel-feed system . . . safety gas tank in rear . . . thermostatic control cooling system . . . etc. The chassis also has been redesigned.

As a result the New Chevrolet provides new, delightful smoothness over the entire speed range . . . a wide margin of power for hills . . . flashing acceleration . . . more speed than you can use . . . the safety of four-wheel brakes plus extra emergency brakes . . . driving and steering ease . . . and comfort over all roads at all speeds, due to extra-long, dual-action, shock-absorber springs.

The Bigger and Better Chevrolet sets a new quality standard for low-priced cars . . . and a new economy standard for high-quality cars. Come in . . . see the car . . . and learn how Chevrolet has once more revolutionized the motor-car industry by offering a bigger, better car at prices so low as to be positively astonishing.

The Bigger and Better Chevrolet now ready for immediate delivery.

KEEP KIDNEYS CLEAN, DRINK MORE WATER

If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers Also Take a Little Salts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some forms, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good druggist; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious sickness. Ask your druggist means have you forgotten what your kidneys or bladder is for.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggistore.
